

LORD OF WAR

Chapter 4: .Unexpected visitor

When I returned to the small town of Hadas, it was already noon the next day.

In order to appease Cecilia's emotions, Sean really burned a large bucket of hot water for Cecilia as he had promised, so that she could take a bath comfortably. Of course, even today's housework and the like are all taken care of by Sean alone, which in a sense can be regarded as a kind of flattery.

Lunch is also handled by Sean.

It is only at this time that Sean will feel how painful it was to choose a blacksmith in the game. On the contrary, it was because he was getting tired of eating meat steaks almost every day, and he suddenly missed all kinds of gourmet dishes that he could eat before—whether it was in-game or out-of-game.

Although is just ordinary cooking, it is better than the "poison" produced by the apprentice magician. In short, this little girl can never be counted on.

"Why is it a chowder again." Cecilia, who had just walked out of the shower, wrinkled her face when she saw an iron pot on the table.

"It's convenient, and it's also cheap." Sean rarely blushed. Although the chowder pot is simple and cheap to make, he really can't afford the ingredients, just after trying a few times and wasting a lot of money. , Sean never did this kind of thing again, "Did you finish the shower? Then come to eat."

While talking, Sean put the leftover bread and vegetables and other side dishes on the table, and then looked back at Cecilia.

It was just this look, but it made Xiao En's face a hint of surprise.

Because of the hot weather, Cecilia, who just came out of the bath, was only wearing a relatively thin dress. She tilted her head and held a towel to dry her wet hair. It's just such an action, but it exudes a noble temperament, unlike a twelve or thirteen-year-old girl. It is obvious that only those who have received extremely good family education can show this temperament.

However, it is undeniable that although Cecilia is still very young, if you only look at her figure and appearance, she looks like a young girl who is still in the developmental stage. And judging from the information revealed so far, the girl's future achievements are absolutely amazing.

As if she had noticed Sean's gaze, Cecilia suddenly straightened her body, with a small smug look on her face, making Sean a little bit dumbfounded: "Just your small body, I will learn this in a few years. trick."

Cecilia curled her lips, snorted, and ran to her table like a proud little hen, waiting for the meal.

This is a very simple lunch, but Sean and Cecilia ate very happily, although Cecilia did complain a few words at first, but when the food was on the table, she was still full of thoughts. Enjoy it with gratitude, and there is no waste. This is what Sean values most. Because he knows very well that Cecilia's life experience is by no means simple, not to mention her magical talents, just her manners, movements, temperament and conversation are by no means the identity of an ordinary person, but in this way, she can still choose to endure hardships. , Which is very remarkable.

The housework after lunch was supposed to be done by Cecilia, but today it was a bit rare, and Sean took care of it, while Cecilia continued to read her magic book.

At the beginning, in the game, it was not that difficult for a magic apprentice to be a Tier 3 professional magician, as long as they reached the standard of employment and completed the task. But in this real world, it's not easy for a magic apprentice to become a formal magician. In addition to having enough savvy and magical talent, he also needs the careful guidance of a magician. Fifty possibilities can become an official magician.

Cecilia's talent and savvy are good, but the problem is that she does not have a magician as a mentor, which makes her road to achievement a bit difficult. Fortunately, Cecilia once told Sean that the magic book she was holding was a magical notebook written by her teacher. As long as she carefully studied it, at least becoming a great magician would not be a problem.

The great magician is a Tier 5 profession in "Miracle".

Of course, if Cecilia wants to become a talent through self-study without a mentor, the effort required will be many times greater.

This seems to be a very quiet and ordinary day.

If there is no knock on the door.

Sean looked at the door with some curiosity. Cecilia obviously didn't have the intention of getting up to open the door, so Shaun had no choice but to open the door.

Standing outside the door is a slightly fat man and a sturdy middle-aged man.

"Mr. Sean, you finally showed up!" The fat man enthusiastically held Sean's hand with a look of excitement. "We have been looking for you for several days, and you have not been at home. This can bring us Anxiety."

"Mr. Harvey, you are so kind." Sean was stunned for a moment, and some did not react, but he still very kindly invited the fat man and the middle-aged man next to him into the house, and at the same time did not forget to let Cecilia serve tea to the two of them.

"Lovely girl, don't be unharmed." Harvey smiled and said hello to Cecilia who was on the side, but the latter was cold and did not give a good face.

But Harley seemed to have been used to Cecilia's indifference a long time ago, and did not continue to say anything, but still kept smiling. On the contrary, the middle-aged man next to him showed a somewhat unhappy look, especially when he looked at Sean, his eyes were a little bit more contemptuous and hostile.

Just for the look of the middle-aged man, Sean was very calm. In other words, it is already a habit, because he had expected such a situation a long time ago—in fact, since he became a mercenary, he has become accustomed to this attitude.

[Mercenary (first-tier occupation): This is a diverse occupation, which rarely gives people a positive impression. Basically, anyone can claim to be a mercenary as long as they take any weapon. In a sense, it can be said to be an omnipotent existence. However, in many areas, mercenaries are actually equivalent to robbers and bandits. Don't be surprised if you are suddenly arrested by guards while walking on the road, because this must be an area that hates mercenaries.]

[Inauguration Bonus—Weapon Experience: Because the long time of wandering has made you understand the importance of weapons, and in many cases you have to be forced to use weapons that you are not familiar with. Over time, your way of using these weapons will also change. Unique experience (automatically obtain the "mastery" effect when using any weapon); Wandering career: After countless trials on the edge of life and death, your achievements are also surprising, so say the real strong Sure enough, it still needs constant training (strength +2, strength limit +4, endurance +2, endurance limit +5, agility +1, agility limit +4, wisdom limit +3, will limit +4)]

[Inauguration Penalty-Malicious: Because of the special problems of the mercenary profession, you will be inexplicably malicious in many places (when the reputation is below the friendly area, all your expenses will increase by 30%).]

The variety of occupations is one of the highlights of "Miracle", but they are only available at high levels. According to the original game settings, there are only three first-level occupations that players can find, namely mercenaries and apprentices. And the priest. Although the profession does not limit the player's growth path, just like choosing an apprentice or a priest, you can also become a melee profession in the second and third-tier professions, because in the game, in addition to a few exclusive professions, many higher-level professions can cover different The only difference between the lower-level professions is professional rewards and professional punishments.

However, it is obvious that these characteristics are still retained on the Marvel Continent, and it can even be said that it has produced more and more far-reaching influences.

Therefore, Sean, who took a fancy to [Weapon Experience], a career reward only for mercenaries, will naturally endure the negative effects of [malicious] professional punishment.

"Mr. Harvey, you are usually a busy person." Sean didn't care about the middle-aged man's face, but said casually with a smile on his face, "Is there any commission you want to introduce to me?"

"You are really right." Harvey nodded, but did not deny it, "This commission is really only you can accept."

"Oh?" When Sean heard Harvey say this, he was a little interested.

Because Shaun knew very well that the fat man Harley in front of him was not a fuel-efficient lamp.

Businessmen are an indispensable profession no matter which world they are in, and this profession is even more important on the Marvel Continent, because many things can only be circulated only through the promotion and transportation of merchants. The chamber of commerce is the product that came into being under this situation, but some chambers of commerce have a strong national color, while some chambers of commerce retain great neutrality and independence.

"Polar Silver" is a relatively independent large-scale chamber of commerce. Their business activity area covers six kingdoms including the Kingdom of Celian. It can be regarded as the more well-known chamber of commerce on the northern side of the Miracle Continent. However, as a large chamber of commerce, the president of Polar Silver naturally cannot do everything personally. Therefore, its chamber of commerce is divided into deacons and business leaders according to different classes.

Halai was the merchant who was responsible for the trade route that Sivr received the Saianqi collar from the Suriland region of the Kingdom of Seli. As a business leader in charge of a trade route, Harley not only has a private guard team composed of people of three ranks, but also has more funds on hand than an ordinary viscount, even Demi Viscount En also needs him to help in many places.

Not to mention the power, but at least he is indeed qualified to walk sideways on the side of Sivr.

And such a person actually asks for Sean. How can I blame Sean for not being surprised? ;
