

Lord of War 31

Chapter 31: . Certainty of the future

Alchemy blacksmith is a respectful name for those blacksmiths who can create magical equipment.

All demonized equipment can only be forged by blacksmiths with a certain mysterious craft, and this special craft can only be made with the alchemist's potion or even the magician's special ability, so it is called Alchemy blacksmith. However, the alchemist can only make magic weapons such as armor or weapons. Jewelry, staff or commoner, leather, leather armor and the like are not in the category of blacksmiths.

When Cecilia heard that Sean said that she could make magic equipment, she just listened to it as a joke, because in more than a month with Sean, she never saw him touch a hammer, let alone Forged even ordinary level equipment. But now, she could obviously feel that the Charles Sabre had been strengthened once, so Cecilia didn't believe it.

Cecilia inserted the sword back into the scabbard, and then whispered, "Sean, you'd better not let anyone discover your identity. Alchemy blacksmiths have never been free."

Although Cecilia did show some clues a few days ago, she insisted not to say it. Of course, Sean would not ask, just know that her identity is not simple. So Cecilia would not be surprised when he said these words at this moment. In fact, he was very touched because he knew very well that the alchemist, regardless of his level, would be controlled if he was discovered by the nobles. Getting up may not be a big deal to others, but for Sean, losing his freedom is very uncomfortable.

And Cecilia would remind me so, naturally he also regarded Sean as a relative.

Rubbing her head, Xiao En smiled and said, "I'll pay attention.... But it's you, this crimson flame must be kept carefully. If it is seen by other people who know the goods, maybe there will be a lot of trouble. ."

"I see." Cecilia clenched the brocade box in her hand, and when she raised the crimson flame, her face showed excitement again.

But it's no wonder that Cecilia is like this.

The Crimson Flame is indeed a rare gemstone, which uses a special hardened ruby as a carrier, and then injects the fire element in the core of the fire system monster and the magic power in the magic spar together. The magic gem formed. This is also a product that can only be produced by an alchemist who needs to master special skills. The higher the level of the monster core used, the better the combination of elemental power and magic, and the higher the quality of the gem.

What can be called Crimson Flame must be dominated by crystal nuclei above the fifth level, and those below the fifth level can only be called Crimson Heart.

The crimson flame in Cecilia's hand only emits magic power, and can't feel the slightest fluctuation of the fire element. This is enough to prove that the fire element in the gem is condensed perfectly, which is the performance of the high-quality crimson flame.

However, the use of such special magic gems must also require some special methods. Ron didn't know the origin of this gem precisely because he didn't understand these special methods. He didn't doubt that this gem might be a crimson flame or a crimson heart, but after all, he had never touched it before. And there is no reference to compare, so naturally there is no chance to understand.

As for using this gem to ask the great magicians of the Kingdom of Portoroa, Ron would never do so as long as he had not been caught by the door panel.

So there is no reason why this gem fell into Sean's hands.

We chatted with Cecilia for a while. Seeing that her face was obviously eager to try, Sean smiled and asked her to try the effect of this crimson flame. Cecilia, who was already absent in mind, naturally ran away happily when she heard this, but after Xiao En slightly cleaned up, she walked out of the hotel towards a hall in the city.

This hall is not very magnificent, but there is a solemn breath emanating from the hall.

In the hall, there is a stone statue about one foot high. It is carved with the appearance of an old man opening a book, using a detailed technique. This kind of carving technique pays attention to delicate, every carving position will be very carefully carved, which has a very high patience requirement for the sculptor, but once the carving is completed, the carving will give people an extremely realistic illusion.

This statue is said to be the incarnation of the  of wisdom who once walked on earth. And this temple is naturally the temple of wisdom, but on the Continent of Miracles, this temple has become a pure teaching site—people learn to read here, and knowledge is no longer the patent of the nobles. . However, for the players in the original game, the biggest function of the Temple of Wisdom is to be able to find a first-level career [scholar] here.

At this moment, Sean came here naturally to find a first-level career [Scholar].

One of the most attractive parts of the game "Miracle" is the diversification of professions, especially many special ranks and hidden ranks, which have requirements for multiple professions, but a single development of a profession will certainly take shape. It's early, but in the later stage, it will become a bottleneck restricting development. In the end, we still have to take into account other professional development.

But here, special rank and hidden rank are two completely different concepts.

Starting from the third level, it is divided into three professional advancement methods: normal advancement, special advancement, and hidden advancement.

For example, [knight apprentice] and [magic apprentice] as long as the occupation level reaches tenth level, you can become [knight] or [magic] after passing the approval of the instructor, and this category belongs to the category of normal advancement. The advantage of normal advancement is that it takes shape very quickly. In the early stage, it can form combat effectiveness quickly and lay a certain degree of foundation. However, the disadvantage is that the professional ability is relatively normal, and the later stage must be transformed to continue to develop.

The special advancement refers to the powerful superior profession of the same kind of profession. This kind of profession has relatively special advancement requirements. For example, the [Heavy Armor Knight] requires that the advanced person must be a citizen of the Kingdom of Portoroa, and at the same time [Warrior], [Knight Apprentice], which also belong to [Physics], reach level five. Of course, there are some higher-level occupations that do not require nationality status. For example, the fourth-tier occupation of [Elemental Mage] requires two third-tier [spellcasting] occupations, the third-level [magic] and the seventh-level [Elemental].

The advantage of this type of advanced class is that once it is formed, it will be extremely powerful. Usually one can top two normal ranks of the same level. Rank occupation, then there is even the power of a battle. Naturally, the disadvantage is that it takes a long time to form, and in the early stage, it can't bring out the combat power of the special advanced class.

As for hidden advancement, it is an advanced job that only a few lucky people can find even in the game. The advantages of this type of occupation are extremely obvious, that is, unparalleled powerful combat power or support ability, but its shortcomings are also very obvious, that is, the growth rate is slower than that of special advanced occupations, because this kind of advanced occupations is a cross-category development. of.

Just like now, the third-tier occupation that Sean is preparing to take up.

Curse Swordsman.

This third-tier occupation requires a seven-level [Warrior] and a third-level [Scholar] occupation level. Finally, you must complete a trial task before you can successfully find your job. And the biggest feature of this class is that it can use the power of the curse seal to strengthen the combat effectiveness. Once the curse seal power is exploded, it even has a higher combat effectiveness than the opponents of the fourth-order special advanced class.

In fact, Sean didn't want to take up this profession when she first started. However, in the Forest of Starfall, he accidentally activated the passive skill of Mystery Swordsmanship, and then discovered that the so-called "swordsmanship" is not just like the original one in the game, but is equivalent to a skill that can be mastered. The idea of finding a career as a swordsman was moved.

But [Swordsman] This rank is a normal advancement in the third rank. Although it was formed very early, it did not have too strong combat effectiveness. This is completely different from the professional positioning that Sean had prepared for the job at the beginning. . So after a lot of deliberation in the past few days-in fact, it is constantly remembering what kind of powerful swordsman professions were in the game. Until today, after confirming that the ruby in Ron's hands is indeed the crimson flame, Sean finally thought about it. Get up, there is such a hidden advanced career in the swordsman class that can be employed in Tindes.

So while Cecilia was meditating in the hotel room, Sean came to the Temple of Wisdom.

This is a temple that never refuses others to enter, and never even requires anyone to become a believer or believe in the * of wisdom. Of course, even if needed, Sean won't mind, anyway, he only needs a simple dialogue to successfully complete the inauguration-the Temple of Wisdom is a formal [scholar] inauguration career point, not the kind of inauguration in the field or elsewhere. Points, so there will be no strange requirements such as personal attributes or anything.

Of course, a new job is different from a part-time job.

Part-time job is the second class of its kind. For example, Sean is already a [Warrior] now. If he wants to be a part-time [Knight Apprentice], he must first be [Warrior] at level 5 before he can go to a level. The knight consulted and learned and became his apprentice, and in this process he even needed to consume proficiency points to successfully work part-time in a second class of the same kind.

And part-time occupations are absolutely not allowed to exceed the main occupations. Of course, which one is the main occupation can be set by the player. This is also a manifestation of the high degree of freedom in "Miracle".

As for inauguration of a new career, that is to reopen the second career direction.

[Physics] of mercenaries, [Spellcasting] of scholars, and [Divine Art] of priests are the three career directions that players can open. This also requires the main occupation level to reach level five, and because of the opening of the second career path, the occupational punishment will be more serious than part-time. This is why the growth rate of hidden ranks is even slower than that of special ranks. .

Even, because there are two different types of occupations, the skill column will even divide the professional skills and non-professional skills, which is another headache for Sean. But in order to maximize strength, he had to do this again.

Sean has discovered that in the future of his career, I am afraid that he will not be able to fully replicate the development in the game. ;
