Chapter 371 Stirring Up Trouble

“Mr. Massey Senior, you’re mistaken. I really wanted to save Uncle Saul at that time, but Kevin was ruthless. If I hadn’t intervened, Jessica might’ve been killed, too. You can ask her if you don’t believe me.” Caspian sighed.

“Stop pretending!” Lionel angrily cursed.

In his opinion, Caspian was quite the actor.

Caspian smiled calmly. He had already planned it out. Otherwise, he wouldn’t have let Kevin act.

“Grandpa, I know about this too. Maybe there’s a misunderstanding. Let’s talk it out slowly,” Willow explained and stepped in to ease the tension.

Lionel was trembling with anger. He had to sit on the couch to calm down.

Kate stood up and yelled, “Caspian! You’ve gone too far! I can’t believe you killed your own relative. Saul was Willow’s uncle! Is your heart made of stone?”

After saying that, she began to cry.

“Saul! Who would’ve thought you’d be killed by your relative? Caspian is so ruthless! I pity you!”

Kate wailed as she cried.

Seeing her in such a state, Caspian was speechless. Her acting skills were impressive.

She portrayed a loving sibling image, but everyone knew what was up.

“Mom! What are you doing? We’ve said this is a misunderstanding. Caspian didn’t kill anyone!”

Willow said impatiently.

She was disgusted upon looking at Kate deliberately stirring up trouble for Caspian.

After all, things had yet to be clarified.

“Willow, divorce this murderer immediately! He’s so ruthless. Who knows what he might do in the future!” Kate pointed at Caspian.

Willow frowned and said coldly, “I’ve said it before that I won’t divorce Caspian in this lifetime. Besides, the Massey family has done many illegal things, and Uncle Saul wasn't killed by Caspian. Don't speak nonsense."

"Willow, why can't you think? Before he appeared, our relationship was so good! After he appeared, you cut all ties with the Stewart family. Did he drug you to make you so devoted?" Kate sighed.

Indeed, many unexpected things happened after Caspian came into their lives.

"I've told you before not to casually degrade our relationship. Otherwise, I won't be polite to you either," Caspian said coldly.

Kate was startled as she believed he would truly act against her.

Looking at his menacing gaze, she had to give up on causing trouble for him. Seeing this, Lionel shook his head. He wanted Kate to buy some time for him. But Caspian didn't even take her seriously.

"Forget it! I'll think of something," Lionel said helplessly.

"Dad! You're old, and Saul isn't here anymore. Why don't you hand over the Massey family to me and enjoy your life in the elderly home?" Kate suddenly said, staring at Lionel.

Caspian and Willow were shocked as they stared at Kate.

They couldn't believe she actually said such words at this time.

She was truly something.

Lionel was also dumbfounded. Kate was still thinking about the family assets. It wasn't like he had no more heir left. He'd rather pass everything to Jessica.

"What nonsense are you talking about?" Lionel snapped.

"You fool!" He was furious.

At this point, Kate was only thinking about herself.

"I'm still alive! Do you only care about the family assets?" Lionel roared.

"Dad, you're old and not in good health. How many years do you have left?

While you're still clear-headed, you should give part of the Massey family's assets to me!" Kate said urgently.

She was the daughter of the family, so why couldn't she have a share of the wealth?

Kate didn't feel sad about Saul's death. She thought it was a good thing.

If he hadn't died, she'd never get a share of the family assets.

"This is infuriating!"

Lionel was so angry that he coughed up blood.

Was Kate wishing for his death?

"Dad, are you alright? See, I told you you're not in good health. Quickly pass the family's

Kate pretended to care.

Lionel was trembling with anger.

He wondered why he had such a daughter.

"Stop talking nonsense! I still have Jessica. I won't hand the Massey family's assets to you!" he yelled.

Seeing Lionel's determination, Kate got annoyed. "When you die, I'll still be the one taking over the family!"

Lionel furrowed his brows and felt that he was almost out of breath because of anger.

He shook his hand and was ready to leave.

Seeing this, Caspian couldn't help but smile. This father-daughter duo was really peculiar.

"Dad! Dad! Why are you leaving?" Kate was helpless as Lionel walked away. Her plan had failed.

Later, Caspian took Willow away from Stewart Residence.

There was nothing interesting to see there.

After leaving Stewart Residence, Caspian dropped Willow off at the company and went to Zott Manor.

"Mr. Lynch, I got some important news. It seems like the Massey family is recruiting mercenaries at great expense. It looks like they don't plan to surrender." Lincoln reported everything he knew to Caspian.

"Jessica doesn't seem to give up. I've given her a chance before. Since she wants to die, I'll fulfill her wishes!" Caspian said coldly.

He had given her a chance before. He would spare her if she turned herself in.

But judging from the Massey family's actions, surrendering wasn't on their agenda.

"Mr. Lynch, is there a hidden motive behind the Massey family suddenly recruiting mercenaries?" Lincoln asked.

"They're probably making a final attempt. Maybe they're seeking revenge on the Copelands. They probably won't dare to act against you now," Caspian said calmly.

Kevin had killed Saul.

The Massey family wouldn't just let it slide. They were likely aiming at the Copeland family.

“Mr. Lynch, should we help the Copeland family?” Lincoln asked as he furrowed his brows.

“No need! Let them fight amongst themselves. We only need to watch the show. When the time comes, we’ll wipe out the Massey family from Southlake City!” Caspian shook his head.

Lincoln nodded as he would definitely follow Caspian’s arrangements.

It seemed both the Masseys and the Copelands were in for trouble.

Once the Massey family was eliminated, Southlake City would surely regain its peace.

Chapter 372 Killing Each Other

Inside the elderly home...

“Damn it! All of them are damn bastards! They infuriated me!”

Lionel smashed everything in the room as he couldn’t contain his anger.

“Grandpa, what happened? Did Aunt Kate not help us?” Jessica asked, a little terrified.

“She’s got nothing to do with the Massey family anymore! Damn it! I asked her to buy us some time, but she was afraid and even wanted to take over the family’s power! Why do I have a daughter like her?” Lionel fumed.

It was fine that Kate didn’t help the family, but to scheme against them was beyond reason.

The more he thought about it, the angrier he got.

At those words, Jessica paused.

The family’s influence should rightfully fall into her hands. It has nothing to do with Kate anymore, especially since she was married and no longer part of the Massey family.

Was Kate really trying to compete for the family’s wealth? Jessica couldn’t allow it.

Lionel took a deep breath and said calmly, “Alright, forget about her. How is the progress of the thing I asked you to do?”

He didn’t bother with Kate anymore. She was obsessed with money, devoid of any familial connection, and not worth the trouble.

The priority now was to help the Massey family through this crisis. If they took no action, their downfall would be certain.

“Grandpa! It’s done! I’ve spent billions and recruited 300 mercenaries, who all are tough fighters and ruthless individuals. Taking down the Copeland family won't be a problem!! Jessica said with a serious expression.

She wished she could personally slaughter that jerk, Kevin.

He betrayed her and the Massey family!

Jessica wouldn't let him off easily. She intended to make Kevin kneel before her and apologize to her, then torment him before killing him!

"Good! Let's crush the Copeland family first, then deal with Lincoln and Caspian!" Lionel's eyes gleamed with determination.

They'd chosen to first eliminate the Copeland family not because of revenge but also for a

The Copeland family held considerable resources. If they were able to take it, it could bolster the Massey family's strength.

By then, they would have a higher chance of success in dealing with Caspian.

Jessica left the room.

Shortly after, a figure appeared in the room.

"Mr. Kane, I have a request. Please protect Jessica," Lionel pleaded as he knelt.

He was left with only Jessica now since he couldn't rely on Kate.

"You can rest assured that I will take action when necessary!" Alfred nodded.

As he finished speaking, he vanished into the darkness.

Meanwhile, at Copeland Manor in Southlake City...

The Copeland family was considered a second-tier prestigious family in Southlake City.

Inside the manor, Patrick and Kevin were staring at each other in silence..

After a long while, Patrick finally said, "Son, can our family survive this crisis?"

Upon knowing that Kevin killed Saul, Patrick couldn't believe it. He didn't know when his son had the audacity to do such actions.

But he understood why Kevin did it after knowing the circumstances.

"Don't worry. Caspian isn't the kind of person who breaks his promises." Kevin smiled.

He believed Caspian would trust them.

However, they would have to pay a hefty price to compensate those affected by the trouble.

At the thought of this, Patrick felt his heart ache.

"Dad, even if we had all the money in the world, it would be no use if we didn't survive. There's a chance for a comeback as long as we can stand our ground.” Kevin smiled.

As long as they survived, there was hope.

“Is there really a chance?” Patrick asked doubtfully.

“Of course. Now that Saul is gone, Lionel is hiding in the elderly home all day. Besides, the Massey family is lost. If we’re able to take them down, we will be one of the elite families in Southlake City!” Kevin laughed aloud.

the Massey family.

“But Jessica’s your wife...”

Patrick suddenly felt estranged as he looked at his son before him.

He could not recognize his own son anymore.

“I’m willing to do anything for the Copeland family. If Jessica dares to obstruct me, I definitely won’t let her off!” A smirk appeared on Kevin’s face.

When disaster struck, a husband and wife should save themselves first. Besides, there wasn’t much affection between Kevin and Jessica.

Without her, he could easily find a younger and prettier woman.

Just thinking about it made Kevin excited.

Patrick felt uneasy. Ever since Kevin murdered Saul, his character seemed to have changed and became more sinister.

Would he turn against him one day for the sake of his own interest?

“Are you 100% sure?” Patrick asked with some concern.

“Don’t worry. The Massey family doesn’t have many experts now. I’ve already spent money to hire some people to annihilate them!” After Kevin finished speaking, he burst into laughter.

In his view, the Massey family was done for.

The Copeland family would undoubtedly rise. All they needed to do now was expand their forces, and he’d be the first to deal with the Massey family,

Suddenly, the villa door swung open.

“Who’s there? Don’t you know this is the Copeland family’s manor? How dare you act recklessly! Are you seeking death?” Patrick was displeased as he thought someone was causing them trouble.

The Copeland family members surely wouldn’t enter like that.

“Bad news! Sir, something bad happened!”

The butler, who was covered in blood, rushed into the hall.
“What happened?” Patrick shivered at the sight and had a bad feeling.
“The Massey family has invaded us!” the butler said with all his strength.
He spat out blood and collapsed on the ground before losing consciousness.

The father and son stood up and looked outside with fear.
One figure after another was knocked down.

The Copelands’ guards lay in pools of blood.
Jessica led a group of men and aggressively stormed in.
Her 300 followers looked fierce and intimidating.
“Jessica, what are you doing?”
Kevin was stunned when he saw Jessica.
He had planned to recruit people to deal with the Massey family, but here was Jessica, a step ahead of him.
Where did the Massey family get these people from?
The Masseys’ fighters should’ve been wiped out in the previous battle.
These sturdy men didn’t seem ordinary.
“Kevin, I won’t let you go for killing my father. Today, I’ll personally kill you!”
Jessica sneered at him.

Chapter 373 Unremorseful to the End

“Someone, come quick!!
After hearing what Jessica said, Kevin was panicked and at a loss.
It was apparent that she came fully prepared.
The guards from the Copeland family were no match for these mercenaries.
Under Jessica’s leadership, the guards were swiftly defeated.
The people from the Massey family soon entered the villa.
“Kevin, you pathetic coward, no one can help you now! The guards have all been killed! You’re all alone now!” Jessica laughed out loud.
“Impossible!” Kevin found it hard to believe.
The Copeland family had dozens of guards. Were there none left?
He suddenly felt a sense of despair.
“Beat them to death! I want them to pay for betraying the Massey family!”
Jessica shouted loudly.
“Kill them!”
Hundreds of mercenaries rushed out.
With a thud, Kevin immediately knelt on the ground.
He was just an ordinary person and not skilled in martial arts. Faced with such a powerful force, he had no means to fight back. Patrick was disappointed as he watched Kevin knelt on the floor. Earlier, Kevin had vowed to destroy the Massey family, but now he was so frightened that he couldn't stand straight. It was shameful.

"Do you think dealing with the Copeland family is that easy? Dream on!" Patrick shouted.

An imposing force burst from him. Unexpectedly, he was an eternal grandmaster.

With a whoosh, Patrick charged forward! Several punches were thrown, and Patrick killed over a dozen mercenaries. "Dad, kill them all!" Kevin exclaimed as he witnessed this.

+15 BONUS

Jessica was taken aback. She never knew Patrick was a martial artist. Besides, he had hidden the fact so well. But upon contemplation, it made sense.

The Copeland family had been in the city for a long time. It was normal for Patrick to have some influence.

"You bunch of nobodies! Watch how I destroy you!" Patrick's laughter filled the air.

He suddenly felt the vigor he had in his younger days. When he was young, he met a traditional martial arts expert and became their apprentice. Patrick had trained himself gradually without revealing his abilities to anyone.

"Go to hell!" He fiercely gripped the throat of a mercenary and snapped his neck.

In just two minutes, Patrick had killed over another dozen men.

As he was about to strike Jessica, a loud noise reverberated.

A gunshot echoed.

Patrick felt a sharp pain in his chest.

He looked at Jessica in surprise but fell to the ground before he could speak. Jessica had a gun in her hand!

Seeing Patrick on the ground, she looked disdainful.

"An eternal grandmaster? Who cares! Is your strength anything against my gun?" Jessica was no fool.

After her father's death, she managed to obtain a gun.

No matter how high a person's martial arts skills, they were all useless against her gun.

Patrick lay on the ground as blood pooled around him. He couldn't fathom that after decades of hard work to become an eternal grandmaster, he would be killed by a bullet.

"Dad! Dad! Don't scare me!"

Kevin threw himself onto Patrick and cried out loud.

But Patrick knew it was too late for cries.

"You pathetic coward! Why did I ever like you!" Jessica looked at the weeping Kevin and felt disgusted.

The way he cried uncontrollably was devoid of any manly presence.

"Jessica! You're a vicious woman!" Kevin stared fiercely at Jessica.

+15 BONUS

"What right do you have to speak to me like that? You killed my father. You're no good person either!" she sneered.

She remained indifferent as she looked at Patrick's body.

"Caspian forced me. If I hadn't done it, it would've been me who died!" he said harshly.

"Enough, I can't be bothered with you! You're just a coward! I'll kill you first and then take revenge on Caspian!" Jessica aimed her gun at him.

Suddenly, Kevin knelt before her.

"Jessica, my wife! Please spare me for the sake of our marriage! I'll do anything you say! I'll follow your orders as long as you let me live!" he begged.

In the face of death, Kevin had abandoned all dignity and could only beg for mercy.

Upon looking at him in such a state, Jessica was filled with disgust.

Men like him were truly pathetic!

Though Caspian was a mere son-in-law, he was nothing like Kevin!

"Spare you? Why didn't you think of the consequences when you betrayed the Masseys?"

Jessica's face was full of disdain.

After saying that, she was ready to make her move.

"Please, don't kill me!" Kevin clung to Jessica's legs and pleaded desperately,

"My wife, please

spare

me! Remember how sweet it was when we got married? Have you forgotten that? Do you really want to hurt your husband?"

He cried uncontrollably.

Tears began to pool in Jessica's eyes, too.

you

They were indeed very lovely with each other at the beginning. Why had things turned out like this?

She suddenly felt hesitant.

"You heartless woman! Go to hell!" Kevin roared.

He pulled out a dagger and lunged toward her.

Jessica would surely die if he succeeded.

She panicked and tried to block the dagger.

Her arm received a deep gash.

"You wretched woman! I must kill you!" Kevin laughed recklessly.

+15 BONUS

He gripped the dagger tightly and prepared to strike Jessica again.

At this point, she finally understood that he had been acting earlier and had no intention of repentance.

"Kevin, since you're seeking death, I will fulfill it for you!"

With a firm heart, Jessica pulled the trigger.

Blood splattered everywhere.

Kevin was hit in the head and fell to the ground.

He couldn't have imagined dying at the hands of Jessica.

"Let's go!" She waved her hand and was ready to leave.

Just as she reached the gate, she saw a group of people in the courtyard.

Caspian sat on a chair at the center.

He was accompanied by several men.

A group of armed soldiers surrounded the area near the manor.

"How interesting!" Caspian clapped and chuckled.

Even he was somewhat surprised that she had dared to take action.

"Caspian! Why are you here? What's going on?" Jessica asked with a grim expression.

Chapter 374 Too Late

The Massey family's operation tonight was confidential. No one should've known.

"Do you really think everything is well just because I let you go? I've been monitoring your every move for a while now." Caspian chuckled.

Today's show was excellent.

Neither the Copeland family nor the Massey family had a chance to turn things around.

Jessica's face turned grim. She knew Caspian wasn't that kind-hearted. Everything had been his scheme.

"Jessica, it's not too late for you to repent now. I'll give you another chance."

Caspian smiled.

Upon hearing this, Jessica felt deeply humiliated.

Did he still want to insult her?

"Caspian, I'll fight you to the end today!" Jessica gritted her teeth. "Kill him!"

As her command fell, the hired mercenaries behind her didn't make a move.

Behind Caspian stood armed soldiers. They weren't ready to risk their lives for a bit of money

Seeing everyone stand still, Jessica was furious.

They were so eager to receive money, but now they became cowards when she needed them to act.

"Anyone who can kill Caspian will receive an extra billion dollars!" She gritted her teeth.

The mercenaries were intrigued by the promise of a billion dollars.

"Attack!"

Dozens of people glanced at each other and then charged toward Caspian.

After finishing this mission, they could retire and live freely.

Caspian grinned when he saw this. These people were all scum, and they had committed plenty of crimes. It wouldn't matter if they were killed.

"Attack!" Sylvia gave the order.

The soldiers all pulled their triggers.

Gunshots echoed.

The charging mercenaries fell to the ground.

Blood flowed in the courtyard, creating a scene of carnage.

Even Lincoln and Bernard felt it was too ruthless.

Caspian was too ruthless.

As Caspian observed the scene, he narrowed his eyes.

This was trivial. There were more devastating scenes than this as he recounted his days in war.

Jessica turned pale, and she was dumbfounded.

She spent over a billion dollars recruiting these mercenaries, and now they were all killed!

"Jessica, do you have any more tricks up your sleeves?" Caspian glanced at her coldly.

She was so terrified that she trembled and took a few steps back.

“What do you want? Don’t make me shoot you!” Jessica held the gun in her hand and aimed at him.

Caspian found it ridiculous.

Did she really think she could kill him?

“Surrender now, and I can ensure you’ll survive. Otherwise, you’ll have no chance,” Caspian said calmly.

“Caspian, do you think I’d believe you? You just want to humiliate me!”

Jessica shouted.

She didn’t want to be humiliated by him again.

Even if she surrendered, what good would it do? She would probably spend her life in prison, and that was a life not worth living.

“If you persist, I will take action!” Caspian waved his hand.

Bernard and a few others surrounded her.

Jessica had nothing but a gun right now.

“Don’t come closer, or I’ll shoot!” she screamed hoarsely, trying to intimidate them.

In truth, Bernard felt a bit jittery. He wasn’t certain if Jessica would open fire.

“Put down your weapon now, or you’ll die for sure!” Bernard shouted.

“Go to hell!” Jessica lost her sanity and shouted loudly.

She was ready to shoot.

At that moment, her wrist suddenly hurt as Caspian used a stone to knock the gun from her “You’re overestimating yourself!” Caspian sneered.

As the gun hit the ground, Jessica immediately knelt.

Without the gun, she was powerless.

“Caspian! I’ll surrender. I’ll surrender now!” she pleaded.

Caspian merely smiled indifferently.

She was finally scared, but it was too late.

He had given her chances before.

“Too late. I gave you a chance!” Caspian didn’t bother wasting words with her.

Bernard and his men seized her.

She struggled to escape, but it was useless.

“You’d better behave, or else you’ll suffer!” Bernard said coldly.

He didn’t care about her struggles as he intended to take her away directly.

Suddenly, a muffled sound echoed.

Bernard and the others were thrown back.

A figure appeared.

Caspian's expression stiffened as he saw this person.

"Alfred Kane!" Caspian said.

The man in black took off his sunglasses and hat.

He was the protector of the Kane family, Alfred Kane.

When Jessica saw him, she was overjoyed.

"Greetings to Mr. Kane!" Jessica knelt on the ground and showed her respect.

She breathed a sigh of relief upon seeing him.

She knew he was powerful as he was the senior protector of the Kane family of Dhord City.

The influence of the Kane family of Dhord City was unfathomable.

When the Kane family came to Southlake City, they offered to help the Massey family become the city's number one clan.

Otherwise, how could the Massey family dare to commit so many crimes?

+15 BONUS

"The Massey family is such a disappointment! Move aside!" Alfred said indifferently as he glanced at Jessica.

"Understood!" She trembled in fear.

Alfred was utterly disappointed with the Massey family.

They had hoped to expand the Massey family's power to defeat Caspian but were let down.

"Caspian, we meet again!" Alfred looked at Caspian with a smile.

"I wonder how the Massey family could suddenly rise. Turns out you've been pulling strings behind the scenes! Hasn't the Kane family learned its lesson yet?" Caspian stared at him calmly.

Caspian had guessed that someone was supporting the Massey family. He had thought it would be a significant person.

But it turned out to be the Kane family.

He hadn't gone to Dhord City to deal with them, yet here they were, coming to him!

"Caspian, I'm curious to know who exactly you are! I underestimated you at Naporla, but the Kane family has eyes on you.

Sooner or later, we will kill you!" Alfred narrowed his eyes as he spoke.

Caspian's actions greatly impacted the Kane family's influence. Galecrest's downfall dealt a severe blow to them.

The hatred between the Kane family and Caspian was irreconcilable.

However, the Kane family dared not act rashly. Hence, they secretly helped the Massey family.

After all, the Massey family had some relations with the Stewart family.

Unexpectedly, Caspian was so ruthless that he went after the Massey family.

Alfred had no choice but to intervene now.
His force surged as he now possessed the strength of an innate grandmaster!

Chapter 375 Disparity in Strength

Sensing Alfred's force, Lincoln and the others were momentarily stunned
In a place like Southlake City, having the strength of an eternal grandmaster was already remarkable, let alone an innate grandmaster.

Although the difference between the two was merely a word, the difference in strength was huge.

Lincoln glanced at Jessica and understood why the Massey family was so arrogant. They had a powerful figure backing them.

"Do you think I'd fear you?" Caspian said coldly.

An innate grandmaster was nothing to him.

Such strength was indeed impressive in Southlake City.

However, it was insignificant for Caspian.

He had personally taken down many innate grandmasters.

Seeing Caspian's indifferent demeanor, Alfred felt somewhat annoyed.

As the senior protector of the Kane family, people respected him in Dhord City.

However, Caspian didn't care.

"Caspian, I know you're powerful, but I came prepared!" Alfred said coldly.

Suddenly, ten figures appeared, all standing behind Alfred.

They each wore a mask.

Their eyes behind the masks exuded a murderous intent.

What was shocking was the fact that all ten were eternal grandmasters!

Upon feeling the force of these individuals, Lincoln and the others were startled.

Was the Kane family of Dhord City this powerful?

One innate grandmaster and ten eternal grandmasters—with this strength, they could easily dominate Southlake City.

Even Lincoln, the former wealthiest man in the Two Lakes area, knew his limits.

If it weren't for Caspian being present, he would've left upon encountering Alfred.

"Mr. Kane, please kill Caspian immediately!" Jessica became even more excited upon seeing diately shut her mouth and didn't dare to utter another word.

"Caspian, do you have a problem dealing with so many people now?" Alfred said somewhat arrogantly, staring at Caspian.

He had mobilized nearly half of the Kane family's top experts to take down Caspian.

If they were to strike, they would definitely be able to subdue Caspian.

Caspian burst into laughter.

Alfred was stunned. Had Caspian lost his mind?

Shouldn't he be afraid in the face of such a formidable lineup? Why was he laughing so carefree?

"What's so amusing?" Alfred furrowed his brows.

Alfred thought Caspian should be frightened by now, not laughing so recklessly.

"What a poor thing! Do you really think you're safe like this? Back in New Bay, Charles also sent out ten eternal grandmasters.

Do you want to know what happened next?" Caspian looked at Alfred with amusement.

Hearing this, Alfred was shocked. When the Hoff family fell, the governor of New Bay had directly kept the news a secret.

He had no idea what happened there.

"What happened?" Alfred asked curiously.

Caspian remained calm, but his gaze sent shivers down his spine.

"They all died by my hands!" he said calmly.

"Impossible!" Alfred shouted.

He couldn't believe that one person could kill ten eternal grandmasters.

Not even he could accomplish such a feat.

"You're just trying to scare me. You're done for! Attack him!" Alfred waved his hand.

This time, they had to succeed.

Ten eternal grandmasters charged forward together.

"Protect Mr. Lynch!" Lincoln exclaimed urgently.

With that, he dashed out.

At the same time, he held a dagger in his hand.

It was the Diatanium dagger that belonged to Cole.

"Ms. Frost, will Mr. Lynch be safe?" Lincoln asked worriedly.

Dealing with ten eternal grandmasters was no child's play.

“Don’t worry. They won’t even get to touch Caspian!” Sylvia smiled. Hearing this, Lincoln was dumbfounded.

These were ten eternal grandmasters. How could Sylvia make them sound worthless?

“Caspian, you’re truly arrogant! You’ll be dead today!”

Jessica was extremely pleased to see Caspian fighting alone.

He was courting death!

“How arrogant!” Alfred snorted.

These ten eternal grandmasters were rigorously trained by the Kane family.

Each was formidable, and Caspian couldn’t possibly win.

However, the next scene completely stunned Alfred.

Caspian wielded his dagger, and the blade flashed as he moved among

Lincoln was stunned.

It was the first time he saw Caspian in action, and it was so shocking.

At that moment, Lincoln felt extremely fortunate.

He had made the right choice to work for Caspian. Otherwise, his fate would’ve been grim.

“How is this possible? It’s fake! All fake!” Jessica desperately shook her head as she couldn’t believe what was happening.

The ten eternal grandmasters were all slain by Caspian.

How could Caspian, who had been called useless by many, be this powerful?

Even Alfred’s face turned uglier by the moment.

The Kane family had invested numerous resources in training them.

And they were all killed by Caspian in seconds.

This was surely a massive blow to the Kanes.

Suddenly, Alfred felt a scorching gaze.

He looked up and found Caspian staring at him.

"It's your turn!" Caspian said coldly.

Facing Caspian's terrifying gaze, Alfred shuddered in fear.

Could a human really do such things?

Caspian managed to wipe out ten eternal grandmasters in an instant.

Who was he really? What was his true identity?

At this moment, Alfred finally understood why Galecrest had collapsed overnight.

Caspian was simply terrifying!

At that moment, Alfred regretted coming to Southlake City.

He wouldn't be in this situation now if he had stayed in Dhord City.

But it was too late. He had no way out..

"Even if you can deal with ten eternal grandmasters, it doesn't make a difference! Today, I'll show you the difference between an innate and an eternal grandmaster. I'll behead you and kill you!" Alfred took a breath and forced himself to remain composed.

Deep down, he was extremely nervous. He didn't know if he had any chance of winning.

Chapter 376 Consequences

Alfred roared and charged toward Caspian.

Simultaneously, he wielded a short knife.

Seeing him rushing over, Caspian's lips curled.

With a swoosh, Caspian dashed forward too.

The two collided instantly.

Everyone held their breath and began anticipating what would happen next.

Especially Jessica, whose heart was pounding.

She was afraid that she'd miss a moment.

If Alfred was killed, she'd have no way out.

The most composed one seemed to be Sylvia.

She knew Caspian's strength well.

Alfred was no match for him.

At that moment of impact, a powerful force burst out.

A figure was seen flying backward.

After staggering a few steps, the figure finally steadied and spat out blood.

It was Alfred.

"Alfred, I let you escape at Naporla last time, but you won't get away this time!" Caspian put away his Dragon's Tooth dagger.

Alfred never expected that he would be killed by Caspian today.

At that moment, he could clearly see the dagger in Caspian's hand. It was different from the previous dagger. It was special.

“Diatoran God of War!”

Alfred widened his eyes. After uttering those words, he collapsed without breath.

In his last moments, regret filled Alfred’s mind. If he had known Caspian was the God of War, even if he had the courage, he wouldn’t have dared act against him.

Another regret for him was that the current head of the Kane family didn’t know Caspian’s true identity.

Chapter 376 Consequences

Alfred roared and charged toward Caspian.

Simultaneously, he wielded a short knife.

Seeing him rushing over, Caspian’s lips curled.

With

a swoosh, Caspian dashed forward too.

The two collided instantly.

Everyone held their breath and began anticipating what would happen next.

Especially Jessica, whose heart was pounding.

She was afraid that she’d miss a moment.

If Alfred was killed, she’d have no way out.

The most composed one seemed to be Sylvia.

She knew Caspian’s strength well.

Alfred was no match for him.

At that moment of impact, a powerful force burst out.

A figure was seen flying backward.

After staggering a few steps, the figure finally steadied and spat out blood.

It was Alfred.

“Alfred, I let you escape at Naporla last time, but you won’t get away this time!” Caspian put away his Dragon’s Tooth dagger.

Alfred never expected that he would be killed by Caspian today.

At that moment, he could clearly see the dagger in Caspian’s hand. It was different from the previous dagger. It was special.

“Diatoran God of War!”

Alfred widened his eyes. After uttering those words, he collapsed without breath.

In his last moments, regret filled Alfred’s mind. If he had known Caspian was the God of War, even if he had the courage, he wouldn’t have dared act against him.

Another regret for him was that the current head of the Kane family didn’t know Caspian's true identity.

Unfortunately, he couldn't pass this message on.

"It's too late," Caspian said, looking at Alfred's body on the ground.

If he went to Dhord City, he'd surely wipe out the Kane family at once.

Caspian turned and glanced at Jessica.

Her heart raced as she saw his ice-cold gaze.

Wasn't Alfred an innate grandmaster? And yet, he died just like that?

Who was Caspian really?

Everyone called him useless, so how did he suddenly become so powerful?

As Caspian got closer, Jessica grew more anxious.

"Stay away, stay away!" she screamed desperately.

She felt an unprecedented fear.

Caspian remained calm, his face devoid of emotion.

She was certain of her death today.

"Ah! Stay away or I'll kill you!"

Jessica's mental defenses nearly collapsed. Panicking, she grabbed a gun from the ground and aimed it at Caspian.

Seeing this, Caspian didn't halt his steps.

His

made her feel suffocated, and she couldn't hold back anymore.

"Go to hell!"

Jessica fired wildly at him.

"Mr. Lynch!"

Lincoln shouted urgently upon seeing the situation.

He realized Caspian was extremely powerful, but Jessica had a gun!

However, the following scene dispelled his worries.

Caspian dashed out, and his figure was ghostly.

Those bullets whizzed past him.

Bernard and others were stunned. Caspian dodged all those bullets?

Could an ordinary person do that?

"This is impossible!"

Jessica was frozen in place..

Was Caspian still human?

She managed to kill Patrick with her gun earlier, so why didn't it work on Caspian?

"The farce ends here," Caspian said coldly.

"Caspian, you won't kill me!" Jessica shouted.

She aimed the gun at herself and pulled the trigger.

Jessica fell flat, and blood pooled around her.

Seeing this, Caspian frowned. This was the fate Jessica chose for herself.

Everyone was stunned. Caspian remained expressionless throughout, as if such a bloody scene was commonplace for him.

"Let's go!"

Caspian waved his hand and left.

The Massey and Copeland families were about to be destroyed.

There was still one person who hadn't shown up, and Caspian had to meet him.

Sylvia followed closely behind Caspian, while Lincoln and others stayed to handle the aftermath.

In Southlake Elderly Home, Lionel lay on his rocking chair.

He had been sleepless all night, feeling like something was about to happen.

However, when he recalled that Jessica hired 300 assassins and the protector of the Kane family, he figured dealing with Caspian would be easy.

He knew Alfred's strength well as he was an innate grandmaster.

Tonight, everything would be settled, and both the Copeland family and Caspian would undoubtedly die.

He just needed to stay here and await good news.

As time passed, Lionel's feelings changed drastically. He grew increasingly anxious.

Suddenly, the door was kicked open.

He shuddered as he looked up.

The person was imposing with determined eyes.

Then, the door was shut.

Caspian stood inside the room, with Sylvia and others guarding outside.

"Caspian!"

Lionel was so scared he almost fell from the chair.

He hastily stood up.

"Caspian! Why are you here?" Lionel asked shakily.

Weren't Alfred and others going to deal with Caspian?

Caspian looked unharmed. Could it be that Alfred failed?

That was impossible!

The pro

group consisted of ten eternal grandmasters and innate grandmasters. How could such a formidable lineup not be Caspian's match?

Even if Caspian had military experience, he couldn't be that powerful, right?

Could the rumors about Caspian in Southlake City be true?

Did he hold an important position in the military? Was he hiding his true identity?

"Can't I come to see you? You seem like you don't welcome me much! I've even prepared a generous gift. I didn't expect you to dislike me so much," Caspian said teasingly.

"Yes, you're not welcome here. If there's nothing important, just leave now. I want to rest," Lionel said impatiently.

Caspian smirked. "Seems like you're tired. Bring the gift and let Grandpa freshen up!"

Several strong men carried a crystal coffin inside.

There was a loud noise as the crystal coffin fell to the ground.

Lionel saw this and instantly erupted in anger.

"Caspian, what are you doing? Did you bring such a thing over to curse me?" he shouted angrily.

He had heard about Caspian.

Previously, it seemed he had presented a coffin at the York family's celebration.

And now, Caspian was doing the same to him? What did Caspian want to do?

Chapter 377 Ruthless

"Take a look at who's inside, then we'll talk!" Caspian chuckled.

Lionel paused and felt an even stronger sense of foreboding.

He walked over slowly and took a glance.

He almost collapsed at the sight before him.

Inside the crystal coffin lay his granddaughter, Jessica!

"Jessica! Jessica!" Lionel wept bitterly.

He cried loudly as he had placed all hopes on her.

But now, the Massey family was going to end.

"Caspian! Why do you want to end the Massey family? What did we ever do to you?" Lionel glared at Caspian, seething with hatred.

Originally, the Massey family thrived in Southlake City, but everything changed drastically after Caspian's return, Lionel hated him so much that he wished he could kill Caspian. "I had nothing to do with Jessica's death," Caspian said calmly. "Then tell me what happened!" Lionel snorted coldly. He couldn't believe his granddaughter died just like that. "It's hard to explain in a few words. Take a look at another gift," Caspian said as he gestured at Sylvia. Under Caspian's command, Sylvia brought a wooden box before Lionel. When Lionel took a look inside the box, he was so shocked that his legs weakened and he fell to the ground. There was a human head in the box.

Alfred was killed?

"How's that possible? It's impossible!" Alfred was petrified. Alfred was the senior protector of the Kane family of Dhord City and an innate grandmaster. How could he be killed? However, the fact was right in front of Lionel. Alfred was indeed dead.

+15 BONUS

This made him wonder what was Caspian's identity to make him so terrifying. "Do you recognize this person?" Caspian stared at Lionel. "I've never seen him! I was just startled." Lionel shook his head. He finally understood that Caspian was here to hold him accountable.

If he admitted his connection to the Kane family, he wouldn't survive the night. "You don't know him? This person is Alfred Kane, the senior protector of the Kane family of Dhord City!" Caspian suddenly raised his voice.

Lionel trembled in fear.

"No wonder the Massey family developed so rapidly. So it turns out the Kane family is supporting you. You're quite cunning to ask the Kane family to murder me!" Caspian's face darkened.

The aura emanating from him made the surrounding air almost solidify.

"Caspian, the Massey family had been doing well in Southlake City, but because of you, we're in such a state now! You forced my son to his death, and now even my granddaughter is dead.

"I wish I could tear you apart, but I'm old and no match for you!" Lionel gnashed his teeth with hatred.

If even Alfred couldn't defeat Caspian, who else could kill him?

"You want to kill me? How ridiculous! Even a million soldiers aren't my match, let alone the Massey family!" Caspian sneered.

He was the God of War. He had experienced countless battlefields and overcome numerous dangers.

Yet a mere Massey family dared to lay hands on him.

“You should know what you did!” Caspian threw a stack of papers at Lionel.

“I’m dealing with the Massey family because you’ve been breaking the law and causing chaos in Southlake City lately. In just a couple of months, you’ve made this city a mess!”

Hearing this, Lionel shuddered and picked up a few papers.

They were all about the Massey family’s misdeeds.

“Caspian, it’s your choice whether to kill me or not! But I really want to know your true identity!” Lionel stared at Caspian intently.

At this point, he had no more expectations. Since the Massey family was finished, there was no point in living on.

+15 BONUS

He was old as well.

“I don’t plan to kill you. As for my identity, it’s better if you don’t know!”

Caspian said playfully.

Lionel was startled as he didn’t expect Caspian to have mercy on him.

“You’re old anyway, so why not let you live in loneliness? This pain might be worse than killing you directly!” Caspian sneered.

“Caspian!” Lionel shouted.

No wonder Caspian spared him.

He wanted Lionel to spend his remaining days in misery.

How ruthless!

Caspian and Sylvia left the nursing home, leaving behind the dazed Lionel.

Lionel felt dead inside. From now on, he had no one to rely on.

“Caspian, why didn’t you kill that old man?” Sylvia asked puzzledly.

As far she knew, Caspian was very direct in his actions.

“Forget it. He’s too old and won’t live much longer.” Caspian shook his head. After all, Lionel was Willow’s grandfather, and Caspian had killed too many people today. He didn’t want to take more lives.

“Go check on the Massey family and keep an eye on Lionel. Hopefully, this old man behaves himself,” he instructed.

He had a feeling that Lionel wouldn’t give up easily.

If there was any movement, Caspian wouldn’t spare him anymore.

“Got it. I’ll have someone watch him.” Sylvia nodded.

“Start the car. Let’s go somewhere,” Caspian said and got into the car.

Sylvia took the role of the driver and drove them.

At Stewart Residence, a conversation was taking place.

“How’s the situation?” Marilyn asked.
In front of her stood a masked man in black.

He was Fabian Stewart, the adopted grandson of the Stewart family.
“Saul was killed by Kevin, so Jessica led a group of mercenaries and killed both Patrick and his son. However, she was forced to commit suicide in the end. The Massey and Copeland families are done for,” Fabian said with a deep voice.

“How is that possible?” Marilyn was taken aback.

So many things had happened in the night.

“Was it all done by Caspian?” She furrowed her brows.

“Yes. Caspian is no ordinary person! His identity is very mysterious,” he answered.

He had investigated Caspian but found nothing.

If Caspian dared to threaten the Stewart family, he wouldn’t stand idly by.

But what surprised him was that Caspian had actually made a move against Willow’s grandfather.

“Caspian is too terrifying! One day, he’ll pose a threat to us. Willow is now completely obedient to him. Who knows what his intentions are?” Marilyn felt a bit uneasy.

She initially thought Caspian was a nobody, but it seemed that his identity was a mystery.

“What about Lionel? Such a huge incident happened to the Massey family. He can’t just sit and do nothing, right?” Marilyn asked.

She knew Lionel very well. He was a man who would take his revenge.

There was no way he wouldn’t take action.

“Lionel secretly worked with the Kane family of Dhord City. Alfred Kane, the senior protector of the Kane family of Dhord City, and ten eternal grandmasters are all dead!” Fabian explained.

Chapter 378 Money–Driven

Hearing this, Marilyn was stunned.

The protector of the Kane family?

Such a powerful figure had come to Southlake City?

What was surprising was that they all died?

How was that possible!

Even though Fabian had joined the Shadow Gate and his current strength could match that of an innate grandmaster, to kill so many powerful individuals was beyond his capability.

Caspian's terror exceeded their imagination.

"It seems Caspian isn't just someone who served in the army for a few years. We need to be more careful," Marilyn said seriously.

"What about Lionel? Is he still alive?"

"Caspian let him go," Fabian answered.

"Sure enough, Willow is Caspian's weakness." Marilyn could naturally guess why he spared Lionel.

Even though Willow wasn't Kate's biological daughter, ultimately, Lionel was her grandfather. If Caspian had acted against him, it might've affected his relationship with Willow.

"You should leave. Southlake City isn't safe!" Marilyn suddenly said.

Before she could finish, there were low and heavy footsteps coming from outside.

Fabian's face darkened before he vanished.

At that moment, Marilyn felt extremely uneasy.

Caspian walked in.

"My dear grandson-in-law, what brings you to visit me at such a late hour?"

Marilyn smiled.

Caspian smiled too and replied, "Grandma, I haven't visited you in a while, so I wanted to see if you're doing well."

Both smiled, hiding their true intentions.

"Quick, take a seat," she said with a smile.

Marilyn didn't dare to be as rude to Caspian as before.

"Grandma, was someone here just now?" Caspian asked, looking at her.

Upon hearing this, she was startled. How did he know?

"How's that possible? It's the middle of the night. Who would come at this hour?" Marilyn chuckled awkwardly, forcing a smile.

She mustn't let Caspian catch onto anything, or it would be troublesome.

"My dear grandson-in-law, you must have something to discuss with me, right? Just say it directly." Marilyn didn't beat about the bush.

She knew he must have a purpose.

"It's nothing. I just wanted to remind you that I'd better not hear the Stewart family using Willow's name to engage in illegal activities. Otherwise..."

Caspian didn't finish his sentence.

But he believed Marilyn would understand his meaning. Marilyn frowned when she heard this. Caspian was giving her a warning. Before she could regain her composure, he had already left. Caspian merely wanted to caution the Stewart family and had no intention of acting against them. If the Stewart family acted like the Massey family, he wouldn't hold back. After leaving Stewart Residence, Caspian instructed Sylvia, "Monitor Marilyn and see if strangers visit her!"

"Got it!" Sylvia nodded. Caspian's lips curled slightly. He had felt a weak presence in the room earlier that suddenly went missing. He was certain that someone had indeed visited Marilyn and that she hadn't been truthful. That was why he warned her not to engage in illegal activities. The next day, at Riverside Villa, shouts could be heard.

"Caspian, you demon! You destroyed the Massey family! Do you plan to erase all of us from Southlake City? Why don't you kill me too!"

When Kate heard the news, she came to the villa and caused a scene. Caspian sat on the sofa, expressionless
"Mom, what are you doing! The Massey family did many illegal things, and Caspian had no choice!" Frowning, Willow tried to calm her down.

"Nonsense! Willow, can't you see he's a monster! He wants to kill everyone from the Massey family and then everyone in the Stewart family. When that happens, all the industries will be his. Why are you still speaking up for him? Can't you wake up?"

Kate ranted.

"Do you think I dare not? Besides, the Massey family deserves it. Since they dare to engage in illegal activities, I took action against them!" Caspian said coldly.

"You're a useless piece of trash! Who do you think you are to intervene in this matter? Even if the Massey family did many unspeakable things, the inspectors should be the ones to look into it.

"Why did you get involved? I'll call the Inspector General's office right now and have them arrest you!" Kate was furious.

She had lost her rationality.

“Mind your language or don’t blame me for being impolite!” Caspian glared at her harshly.

Kate was startled and dared not say anything more.

She knew he had many military friends, and if he decided to act, she would have a terrible fate.

“Hubby, let’s go out for a walk!” Willow pulled Caspian’s arm.

She wanted to take him away to avoid further arguments with her mother.

Caspian nodded. He didn’t want to stay there and listen to Kate.

“Hold on! I heard that the Massey family’s assets have been seized?” Kate suddenly asked.

“Yes. Is there a problem with that?” Caspian furrowed his brows.

He knew she wouldn’t give up easily.

“I don’t care. I’m a member of the Massey family, so everything belongs to me! Who are you to seize those assets?” she yelled.

After hearing her words, Caspian’s lips twitched.

Even at this moment, all Kate was thinking about was the Massey family’s assets.

She was truly peculiar!

Willow was equally astonished.

Kate was unruly before, but now, she was completely money–driven.

The real purpose for her visit today was to get back the Massey family’s assets!

“The Massey family’s assets have been confiscated, and I can’t do anything about it. They should’ve all been seized now,”

Caspian said somewhat helplessly.

+15 BONUS

Kate was the weirdest person he had ever encountered.

Most people would be devastated by the death of their family members, but

Kate was different. At this moment, her only concern was the family’s wealth. To her, money seemed more important than anything else!

“Nonsense! I’m part of the Massey family, and now I’m the heir. All of the Massey family’s properties belong to me!” she raged.

She had been wanting to own those assets worth tens of billions for a long while.

Now that both Saul and Jessica had passed away, she was the only one who could inherit the assets.

With so much wealth, why should it be confiscated? Moreover, who was

Caspian to decide?

Kate would definitely not let this go. As long as she could get hold of the Massey family's assets, she wouldn't have to worry anymore.

By th

By then, she would have absolute authority in the Stewart family.

That was the purpose of her visit today—to claim everything that belonged to her.

Chapter 379 Ice Queen

Seeing Kate's persistent behavior, Caspian felt somewhat helpless.

He knew her too well. If she didn't achieve her goal, she would definitely continue making a scene.

If that happened, it wouldn't be peaceful for him and Willow,

They both didn't want to see her around. Hence, they needed to figure out a way to get her to leave.

"I can give you the Massey family's assets," Caspian said.

"Caspian, you truly are my good son-in-law!" Kate exclaimed excitedly.

Hearing this, Caspian was speechless. Kate's attitude had made a complete turn.

"However, I can only give you the original assets of the Massey family. Any assets acquired through illegal means must be confiscated! Let me think how much of the assets are clean... He chuckled.

As he spoke, he began to calculate. But in reality, he already had an answer.

Hearing this, Kate was momentarily stunned. Getting some assets was still pretty good for her.

"How much of the assets can I actually get? Hurry up and tell me!" she asked eagerly.

"This much!" Caspian smiled and held up a finger.

"Ten billion?" Kate asked excitedly.

Ten billion wasn't a small amount!

Caspian shook his head.

"How much is it, then?" Her face suddenly turned dark.

If it were any less, she wouldn't accept it. With her spending habits, a few billion wouldn't be enough.

"Only a billion," Caspian said with a smile.

"That's so little!" Kate's face had darkened completely at this point.

“What? That’s too little for you? In that case, forget it,” Caspian said as he turned to leave.

“It’s not little at all!” Kate hurriedly said.

Even though it was just a billion, it was still money!

+15 BONUS

One billion was better than nothing.

Originally, the Massey family only had a few billion in assets, but in the past few months, they had expanded their influence and taken out high–interest loans.

With Lincoln’s intervention, the Massey family’s assets plummeted rapidly. Their legal income was about one or two billion.

“Caspian, tell me the truth. How much are the total assets of the Massey family?” Kate asked cautiously.

Several billion seemed to be a small figure for the actual total assets of the Massey family.

Willow couldn’t stand it anymore.

“Mom! Will you ever stop? Caspian is already going to give you one billion.

Stop pestering him,” Willow said.

“How am I pestering him? I’m part of the Massey family. Don’t I have the right to know?” Kate argued.

Looking at her, Caspian was extremely helpless.

Kate indeed wouldn’t give up.

However, if he were to disclose the entire assets of the Massey family, she would definitely continue to pester him.

After all, the actual assets amounted to tens of billions. She wouldn’t be satisfied with just one billion.

“I can’t tell you that. Just go and ask Lincoln for one billion.” With that said, Caspian left the villa.

He really didn’t want to continue arguing with Kate.

Meanwhile, a private plane landed at Eastcove Airport.

Dozens of well–dressed men stood on both sides of the airport runway.

This indicated that a significant figure was arriving.

Soon, an outstanding woman in a tight–fitting black suit and black stockings emerged.

Her impressive figure compelled others to take another glance at her.

But her cold demeanor discouraged any approach.

Facing her, even the dozens of bodyguards showed utmost respect as they didn’t dare to meet her eyes.

Everyone knew she wasn't someone to be casually provoked.

This woman was Jyn Morrison, the CEO of Morrison Group of Dhord City. Her company possessed assets exceeding hundreds of billion in Dhord City, making her a tycoon in the business world!

Moreover, she was also the heiress of the Morrison family in Dhord City. Countless elite bachelors, real estate tycoons, and wealthy heirs had pursued her, but she remained single.

She always maintained a cool demeanor, earning her the title of "Ice Queen"! "Ms. Morrison, I've investigated thoroughly. After retiring, Caspian married into the Stewart family in Southlake City. His wife is Willow Stewart, the CEO of Southlake Corporation..." A secretary wearing a black skirt approached Jyn respectfully.

The secretary handed her a folder.

She didn't understand why Jyn would have a special interest in a matrilocal son-in-law.

As far as she knew, Jyn and Caspian were comrades in arms. But after Jyn retired, she inherited the family business.

Meanwhile, Caspian disappeared without a trace.

Now that Jyn knew of Caspian's whereabouts, she rushed to Southlake City. She even canceled a contract worth billions.

Her secretary, Ginger Copley, was extremely surprised. A person like Jyn could have anyone she wanted, yet she was fixated on a matrilocal son-in-law.

Jyn looked through the information in the folder. After Caspian married into the Stewart family, he led a life without much dignity.

She was somewhat annoyed at this information as her fair face showed a trace of sternness.

Caspian was the man she had waited for several years.

Why did Willow get to have him?

When Ginger saw Jyn getting angry, she was even more shocked.

Ms. Morrison was usually indifferent and never got angry over anything.

Yet today, she was furious over Caspian.

If this news were to spread to Dhord City, it would definitely surprise many people.

"Let's go to Southlake Corporation!" Jyn said.

30 minutes later, Jyn and her group arrived.

"This is Southlake Corporation?" Jyn looked at the building in front of her and said disdainfully.

Although Southlake Corporation's building was tall and prosperous, in her eyes, it was no different from a thatched hut.

Morrison Group in Dhord City was a hundred times better!

"Let's go!"

Jyn didn't say much and walked into Southlake Corporation with her secretary and bodyguards.

"Hello, is there something I can help you with?"

The front desk receptionist was frightened when this group of people rushed in.

Jyn remained silent. She didn't want to engage with such people.

"Open your eyes wide and take a good look! This is Ms. Morrison, the CEO of Morrison Group of Dhord City!" Ginger stepped forward and proclaimed.

"What? Ms. Morrison of Morrison Group? Jyn Morrison!"

The receptionist was stunned.

Everyone knew about Morrison Group as they were one of the largest companies in Dhord City.

Their assets reached hundreds of billions, and they had a wide range of industries under them.

Jyn was hailed as the youngest and most promising female CEO!

"Ms. Morrison, nice to meet you!" the receptionist said with trembling fear.

"Where is Willow? Have her come out to greet us!" Ginger said impatiently.

Ginger had accompanied Jyn and had seen many big corporations before. In her eyes, Southlake Corporation meant nothing.

Chapter 380 The Rival

"Sorry, Ms. Stewart is very busy. If you want to see her, you must make an appointment in advance!" the receptionist said anxiously.

Willow was the CEO of Southlake Corporation. People who came to discuss business matters would typically need to schedule appointments several days in advance.

Yet, Ms. Morris was haughty enough to expect Ms. Stewart to come down and greet her.

"Shut up! Does Ms. Morris need an appointment? Morris Group can easily ruin Southlake Corporation!" Ginger exclaimed angrily.

"Enough."

Seeing Ginger getting angry, Jyn waved her hand.

Instantly, Ginger kept quiet as she didn't dare to provoke Jyn.

She was aware of Jyn's temper. Anyone who dared provoke her would face dire consequences, Previously, a few old folks from Morris Group had deliberately caused trouble, thinking little of Jyn.

But she found out their secret, and they were eventually kicked out of the company.

Since then, everyone from Morris Group had shown the utmost respect to her..

"Which floor is Willow on?" Jyn stared at the trembling receptionist and asked. Even though her tone was calm, there was an air of dominance that emanated a sense of pressure.

"Ms. Stewart is on the top floor!" the receptionist's face turned red as she nervously answered.

Just as she finished speaking, she felt weak all over, intimidated by Jyn's aura.

"Thank you," Jyn uttered lightly before stepping into the elevator. Once she left, the receptionist breathed a sigh of relief.

Jyn's overwhelming presence made it difficult for people to bear. Meanwhile, the receptionist felt a sudden fear. Letting the group of people in without following the company's protocol was a mistake.

She hurriedly dialed Willow's number.

In the CEO's office, Willow received a call.

+15 BONUS

"Jyn Morris? Why is she here?"

Willow sounded puzzled upon hearing the name.

Willow had heard of Jyn's name. Jyn became the CEO of Morris Group in just a few years. Now, the company had become a significant enterprise in Dhord City and even held a prominent position in the northern part of Dhord City.

Jyn was a legend in the business circle. There were rumors that she was a soldier before inheriting the family business.

In just a few years, she had achieved remarkable success.

Why would such a formidable figure come all the way from Dhord City to look for Willow?

Willow felt quite perplexed.

Jyn and her entourage arrived at the top floor.

The employees working there couldn't help but look over.

Jyn's temperament shocked everyone. She was exceptionally beautiful, and the aura she exuded made it impossible to meet her gaze.

Her appearance was akin to a queen inspecting her domain, leaving everyone in awe.

However, Jyn was used to such attention.

Even Ginger couldn't help but wear a disdainful expression as she thought that these people were ignorant.

She approached an employee with an air of superiority and asked, "Where is Willow?"

Seeing Ginger's discourtesy, the employee got angry. "Who are you? You need an appointment to see Ms. Stewart!"

A crisp sound echoed.

Ginger raised her hand and slapped the employee with a sneer. "Bastard! Do you know who we are?"

"How dare you hit me!"

The employee was enraged.

He was prepared to retaliate but was stared down by two burly men.

He could only lower his head as he realized that these people weren't easy to deal with.

He pointed toward an office in the middle.

"Get lost!" Ginger shouted.

The male employee quickly returned to his seat and didn't hesitate to utter another word.

"Ms. Morris, I know where she is," Ginger said as she took the lead.

The group arrived outside Willow's office.

With a bang, a brawny man kicked the door.

Willow was startled by the noise.

She looked up and saw Jyn and her group entering the office.

"You..." Her brows furrowed in question.

However, before she could finish, Jyn had already sat on the sofa.

"So, You're Willow?" Ginger walked in and gazed at Willow as if she were insignificant.

"Yes. What are you here for? Don't you know how to knock before entering?"

Willow said impatiently.

They barged into her office without even a greeting.

Who did they think they were?

"This is Ms. Morris of Morris Group, Jyn Morris!" Ginger said disdainfully.

She was acting like she was the heiress.

But she did have some rights. After all, she was Jyn's secretary and often flattered by many.

She wasn't stupid either. She knew the reason for Jyn's visit to Southlake City was to cause trouble for Willow.

Hence, she had to be arrogant.

Upon hearing this, Willow understood the situation.

They were from Morris Group.

The Ice Queen sitting on the sofa was none other than the legendary Jyn Morris.

Jyn sat on the sofa and began peeling an apple as if she were the master of the office.

She was truly extraordinary.

"I initially thought that the people from a company as big as Morris Group would have some manners. But I never expected a mere secretary to be so disrespectful. Where do you think you are? How dare you act recklessly in my company!" Willow said bluntly.

She was the CEO of Southlake Corporation, no longer the naive girl from before.

+15 BONUS

She needed to display her authority. Otherwise, everyone would disregard Southlake Corporation!

Seeing Willow's unyielding attitude, Ginger was stunned.

You_ "

Ginger was too angry to speak.

Back in Dhord City, everyone was extremely respectful when they saw her.

But Willow, a CEO of a small company, dared to disregard her?

"Enough!"

Just as Ginger was about to get angry, Jyn coldly interrupted.

"Ms. Morris," Ginger called out as she couldn't swallow her anger.

"What? You don't even listen to me now? Step aside!" Jyn frowned.

"Yes!"

Although Ginger was somewhat angry, she took two steps back.

She then glanced at Willow.

Disdain was written all over Willow's face as she found Ginger ridiculous to be relying on external power.

“Hello, I’m Jyn Morris, the CEO of Morris Group in Dhord City,” Jyn looked down at and introduced herself.

Willow

Willow didn’t mind as she was still somewhat polite.

“Hello, I’m Willow Stewart, the CEO of Southlake Corporation,” she also introduced herself.

The two appraised each other.

Jyn wasn’t surprised to see Willow’s beauty. Willow had an air of elegance, but her makeup was light, creating a slight difference compared to herself.

At the thought of this, Jyn felt somewhat pleased.

“Are you Caspian’s wife? Caspian is the son-in-law of the Stewart family, right?” she stared at Willow and asked.
