

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 209– 210

Chapter 209

He stood at the door and watched quietly for a while, then approached, slowly leaned closer, pressed against her face, and lightly kissed her cheek, and said in a low voice: "I will deal with this matter."

Just now Lin Shui called and told him about the situation. He was responsible for this incident, but he didn't have any intentions of self-blame or regret. Maybe he had such a plan, but he was just getting fast. One step, but no matter what he wants to do, he definitely does not hurt her.

The woman opened her eyes, looked at the face close at hand, and stared at him quietly for more than ten seconds, and finally said in a low voice, "I'll take care of it myself, you don't worry about it."

Bryan looked at her with such a look in her eyes, and there was a sense of loss in her heart, like the emptiness of being abandoned, as if he could not enter her heart no matter what he did, as if she was independent and never needed him.... .

That feeling is really...it makes people sad and helpless.

But in the end, there was a trace of compromise in his eyes. He pinched her chin, lowered his head and kissed her lips uncontrollably. From lips to face, he kissed her again and again.

"Okay, I don't care, you can tell me if you have any problems." He let go of her, his chin was against her forehead, and he pulled the quilt over her from the side, wrapped it tightly, and said hoarsely and slowly: "You need to rest. Sleep for a while, eh?"

Miriam looked at him with a little distracted eyes for a while, then closed her eyes and turned her head slightly, "Go ahead, and I will lock the door for you when I leave."

Bryan did not speak any more, got up and smoothed the quilt on her body, looked for a while, turned around and walked out, gently closing the door.

He didn't leave, but picked up the cigarette case and lighter on the table as he walked through the living room, and then went to the outside balcony.

I took out a cigarette, pressed the lighter skillfully to ignite, took a puff, accompanied by the smoke extinguished the lighter and threw it to the side, looked around deeply, not knowing what I was thinking, for a long while, he swallowed a few puffs of green smoke , Reached out the phone and dialed a number.

It only rang for a second, and it was connected over there, and a man's respectful voice came out, "Mr. Shao."

“Yan Ke, find someone to deal with the articles on the Internet.”

“Well, do you need to find the murderer?”

“No need.” Bryan held the cigarette between his lips in his hand and flicked the ashes at random.

With so many similar articles appearing at the same time, it must have been the purchase of a large number of naval forces. You don't have to guess or know that it was aimed at her alone, but it was still in the group of people around her, she could solve it herself.

Miriam didn't want to sleep at first, but what happened in the morning had a big impact on her, and she didn't have the energy to take care of other things. After thinking about it for a while, she fell asleep in a daze.

She didn't know how long she slept, but her nerves were tense, like a nightmare, she suddenly woke up, opened her eyes and stared at the ceiling for a minute, then turned her head slightly and glanced at the closed curtains, and then opened the quilt. Got up and opened the door and went out.

Opening the bedroom door, she smelled a scent of rice, which seemed to fill the entire living room, floating from the direction of the kitchen.

She was startled, slightly frowned and raised her wrist to look at the table below.

It was eleven o'clock, and it was noon, and she seemed to have slept for a long time.

Pulling her hair casually with her fingers, she walked to the kitchen and stood at the door. At a glance, she could see the busy man inside. She was slender and beautiful with a light blue apron, and her shirt cuffs were rolled up high and she was cooking skillfully. dish.

She bought the apron with him in the supermarket before.

Miriam looked at him quietly, slightly lost, the man's serious profile made her feel unreality.

Turning off the heat and putting the food aside, the man happened to catch a glimpse of her, and was not frightened by her deadly figure. His expressionless face was a bit gentle, “Go wash your hands and eat.”

Miriam looked at him without moving, but was suddenly in a daze, as if he had gone back to the past, but it was a little different. There was more smoke and fire in the room than then, which made people feel very warm.

After being dull for a few seconds, she screamed and turned to the bathroom.

The corners of Bryan's lips rose slightly.

During the meal, Miriam still felt a little uncomfortable, and the atmosphere was too quiet, which made her sit on pins and needles, took a sip of rice, glanced at him, and asked casually, "You haven't been out all morning? "

"It's out." The man gave her a piece of fish and replied lightly, "Go to the food market downstairs and buy some food."

It's just that she woke up suddenly and didn't go far.

"..."

Miriam was speechless for a second, almost choked on the rice, took a drink from her cup.

She pursed her lower lip, put down the cup, and said seriously: "You just moved your work here, isn't the company busy?"

Because she was not in the state at the time, she couldn't remember how he discovered and obediently let him carry it back.

"Not bad at this time and a half."

He came back here to take care of her better.

Miriam understood what he meant and pressed her lower lip briefly, "I don't need someone to take care of it now. If I don't work recently, I don't need it anymore. You just need to be busy at the company."

She took it as an early holiday for herself, although she was caught off guard, but for the sake of the child, she couldn't work hard.

"If you are bored, you can also go to the company with me."

"..."

Miriam was taken aback, raised her eyes and looked at him. The man's expression was very casual, as if he was saying a simple daily phrase, and his eyes didn't make waves.

She blinked and squatted, "Shao, Bryan..."

There are only so many heated discussions today, and he is going to take her to sway the market. Is this going to break the jar and not hide it at all?

The man was holding the food, the process of eating was silent, his eyes were on the food in front of him, and he said without a wave: "Rather than justifying, let them know the truth. The characters in the articles on the Internet, except me, are all fakes. of."

"Puff...hehe" Miriam was really choking now, and coughed fiercely.

The man stretched out his long arms and moved the water beside him, "Eat slowly."

Is it because she is in a hurry?

Miriam gulped for half a glass of water, glaring at him with tears in her eyes, charmingly and angrily, "What is true or false, I want to find the murderer."

"Well, by the way, I will prove my innocence and mine." The man nodded, and put some dishes into her bowl without changing his face.

Miriam wanted to vomit blood instantly. She wanted to prove her innocence, but she didn't cause trouble for herself. It was enough to explain clearly to Mr. Henry. With so many mouths, she couldn't stop them all.

"Why are you innocent? I am the one who suffers, I am the one who is slandered, and I am the one who is broken."

Chapter 210

The corners of Bryan's lips rose slightly, "So many photos, the only one k!ssing is with me, since it is my woman, how can I get infected with other men? Anyway, I should be the most embarrassed now. The person is also me, and you naturally have an obligation to prove my innocence."

"..."

Miriam couldn't eat it anymore. She was going to be convinced by this man's ability to reverse black and white. How did he say so without changing his face? Isn't she afraid of being beaten outside?

Seeing her put down his chopsticks, the man frowned slightly, looking at her, his voice softened a bit, "For dinner, these dishes are the freshest dishes I picked, and they are also your favorite."

Miriam stared at the dish in front of him, then stared at him again, for a long while, biting her lip slightly, a little embarrassed, "Bryan, you are really good at doing both soft and hard skills, you really can't match it."

Therefore, the Bryan she knew before was really only superficial. Now he looks at the calm gentleman, but he has an inseparable strength in his bones, but he can accurately grasp the weaknesses of people's hearts at any time, when should he be tough, and when it should be gentle, easy to use, and step by step is just right.

He probably even guessed what she was thinking about now.

“This kind of thing is useful, there is no comparison.” The man didn’t have any triumphant expression, even his eyebrows did not change.“Eat, if you don’t want to go to the company with me after dinner, you can just stay at home. Don’t go anywhere, I will try to come back as early as possible in the evening.”

Miriam ignored him, lowered her head to eat quietly with a weak expression.

The man is not annoyed, even a little softness on the eyebrows.

After the meal, Miriam got up and took the initiative to clean up the dishes and chopsticks, but still did not say a word.

Washing the bowl in the kitchen, her waist suddenly tightened, and she was hugged by the man from behind, her warm lips pressed against her earlobes.

Miriam stiffened slightly, and recovered in an instant. She continued the movements in her hand. The man’s clear breath was mixed with the smell of oily smoke, which was faint, but inexplicably good.

“Bryan, you go to work.” Her tone was slightly serious.

She didn’t want him to delay the company’s affairs because of himself, and her affairs could be solved by himself, but his company’s affairs remained his at all times, and no one could help him when he was busy.

She is not a fool. She has just suffered a setback in her career, and of course she understands that he wants to comfort her.

“Well, then you promise me to stay home until I come back.”

Miriam turned off the water, rubbed the water on her hand with a dishcloth, turned to look at him, and said weakly, “I am not a kid, nor a fool, and I won’t lose it. I’ll go back to accompany my parents later.”

Bryan reached out and raised her chin, and pierced her mind.“Until you don’t have a plan in your heart, you will always be anxious, and you will never go home and tell your parents about this.”

“...”

Miriam quickly twisted her eyebrows and said coldly: “They don’t know today and tomorrow, too. Do I have to keep them secret? You let go and I will go home now.”

She hated the feeling of standing naked in front of him. He could see through all of her thoughts. Compared with before, he hadn’t really cared her at all before.

The man remained patient, his tone of voice did not seem to change, “You are here to deal with things, and when I come back from get off work, I will go back with you.”

Miriam didn't speak, just twisted her eyebrows.

"Or, you go to the company with me now."

"No!" The second one, she refused without even thinking about it, and then temporarily silenced, and then helplessly said: "Well, you go to work, I will take care of the work, but I will leave after handling it. Won't wait for you."

The curve of the man's lips rose, showing a smile, raised her chin and pecked at her pink lips, "Okay, I'm going to change clothes."

The man let go of her promise, turned around and walked out.

Miriam blushed and pressed her palm to the Liuli Terrace behind her, she was almost mad at the rogue man.

The man coaxed her completely and had no energy to argue, then changed her clothes and left with the car key.

Miriam sat on the sofa and struggled for a while before putting the man's affairs behind her head and digging out her notebook to check the business.

But after turning for a long time, she suddenly found that all the drafts on the Internet in the morning were not found. When she opened the log, it also showed that the article had been deleted, which made her feel a little strange.

After so much editing, how could it only take a few hours? Obviously, it was not deleted by the author, or the author did not delete it intentionally. She understands that many of them are Marine accounts, but who can find all the Marines to let them? Also delete?

Her brows condensed suddenly.

Is it Bryan?

It's him that is possible.

Miriam didn't think so much anymore. From a bunch of advertisements, she finally turned to two before she had time to delete, copied it, and browsed it several times, and finally found a few problems.

The photos were obviously taken by professional photographers. The time span was as long as half a month. The wording of Miss Fu appeared in the manuscript, which was a clichéd style.

This Miss Fu knows who it is without even thinking about it.

But even if she was black, why did she deliberately contact that Sophia? It was obvious that the author deliberately did it.

From the perspective of financial resources and hatred, Sophia is probably the only one who meets the requirements.

After thinking about it for a long time, Miriam furrowed her brows tighter and tighter. Looking at a photo on the screen, a doubt came out in her heart.

If it was Sophia, how did she take the photo of her and Shang Rui eating at a Japanese restaurant? She walked there at the time and confirmed that there was no other person in the two sides except for the four of them.

The phone vibrated, interrupting her thoughts.

Miriam retracted her gaze, picked up her phone and glanced at it, and then hung up.

Shang Rui is calling.

You can guess without thinking, it must have been the news that she was suspended to laugh.

But a few seconds later, he called again.

Miriam went hot, and sneered in a cold voice, "Ms. Shang is really idle, so tireless to me?"

"I heard that you were suspended because of me?" He still spoke in an unhurried and gentle manner.

Miriam suddenly laughed, "There are so many male protagonists in the story. Where does Mr. Shang's confidence come from you?"

"Well, that's good, otherwise I might still feel guilty." Shang Rui smiled low, and then said again: "However, what I said before is true. If you want, you can choose any position in Fengrui."

Miriam's eyes were indifferent and lingering, and there was obvious mockery in his indifferent voice, "I was really flattered to let Fengrui's boss personally hire several times. My qualifications can't even compare to a director of your company. Just to deal with a Bryan, don't you feel embarrassed if you lower your status like this?"