

LORD OF WAR

Chapter 10: .Be worthy of payment

"Are you okay?" This time, everyone finally noticed Sean's abnormality, and Cecilia was the first to rush up to support Sean.

"It's okay." Sean's voice was obviously weak, and the breath he exhaled now was hot, even a little bit burnt.

"In your current situation, if you want to use that rapid stop technique, you are lucky that you did not die on the spot." Du Luen glanced at Sean, the expression on his face did not change, but his heart still remained the same. The stormy sea undulated, "Although I don't know your situation, it's better to use the high-level skills if you don't use it or not."

Shaun nodded, and said nothing.

In fact, he is also happy to have such a misunderstanding, because at least there is no need to explain why his physical condition is like this at the moment. Of course, he also knew that Du Luen was actually a bit jealous, not to mention why his body could withstand the negative effects of "Rapid Stop", the sprint skill alone was enough to make many people envy.

Among the people present, whether it is Old Peter or Du Luen, they do not know this technique. Although Du Luen's situation is a little better, he also knows a "mount charge" skill, but this skill requires the cooperation of the mount, and it can be learned as long as it is a knight rank, but it is not too rare. On the contrary, it is the skill of "sprint", which is absolutely rare. Like the "charge" of the knight and the "charge" of the warrior, it is necessary to learn the prerequisite skill of "sprint". "Sprint" is a skill that consumes a lot of time and money.

After confirming that Xiao En was okay, everyone's attention was completely focused on the three wind-stripe black wolves.

If Old Peter was not too risky, this could even be said to be a battle without any damage. Although part of the reason for this is that many people have Tier 3 strength, in fact, it is Sean that really plays a decisive role, not to mention that he is familiar with the conditions in the forest of the stars and the habits of beasts. It was the command ability that was revealed just now, enough to convince Du Luen.

It was only at this time that Du Luen realized that if he was actually in charge just now, I am afraid that at least one or two people would have to be sacrificed, and only at this moment of reflection did Du Luen know the two secondary fireballs just now. The role of the technique, and the timing of the exquisite position replacement. It can be said that only Sean has this ability among the people present, and even he or Old Peter can't do this step.

However, Sean, as the client, had no obvious mood swings. In fact, he had expected this result long ago. At the beginning of the game, the defensive counterattack skills against the wind-stripe black wolf had been very mature, not to mention that there were seven third-tier people on the scene, even if all were second-tier strengths, Sean was sure to pass without loss. The only thing that made him feel pity was that the nucleus crystals in the three wind-stripe black wolves had been destroyed, which also caused the corpses of these wind-stripe black wolves to be worthless.

Nucleus crystal, also known as magic nucleus, crystal nucleus, is the source and lifeblood of the power of the monster. It not only condenses the lifelong elemental power of the monster, but has even replaced the role of the heart. It can be said that as long as the nucleus crystal is destroyed, any one Warcraft will be killed immediately. However, if the nucleus crystal is only obtained, it cannot be used immediately. A series of processes must be carried out to extract the unstable magic power in the nucleus crystal before the nucleus crystal can be used safely. The more pure the elemental power of's is, of course the more difficult it is to extract the unstable magic power inside.

However, whether it is a high-level or a low-level nucleus crystal, its demand has never been reduced, even if the future enters the era of magic guidance, nucleus crystal still occupies an extremely important market share and demand, after all, nucleus crystal is not only It is only needed by magicians. If you want to make magic equipment, nucleus crystal is an indispensable main material. Therefore, no matter what era, nucleus crystal has always been the mainstream hard currency.

Originally, the three wind-stripe black wolves had at least three first-class wind-attribute nuclei, but they were crushed by Sean and others, so it is naturally impossible to obtain nuclei from the wind-stripe black wolf. If you want to obtain the core crystal of the wind-stripe black wolf, you must rely on the means of defeating the airflow of the body to kill it, and then you can obtain the core crystal from the wind-stripe black wolf. Neither can get the nucleus crystal from it.

This is a special setting in the original "Miracle": through different killing methods, the final items obtained are also completely different.

However, in the real world, one thing is better than in the game, that is, Sean killed the wind-stripe black wolf with a single sword. There was no way to do this in the game because there is still life in the game. Value setting.

At this moment, these three wind-stripe black wolves, in the eyes of Xiao En, the wolf skin is worth some money, but it is a pity that Old Peter's spear penetrates the wind-patterned black wolf directly, so the wolf skin needs to be reduced in price. Quite a few, and the wind-stripe black wolf that the archer killed, because of the arrow, the wolf skin at the throat was slightly damaged, and its value was slightly affected. Only Shaun himself was the perfect wolf skin. The one that did it.

In addition to the wolf skin of the wind-stripe black wolf, the wolf meat has a little edible value.

"Boy, it's amazing." Old Peter carried the wind-printed black wolf, and then walked over.

After all, the wind-stripe black wolf is not a large monster. On the whole, it is only slightly larger than the average wolf-like creature. As long as the power value exceeds ten points, it can be lifted, not to mention that the power value of Old Peter reaches 28 points. People out.

Xiao En's face is still a little pale, but his grin is still very contagious: "I always have to be worthy of this reward."

Old Peter was taken aback first, then smiled: "It seems that the reward must be very high."

"Ten thousand pan-continental gold coins." Xiao En reported a number that was enough to make ordinary people feel shocked.

On the Marvel Continent, there are not many kingdoms and empires of all kinds, and each country is very close to the right of coinage, and naturally there will be many currencies belonging to their respective countries. At the earliest time, all countries did not recognize the currencies of other countries. Later, after the ten most powerful chambers of commerce on the miracle continent united to form the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce, the currencies of all countries finally had a clear exchange ratio. The possibility of circulation.

However, with the development of the historical era, the disputes between countries have gradually escalated. The hostile countries do not recognize each other's currency at all. In addition, the gold coins of some countries are only 70% gold or less, so the Pan-Continental United Chamber of Commerce targeted these. In response to the situation, the Pan-Continent gold coin minted with pure gold was introduced, and a more detailed currency exchange ratio and financial system were formulated based on this. Over time, the Pan-Continent gold coin became the common currency of the entire Miracle Continent.

Serian Kingdom's gold coins are 70% gold, but because the thickness of the gold coins is relatively thin, it can only be considered as 50% gold. Du Luen and Harley gave Sean 10,000 pan-continent gold coins, which is actually equal to 20,000 Celian gold coins, but the Celian gold coins can only be used in the Kingdom of Celian. If you go to Portoroa in the case of the Kingdom, there will be further price reductions due to exchange rate issues.

Sean is not stupid, of course he wants Pan-Continent gold coins instead of Celian gold coins.

If it is a general guide commissioned task, this price can be regarded as a sky-high price, but after this battle, everyone has fully realized the danger of the Starfall Forest and the importance of Sean, so the reward of this tens of thousands of pan-continental gold coins is let people. It hurts, but at least it is not unacceptable.

Of course, Harley knew better. In fact, it was because Du Luen's attitude was too bad that day, so Sean slaughtered him severely.

Looking at the stunned look on Old Peter's face, Sean felt refreshed for a while. He didn't wait here until his physical condition was completely healed. Instead, he immediately said after he was able to walk around: "We're right now. Leaving here, everyone remembers to deal with the smell of blood, the fluctuation of magic power in the Forest of Starfall is very disordered, as long as it does not smell of blood, it will not attract the attention of the beasts."

Hearing Shaun's words, the people present immediately understood, so several guards immediately bleed the three wind-stripe black wolves. Old Peter also took advantage of this time to clean up the injury on his left hand and bandage it.

From the perspective of this process, it can be seen that this is a team that pays great attention to efficiency and speed, and the survival experience in the wild is very rich. Several arteries in the wind-stripe black wolf have been opened, which greatly speeds up The speed of bloodletting, and this bloodletting is not just a matter of throwing it away. Several people dug a small pit on the ground and put all the wolf blood here, so that the wolf corpse will not be stained with blood. When the bloodletting process was over, the wound was immediately wrapped with mud and a piece of canvas to prevent the smell of blood from dissipating.

In less than a minute, everyone had finished sorting them out and was on the road again.

And this time on the road, Sean didn't dare to delay time. He directly arranged two guards to protect himself, and then took the lead. The shooter was also placed in the core circle, and he did not need to be responsible for the investigation. Anyway, The ordinary investigative methods in the Forest of the Fallen Stars are also not available, so it is better to let Sean command and arrange them. But the responsibility of protecting the people behind the palace was the responsibility of the old Peter and Du Luen together.

And just a few minutes after everyone was on the road again, a series of wolves sounded in the forest. This voice contained a kind of obvious anger and sorrow, which also made many people feel a little hairy. But soon, there were a few more roars.

Sean stopped, and after listening a little bit, he set off again: "Let's go, the smell of blood has attracted a lot of monsters. It is estimated that the wolves should be fighting against other monsters. We are now temporarily It's safe.";
