

Lord of War 96

Chapter 96: .Kill Martin

Where is Sean?

Sean is as busy as Cecilia and Alfred at the moment.

The side hall where the knights dine is just around the corner of the restaurant, and the distance between the two places is only a few tens of meters. Go out from the restaurant and go to the left, which is the passage leading to the barracks area, while on the right is the side hall. At this moment, Sean is standing here, blocking other knights from rushing to the barracks area to support Earl Mario.

In front of him, there are four knights.

All four of them had injuries of varying degrees. The most serious one had their entire left arm severed, but they still wanted to break through Sean's blockade. For these knights, even if they are enemies, Sean still maintains a trace of respect. For nothing else, just because they are willing to sacrifice their lives for Mario, this is enough to prove that Mario is in their minds. What an important position in China.

It's just that they have different positions, so they are doomed to become enemies.

In fact, if Mario hadn't chosen to cooperate with the Medusa Chamber of Commerce, Sean wouldn't mind helping him solve Du Luen. Because Tindes is in the hands of Mario, at least he is clear about the future development, but in the hands of Du Luen, Sean is really not very optimistic about this man who is still a bit naive.

Slightly shook the long sword in his hand, and shook off all the blood stains attached to the sword.

"If you don't stop the bleeding anymore, even if I don't take it, you will die soon." Sean still tried to make the final advice.

Responded to him, the knight with the broken arm rushed towards Xiao En with a long sword. As if it were a signal, the other three knights behind him also moved quickly. They shielded and echoed each other. Obviously it was not the first time to cooperate with each other, but perhaps because of their injuries, the movements of these people were obvious. It has been deformed a bit, not as flexible as before.

Xiao En sighed slightly, dashed forward, and rushed towards the knight with the broken arm at the beginning. At the moment when he was about to enter the opponent's attack range, Xiao En shook slightly, his body turned to the left, and his right hand was lightly raised. The blade of the long sword was drawn against the opponent's carotid artery-when the tip of the sword came from the neck. After the stroke, a blood arrow shot out.

After beheading the first person, Sean's momentum and movements did not stop there. He quickly cut into the attack range of the knight on the right behind him, but the long sword in his hand penetrated his heart by one step first. After the second hit was successful, his right hand was pumped, and the long sword also carried a blood arrow. It shot out, and then swiped to the side again, cutting off the head of the third knight.

Just as Sean turned around to deal with the fourth knight, a long sword suddenly emerged from the knight's chest and abdomen, and then turned fiercely. Strangling so hard made the knight who was already seriously injured no longer able to hold on. His last eyes looked at Xiao En full of unwillingness and depression.

After the long sword was pulled out of the knight's body, he could no longer stand down.

Shaun's gaze gradually shifted from the fallen knight to Du Luen, who was standing behind him. Half of his face was swollen, and a few of his teeth were broken. It looked like an indescribable embarrassment and embarrassment. . But Sean looked at Du Luen at this time, but it was extremely gloomy. If you look closely, you can even see the anger hidden in Sean's eyes.

"I told you to use poison, why not?" Sean asked coldly, "If you use poison earlier, even if Martin and the other knights survive by chance, Mario will definitely die! And I And let Alfred follow you, can't you join forces with him to subdue Martin?"

"Unless it is Fire Dragon Poison, otherwise I will never use poison!" Although Du Luen was extremely embarrassed, his voice was still firm, "My father was poisoned by Fire Dragon Poison. If Mario can't be given Fire Dragon Poison too, , There is no point at all!"

"You need the meaning of a fart!" Sean couldn't help but yelled, "As long as he is dead, I will deal with Mudds. If you take Martin down, the other knights will not be able to make much of the waves. Wait until we are inside. After all the matter is resolved, even if the Black Cavalry Guard is a cavalry unit carefully cultivated by Mario, so what! ... As a result, because of your stubbornness, you not only lost the few knights, but also your recruits. There are a few ways to survive, even Cecilia is in danger because of you!"

"What I need is revenge!" Du Luen roared.

At this moment, Sean had even thought of killing Du Luen. The plan they discussed together was that he was responsible for solving Mudds, because Mudds is unlikely to show his face after all, so the most likely thing is to hide in the carriage. Waiting for the opportunity. Martin left it to Alfred and Du Luen to solve it. As for Earl Mario and the other knights, they were naturally poisoned. Even if the poison did not kill them, they could also reduce their combat effectiveness.

But all this, because of Du Luen's stupidity and paranoia, turned things into a mess. Sean finally understood why Mario would look down on Du Luen and even wanted to kill him. If he handed over the territory to such a lord, that would be a real insult to the Royce family.

clenched his fist, Sean didn't bother to look at Du Luen again, turned around and hurried towards the barracks area. He has been helping Alfred to rebuild the "flaming lion fangs" these days. It is considered good to be able to rush out this weapon in three days, so he has ignored Du Luen's actions, and Sean has already made a decision in his heart. As long as Cecilia is injured, he will surely make Du Luen pay an extremely painful price.

When Sean rushed to the barracks area, seeing Cecilia calmly in charge of the battle, Sean's heart was finally relieved. But soon, his face was full of surprise. He didn't expect Cecilia's commanding talent to be so outstanding. With only two hundred recruits, he could actually make Earl Mario's proud Black Cavalry. The guard was caught up in a hard fight.

But after a closer look, Sean also discovered the secret of Cecilia's command. She did not rely solely on tactical commands to direct the battle, but directly divided all the recruits into different teams and groups, and then directly gave the team various combat commands to force the team to be like scattered sand. Exercising an extremely high degree of cooperation and tacit understanding, and because her command orders and changes are too fast, Earl Mario is also completely unable to make the counterattack he deserves, and can only be passively beaten.

However, this method of command has a slightly higher casualty rate for soldiers. At this time, there are close to 20 Black Cavalry Guards remaining on the battlefield, but those recruits are only less than 30. If you continue to fight, after all the recruits are dead, the Black Cavalry Guards rely on a wealth of With combat experience and high-quality equipment, there are still more than ten people alive.

But considering the quality of the troops on both sides, this battle is undoubtedly Cecilia won.

Then, Sean's eyes fell on the other side of the battlefield.

It was a battle between the angry lion Alfred and the fierce tiger Martin. However, judging from the current situation, Martin seems to have fallen into a disadvantage. His weapons have already had a lot of potholes. Although he has not suffered any injuries for the time being, once he loses his weapons, Martin's combat effectiveness will definitely be discounted. Yes, and most importantly, the cunning Alfred even started to use his left hand to block Martin's halberd.

Each block, Martin's right hand will tremble, and Alfred will immediately attack, forcing Martin to passively defend and parry.

At this time, Du Luen, who had a swollen face, finally rushed over. His left eye was no longer open, so he could barely use his right eye to see things. It's just that when he saw the tragic scene in the military camp, he was completely stunned after all, and his sluggish face didn't know how to look at it.

"This is your revenge!" After Sean coldly dropped these words, he hurried towards Alfred.

Shaun did not use the light body technique, but his actions did not make any noise. He did not shout like a fool to remind the enemy that he was coming to kill him, and he did not have the spirit of a fair duel as a "noble" or "knight", if Alfred was like a mercenary. Being unreasonable is annoying, and then Sean is completely insignificant and annoying.

But if you consider Sean's player thinking, then this kind of awkwardness is actually not particularly annoying, because among the players, Sean is actually relatively honest.

So when he walked around behind Martin, even Alfred didn't even notice. His whole spirit is in Martin's body. It is rare that there is an opponent who is evenly matched with him. This makes Alfred this fighting freak actually very happy, because the longer the opponent can hold on, the fighting skills of Alfred The sooner you can recover, after all, it has been a year since you have not done anything. Even someone who is good at fighting will get rusty.

When Alfred once again waved his hand to block Martin's halberd and once again forced him to retreat with a strong counter-shock force, Sean, the venomous snake that was dormant on the side, finally shot out fiercely in his hand. His sword pierced Martin's back heart. There is absolutely no sign of Shaun's shot that can be predicted, because he has calculated the distance very accurately, no more, no less, just the six meters allowed for the sprint.

And when Martin noticed the sudden whistling sound behind him, because the deadly battle with Alfred exhausted a lot of physical energy, coupled with the effect of the counter shock, it was too late for him to dodge, the corner of his eye I can only find it hard to find that the person who struck is Sean who has been lurking without showing up!

But since he couldn't evade, Martin simply ignored him. He believed that with the armor on his body, he could definitely block Sean's sneak attack. He was ready to fight back immediately after blocking Sean's sneak attack.

But in the next second, the colic from his heart made his brain thinking become blank in an instant: "How...how is it possible!"

Then he lowered his head and glanced at the long sword that smashed his heart and pierced his own heavy armor, watching the blood continuously flowing from his body along the body of the sword, and then dripping from the body of the sword. With the gleaming tri-color brilliance, Martin finally knew that he had made another mistake, and the cost of this mistake was so heavy that he could not bear it at all.

"The...the second one, magic weapon?"