

Lord of War Vol 2-191

Chapter 191: .Two bad news (below)

"The lord of the original Panda collar is dead." Asuna's first words stunned Sean.

"Then who is holding the land contract document of Pandan?" Neil was also taken aback, and then he suddenly reacted and asked immediately.

According to Cecilia, this second bad news is indeed much more serious than the first.

Because Pandaren was a territory belonging to the Kingdom of Darbion before, it was the territory that the Darbion Kingdom unilaterally gave to Asuna after the first war between the Principality of Lion and the Kingdom of Darbion. It's just that Asuna didn't participate in the transfer of this territory at all, and didn't even have the intention to send an emissary to participate. The Kingdom of Darbion left after waiting for three days and still not seeing Asuna. Only accompanied by all the garrisoned troops and lords of the entire Pandaren, it was also announced that Pandaren no longer belonged to the domain of the Kingdom of Darbion.

It was from that day that Pandaling became a land of no owner, and only then did the three towns and cities of the entire territory lead wolves into the house.

However, despite the claims of the Kingdom of Darbion, this is only a unilateral approach, because the contractual documents concerning this territory are still in the hands of the Kingdom of Darbion. Therefore, although the Kingdom of Darbion and Asuna did not care about this territory, and the realm belonged to Asuna in name, but in fact it still belonged to the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion.

In other words, all the three territories that Sean now owns belong to the kingdom of Darbion. Although he is a pioneering knight under Asuna, he has the power and obligation to open up territory for Asuna, but if strictly counted, he should be the knight of the Kingdom of Darbion.

So in the face of this situation, Sean has only two choices. One is to abandon all three territories including Pandan, and honestly roll back to Tonys and continue to be his jazz and pioneer knight; the other is to become The knight of the Kingdom of Darbion has the right to inherit these three territories.

Because when Sean was granted the title of pioneer knight by Asuna, his base was Pandan, but now Pandan is proven not to belong to Asuna's domain, so if you really want to investigate it, even Xiao En's pioneering knight status will be cancelled. So in a strict sense, the facts are exactly the same as Asuna said. If this problem is not resolved, then he will really have nothing, and even all the efforts he has put in for the past year will be in vain.

"Now the territorial clerk of Bandar is in the hands of Earl Tinchein and Domingo Hastings." Asuna said, "This is a powerful Earl. He himself is not only the commander of the Darbion Kingdom". The senior general of the Ministry, and also the commander of the Second Cavalry Regiment of the Kingdom of Darbion.

"Darbion Kingdom's **?" Sean asked, "So is it possible to get the paperwork through negotiation?"

"No." Asuna shook her head. "I have asked Simi to negotiate with the other party before. When I learned that the document was now in the hands of Domingo Hastings, I personally negotiated with him. But it's a pity that Domingo Hastings didn't buy it. His attitude was so tough that it made me a little strange. No matter what price I offered, he refused directly. So I think I want to get it through diplomacy or other means. It's impossible for Panda to lead the territorial contract."

Hearing Asuna's words, Sean was taken aback for a moment, then turned his head to look at William and Neal, and asked, "How long will it take to get to the ** of the Kingdom of Bion from us?"

If he cannot obtain the territory contract documents through diplomatic means, then he must think of other ways.

"If you're just riding a horse, it will take more than seven or eight months to go back and forth." Neal frowned and thought about it, and then said, "But if you change to the Griffon line in the middle, it will be a one-way trip. It can be shortened to about one and a half months."

"A month and a half?" Xiao En's brows were still tightly locked, and his expression was a little uncertain. He didn't expect that such a leak would appear at this juncture.

Now he and the Kingdom of Darbion have all prepared the battle layout, even the opponent and the reason for the battle have been selected, just need him to tease, he does not believe that Gesen Nugus will not take the bait. But now, he suddenly said that all the actions he had prepared for this layout were illegal, and soon he would lose all the territory, become nothing, and even return to the Tonys collar, which made Sean How can I accept it!

Although this lack of possession is not a blow, the big deal is to let Asuna change the Modger collar to Sean's base, and then everything starts again. In this way, he can even re-lead Panda, Daj, and Chiraf. The collars are all down, and there is one more reason to fight against Ting Qiyin. In terms of the noble honour of the powerful earl and the commander of the Second Cavalry Regiment of the Kingdom of Darbion, the possibility of this event turning into a war between the two countries is definitely much greater than provoking Gerson Nugus.

After all, Gerson Nugus is only the second heir to the Duke of the Nugus family of the Kingdom of Darbion, but Earl Tinchin is the current head of the Hastings family, and the status of the two parties is not at the same level. superior. In particular, he has the status of the commander of the Second Cavalry Regiment of the Darbion Kingdom. If he can be killed, the aristocratic circle of the Darbion Kingdom will definitely become angry, and even the royal family will be angry, so the war will naturally be too. inevitable.

But the problem now is not here, but time.

It's that Sean is short of time now.

Asuna said that he could only delay for half a year at most, and that half a year's time was not enough for him to do it all over again. If there is no imminent threat of the Millennium Covenant Empire, Sean may choose to start again from Modger in order to have a more secure and higher probability of fighting opportunities and opportunities.

But today, it doesn't seem to be Sean's lucky day.

Because Asuna spoke again soon.

"If it's only like this, it's not really bad news." Asuna glanced at Sean, and then explained, "At most it is troublesome. The big deal is that you can take all the supplies and related materials in the entire territory. All the resources were withdrawn and then started again. In this way, we even have a reason to retaliate, which can greatly increase the chance of a war with the Kingdom of Darbion."

I have to say that Asuna and Sean's ideas do coincide, and the two have reached a consensus on this point unexpectedly.

It's just that if Asuna were to say these things, then she would not come in person: "But the problem now is that we don't have so much time at all. Not to mention that it's because of the first bad news. The real trouble with the second bad news is that the other party has already notified the Peace Association. I believe the Peace Association will send relevant personnel to investigate soon. This way you will even take the time to sell and move all the materials in the territory. nothing."

Peace Association!

When Sean heard the name, his whole person instantly became more headache.

The Peace Association is simply the public enemy of the whole wonderland. Anyone who has a relationship with him will have no good end. However, the people in this organization still look like a savior. The face of "I am willing to do whatever it takes for the peace of the whole world" makes people wonder whether this group of people have serious secondary diseases, basically Any trivial matter has to intervene.

It can be said that it is an organization that has caused trouble everywhere, and it is also an enemy of the public across the continent. It should have been destroyed 800 years ago, but the problem is that this group of patients with the second disease may be due to extreme delusions. And persecution fantasies, so these people are a group of cultivators, and their individual combat power is incredible. Many organizations can't compete with them when they unite. Fortunately, this organization is here for world peace. If you want to dominate the world, it is estimated that nothing else will matter.

Of course, in the eyes of the players, the real peace is to unify the entire continent.

But it is obvious that the people of the Peace Association do not think so. In their opinion, maintaining the stability of the current continental structure is the best way. However, if the kings of certain countries are more brutal, they will still plan events like rebellion, and even if necessary, they will assassinate the target to cause chaos and other behaviors, but if they want to It is completely impossible to raise the flag and initiate a war.

Not to mention that the people in the Peace Association will not agree, even if they agree, they will not have an army.

And true, relying only on the strong is obviously unrealistic.

But in Sean's eyes, the real trouble for the Peace Society does not stop there.

"If these guys are really allowed to appear, and it is determined that Pandaling belongs to the Kingdom of Darbion, then it will be in trouble." Sean frowned, "In order to prevent us from adopting retaliatory behavior, they will definitely let us sign Peace treaty...This **** treaty can at least ensure the safety of the Kingdom of Darbion in the next three years. As long as we take action, it is estimated that the madmen of the Peace Association will come to us."

"So this is the second bad news." Asuna is also very clear about what the peace treaty is.

As long as it is confirmed that Pandaren belongs to the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion, then Sean's behavior in the past year will be judged to be illegal, and then the lunatics of the Peace Association will force Sean to abandon these three territories. Even ask Sean to sign a peace treaty. The content of this treaty is also very simple, that is, Sean and Asuna shall not take any military actions against Darbion Kingdom for three years, even if the war between Darbion Kingdom and the Principality of Ryan breaks out, Asuna and Sean is also not allowed to participate in the war.

Of course, this is not the most important thing. The most important thing is that the blockade of the strait valley will be cracked. At that time, the Kingdom of Darbion will definitely send troops to garrison the Rift Valley on a large scale. Even if Sean wants to take down Panda again, he will take back the entrance and exit of the Rift Valley to block Darby. Ang Kingdom's slave hunting teams would have to pay an extremely tragic price when they entered and exited.

Only this is the least allowable for Sean.

Thinking of this, Sean also immediately understood why the powerful earl would be so strong in rejecting all negotiations with Asuna. Because the most important economic lifeline of the entire Kingdom of Darbion has been completely cut off by Sean, if they do not want to get it back, the finances of the Kingdom of Darbion are estimated to be in deficit soon, and even the entire kingdom will become troublesome. , After all, not everyone has a way to enter the wild land from another place.

"Is this powerful marquis a member of the Nugus family?" Sean asked.

"According to Simi's information, it seems to be from the Nugus family." Asuna nodded, "You have a conflict with the Nugus family?"

"This time I killed the two forbiddens of their second-ranked heir in the Wildlands, and at the same time ruined his investment and hole cards." Sean sneered, "He is also my choice of war cuts. Entrance... It's just that he didn't expect that he would take such targeted measures so quickly. This guy is really not easy. If he inherits the Nugus family, it is estimated that the Boulder family will soon be beaten by him."

William sighed helplessly: "Is there really no way to solve the current problem?"

"Steal!" Sean said categorically, "We must rush out before the people from the Peace Association arrive, and steal out the land contract documents of Panda!"

Asuna glanced unexpectedly, and then smiled: "Your thoughts coincide with mine....Then what I want to say next may be good news for you."

"Oh?" Sean raised his brow.

"According to the results of my investigation, because the Peace Association has dispatched envoys, and Domingo has just obtained this document, the document is currently stored in the outskirts of Lomingen in Tinsin. Hastings Manor." Asuna said with a smile, "It will take you about a month at most to travel from you to the city of Luomingen, which is led by Tinsin. Around, if everything goes well, then you can indeed get this document and rush back before the messenger of the Peace Association arrives."

At the end, Asuna showed a more charming smile: "Even if everything is not going well, as long as you stare at the actions of Hastings Manor, you can still find the position of the clerks. In the big deal, it will be a surprise attack."

"This is indeed the best good news I heard today."

Chapter 192: .treatment

Because of the secret trip, Asuna did not stay in the Void City for too long. After leaving a copy of the relevant information collected by Simi, Asuna quickly left the Void City. Compared to Shaun, Asuna needs to be busy with a lot of things. After all, Asuna is not like Xiao. En controls the "future" in this way. Although both Elizabeth and Simi can help with internal affairs, the two are not as strong as Neil when combined, so many things require her to do it herself.

Of course, and more importantly, the attrition of Thunder's Front is also a problem that makes Asuna depressed.

Thunder's Front is not only Asuna's direct line of troops, but also an elite force that she is famous for. Compared to the entire Tonisian collar, the combat power of a Thunder's Front far exceeds her. Tens of thousands of troops now housed in Tonis' fortress.

But this time, the staff was reduced by one-third, which is also a very serious loss for Asuna.

Not to mention that it is extremely difficult to supplement elite troops. You must know that Thunder's Front is a free force. Asuna spends all military expenses on the other two troops, so in addition to guaranteeing three meals a day and a high-training snack, the salary they receive is the same as when they had just started following Asia. Shina would be about the same, much less than the other two troops in Tonis' fortress.

For an elite unit, this is completely incredible.

But this is the case. The Thunder's Front is completely united by loyalty and surrender to Asuna, so it can be said that it is almost impossible to supplement the source of troops. This is purely a force that fights less and less.

Therefore, nearly 3,000 people were suddenly reduced. In addition to the hundreds of soldiers who were determined to be unable to go to the battlefield, the original number of Thunderbolt was no more than 10,000 people. Now there are only more than 6,500 people left. .

Faced with such a situation, Asuna, of course, had to rush back immediately to discuss the next series of countermeasures with Elizabeth and Simi, so naturally she would not stay again.

Before leaving, she also made a special trip to visit Vivienne. After confirming that Vivienne would not be in danger, and that she had been taken care of by the chief priest who served the goddess of life, Asuna finally felt relieved.

After Asuna left, Sean and others were also not idle.

Originally for the future development of the territory and military arrangements, there is no way to continue at this time. After all, after knowing Domingo Headings' plan, the current focus will naturally shift to the contract document on the territory. Otherwise, No matter how it develops, it will eventually become the wedding dress of others. Regarding the seizure of the territory contract documents, William and Neal have been jointly responsible. In this case, Sean directly granted them the right to mobilize all resources and related appointments in the entire territory, including Sean himself. Both must follow the arrangements of these two people.

Of course, the reason Sean did not participate in the discussion of this matter is because he has more important things to do.

In the moment after Asuna left, the entire Void City seemed to be caught in a certain tense atmosphere.

Even if this atmosphere is not deliberately rendered, it is also not suppressed, so the residents of Void City and the priests and messengers of other temples will soon be able to feel it.

Looking at the rush of the Lord's Mansion and the constant flow of people coming in and out, many people felt that there seemed to be a certain depressive atmosphere in the air. In this case, many priests who were already ready to visit the lord Sean Connery chose to meditate very tacitly. In this respect, these priests and messengers did not seem to believe in gods at all. On the contrary, they are like those businessmen who try to speculate.

It's just that no one knows. At this time, Hitley, the chief priest of the Goddess of Life Temple and the future saint candidate, was summoned by Sean.

Maybe some believers who are very polite to the goddess of life may be summoned, but from the way Sean acts, this is indeed a summoning, not an invitation. Because many people have seen Hitley, the chief priest, entered the lord's mansion under the protection of a group of thunder lions, and the temple knights of the Goddess of Life church and the two chief priests who used to follow Hitley in the past. The attendant, but did not appear in the team.

This is a very simple room.

There is only one big bed placed in the middle of the room. The length and width of the bed are up to three meters. The bed is covered with soft cushions. The quilt and pillows are all silk, but there is no curtain on the bed, which is similar to most nobles in this world. The bed is essentially different, but it is like the bed of a commoner and an ascetic monk. Of course, neither civilians nor ascetic monks can't afford such cushions and silk covers.

A giant bucket was placed in each of the four corners of the room, and huge ice cubes condensed by magic were placed in the bucket. The coolness from the ice cubes reduces the high temperature in summer very well-in fact, with the current magic level, it is not difficult to draw a magic circle that can keep the room at a constant temperature, but there is no such thing in this room. To do so, but to use this ancient cooling method to cool the room.

It has to be said that it is a very costly and labor intensive behavior.

In addition, there is only a desk placed against the window in the room with a quill pen, ink, and spread white letter paper. Sitting by the desk, you can see the main street of the main entrance of the Lord's Mansion. At this moment, there is a group of Thunder Lion soldiers standing guard at the main entrance. Any unrelated persons are strictly prohibited from approaching.

Hitley was a little overwhelmed by standing in this room, because the room was a relatively private place for nobles or anyone with an identity, and not everyone could enter. Of course, usually if it is forcibly taken into the room of a nobleman, it also means that something may be very bad. So it is normal for Hitley to be a little flustered and at a loss.

In fact, she wanted to leave, but the four Thunder Lion soldiers standing outside the room made Hitley dismiss this idea.

She is a priest, not to mention that the believers of the goddess of life are not particularly good at fighting. Even if they are good at fighting, the priest is usually not the organization of the battle sequence.

However, Hitley did not wait too long, and the door was quickly opened. As Hitley expected, the rumored lord, Sir Sean Connery, had already stepped in. Of course, the situation is actually a little bit beyond Hitley's expectations, because there is a very delicate and beautiful girl behind Sean. Judging from the outfit of the other party, it is not difficult for Hitley to see that the other party should be a Magician.

This is Cecilia.

Hitley thought to herself.

I have been in the Void City for so long, of course she will not miss some information that should be inquired, so naturally she is very clear about the Void City, and even the entire Panda leads the information that has long been made public. Whether it is William or Neil, Sean, Cecilia, Alfred and other extremely famous people, Hitley will certainly not admit wrong, and she still has this confidence.

"Are you the Chief Priest Hitley?" After Sean entered the door, the door was quickly closed again.

As a priest and messenger sent by the Goddess of Life Church, who is still staying in Void City, Sean has certainly heard of it, but after all, he has not met. It's just that when he saw it at this moment, Sean was still a little surprised.

Hitley's appearance is very young. She has long brown hair and is wearing a white priest's robe. If the dress is shortened a bit, this robe is almost like a dress. Just put on the tail directly. Just think about it in this world, it seems that all priests' robes are of this unified standard, at most they are different in color, pattern, and emblem, so Sean is relieved.

It's just that, wearing this robe on Hitley's body, it looked a little less serious.

Hitley is only 1.6 meters tall, and she seems to have a poor breast figure, if her face is not a standard girl face, then Hitley is a minor loli I am afraid that everyone believes. Originally, as a priest, he should exude a kind of divine breath and appear solemn and majestic, but Hitley felt more like a little girl-like innocence. This kind of strong contrast is really unforgettable. .

"Please call me Hitley." Hitley nodded. She didn't notice that in such a moment of effort, Sean had observed her from beginning to end, so she didn't. Too wary, "My lord, is there anything wrong with you inviting me here?"

"I really need your help." Sean nodded, and then began to take off his clothes.

"Wow!" Hitley's reaction was obviously excited, her face became extremely red with the brush, and it seemed that there was still heat evaporating faintly, "Lord, you...you...what are you going to do? !"

"What are you doing?" Shaun was a little dazed, "Aren't you a priest who believes in the goddess of life?"

"Yes."

"Then, of course I invited you over to help me heal my injuries." Sean took it for granted.

"Heal?" Hitley was taken aback for a moment, and then she reacted immediately. Even she didn't know it, and her tone was obviously relieved just now, "Excuse me, where is the injury?"

Sean tilted his body slightly, revealing his arm that had been wiped off by Burrell with a shot.

Hitley's eyes swept across Sean's body and found that Sean's muscles were well-defined, full of a sense of angularity and strength-this was due to the changes brought about by high strength and endurance. In the data-based body, Sean's physique and various abilities will change due to the changes in these data. Of course, there will not be much change in the overall body, but it is like the body becomes strong and muscular. Very normal phenomenon.

"This injury is a bit serious." Hitley glanced at Sean's left arm, her expression became serious and solemn, "What is this crystal? There is a strong breath of divine power on it."

"This is the magical technique of the Church of Ice and Winter. It was originally to stop the bleeding and prevent the deterioration of my injury." Sean explained, "Is it necessary to remove this crystal?"

"Yes." Hitley finally understood why Enkos would let her bring a drop of life essence.

Such wounds that need to be repaired to the body can indeed be completely repaired only by the power of life essence. However, because the life essence is very precious, it is of course impossible to use it at will under normal circumstances. This is why there are hundreds of people in Thunder's Front who are injured and unable to continue on the battlefield. It is impossible for Asuna to afford so much life essence. Consumption.

This precious thing, every drop is valuable.

If it weren't for the hope of spreading the belief in the goddess of life in Sean's territory, Hitley would never give Sean a drop of life essence for free. The value of this thing is so high that even Sean today can't afford it. .

"Different divine arts will conflict. It is indeed necessary for Lord Lord to dispel the divine arts of the goddess of ice and winter."

"I see." Sean nodded, turned his head to look at Cecilia, and then said, "Thank you for asking for Xuefanio for me."

Chapter 193: .Another saint

Xuefanio patted her cheek with some distress. She had just finished "communication" with Eswinter.

Of course, this kind of communication can't be happier. It is entirely Eswinter's unilateral compulsive behavior, and she doesn't consider Xuefanio's personal opinions and opinions at all. And for this way of self-confidence, Xuefanio still couldn't resist, which of course made her feel a little unhappy. But it makes her very depressed. Strictly speaking, she does belong to the direct descendants of this goddess. Although the blood is thinned to the extent that it is like pouring a drop of lemon juice in the ocean, it has been awakened since the blood is awakened. After that, as long as the goddess wants to, he can contact her anytime and anywhere, whether she volunteers or not.

Basically, anyone who can become a saint or son in the church of a **** has more or less the blood of this god. The only difference is whether it belongs to a direct line or a collateral line, or through other means of inheritance, resonance, etc., and the so-called candidate for the Saint Child Saint Daughter actually chooses the best among those who have the power of the blood of the gods. People to serve.

People who can usually acquire this status are not only a manifestation of their faith in the gods, but also a demonstration of the power of the gods in the mortal church. After all, if a **** wants to surrender, it must be a body that carries his will, and the purity of faith and the depth of blood of this body are directly related to how much power and ability this **** can exert in the main material world after the **** descends. The fundamental factor for how long it lasts.

Therefore, every church is extremely cautious in choosing the son and the saint.

In terms of the depth of Xuefanio's blood, it is easy for her to become a saint—in fact, in addition to being the current priest with a knife of the Church of Ice and Winter, she is also the pope and the saint. There are a lot of messy names and identities such as female, church knight leader, chief priest and so on.

For an ordinary peasant girl who was originally just an ordinary peasant girl, it was a kind of extremely heavy pressure that made her feel extremely heavy.

So, unlike ordinary saints and popes who have vast dreams, ambitions, and desires, the only thing Xuefanio wants is to live a peaceful and happy life one day. Even simple flowers and plants are a rare beauty for Xuefanio.

Rubbed his forehead with some distress and headache, Xuefanio got up and left his living room.

This shrine of the goddess of ice and winter is just newly built, and many places have not been completely built, so the promenade inside the shrine can still be seen everywhere. However, it is already night, and the workers who came here to build have stopped work and returned home, and the priests who have just been recruited to work in the temple are also beginning to pray at this moment, so Xuefanio will walk around in the temple. Did not see anyone.

These priests are still relatively young at present-the average age is only sixteen years old. Although they have been praying and training for a period of time, these people have the best talents and the most religious beliefs, and they have just reached the second-tier level, even the lower bronzes. Not even that, let alone achieve Shaun's ideal goal-a priest.

This is a fourth-tier existence, that is, a person with high-ranking bronze strength.

Compared with the pure auxiliary profession of priests, priests have a certain degree of combat ability. Although they will weaken some of the magic effects, they can gain the buff ability to increase the power of combat magic. Therefore, this is why Sean has been The reason for the formation of a clergy. As long as there is a strong enough clergy on the battlefield, then the army's combat effectiveness can be forced to increase by one level at the least. If combined with Rina's aura skills, a third-level troop can be transformed into a quasi-sixth level or even a sixth-level troop. Impossible.

Currently, the pastors recruited by the Snow and Winter Church are all trained to the rank of priest.

This is part of the secret agreement between Eswinter and Sean in exchange for the absolute belief in Sean's territory.

It's just that, in the exchange with Eswinter just now, Xuefanio felt a little bit of doubt.

"Sister Xuefa."

When Xuefanio walked to the main hall of the temple, she happened to see Cecilia who was walking into the temple and greeted herself.

Seeing Cecilia smiled sweetly, even if Xuefanio was indifferent and ruthless, she also showed a slight smile at this time. Although this smile is very elegant, it still makes Cecilia feel a kind of spring blossoms. Warmth.

"You little guy, how come here."

Because of the relationship between Eswinter and Sean, Bingxue and Winter Church are about to become Sean's family churches, and they are also very close with Snowfaneo and Sean. And Cecilia has always been very likable in the territory-whether it is the leader, the army, or the followers of Sean, although Xuefanio is not a follower of Sean, it is actually almost the same. Because of his followers, so the relationship with Cecilia is very good, which is naturally not a surprise.

"Sean asked me to come to you." Cecilia naturally took Xuefanio's hand and said with a smile, "The chief priest of the goddess of life is now in Sean's room preparing to treat him. The injury on his hand, but said it was necessary to take out the crystal that Dini had cast on his hand before."

"The chief priest of the goddess of life?" Xuefanio's face showed a trace of surprise.

"It seems to be called Hitley."

"This is the Saintess candidate of the Church of the Goddess of Life, as Sean is not enough for this chief priest to take action in person." The astonishment on Xuefanio's face was even more obvious, "Sean, this fellow, definitely What violent methods did you use?"

"Fred personally led the Thunder Lions to invite people, and Sister Rena was accompanying." Cecilia snickered.

Thunder Lion, is Alfred's guard regiment, with three hundred members, and is under the organization of Thunder Lion. These three hundred people can be said to be the strongest individuals in the entire Thunder Lion. Everyone's face strength is at the lowest level of silver, even if it is compared with the Cecilia Guards under Clover. It is also only high and not low. If it were not for the overall organization of the Thunder Lion, it was already a force close to the strength of the fifth-level army.

Such a group of terrorists plus Rena, the 18 Templar knights of the Goddess of Life Church, which is the most silver in the upper ranks, could not possibly be able to stop it. Even if the two servants around Hitley are inferior gold strengths, but in front of Rina riding a war horse, the two of them did not dare to act rashly. They could only watch Hitley being ordered by Alfred. take away.

"I knew it." Xuefanio sighed.

"But I suspect that Hitley should have offended someone." Cecilia tilted her head and said a little hesitantly. "According to Fred, the eighteen temple knights are just apprentice knights. He is the only one, and these eighteen knights are not his opponents.... Don't you think it is a strange thing to protect Hitley with such a team?"

"It's a bit weird indeed." Xuefanio nodded, but she couldn't say how strange it was. After all, the Church of Frozen and Winter is exactly her own word, and no one robs her of saints, popes, or priests. Long waited for a lot of names, or if there were any, Xuefanio even wanted to give it to others right away, so of course it wouldn't be clear that the church was also full of factions.

"I guess that those people in Life Church did not expect this chief priest to do anything here. People from other factions in Life Church are probably waiting for this opportunity to challenge her and the factions behind her. "Cecilia is obviously very keen on conspiracy and other things. Only from the clues that Alfred told her, she can easily figure out the whole thing. "Maybe there will be something aimed at. The attack on the chief priest took place, so I have already said to Fred that he will be responsible for the safety of the chief priest on the territory during this time.... At least, this chief priest can't have an accident here. ."

"That's it." Xuefanie tilted her head slightly, "I don't know this, but I also have one thing I want to talk to Sean about, which was told by the old immortal Eswinter. "

While saying this, he also told Cecilia again.

Cecilia's eyes quickly radiated light, and she said with some excitement: "That's the case... Hey, it can solve another problem for Sean and Neal. And if you do it well, say Maybe Hitley will owe us a favor."

Seeing Cecilia who was like a wealthy fan suddenly found a huge treasure, Xuefanio couldn't help but frowned, nodded Cecilia's head gently, and smiled. "Look at your appearance, you are almost destroyed by the two black-bellied guys William and Neil.... Nothing can be calculated. There are not so many conspiracies and conspiracies in this world. Calculated."

Cecilia looked at Xuefanio with a bitter face, and then said: "Sister Xuefa, are you really older than me?"

"Of course!" Xuefanio nodded proudly, "I am this year, but I am a genuine twenty-five-year-old."

"But in my opinion, what you said is more like a five-year-old child." Cecilia sighed.

Originally, Cecilia wanted to say one more thing, those children born to nobles and royal families would have intrigue at the age of five. But when she thought of Xuefanio's birth, Cecilia swallowed this sentence back into her stomach, although it didn't matter if she said it based on her relationship with Xuefanio, but the etiquette of the nobles was also very good. Cecilia shouldn't talk nonsense even in front of her friends.

"You beg!" Although Xuefanio said so, she just reached out to scratch Cecilia's itching.

Soon, the silver bell-like laughter rang.

These two very attractive women were already running in the void city in a short while, toward the lord's mansion.

Chapter 194: Ath Winter's Announcement

In the lord's mansion, Sean's door was quickly opened again.

Cecilia and Xuefanio joked and ran in, but after seeing Hitley, Xuefanio was obviously a little restrained, only Cecilia still laughed indifferently. But when Sean coughed slightly, Cecilia stood obediently slightly, and the door was quickly closed.

Sean, is sitting on a chair—the chair was moved from the desk, but due to certain restrictions, it was changed to a wider area, which made it easier for Hitley to move around.

When Cecilia went to find Xuefanio, Hitley was constantly busy, obviously using the essence of life, not like using it directly in the game. Of course, Sean had never owned such advanced props in the game, so he behaved like a puppet at the moment, completely at the mercy of Hitley.

On Sean's left arm, Hitley has drawn a special rune formation around the immortal ice crystal with divine power.

This rune array is not much different from the general magic array, but the core of the array is not magic but divine power. All magic runes are replaced with divine texts, and there is no magic node. Of course, as a node power control in place of the magic circle, the rune circle is generally a three-dimensional formation, that is to say, it is composed of multiple rune circles. Each rune circle is an independent core of divine power. Activate or close it, and it can achieve the same control effect as the magic circle.

For magicians, this effect is of course relatively inefficient and very troublesome, but for priests who regard divine power as an instinctive activity similar to breathing, this is not a problem at all.

Like the rune circle that Sean draws around the immortal ice crystal at this moment, it is composed of six rune circles.

Now Hitley has activated two of the rune formations, and Sean can clearly feel a tingling sensation in his left arm, as if countless ants are crawling around. It is really unbearable. Itching.

According to Hitley, this is stimulating the activity of Sean's left arm—to put it simply, it is a behavior similar to cell regeneration in modern medicine. Just like a skin graft surgery, a piece of skin is cut from another place to cover it, and then the skin is stimulated by the regeneration ability of the cells to restore it. It's just that Sean is missing a large piece of meat directly, so of course it is impossible to regenerate with this simple method.

And Hitley did not activate the effect of other rune circles, but was afraid that the regeneration caused by this stimulating activity would directly cover the skin on this immortal ice crystal.

Two divine impacts that belonged to different domains would only blow up Sean's entire left arm. At that time, it was not an injury that could be repaired by relying on the essence of life. The technology of amputation and regeneration is indeed owned by the Church of Life, but it is said that the Church of Life has only performed it once in the hundreds of years since its inception-that must be a miracle technique that can only be performed by the goddess of life personally descending.

Want to maintain the consumption of the rune formation is also a big burden for Hitley, so seeing the arrival of Xuefanio at this moment, Hitley actually felt a sense of relief in her heart. She lacks enough experience in dealing with things, it is difficult to hide her true inner thoughts, many times her performance is actually as naive as Xuefanio.

However, this kind of behavior obviously has an appetite for Xuefanio.

So seeing Hitley's unpretentious relief, Xuefanio smiled at him, then turned to look at Sean and said, "Lord Lord, I want to take out the immortal ice crystals. The process may be a bit painful, I hope you can bear it."

"I see." Sean nodded, "Go straight."

Looking at the indifferent Sean, Xuefanio stopped saying anything, but reached out and tapped on the immortal ice crystal.

As Xuefanio's right hand slightly touched the crystal, a ring of energy visible to the naked eye suddenly spread out. This energy fluctuates so strongly that the rune circle drawn by Hitley produces extremely obvious vibrations, and it seems vaguely to be torn apart by this almost violent force, so Hitley has to consume more. Some supernatural powers to maintain the stability of the rune formation.

In the next second, the skin around the immortal ice crystals began to make a "hissing" tearing sound, and the flesh and blood visible to the naked eye was constantly being torn off by an invisible force, and directly annihilated in the air.

Xiao En's face changed suddenly, and this extremely intense pain had obviously reached his endurance limit.

Hitley did not expect to suffer such terrible pain to pull this crystal-like thing from Sean's arm. She even began to wonder whether a drop of life essence alone would be enough to restore the missing part of Sean's arm. .

Immediately afterwards, the immortal ice crystals began to shake, and the sound of the flesh being torn apart was obviously intensified, and bright red blood even began to gush from the edge of the gap in the arm, but Hitley soon activated the third rune. After a while, all the blood surrounded the gap as if frozen, and not a single drop leaked out. But soon, the immortal ice crystal began to move, and began to move upward little by little, as if something got stuck and was trying to pull it out little by little.

At this time, Sean could not help but let out a painful scream.

But Hitley quickly activated the effects of the other two rune circles, and began to relieve pain and muscle anesthesia for Sean. However, it took only one or two seconds. The nerves on Sean's arm seemed to be cut off abruptly. The pain that was being fed back to the brain was still constantly being fed back. In a blink of an eye it disappeared completely, but the same. Sean also found that he had lost control of his entire left hand.

With a soft sound of "wave", just like opening champagne, the entire immortal ice crystal had already jumped out of Sean's arm and was caught by Xuefanio in his palm.

At this time, Hitley also opened a crystal bottle that was the size of a finger in her hand, and poured a drop of liquid into Sean's arm.

This drop of liquid is about the size of a tear, but judging from the strong vitality it emits when it drops in the bottle, it is no more than the vitality aura emitted by a strong person. weak.

This is simply an incredible thing!

When the drop of liquid fell into Sean's left arm, Hitley did not hesitate to activate the last layer of the rune circle.

Suddenly, the whole rune array burst out with a bright green brilliance, and a strong breath of life instantly spread throughout the room. But in the next second, Sean's arm was like a whirlpool, and the rich life breath in the entire room began to gather frantically towards this place, and the blood that had been condensed in the gap began to turn into liquid again and then flowed into it. In the arm, immediately in the eyes of everyone, the flesh and blood at this gap began to be repaired quickly at a speed visible to the naked eye.

Along with the expansion and repair of flesh and blood, the rune circle painted on the gap of the arm also began to shrink, and the two seemed to form a proportional relationship.

The repair work progressed very smoothly. After a while, the rune circle disappeared completely, and Sean's left arm was restored as before, even the skin color was exactly the same, and it was hard to see that somewhere on the arm was magical. Patched up.

"Well, Lord Lord, your injury has been completely healed." Hitley's voice pulled Sean's perception back into the body, "but because of the postoperative sequelae, it will be about 24 hours later. Lord Lord, your arm can recover freely. During this period of time, you may not be able to control your left hand."

Shaun tried it, but his left hand didn't respond.

However, he understood this point. There is nerve anesthesia for surgery on the earth. How could there be no such treatment in this world with magical techniques. So he didn't make a fuss about this issue, and didn't even ask what the sequelae would be. On the contrary, Hitley had a high-level look at Sean's performance. In the past, she followed the priest who instructed her to do it for other nobles. After a similar treatment, every time those nobles appeared very clearly after the treatment, it was in stark contrast with the calm Sean at this moment.

But when the treatment was over, Hitley did not stay here, she quickly got up and left. Cecilia immediately arranged for Alfred to lead a group of people to protect the chief priest of the Church of Life to prevent her from any possible accidents-as far as the current situation is concerned, although the Church of Life is left to the chief priest It seems that the defending power of the is the most, but in fact it is the weakest one among all the church messengers and priests still staying in the void city at this moment.

After Hitley completely left, Xiao En sighed slightly, looking extremely tired.

In the room, only Sean, Xuefanio, and Cecilia were left in the room.

"Here you are." Xuefanio played with the immortal ice crystal that came out of the glass from Sean's left hand. This ice crystal is no longer pure and transparent, but half bright red and half dark gray. "Immortal ice crystal After being separated from the host body, it will completely lose its activity and become a material-like existence. It has your blood brand on it, you only need to smear it with your own blood, the ice crystal will be completely softened, and you can be like smelting That way, use this material for processing."

Sean took this immortal ice crystal, and when he heard Xuefanio's words, he immediately activated the real eye and looked at it.

【Immortal Ice Crystal: Demonized Material (Divine Crystal Crystal Flesh), Alchemy Material (Crystal Crystal Flesh), Forging Material (Crystal Crystal Flesh), Casting Material (Divine Crystal Flesh), Hardness 900. 】

[Item description: A special crystal condensed by divine power, which contains a certain degree of flesh and blood power and divinity. It can be used as a substitute for crystals. It is a very precious and almost impossible to obtain in this world by ordinary means. Material. Note: This material can only be refined by Sean Connery. ]

Shaun played with the immortal ice crystal in his hand, but he was shocked, because even he could already see how valuable this immortal ice crystal was.

Generally speaking, materials have obvious and single purpose.

For example, if a piece of material can be used as a material for making enchanted equipment and as a material for alchemy, it will show the distinction between "enchanted material" and "alchemy material". However, although it has a wide range of uses, the nature of the material is usually relatively single. For example, the skull and cervical vertebra that Sean first obtained from the Starfall Forest show both the use of enchanting materials and alchemy materials, but they are only used for enchanting. As far as the material is concerned, it can only play out the special purpose of the undead, and if it is used as an alchemy material, it can only be used as a substitute for bone material.

Like the four properties currently displayed in alchemy materials, this means that if in alchemy, immortal ice crystals can be used as substitutes for crystals, crystals, and flesh and blood. And if it is only used as a forging material, that is, to make forging-level equipment, then the immortal ice crystal can only display the characteristics of crystal or crystal. Of course, if it is used as a spellcasting material for spells or divine arts, it also has three properties.

But it is undoubtedly the magical material that can really play its best use.

The effect of "divine nature" is the first time that Sean has seen it, whether it is a game or the real world today, so the degree of its preciousness can be imagined.

Carefully put away this piece of material, and Sean has already begun to conceive in his mind how to use this material to create a powerful magical equipment.

But at this time, Xuefanio said again: "By the way, the old guy Eswinter asked me to tell you that in your territory, she allows the goddess of life to share faith with her. So even if you grant the goddess of life the right to build the temple to the other's believers, Eswinter will not be angry. She said that she is not good at healing magic arts after all, and it is better to find a more authoritative one in this regard."

Hearing Xuefanio's words, Sean was a little startled. Of course, his first reaction was unbelievable: This goddess of ice and winter took the wrong medicine?

Because before that, Eswinter had complained to Sean that the collection of the power of faith was too slow, his territory was too small, and so on, but he didn't expect it to be a long time before. It is definitely not a normal thing to allow believers of the goddess of life to grab the power of faith with her. After all, the goddess of life is already the goddess of high divine power, but the goddess of ice, snow and winter, Eswinter, has just gotten out of the embarrassing situation of falling, and is currently the same weak divine power as the **** of ice, and can't even enter the low divine power. Go, how can you allow the goddess of life to grab the power of faith with herself at this time?

In fact, let alone Sean, even Xuefanio didn't understand what his ancestor, who didn't know what the relationship was, was thinking.

Of course, Eswinter would definitely not tell these two people clearly that Enkos directly tore through the divine power barrier and entered her kingdom of God to have a good negotiation with her.

Chapter 195: . Lori grew up

Sean sometimes wonders if these guys who have dedicated their lives to the gods are not interesting.

Hitley left as soon as Sean's injury was healed, and Xuefanio's situation was not much better than Hitley's. After relaying what Eswinter had to say, Hitley turned around and left. , Only Sean and Cecilia were left in the room.

The atmosphere has become a little more subtle.

Sean stood up, pulled the chair back to the desk, and then picked up a shirt to try to put it on. It's just that the difficulty of this action is really not low for him, who is not very convenient with one hand.

Cecilia walked over, then picked up a corner of the shirt.

Sean was taken aback for a moment, but Cecilia smiled generously, and then grabbed Shawn's left hand and stuffed it into the sleeve to help Shawn put the shirt on. Then he walked around in front of Sean and started to help him button up the buttons one by one.

"Unexpectedly, that little stalker back then has grown so big now." Sean chuckled lightly and rubbed Cecilia's hair gently with his intact right hand.

Sean hadn't done this for a long time, and only then discovered that no matter how long it has been, and no matter what the environment, Cecilia's hair seems to have always been so smooth and never dry. Before he knew it, Sean's hand was inserted along Cecilia's hair, and then gently slid down, and the long golden hair kept sliding down in Sean's hand, as if water was flowing quietly between his fingers.

"I'm not a kid anymore." Cecilia buttoned the last button for Sean and said with a hum, but her face was slightly flushed.

Looking at Cecilia like this, even Sean was lost for a moment.

He vaguely remembered that although Cecilia was lonely and blocked in a street by a group of gangsters, her eyes still looked like wolves at that time, full of a strange tenacity, without fear or compromise. Sean still remembered that it was precisely because he was attracted by the two completely different auras of that little guy that he would shoot in that small alley.

Since that rainy night, he and Cecilia began to depend on each other.

In a blink of an eye, almost three years have passed.

The underage boy in the past has now grown into a slim girl.

Cecilia's face doesn't seem to have changed much. It is still as exquisite and suffocating as before, but it is also obvious that she has grown, at least her eyes and temperament are more mature and rounded than before. Her long golden hair may have fallen to the waist because it has not been cut for a long time, but because Cecilia's hair is very smooth and shiny, it looks more like a golden waterfall.

Although she was only fourteen or five years old, she had already begun to develop her body. Now three years later, even Sean can't be completely ignored. Although not as magnificent as Elizabeth and Asuna, they already possess a power that cannot be underestimated. At least, unlike before, even if she just came out of the shower, even if Cecilia was full of water vapor and drenched in temptation, Sean could sneer and show disdain.

Cecilia, has really grown up.

Whether it is mind or body.

The atmosphere in the room seems to be fermented.

Cecilia's ears are already red.

"Cough cough." Xiao En coughed slightly and retracted his hand. His fingers accidentally touched Cecilia's ears. The latter's body suddenly tightened like an electric shock. Even Xiao En was a little embarrassed. But soon, Sean said again, "Haven't dinner yet?...I'm hungry too, let's go eat something first."

"En." Cecilia nodded obediently.

After that, the two quickly left the room.

The place to eat is not in the lord's mansion, but in a place hundreds of meters south along the street outside the lord's mansion. Red maple as themed food is not bad, and it is considered a famous tavern in the entire Void City. Of course, compared to the place called Sunset Red Tavern where Xiao En in Hongye Town had visited, it was naturally a bit inferior.

But here in Void City, this tavern is indeed the number one choice.

After leaving the Lord's Mansion, feeling the coolness brought by the breeze blowing in the night, Sean's mood also relaxed a lot, even Cecilia became visibly lively, as if the embarrassment in the room before, was also taken away with the breeze that just started.

Sean watched Cecilia's bounce on the street, and his heart was suddenly filled with emotion.

He knows that people will grow up after all, even if he ignores this, the facts cannot be changed by his personal will. This has changed from Cecilia's little Lori to what he is today. The girl is the best proof. Perhaps in one or two years, she will become a jewel that no one can ignore, and I am afraid that she will not be inferior to Elizabeth, who is now known as the shining jewel of the Principality of Ryan.

But at that time, what kind of identity did he want to call himself?

Sean shook his head and threw this question out of his mind. This is not what he should have thought.

At least, in the current situation, not what he should think. The question he should really think about now is how to use the news that Xuefanio told him tonight. Now that so many churches are gathered here in Void City, even if no one comes to him today, it does not mean that tomorrow, No one will come to him the day after tomorrow, so how to solve the problem of spreading faith is not an easy task.

After all, Sean had promised the goddess Eiswenter, and only allowed this **** to propagate the doctrine in his domain, in order to complete the absolute belief in the domain. If this thing does not happen tonight, then Sean can still pull out Xuefanio and Eswinter as a shield, but when Eswenter says to allow the goddess of life to establish on Sean's territory From that moment in the church, the nature of the matter became a little different.

Of course, what Shaun didn't expect was that Neil would actually have such a big hand to attract churches from all over the continent.

But it's useless to worry about it.

Dinner is used up in a relaxed and pleasant atmosphere.

But as soon as the dinner was over, Sean immediately returned to the Lord's Mansion and discussed with Neal and William about the right to belief in the territory. But this time, Cecilia also participated in the discussion of this meeting, and it was incredible to Sean that Cecilia actually came up with a very complete plan, which was obviously not a temporary plan. , At least Cecilia knew that Aswenter did it earlier than Sean.

Cecilia's approach is not complicated, she just passed on the trouble of using Aswenter as a shield to the goddess of life.

After all, Hitley entered the lord's mansion to treat Sean tonight, and it has now been spread that almost the entire Void City has already known, so of course this is also a place that can be used. Anyway, for people in other churches, it is directly propagated that Sean has reached an agreement with Hitley and will reject other churches. Although this will also offend other churches, most of the hatred will be absorbed by the goddess of life, and will not Too much pressure on Sean.

At least until Sean's realm is further expanded, no one will care about the faith in Sean's realm. Moreover, most of the people in Sean's territory are already devout followers of the goddess of ice and winter. It is not easy to transfer their beliefs. This is enough to make many churches proceed cautiously.

But for Sean, Neal, William and others, the real problem is how to squeeze the church of the Goddess of Life.

Let this church spread the faith in its own territory for nothing, which is a loss-making business for Sean and others. You know, Eswinter is paying the price that all priests, priests, and temple knights who believe in her must obey Shaun's commands and arrangements. If the goddess of life wants to obtain the right to spread the beliefs of the territory and the right to build temples without paying any price, this is of course an impossible thing.

At the very least, the condition of the army priest must be established.

You must know that if there are several priests of the Living Church in an army, the survival rate of the army after the war will be greatly improved.

However, the overall detail adjustments and judgments in this regard. After several hours of discussion and no conclusions were reached, Sean waved his hand and gave Neal the authority under him, and he was fully responsible for the negotiation with Hitley. In this regard, Sean is not at all worried about Neil's mistakes-of course, more importantly, he must also carefully consider Es Wentel's mood.

If one party pays a high price to get something, but the other party can get the same thing without blowing the dust, then the party paying the big price will definitely go directly into a state of rage. Sean didn't want to understand the anger of the gods at all, especially when he met Xuefanio for the first time, the direct pressure of the former high ***** was so strong that Sean felt a shudder, so If he could not provoke or meet the goddess, Sean would do everything possible to avoid it.

After delegating power to Neal, Sean also left the meeting room.

He also has a lot of work to deal with, such as the problem of recuperating injuries, such as the question of who will enter the Tinsin collar next, and other miscellaneous things to deal with. Because this matter is related to the development prospects of the entire territory, Sean, Neal, William and others have treated this matter as a priority issue. As long as William can come up with a specific plan and a backup plan, Then Sean will immediately set off for Tin Sing.

At this point, there is absolutely no room for delay.

Because according to Asuna's statement before leaving, this time there happened to be a member of the Peace Association near the trading capital and very close to Pandaling. It is expected that they will arrive here in three or four months. And conduct an investigation. So in any case, Sean must obtain the territorial contract document before the investigator from the Peace Association arrives at Pandaren. Only in this way can his plan be completely disrupted.

But this time, because the actions to be carried out are basically infiltration and melee combat, and Cecilia is a magician, Sean does not intend to take Cecilia to act together.

When Sean said this to Cecilia, Cecilia simply agreed: "I don't think that in my current situation, it really can't help much, so I decided. I went back to Black Swan Castle in two days for more in-depth magic research and learning. At least I had to master more magic to match my strength....

After all, I really lack more magic now, which will make me feel better. The tactical combination appears to be relatively single."

When Cecilia said so, Sean was stunned.

Because if it was before, Cecilia would definitely be clamoring to follow him. But now, Cecilia is more about considering the overall strategic situation, instead of being arrogant as before. It seems that after returning from the wilderness, Cecilia's changes can be completely changed by mutation. describe.

At this moment, Sean really feels that Cecilia has really grown up.

Chapter 196: .In Lomingen

A pale yellow mist began to appear on the horizon, and the scene began to become a little hazy. The first ray of sunlight finally shone out, dispelling the dark and cold yesterday.

"click".

A muffled sound rang behind the huge gate, and then, the gate finally slowly began to open to both sides.

This is an old style gate.

The city gates of the cities built in the last hundred years are all recessed, and only the city gates built one hundred years ago will open outwards.

However, apart from the fact that the city was established a hundred years ago through the gates, there is nothing to tell the oldness of the city from the walls. Because there is no obvious weathering or other traces on the city wall, if you judge from this, it can only be because the city owner is obviously very careful about the maintenance of the city.

When the city gate was completely opened, two guards in red leather armor moved the horses out of the city and placed them around the city gate. The two sides lined up, forming a line in a short while

Cordon. Until then, a long line of people had lined up outside the city, and finally there was a little sign of movement. Everyone who entered the city would be released after a simple query by the guards, but they did not need to pay for entering the city. fee.

From the city gate to the inside, is the East Cross Street.

The city adopts a square pattern. There are four gates in the southeast, northwest and north. The two avenues run from east to west and north to south. The central intersection is the center of the city, so these two avenues are collectively referred to as Cross Street. It's just that the residents in the city are simply called East Cross Street, West Cross Street, etc. according to the location of the city gates in order to make it easier to distinguish.

Dongshizi Street is naturally the street where Dongchengmen enters.

This main street is paved with stone slabs. The road is clean without any stains. The road is wide enough to accommodate four regular carriages in parallel. On the left and right sides of the street, a tall Rhodas tree is planted at intervals of about twenty meters, extending continuously to the city center.

This kind of tall tree can generally grow to a height of nearly ten meters, with a canopy covering an area of up to 20 meters in a radius, and the leaves are tricuspid petals, showing a bluish-yellow color throughout the year. In winter, you can still see all the leaves on the trunk. This is a kind of weird tree that can only grow in the south of the mainland. The biggest advantage is that it is easy to take care of, and it is difficult to die if it is not destroyed by man.

The sun gradually became brighter, and the air in the city began to become fresher. The cold at night was being driven away bit by bit. Other residents appeared on the street constantly, and shops were also open for business.

The whole city is like a behemoth waking up.

This is the city of Lorminen in Tinsin, a city with a population of more than 300,000.

A city built a hundred years ago does not have the layout of an inner city, and it has never been expanded in the past 100 years, but it can accommodate more than 300,000 residents. It is conceivable that the lord of Tin Qiin was How conceited. Of course, after the initial construction of the city, it is naturally impossible to have so many people immediately. Even if it is a Void City with a budget of more than 100,000 people, now it has only 10,000 or 20,000 residents, and thousands of them are regular troops. people.

Therefore, the city of Luomingen has undergone two generations of development. Only a few years before the Hastings family patriarch took over the title of Earl of Tinchine, the population of Luomingen City finally exceeded 300,000, reaching The saturation of the entire city. And now after more than ten years of development, the city of Luomingen has completely entered the state of its capacity limit, and the call for the expansion of the city of Luomingen is getting louder and louder, but Domingo Hastings is Tinch Because the earl did not pay attention to these voices at all.

As a soldier, he is undoubtedly outstanding, but compared to a family and a lord, he is just passing. A large amount of expenditure on the territory was spent on military construction. From this point of view, he and Sean should be considered the same type of people, but unfortunately, he does not have as excellent as Sean. The talents-whether it is internal affairs or military, so even though he has a private army of up to 30,000 in his hand, and the equipment is equipped with sophisticated equipment, this is still a three-level regular army.

Even the management, maintenance, repairs and other costs of Luomingen City are all the responsibility of the city owner alone.

"This city lord is not easy." Xiao En looked at the situation in Luomingen city, and finally sighed after a long time, "It's a pity, I have followed Domingo, such a hopeless earl."

"According to the information provided by Neal, this city lord is an offshoot of the Hastings family." It was Alfred who spoke, "I don't think there is a possibility of winning."

Hearing Sean's words, Alfred already knew what he was making. After all, he was also the first person to start a family with Sean.

The strength of this middle-aged man was fortunate to break through the limit of Tier 5, reaching the height of Tier 6 high-ranking silver. He also has three constructions on his body, and his overall strength has been significantly strengthened and improved. However, it is only limited to dealing with enemies of the same rank. When facing the next golden powerhouse, Alfred is still not an opponent, even if the flame lion fangs in his hand have been improved and strengthened again.

The biggest advantage of construction fighters is that they can be strengthened and improved according to different needs. They can use the power of the construction to make up for their own weaknesses and deficiencies, and they can also greatly enhance their strengths and advantages. However, if a construct fighter wants to truly exert the strongest combat effectiveness, at least five constructs are needed-that is, five pieces of equipment besides the helmet: clothes, belts, gloves, pants, and shoes.

The so-called construction is actually a kind of branch similar to enchanting. It's just different from the conventional enchanting method of pouring magic power into the equipment. The construction is to draw the magic power into a magic circle and engrave it on the equipment. It's just that only constructed fighters can mobilize the construction power of the equipment, and even if other people obtain this type of construction equipment, they can't exert their effects. This is also a major feature of this class.

Today, Alfred's three pieces of equipment for structural enhancement are the half-length armor, the Bavarian arm armor, and the armor worn on the lower body. And what Alfred chose is not to maximize his own strengths, but to strengthen his own weaknesses, so today Alfred does not have too obvious shortcomings, and cooperated with Sean to create it for him. Flame Lion fangs, Alfred's combat effectiveness can also be regarded as invincible of the same rank.

However, it is of the same order.

At this moment, Sean is with them. In addition to Alfred, there are Rina, Xuefanio, and Anno.

The big man Anno, it was Sean who came to meet him on the way to Tin Chiin, and it was William who took over the command of Anno Steel Wings.

The location of Tingqiin collar is just south of the Dai collar, and there is a territory separated from the Dai collar. If you go straight from the border of the territory, you can enter the Tingqiin collar from the Dai collar in three to four days. If you go straight along the way, you won't pass through any towns, so you have to prepare supplies yourself. However, if you go from Void City to Dayling, because of the route and terrain, it usually takes more than a month to reach the city of Dayling. If you go directly from Void City to Lomingen City, you only need Twenty-three days only.

So from the beginning, Sean did not intend to take Da Yi collar.

However, William was going to the Dai leader to take over the command of Steel Wings anyway, so he asked Anno to leave from the Dai leader in advance. Accompanied by William were Alfred's three thousand thunder lions, Aldolf's one thousand mobile infantry regiments, and eight thousand steel-winged recruits with quasi-three-level strength. After all, this time Sean and others went to Ting The matter of Qinling is too critical for the development of the entire territory, and no negligence is tolerated, so William will personally go out and prepare to accept the retreat of Sean and others at any time.

But what they didn't know was that because of William's military arrangements this time, the neighboring territories of Darbion Kingdom and Shaun's Territory were all in a panic-ready state. Especially those who knew the actions of the Nugus family and the family territories that were closer to the Nugus family thought that Sean was about to lose his territory, so he was ready to do a lot of damage.

Anno's strength has reached the level of the lower silver. This is already very rare for a Northland barbarian, but if you consider only the personal combat power, the strength of the lower silver in this world is barely at the level of just entering the middle reaches, for the already used and the lower gold. As far as Sean and the others are fighting for the strong, Anno's personal strength is almost negligible.

But in terms of strength and endurance, Anno is really good, so when Anno is equipped with an impact shield, as a defender, Anno's value is still very high. The only flaw is that he and Alfred are the same, neither can face the attack of the next golden powerhouse, but because of the existence of Xuefanio and Rena, there is no need for Alfred in this regard. Reid and Anno shot.

Originally, Rina should be responsible for the training of new recruits in the territory. After all, her cavalry regiment has just been hit hard, so after returning to the territory, she naturally needs to recruit, and then she needs to be responsible for the cavalry regiment. Training. But after hearing about the current crisis in the territory, Rena chose to join Sean's temporarily formed team. Taking into account Rena's aura skills and the dangers that may be encountered in this trip, for Rui Of course, Sean will not object to Na's joining.

As for Xuefanio, it was purely brought by Sean Ragdeng.

After all, Xuefanio is the only high-ranking gold powerhouse in Shaun's realm, and he is particularly capable of fighting, and even able to cast various group magic arts. It is simply a few people. With the cooperation of Xuefanio and Rina, Alfred and Anno's combat effectiveness can be upgraded to a level at least, even if they are still not the opponents of the golden strong, but they will not be immediately affected. Down.

In addition, Sean, who is also not inferior to the lower gold powerhouse, has only five members in this team, but as long as it does not encounter more than three upper gold powerhouses or sanctuary powerhouses, then in the entire Tin Qi It is completely possible to walk sideways.

Unless Domingo Hastings, the Earl of Tinchin, is willing to use all his 30,000 private troops to fill his life, I am afraid that this elite force will not be retained. And in order to prevent Domingo, the military madman, from really having this courage, William will also ran to reach the Iraqi leader. .

Counting the time spent in the territory before and the twenty-three days on the road during this trip, it has been a full month since Sean returned from the wilderness.

It was less than two months before the messenger of the Peace Council went to Pandan, so the time it might take to deduct the return journey would only have one month left for Sean and others to act.

You must get the contract of the territory within one month!

Sean was still observing the gaze of the entire city before he retracted it. His eyes already showed a somewhat determined look. He turned his head and looked at Alfred and said: "Where is the person that Ruby said is waiting for us?"

"It seems to be a pub called Binks Fine Wine." Alfred thought for a while before saying, "The address seems to be... the junction of Seventh Avenue and Shuke Street."

Chapter 197: .Binks' fine wine

Binks' wine is a tavern that has existed since Lomingen's fortification.

The first owner of the tavern was named Binks, and his son was also named Binks. The previous acquaintances distinguished the two tavern owners by the old Binks and the little Binks. Little Binks thought it was interesting that the father and son had the same name, so his son was also named Binks, and the guests who often come to this pub are familiar with him and call him Little Binks. Today, the owner of the inherited tavern is the great-grandson of the old Binks, whose name is also Binks, but perhaps because the familiar names are all used up, the guests who often come to the tavern to drink now call him the fourth.

Binks IV.

sounds like a noble name, but in fact, Binks IV is an ordinary civilian. He is neither good at martial arts, nor magic, let alone divine arts, but he knows how to brew many fine wines. In addition to the hotel's signature Binks wine, he also created two new wines that are not inferior to Binks wine. The wine, was named the wine of the fourth world and the **** smile.

The former is a very common type of ale. Unlike the Binks of the rum type, the IV's wine does not have a slightly bitter taste like ordinary ale, but has a sweet taste and is more intense. Binks wine is higher; the latter is a new wine in this world, but the **** smile is different from the low-intensity and high stamina of ordinary wines. The **** smile and the fourth wine are both high-intensity wines. And because of the habitual staying power of wine, the **** smile is very easy to indulge, and the sweetness is also the highest of the three wines.

With these three kinds of wines that are highly well-known even in the Kingdom of Darbion, Binks's Wine Tavern can be regarded as an iconic and well-known building in Lomingen.

Seventh Avenue is a street closer to the city center. If you must describe it, it is already equivalent to the second ring street of the city, while Shuke Street belongs to the first ring street, so Binks' Fine Wine is located At the junction of a street close to the city.

The location here is already considered to be a prime location, because the first ring is basically a very high-level area, and the people living in it are either wealthy businessmen or people with status. If it wasn't for the Hastings family to have a manor outside the city of Luomingen , They are also the people who will live in this area. And the closer the building is to this ring of the city, the higher the land price and housing price, but if you can open stores in these locations, the income will naturally come in.

Someone once suggested to the owner of the tavern to refuse the entry of the civilians. After all, the wine of Binks also enjoyed a certain reputation in the noble circle of the Kingdom of Darbion.

It's just this kind of thing, but it was unanimously opposed by the tavern owner. After all, Binks' fine wines are all supported by those old customers in order to have today's status. Of course, this result was that Binks' fine wine was boycotted by the nobles at one time, but in the end, it was unable to restrain the thirst for fine wine, and it gradually spread among the noble circles, and the little Binks came from ordinary people. The awe of the nobility later opened up a special area in the tavern. Only those with status and status can enter this area, which looks a bit like a salon.

When he arrived at Binks IV, he even bought a few houses around the tavern and remodeled it. Not only did he expand the original salon area, he even made many boxes out to facilitate some other people's private conversations. Only with the expansion of scale and the increase in demand, the price of drinks has soared. Nowadays, the three major wines can only be enjoyed by nobles and wealthy merchants.

But Binks IV has not forgotten the legacy of his ancestors. In his tavern, he will provide ordinary people with five barrels of three kinds of wine every day at low prices.

So now that hundreds of years have passed, Binks' wine has become a place recognized by the nobles, wealthy merchants, and civilians in Luomingen City. Even some activities organized sometimes involve bold and informal nobles and civilians. Of course, it also creates a lot of very commendable romantic story material-but under normal circumstances, the ending of this kind of story may not always be. Is wonderful.

Like a general tavern, when it is officially open, the door of the tavern is two swing doors that can be pushed open.

Even if it's still early in the morning, the pub seems to have just opened a store, but standing outside, you can hear the noisy noise in the pub. Before entering the tavern, Sean even heard the sound of someone playing the piano.

"It's just near noon, this tavern is so lively?" Sean was a little surprised.

"It is said that this tavern also operates a hotel business, and it is not only famous for its drinks, but also second to none in terms of board and lodging." This question was taken by Xuefanio, "but it seems that the tavern owner is worried about himself. The winemaking formula of "was stolen, so the scale and scope of the operation were not expanded. Moreover, the demand for three kinds of wines from the royal family of Darbion was very high every year, which also limited the expansion of this tavern in a certain way."

"Huh?" The look on Sean's face at the moment was equally surprised, but he was surprised at Xuefanio, "I didn't expect you to know this too."

"The way here is boring, so I checked the intelligence records that Mr. William gave us." Xuefanio asked with some confusion, "Did you not read it?"

"Because this information is not important to me, so I didn't pay attention." Xiao En frowned slightly, and he found that his perception seemed a bit one-sided, "Then we will all stay in this tavern for the rest of the time. ?"

"It should be." Alfred and Rena looked at each other, and it was Alfred who replied. "After all, according to Mr. William's information, this pub is considered to be a more famous pub in Lomingen, and it is also There are private rooms available. Many nobles and wealthy businessmen often invite people to chat here. The city law enforcement team will not search the tavern at will, which will be more beneficial to our actions."

"That's it." Sean nodded slightly, "Anyway, I'll talk to the one that Ruby said first."

As everyone talked, Xiao En and the group quickly walked to the main entrance of the tavern. Anno reached out and pushed open the tavern door and walked inward.

After entering the tavern, the noisy voice immediately became clearer and more obvious.

This is a huge round hall similar to a dance floor. It seems to be less than 200 square meters. There are about 20 round tables, each of which can seat at least six to eight people, of course, in a few corners. On the side and on the side against the walls and windows, there are square and long tables, which generally can only accommodate two or four people. The floor is a long wooden plank, but because of maintenance, there is no creaking sound when walking on it. There are some common animal heads hanging on the wall. There is a stage at the right corner of the main entrance of the tavern, but at the moment it is on the stage. No one is performing. The position of the stage is very conventional, facing the door.

The sound of piano came from the left side of the hall.

On the left side of the Great Rotunda, there is a curtain covering it. From here, the left side cannot be seen, but the piano sound is indeed coming from there, but at this moment in the Great Rotunda, the noisy sound completely degrades the piano sound. Covering it up is not as clear as hearing it outside.

Shaun guessed that the so-called salon club in the tavern should be on the left of the Great Round Hall.

When entering from the main entrance just now, Xiao En remembered that there was indeed a door next to it, but it was not open, so they chose to enter from the main entrance. At the moment, it should not be that the salon area is not open, but the door that directly enters the salon area of Binks Wines is only open at certain special times-such as evening or late at night. After all, the busiest time of the pub must be in the evening. Time.

"Welcome to Binks' fine wine!"

As Xiao En and others were looking at the tavern, a waitress greeted her and said with a smile: "Guest, you seem to be from a different place."

"Yes." Sean nodded, "I am an adventurer who passes here. I heard that this tavern is very famous, so we came to see it specially."

"Oh, my guest, you will never regret this choice." The waitress said with a sweeter smile, and said with joy, "Our Binks' wine is a very famous pub in Luomingen, and we are here. Board and lodging are also provided! But if the guests feel noisy here, on the left is a relatively quiet salon area, where aristocrats and wealthy businessmen often visit. Of course, we also provide private rooms, but we have both salons and private rooms. An additional service charge is added. Of course, the advantage is that there is unlimited supply of fine wines, because in this large outer hall, the three major signature wines of our store are only available in limited quantities after 8 o'clock every night, one type of five barrels each."

The waitress is not beautiful, but she looks very energetic, and her figure is very well developed.

In fact, this waitress is not the only one, but Sean found that the ten or so waitresses in this large round hall are of very hot body types.

"We want to stay, five rooms." Xiao En then looked back and smiled, "As long as the rooms are clean and tidy."

"So there are other needs?" The waitress continued to ask.

"One of our companions seems to have reserved a private room in advance. I wonder if anyone is using the private room now?" Xiao En asked again.

"Please wait." The waitress bowed slightly to Xiao En and the others, and then ran to the stage to ask.

Standing on the stage at the moment is a middle-aged man who looks about 30 years old. He has short burgundy red hair. He is not handsome, but he has a very unique mature charm. At this moment, he was wiping the tabletop of the stage, and it seemed that he was doing some preparations. When the waitress came to ask, the middle-aged man with short burgundy red hair raised his head and glanced at Sean and the others before he spoke with him. The waitress said a few words, and soon the waitress walked back.

"Sir, there is indeed a private room currently being used, but we have a rule here. You must match the password of the private room."

"What is the password?"

"May the world always be at night."

Chapter 198: . Eli Kate of Eternal Night

The road leading to the private room was actually in the corridor on the right side of the stage. Xiao En thought it was the dressing room or lounge leading to the stage. But just think about it. In this world, apart from large-scale stage plays, it seems that there will be backstages. A stage like a tavern is generally a show with bards playing the piano and a few more dancers. They will not prepare for the backstage. .

The corridor is not long, it came to an end soon.

At the end, there are two left and right corridors, and the whole structure presents a "t" shape. On the left and right sides of the corridor where three people can walk side by side, there are ten doors on each side of the corridor. There is no need for the maid who led the way to explain, Xiao En and others can also know that behind the doors of these rooms are the so-called private rooms.

Under the guidance of the waitress, Xiao En and others came to a door at the end of the corridor on the left, and then the waitress reached out and knocked on the door: "Sir, the person you are waiting for has arrived."

"Oh? Coming?" An answer came from the room.

Judging from the sound, the other party's voice is obviously disguised, which is a symbol of great caution.

Considering that the other party was introduced by Rupiah, and reminiscent of Rupiah's previous career and his cautious attitude at the moment, Sean can roughly guess the identity of the other party. It's just that Sean didn't expect that the person that Ruby introduced would be from a thieves' guild. He thought he would be a wild bird. To some extent, Sean's trust in the thieves' guild was almost zero, because it is completely an organization where the rich is the uncle.

Since you can take on Sean's job today, if Domingo Hastings bid a higher price tomorrow, he will sell himself in a blink of an eye.

A gentle footstep sounded, from which you can hear the other party's still somewhat laid-back attitude. But what Sean is more concerned about is that the sound insulation of this room does not look so good, and there is definitely no magic circle to isolate the sound. Otherwise, people outside the door will never be able to hear the sound in the private room. At the same time It also means that if someone is standing outside the private room, it may be easy to eavesdrop on the conversation in the private room.

But think about it carefully, the value needed to set up such a magic circle that can isolate the sound from being exposed is absolutely high. Even if Binks' wine is a famous tavern, it is estimated that there is no way to make such a large investment. What's more, there are as many as twenty private rooms here. Twenty silent magic arrays that isolate the sound and expose. Not to mention the hypothetical cost, just the operating cost of each opening is definitely not cheap.

The door was quickly opened.

Standing inside the door is a young man. His appearance looks very ordinary. No matter how he looks at his facial features, he has no distinctive features. It is completely vague and has serious dark circles. As long as such a person is thrown into the crowd, he will be completely wiped out in the blink of an eye. No matter how you look at it, this guy can't make any deep impression.

However, considering that this guy came from a thieves' guild, Sean speculated that the opponent should have disguised skills similar to disguise, so what he saw in front of him should not be his true face.

"Heh." What Sean didn't expect was that the guy in front of him yawned greatly, and those eyes that looked like a pool of stagnant water finally got a little bit of expression, "I have been waiting for you two days. .... The cost of the private room must be paid by you."

Shaun's facial muscles twitched a few times: it's not a disguise!

"Gentlemen, do you need something?" The waitress said at this moment.

"You can eat anything you like." The young but silent man finally spoke, "What do you need?"

"No need." Sean shook his head.

"You are welcome." The other party said grinningly, "It's not me who paid anyway."

Sean already has blue veins appearing, but at this moment he still held back his anger, turned his head and looked at the waitress, and said, "Then give us a portion for each of us. It is the normal lunch portion of your pub." Here, Sean glanced at Anno, then changed his words and said, "Five points for this guy."

"Please wait a moment." The waitress gave a playful smile, then turned and left.

"Come in first." The young man looked at the back of the waitress leaving, his eyes stared fiercely at the other's chest from just now, and now he stared at the other's ass, until the waitress disappeared in the corner. Later, the young man who should be from the Thieves Guild finally remembered that there was someone next to him, so he hurriedly invited this person into the private room, but at this time his eyes fell on Rina and Xuefanio.

"If I were you, I would definitely not stare at these two." Sean said.

"Huh? Why?" The young thief was a little surprised.

Snowfani smiled slightly, and stretched out a finger to tap the young thief's shoulder. The thief immediately retreated like an electric shock, with a look of horror on his face. I saw that there was already a piece of frost on his left shoulder at this time. I don't need to think about it. The skin under the clothes must have been directly frozen to purple. It is estimated that even if the piece of flesh has not been frozen to death, I am afraid it will not be much better.

"I won't demonstrate." Rena said calmly, "I'm afraid that a punch will smash his head."

The young thief swallowed, and said helplessly: "Please forgive my impoliteness. I didn't expect that not only Sir Connelly, but also Miss Rena and Miss Chefanio, and General Alfred and General Anno came with him."

"Oh?" Sean raised his brows, "Do you recognize us?"

The young thief gave a wry smile this time: "Probably it is only you who do not know your reputation in the Kingdom of Darbion.... Not to mention Sir Connery, Miss Rena and Miss Chefanio. , The portraits of Lord Alfred and Lord Anno are now widely circulated in the aristocratic circle of the Darbion Kingdom. Fortunately, you entered the city when the gate was just opened in the morning, if it was at noon. , I am afraid that the Hastings family has already received the news of your arrival."

Hearing this, Xiao En's face finally changed slightly.

He did not expect that Alfred and Anno were so famous. However, Alfred's name is so big he can understand it. After all, he had the feat of crossing a thousand miles and even defeating the noble private army that blocked the way. But Anno's name is also so big, which makes Sean a little unable to. Understood.

"Iron Wing's reputation is much greater than Sir Connery's imagination." Seeing Sean's doubts, the young thief explained, "So who is the one who will take over the position of Commander-in-Chief of Steel Wing? The aristocratic circle of the Darbion Kingdom must be carefully studied and understood."

"That's it." Sean nodded. He didn't expect that Anno would have grown to this level without knowing it, "So can you solve this problem?"

"Of course." The young thief said, "Although my personal strength is not worth mentioning, but I am best at three aspects, otherwise the rupee would not recommend me to you, would it?"

"Which three aspects?" Xiao En smiled, "I am really interested to know."

"Poisons, traps and... camouflage."

Sure enough, good at disguising!

Sean looked clear, but since the other party is good at disguising, why not disguise himself well?

"My lord, you should know that people like us in this business must not be too conspicuous, otherwise they might die unclearly." When the young thief saw the look in Sean's eyes, it seemed that I already knew what Sean was thinking, so it was natural to explain, "So I am actually very proud of my true appearance, because then no one will notice me, and I can do it when I need it. Disguise and change at any time."

"Indeed." Sean nodded, "Then since you already know our identity, but we still don't know your identity..."

"Oh My God....."

Hearing this, Sean raised his brows slightly, thinking of what the young thief had said to the waitress and the attitude and tone of his speech at the time, the corners of Xiao En's mouth suddenly raised slightly.

"...It's really rude." The young thief clearly saw the chuckle that Shaun showed. He was slightly confused in his heart, but he didn't think too much. The deacon cadre of the Tin Chiyin ward of the branch, Eli Kate Galanold...and Ruby's adoptive father are old acquaintances."

"Avery Kate Galanold!?" Alfred asked in surprise, "Avery Kate of Eternal Night?"

"It's really a great honor that the ill-fated nickname can be remembered by the lion lion." Eli Kate saluted Alfred with a humble face, but his expression didn't look like it at all. It is humility, but there is a kind of pride and pride that is very well hidden.

It's just that Eli Kate didn't know that when he signed up for himself, all his data had been completely mastered by Sean.

Originally, Sean thought that he should be the type of person with hidden strength. After all, it is not easy to be a deacon cadre of the Thieves Guild. But what Sean hadn't expected at all was that the guy in front of him was actually a genuine lower-ranking bronze—that is, a little better than the daredevils who were going to roam on the continental stage of this world, and this guy was agile. In addition to the relatively high value and wisdom value, the other three data actually fall short of the lower bronze standards!

What kind of weird thing this is!

Also, Eli Kate of Evernight, this nickname Sean has never been heard in the game!

Chapter 199: . Eli Kate's Plan

"Avery Kate of Eternal Night?"

Sean looked at the young thief in front of him. He would never seem to be more than twenty-five years old, but maybe because of his lack of godless eyes, it seemed to be older than his actual age, but Sean knew very well. The person in front of him is definitely about the same age as himself. But since even Alfred knew this title, it proved that the young thief in front of him probably deserved another name seven or eight years ago.

How difficult it is to obtain another name, there is no need for any explanation. What's more, nicknames also have many distinctions, such as spreading only in a city, or spreading in a region, or spreading to reach the height of the country, organization, etc., are essentially different.

Alfred has obviously never left the Kingdom of Puerto Rico. I am afraid that he has not even walked the entire Kingdom of Puerto Rico. However, he knows Ali Kate's nickname, so this proves that this nickname is not in the entire kingdom. It is spread on the mainland, and it must be famous in the entire thieves guild. Otherwise, in Alfred's case, it would never be possible to know this nickname.

"I am a thief, and the best place for a thief to play is at night." Eli Kate explained with a smile, "The so-called eternal night, in fact, means always night.... My nickname means me I am very good at creating a favorable environment for myself."

"So that's it." Although Eli Kate explained it easily, but Sean absolutely believed that the young thief in front of him was by no means simple.

This kind of thing will be known after a little thought.

Now in Sean's domain, only Alfred's name is spread throughout the nobility circle of the Darbion Kingdom, while the other Sean and William who are also on the blacklist of the nobility circle of the Darbion Kingdom do not have the name Alfred. Aliases, this can be imagined how difficult it is to obtain aliases. And although Clover and Rina are nicknamed the butcher and the goddess of war respectively in the Wildlands, they are also regionally restricted. As long as they leave the Wildlands, or as long as they leave the Great Rift Valley, they probably won't. People know these two names, maybe they don't even know what Clover and Rena look like.

Those who can really get a name or another name that is enough to resound on the mainland will never be ordinary people, they must have an extraordinary side. In other words, it belongs to the titles of absolute authority on the list-such as ten generals, Valkyrie, etc.

"If there is a chance, I will show you the origin of my name." Avery Kate greeted Sean with a smile, "But now, let's talk about the specific content of the commission you want me to help this time. "

"Is it suitable in such a private room?" Sean asked.

"Of course." Ali Kate said, "In terms of confidentiality, you can rest assured that this is absolutely safe.... Although there are many private rooms in the tavern, under normal circumstances, they will not be arranged in nearby locations, like If we are staying in this room, if there is a second group of people requesting to stay in the private room, then they will be taken to the private room at the end of the right, followed by the second positive number of the corridor on the left, and so on."

The secret method of the original private room is to adopt the method of long-distance separation.

This technique is indeed the only choice for the pub of Binks' Fine Wine. Moreover, although the tavern has prepared a total of 20 private rooms, it is never possible that there will be people in the 20 private rooms. There will always be some people who will leave soon after the negotiation is completed, so that the room will be vacated. And Xiao En has also discovered before that the interval between the private room and the private room is actually pretty good. If you are not standing right at the door of the room, you will generally not be eavesdropped on.

Just then, the door of the room was knocked.

Immediately after that, the voice of the previous waitress sounded outside the door:
"Gentlemen, your order has been delivered. I will leave the dining car at the door and please collect it yourself."

"Finally I have something to eat."

Ali Kate hurriedly got up, then opened the door, and pulled in the three dining carts outside. Then he quickly picked up a food similar to fried pork steak and began to feast on it. Seeing Eli Kate's so informal approach, Anno and Alfred looked at each other, but Anno still swallowed fiercely, as if she couldn't bear the temptation of this kind of food.

After Sean's nod, Anno immediately picked up a steak and gobbled it up at a speed that was not inferior to Eli Kate.

Seeing Eli Kate concentrating on the food in front of him at this moment, the conversation is not easy to continue for a while, and it is already near noon. After all, Luomingen City is a big city that can accommodate 300,000 people. Afterwards, walking closer to the city center is definitely not a journey that can be completed within an hour-so everyone also started to eat.

I have to say that the food in Binks's Wine Tavern is really good, especially when you are hungry, these delicacies are naturally more delicious to enjoy. What made everyone a little bit regretful was that there was no good food but no wine. This is really a lack of food, but after hearing the phrase "don't drink during working hours" by Eli Kate, everyone had to Give up this idea and return to work negotiation.

"In fact, this time we are here to steal a territory contract document that is currently kept in Hastings Manor." Sean said.

"Is it the contract document about Pandaling?"

"Yes." Sean nodded, "That's why I asked Rupi to help me contact someone who is good at theft. And when Rupi heard my request, he recommended you to us and said it was this You can do the job..."

"Indeed." Alikai nodded, "If only stealing this territory contract document, then it is indeed most appropriate for me to execute it."

"Mr. Eli Kate..."

"You can call me Avery, Sir." Avery Kate said.

"Okay." Sean nodded. He also felt that shouting two words is easier than shouting four words. Although calling a nickname in this era is a kind of close relationship with each other, it is not for people like Sean from the earth. There are not so many rules, "Mr. Avery, it's not that I doubt your strength, but...According to your introduction, you don't seem to be good at combat skills, and you are good at three aspects. It is poison, trap, and disguise. In this task of stealing confidential documents, apart from disguising this speciality, your other two specialties seem to be ineffective."

"For normal thieves' guild members, if you want to perform this type of task, it is more appropriate to choose someone who is good at sneaking." Eli Kate nodded in understanding, "But your Excellency, I hope you don't forget, My nickname is "Yong Ye", and I have explained its specific meaning to you before."

"You mean, even if you are stealing this confidential document, you can still do it easily?" Sean asked with some confusion.

"Yes." Elickett said, "I am very good at creating situations that are beneficial to me, and although my best at poisons, traps and disguise, it does not mean that I don't even understand the most basic stealth. In fact. The first skill that any member of the Thieves Guild must master is stealth. This is already an instinctive behavior and habit, and it is not a specialty at all."

"Please forgive me for being rude." Sean apologized to Eli Kate.

In this regard, he can really only rely on the young thief in front of him, and the other party is also a deacon cadre. At this moment, he knows the purpose of Sean's coming here, so this also means that Sean doesn't have much. There is room for choice. In any case, he must cooperate with the person in front of him. Under such circumstances, if he can maintain a more friendly atmosphere, Sean is of course very happy, and he is not as arrogant as the nobles in this world, he thinks of himself in everything. That's right.

Apologizing, for Sean, it is not particularly difficult.

It is obvious that a jazz-even if a jazz does not belong to the aristocratic class, but at least can be regarded as the ranks of quasi-nobles, so an apology from a jazz makes it easier for the young thief to flicker.

"It's not your fault." Elli Kate started to defend Sean instead. "For many people, in their opinion, I am really not suitable for this action. But in fact, most people are not responsible for this action. It ignores that poisons can actually be non-lethal, as long as they are used properly, then even if they can't sneak, they can swagger into Hastings Manor."

Sean raised his brows slightly, and he quickly noticed the key meaning of this sentence: "You mean, you can bring us into Hastings Manor?"

"Yes." Avery Kate replied, "In fact, this is the first action plan that I consider after I understand your purpose here.... I am good at disguising, which also includes forgery. With appropriate changes, I can forge a pedigree of the nobility of the Kingdom of Darbion. Although it will be revealed if you carefully trace it, this is something that I need to worry about only after a few months, at least when this is the case. After the genealogy is forged, your deeds in Lomingen or the entire Tin Chiyin will become much easier, especially...you can enter the noble salon area of the tavern."

"It seems that the focus of your mission this time is to put it in the noble salon area?"

"Yes." Eli Kate laughed, "Hasting Manor will host a banquet after a while, and the invitations include the entire Tinchin's nobles and wealthy businessmen, and invitations have been sent out in the past few days.... ...So first of all, we need to have the identity of a nobleman. Of course, a foreign nobleman is not enough to make the local nobles pay attention to it, but it is enough to make those wealthy businessmen value your identity, and then we only need to get from these wealthy businessmen. Post, then I can immediately copy an invitation and add it with a proper hallucinogen, then you can enter Hasting Manor in an open and honest manner."

Eli Kate's plan has certain risks, but its feasibility is undoubtedly very high, and even if there is any omission, it can be easily solved with the strength of Sean and others. And as long as the alarm of Hastings Manor is not issued, then even if Sean and the others turn over the entire Hastings Manor, I am afraid that no one else will interfere. Maybe Domingo Hastings cultivated it. That aristocratic private army didn't even know that it was waiting for someone to arrive.

"Of course, it is not difficult to implement this plan. There is only one real problem." Eli Kate said.

But before this young thief who now finally knows why his intelligence attribute is so high, Xiao En has already said, "Where will the contract document be stored."

"Yes." Avery Kay nodded, "So, there are two things we need to do before we get the noble status and the invitation."

Chapter 200: The Truth About Binks Tavern

Binks' wine is one of the most famous taverns and hotels in Lomingen, and naturally it also has first-class luxury rooms. However, Sean and others chose to live in only relatively clean ordinary rooms. They did not choose these luxurious rooms-not because they couldn't pay the rent, but because it was easy to attract other people's attention. The principles of Sean and others are seriously inconsistent.

Sean's room is a room with good lighting. Compared with other ordinary rooms, this room has one more window.

Outside the window on the right is the view of Shuke Street; and out the window on the left is the view of Seventh Avenue.

This room happens to be the oblique corner of the intersection of the two streets of the pub.

Original rooms like this are generally treated as utility rooms or public bathrooms in hotels. But Binks' Fine Wine does not seem to do this. Instead, this corner room, which is smaller than the other rooms, has been changed into a dormitory through careful layout, and because of the lighting and layout, this room Obviously a smaller single room charges the same as other rooms on the second floor.

But even so, this room is the most booked room.

After all, you only need to pay the price of an ordinary lodging room to experience the feeling of a luxury room on the third floor, which is very cost-effective for many people. The only pity that makes people feel that this is only a single room, and the bed in the general dormitory is a standard double bed, but because the mattress in the room is very comfortable, it is naturally not qualified to force anything.

Of course, this room has naturally become Sean's room.

Because the layout of the room is small, the place where Sean and others gather at the moment is not in his room, but in Alfred's room.

After Ali Kate's disguise, Alfred doesn't look like a middle-aged man now, he looks much younger than before, but a person's temperament and eyes cannot be changed. So Alfred's body still exudes that sharp-like aura, but because of his armor, it feels more like a young family knight who is responsible for protecting the safety of the traveling young master.

Anno's situation is similar to that of Alfred. If you just look at it from the appearance, it is easy to think that the two people should be related by blood. After all, apart from the different temperaments and eyes, the hair color of the two is different. It has a very high degree of similarity to body shape and appearance. But since Eli Kate can disguise Alfred as a young family knight, it is naturally not difficult to disguise Anno as Alfred's brother.

Two family knights in the silver realm, this is also in line with the aristocratic status that Elli Kate formulated for Sean.

A dilapidated nobleman who lost his territory due to the decline of the family, but only retained the title of nobility and tried to rejuvenate the family.

The title is Viscount.

But in front of this noble title, we must add a word, honor.

This means that although this aristocratic title has been recognized and recognized by the Kingdom of Dabion, it can indeed be regarded as a member of the aristocratic system, but compared to the orthodox aristocracy, Sean's aristocratic title is composed of civilians, merchants, etc. The class status is promoted by doing things that are of greater significance to the kingdom. The simple understanding is that a lifelong nobleman who has no territory but only a title and cannot pass this noble title to the next generation, but if he is lucky or has enough wealth, he wants to obtain a territory and even turns lifelong into hereditary. It is also not impossible.

Like Rudd Mitchlin's family, that's it.

After three generations of investment and paving, his family finally made Rudd's father a baron. Then, in order to make his family prosper, the old baron spent his entire life fighting to become a nobleman on the ground. It was not until Rudd was nine years old that he finally became a nobleman on the ground. His son continued to work hard to provide a better platform, but it wasn't until the moment his territory was lost that he finally became a viscount because of his military exploits, but the old baron has never recovered after losing his survival.

Fortunately, Rudd finally reconciled with his father and chose to inherit the title of Viscount. And just when Rudd was about to fight from scratch again, Asuna also returned all the territories of the Darbion Kingdom, so Rudd could become a noble on the ground.

But now, Rudd Mitchlin is already a traitor to the Kingdom of Darbion. And Rudd himself became the lord of the Void City and the acting administrator of Pandaling. In the absence of Sean and Neil, he had all the administrative powers of Sean's entire realm. It was Sean. The well-known second-in-chief of internal affairs in the territory, in terms of status and identity, is a person who can be equal to Alfred and Rena.

But in any case, the title of honorary aristocracy may not be valued by the Hastings family, but it will definitely make the wealthy businessmen in Luomingen pay attention to it, especially such a young viscount with two silvers beside him. Family knights of the realm, all this is worth the investment of these merchants.

In addition, Rina's identity has naturally been properly disguised. She is now playing an unknown knight who has gone out for experience, meaning that she is not a knight belonging to the family. Because I had repelled the robbers together on the road, I temporarily traveled with Sean and others. At present, Sean is trying his best to win over. The relationship with Sean is a friend-this is also a safety plug.

After all, the gold-level powerhouses are already among the powerhouses in this world, and no matter which family they are in, there is definitely not too much powerhouse. Therefore, based on the level of friendship between Sean and Rena, there is a high possibility that the Hastings family will be included in the line of sight. If there is no way to communicate with Rena privately, if the Hastings family wants to If you recruit Rina, you must detour Sean's route, so the final result must be in contact with Sean anyway.

And Xuefanio did not have the slightest pretense. This was a priest with a knife who went out to preach by the way.

Of course, his identity has naturally become a priest with a knife in the Ice Church—anyway, with Dini's previous narration and Sean's supplement, Xuefanio is naturally not too unfamiliar with the Ice Church. At a time when the Snow and Winter Church is not fully known in the secular world, anyone's impression of a priest with a sword is naturally limited to the Ice Church.

But in this way, Xuefanio naturally can't walk with Sean and others on the front, she can only serve as a hole card that Sean hides in her hand.

At this time, in Alfred's room, Sean sat on a chair and said in a deep voice, "This pub is not as simple as it seems."

"Indeed." Alfred nodded, "As a tavern, but the influence seems a little unusual, this is indeed a noteworthy thing.... Besides, the breath of Binks IV is very unusual. Ordinary."

"Did you feel it too?" Rina was a little surprised, "He has something special on his body that can hide his breath, so he can hide his original breath. I guess that this man named Binks IV is definitely a golden man. Strong in the environment."

"If he were not a strong in the golden realm, I would be surprised." Xiao En smiled, "knowing that he is a strong in the golden realm, I feel more relieved."

"Why?" This time, even Anno was surprised.

"Didn't you find that even those waitresses are very clever?" Sean said again, "They have very light footsteps, they walk quickly without making any sound, and their movements are also very fast. , Remember the scene we saw when we went to the private room before?... There was a drunk man on the left who almost knocked over a wine glass, but was caught by a waitress who was delivering food next to him. "

Hearing Sean say this, everyone thought about it. There was indeed such a scene. At that time, the other waitresses who saw the situation also laughed, but the waitress who picked up the glass was embarrassed.

"Now when I think about it, I suddenly realize that the reason why other waitresses laughed is not because of fun or other reasons, but because the waitress spilled a lot of wine when she caught the glass."

"This..." Rena and Alfred had already reacted, with surprised expressions on their faces.

"Remember what Eli Kate said to us?" Sean continued, "In the private room, he said, 'The first skill that any member of the Thieves Guild must master is stealth. This is already A kind of behavior and habit similar to instinct, it can't be regarded as a speciality at all. 'So, right?... Now I think of the walking habits and movement reflection speed of those waitresses, as well as the mantra of "Oh, oh,". I have every reason to believe that this tavern is the branch of the Thieves Guild set up in Tinkiin, which is the central system of the entire Tinkiin Ward."

"Such an analysis..." Anno said thoughtfully, "Then we gave away the money for meals?"

Alfred and Rena looked at Anno with helpless faces. This guy can only show extremely amazing abilities when it comes to eating.

"Then what shall we do now?" Alfred asked.

"Proceed as planned." Sean said calmly, "Since he was recommended by Rupiah, then we should trust our companions."

"If this is the case, when do we start?"

According to Sean's previous communication with Eli Kate, it is currently confirmed that the two things that must be done are obtaining the architectural blueprint of Hastings Manor and choosing an aristocratic target to choose to approach. These two things must be solved by Sean himself. In fact, it is not difficult to steal the architectural blueprints of Hastings Manor. Of course, the people from the Thieves Guild can help solve them, but in this way, the risk to be taken will be great. That's why Sean decided to let Avery Kate provide the information, and they did it themselves.

As for the second thing, compared to stealing the architectural blueprint of Hastings Manor, there is no difficulty at all.
