

THE ALMIGHTY LORD CASPIAN

Chapter 826 Show the Evidence

Chapter 826 Show the Evidence

When Sylvia came to see Byron, she was fully armed.

She was worried that he might play tricks.

However, she was utterly stunned upon entering the tent and seeing the scene before her.

Caspian and Byron were chatting lively. This was a situation that she hadn't anticipated.

Sylvia admired and respected Caspian deeply after working with him for years. Besides, he treated her well.

Therefore, she was very respectful toward him, especially on the battlefield when Caspian's presence was filled with dominance that gave people an invisible pressure on their shoulders.

So, Sylvia didn't dare to joke casually with him.

Byron glanced at Sylvia and sized her up.

"Caspian, I didn't expect you to be surrounded by so many beauties! You're so lucky!" He laughed

"I can't help that I'm too charming!" Caspian laughed.

"I never expected you to be so narcissistic. You remind me of myself when I was young." Byron grinned. Hearing him joke around, Sylvia, who was initially nervous, was relieved.

It seemed she had been overthinking earlier.

In the Alliance Hall, the leaders of various factions were gathered, listening to Manny's eloquent speech. He was unwavering and was actually very powerful.

Sitting at the forefront was Alexander, accompanied by representatives of various factions.

According to Alexander's intention, dealing with Caspian was undeniably an urgent matter.

However, the leaders of other factions wanted to hear what Manny had to say first.

Instead of taking the initiative, they preferred to see what tricks Caspian might pull. Moreover, they needed a legitimate reason to mobilize their troops. After all, mobilizing troops without a valid reason would only cause dissatisfaction from others.

By then, it wouldn't be good news for the alliance.

Manny stood in the center of the hall, facing the gaze of everyone present. He didn't feel nervous at all.

He remained confident despite being the center of attention.

"If you don't speak now, get out and stop embarrassing yourself!" someone shouted suddenly.

Manny, who was preparing his speech, was momentarily stunned by the interruption. Then, his demeanor changed.

"I'm Manny York, representing Diatoran to talk with all of you. I am here to share the thoughts and principles of Diatoran with you.

"Of course, I'm a bit nervous. I understand the purpose of your alliance, but have you considered the consequences of your actions?" Manny spoke confidently.

Despite the scrutiny of others, he remained unaffected. This time, he wasn't just representing himself but the entire Diatoran.

"The alliance was established for the sake of maintaining peace and helping weaker forces. Mr. Martin, what is the purpose of the alliance now?" Manny asked, staring at Alexander.

"The alliance's purpose remained unchanged. We have always been committed to maintaining peace, and our stance will never change," Alexander said calmly.

"Then, is the alliance's intention to deal with Caspian and Diatoran also for the sake of peace?" Manny continued. "Of course! We're doing this for peace," a high-ranking member interjected.

"Do you understand the truth behind the matter? Do you even know the causes before making such a decision? You make reckless decisions based on others' words. Isn't that too hasty?" Manny raised his voice.

"Caspian has already captured Byron. Isn't that obvious?" the representative from Estrya chimed in.

"Mr. Martin, since your purpose is to uphold justice and peace, shouldn't you ask why two forces are now in conflict? Directly suppressing the strength of one side is too unfair!" Manny argued reasonably.

Manny's statement made Alexander feel somewhat helpless. Although he appeared to have great authority, everyone knew that the real power didn't lie with him as he was just a puppet of many forces.

"Mr. York, I've made my own decision. Besides, I've already investigated this matter thoroughly. Otherwise, I wouldn't have issued the declaration!" Alexander said coldly.

Once the other representatives heard his response, they immediately expressed their dissatisfaction.

Alexander noticed this, too. He really didn't have much power.

"Mr. Martin, esteemed leaders, I know you are all busy. Regarding this matter, let me tell you the truth with evidence." With that, Manny took out a recording pen containing some recordings.

Suddenly, someone stood up and intervened, "These things are unreliable. And with today's advanced technology, they can be easily fabricated."

"It's up to you to believe it or not. With so many people here, your words alone don't count.

"I'll show the evidence, and everyone can judge for themselves & I haven't shown evidence yet, and you're already objecting. Are you guilty?" Please read the original content at .

Manny looked at the representative from Vadesia.

"Hasn't Caspian done plenty of secretive things? I think everyone has their own judgment by now!" the representative from Estrya added.

"Let's see the evidence first. After that, we'll see what else he has to say!" another representative spoke up.

"I want 40 trillion dollars as compensation and three cities from West Aridland. Otherwise, I will turn data into living hell. Think carefully!" Byron's sinister voice came from the recording pen. Please read the original content at

Chapter

"I can agree to your conditions for compensation, but the Clee ereoe Peery people suite “That's my bottom line,” followed Jerry's voice. Please read the original content at .

Upon hearing this, many people began to understand what was going on. It turned out that Jerry was playing tricks.

"Do you think I'm negotiating with you? I'm giving you only 72 hours. Once time's up, I'll take action!" Byron said viciously. Upon hearing this, many people were stunned. Where did Byron get the courage to say such things?

Moreover, Filren didn't possess such powerful strength.

"Do you all understand what's going on now? It has always been Byron stirring up troubles. We've never mentioned killing others," Manny continued.

Upon hearing this, others nodded in agreement.

Seeing this scene, Alexander felt that something was amiss. It seemed that some people were beginning to believe Manny's words.

Then, the representative of Vadesia hurriedly stood up and shouted, "Don't be fooled. These are all fabricated by them!"

“Hold on. There's more to come,” Manny said again.

Chapter 827 Retiring in Glory

Chapter 827 Retiring in Glory

The following news was a bombshell because it concerned the secret negotiations between Vadesia and Estrya. They had initially pledged to divide territories. Once this matter was exposed, it would definitely be disadvantageous for the alliance.

After listening to the recording, everyone present was dumbfounded. It turned out they had been deceived all along. In reality, Diatoran was the victim who was merely defending herself.

Suddenly, someone stood up and declared, "| now announce that I'm withdrawing from the alliance. | will never lay a hand on Caspian!"

"I'm also withdrawing. Clearly, we've all been deceived. Caspian has been right all along!" another member echoed. More and more countries stood up.

It wasn't until this moment that they understood the truth. They had been misled by the one-sided words of Vadesia and Estrya. Hence, they wanted to attack Caspian. But now, it all seemed rather foolish.

If they had indeed acted against Caspian, they would've become sinners. Fortunately, they stopped in time.

"It seems everyone has made the right decision. It's not too late to stop now. Besides, Caspian has already prepared a secret weapon. If he strikes, | believe everyone here will suffer terribly.

"You all know the power of those giant weapons from before, right?" Manny suddenly said somewhat proudly. Now that he had the upper hand, he had nothing to fear.

Seeing that many had made their stance clear, Alexander didn't have much to stay. He dared not go against the majority's opinion.

Moreover, he was essentially just a spokesperson and a puppet for many forces.

"Since everybody has decided, the campaign against Caspian ends here. In the future, whoever dares to stir up trouble will be opposing the entire alliance.

"| also hope that Caspian can be more calm in the future and refrain from causing harm to other forces," Alexander immediately spoke up.

He naturally had to give everyone an explanation. Many forces shook their heads because their conspiracy had failed. Shortly after, Manny returned to Diatoran.

The news of his successful negotiation quickly reached Diatoran and excited everyone.

Meanwhile, Caspian returned to Dhord City with his troops.

The streets of Dhord City were deserted, with tens of thousands of people welcoming him.

"Lord Caspian!

"Diatoranian God of War!

"You are our savior!" the crowd shouted Caspian's name loudly.

At this moment, everyone admired him.

As long as Caspian was there, they didn't need to worry about anything.

It was proven that their choice to believe in Caspian was correct because his strength was truly formidable.

Every time he appeared, he would turn the situation around and solve all the troubles, which reassured everyone. Willow and Sherry had arrived at the airport early to welcome Caspian.

Willow couldn't wait to see him the most. They had been apart for too long, and she missed him.

Zoe stood beside Willow and teased, "Willow, are you eager to see Caspian?"

"Of course. It's been a long time since I last saw him." Willow nodded as she genuinely missed Caspian.

"Lord Caspian!"

"Lord Caspian!"

Accompanied by the cheers, one tank appeared after another at the airport.

Caspian stood on top of the tank and enjoyed the treatment.

Even Balthazar came to the airport to welcome Caspian.

Without Caspian, he would still be in danger.

Balthazar didn't know how to reward Caspian anymore, but he felt obliged to cherish Caspian.

Macy and Sylvia were sitting inside the tank and felt the enthusiasm of the crowd. This was the proudest moment of their lives. "Caspian, you've worked hard!" Balthazar came in front of the vehicle.

Caspian immediately saluted him.

"Your Majesty, it's my duty. It's not a big deal." Caspian smiled.

"We can be carefree in the future. Do you have any wishes? I can fulfill them all for you!" Balthazar said to Caspian. Caspian's contributions to the nation were immense. As the king, Balthazar had to reward Caspian properly. Otherwise, he wouldn't feel at ease.

"I don't have any request, Your Majesty. I only have one wish. Can we rebuild Southlake @itfpant O Sopithitake\ Sbrporation? I plan to retire. There shouldn't be any more wars in the future," Caspian said. Please read the original content at .

He was tired of the life of fighting and killing. It was time to end it all.

"You want to retire at such a young age? I thought of letting you become the king in the future.

"Alright, I'll help fulfill your wish. But when I retire, Diatoran will be governed by you." Balthazar laughed. He wouldn't let anyone else handle this matter. He only trusted Caspian as only Caspian was capable of it. "Okay!" Caspian nodded.

Then, he saw Willow in the crowd.

"Hubby! Hubby!" Willow shouted loudly and waved at Caspian once she spotted him.

At this moment, she felt like the happiest woman in the world.

"Willow! I'm back!"

Caspian got off the tank and looked at Willow affectionately. He hadn't seen her in a long time. He hadn't missed her terribly. He had been busy running around lately and hadn't given her much attention. Please read the original content at .

Now that he finally had some time, Caspian wanted to finish what he had left unfinished.

"Willow, let's have a child. There won't be any more accidents | the-fanirel | we can have a good life with you, Caspian said affectionately. Please read the original content at .

"Okay! I want to have a bunch of children with you and let them become little Gods of War in the future!" Willow said happily. Finally, she could live a peaceful life with Caspian. She had long fantasized about living an ordinary life with him.

Otherwise, she couldn't bear it if Caspian continued to be away from her most of the time.

Sherry and Logan watched this scene with happiness.

"Stop being so lovey-dovey!" Zoe groaned.

Caspian and Willow shared a passionate kiss before walking through the crowd and basking in the envious gazes of everyone.

The Novel will be updated first on this website. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!