

Lord of War 83

Chapter 83: .Yoda's Notebook

This world is real, but it is crazy and blind.

Anything that cannot be explained clearly by logic, people in this world will attribute it to miracles, or to someone's great talent and aptitude. Just thinking of this, Sean gave a wry smile, because he discovered that in the game world, the player's identity is actually set as the "child of God", so they only need to work hard to upgrade and gain experience and become more proficient.

Shaun once again took out the notebook that Yoda gave him.

[The inaugural item "Yoda's Manuscript" is detected, and you have met the requirements for the transfer of "Swordsman of Curse", do you want to find a job?]

Each time he touched this notebook, Sean could hear such a voice in his mind. He did not change his job at the door of Yoda's house, purely because he didn't want to cause too much sensation there, but he was very aware of the special "sound effects" that certain career changes would cause.

At this time, Sean's location is quite a bit away from Yoda's residence. There is a forest not far in front of him. He guessed that if the unknown enemy wanted to act on him, he would choose to be in this forest. . Thinking of this, Xiao En quickly walked toward the woods. When he entered the woods, he wanted to use the shelter of the trees to minimize the special sound effects caused by the job transfer.

Yoda believes that using Sean's current strength to deal with this enemy is the best way to test his own strength. But Sean is a player after all. If he is really an aboriginal in this world, then he really can only follow Yoda's proposal, check his own situation, and cooperate with this manuscript to understand his own technical gap, but He is not, and he also has a certain degree of understanding about the profession of [Spell Seal Swordsman].

These are Sean's greatest reliance.

As soon as he entered the woods, Sean ran up immediately. He did not deliberately hide the trail, because he knew that since the enemy could easily follow here, it would be meaningless no matter how carefully he hid his figure. All you want is a free time.

When turning into a place where the surrounding trees were growing extremely luxuriantly, Xiao En suddenly stopped, and turned his whole body to the side, standing next to a tree trunk that was big enough to cover his body. After slightly calming the breathing disorder and calming his breath, Sean's breathing rhythm began to become longer and slower, and the feeling that had always made Sean feel a little bit of chill disappeared completely at this moment. NS.

He knew that this enemy had lost his track for the time being, but the next time he encountered it, he might be a real fight.

There is not much time to squander, Sean took out Yoda's manuscript again, but this time, before the voice in his mind sounded, Sean immediately said yes.

At this moment, an indescribable and unique feeling flowed through Sean's body.

This sensation started in the abdomen, and then quickly covered the whole body with a very fast spreading speed, which made Sean feel an extremely unique numbness, as if his whole body was bitten by ants. But the problem is that this feeling comes from the body and comes from the bones. No matter how painful Sean feels and wants to scratch, there is also a pain of not knowing how to start.

Sean really wanted to roar. This is different from the situation in the game, but when he opened his mouth to make a sound, his vocal cords seemed to have been traumatized. A tearing sensation from the throat made him almost uncomfortable. Coughing up blood. It's just that this feeling didn't stop there, but as the situation got worse and worse, Xiao En found that he had this kind of tearing feeling all over his body, as if someone would tear his soul into two.

If he could, Sean really wanted to fall asleep like this, but all this was done while his mind remained extremely awake. Sean can even clearly feel that during this painful process, he has become extremely sensitive to the elements flowing in the air, hot, cold, thick, soft, many unique and strange sensations, All echoed one by one in Sean's induction.

In his body, something seems to be gradually forming.

Suddenly, before Sean could fully react, a flood of magic power exploded in Sean's body. There is no roaring explosion, nor too peculiar brilliance, but the sudden impact has not been reduced in the slightest, but the formation of this impact does not seem to have much impact on Sean himself, but it will A hexagram magic circle exploded where he stood.

Sean breathed out slowly, his body was extremely fatigued, but his spirit still maintained a certain state of excitement. He knew that this sudden job change would cause fluctuations in "special sound effects". After all, he did not take the formal way to produce nuclear enamel through meditation, but relied on some strange power that this world could not explain. It might cost ordinary people to complete it in an instant. It takes months or even years to do it, so it's normal to have strong sound effects.

It's just that he didn't expect that the production of this "sound effect" would have such a strong side effect, which is completely different from the situation in the game.

"An empiricist error was made again." Xiao En sighed slightly, then sat down against the tree trunk, took out a bottle of clear water, and drank.

He must recover his stamina as soon as possible to deal with the battle that may occur at any time. Secondly, he must also put the remaining proficiency points in his current body into the skills that can be used as soon as possible. Only in this way can he form a more powerful combat effectiveness. Thinking of this, Sean opened the personal panel and career introduction. The career he chose in the game was not [Spell Seal Swordsman], so he was not particularly familiar with this career, but the [Physics] careers were all ten thousand. Inseparable from his sect, Sean is confident that he can still play the combat effectiveness of this profession.

But all he needs to do is to get a good understanding of this profession first.

[Church Seal Swordsman (Tier 3 occupation): The rank inherited from Master Yoda, in essence, still uses superb swordsmanship as combat skills, but if conditions permit, you don't mind using a little bit Little tricks to win. Maybe the outside world is not very pleasant to call you, and in the eyes of many sword masters who advocate spiritual existence, you are also a kind of crooked way, but you yourself know very well that only living is the greatest victory.]

[Inauguration Reward-May the magic be with you: There are many external ways to seek extreme development, but there are not many situations that can suit you. You are very lucky to find a new path that suits you (allowing the use of magic) Victory of the perseverer: When outsiders laugh at you, you always silently insist on the development of both careers. Perhaps you are biased because of your talents and hobbies, but in the end you will prove to the world, as long as If you are willing to give, you will definitely gain (strength +5, strength limit +7, endurance +4, endurance limit +7, agility +6, agility limit +10, intelligence +6, intelligence limit +9, will +4, will limit +7)]

[Inauguration punishment-magic is only a skill: the power of a curse swordsman does not lie in the ability of magic, what can really be relied on is swordsmanship, and magic is always just a skill for the curse swordsman. (Unable to master life-type and astral-type magic.)]

Sean glanced around and found that the profession of Swordsman of the Curse Seal was indeed worthy of the high-end name of the hidden profession.

In general Tier 3 occupations, the current attribute added at the tenth level is fifteen, and the limit attribute is 30. That is to say, when the occupation level is raised to tenth, the sum of the five personal current attributes only increases by fifteen points. The total growth limit is thirty. However, [Cursed Seal Swordsman] this hidden profession, the sum of the two is 25 and 40 respectively. This growth limit is equivalent to a Tier 5 profession. It is no wonder that the transfer of hidden professions can be compared with Tier 4 professions. High and low.

After slightly checking the professional characteristics, Sean opened the skill panel again, but when he saw it, he couldn't help but be stunned.

As expected, several new skills were indeed unlocked after the transfer, but these new skills are all transition skills and are not particularly important. At the beginning, Sean learned these skills in the game only for tactics. It's just technical cooperation. But now because of professional changes, the combat skills that can be produced have also undergone earth-shaking changes. Naturally, these skills are no longer necessary to learn.

Besides, there are no new skills to learn!

Except for the "Basics of Magic" that I spent a little proficiency in Yoda's residence before, I don't even have a skill about magicians!

This naturally made Xiao En feel a little dumbfounded. The ideal Swordsman should not look like this! Didn't it mean that you could learn two very useful low-level magic skills from Yoda when you first took the job? Magic skills too! Who swallowed Lao Tzu's magic skills!

Sean's hand suddenly touched the notebook that had fallen on the ground.

"Huh?" Sean's face became a little weird, "Could it be..."

Soon, Sean realized that he had made another mistake in game empiricism, and immediately reached out and picked up the notebook from the ground, then opened it, and began to watch the contents of the notebook seriously.

As Shaun flipped through, all the contents recorded in the notebook began to appear in Shaun's mind one by one.

【Detection of the skill "Light Body Art", learning conditions are agile 20, intelligence 15, will 15, consume two proficiency points, whether to learn? 】

[Detected skill "Entangling Flame", learning condition is 21 agile, intelligence 15, will 15, consumes two proficiency points, do you want to learn? 】

Light body spell is actually the swift spell in the wind magic. They are all magic that can increase the speed. However, after this skill has been improved, the casting speed has been greatly improved. However, the disadvantage is that this magic can only be used on oneself, and cannot be applied to other people like swift spells. It can be said that many magic skills of the Sword Seal Swordsman can only be applied to oneself.

And the entanglement of the flame, sounds like a very powerful name, but in fact it is only an improvement of the fire-type magic burning hand. However, this improvement is very valuable for the Swordsman with Cursed Seal, because this magic is not attached to the hand, but directly acts on the weapon, which can add fire damage to its own damage, which is for many enemies. All have special effects.

But the shortcomings, like the light body technique, can only be used on one's own weapons. Moreover, because of the magic flame, there are relatively strict requirements on the materials of weapons. Even high-quality weapons cannot be fully withstood. It can be said that except for magic weapons, any weapon is destroyed by one hand.

These two skills are relatively practical skills that the curse seal swordsman can master from the beginning. It's another matter to say whether you have to learn the Entangling Flame, but the light body technique is the core tactical skill of the curse seal swordsman. No matter how the curse seal swordsman's combat style, rhythm, and tactical skills change, all are based on the light body technique. In addition to magic skills, it is no exaggeration to say that the curse-printed swordsman who has mastered the lightness technique or not is completely two professions!

Thinking of this, and looking at the words recorded in this old notebook, Sean finally knew what Yoda had given him.
