

Let me go, Mr. Hill Chapter 2687

Chapter 2687

"I figured it out." Chester said thoughtfully.

Kaiden wondered, "I really don't know where Eliza found such a person, and the group of people who kidnapped Sarah before. They don't seem to be ordinary people."

Chester's heart moved slightly, "Go check Reborn, I need to know everything about her. All information about this person, her origin, when she first appeared, and whether or not her true face has been photographed abroad."

Kaiden said, "I heard she's very mysterious and sometimes appears with a mask and sunglasses."

Show your love with a Little Donation. Click Here

"There is always a sparseness in a hundred secrets. I don't believe you can't find it if you're willing to spend money and time." Chester's eyes were dim.

Kaiden said, "I suspect that she isn't the true Reborn. In fact, I believe it is quite incredible. Her past is completely irrelevant to Reborn."

"Make a Copy and give it to me including the movies and TV shows in which she has appeared.

In comparison to the fact that she is not the true Reborn, I do not believe she is the true Eliza.

Also, keep an eye on Eliza, I need to know about her." Chester said quietly.

Kaiden guessed, concerned, "Will she join the directors in their pursuit of you?"

Chester said, "I'm not sure."

Kaiden was taken aback by Chester's response, and it was the first time he realised Chester, too, had people and things he didn't understand.

...

Downstairs.

After Charity got into the car, Della said, "After you went to dinner just now, Dylan and Dalton asked for my phone number as an excuse. I suppose they were dissatisfied with Chester, but they didn't dare to take action, so they wanted to work with you."

Charity pursed her lips and frowned, "They're a bunch of timid people who just want to use me to annoy the Jewell family and then sit back and reap the benefits of the Asherman."

Della said, "And then you..."

Charity spoke softly to Della, "It's not impossible to have a meal every now and then. After all, I need them to join the board of directors, but I'm not interested in making myself stand out. This does not appeal to me."

Della smiled and said, "That's right, you already own 10% of Jewell's shares and just a few days ago, you invested heavily in a Children's Hospital recently which one of Jewell's new competitors and now you're on the other side. Earn, you will have more assets than Chester in a few years, and the Jewell family probably never considered this."

Charity didn't say anything. There was no smile on her face, she just looked out the window.

No matter how much money I earn, can my parents come back?

They can't come back, that's true. While thinking about it, Charity's phone rang.

It's Catherine who called her and said, "Okay, I should call you Eliza or Reborn. You are the one who hides the deepest, and quietly became Jewell's shareholder. Please say me, how many things are you hiding from us?"

"Cathy, I'm sorry..." Charity's voice was full of regret.

She has faith in Catherine but not in Shaun. She must be cautious of Jewell's layout. If she leaks even slightly, she will fail. As a result, she kept it as confidential. Catherine grinned, "Eliza, I don't need to apologise. In fact, I understand you. I would have done the same thing if it had been me. It's only... I've always felt like I'm your best friend, and I completely understand. I only recently discovered that I still have many doubts on your growth. It is absolutely impossible to become Reborn, your money, your identity, can you tell me? Aren't you worried that I'll take advantage of you?" Charity inquired quietly. Catherine teased and said generously, "You don't appear to have taken advantage of us. I only saw you in court for the first time, and I felt an indescribable intimacy. I may not have told you, but I sometimes think we knew each other in a previous life, maybe as good friends."