

Lord of War Vol 2-291

Chapter 291: . I am willing to surrender

Faced with William's straightforward words of persuading to surrender, Thain sneered: "Do you think it's possible?"

"Why is it impossible?" William asked back, "The Hastings family is destroyed, are you going to be buried with me?"

Hearing what William said, Thain was taken aback for a moment, and then he felt a burst of yin cold all over his body. At this moment, he even felt cold in his hands and feet. At this time, he remembered. William said to him just now that Luo Mingen and Hastings Manor have fallen. In other words, they have been completely occupied by Alfred and the Thunder Lion. In this way, the whole The members of the Hastings family must have all become prisoners.

Thinking of this, Thain had forced himself to calm down. He raised his head to look at William, and then said: "What are you going to do with the Hastings family?"

"That's what Lord Lord needs to consider." William glanced at Thain. He found that Thain's * se was a bit strange, but he didn't take it too seriously. "My duty is to wipe out everything for Lord Lord to stop him from moving forward. It's just an army."

William's words are very clever, but this is indeed true, because his personal combat power is completely zero, and the only value is in war. However, in the current situation, it has nothing to do with the Hastings family, but once the scale of the war rises to the level of a national war, he must be cautious, because at that time it was not a small fish like him. , But the real Jing Rui troops, and even the strong in the sanctuary will definitely participate in the war.

As an excellent commander, if the two armies confront each other with a sanctuary strong, but oneself does not have the means to restrain the sanctuary strong, then only one decapitation tactic is enough to completely destroy an army.

However, all countries on the mainland have fought for so many years, and all commanders have long been experienced. Now this tactic is almost impossible to succeed. Especially facing the front-line troops of those countries. As for the second-line and third-line troops, how could anyone spend their energy to implement decapitation tactics? Now the reason why those generals who have commanding ability and command ability are extremely high-end are equipped with high-end combat power guards, more just a kind of insurance and the ability to protect them from breaking out when necessary.

After all, for all countries, an army can be reorganized if it is disabled, even if it is lost, there will be another army.

But this outstanding general, but one less death, especially those who can enter the mainland's outstanding general rankings, are extremely valuable talents.

Tonight, if it weren't for Thain's desperate move to send the soldiers of the five hundred Jing Guards, and when facing Shawn, he would let the golden powerhouse take action. Being killed by Sean in turn, then as long as he breaks through with Thain under the cover of other people, there is no problem at all. After all, in that situation, even if Sean wanted to intercept, he couldn't do it at all, even if there were Anno, Rena and others on the periphery who were responsible for the containment. But the chance of catching the opponent alive is still very low.

It is for these reasons that William is particularly optimistic about Thain.

Although he has now nurtured Rena, Stalin, Aldolf, Knock, Anno and others. But the combined value of all these people is not as high as Thain alone. After all, these people are considered as monks halfway through. He still lacks a lot of experience in actual combat. At present, a force capable of commanding a thousand people is pretty good-Anno is an exception, mainly because the steel wings are all made up of northern barbarians.

But Thain is different. Although he was easily defeated by William, he at least forced William to change his plan once. In William's eyes, Thain is already a general who can truly stand on his own. If he is willing to work. Even if he was only given two thousand troops, William believed that he would be able to hold the Chiraf collar well. By then, Aldolf, Stalin, and Knok would immediately be liberated from the quagmire of Chiraf collar. There are more chess pieces that William can use when making strategic layouts. The tactical changes are even greater.

This is the reason why William really likes Thain.

It's just that Thain doesn't seem to appreciate him very much. Although he has recovered his calmness, he has no intention of letting go: "I must know how you will deal with the Hastings family before I will consider whether to join you."

William's brows frowned slightly, and he began to feel that things seemed a little bit wrong. However, he only pondered for a moment, but didn't say anything, instead he asked people to invite Sean over.

Soon, Sean and Cecilia came to the tent.

"What's the matter?" Sean glanced at Thain. At this moment, Thain's face was very calm, and there was not much fluctuation. The eyes looking at him were also very peaceful, but Sean saw the emission from Thain's body. There was a faint reddish brilliance.

This means that Thain is suspicious of himself and has some hostility.

There was doubt that he could understand. After all, he had just defeated him and caught him alive. At this time, he was persuaded to surrender, and he was also clarified that it was possible to reuse it. If he did not doubt, Sean would even doubt his ability. But this bit of hostility, Xiao En somewhat did not understand, because in Xiao En's view, this was just a clerk hired by the Hastings family. Although he had been hidden very deeply before, he did not expect him to have such a commanding talent. , But as long as the Hastings family is eliminated, then he is also the ziyou body. At this time, he reuses him instead of killing him, he should not refuse.

But why would you still be hostile to yourself?

Shaun didn't think that this guy was so grateful to the Hastings family that he had to die.

But despite thinking this way, Sean opened the real eye and glanced at it.

But he didn't expect it, but with this glance, his heart turned up against the stormy sea.

Because Thain's name in the real eye has become Thain Hastings instead of Thain Holm when he introduced himself before!

At this moment, Sean had already understood that this Thain was definitely Domingo's illegitimate child, and Domingo respected and trusted him very much. In this way, it makes sense why Thain's multiple crossing actions did not arouse Domingo's anger when he was in Void City, but instead calmed him down faster, and even completely obeyed Thain's strategy. Give the last force of the territory to Thain.

"He said that he must know how you plan to deal with the Hastings family before considering whether to apply for us." William didn't say much. Directly convey the meaning of Thain's words to Sean.

Hearing this, Sean already knew what Thain's thoughts were. He sneered in his heart, but pretended to ask nonchalantly: "If the Hastings family is willing to surrender, then of course I will handle it in accordance with the rules of the nobility. However, Ting Qi didn't plan to return it because I received it. I think you and I should be aware of this, but I don't know what Hasting Manor is like at the moment, so even if you ask me, I can't answer. you."

Speaking of this, Sean glanced at William. The meaning is obviously to ask William to talk about Lomingen and Hastings Manor.

However, Sean noticed that when he said that it was impossible to return the Ting Qi's collar, the light on Thayen's body immediately began to deepen towards the red se, which means that his hostility and hatred towards him is obviously increasing. At this time, Xiao En really understood what a great benefit the True Eye was after being promoted to Tier 3. If he hadn't been able to see other people's attitudes towards him now, I am afraid that he would be swallowed with no bones left in his dealings with these guys who are good at yin plots.

Before he dared to send the territory to Florence. He even decided to become a true ally with Florence. It is because the light on Florence has always been green, and his followers are also very friendly to themselves because of the attitude of Florence. Otherwise, how dare Sean borrow Pepe and Nana from Florence, and still stay with him like a confidant.

"We did not encounter any resistance in taking down Luo Mingen, on the contrary, we encountered some resistance when taking down Hastings Manor..."

at this time. Sean had discovered Thain's secret, so most of his attention was focused on him, so he immediately found that he was shaking slightly when he heard William's words. I just don't know if it is because of nervousness or worry, or other factors.

"...Although the resistance was relatively strong, it was suppressed by Fred." William didn't notice Thain's small movements, and said to himself, "All the servants in the manor have been dispelled, members of the Hastings family. In addition to the dozens of people who were killed and fled during the resistance, a total of 17 people were captured alive, including their families."

Thain knows how many family members are in the Hastings Manor. How can the Hastings family be an earl family that has been passed down for several generations? According to William, there are at least more than 20 seas. The members of the Sting family were killed in the resistance, and those Thain who were caught alive did not need to think about and know that they must be the family members' female relatives. In this way, it can be said that the entire Hastings family was completely destroyed.

But at this moment, Thain is no longer in the mood to consider the problems of his tribe. The only question he cares about is one: "Then...How about Lord Domingo?"

"You can't tell that you are quite loyal." Xiao En sneered inwardly, and he had been able to prove that his guess was correct.

Seeing Sean's face se, Thain pursed his mouth and did not respond. How could he not hear the ironic meaning of Sean's words, but he didn't want to answer it.

"Domingo is dead." William said calmly, "When Fred broke into his room, he was already dead."

There are some things that don't need to be said too clearly.

His own territory was invaded, and tens of thousands of troops were completely destroyed, and even the manor where the family was located could not be kept. With Domingo's pride, he would definitely feel ashamed of the whole family, so he could not breathe and be suffocated alive. xing is too big.

After hearing the news from William himself, Thain's face suddenly turned white, and he did not speak for a long time.

And William and Sean did not speak either. It was a long time before Thain's face recovered a little blood, and then he said: "I am willing to surrender."

Chapter 292: . Cruel and cruel [second more]

Thain's surrender seemed to be expected, and the next series of arrangements were very smooth and not abrupt at all.

At this moment, Thain knew that his surrender seemed to have been what the other party had expected, otherwise it would be impossible for him to almost agree to surrender, and the other party had already implemented all relevant duties and identity. But through these arrangements, Thain also knew that neither William nor Sean would let him have any contact with other members of the Hastings family anymore. His only concern now is that the person who knows his true identity is still alive. , And will give his identity to Sean.

In fact, because the situation was so urgent, only a few people knew their true identities.

There are no more than ten people even including Taylor.

Laubert, who was sent by his father to protect him, was one of them, but Laubert was dead, he didn't need to worry, the only thing to worry about was the few people left. But he also knew that after a war between nobles like this, the nobles who survived were absolutely impossible to be killed, otherwise, once the words were spread, they would face crusades from all the nobles on the entire continent.

Of course, if you die on the battlefield, it's another matter.

But that being said, as long as this method of execution of the nobles is hidden from others, there will be no problem. Anyway, for the nobles, all they need is a fig leaf. As long as the fig leaf is covered, other nobles won't say anything at all, even if they knew that these people were killed after surrendering. Say one more sentence.

Therefore, after Thain surrendered, he sent Sean the first statement.

"Lord Lord, since you have decided to occupy Tin Chiin, none of the members of the Hastings family who have surrendered can stay." Thain seems to have fully adapted to his new identity, and he has nothing in the tent. He was restrained, but with a calm face, as if he had been Sean's most loyal subordinate from the beginning.

Hearing such * and cruel words from Thain, Sean raised his brows slightly.

Without waiting for William and Sean to ask why, Thain had already started to explain: "Although the Hastings family is only an earl family, they have stood firmly by the Nucus family from the beginning, even if they try The Gus family had three low-chao periods in Darbion's history, and even once they were slashed, but the Hastings family still has not changed their position. And this time, Darbion's southern aristocratic circle is very clear. The reason why the Hastings family directed the Lord Lord this time is entirely the instruction of the Nugus family. Therefore, whether it is public or private, this time the Hastings family has suffered such a major destruction, the Nugus family will definitely help."

"As a result, although the strength of the Hastings family is impaired, as long as there is one breath to retain, they are still an earl family. And the revenge of the Hastings family is extremely strong. After such a big loss, they will definitely try to get it back, but they will never use war methods anymore, and even the Nugus family will be wary." Thain did not intend to stop, he He continued to analyze and said, "I know Lord Lord, you intend to gradually encroach on Darbion's territory, but after the Hastings have suffered this big loss, you will never be able to take advantage of it anymore. So if Lord Lord, you If you intend to continue to find excuses to encroach on the territory of Darbion, then no matter what you consider, you must cut the roots."

Although Sean and William did not tell Thain their plans, from the past provocative excuses and the situation of blocking the fissure valley, Thain can still guess some of Sean's plans. But he didn't know that Sean's real purpose was to cause war between the two countries. He thought that Sean was just trying to expand his territory by gradually encroaching on the border territory of Darbion.

Encroaching on territory and instigating war are completely two concepts, so the outcome of the matter must be different.

But some of Sean's thoughts can be inferred from only some clues, and Thain is indeed not simple.

"So your opinion is to kill all those who have surrendered?" Sean looked at Thain and asked.

"Yes." Thain nodded, "If you don't deal with things cleanly, then they will definitely continue to quarrel, and there has never been a precedent for wars between nobles to occupy other people's territory. If it is not completely resolved As for the Hastings family, once the influence of the Nugus family is brought into full play in Darbion, Lord Lord, you will eventually return the Tinky Inner."

On this point, Thain was right.

Because no matter which country, even if there is a dispute between the nobles of the empire and the nobles of the kingdom, it is impossible to occupy the territory of the kingdom. In the end, the problem will naturally be solved by compensation. Otherwise, once the Peace Association intervenes, the problem will become more troublesome and complicated, and even the invading party may not be able to reap any benefits, and instead will have to compensate the losing party for the losses.

In the history of the miracle continent, this kind of thing has not happened rarely.

It's just that Thain doesn't know. Shawn has long reached an agreement with Christina, the white-robed executive officer of the Peace Association, and now the Peace Association has gone to the trouble of Deadthorn. Not to mention the occupation of the two territories of Tinkiin and Yadby, even if Sean swallowed the entire Darbion, the Peace Association would not be involved in this matter.

Of course, it is impossible for Thain to know these things.

So his analysis is based on the information he currently knows. Both William and Sean are very good at judging the sincerity and accuracy of a person's words through the motion capture of tone and demeanor. At this moment, both Sean and William can be sure that what Thain said about Nu The shot of the Gus family and the strong revenge of the Hastings family are not joking.

But he doesn't care about these Sean. What he really cares about is that Nugus is likely to put up with this tone and ignore his provocation, so he really can't start a war between the two countries. Is he going to offend a ducal family again and cultivate a new enemy and opponent?

Shaun isn't that painful yet.

"Even if these people are killed, what about those who escaped?" Sean looked at Thain and asked in a deep voice.

"If you can believe me, my lord, then please give me five hundred people. I guarantee that these people will not escape the Tingqiin collar alone." Thain's voice is very calm, but the killing intent in the words has not diminished at all, even It's even more fierce than what Shaun saw on the battlefield. "I followed Master Domingo for a long time, which is his confidant, so I know the real hiding place of the Hastings family, where the Hastings family is stored. The large amount of resources is to prevent the Hastings family from being defeated one day and they can make a comeback."

The corners of Sean's mouth raised slightly, and a hint of joy flashed in his eyes: "You mean there are a lot of strategic resources?"

"I'm not sure if it is a strategic resource, but the contents must be worth more than one million." Thain replied very seriously.

Darbian Kingdom has its own currency system, so the currency they use is not pan-continental gold coins, so the prices are actually cheaper. But even if it is cheaper, the gold content is eight cents, so if Thain didn't deceive him, it would be more than 800,000 if he was over one million. However, both Sean and William knew that this account must not be calculated in this way, because as long as this resource is not currency, then the actual value is definitely more than one million even in the Principality of Lane.

"If the adults don't believe me, you can send someone with me." Thain continued to add.

"No." William made a decision on the spot, "I will give you a thousand people!...How long will it take you to solve this?"

"Guaranteed to complete the task within half a month!" After a little thought, Thain replied in a deep voice.

"Okay." William nodded, did not say anything, but signaled that Thain could leave.

Sean nodded slightly, then stopped staying, turned around and left the tent. Naturally, a quartermaster next to him led the way to serve him. William said that he would give him a thousand people. The only thing that can be selected based on the current situation is the soldiers of the Iron Wings unit. Even so, it is very likely that Thain will find out the combat effectiveness and overall structure of this unit. William and Sean didn't care about this.

"Really a cruel person." After Thain had gone away, William sneered with a face that was so handsome enough to make a woman jealous. "Even his own people didn't let it go, it's a pity. , Cleverness is wronged by cleverness."

"I'm sure, you definitely didn't know it the first time." Xiao En smiled, and then said, "When did you find it?"

"When he asked Domingo just now." William's face was also a little yin, he was obviously dissatisfied with the fact that he was almost deceived by Thain, "If he didn't have that moment of sorrow after asking, I There is really no way to find out." At this point, William's face suddenly changed, and he looked at Sean in a little surprise: "You knew he was Domingo's illegitimate child from the moment you entered?"

"No." Of course, it is impossible for Sean to say yes. After all, the first contact was William, and he didn't know the conversation between them at the beginning. , And then I think of his performance in the Void City before, I just found out... But I didn't expect that this guy would be quite forbearing, and in order to keep the secret of being Domingo's son, he was actually cruel This level even gave us a big gift."

"I like such a person. He not only has ambitions, but also has the motivation to move forward. This is a good thing for our territory development.... Of course, it is also a double-edged sword. If the time is right, he will definitely play. Black hand." William smiled, then turned to look at Sean, "What are your plans?"

"Since you like it, then I won't intervene in this matter." Sean shrugged indifferently, "Anyway, such a person will not be threatened in a short time, and I believe you can manage it."

"Hehe." William smiled, a bright red appeared on his face, "From this moment on, he needs to continue to prove that he is worth living."

Chapter 293: .Andrew shot [third more]

Tin Qiin's final battle ended too fast, almost to an even weird degree.

From the beginning of Sean's army invading Yederby, to the final defeat of all the troops of Tinkiin, and the fall of Lomingen and Hastings Manor, the whole process did not even last for a month. However, just after this final battle was over, and the news of Tin Qi's complete fall had not spread, another battle had quietly begun.

On a high ground one kilometer east of the area where Thain's army was resting before, a middle-aged man was standing here.

Not long ago, he had just witnessed the entire confrontation between the encirclement net tactics and the ring encirclement net tactics. At the same time, he also witnessed the sword that Shaun wields the Requiem, which is enough to make the whole world stagnate. , Even if it was thousands of meters away, he could still feel it clearly. Of course, afterwards, Anno and Rina led the Steel Wings and Panda led the First Cavalry Regiment into the battlefield, as well as the appearance of Florence and others, but they could not escape his eyes.

At this moment, more than an hour has passed since the battle, and even Florence has cleaned the battlefield and evacuated this area. Not to mention that at this moment, Thain has accepted William's appointment and selected a thousand soldiers of the northern barbarian to besiege and kill his own people.

However, the middle-aged man still did not leave this cliff height.

He leaped slightly, fell from a huge rock, and said thoughtfully: "This lord is not easy. No wonder he dared to provoke the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce alliances in the wild, and even planned to rift the Gorge. According to their own. The idiots of the Nugus family actually did so badly in intelligence work. Not only did they fail to figure out his trump card and strength, they asked the Hastings family to trouble him, and they deserved the Hastings family meeting. destruction."

Tianse has begun to whiten, and it seems that the moon, which has been hiding from its head because of the tragic fight last night, finally has a chance to breathe, and hurriedly cede the dominance of this sky to another.

Darkness, began to be gradually expelled.

When a ray of sunlight shone on this high ground, the middle-aged man who had been in the dark before finally revealed his true body.

This person is truly the Turman of the Millennium Covenant Empire!

Turman Yerov!

At this time, his gaze fell on the scorched black on the battlefield a kilometer away.

Obviously, the distance is more than kilometers away, but he still sees very clearly, even the scorched cracks on the ground can be seen clearly.

"Flying Flame Feather is just a sixth-level fire magic. Even if it is more powerful than a bursting flame bomb, it is impossible to have such a momentum." Turman's eyes gradually became sharper, and there was a saying no in his eyes. The meaning of Qing Dao is unknown. He witnessed how the soldier was put on the body by the Feather of Flying Flame, and then burned to charcoal in an instant, without even leaving a single limb, "It seems that this plug Celia should be the awakener of the Phoenix blood."

Speaking of this, Turman finally showed a trace of excitement on his face: "It seems that my decision is indeed correct."

Turman's head turned slightly to the other direction. He knew that Sean and others had evacuated in this direction last night, and he even knew that there was a camp there. Because this camp was built by him watching Anno and others, no matter the location or other things, he is almost as familiar as participating in person, and starting from here to that camp, he only needs about half an hour. Time is enough.

Of course, he could not go so recklessly.

He knew that William was in this camp now. Maybe other people didn't know who he was, but this William believed that he could definitely recognize himself. Therefore, even if he wanted to take Cecilia away, he would definitely not rush in in a big way, otherwise it would be meaningless to say something about it.

"Or, kill them all?" Turman's brows frowned slightly, "The lord has very powerful sword skills, although it is only a sword, but if he grows up, I am afraid it will be difficult for me to resist. As for that William did not expect that his military attainments had reached such a high level, even if I accidentally got recruited, it would be difficult to get any benefits."

If anyone from other millennium covenant empires hears Turman, they will be extremely shocked.

Because in the Millennium Covenant Empire, both he and Oscar are known as the new generation of war gods in the empire. They are the most promising people to take over the position of Cass Hantinel and enter the ten generals. In fact, the commanding abilities of both he and Oscar were indeed taught by Cass Hantinel himself. Therefore, all commanders, generals, and staff in the empire were able to obtain the power of these two men. A compliment and pride.

But so far, fewer than ten generals have been praised by these two people, and the most highly regarded sentence among them is still "very good".

It can be said that in the entire millennium covenant empire, there is no one in the march and war that will make Turman feel troublesome, even for the other six empires, except for the ten generals, it is really impossible to talk about the generals that can be regarded by him. many. However, considering that Turman was ranked seventeenth among the outstanding generals of the Marvel Continent seven years ago, and was on the second watershed, his strength can still be affirmed.

Of course, he won't know that William's future ranking happens to be beyond these five watersheds and officially enters the list of ten generals.

"Let them grow up, then the Principality of Lane will definitely break away from the control of the empire, which is not good for the empire." Soon, Turman made a decision, and his frowning brows were also relaxed, and there was a little more in his eyes. Killing the se, "Just treat it as a problem for Darbion by the way. If they really let them continue, Darbion must not be able to get any benefits."

"Roar!"

Suddenly, a low threatening sound suddenly exploded.

The huge black rock that Turman was sitting on actually moved!

First, a pair of black fleshy wings were unfolded, and then a long neck roughly as thick as a wine barrel was suddenly raised. At the front end of the three-meter long neck was a crocodile-like head with many edges and corners. Skull. I saw this head suddenly turned, staring fiercely at a position not far behind Turman. The originally curled tail, which was thicker than the neck, began to swing with a flick, seemingly at any time. Will pat it out in general.

This is a real Yalong!

Black Winged Devil Dragon!

The lowest level of any sub-dragon is a level five monster. If it has evolved once, it is likely to be level six or seven. If the bloodline is also awakened, then even if the level is not improved, the combat effectiveness will definitely be greatly improved. Strengthening and upgrading.

The Black Winged Demon Dragon is a sub-dragon with the blood of a black dragon evolved from the flying dragon.

This black-winged demon dragon is dark throughout, exuding a metal-like luster, and the dragon's aura on the body is very strong. It is obvious that the bloodline power has entered the first stage. This also means that this black winged devil dragon is at least a seven-level beast, which is equivalent to the strength of a high-level golden powerhouse, but the beast is much more powerful than its humans, and it is still a blood-awakened beast, even if it is. The general lower sanctuary is very pleased.

But obviously, this powerful black winged dragon is Turman's pet.

"Since your Excellency is here, why not show up." Turman turned around and said in a low voice.

He didn't expect that the other party had come to him, and he hadn't noticed it at all. If it weren't for his Black Wing Devil Dragon is very sensitive to smell, I'm afraid he would not even notice it until he touched it. When he thought of this, Turman's heart sank, and it was clear that the opponent's strength was definitely not below him.

There was a sudden ripple in the air, as if a stone was thrown on the lake.

It's just that the surface of the lake is flat.

A young man with bright blond hair stepped out of the ripples.

Tulman's pupils shrank suddenly, he could see that this was a very bright space teleportation spell, but he was surprised that there was no magical aura escaped. In other words, the opponent did not approach him at all just now, and the reason why his Black Winged Devil Dragon discovered the opponent was purely because of the smell of this space teleportation spell that was caught by it.

"Who are you!?" Turman's face finally couldn't calm down.

The aura of the opponent is vast, so he can't see the strength of the opponent at all!

"Andrew." The blond young man, Andrew chuckled, then said, "I know what you are doing here, but what I want to tell you is that it is best not to hit her idea, otherwise you will not Ways to go back alive...just like your other companion."

"You killed Diels!" Turman finally showed a trace of anger in his eyes.

It seemed that he felt Turman's anger, and the Black Winged Demon Dragon finally stood up, and also stared at Andrew viciously, as if it would be culled at any time.

"Get down." Andrew glanced at the Black Winged Demon Dragon and drank coldly, "There is no place for you to stand up."

A trace of breath escaped from Andrew's body.

The vertical pupils of the black winged devil dragon showed a terrifying se, and it suddenly patted its wings uncontrollably, with a panic look.

"I said, get down." Andrew repeated again.

"Boom!"

With a loud noise, the Black Winged Devil Dragon immediately got down without thinking about it. At the same time, it hid its head under its wings, and its tail immediately curled up. It looked like it was really no different from a rock. But judging from its trembling appearance, it is obvious that it is still in a state of extreme fear. If it can leave, presumably this black winged monster will fly away without hesitation.

Turman's face turned pale in an instant. With the breath that Andrew exuded just now, he also clearly felt that his teeth had even begun to fight up and down: "You...you are...transformation... .. Dragon....."

Andrew turned his head and smiled slightly: "Next, let's talk about some business affairs."

.....

At the same time, in the main tent of the Millennium Covenant Empire camp 30 miles away from the fortress of St. St. Drones, a young man wearing a black trench coat and bare chest and abdominal muscles was arrogant. He stepped on the face of a middle-aged man and smashed it hard. People around could even hear the cracking sound of bones.

This young man with an arrogant face and serious exhibitionism is undoubtedly Enkos.

The great demon from the abyss, Enkos.

And this middle-aged man who was trampled on the ground by Enkos is one of the two empires of the Millennium Covenant Empire, Valkyrie Oscar, who is as famous as Turman.

"I asked you to back me three million kilometers immediately. Didn't you hear it?" Enkos let out a roar, and with his roar, the magic flames from the abyss continued to float out of him, but it was magical. It did not cause any harm or impact to the surroundings.

"Big...sir, three million kilometers...this, it's impossible..." A military commander looked helpless, "That's even the territory of another country."

"Do you want to * the treasure here with me!" Enkos roared again, and the magic flame burst out, burning the entire tent, but it did not cause any damage to anyone. This control is absolutely let Shocked.

At this moment, the generals in the tent finally saw that the entire camp had been shrouded in a huge enchantment, and the atmosphere of the abyss was constantly permeating, and all the soldiers in their camp were completely at this moment. He fell to the ground feebly, with horror on his face. At this moment, everyone present knew that the demon in front of him was definitely the level of the Great Lord of the Abyss.

"We can only return to the empire." Oscar, who was trampled on the ground, gritted his teeth and finally said, feeling that his head was about to explode. "Three million kilometers is really impossible, Lord Demon... ..If you agree, then we will retreat immediately."

"Humph!" Enkos snorted, and then kicked Oscar directly, "Hurry up to this devil! If I find out that you still dare to sneak over, I will go directly to your empire to open ten The eight gates of the abyss."

Hearing this, everyone's faces immediately became extremely pale.

Don't say ten or eight, even if the gate of an abyss is opened, it is possible that the Millennium Covenant Empire will never recover. But what makes them totally puzzled is why there is a Demon of the Abyss Lord level in this material world. You must know that the strength of this level of demon has completely surpassed the legendary in the general sense, even those who have been killed. People who are called super strong may not be able to deal with this level of existence.

Could it be said that there is a plane channel hidden in this world that has been strengthened to allow demons of this level to appear?

Someone who is a little bit knowledgeable, cold sweat immediately appeared.

If there is such a passage, then it must be in the black soil that belongs to the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire!

Chapter 294: .The flame of vengeance is burning

When the Millennium Covenant Empire felt that the end of the world might have come, the Principality of Lane suddenly fell into a joy.

The garrison of the Thousand-Year Covenant Empire, located 30 miles outside the Fortress of St. Drones, did not know why it suddenly withdrew. Although this is indeed good news, when a huge black "color" barrier suddenly appeared in the area where the original Millennium Covenant Empire was stationed, the soldiers of the Fortress of St. Drones might not be happy. Many people's faces are even full of sadness.

Especially, even if they are thirty miles away, everyone in the fortress can feel an extremely uncomfortable feeling.

If there are church personnel here, then they must be able to find that this is the breath of the abyss, and this breath is also extremely tyrannical, it is obvious that the creatures in the enchantment are definitely not small. But it is a pity that there is no church personnel stationed in the Fortress of St. Drones, so they could not find a great demon of the Lord of the Abyss level is planting flowers and plants to sleep in.

Anyway, his task is to drive away the people from the Millennium Covenant Empire, and then Andrew promised him a 30-day holiday.

Enkos always feels that having a 30-day holiday is too comfortable, he even can't wait to go to bass to show off, because he knows that he is trapped in a place where he can't move. For Enkos, it's actually no different from lying in Andrew's coffin—perhaps a coffin with a bit wider range? Enkos felt that it seemed a good idea to run to the biggest edge where the bass can move to exude a little breath of oneself, and then get some barbecue there.

However, compared to the panic of the St. Drones Fortress, the royal family of the Principality of Lane looked very happy.

Not only did the garrison of the Thousand-Year Covenant Empire retreat, but even the dragon knight Turman, who was planning to go to Pandaren, also hurriedly returned to the empire. Although he did not say hello to the principality, he rode back directly on the dragon. The Grand Duke of the Principality was a little upset, but at least after the haze shrouded by the Thousand-Year Covenant Empire, Grand Duke Lane was really happy.

Of course, another pleasant news is that he has heard that Baron Panda and Count Tinchine of Darbion are fighting, and he has successfully won a beautiful victory. The two territories that originally belonged to the Kingdom of Darbion, Yedbyring and Tinkyin, have been divided by the Baron Panda and the Marquis of Tonis. [

For Duke Ryan, this is naturally a face-saving thing.

But for other nobles in the Principality, it was very annoying.

the reason is simple.

For the nobles, wanting to grow the family is naturally an external war. Only in this way can they gain military merit, promote the family again, and make the family more prosperous. But now the Principality of Lane is the territory of the trading capital to the north, and the entire west to the south is the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Obviously, these two forces cannot be provoked at all. The only thing that can be provoked is the Darfur located in the east. Kingdom of Bion.

However, if you want to find trouble in the Kingdom of Darbion, you must pass the Tonis Fortress of the Marquis of Tonis. Can they be sent out without formal excuses? That is simply uncomfortable for myself.

At this time, many nobles began to resent Kiasna. If she hadn't insisted on returning all the occupied territories to the Kingdom of Darbion a few years ago, how could they still be restricted and unable to develop? So these conspiracy theorists, whether it is the emerging aristocratic group or the old aristocratic group, feel that Asuna chose to return those territories back then because they were afraid that they would become stronger.

And now watching the pioneer knight who was formerly Asuna's command, and now the occupied territory is equivalent to a piece of earl, these people become very uncomfortable in their hearts.

The territory occupied by a baron is equivalent to the territory of an earl. How can this make people feel good?

They also heard that Asuna recruited a new pioneering knight, and this time it was even more excessive, actually directly using the earl of Tinkiin as the development territory of the pioneering knight, and now the nobles in the Principality of Lane No one can sit still anymore.

So, the call to declare war on Darbion began to increase in the country.

Sean didn't know, now the Principality of Lane is full of a kind of war frenzy. You must know that this is not the plan in his script. Although Sean came to this world, many of his thoughts have changed, and he has also gradually learned to be a nobleman, and will think about issues from the perspective of aristocratic politics, but sometimes many things are actually lacking in consideration, and some are too far. Take it for granted.

In his mind, history will inevitably develop gradually according to the plot of the game, so what he needs is to provoke a war, and then give Asuna an excuse to intervene, and then trigger the war between the two countries-in fact, the history in the game does It has evolved like this, but at the time, tens of thousands of players who played the role of provoking war were piled up in the form of piles of tasks.

But in this real world, people all have their own emotions and desires, such as human heart, surname, sex, ambition, etc. If only one of them sprouts, then it is very likely that it will evolve into a prairie fire situation. So the real counselors in this world are all going with the trend, and almost no one will do that contrarian. So the only thing that Sean didn't consider is that these actions are actually creating momentum.

Now that the situation is complete, the call of the Principality of Lane for a fight is to take advantage of the trend.

If Sean knew this, then he would definitely be more concealed and cautious in doing things, instead of being so high-profile. Because once the Principality of Ryan takes the initiative to declare war and follow the trend, Sean will get too little benefit from it, and it can even be said that he will completely lose his dominant position in this war. [

However, Sean doesn't even know these.

He didn't even know that Andrew had already shot Turman away for him, and he didn't know that the army of the Millennium Covenant Empire withdrew from outside the Fortress of St. Drones because of Enkos's visit, which led to a new round of the Millennium Covenant Empire. The internal "chaotic" coup incident was advanced.

The only thing Sean cares about right now is when Thain will come back.

And how many things will he bring back.

...

This is a dilapidated manor in the woods, located in a mountain forest to the northeast of Tin Chiin, only half a day from the nearest town.

This manor was built by Domingo's grandfathers.

The Hastings family has also had two crises of almost being exterminated, especially the second time, when the enemy went straight to Tin Chin Castle and came to wait and see. If it were not for the timely support of allies at the time, the Hastings family was actually there. He died in a war. So after that war, the fourth-generation Patriarch of the Hastings family secretly built this forest manor here. After all, Fort Tinchin's name is too loud, and it is very likely that the enemy will be intercepted there. , So since then the resources in the territory have been secretly transported to this manor continuously.

This place is only known to the true core members of the Hastings family, and even the Nugus family does not know that the Hastings family has such a secret hiding place.

At this moment, a very embarrassed young man broke into the manor.

He did not walk through the main entrance, but climbed in through a wall.

He seemed to have no strength anymore. He fell to the ground only after climbing over the wall.

Suddenly, a long spur fell obliquely, and then stopped on the young man's neck.

The young man turned his head in a little horror. It seemed that he was accidentally scratched by the long sword because of his excessive movements. The blood flowed from a small wound, and his white shirt was soon soaked in red.

"Syne!"

When the middle-aged man holding the sword saw the young man clearly, a faint "color" appeared on his face, and he immediately put away the long sword, and lifted Thain up with joy.

"Uncle Kerry!" Thain stood up suddenly, then plunged into the arms of the middle-aged man. It seemed that his tight nerves were finally relaxed. Tears suddenly flowed out of Thain's eyes, "I...I lose. Now! I lost a terrible defeat! They actually have a strong reinforcements, the Nugus family gave us wrong information, they actually have seven golden powers! Mr. Laubert, he is in order to protect... he... he..."

"Oh." The middle-aged man sighed and patted Thain's back lightly, "It's okay, it will be alright, our Hastings family will never be defeated so easily!"

"By the way, where's your father?" Thain raised his head and asked expectantly.

"Master Domingo..." The middle-aged man named Kerry looked embarrassed and didn't know how to speak.

"No!" Thain's face "color" became abnormal in an instant, and he took a few steps backwards, "You lied to me! You must be joking with me, right! Father... Father father..."

seemed unwilling to believe the ending, Thain was about to rush towards the house, but Kerry grabbed it with one hand.

"Let go of me!" Thain let out a roar, "I don't believe it!"

"Tian! Calm down!" Kerry let out a shout, his tone aggravated, "Your father said when he was dying, you are the next head of the Hastings family. You are now Hastings. Patriarch of the family, if you are all like this, then how do you lead the rest of our people to revenge?"

Hearing Kerry's words, Thain's face was "come" miserable, tears streaming from his eyes, but he pressed his lips tightly without saying a word.

"Oh." Kerry sighed when he saw Thain's appearance. "Don't think about it so much. The people who escaped from Hastings Manor that night have all gathered here. You can take a break first, these Good day, you have worked hard, we are very safe here, and they will come to discuss the next action in the evening."

was silent for a long time before Thain lowered his head and said plainly: "Uncle Kerry, how many of us... total escaped?"

"Well, there were fifteen people who escaped, but now there are only nine people left, including me and you." Kerry said with a sad expression on his face.

"Then...what about the core members of the family?" Thain asked.

The real most important thing in a family is naturally the core members, that is, the so-called direct line and those who are truly talented. The Hastings family is not particularly large, but it is not small. There are more than forty members of the family living in Hastings Manor, but only a dozen of them can be counted as core members, but since Sommahys After Ting disappeared and Avi Hastings, Taylor, Turnkey and others died, the core members dropped sharply to within double digits.

"I and Heka are the only ones left." Kerry said softly, "But now Heika is seriously injured and is resting in the room."

"Uncle Kerry, I will definitely avenge the family!" Thain said suddenly, "I will avenge my father, and I will revive the Hastings family!"

"I know." Kerry nodded, "I believe you can do it too!"

"By the way, Uncle Kerry, I want to borrow something from you." Thain suddenly raised his head and said.

"what..."

Before Kerry had finished speaking, he saw a sword light suddenly waved by, and his head was already flying.

Soon, this human head fell from mid-air and rolled on the ground a few times. The face of the dusty servant instantly became even dirtier, but his eyes still showed a bit of kindness. "

Thain looked at Kerry's head, his eyes gradually becoming gloomy. Although there were still tears on his face, his body was already exuding an aura of indifference. This aura has been limited to the critical point of the lower gold power: " That's your head, Uncle Kerry."

After a while, Thain blew a whistle with him on his body, making a kind of bird song.

Soon, there began to be northern barbarians escaping the wall from the manor.

As Thain waved his finger to the several buildings ahead, two or three hundred steel-winged soldiers consciously divided into several teams and began to enter these buildings. After a while, there were shouts of anger and fighting from these buildings, but these voices did not persist for long, they turned into screams, and then the corpses were removed from the buildings one by one by the northern barbarians. Bring the object out and put it in front of Thain.

Including Kerry's head, there are a total of eight corpses, but there are northern barbarians reported in the garden behind the manor, and seven new tombstones.

No more, no less, exactly fifteen people.

Thain quickly took these steel-winged soldiers, smashed open the door of a basement, and then entered a basement.

This basement is nothing more than the space on the ground floor of the Black Swan Castle, and it may even be wider than that. At this moment, in this basement, there are all kinds of gold coins, jewels, weapons, and even many precious and rare materials and drawings, but what is really eye-catching is the set in the middle of the basement. armor.

Thain knows that this is the real heirloom of the Hastings family, a set of legendary armor!

Similarly, he already knew that the information Domingo told him was obviously wrong, because the wealth in this basement was obviously more than one million. Not to mention the legendary armor, only gold coins and various materials are worth the least. As many as four or five million, this is obviously more than the background of an earl family, and even the background of a top marquis family is not an exaggeration.

Sean's eyes flashed a bit of sullenness, and then he said in a deep voice, "Move all away!"

"Yes!"

All the northern barbarians did not hesitate, and immediately began to move.

And looking at the movements of these northern barbarians, Thain's face was very calm, but his fists were clenched, but his nails were almost pierced into the flesh, and his fists were dyed red with blood. It drips continuously from the fingers.

"I will definitely avenge the Hastings family!"

Chapter 295: .Gerson's Killing Intent

A thin-necked carved vase traversed a parabola in mid-air, and then hit a wall. After making a clear sound, it fell to more than a dozen pieces of fragments, and then fell into smaller pieces.

"You mean!" A young man was full of anger at the moment, his eyes were red, and his whole person was like a madman. "Members of the Hastings family, didn't even one person escape? They all died and fucked. Clean?"

This is a small study room. Although there are bookshelves in the room, the collection of books is very small, only a few books. But in addition, this small study room is very luxurious and beautifully decorated. The only thing that is not compatible is that there is a big bed in the room, and the smell in the room has an exquisite scent. Obviously this room is not real. A place to read books.

At this moment, standing in front of this young man is a plump young woman who looks mature.

Undoubtedly, this young man is Gerson Nugus, and this young woman is Gerson's last remaining forbidden, Eagle.

The Eagle controls an intelligence system that is completely duli outside of the Nugus family, but this intelligence system is no worse than the system owned by the Nugus family. On the contrary, it is even better than Nugus in some places. The Gus family knows more thoroughly. It's as if the Nugus family didn't know that the Hastings family had a secret hidden stronghold, but the Eagle had discovered it a year ago.

But at this moment, when he heard Gesen's roar, Eagle was suddenly a little frightened, but she still had to answer: "Yes. I have investigated in detail and collected evidence. All the core members of the Hastings family died in battle. Even the secret stronghold was discovered. When I led people to rush over, everything in the entire stronghold was evacuated, but 15 new tombstones were found in the back garden."

Ge Sen's face became more yin sinking. He turned angrily and kicked on a table in the room. The whole table couldn't bear Ge Sen's full blow, and it exploded into countless woods. The pieces fell apart.

"What use are those tombstones for me!" Gerson let out an even more angry roar, "It took us so many years to discover that the Hastings family has a secret stronghold that has been accumulating several generations ago. That is called Sean. How could the * know?...Who found out who discovered that stronghold?"

"It's found out." Eagle said, "It's a person named Sean Holm. He was brought back to the family by Domingo Hastings about seven years ago, and he has been trained in the family. Served as a waiter for several young masters of the Hastings family. Only two years ago, he officially became Domingo Hastings confidant and served as the clerk of the Second Cavalry Regiment."

"Syne Holm?" Gerson raised his brow slightly, "Is that the one who led the final battle between Hasting's army and Panda's army and was defeated?"

"Yes!"

"Trash!" Gerson roared fiercely, "The Hastings family trash!... I said that Panda leads the lord, but with less than 20,000 troops, how can I have the courage to fight the 60,000 army led by Tingqiin? , It turns out that a spy was mixed to such a high position, it is ridiculous that the waste of the Hastings family actually didn't know at all!"

"My lord, I think things may not be that simple." Although Gessen's guess was somewhat reasonable, Eagle said after thinking about it.

But before she finished her words, Ge Sen turned his head and stared at her coldly, which made the eagle feel a chill. Although her strength is indeed to step into the golden realm, the eagle is very clear that she is not good at fighting at all, and her strength is forcibly improved through some special means, let alone the high-ranking gold of the same level. Zhebi, even a high-ranking silver, she may not be able to deal with it, because what she is really good at is concealment, sneak tracking, and intelligence analysis.

So don't look at her as the top golden powerhouse, but she can't even beat Kasem. And as Gesen's confidant and confidant, Ying knew too well that the master Yin in front of her was vicious, and she began to regret that she shouldn't have spoken to refute her master's words just now. At least, he shouldn't open this mouth while he is in a state of anger at the moment, even if he has any different opinions, it should be delayed for a while.

Gerson said nothing, just staring at the eagle coldly, until the eagle began to sweat, Gesen said: "Take off your clothes."

Hawk froze for a moment, but still didn't say anything, and then began to take off his clothes skillfully. When she saw that Gessen had taken off her clothes and lay down in that place, she knew what Gessen wanted to do, but at the moment her heart was a little relieved, at least she knew that Gessen would not kill her, so Soon she crawled to Ge Sen with ease, like a well-behaved puppy, and began to use her physical strengths and skills to please Ge Sen.

But this time, the situation did not expand as the eagle expected. Gesen quickly sat up on the mattress. Although the eagle was stuck to Gesen's body, he could also feel the position of Gesen. It's hot, but she didn't see a trace of  in Ge Sen's eyes. But when Ge Sen stretched out his right hand to grab her meat ball and began to knead it, the eagle still let out an extremely charming cry.

"Tell me about your analysis." Gesen didn't stop his movements, but suddenly spoke.

Feeling the suffocation that Gesen suddenly radiated, Ying didn't dare to have too many thoughts at this moment, so he could only start to analyze it immediately.

"I think it shouldn't be as simple as a spy, and that steel-winged unit is by no means simple." Eagle said, "The decisive battle between Thain led the army and Panda, it happened after Tingqi's leader was completely defeated on the northwest front. That is to say, if the 2nd Cavalry Regiment of Dabion had not been defeated in this battle and retired from the battlefield, then it would be impossible for Thain commander Tin Chiin to lead the final 10,000 troops."

Hearing Eagle's analysis, Ge Sen raised his eyebrows, as if he felt a little reasonable.

Seeing Gessen's expression, the eagle knew Gessen was already interested, because the movements on his hands began to slow down, so he continued: "So the biggest problem lies with the northwest front. According to my afterthought According to the intelligence, there were two troops heading to the Northwest Front at the time, namely the First Regiment of Tinchein led by Turnkey and the Second Cavalry Regiment of Darbion led by Taylor, with a total of 40,000 troops....but Turnkey's. Tinki was completely defeated by the First Army in less than 20 minutes at the beginning of the war, and was almost facing the end of annihilation. Then, the Second Cavalry Regiment of Darbion entered the battlefield and launched a charge."

Hearing this, Ge Sen had already sat up, with a trace of jing light in his eyes, and his words were even somewhat shocked: "You mean, that steel wing blocked Dabion with only five thousand people. The charge of 30,000 people from the Second Cavalry Regiment!?"

"It's true." The eagle also sat up, and then replied, "But afterwards, I learned from the investigation of the 2nd Cavalry Regiment that after blocking their charge, another army led by Daj broke out. Their military formation is not rigorous, and the combat effectiveness is not particularly strong, at least it can be seen that they are a little negligent in training. However, the reaction ability and change speed of this army are very fast, and the level of combat is completely in Darby. Above the Ang Second Cavalry Regiment, of course, this aspect is also related to Taylor being suppressed..."

Before Eagle's words were finished, Gerson's face changed: "Taylor was suppressed by the opponent? He is a high-ranking gold..."

"Among the troops that the opponent rushed out to support, there were four golden powerhouses. Three of them were high-level golden powerhouses, and their strength was even higher than that of Taylor... It is said that Taylor was directly defeated in less than ten minutes when he only fought against a knight of the other side. The opponent was killed by a single shot, and then the opponent teamed up with the steel wings and the three thousand reinforcements to defeat the Darbion 2nd Cavalry Regiment. Otherwise, with the steel wings and the 3000 reinforcements, it is impossible to be the opponent of the Darbion 2nd Cavalry Regiment. ."

"Golden powerhouse!" Gerson snorted coldly, "This Sean is hidden very deeply, and there are still so many hole cards. If it weren't for the Hastings family to explore the way this time, I'm afraid I would have to eat one too. Big loss."

"Those golden powerhouses are not Baron Panda..." When Eagle said this, he suddenly felt Gese's cold murderous intent, and hurriedly changed his words: "...It's not Sean's people, but Florence Wyler. Followers of Sri Lanka."

"Florence Wiles?" Gerson's face showed a trace of shock. Although he was arrogant and arrogant, he was not an ignorant person. He knew very well that although the Kingdom of Fascism was crippled by the Zenus Empire, it was more than standing. As far as the Kingdom of Darbion is not long, the foundation is still much stronger, and the Wiles family is a duke family in the Fascist Kingdom. "The Wiles family in the Fascist Kingdom?"

"Yes." Eagle nodded.

"How could he and the Wiles family come together!"

"That Florence Wiles escaped." Hawk explained, "Now the next heir of the Wiles family has been determined to be Florence's brother Turin, but after confirming his identity, he immediately ordered all originals to be dealt with. The candidate for the successor of "started, except for Florence's escape, everyone else was killed by Turin.... This time, he and Sean reached a covenant agreement to help Sean settle the Hastings family in return. , General Tinci is the future development territory of Florence, and his current temporary identity is the pioneering knight under the marquise of Tonis."

"Huh!" Gessen snorted heavily, but soon he let out a sneer, "Immediately send the information of all the supplies that Sean away from the secret stronghold of the Hastings family to Florence, and then see what he has. Reaction...If he doesn't respond, please contact the Turin for me. I believe he will be interested in the head of Florence.... Sean, I will kill it!"

"Yes!" Eagle nodded.

Just then, a knock on the door suddenly sounded.

"Who?" Originally thought of solving a troublesome thing, Gesen in a good mood was ready to conquer the eagle, but he didn't expect someone to knock on his door here, which made him feel very upset.

"Master Gesen, Master wants to see you." The voice of the old housekeeper came from outside the door.

"Understood, I'll be there in a while." Gessen said a little irritably, but he wanted to talk about it.

But this time, it still failed, because the old housekeeper spoke again: "Master, the master said that now, let you go to the study immediately!"

Hearing the old housekeeper's emphasis on "now" and "immediately", Ge Sen's heart was suddenly shocked, but he still didn't dare to delay, and immediately got out of bed and started getting dressed. Eagle clearly knew the urgency of the matter at this moment. She also got out of bed immediately and began to dress. If she did not get dressed after the door opened, Eagle believed that her fate would be terrible, because she knew that Gessen's father was right. I have always been dissatisfied.

"What I'm telling you, do it right away!" When Ge Sen opened the door, he turned his head and said to the eagle in a deep voice.

Eagle nodded, expressing understanding.

Then Gesen opened the door and followed the old housekeeper, and began to walk towards the study.

Chapter 296: .Hella Nugus

"Snapped!"

A loud applause slammed on Ge Sen's face.

Just a slap, Ge Sen's face was completely red and swollen, and even a trace of blood spilled from the corner of his mouth.

With Gesen's strength, he would not have been slapped like this, but the person who slapped him was his father. Under such circumstances, how could he dare to protect his face with vindictiveness? You must know that the family tutoring of the Nugus family is extremely strict. If he does not bear the slap of his father, then he believes that the next situation will be even worse, because when the old housekeeper said that he should come to the study immediately, he would have realized the seriousness of the problem.

"Do you know why I beat you?". Gerson's father, Duke Nugus, Seyin's face was sinking, and he was obviously really angry.

Gerson lowered his head, quickly thinking about the reason for his father's anger this time.

But after a few minutes, Ge Sen still didn't think of the reason, because he didn't even know how much his father knew about him. If you have to say something wrong, there are indeed several questions, but he knows that once he says it, he will probably end up miserably, so he has no idea which mistakes can be said and which cannot be said.

At this moment, Gerson felt that it would be great if it was Eagle here. With her intelligence analysis ability, she would be able to draw conclusions quickly.

Seeing that Gerson kept silent, Duke Nugus finally sighed.

But after this sigh, Gessen could feel his father's extreme disappointment in him, which made his face a little pale.

The Nugus family is not the kind of dictatorship of the Ducai family. Anyone who has the ability can compete for the position of the heir. This is why Gerson's uncle is also one of the candidates for the heir. In the Nugus family, Kasem knew that he was not the most talented child of genius, and even he knew that there were a few people who were better than him. It's just that these people have bad luck and are not as high as themselves in the family standings, so his successor ranks higher.

The Nugus family does not decide the successor based on the talents of the family's children, but based on a standings ranking, once a year.

This is a comprehensive evaluation of various aspects such as eyesight, commanding power, luck, etc. in addition to testing talents and talents.

Those who are more talented than Gerson do not have Gerson's communicative skills; those who are more communicative than Gerson do not have the eyesight of Gerson; those who have better eyesight than Gerson, but helplessly do not have the power of the strong. ; Those who have the power of the strong under his command. But he is not as good at judging the situation as Gesen.

So over time, Gesen, who was originally not ranked high in the standings, was surpassed one by one, especially after Gesen recruited the silver, eagle, and wolf three bans, he became the standings in just two years. The second in line heir. While there were more than a dozen candidates for succession on the original list, now there are only five left-three of them are still his brothers and sisters. If it weren't for this savage land. Kasem can become the first in line by the end of this year. Because his father had clearly told him that his uncle had withdrawn from the campaign for heir to the Nugus family. As for his other three siblings, except for his sister Angie Nugus, he was officially announced that he was no longer Nugus. In addition to losing his heir status to the family members, his eldest brother was also determined to be removed from the year-end evaluation this year.

So Gessen knows very well if his uncle quits. So even if he does lose a lot of points in the Wildlands, he still has the confidence to occupy the position of the first heir. But once he is disliked by his father, or even disappointed, then he is likely to be removed from the evaluation at the end of the year. This is not the result that Ge Sen wanted!

So after hearing his father's sigh, Gerson finally spoke: "I shouldn't have followed your instructions and still ordered to assassinate Shaun. As a result, the Heroic Sword Mercenary Corps was wiped out in Panda."

"Huh." Yashan Nugus snorted coldly, "Do you feel that you are about to be officially confirmed as the heir of the Nugus family, so you can ignore my orders?"

"No." Ge Sen's head lowered lower.

"I have told you that the assassination plan must not be implemented unless it is necessary, but why do you just not listen?" Ashan Nugus said in a deep voice, "You thought that after the negotiation failed, you secretly instructed you to let Domingo implemented the assassination plan ahead of time, would I not know?".

Hearing this, Ge Sen knew that his father really had the evidence of his crime.

At that time, he didn't think so much at all. He just wanted to take revenge anyway and kill Sean, so when the negotiation failed, he didn't even think about letting Domingo do it directly. It's just that he didn't expect that the assassination plan would end in complete failure, and he didn't expect that Lord Sean would use this as an excuse to declare war directly on Tin Qiyin, and he didn't expect that he would be so merciless. He started in the void city, beheading all Aiwen and his heroic sword, and he didn't even leave a living mouth.

This is simply an indifferent massacre!

But when I knew this, it was too late.

"I was wrong, my father." Gesen lowered his head to admit his mistake.

"If the Sword of Valor had not been slaughtered in that assassination conflict, then it would naturally play a very important role in assisting the war situation behind Tin Chiin, at least the Hastings family wouldn't even be able to do it alone. Escape." Yashan's voice was still very low, but Gesen could hear the anger a little bit better than before, "Do you know what your second mistake was?".

Gesen was taken aback: The second mistake?

"You actually regarded the Hastings family as a victim!" This time, before Gessen could react, Yashan was already roaring and standing up at the table, "Don't tell me, you wouldn't know that Ting Qi was lured by the enemy because of his army. To leave, creating a gap and being driven by Alfred's lion....The people who had you there at that time could provide support and emergency evacuation. As long as you take action at that time, the Hastings family won't be destroyed, even if the entire Ting Qi falls due to this, as long as the Hastings are still there, the territory can be recovered sooner or later.... But look at what you have done!?"

For these words of Yashan. Gessen didn't dare to refute at all.

Of course he can't say that he actually fell in love with the hidden wealth of the Hastings family, so he deliberately let the Hastings family die. Because if the people of the Hastings family do not die, then he must not touch the wealth, even if it is touched, it will be invisible. The sales problem is very difficult, and it may even be damaged by more than half the price.

Gessen didn't want to do this loss-making business, so of course he could only let the Hastings family die. He couldn't resist the temptation of that wealth!

Later, when the members of the Hastings family successfully absconded and returned to the secret stronghold, he actually planned to kill all the members of Hastings. For this reason, a team of 100 people was sent in secretly. In the end, he didn't expect someone to be a step faster than him, not only killing everyone, but also evacuating all the treasures, which made his loss suddenly become extremely heavy.

If there is that wealth, he can still accept the loss of a Hastings family. But without the wealth and losing the Hastings family, the loss would be great.

certainly. The facts are as Gessen expected. Yashan did not know that the Hastings family had a hidden secret stronghold. But even if he knew, he would definitely choose to save the Hastings family instead of peeking at those treasures. This is why Yashan can make the Nugus family strong, and even his generation does not fear the Boulder family at all.

It is conceivable that if the Nugus family is handed over to Gessen, it is by no means a good thing.

Of course, Yashan doesn't know this. If he knew that his son, whom he considered his most satisfied before, had made such a choice, then he was the first to kill Kasem. Because no one knows better than Shan, an ally who will never leave even when Nugus enters the trough, what a valuable asset.

But now, the noble circle of the Darbion Kingdom has never had the name of the Hastings family anymore.

I thought of this. Yashan's anger grew stronger, and he rushed out and punched his son again.

At this moment, Gesen in front of him did not seem to be his son. The almost unreserved punch that hit Gesen with all his strength immediately severely injured Gesen, knocked him out directly, and vomited a few mouthfuls of blood on the spot.

"Master!" The old housekeeper was really anxious now, and immediately shouted.

"If you know what your third error is, I will not abolish your heir status."

Hearing this, Gesen's brain finally made a "boom" in a daze.

After a while, Gessen still failed to realize what his father said was the third mistake.

"Trash, get out!" Yashan roared.

The old butler sighed. He knew that Yashan was really angry, but the destruction of the Hastings family did have an extremely significant impact on the Nugus family. This is not just because the Hastings family has always been Perseverance, it is more that the overall strategic situation under Nugus' will be completely rewritten as a result. At least the Second Cavalry Regiment of Darbion will no longer be remotely controlled by the Nugus family. The heels that stood firm also began to shake.

Of course, the deeper meaning is that since the Nugus family knows that if Gerson chooses to take action at that time, at least half of the Hastings family members can be rescued and the Hastings family will rise again, then other agents with spies and complete intelligence systems The family must also know. In this way, in the eyes of other nobles, even the Hastings family, who is so loyal to the Nugus family, can be said to be abandoned and abandoned, so what will the other families and nobles that depend on the Nugus family? What's your opinion?

The result is completely predictable.

The old butler knew that Master Gesen not only made a mistake this time, but was also very wrong.

When the old butler took Gesen away, there was silence in the study.

After a long time, Yashan seemed to finally calm down, so he said, "Tell me, what's the biggest mistake this time?"

At this time, a woman finally walked out of the Yin shadow in the corner.

This is a very ordinary woman in both appearance and temperament. She has no dazzling features at all, but she is the second daughter of Ashan Nugus and the third sister of Gerson. Before Kasem found the eagle, the silver, and the wolf, the seemingly ordinary woman had been firmly occupying the first place in the Nugus family standings, even her uncle Ziggssen Nugu. She has been kept in second place by her. Even Ziegson sent his private soldiers to the Third Garrison, which can be said to be thanks to her.

If it weren't for her failure in a war with those tribes in the wilds, which caused her to lose almost nothing, Ziegerson would not be the first in line. Even if Kasem later had the help of the eagle, wolf, and silver, and developed a complete set of forces of her own, she still regained the third place in the standings, which was only seven points away from Kasem. .

It is this horrible feeling of pressing and pressing that makes Gesen take the risk and have the occupation of Pandaren and the subsequent operation of the wild land.

At this moment, after Ziegson withdrew from the heir's campaign, Gesen and the other two were formally abolished as heir candidates. This woman is already the next heir to the well-deserved Nugus family.

This woman is Hela Nugus.

It's just that, at this moment, Hela did not see the slightest joy on his face, and it still looked plain and plain.

"What is the reason for our failure this time?" Even if Yashan knew that she had heard her own words, he had to read it again and repeat it. It's just a slight change in the sentence, and so naturally the meaning of the sentence he said before is significantly different.

At least. This time Ashan Nugus admitted that he had failed.

Hella looked at her father. After a while, he said, "Underestimate the enemy."

Yashan nodded, and said nothing. He knew his daughter's xing son, and once he spoke, he would definitely give a detailed analysis and reason.

"I underestimated three people." Sure enough, he didn't wait for Yashan to urge. Hella has already started to say to herself, "The first one is Asuna G. Evans. We all underestimated the importance she attaches to Sean Connery. Actually, when public opinion just started, it was immediately To make him an official baron, it is obvious that Sean Connery was not a pioneer knight recruited by Asuna from the beginning. There should be some kind of trading behavior between them, but they hide it too well. If it weren't for this time, I wouldn't be able to judge this at all."

There was a strange appearance on Yashan's face. He didn't think of this layer originally, but at this moment when Hella said that, he immediately thought of the things that Shaun had done before. Why did Asuna's attitude be so strange. It turns out that the two of them were equal from the beginning, not between the superior and the superior. Otherwise, it would be impossible for Asuna to lead the Thunder's Front to the Xiatian Rift to support. Now the saint of their family The domain powerhouse is still recuperating.

"The second one is Sean Connery." Hella ignored her father's * se, and continued, "This man completely ignores any aristocratic rules. The ancient aristocratic rules are completely useless to him. The ridiculous thing is All of us try to use the laws of nobility to judge and restrict his actions. I'm sure that even if he doesn't have the status of a baron, he would dare to send troops to Tin Chiyin, but his real goal is not Tin Chiyin, but Yedby collar."

Hearing this, Yashan's face suddenly changed. Obviously he realized how rich the territory of Yadby was.

And if Sean is after Yadby's collar...

seems to be for the official Asan's guess, Hela continued: "The baron should find an excuse to send troops to Berbice next."

Yashan's face changed slightly, and he began to hesitate whether to tell the old Howard the news.

"If I were you, I would definitely join forces with Duke Howard." Hela glanced at her father and said faintly.

"Why?"

"Because of the third person we underestimated." When Hela said this, the tone finally changed, no longer the usual dullness, "William Yale.... This person is a genius military strategist, from the outbreak of the war. To the end, the whole process didn't even last for a month. If he knew that he had only 20,000 troops, but he could easily defeat the 60,000 army led by Tin Chiyin, do you really think this is a miracle?".

Speaking of this, Hela's  se finally became serious: "War has never been a miracle. A truly outstanding general can easily make up for the gap of tens of thousands or even tens of thousands of troops. So if we really have to deal with it. As for the lord, even if our family alone is able to win, it is probably a tragic victory. This is not in the interests of our Nugus family. And most importantly, once the Berbice leader is invaded, the opponent only needs to recruit troops. If there is no union, the entire southeast of the Darbion Kingdom will be completely covered by the baron's Yin shadow, so if there is no unity, then this battle does not need to be fought."

This is the first time Yashan heard his daughter speak so seriously, the  se on his face looked very surprised.

"Besides....."

"Besides!?"

Hela glanced at her father, and then continued: "We have joined forces with Duke Howard. We only have the most basic conditions for war confrontation. If we really want to achieve a complete victory, then we must kill William, otherwise we Even if you win, you lose."

"Why?"

"Now that the baron has annexed so many territories in our entire southern part of Darbion, what do you think the nobles in the Principality of Ryan would think?" Hela asked rhetorically.

At this moment, Yashan's face finally became very firm, and it was obvious that he had made a decision: "Come on, contact me Duke Howard immediately."

Chapter 297: .Get rich [first more]

William is a very realistic person.

He chose to become a follower of Sean at the beginning, but it was actually with a lot of gambling qualities. Of course, the grand blueprint that Sean described to him at that time was indeed something he couldn't refuse. Although he did not follow Sean from the very beginning like Alfred, but now his status is second only to Cecilia in the entire inner circle, even Alfred is Under him.

But in fact, everyone knows that if William speaks, even Cecilia will follow his instructions.

As the first group of generals who were pulled up by William himself, such as Knok, Stalin, and Aldolph, they no longer respect William as simple as it is, and it can be said that they are completely blind worship.

For such a situation, William is actually very grateful in his heart.

He was thankful that he was following a lord like Sean.

Because if it is with other nobles, it is difficult for a person like William to do anything, because most of the time he has to deal with the awe of those nobles. There is no other reason. No nobleman can ignore the problem of the master of high power, so even the best counselor needs to be cautiously hidden, or there will be a set of checks and balances.

But in Sean's place, William didn't find these.

Sean is a very simple general and political affairs are completely separated, and then both he and Neil are in charge.

It is this simple, unreserved trust approach that makes William and Neal truly relieved and completely regard Sean's territory as their home for the rest of their lives. As the highest authority in the entire territory, they have done this, so of course the people below will not have too many ideas-or that these people have followed Sean from the beginning to today. They are all very knowledgeable, so the atmosphere is also very relaxed.

At this moment, William is walking quickly towards the conference room.

Tinkiin has been officially handed over to Florence, and the steel wings have also returned to Yiren. The Lion of Thunder is evacuating from the Tinkiin, and their destination is the city of Hierro in Yedby. As for the former Baron Yederby and his son Rob, Sean didn't feel much embarrassed. After determining that the two were worthless, he had asked them to take someone back to Dabion, and even let the other person have sex. The interest in the ransom is owed.

Just a baron, how much can it be worth?

Thousands of Darbian gold coins are simply useless for Sean's plan.

On the contrary, was officially announcing the occupation of Yedby, and was preparing to take over the city of Yello. There was a little trouble. If this were not the case, Sean had no plans to withdraw the Thunder Lion and Alfred from Tin Chiin. After all, Florence still needs help at the moment-although Luo Mingen did not resist, but Roves There is a lot of dissatisfaction. Although the Hastings family is completely destroyed, there are still some distant relatives. Florence is currently targeting these people. If they are not resolved as soon as possible, It is very likely that the Darbion Kingdom will use this as a breakthrough point.

Although the original intention is to provoke war, sometimes it is better to deal with some things cleanly. It is very troublesome to leave a tail.

But now, if anyone is familiar with William, then one can draw a conclusion from William's drunken face: William is very excited now.

In this world, there are not many things that can excite William, especially now that William is not only flushed, but his eyes are amazingly bright.

"boom!"

The door of the meeting room was almost completely knocked open.

At this time, there are not many people in the meeting room-this is relative to the space of the meeting room, but in fact, all of Sean's followers currently in Void City are already gathered together.

"What's so exciting?" As soon as he saw William's face, Sean knew that this guy was ill again.

"Hey." William smirked a few times.

Hearing this laughter, Cecilia, Clough, and Neil all raised their heads in surprise.

Although the things and behaviors that William usually does when he is excited are indeed somewhat different from usual, but it is not the first time that he has seen the door open, so everyone does not have much curiosity. But when they heard William's laughter that was almost mentally handicapped, everyone was surprised, because it was the first time they heard William's laughter.

"Get rich! Get rich!" William didn't let everyone wait too long. It seemed that because the news really made him too excited, he couldn't wait to share it with everyone, "We really got rich this time!" "

"Get rich?" Neal frowned slightly.

He is responsible for the government affairs of the entire territory, including economic control, and he has complained many times about the territorial lack of funds that makes him a little frustrated. However, although he has been complaining about this problem, in fact, he also knows very well that it is absolutely impossible for the average lord to develop to the current scale like Sean after acquiring a territory. Yes, after all, not everyone can directly start with more than two million gold coins.

Of course, this is not absolute. The nobles in the kingdoms and empires with a long history can still give out millions of their descendants as initial development funds. But this is also because these people have a deep family relationship, and Sean is a person with no background relationship.

But these are not the main points. The main point is that because Neal often complains, William and Sean are very clear that the current territory really needs to develop according to Neal's plan, and how big the funding gap is. In such a situation, William actually said that he had made a fortune, so the significance of this matter is not trivial.

And Sean, as soon as he heard William say this, he immediately understood: "Sean is back?"

"Yes, I have come back." The excitement on William's face is still very obvious. "This guy is very cautious and careful. He hurried back overnight. Except for the necessary rest time, he didn't stay outside for too long. All have been transported to the barracks side, I told him to go down and rest first."

The camp area naturally refers to the barracks area of the Void City, which is the station of the Void City Defense Army.

"Have you seen it?" Sean asked a little excitedly.

William gave Sean a white look, which made Sean smile awkwardly. This topic is indeed a bit idiot, so he immediately replied: "Value?"

Hearing Sean's words, everyone present immediately held their breath, and the expectation on their faces was very obvious. They are not fools, even William is so excited, then this proves that those things must be invaluable, otherwise it would never be possible for William to show this appearance, so naturally I look forward to the value of those things.

"Guess?" But this time William didn't say it outright, but sold it off.

"Are there two million?" It was Neil who asked the question.

Sean and William are very clear about Neal's question.

Earlier, Neal submitted a rectification plan on territorial trade. This plan is to fully develop territorial specialty products while completely controlling and restricting the export of these things. At the same time, it establishes tariff trade in territories and calculates tariffs by weight. Instead of charging according to the number of trucks in the past, there are other related , but these are all set up to prevent **.

This is a big project, and it is not very effective in a short period of time, but once the rules are established, this is a plan to make money. Among other things, there are at least more than ten resources in the Grey Shadow Forest, which are very rare in the Principality of Lane and the Principality of Darbion. In addition, Hongye Town also has a special product of Red Maple Fruit Wine, and Yadby Berbishling also has some special products, as long as you firmly grasp these, you are not afraid of lack of money in the future.

However, this kind of policy will of course be resisted at the beginning, and may even be blocked by the Union of Chambers of Commerce in Mainland China. The investment in the previous period will definitely be very large. Neal's estimated two million is only a minimum number. By then, the first phase of the plan is likely to be more than that, but according to Neal's assessment, the floating value will not exceed 30%.

Facing Neal's questioning, and looking at Neil with an anxious face, William smiled and did not speak.

Seeing William's appearance, Neil suddenly exhaled, and the whole person sat down very satisfied: "It seems that there is no need to worry about money for the time being."

"There are actually two million!" Cloff was shocked.

He used to be in the trade capital. He took the mercenary group and collected protection fees and worked hard with others. He didn't necessarily earn 200,000 yuan every year.

"More than that." William chuckled, and finally said, "And it's still a pan-continental gold coin!"

Sean's eyes straightened immediately, even brighter than William, and Neil, who had already sat down, stood up with excitement. He originally thought that the inheritance of an earl's family would be able to collect two million is already very good, even if it is eight cents of Darbion gold coins is enough for him to start the first phase of the plan, but now it is more than two million, and It's still a Pan-Continent gold coin instead of a Darbion gold coin, which is terrible.

"How much is it!?" Sean had no intention of continuing to guess.

"Only Pan-Continent gold coins, more than three million, a full one hundred and fifty-seven boxes!" William said excitedly.

On Miracle Continent, if the box used to hold gold coins is not specially made, there is only one model. This box is made by the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance, and each box can hold about 20,000 gold coins. One hundred and fifty-seven boxes, that is 3.14 million pan-continental gold coins, which can definitely be regarded as a huge sum of money.

However, Sean and Neal were keenly aware that William used the word "only" when he said this.

"Is there anything else?"

"There are ten thousand sets of Jingliang quality weapon armor..."

Ten thousand sets of Jingliang quality equipment is not too expensive. No matter how high the level of production technology is, ten thousand sets will not exceed 150,000. Compared with the huge amount of more than 3 million, this is regarded as pediatrics. NS.

However, William's words obviously did not finish: "There are other kinds of rare materials, most of them are minerals, but there are also some Warcraft materials, and some are even 7-level Warcraft materials..."

Ore and Warcraft materials?

Sean raised his brows. If he wants to make magic weapons now, he needs these materials, especially the materials of level seven monsters. Not to mention those rare ores and the like, just the materials of level 7 monsters are by no means popular goods. However, these materials do not have an accurate assessment number, which is extremely valuable for those in need, but it is icing on the cake for those who do not need it, but according to William, this part is sold at a discount. Two million pan-continental gold coins are still fine.

In this way, this time, the gains of copying the old bottom of the Hastings family are at least more than 5 million!

This can be regarded as the family heritage of a top marquis!

Thinking about it this way, it is obvious that the Hastings family is really not simple, I am afraid that the Nugus family has been paving the way for them very early. And once this family is successfully promoted to the Marquis family, it can definitely become a powerful Marquis in a short time.

Thinking of this, Xiao En felt a little grateful, but fortunately, he took the opportunity to uproot the family.

"But these are not the most valuable."

"Not the most valuable?" Everyone was taken aback.

"The most valuable thing in the Hastings family is a legendary armor!"

"A set of legendary armor!?"

Chapter 298: .Angel's Armor [Second more]

"A set of legendary armor?" Sean was stunned on the spot, "You mean, a set? Not a separate piece?"

"Yes, one set!" William nodded excitedly, "It's a pity that it's light armor."

There are two main types of armor, light armor and heavy armor.

In addition to the difference in the thickness of the armor, the two types of armor have different components.

For example, the most conventional light armor is composed of five parts: half-length armor, boots, arm armor, leggings, and hand guards. As for the helmet, it is usually external, not an integral component of the armor. The heavy armor, in addition to strengthening the thickness of the conventional five-piece set of light armor, there will also be three components such as skirt armor, shoulder armor, and helmet. Naturally, it is much stronger than light armor in terms of defensive performance.

As for other medium armor, lightweight armor, and many other types, they are all new systems that extend from these two main types.

But even if the new system is perfect, in the minds of all blacksmiths, it is still a structure belonging to the secondary sequence. The real primary sequence is only light armor and heavy armor.

William is a commander-in-chief, he certainly knows the rules in this regard, so William said it is a set of light armor, then this must be a complete five-piece light armor.

There are four levels of equipment classification, namely casting level, demonization level, legendary level and artifact.

Any equipment, once it comes to the "Legend" level, its price is bound to be very expensive. Even the most common piece of legendary equipment usually costs hundreds of thousands to buy. If it is the best legendary equipment, its value may even be more expensive than ordinary epic equipment. When Sean sold the book of the devil, on the one hand, he would be very eager to spend money, and the other reason was that the book of the devil was not safe to hold in his hands, otherwise he would definitely not be 5 million. As far as sold, the price is only slightly higher than the most common epic equipment, but for the value of the book of devil, it can be regarded as a total sale.

And the way of selling legendary armor is very different from that of general legendary equipment.

True legendary level armor, each component must reach the level of legendary level. If the components are complete to be considered legendary, it can only be called quasi-legendary. Therefore, a set of true legendary armor can be disassembled and sold, but a single piece cannot be sold at a higher price than a complete set, because once a true legendary armor is assembled, it can be obtained by the wearer. Ability bonus from equipment.

Usually in the game, players refer to this as "suit belonging to xing".

So a set of true legendary armor, no matter how bad it is, generally will not be less than two million pan-continental gold coins.

"Take me to see!" Sean couldn't sit still, and immediately got up and said.

If William did not admit his mistake, this is a set of true legendary armor, then it can be said that they have gained more than 7 million from the Hastings family this time. If this armor is stronger, its value will be greater, and even more than ten million gains are possible!

Under the premise of such big gains, no one can sit in the meeting room.

Everyone quickly left the meeting room, and a carriage was already prepared outside the lord's mansion. It was obvious that William knew the sons of these guys. Everyone didn't say a word of nonsense, and immediately got into the carriage, everyone was looking forward to that set of legendary armor.

"By the way, I forgot to call an appraiser!" William suddenly woke up and patted him, and then he was about to call someone.

"No need." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "If I can't even identify it, I am afraid that no one can identify it in Void City."

Hearing Sean's words, everyone remembered at this moment that Sean himself was an alchemy blacksmith. The semi-finished weapon used by Alfred was forged by Sean himself, and even if it was only a semi-finished product, it also made Alfred. Reid has the power to fight against the lower level gold powerhouses. If this weapon is really forged, does this mean that Alfred can kill the lower level gold with the power of the upper level silver like Sean?

But they also knew that although the Void City seemed to be prosperous now, it was only on the surface. The city's background was still insufficient, and there were none of those master-level talents. Coupled with Sean's strength and provocation against the Kingdom of Darbion, there is no mainland power organization in Void City now, not to mention that the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance completely ignores the previous behavior in the Wildlands. All of Sean's territories.

It is said that when Sean officially announced that General Yedby belonged to him, several chambers of commerce that had joined the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Union evacuated Hierro as soon as possible, and the original Brother House, Mage Guild, Alchemist Guild and other forces organizations They also chose to temporarily shut down. If it weren't for the rupiah who controlled the void, and they had maintained a good relationship with the Thieves Guild, maybe the Thieves Guild would also choose to temporarily disappear.

So what Shaun said was really right. If he couldn't even identify the function of this legendary armor, then no one in Void City could really identify it.

On the mainland, appraisal is a very special profession.

This is not that the profession is a separate system, but a companion system. For example, a blacksmith, of course, also has the ability to identify equipment and ore. Similarly, an alchemist must be able to easily distinguish alchemy potions, potions and other things. It's just that on the mainland, this group is not a simple companion system. Many of them are people with higher theoretical knowledge than practical experience, so they can easily judge the origin and use of some rare materials, but you let them use this Materials to make things, then they won't be able to do the job.

As for equipment, these appraisers can test their special abilities, so appraisers who are specifically responsible for appraisal of equipment are also called inspectors.

Their value is to test the specific function of a piece of equipment.

Be aware that people in this world are not players, and they don't have the ability of Sean's True Eyes, so of course it is impossible to immediately use the full power of this equipment after acquiring equipment above the magic level. If this enchanted equipment was created by the alchemist, then the true power of the equipment can naturally be exerted after the alchemist's narration, but if the equipment was obtained by other means, then it must rely on detection. After the teacher's inspection and judgment, the true effect and power of this equipment can be exerted.

Therefore, the more knowledgeable, more experienced, and the more famous an inspector is, the more valuable it is.

Sean is an alchemy blacksmith, and also has a certain detection ability, this is something that everyone can't know better.

Soon, the carriage stopped outside the camp of Void City, and everyone immediately entered the command room without the slightest pause, where the armor was temporarily stored.

When the door of the command room was opened and Thain saw all the core members of Sean's coming, his pupils shrank significantly, but at this time everyone's attention was attracted by the legendary armor placed in the middle. , So no one noticed Thain's little action. And Thain also realized his gaffe in an instant, so he quickly recovered his calm, but he knew in his heart that this armor was obviously more attractive in the eyes of Sean and others than he thought. .

However, after thinking about it, you will understand that there may be a lot of legendary equipment on the mainland, but it is not common for the nobles of the Principality of Ryan or the Kingdom of Darbion, so it is very attractive. High this is inevitable. It's just that when Thain saw that even Sean was alarmed, he knew that he was absolutely impossible to keep this legendary armor, so he was naturally very angry in his heart.

He regrets the decision he made before for the first time.

But at this time, he had no way to say anything. This legendary armor even shocked Sean. From Thain's point of view, there was no doubt that Sean would take it away.

No lord can resist the strength of a true legendary armor, even if it is just a light armor.

Of course, Thain didn't know that the long sword in Shawn's hand was an epic weapon.

After everyone entered the command room, Sean's gaze was firmly locked on the light armor, his pupils also shrank suddenly, but unlike Thain's surprise and regret, he was truly shocked, his face Soon there was an incredible * se.

Seeing Sean's expression, Cecilia already knew that Sean must have recognized this armor, because she and Sean were so familiar.

"Unexpectedly, it was actually an angel armor." Xiao En exclaimed, "and it's still a complete set of angel armor."

"Angel's armor?" Everyone has doubts, it sounds like this light armor has a big background.

"En." Xiao En nodded, his gaze did not move away from the armor, but began to circle around the light armor, constantly looking at the armor, "The degree of integrity is so high and the angel is so well-preserved. Armor, this is the first time I have seen it."

"What do you mean?" Hearing Sean's words, everyone was even more puzzled.

"The armor of angels is just a general term." Sean's eyes did not leave the armor of angels, but his explanation also sounded at the same time, "In fact, this armor should be called the armor of angels of power. The lowest level of armor types. Above the angel of power are the angel of strength, the angel of power, and the angel of master. These three sets are all epic-level armors, and above them are the three sets of angels, wise angels, and blazing angels. It is a myth-level existence.... But what really made the Angel Armor famous was not because the master could forge these seven types of armor, but because the seven different types of armor were completely measurable at the beginning. Produced!"

"What!?" This time, everyone was shocked, even Thain was shocked.

But soon, they realized the meaning of Sean's words just now.

Since Sean has said that, it means that these armors have a very historical existence, maybe they are thousands or even tens of thousands of years ago. Otherwise, Sean would definitely not say that this is the first time he has seen such a high degree of integrity and such a good preservation.

But, no matter how you say it, being able to mass produce legendary equipment is simply a miracle!

In today's mainland, let alone myths and epics, even the most common legendary equipment cannot be mass-produced. Even the same legendary equipment created by the same alchemy blacksmith will have some differences. In other words, no alchemy blacksmith can create two identical pieces of legendary equipment, and it is completely impossible for the similarity to be more than 70%.

"However, it is said that the master who created the armor of angels at the beginning also created seven stronger sets of armors of angels." It seems that the previous words are not astonishing enough, and Sean once again said a truly more surprising one. According to the secret, "These seven stronger angel armors cannot be mass-produced, but they are completely at the level of artifacts."

Artifact!

Everyone looked shocked, but what made them even more unexpected was that after Sean had finished saying this, Cecilia actually objected: "This is impossible!"

Chapter 299: .The truth about angel armor [third more]

"It's impossible!" Cecilia looked incredulous, "Artifacts are all equipment with magical souls, and no artifact can be forged by a mortal."

The equipment is divided into four levels, namely casting, demonization, legend, and artifact. The first three levels have three different classes. For example, casting has ordinary, jing good, and high-quality, while demonization has bronze, silver, and gold. Legends are legends, epics, and myths. If you add artifacts, then it is just right. There are ten levels. However, in the strict sense, it cannot be so simple to distinguish, because in fact this represents four levels, and each level is completely a moat.

Today, the most brilliant blacksmith on the mainland is in the Chenas Empire. His forging skills are the pinnacle of this era. It is even said that no blacksmith could reach his height even tens of thousands of years ago.

But even with such a grandmaster-level existence, he can only forge epic equipment now, let alone artifacts, even the side of mythical equipment can't be touched.

Shawn can actually understand Cecilia's rebuttal.

Because of the legend, every artifact was born when the strong man lit a divine fire and raised the kingdom of God. Because these equipments have followed the strong man for a long time and have already possessed the spirit, so when the kingdom of God rises, The power that belonged to the gods escaped and was absorbed by these equipment, so the artifact was born. In other words, the artifacts are the relics left by the strong on the main plane, so these artifacts are in a fixed number, and they are definitely not as bad as other equipment.

Only by absorbing the power dissipated by these gods, will this spirit be transformed into a magical soul.

Magic soul is a very different existence from the soul. Although it is a soul, it does not have the full consciousness of a human soul. They are more a manifestation of the laws of the world. And magicians do not believe in the existence of gods. They believe in their own power. Therefore, it can be said that magic souls are the exclusive research field of magicians. In this respect, no one can surpass them, even gods.

However, a blacksmith can forge artifacts and equipment, which is equivalent to subverting the beliefs of magicians.

Even the magician has not been able to completely figure out how the magic soul was born, but now Sean says that someone can forge an artifact, even Cecilia can't believe it. Because if she believes this, it is equivalent to confiding her own belief and source of power. This is not a good thing for any magician, or for anyone who aspires to become a strong one. Not a good thing.

Because once they have their own beliefs, it is equivalent to losing the source of power, and can those who lose the source of power continue to move forward?

However, Sean knew that if Cecilia could pass this level, then she would become a true gold-level powerhouse. Of course, if he can't become a gold-level powerhouse, Sean doesn't really mind, even if Cecilia knows nothing, he can support Cecilia and will never let her suffer any harm.

So, Sean quickly said: "The seven armors are not called angel armors, but have their own different names."

"Different names?"

"Gabriel, Michael, Raphael, Uriel, Lemuel, Sally, Raguire." Sean said, "Of course, you may not understand this name, but if you change the name, you probably know... Angel costume."

"Angel costume of Saint Joles' Empire!?" Cecilia looked shocked.

Cecilia was born in the Duchy of Lembel, and the Duchy of Lembel was sandwiched between the Maggie Empire and the Empire of St. Joles. It was a buffer zone between the two countries. Therefore, Cecilia naturally had a great influence on the Empire of St. Joles. The angel outfit is of course very clear. In other words, everyone here will not know the name "Angel Gear", because the name of the gear is too loud.

The most famous knight order of the Saint-Joles Empire, the armor worn by the head of the pure white wings knight order is the angel outfit.

Of course, Cecilia knows more than this. She also knows that there are four sets of angel costumes in the Saint-Joles Empire. In addition to the angel costumes worn by the head of the White Wing Knights, she has served as the Pope's side. There will always be two strong men who also wear angel costumes to be responsible for protection. As for the strong man who wears the fourth set of angel costumes, he is responsible for protecting the safety of the emperor of St. Joel's, but the strong man is not affected by the emperor's control.

To put it simply, it is a symbolic manifestation of the divine power of the monarchy.

"Angel costume... Isn't that the artifact left in the world by the Lord of Morning Light?" Cecilia looked incredulous.

Sean glanced at Cecilia and asked calmly, "Do you really believe it?"

At this moment, hearing Sean's words, Cecilia trembled slightly and immediately realized the problem.

If it is true according to the legend, the number of equipment carried by each strong person will be very limited, usually just a few pieces, and once the strong person becomes a god, it is very good that one of these equipment can become a divine tool. , If there are three things, then this means that the achievement of this strong man is definitely a * of high divine power. Although the God of Morning Light is a * of high divine power, no matter how strong he is, it is impossible to wear four sets of armor to ignite the sacred fire and raise the kingdom of God. What's more, in addition to this set of angel costumes, the Saint-Joles Empire has another Three artifacts and equipment.

Seven artifacts and equipment, which no * on the mainland can do.

You should know that even if it is an ancient * like Eiswinter, there are only four artifacts left by her.

But now, there is only one Sabre called Bing Rin left—the cutting blade that Xuefanio has been carrying on her body is an artifact.

Seeing Cecilia's appearance, Sean didn't say anything, but motioned for someone to take Cecilia back to rest.

Only at this moment, Sean became more and more mysterious in the eyes of others.

Especially Thain was very shocked in his heart. He didn't expect that Shaun would even know these secrets about the Saint-Joles Empire. He is not a fool, on the contrary, he is somewhat complacent about his Jingming, so he knows that these secrets are definitely something that only the previous pope can know, if it is spread, this will definitely cause a huge wave.

In fact, Thain really did not guess wrong.

Sean knew this, because someone had a very high position in Chenguang Church, and then received a hidden mission from the Pope to find the other three sets of angel outfits whose whereabouts were unaccounted for. If it weren't for this person who couldn't help but go to the forum to ask for help, if the matter was completely circulated among the players, no one would really know the news.

When the news was completely disseminated, the sophisticated parties who were so idle began to step in one after another, and then gradually restored the truth of everything.

However, until the moment when Sean came into this world, the three sets of angel costumes that were missing were still not found, but because of this, many incomplete angel armors were unearthed. So what Sean said at the beginning was not wrong. It was indeed the first time he saw such a complete and complete set of angel armor. Of course, it was not in this world, but in the game. That's it.

Although this set of angel armor was originally mass-produced equipment, it is also considered a very rare equipment in this era, and it is not an ordinary legendary equipment.

According to Sean's assessment of prices in the world today, this set of angel armor can be sold for a high price of three or four million even if it is not auctioned. If it is auctioned, it might not be six or seven million, or even more than ten million. possible.

Because he has already seen that if the armor of this angel is worn intact, it has a total of two special abilities.

The first item is stagnation. Once activated, a force field will be formed around the equipment, which can completely reduce the weight. If it is used well, it is not impossible to change the direction in the air. Compared with the first ability, the second ability is more practical, that is, high-frequency flashing. This is a practical ability that can be unlocked, especially in the face of the tracking magic cast by the magician. Get rid of the lock of the magician, even if you are fighting against other fighters, you can easily get rid of the opponent's lock on your own energy.

However, because this set of angel armor is the lowest level angel armor, the ability of high-frequency flashing cannot be fully exerted in the face of the power of the sanctuary powerhouse.

As for the attributes of legendary equipment increased, compared with the two sets of attributes, that is the real icing on the cake.

"Send this armor to Rina." Sean thought for a while, then made a decision.

At present, Rina is the strongest under his command—not counting Xuefanio, but in fact Rina's true strength has a lot of moisture, at least she must use the mount to be able to fully Show your true strength. But if there is this armor of the angel of power, then the situation will immediately become completely different. In addition to the two suits belonging to xing, this set of equipment also greatly increases the three properties of strength, endurance, and agility. If Rina wears it, then even if she doesn't have a mount, she can still play against two lower-level golden powerhouses, and even if she faces the upper-level golden powerhouse, she still has the power to fight.

However, the only drawback is that if she has a mount, this set of equipment can only play the role of icing on the cake, and cannot make her stronger.

But these are only temporary.

Xiao En believed that as long as he created the Flame Spear Fragmentation Hole, Rena would only have the strength of the lower level golden powerhouse. With this armor, he could kill the upper level golden peak powerhouse even without a mount. .

Based on the current situation in the territory, it is much more advantageous than simply icing on the cake to train a new strong with the greatest degree of arms.

This truth, Sean will not fail to understand.

Chapter 300: .Failed separation

Cecilia's situation is more complicated, and Sean knew that she should be quiet and think about it at this time, so after leaving the barracks area, Sean did not go back to the Lord's Mansion to find Cecilia. Rather, after selecting some materials, he returned to the blacksmith shop he had bought before, ready to continue to smash the flame gun and improve it.

As for the armor of the angel of power, of course, Sean also wrote a more detailed "instruction" and sent it to Rina along with the armor.

This kind of manual is actually some relevant certification and guidance issued by the inspector after the equipment has been inspected, allowing the holder to adapt to the changes brought about by the new equipment more quickly. The more detailed this kind of document, the shorter the running-in period between the holder and the equipment, and because Sean has a real eye, the instructions he wrote are more plain than the master inspector in the appraisal association. Easy to understand.

Sean believes that it only takes three to four days for Rena to fully adapt to this set of angels of power and maximize her combat power.

As for the other arrangements, there is no need for Sean to be responsible at all. Anyway, if William and Neal are there, both of them will solve the problem. Of course, Sean also believes that these two guys will definitely have a big arguing about funding, but if the short-term benefits are purely speaking, Sean is still more supportive of William, because he will soon find excuses. Berbice led troops, and the current territory's troops were already somewhat insufficient, so an increase in troops was necessary.

But the problem now is that even if they have money, there is no one in the territory!

No one means that there is no source of troops, and it is useless to have money without a source of troops!

So Sean doesn't want to bother with this kind of problem, so it's better to leave it to Neal and William to solve it.

Not long after, Sean returned to the forge. [

Originally, he wanted to win the Forest of Gray Shadows in order to completely build the Flame Spear Shard and the Flame Lion's fangs instead of just semi-finished products. But he didn't expect that this time in the supplies stored by the Hastings family, there happened to be what he needed. And these things just allow him to completely complete the production of the flame spear.

So when he left the barracks area, Sean brought four materials to the smithy.

Approximately 30 grams of blood sand, a piece of flame wood core, a few pieces of gray shadow white stone, and magic vine grass.

These four materials, the gray shadow white stone and the magic vine grass are special materials unique to the gray shadow forest. Of course, Moteng grass can actually be transplanted, as long as it is in a light, cold, and humid place. This kind of plant can be planted successfully, and there is not much requirement for the soil. However, the gray shadow white stone is the special material of the real gray shadow forest. This kind of stone looks similar to ordinary stones, but it is a kind of ore, but it is not mined from the veins. Who is the specific reason for its formation? do not know either. But what is certain is that this ore has very low magic fluctuations and is very neutral.

To put it simply, gray shadow white stone can be used as a neutralizer, but it is used for two ores with opposite properties, but it can act on other materials.

As for blood sand, it is a kind of sand that looks like it is soaked in blood.

Blood sand has a certain toxicity, usually alchemists like to soak the blood sand in some special potions. Extract the poison for purification, and use it as a special poison. However, Sean knew that blood sand has other uses. At least it is not only poisonous. It also has a very strong invisible fire elemental fluctuation. As long as its invisibility effect can be activated, 30 grams of blood Sand is equivalent to a core of flame.

The heart of the flamewood tree is just one of the few materials that can stimulate the hidden effect of blood sand.

The heart of the flame tree and blood sand were found in the supplies of the Hastings family. Sean doesn't know if it's accidental or inevitable, because there are not many people in this world who know the hidden effect of blood sand, and even fewer people know that the hidden effect of blood sand can be activated by using the flame tree heart. Coupled with the requirement of having a formula, there will never be more than ten people on the entire Miracle Continent.

But whether it is inevitable or accidental, it has nothing to do with Sean.

After returning to the smithy, Sean quickly became busy.

He starts two furnaces at the same time. Then start to add to the highest temperature, and then put two completely different colors of ore into the two furnaces.

One is light white, exuding a faint mist, which is what Shaun previously harvested in the crypt of Tindes; the other is dark ore. However, there seemed to be a fire burning inside this ore, which was the harvest that Sean had previously obtained in the Wildlands.

Both of these are types of magic mines. The former is an extremely cold ice stone, which can usually only be found in the lair of the Crypt Spider Queen. It's just that Sean didn't know why he found it at the bottom of the incubator room last time. Three pieces. The other kind of magic mine is the Fireheart Black Rock. Sean only got two pieces, which he obtained from the Great Red Fire Tribe, but even one piece was worth more than three pieces of extremely cold ice stone.

It's just that the fire core black rock and the extreme cold ice stone are extreme repulsion states that are incompatible with water and fire. Although the two ores are not related to each other, as long as the liquid after the smelting of the two ores is poured together, it must be a seven-level The power of a magic explosion. [

But Sean doesn't care, because he has gray shadows and white rocks.

Similarly, soon Sean started tossing the third furnace and began to smelt gray and white stone.

The smelting of these three kinds of ores is only the first step, but the melting point of extremely cold ice stone is extremely high, and it is not easy to smelt the ores into liquid form. On the contrary, the melting point of the Fire Core Black Rock was very low, and it was quickly smelted into a pool of liquid by Sean. However, in order to prevent it from cooling and hardening, Sean did not take this down immediately, but continued to melt it on it.

If it weren't for the extremely cold ice stone that couldn't use the combustion aid to accelerate the melting, Sean would certainly not wait so patiently.

But during this time, he didn't waste it. He quickly picked up the heart of the flame tree, and then carefully cut a small opening in it with a knife, and then polished it in bit by bit, very carefully. This small mouth expanded the scope, and the sawdust and wood powder he dug up, Sean also did not waste the slightest, but carefully placed them in a small plate.

Along with Sean's movements, a hot breath began to radiate from the tree's heart, and soon Sean found that the tip of the knife he had used to cut the tree's heart had completely melted. When seeing this scene. Xiao En immediately poured all the 30 grams of blood sand into the heart of the tree. In an instant, the heart of the tree made a crackling sound. It seemed that something had begun to burn, and there was even a strange fragrance.

Sean didn't dare to smell these strange scents. This thing is the toxin in the blood sand, but after the alchemist refines it, this poison will turn into color and smell.

When the blood sand is poured in. Xiao En immediately poured all the sawdust and wood flour that had been poured on the plate back into the heart of the tree. At this moment, the sizzling burning sound disappeared immediately, and even the strange fragrance was gone. However, Xiao En didn't care about it at all. After fixing the heart of the flame tree with something, Xiao En immediately covered the thing with a transparent cover.

Immediately afterwards, Sean began to pick up the magic vine grass. Begin to put these magic vine grass into a container, and then pour some alchemy potions that had been prepared before, and soon began to see the magic vine grass begin to melt in these potions.

This step is the simplest step that Sean has done.

The real function of the magic vine grass is extremely strong viscosity and stability. This is Sean's plan to use it to stabilize the stitching of the gun body and the tip of the spear.

To really finish this, one or two days is definitely not enough, but from the beginning, Sean did not expect to finish all these immediately. Anyway, when the time comes, Yan Lance Shard Kong and Right Angel Armor will be sent to Rina together. And Rina must return to Void City to take a break, so Sean is not very eager.

On the contrary, if possible, he would also like to take a trip to the Forest of Gray Shadows, collect several other materials, and finish the Flaming Lion's fangs by the way. In fact, the war halberd was only the last two steps away. As long as the processing was completed, it would be a gold-level demonized weapon, and it was by no means inferior to the flame spear.

.....

While Sean was busy making equipment for his two generals, there was also a letter sent to Florence through many channels.

"What do you think?"

Sit in the meeting room-this is the meeting room before Hastings Manor. But now this manor has been renamed the Florentine Manor-Florence handed a letter to Mensor, and then asked with a smile on his face.

At this moment, it has been more than half a month since the defeat of Tingqiin and the demise of the Hastings family. Although there are still some old parties of the Hastings family in the Tingqiin leading sporadic resistance, there are but For the strong like Ding, Bode, Nana, Pepe, the suppression will end within a short period of time. Therefore, in this conference room, the only person responsible for protecting Florence and Mensor is the young man with a bow. And the brawny man.

Mensuo picked up the letter, glanced at it, and laughed after a moment: "People from the Nugus family, it's really fast to start. I started to sow discord so soon."

"Haha." After Florence heard Mensor's words, the smile on his face increased. "If we think that we will have a gap with Sean, then it is really despising people. Don't talk about the Hastings family. There is a set of legendary armor in the reserve, even if it is an artifact, I won't mind."

"Really don't mind?" Mensuo raised his brow.

"Well, if it's an artifact, it really moves a bit."

"Haha." Mensuo smiled, "This is really something that William had expected, but the three million funds are willing to give us one million, which is very kind. Even if they don't give it. We, we can't say anything. After all, I believe that even without us this time, it's definitely not difficult for them to win the Tin Chiyin collar."

Speaking of this, Mensuo sighed again: "The favor is too bad."

"It's only one million." Florence smiled, "It will be done in time."

"Yes." Mensuo nodded, and then he burned the letter that Gerson had wasted a lot of favors and connections secretly. "But I heard that the Nugus family seems to have a very close relationship with the Impan family recently. At the same time, the Nugus family has also determined the heir, a woman named Helanogus."

"It seems we need to pay attention."