

Lord of War 84

Chapter 84: .Assassination at night

In the end, Sean only spent two proficiency points to activate the skill of Light Body Technique.

【Lightweight technique: Temporarily eliminate the effect of gravity on the body, Agility +10, lasts for 5 minutes. The second-order magic is ordinary, level 13, and proficiency 14. 】

Counting the two new proficiency points added after the successful transfer, Sean still has seven remaining proficiency points.

Also, since the job change has just been completed, there hasn't been much change in personal attributes, but to Sean's surprise, his intelligence has actually improved by a full five points! For these five points of intelligence improvement, Sean feels a bit inexplicable. Apart from his recent conversation with Yoda, there has been no special change. Could it be that these five points of intelligence have been increased because of that conversation?

[Personal attributes-strength:  $15+6+2$  (18); endurance:  $15+3$  (21); agility:  $13+6+2$  (18); wisdom:  $16+5$  (17); will:  $12+5$  (20)]

This attribute is not particularly advantageous, but Xiao En was surprised by the fact that wisdom was approaching the limit of growth so quickly. But now that he has been transferred to [Spell Seal Swordsman], he has also begun to have a relatively high demand for intelligence attributes. This not only represents an increase in the speed of casting spells, but also affects the increase in other skills such as skill proficiency. Speed, knowledge of book reading, etc.

Closed his eyes lightly, as Sean regained his strength, he also began to think about what kind of skills he needed to master in order to fully display the ability of the profession of [Curse Seal Swordsman]. This is the most important step in this world or in the game at the beginning, because the Tier 3 profession symbolizes the qualification to start on the stage of Miracle Continent, and once you have this qualification, It must have its own set of combat system and rhythm.

This system is formed by professional characteristics, personal preferences and various skills. The other professional upgrades and enhancements afterwards are equivalent to perfecting this system. At the beginning, any high-level professional npc and various bosses in the game will have a unique combat system. The so-called Raiders of the players are actually aimed at this set. The method of cracking the combat system.

Sean believes that this will not change even in this world.

In the current team, Cecilia is still very young, she has not yet formed her own combat system, so her plasticity is extremely high. As for Alfred, although he has two different fighting skills, his fighting style has not changed as a result, so in essence it belongs to a set of fighting system, and through the previous cooperation in the crypt, Xiao Well, knowing that Alfred's combat system has basically been formed, it is impossible to change, but the plasticity is not as good as Cecilia.

The only thing that can be manipulated is the choice of Alfred's Tier 4 career: Is it a boxer fighter, a constructed fighter, or a magic warrior?

But all of this can be put aside for the time being, the most important point is the construction of the fighting style. However, he has suffered a lot in the game before. This time, Sean will not just prepare a set of combat systems. He decided to use light-weight technique as the core point and develop at least three progressive combat rhythms. , Otherwise, once the enemy is familiar with his own fighting rhythm, then it is very likely that the following will be defeat.

But in this world, defeat in battle is often equal to death, and Sean is not in the mood to try what he would die in this world.

The night is deep, and the moon has been hidden for some time, and everything in this woods looks extremely gloomy.

Xiao En's physical strength finally recovered, his eyes opened slightly, and a cold wind rushed in, cooling his cheeks that were a little red and hot due to excitement. The idea and inspiration for a long time finally erupted completely at this moment. With the sound of Sean's consciousness, the remaining seven points of proficiency were finally completely exhausted at this moment.

Expend a little proficiency to upgrade [Mystery Swordsmanship] to Level 2, but I did not expect to get a small surprise because of this.

【Mystery Swordsmanship: When using any sword weapon, strength +3 and agility +3. Swordsmanship special sword, level 210, proficiency 14. Activate the special skill "Wind Pressure": The damage judgment range is increased by up to one meter. 】

Expend two proficiency points to activate the skill [Entangling Flame].

[Entangling Flame: Resonates with the fire element, adding fire attribute damage to the weapon. The second-order magic is ordinary, level 13, and proficiency 14. ]

Expend three proficiency points to raise [Adrenal Gland Stimulation] to Level 2.

【Adrenal Gland Stimulation: By forcibly stimulating the adrenal glands to make oneself in a state of excitement, the reaction ability is fully increased by 75% for 3 minutes. After the effect disappears, it will enter a state of exhaustion, and the full capacity will be reduced by 30%. Auxiliary second-order normal, level 23, proficiency 15 . 】

Finally, consume a little more proficiency and invest in the skill [Continuous Slash] to raise its level by one level again.

【Continuous cut: Perform four consecutive attacks. Swordsmanship first-order ordinary sword, level 35, proficiency 15. 】

This is a set of battle rhythms that Sean conceived. Just like those boss battles in different stages, first try with swordsmanship. If you can easily win, then there is no need to expose the hole cards of [Curse Seal Swordsman]. And if the opponent's strength is indeed stronger, then naturally you can only use some magic skills to win. Of course, if this tactical rhythm develops to the extreme, it is the dual combination of swordsmanship and magic, and it is no longer purely based on swordsmanship or Mainly magic.

Just this way, Sean's Tier 4 career transfer will be even more troublesome.

However, this kind of thing should be considered later.

Thinking about this, Sean suddenly rolled to the side, and when he got up, he suddenly lifted his left hand.

"Ding!"

A small sound was extremely abrupt and strange in the quiet night.

In the darkness, Xiao En's face didn't show a trace of panic, just staring straight ahead. Because of this attack, the figure of the person who secretly attacked was finally truly exposed, but unlike Sean's imagination, in this dark environment, he still couldn't see the opponent clearly, and could only vaguely see some outlines. Shadow, however, couldn't even figure out the identity of the other party.

This discovery made Sean feel a little clear.

Matte materials are a kind of magical materials in this world. Those who can use such equipment, not to mention a deep background, at least definitely have enough funds. In an instant, Sean understood who the man who was going to assassinate him had been sent-after being in this world for so long, there is only the Medusa Chamber of Commerce who can truly be said to be hostile.

Feeling the pressure on the scabbard loosened, Sean immediately realized that his opponent was about to escape into the darkness again. Thinking of how tricky this enemy is, Sean would let his opponent just come and go freely. With a sudden drop of his left hand, he plunged the scabbard into the grass. The strong force shook a breeze, and the slight airflow whirled in Sean's. An unnatural flow formed in front of him, and it seemed that there was a layer of transparent tulle blocking in front of him.

Shaun's lips moved slightly, and a series of short syllables of the mantra came out from the vibration of the vocal cords. In the next second, when Sean took a step forward with his right foot, his right hand had already drawn the sword out of its sheath. With the sound of the blade sharpening from the sheath of the scabbard, a blaze of flames began to ignite from the point of the scabbard. The tip of the sword that drew out of the sword, as Xiao En's figure gradually raised his head, his right hand slashed along the habit, and a slash with flames appeared even more conspicuous in the darkness.

But the means of attack are much more than that!

At the moment the blade was swung, the flame burning on the sword seemed to become more intense, and as the blade finally slashed, a tongue of flame also emerged from the sword and sprayed towards the front. out!

Entangling Flame!

Wind pressure!

was originally an invisible wind pressure, but because of the adhesion of the entanglement flame, it became a tangible thing. It's just that it came down too quickly and fiercely, and the sneak attacker had no time to react and dodge. Even though he calculated Sean's counterattack and avoided the slashing attack, he did not calculate the wind pressure.

In an instant, Sean went from a defensive half-kneeling resistance to an offensive swinging a sword to counterattack!

The flames burned like a gangrene on the enemy's body. Because of the burning of these flames, Sean finally saw the enemy's identity completely, instead of just a vague outline. The figure that was exposed under the flames was obviously not a human being. Its figure was exactly the same as a kobold, which made Sean's judgment on the identity of the attacker more clear.

However, the battle seems to have ended here.

The flames caused by this burning are magical flames. Although they have lost the supply of magical power because they are out of the control of Sean, this flame has a longer-lasting burning property than ordinary flames. This is the terrifying aspect of the Entangling Flame, and except for some very special ones, few creatures can resist the damage of the fire.

But even so, Sean still did not relax his vigilance. Before seeing the real death of the enemy, Sean would never despise his opponent. Because this is a real world, not a piece of data, no one can guarantee whether his opponent will bear the humiliation and give himself a fatal blow. The magician of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce in the previous crypt channel is the best Illustration.

Seeing the kobold slowly falling to the ground, he gradually lost his struggle, and then waited until the flames were completely extinguished and the opponent was motionless, before Sean stepped towards the kobold. He had to judge the kobold's life and death with his own eyes. .

The moon seems to have the result of this scene of curiosity. It quietly leaned out of the clouds and cast its gaze down.

The moonlight shone on this kobold, completely revealing its figure hidden in the dark. The dark red skin and unique purple-red texture were clearly exposed under Sean's eyelids.

At this time, I saw Sean's pupils suddenly shrank, but the whole person jumped out without advancing and retreating. The flame-burning Charles Sabre suddenly swung up, forming a defensive sword curtain in front of him. Hearing only a "clang" sound, a huge force came from the right hand holding the sword, and the defensive sword curtain was broken under the edge of the sword, and a dull serrated dagger flew against Sean's cheek. After that, a strand of hanging hair was shaved off.

Shaun landed steadily, staring at the kobold who slowly climbed up from the ground after he threw the dagger.

"Purgatory Kobold!"
