

Lord of War 99

Chapter 99: Behead

"His steering is slower!" Sean jumped back a few steps, just outside Mario's attack range.

At this time, Mario was sinking one foot under the ground, which made him temporarily turn into a half-kneeling position to maintain his balance. He has almost lost his sanity. At this time, he is constantly exerting force to try to pull his left foot out of the ground. However, it is obvious that the solidity of the ground here is so high that Mario has failed to exert force several times in a row. It succeeded, but he didn't dare to put his hands on the ground as a fulcrum. After all, the speed that Sean showed just now made him feel a little palpitating.

Alfred also came around from one side, the crimson halberd with flames flashing, although the fire effect on the devil is really low, but even if there is no flame burning, its sharpness is extremely terrifying. of. After all, this weapon is the essence of all the weapons of the Crypt Demon. In terms of sharpness, it is stronger than Sean's Charles Sabre.

If Sean had known that he would face a demon this time, he would definitely not help Alfred to build this flamingo fangs first, but would add all those essences to his weapon to strengthen the sharpness. Say it again. After all, Alfred's agility is not as good as this demon. Sean is really worried that facing this demon head-on, will Alfred be able to escape the opponent's blow.

It's not that Sean doesn't want to run. Anyway, he has solved Mudes and got what he needs. As for Mario, Du Luen, and even the whole Tindes, he doesn't care at all. It's just that he can't run at all, because he is now the number one existence in Mario's hatred list, so the choice between him and Mario is to kill him or be killed by him.

And Sean doesn't want to be the latter, so even if he knows the real situation behind Tindes, and because of the words Mario said before turning into a demon, he has some feelings, but at this moment he can only choose to be right. Mario shot.

At this time, Alfred had already circled behind Mario, this position happened to be his blind spot. It's not that it can't be discovered, but from this angle, it is really difficult for Mario to attack. This is really the best attack point for Alfred, who is not very fast.

Only hearing a word from Sean, he can accurately find his attack position. Alfred's tactical literacy is indeed very high.

Seeing that both Sean and Alfred were working hard, Du Luen insisted on getting up from the stand, and then rushed over to the other side, the fight seemed to be the same idea as Alfred. When seeing Du Luen's actions, Sean frowned slightly. Judging from his fundamental attributes, Du Luen's personal attributes are actually better than Alfred's, especially in the endurance item, which guarantees up to 40 points of endurance. Even if Du Luen was hit by a punch by Mario, he would never die on the spot.

Perhaps this is the fundamental reason why Du Luen has the courage to attack the demonized Mario.

But even so, Sean is not optimistic about Du Luen at all. There is no other reason. Du Luen has no weapons that can hurt the devil. If he wants to rely on ordinary weapons to hurt the devil, it must be the era when Magic Technology begins to enter the military ten years later.

Now?

Du Luen rushed towards Mario's back, holding the hilt of the knight sword in his hands with both hands, and lifting it horizontally, the end of the hilt against the shoulders. This is a very common attack method, which can strengthen the piercing. The power of injury. In the game, this is actually a powerful swordsmanship active skill, but compared with its advantages, the shortcomings of this skill are also clear at a glance.

That means that there is no room left. If the enemy is successfully evaded, the consequences are very terrible. In reality, there is even one more shortcoming of this skill. If the attack cannot cause damage, the result is equally terrifying.

Seeing Du Luen's attack, Mario's eyes were a little more confused for a moment, but at this time Mario was completely a demon relying on instinct to fight. He may be a little puzzled, but he can still distinguish the enemy clearly, so watching Du Luen rush towards him, Mario's left hand suddenly waved, still the whistling wind blade, and then Mario's next second The back of his hand hit Du Luen, who had lost his evasion ability.

One punch!

Du Luen was shot like a fly.

"Really a pig-like teammate..." Sean uttered a weak sigh in pain. When fighting the devil, he used this direct attack skill. What's the difference between this and death?

It's just this, but it's really not Du Luen's fault.

Because in this era, human beings have no experience in fighting demons. Faced with such terrifying demon creatures, people in battle will always subconsciously choose the most lethal skill moves, if it's not Durun's performance. Alfred was also preparing to use this direct attack method just now.

After all, for people who are not good at agility and speed, the direct violence attack method is actually the most suitable combat technique for them.

However, with Du Luen's demonstration, it is of course impossible for Alfred to use this method of combat. He took advantage of Mario's body shape that had turned sideways as he attacked Du Luen, and completely exposed his back in front of him. He dashed up with a halberd, although he had lowered his voice as much as possible, but Alfred Because of his size, he still has some momentum when he runs.

In this way, it is impossible not to attract Mario's attention.

It's just that, when Alfred moved, Sean immediately followed. His speed is extremely fast, and there is no sound when he runs. If it weren't for being caught by the corner of Mario's eyes, it would naturally be impossible to discover Sean's movements, and because of the power of Sean's previous sword, Mario actually ignored Alfred who was coming towards him at this moment, but instead focused all his attention on Sean.

In Mario's opinion, there were two people who walked around behind him. The first one was shot and flew out with a punch by himself. His weapon could not even leave him with even a little injury, so this second person must be It's not very good. Compared with these two wastes, Sean who can hurt himself is the most terrifying, so he felt a dangerous tremor almost at the moment when Sean moved.

This feeling is very similar to the moment when he played against Sean before, so Mario, who made an experience error, naturally regarded Sean as a more dangerous existence.

And when Sean realized that he had successfully attracted Mario's attention, he resolutely activated the adrenal stimulation skill, only feeling that the beating of the heart suddenly accelerated, and then his six senses became sharp, as if the world At this moment it becomes a slow motion playback.

This is not the first time Sean has experienced the acceleration of thinking brought about by adrenal stimulation, but it is the second time in this world. And different from the previous one, the increase in response power brought by the adrenal stimulation after upgrading to the second level has to become more obvious and clear. In Sean's gaze, he could even see the direction of the flow of air generated by the air when Mario smashed his right fist.

Slightly sideways, Sean moved in the direction of the airflow. In a few extremely light movements, this time, although Sean could still feel the heat generated by the friction of his fist with the air, he did not let the flame above it. On yourself. After evading the attack of the right fist, it became easier to dodge the left fist. Even in this urgent dodge moment, Sean was able to swing another sword towards Mario's left hand, and the scar that had been left on his hand before deepened and increased.

And this time, blood that was as hot as magma finally spurted from Mario's left hand injury.

The blood of the demon is extremely high temperature and corrosive. Although the blood of the demonized Mario does not have the characteristics of purgatory flames, its corrosiveness is undoubtedly retained. Almost when the blood splashed on the ground, the white smoke had already appeared. Fortunately, Charles' saber was not a normal weapon. Otherwise, under the erosion of the demon's blood, I was afraid that it would also melt.

Sean knew that he would never die under such an attack, but it didn't mean that others knew. Everyone saw Sean's almost suicidal attack. This time even Cecilia couldn't help but let out an exclamation, let alone other people, and Alfred couldn't help but because of the perspective. In the thrilling situation of Sean, but he could hear Cecilia's exclamation. In his heart, he couldn't care about other things. The whole person immediately accelerated and ran. The distance between him and Mario is shortening rapidly.

Before, until Mario's right hand splashed with blood, when Sean's figure reappeared, everyone knew that Sean was okay, and they couldn't help but breathe a little relieved.

But other people could breathe a sigh of relief, but Sean couldn't, because he had seen Mario's chest and abdomen slightly swelled, and he took a breath, and the sulphur smell around him immediately became intense.

This is a sign that the two-horned devil is about to breathe fire!

Sean's pupils shrank suddenly, and the whole person no longer cared about the others and immediately ran to the left, trying to go back before Mario breathed fire. The flame spray of the double-horned demon is a flame spray like a flame gun, just like the "flaming snake" magic of a magician. It is not the kind of fireball technique, so if it runs in a straight line, it has nothing to do with hunting for death. the difference.

But Sean had just started to run, and he saw Alfred's figure leaping high behind Mario.

He held the handle of the halberd with both hands, raised his head high, and his leaping figure drew a parabola in mid-air. Because the figure difference between Mario and Mario was not very big, so only one glance at Sean could tell. , Alfred's final landing point for this shot will be in Mario's upper cervical spine. After seeing Alfred's actions, Sean looked sideways at Mario, and quickly made a decision in his heart. Sean, who had already bypassed, immediately ran back.

As Alfred's roar approached, Mario finally noticed the change in the sound coming from behind him. The slight tingling sensation from the neck finally made Mario realize the seriousness of the problem. His thinking seemed to fall into a certain sluggishness at this moment, and he was at a loss for a moment, but the passage of the world would not depend on his will to change, so at this moment when Mario was slightly sluggish, Alfred The spear head on the top of the German war halberd penetrated into his neck without any hindrance.

For just that, Mario let out an extremely painful howl, and the flames that had already been stored up caused an explosion in his chest, the stuffy sound and the obvious weird explosion in the chest and abdomen. , Both reveal that Mario's suffering is definitely not light, but at this moment, no one will sympathize with him.

Sean had already ran back in front of Mario, watching Mario's body gradually falling down due to severe pain, Sean held the long sword in his hand tightly, and then slashed towards the sharp corner of Mario's head. . With a slight click, Sean cut off a sharp corner of Mario with a single sword. The damage this time was greater than the shot Alfred had just stabbed and the explosion in the chest, because the people present Everyone can see Mario's twisted figure.

But Sean's attack was definitely not the only one. Without thinking about it, he immediately raised his sword and cut it towards the other sharp corner. This time, Charles finally had a small gap in his sword, but he also successfully cut off Mario's double horns.

The source of the power of the double-horned devil comes from the two sharp horns on the head. This is not only the source of the devil's power, but for many people, it is an extremely rare and valuable magic material, and this magic material must be valuable if the two horns are cut off when the two-horned demon is alive. After the two-horned devil is dead, if these two horns are cut off, there is no value at all.

Without the horns, most of the demon power in Mario has been lost, and the rank shown on the attribute data has also been reduced from Tier 4 to Tier 3.

Alfred is the one who feels the most about this. Although there was no hindrance when he was pierced with a shot, Alfred could still feel the extremely strong body structure of the devil. But now, Alfred clearly felt that Mario's body was no longer as strong as before, so he didn't even think about it, his hands suddenly used force, and the pierced spear was pierced down again, then Mali Ao's cervical spine was completely broken, and the tip of the gun penetrated his throat.

But this hasn't really killed Mario yet.

Sean stepped up to Mario's side, held the hilt in both hands, and chopped it down towards Mario's neck.

With a single sword, Mario's head was completely chopped off, and the blood sprayed from the decapitation instantly turned into a blazing flame. Sean, who had long known that this would be the result, grabbed Alfred's arm and sprinted six meters away.

In the seriousness of other people, Mario has lost his head and his body is constantly twisting, but no matter how much he twists, it can't stop the body that becomes more and more red, and the skin is constantly turning red. The light is black, and it continues to spread gradually, just like a lighted paper, it is turning into ashes little by little. And Mario's head, which had been cut off, also did not escape such an end, except for the screaming roar, only the raging flames were burning.

In just a few seconds, Mario, who turned into a demon, was left with a pile of ashes and the two horns that were cut off by Sean.