

Lord of War Vol 2-31

Chapter 31: . Countless strategy

The whole camp is like boiling water in an instant!

The second after the first enemy attack sounded, the second enemy attack sounded, followed by the third and fourth sound...At this moment, there were exclamations and screams in the entire camp. The soldiers of the patrol team are usually only responsible for the logistics and transportation. Although they have also undergone some systematic training by Lonnis, they can only be regarded as a second-level army after all, and the rationing of equipment is only Some very ordinary equipment is only slightly better than inferior quality.

But Sean's steel wings are the unit that he spent the most money on in the early stage, and now this unit has been officially promoted to a third-level army. Both its equipment and combat effectiveness far exceed these ordinary soldiers in charge of logistics. What's more, the two hundred people who are the most elite in the northern barbarian army are even close to the level of the fourth-level army, so there is no suspense in the encounter between the two sides.

is almost a slaughter on one side.

Lonnis's order could not even be passed on at all, because the entire camp was completely chaotic.

Even the information received has become extremely messy and cumbersome. He can't even determine how many enemies are attacking this camp!

"Boom!"

An arrow tower inside the camp suddenly collapsed with a roar.

The other arrow tower diagonally opposite this arrow tower was also ignited at the same time and completely turned into a torch. I believe it won't take long for this burning arrow tower to collapse quickly. In addition, the arrow tower, which was also in the other direction, had also been completely captured, and it was obviously controlled by the enemy.

Lonnis looked at all this with an ugly face, he suddenly woke up at this time, his layout and command had extremely fatal flaws!

He really pays too much attention to perfection, so that he always compares everything, trying to calculate the best, thinking of the way to perfection. This approach naturally makes his tactics and strategies look extremely complete and terrifying, like a series of links, but the opponents he has encountered all the time are too weak, so he is simply I haven't found a fatal mistake in my personality, until today!

Once the chain plan is successfully deployed, it is terrible, but if it breaks in the middle and fails to connect, then all the subsequent steps will completely collapse.

He makes perfect use of the terrain. There are no dead spots in the entire camp. He also knows that his army, whether heavy cavalry or logistic unit, is a man of arrogance, so morale is naturally very high, and there is no problem with defense. . However, he did not expect that in such a dim sky, the limitations of his tactics would be so severe that it would allow the enemy to launch an attack first, completely missing all opportunities.

Moreover, the strength of the enemy made Ronnis feel a little unbelievable. Only then did he realize that he had actually underestimated the strength of the opponent.

"Three commanders?" Lonnis looked at the three arrow tower destruction methods in different directions. He could roughly guess the other party's plan, "I didn't expect the other party to be more cautious than me."

At this moment, the three hundred heavy cavalry are also ready to go.

Their tents were originally made specially, and they were not too far away from Ronnie's main tent. Although it took a little effort to wear equipment, they are capable of comparable to the regular army. The military qualities of these 300 heavy cavalry It is also extremely high. So they quickly completed the assembly, and they were already in a square array in front of the main account at the moment, waiting for Ronnis's order.

Dyson has also rushed out of his camp. As a master, if his reaction speed is really such, then it can only be regarded as very bad. But considering that he might be doing something in his camp, then this reaction speed is at least fairly modest, and it won't be too out of the ordinary and won't be excellent.

Lonnis glanced around at his own heavy cavalry unit, his awe-inspiring self-confidence finally returned.

"I believe you are already very clear about the current situation. Now I don't ask for others. Everyone immediately set off with me. We moved to the stables and then broke through and left here." Ronnis said in a deep voice, "This camp has been completely lost. If this is the case, then we have no need to continue guarding, and you are heavy cavalry. You should have been fighting on a more open field, so now leave with me!"

From the beginning to the end, Lonnis did not mention the situation of the logistics soldiers, and whether it was a heavy cavalry or Dyson, he also felt that there was nothing wrong with this kind of thing. In everyone's eyes, those responsible for the logistics The army is not just a group of cannon fodder that can be sacrificed at any time. A real qualified soldier is very troublesome to train, but is it not easy to recruit soldiers from a heavy squadron and servants serving heavy cavalry?

...In the chaotic camp, the ten small units that have diverted out have gradually gathered, and finally turned into three sharp arrows to attack the most central position in the camp.

Although Sean has corrected a lot of problems, some of the problems left when playing the game have not been completely corrected so far, so he adopts the occupation policy for all Arrow Towers. And the occupation of each arrow tower can make his vision wider. He can use the instructions of the northern barbarians on the arrow tower to move in the most correct direction, without worrying about going the wrong way.

Rina's fighting style is as rough and violent as ever. Under the gap of absolute strength, she is completely unreasonable and tyrannical, and she is still advancing in a straight line, no matter what is in the middle, whether it is an enemy soldier, an arrow tower or a tent, she is anyway. Directly flattened, just like she was riding a horse to fight, and she was so overbearing.

But if you compare it with Cecilia, it's a little under-read.

Beside her, there is not only Xuefanio, a priest with a knife from the Church of Ice and Winter, but also a hundred northern barbarians who are responsible for protection. With Xuefanio's strength, a group of ice armor technique made these northern barbarians almost invulnerable, plus a group of ice halo, not to mention the enemy's frontal attack, even the arrows shot. Within the range of entering the halo, it will become weak and weak, as if shooting an arrow into the water.

The enemy's offense is useless, but it does not mean that Cecilia's team will not counterattack. She doesn't even need the northern barbarians to take action, as long as she sees the enemy and enters her range, no matter how many people the opponent has or rely on any fortifications, she is all a bunch of magic thrown out, and it is directly a sea of flames.

A priest, a magician, plus a hundred heavy infantry, this unit is the most terrifying arrow unit.

It's just different from Rina and Sean's direction towards the main camp in the middle of the camp. An elite war horse of three hundred heavy cavalry. And Cecilia's task is to occupy this area. It doesn't matter if you can't keep it, just burn it on fire. Anyway, she is a great magician who is good at fire magic.

As Cecilia said: "I am the best at setting fire or something."

The enemy's weakness was completely beyond Sean's expectations.

In fact, it cannot be said that the enemy is too weak. After all, these soldiers are also second-tier troops. After all, there is no concealment in Xiao En's eyes, so he knows that these soldiers are actually just a squadron. It's just a transporter, but such a soldier has the strength of a second-level army, which is enough to prove Ronnis's ability. It is a pity that they encountered a group of Northland barbarians trained by Sean, William, and Alfred. So this is doomed to the fiasco of their army. If a group of enemies is replaced, I'm afraid it won't be so completely defeated by any means.

And since these enemies are not important in themselves, their defeat naturally cannot afford any idea of Shaun chasing after them. So under the instructions of the northern barbarians on the arrow tower, Shaun quickly changed the direction of advancement and did not go. Walked to the square in front of the main tent, because the Baron Ronnies, who was listed as the key target by William, had already rushed to the direction of the stables. He was obviously planning to abandon these cannon fodder soldiers and prepare to break through and leave.

"Huh." A sneer appeared at the corner of Sean's mouth, "Sure enough, William had really guessed it. I heard that Baron Ronnies pursued a strategy that was exhaustive? If you let him know that William can even be accurate in climate. Calculating it, I don't know if the Baron Ronnis has the confidence to fight William head-on on the battlefield."

Rina sacrificed all the information that hundreds of her subordinates inquired about. Of course, it could not be a useless thing to fall into William's hands. From these details, William had long been aware of these four lords who were preparing for the coalition. One of the most basic character judgments, so he chose Ronnies as a soft persimmon, and simply thought that the three hundred heavy cavalry was easier to eat. If William felt necessary, he could easily defeat the Viscount's army, but it was unnecessary.

And when this trip started, William only told Sean three sentences.

The first sentence is "Lonnis does not need to think about it. His arrogance is as great as his pride. You only need to find a way to create chaos, and he will give up the barracks without hesitation. At that time, he will definitely choose to lead Sanbaizhong. Riding to the stable area, trying to break through."

The second sentence is "It doesn't matter how you want to capture this camp or how you make trouble. As long as Cecilia is allowed to occupy the stable area, the stable area will be destroyed if it is not occupied. Naturally, Ronnis can be forced to confront you head-on. , It will be easy to capture him at that time."

and the third sentence is "Eleven days later, it is a very suitable day for offense."

On the eleventh day, the moon was black and the wind was high, allowing Xiao En and others to sneak into the camp easily. After that, a complete chaos was set off.

Although Sean thinks that William is indeed a  sometimes, it is undeniable that his military combat ability is indeed very high. He won't tell you how to fight the battle, he will only tell you the most important strategic direction, and leave the other specific tactics to be tossed by yourself.

This is the real solution!

"Boom!"

A blazing flame burst into the sky suddenly in the barracks.

The momentum of this flame is even more terrifying than when Cecilia burned the arrow tower in front!

Shaun's gaze flicked, and the direction from which the flames were burning happened to be the stable area in the camp. And being able to force Cecilia to use magic to burn down the entire stables, horses and flat trucks, then this has only one meaning.

Cecilia and they can't hold the stable area!

They are asking for help!

Chapter 32: .There are many capable people under my command

When Sean rushed to the stable area, he was completely swallowed by the monstrous flames.

The entire stable area was buried in the sea of fire, not only the horses of the pack carts, but even the three hundred war horses were not spared.

The three hundred heavy cavalry under the command of Baron Ronnies circled in a circle, erected their shields and spears, layered on top of each other, looking like a hedgehog. However, when Sean saw the circular formation, what he saw at first sight was not how precise and standard the formation of the circular formation was, but the attire on these heavy cavalymen was completely different from the standard configuration of normal heavy cavalry. Because the armor on them is not a standard heavy armor.

Furthermore, heavy cavalry on the battlefield has always been responsible for charging and cutting the enemy's formation, and speeding up the enemy's rout by attacking the enemy's morale, so they are generally equipped with heavy guns and knight swords. The former is dedicated to the charge to cut the enemy formation, and the latter is used in close combat after the charge fails to penetrate the enemy formation and is frozen. How can heavy cavalry be equipped with heavy shields, which is obviously a cumbersome thing? And it's a standard square shield. Although this type of shield is the lightest among the large shields, it's also compared to other large shields.

In addition, the armor on these heavy cavalry is obviously thinner, and it should be a special armor between the chain armor and the plate armor. Sean remembers it clearly, in terms of the smelting technology of this era. , Armor armor is divided into light armor type and heavy armor type with lock armor and plate armor as the line. Like this kind of product between light armor and heavy armor, at least it should be officially in Magic Device Technology Will appear after popularization.

And once the cavalry loses its mount, it basically loses its existence value completely. After all, the cavalry is no better than the knight. The former was born with a system of arms after all, and received more professional training. What's more, the combat power of the knight without a mount is at least reduced by more than one-third, let alone lost. Mounted cavalry.

However, the special situation of these heavy cavalry at the moment really makes Sean feel puzzled and puzzled.

But the only thing that is certain is that these heavy cavalry are by no means as simple as they seem on the surface. They at least have a certain degree of infantry fighting ability. Unlike regular heavy cavalry, they are just an immovable tin can when they are dismounted. That's it.

And seeing these heavy cavalry even holding up shields to resist attacks from above, it is obvious that Cecilia has just tried to launch a magical attack from above.

After sweeping the battlefield situation, Sean did not see the figure of Baron Ronnies, and immediately understood that this baron was only afraid that he was protected by these heavy cavalry, and if he wanted to catch him, he would have to tear it. Just open this circle. In fact, if it weren't for William's naming to be captured alive, with Cecilia's current strength, he could use a few more powerful magics, and then directly burn all of this group of people, which would require a stalemate like the present one. write.

When was thinking like this, a cold light suddenly shone, and a blast made a blast, exploding countless criss-crossing sharp air currents in the air, making several cracks in the ground.

The two silhouettes separated from it, one on the left and the right retreated to the side of Baron Ronnis's Three Hundred Heavy Cavaliers and the steel wings that also protected Cecilia.

The figure on the right is naturally Xuefanio.

Unlike the image that Sean had seen before, Xuefanio's long hair, which was originally just bundled randomly, has been changed to a long pony tail, and the color is much lighter than before. It was originally light blue. His eyes gradually changed to sapphire blue, and the whole person looked cold and cold, with a somewhat subdued taste. However, Sean knew very well that this was not a goddess, but a certain state of performance when the priest with a sword, which is unique to the Church of the Goddess of Ice and Winter, entered a state of battle.

Xuefanio enters the winter fighting state?

The goddess of Ice and Snow and Winter have been silent for so long that no one knows these secrets at all, but Sean has had more in-depth exchanges with Xuefanio before and is very clear about some of the goddess' situation. , So he also knows that believers who believe in the goddesses of ice and snow and winter will have two special fighting states.

The ice and snow combat state only available to full-time magicians and the winter combat state only available to full-time combatants.

The opponent who can make Xuefanio serious is definitely not an ordinary opponent, and Sean couldn't help but turn his attention to Xuefanio's opponent.

That is a swordsman who looks very young.

His momentum is very calm. Although he has a slight frown, his face is calm as before, and his breathing is normal. He is not impetuous due to successive failures of the attack, especially the right hand holding the sword, not even a trace of tremor.

From the attire of this young man, Sean can tell that this is a fast swordsman who follows the agile development route.

Although this profession can be regarded as the same origin as the Storm Swordsman, they are not as extreme as the Storm Swordsman. This professional system pursuing speed flow has an extended faction after Tier 4, and it began to pursue the speed of shots, which is the so-called attack speed in the game, instead of just unilaterally pursuing the lightness of the limit of the body's load. Therefore, The profession of fast swordsman was born.

But in fact, this profession has always been very controversial in the game at the beginning, because the pure agility value can make this profession almost invincible, but it is just undefeated. And because of the pursuit of shooting speed, the weapons that can be used by this class are only Western thorn swords, and the direction that can be selected and changed is not even as good as that of the Storm Swordsman. In addition, the negative effects of low strength and low endurance are added. In the case of a protracted battle, the pressure on the fast swordsman is very high, and because of the lack of strength, it is also difficult for the fast swordsman to cause "break-through" damage to other professions.

In a way, the fast swordsman is actually more of an assassin-like occupation, because they pursue a precise assassination in an instant. At least Sean knows very well that the professional talent of this class is to assassinate the vital parts-the game manifests eight times the damage to the vital parts. Although it sounds terrible, because the vital damage is four times more than the normal, but for those who wear As far as the tin can of armor is concerned, this kind of attack is completely meaningless.

All the vital points are under protection, how can the fast swordsman have a chance to stab? Moreover, the damage of the Western stabbing sword among all sword weapons is the lowest, none of them.

Just like the current situation, Cecilia is hiding in the tiers of northern barbarians protection circle, this fast swordsman can not break through this protection circle, and thus cause any practical damage to Cecilia. The soldier who was supposed to cooperate with this fast swordsman was also in a deadlock because of Cecilia's magic. They could only resist and protect passively, and could not organize an effective counterattack at all.

Coupled with the surrounding sea of fire, the only breakthrough route is firmly occupied by Cecilia, thus forming the current stalemate.

Sean's arrival was so powerful that he couldn't keep anyone from hiding. It's just that the fast swordsman didn't dare to be distracted at all, because Xuefanio's overall strength was actually slightly better than him. It's just combat awareness and There is still some lack of experience, coupled with his extremely fast shooting speed, he can even achieve four or five more attack levels than the opponent at the same time, so he can barely maintain the current unbeaten situation.

But even so, it made him feel unusually frightened.

Dyson naturally knows his situation. He looks young, but he is actually a middle-aged man of 35 or 6 years old. He is only one step away from the next level of gold. But when will this difference be broken? But I have no bottom in my heart. Once a person is over forty and his physical functions begin to decline in all aspects, it will only be more difficult for him to break through to the golden realm in the future.

Only after reaching the golden realm, can it slow down the decline of body functions, thus impacting the higher realm.

But now this opponent, even if you don't have to guess, he knows that the opponent's age must be very young, but so young is not less than his own strength, which makes Dyson really jealous. And the most incredible thing is that the opponent is actually a priest with a knife, but his strength is completely different from what Dyson understands, because although the magical magic the opponent uses is very similar to the magical magic of the Ice Church, it is just Just like it!

Is it a new * who wants to take the godhead from the * of ice?

Unlike Dyson's caution, Xuefanio saw Sean's arrival and stood up naturally, but her winter fighting state was not relieved. After all, in this fighting state, her attention And the reaction power will be higher. Because in her eyes, Sean's strength is actually very weak, and the speed of the opponent has already caused her a lot of suffering. She is very worried that the opponent will suddenly choose to attack Sean, so she almost pays all attention to it. The power was concentrated on Dyson.

This naturally made Dyson feel the increased pressure.

However, this kind of small aura suppressed, Sean would naturally not pay attention to it. In fact, even if the fast swordsman launched a surprise attack on him, he would not care. Because it is impossible for the opponent to kill himself directly, this distance is enough for him to activate the two skills of Light Body Surgery and Adrenal Stimulation.

"How is Baron Ronnis?" Sean said suddenly.

"I thought I had valued you enough, but I didn't expect to find out that I still didn't pay enough attention to you in the end. It seems that the outside world has done a very incomplete work on your intelligence, and I didn't even inquire about the high-level silver masters in your territory. Coming out, it looks like Sir Connery is really a master of card skills." Baron Ronnis was hiding in the protective circle of those heavy cavalry. His voice was a bit weak, and Sean speculated that he was injured. , So he looked at Cecilia's side.

"He is injured." Cecilia and Sean looked at each other, and immediately saw the question in Sean's eyes. "Sister Xuefanio pierced his shoulder blade with a sword, but the wound has been sealed with magical magic. , He will only get weaker and weaker, but it will not be fatal."

"I don't know who your Excellency belongs to Sir Connery?" Baron Ronnies said with a strong sigh, but still refuses to abandon the slightest aristocratic frame at the current level. "I can see through my weakness so easily, and also Sending so many masters, priests with swords and magicians, I really didn't lose in this battle."

"I'm down to Sean Connery." Sean said in a deep voice.

"Unexpectedly, it was Sir Connery himself. It seems that I should be honored. Everyone regards Sir Connery as an arrogant lord who doesn't understand anything, and seems to be blinded by your illusion. ."

"I'm really arrogant, I don't deny that." Xiao En smiled indifferently, "It's just that I have a lot of capable people under my command. Just like this time, the person who really sees through your weaknesses is not me, or even us. Anyone who comes at this moment is my strategist, William Yale.... In fact, before we arrived here, he had already told us how to defeat you, even if you would come to the stable area, it would be too early. It's within his calculations." At this point, Sean's voice suddenly fell cold, and he shouted: "Baron Ronnies, you have lost this war. If you are willing to surrender, then I will treat it according to the rules of a noble war. You. But if you insist on not surrendering, then don't blame me for failing to follow the rules."

"If I want to leave, do you think you can really stop it?" Ronnis let out a laugh.

"You can give it a try." Although Sean looked relaxed, his gaze stayed on these heavy cavalry. Generally speaking, when he heard that he was abandoned as cannon fodder by the lord, his morale would inevitably drop. This is A good opportunity to break through. But here, Sean didn't see these heavy cavalry showing any signs of decline. Instead, their aura became more cohesive. This is no longer the concept of ordinary soldiers, but can be called personal guards or even dead soldiers.

"I stayed, originally just want to see the level of the people who shot tonight, so as to remind my other allies." Lonnis suddenly let out a loud laugh, "Otherwise, you really think it's just you. Can people stop me?...Dyson!"

I saw that the fast swordsman who was still confronting Xuefanio suddenly leaped back, and quickly retreated towards the protection circle of the heavy cavalry. These heavy cavalry immediately let the master escape into the protection circle by opening an aisle. . And as the fast swordsman named Dyson retreated, the aisle quickly closed, making Sean and Xuefanio who wanted to attack both to lose their chances.

The next moment, I saw a figure suddenly leapt out from the other side of the protection circle, actually planning to rush through the sea of fire and take the road!

With the strength of this fast swordsman, Sean believes that he can indeed do it. Although he brought one that will affect his speed, but there are three hundred heavy cavalry in front of him who can stand in the way regardless of life and death. Sean and Xuefanio Even if you ignore these people and go around, you will inevitably be delayed for a while. At that time, in this dim night, even if Sean is faster than the opponent, in which direction will he chase?

"go back!"

Just then, there was a roar of anger like thunder, and it exploded suddenly.

Immediately afterwards, a cold light broke through the air.

This cold light was extremely vigorous, almost as violent as a void storm. Under the pressure of this cold light, the flames that burned extremely hard were completely suppressed to one side, just like being blown by a strong wind. And like the reed field passing by.

Dyson's pupils, who was dragging Baron Ronnies with one hand, suddenly shrank, and his rushing figure couldn't help but stagnate. The sudden fall of his right foot almost produced a strong storm, which completely trampled the flames that had come down. Extinguished, and then quickly withdrew at an extremely fast speed. If he was the only one, he would certainly not be afraid, and even dare to fight with him, but with one person, Dyson didn't dare to confront him at all and had to choose the path.

Quick Swordsman doesn't win by strength!

But even if Dyson wanted to escape by choosing a path, he might not be able to escape easily.

I saw that Rena, who broke through the wall of fire and swept over with great momentum, was still in the air, and suddenly turned the gun horizontally, and a more fierce fiery red momentum spread out like a half-round crescent moon, covering a sufficient area. It is nearly ten meters wide!

Crescent-like vindictive energy ran all the way, wherever it went, the flames were extinguished, the ground was cracked, and the momentum was unparalleled for a while.

Dyson was really horrified this time. With his left hand, he threw Lonnis backwards and couldn't care about whether the baron would be injured like this. The explosion of this fighting spirit is equivalent to a high-ranking silver master's full blow, which can't help Dyson look down, and the right hand stabbing sword suddenly pierced out, the light and shadow from the stabbing sword just appeared, and the second stabbing The light and shadow of the sword emerged, and the light and shadow of the first stabbing sword had just stabilized in the air, and the third sword shadow appeared again. When the first sword shadow began to gradually dissipate, there were as many as eight sword shadows in the air!

Nine swords in one second!

In an instant, Dyson raised a sword curtain, densely packed. And every sword shadow also has a wave of vindictiveness. Although its power is very weak, it can't stop his attacks. When Dyson retreated five meters, the crimson crescent moon vindictiveness was finally completely defeated, but For Dyson, the consumption of this one is indeed not light, but after all, he is a master of the upper silver pinnacle, and he can still keep his face unchanged.

But the right hand, which was stable as before, began to tremble slightly.

This made Dyson's face become a little gloomy, and his murderous aura became a lot stronger, and the look at Rina became extremely unkind.

Another talented person at a young age!

Dyson felt extremely dissatisfied in his heart. He has today's achievements because he climbed out of countless lives and deaths. It was the return of countless blood and sweat. Therefore, he hates the so-called genius and also hates those with outstanding talents. If possible, Once he met such a person, he wanted to kill him completely on the spot. So when he saw that Rina had already stepped half of her foot into the upper silver, he had a very strong killing intent.

If possible, he even wanted to kill Xuefanio, but unfortunately he really couldn't beat Xuefanio, so the resentment towards Xuefanio was naturally passed on to Rina.

At this moment, because of her super performance, Rina issued a full blow that was equivalent to a high-level silver master. The fighting energy in her body was completely consumed, which made her unable to use fighting energy again in the next battle. As a result, she Only one-third of his strength remains. But this time, it is also extremely important for Rina, because at least she understands the difference between the lower silver and the upper silver, she is sure that she can step into the upper silver in a short time!

Lonnis's face finally could no longer maintain the tranquility before, but he looked surprised.

According to the current information circulating in the aristocratic circle, the evaluation of the new pioneering knight under the Marquis of Asuna is only that the potential is good, but if it is threatening, it is not great. Anyway, it is more focused on serving under him. One person: Angry Lion Alfred. This commander like a * of war has proven his strength through thousands of miles of journeys. Although it seems that there is no hope of being promoted to a gold rank powerhouse, it is nothing at all for the Kingdom of Darbion, which lacks famous generals. thing.

So Ronnis actually knew very well that the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion is now considering whether it is possible to  this man named Alfred over.

So basically all intelligence work is around Alfred, and this time they inquired that Alfred was not in Panda's leadership. It is precisely because of this that they will be so blatantly stationed at the border, ready to quickly break the Bandar collar before Alfred returns, and at the same time test Alfred's bottom line to see if there is a chance. Invite him over, and if not, then re-plan the action against him, at least not to add another fierce general to the Principality of Ryan.

Only Ronnis did not focus on Alfred.

He knew very well that an unruly and rebellious person like Alfred would definitely not be able to be subdued so easily, so the new lord of Pandaren must have something extraordinary. But what Lonnis didn't expect, he consciously had once again raised the lord and his strength by two steps to measure, but he still didn't expect to underestimate him!

A lower-rank silver magician is not terrible, but there is actually a higher-rank silver priest with a knife, which is really against common sense!

The members of the churches of the gods in the world have never intervened in disputes between nobles. Even if a lord spends money to hire priests or priests to help him, they will act together in adventures or other actions, but once When it comes to wars between two nobles, these priests and priests usually do not take action, not to mention priests with swords who have a higher status than priests and priests. This was also the reason why Ronnis was puzzled, and he could only think that it was some kind of secret agreement between the lord and the priest with the knife, only this time.

This kind of thing is not uncommon, and many powerful temples will come out to make some extra money in battle.

After this war, Lonnis also felt that it was necessary to remind other allies, especially the Boulder family, that this lord definitely had enough attention. However, it was not until the appearance of Rena that Ronnie realized that he had underestimated the opponent again. He could not see the true strength and situation of Rena, but from the situation of the blow just now, he could probably judge that it was a one. A high-ranking silver master.

A magician at the pinnacle of silver, a master of silver, plus an Alfred, Ronnis suddenly discovered that this lord named Sean Connery seemed to have a high-end combat power that seemed to be comparable. The earl family of a few years ago. But if it is only high-end combat power, Lonnis still has a great chance of winning. At least such a few masters can rely on the army's group power to kill. Although the loss may be slightly heavy, the soldier's Training is definitely much simpler than the recruitment of masters.

This is like the training and cost of an elite unit and a cannon fodder unit.

But Alfred is more than just high-end combat power. His commanding ability is also not inferior. This is a record of eight wins. But Lonnis listened to Sean's tone just now. The real military operations leader in his territory was a man named William Yale. This made Lonnis feel a little frightened. He then contacted the previous four territories and was responsible for spying on intelligence. The commander...Lonnis suddenly broke into a cold sweat.

Sir Sean Connery's commander is full of talents!

The sentence "I have a lot of capable people under my command" is definitely not an arrogant statement, but he really has the strength to say such a thing.

A magician at the lower silver pinnacle, a priest with a sword at the upper silver pinnacle, a gunner who seems to have the same upper silver strength, and a fierce general who not only has the lower silver strength but also excellent command ability, plus one A commander in command with military attainments no less than Alfred.

Such talents, whoever comes out, is qualified to be the guests of the great marquis families of the Kingdom of Darbion, especially Alfred and William, who are also qualified to become the talents of the five dukes in the kingdom fighting to break the head. But now, they are all gathered under the command of a jazz.

A jazz!

Not even aristocrats!

Lonnis suddenly had an urge to vomit blood.

If you let him know that Sean also attaches great importance to the cultivation of talents, and in the future, there will be Stalin, Aldolf, and Knok who can grow to be able to stand alone in the military. What kind of reaction will it be? And in terms of high-end combat effectiveness, Sean does hide two cards that have not yet been revealed: Anno and Dini.

It's hard to say that the former has to step into the golden realm, but there is absolutely no problem with the upper silver pinnacle; and if the latter can step into the silver realm, then her future achievements will never be too low. Sanctuary is hard to say, four Top gold before the age of ten is definitely safe.

What Shaun lacks right now is time!

A azure blue light shone on Rina's body, which made Rina's pale face slightly rosy.

Divine Art!

Seeing this azure blue brilliance, Dyson, who was already about to rush out, abruptly stopped the thought of rushing out, but the hilt of the sword was gripped tighter. He doesn't know what the effect of this magical technique is, but seeing the slightly ruddy look on the opponent's face, it is obvious that the strength is slightly restored, which means that the opponent can never be killed by a single move, and as long as she can sustain it. If he stays in a round of attacks, then he will be in trouble.

In the next second, Dyson's eyes were almost about to breathe fire.

I saw another blue brilliance flashing on Rena's body one by one.

Ice armor, ice aura, ice and snow will, Aswinter vitality, winter's fury... Seven or eight magic arts are directly applied to Rina's body, and there is even room for rejuvenation to take a breath. no.

Dyson had already seen the two divine arts of Ice Armor and Ice Aura, but Dyson's eyes were discredited by the subsequent series of divine arts that were displayed. He hadn't seen these magic arts at all, let alone what the effects of these magic arts were, but seeing that Rena was radiant at this moment, Dyson didn't fight it again in an instant. Mentality.

The goddess of ice and snow and winter is really silent for too long, so long that many people have forgotten that this high * was not a role in the ranks of the gods, otherwise, how dare to fight with Ares, the * of war? Godhead?

Winter's Wrath and Frost Will are the magical skills that are produced after one of the godhead fragments that the goddess of ice and winter, Aswinter snatched from Ares, merged into his own godhead system. One of these two magic arts is to strengthen the power of weapons, and the other is to greatly strengthen one's own pain resistance. Together with the physical defense of ice armor and the special effect of ice aura to slow down the opponent, it is equivalent to saying Rina's combat ability has completely finished K Dyson.

The magical technique of vitality is very common, but the effects of the vitality of each * are not the same.

Es Wentel's vitality can squeeze the latent power remaining in the victim's body, which is equivalent to overdrawing the physical energy and generating vindictiveness. For Rina at this moment, it is simply the most useful magic technique!

I have to say that Dyson's judgment on danger is indeed very keen. If he rushed forward at that time, then the current result must be predictable.

It's just that Dyson doesn't attack, it doesn't mean that Rina will forget it.

She has half-footed into the realm of high-ranking silver, so it is natural to experience as much of the high-ranking silver as possible. At this moment, when the spear is picked, the blue flames burning at the tip of the spear follow, and a faint blue light trail is emitted. This sophisticated spear is endowed with Winter's Wrath and is more powerful than ordinary high-quality weapons. To be even better, especially the ice damage attached to it, is even more irresistible.

As soon as the spear was raised, the whole person flew towards Dyson. Xuefanio, who was on the side, also approached at the same time, and had a back and forth strike with Rina!

Ryan, who was born as a mercenary, is a knight by profession, but she does not have some of the rigid spirit of a knight because of this. She will not pay attention to the spirit of one-on-one justice in this kind of battle.

The only pity is that Rina is good at using long spears, and Dyson's Western thorn sword is not a head-to-head type, so the confrontation between the two hardly needs to be too close, but Rina's ice halo seems a little frilled. . But even if this ice halo is just a decoration, the Winter's Fury on the tip of the gun is not a decoration. Dyson tried to open it with a sword, and after half of the sword was covered with frost, he never dared to use it again. The sword went to touch the tip of Rina's gun.

The blade of the Western thorn sword is originally thin and thin, and the texture is relatively light. After being covered with frost, it will become more fragile. If it is destroyed with brute force at this time, it is likely to cause the result of folding the sword. Under the mouse bid, Dyson, who was originally strong enough to beat Rina, was a little restrained, and it looked like he was feeding Rina to accelerate her growth.

In this situation, after Xuefanio joined, it became even more one-sided.

Because Xuefanio has already lifted the fighting state of Winter, and then put herself on the same magical state as Rina—this is a peculiar aspect of the Church of Snow and Winter, like the fighting state of Snow and Winter and the fighting state of Winter, Can be regarded as a certain kind of buff state, which can strengthen one's own combat ability and magical power, but once such a combat state is turned on, it is impossible to put any magical magic on oneself, which is incomprehensible.

Since Rina's ice aura is ineffective, Xuefanio puts himself in a melee fight with Dyson, which can also suppress and slow down his speed. I didn't do this before because Dyson's combat experience and consciousness were too rich. Xuefanio had to rely on the focus given by Winter's combat state to be able to barely suppress Dyson's attack speed, but at this moment and Rina both Join forces to deal with Dyson alone, then she naturally does not need to maintain the fighting state of Winter.

Dyson's defeat here is only a matter of time. It depends on when he can't bear to abandon Baron Ronnis and flee.

If he is determined to escape, Rina and Xuefanio really can't stop them.

Is it just Sean that makes him so easy?

After turning on the light body technique and adrenal stimulation, Sean joined the battle without hesitation. Originally, Dyson was seeing Sean taking a shot, and there was a hint of joy in his heart. After all, Sean's strength is too low. He can use this as a breakthrough to force the opponent to throw a rat, but he didn't expect it to be just a moment ago. As soon as they met, Dyson was so scared that he almost exclaimed. The pressure on him by Sean was even greater than that of Rina and Xuefanio combined!

This is definitely the strength that only the gold class can have!

Sean, within three minutes, indeed has the strength equivalent to a gold-level powerhouse.

And since he has joined the battle, it is natural to completely kill Dyson within three minutes.

The high-end combat power here is fighting the battle, and Baron Ronnies is completely unable to intervene, because what he needs to face next is a siege from a magician and more than 400 heavy infantry. The change in the situation was completely beyond his expectation, which also made Ronnis no longer have any chances, and was completely determined to fight it out here.

But as soon as the armies of the two sides confronted each other, Ronnis' pupils shrank suddenly.

Chapter 33: .All things wither

The heavy cavalry that lined up to protect Ronnis has a defensive advantage on the home court in this area, especially the hedgehog formation they put up with shields and guns, which is the most troublesome tactic. .

Under normal circumstances, the only way to destroy this hedgehog formation is to use the cavalry charge to forcefully break the formation. Of course, casualties are inevitable.

But right now, the Northland Barbarians from Sean's side were completely undaunted. Under Cecilia's command, they immediately formed a larger circle, and then gradually approached and surrounded Lang from the outermost periphery, fully compressing Lang. Space and changes of forces in Nice. And Ronnis, as a military commander who is good at combat command, naturally knows that these northern barbarians must not be posted, and must find a way to maintain the space activity range of the troops.

However, he ordered a change in the battle formation, using a spear to stab the opponent from the gap in the shield to force the opponent to be unable to get close, but he did not expect that Cecilia seized an opportunity to let a team of northern barbarians in. When the opponent's spear retracted, he immediately pierced, followed by a savage beating. After breaking a small gap, the needle was immediately inserted, and the line of defense was forcibly torn open as if it were a head around. The hungry wolf spinning around with the food suddenly pulled a bite of meat from the food, fierce and fierce.

Just such a confrontation, Lonnis immediately knew that the magician who was in charge of directing soldiers in battle was also a commander who was good at military operations!

This discovery made him very surprised. He really didn't understand why the talents under this jazz were all versatile!

It was such a momentary distraction. Cecilia, who was good at capturing opportunities, would not say anything polite. She immediately seized this opportunity accurately. Several northern barbarians surrounding the area immediately attacked with guns and forcibly opened a side. Suddenly, several other northern barbarians threw in their guns immediately. They only heard a few "puff puffs". It was obvious that the spear had stabbed the enemy, but whether it was fatal or not was another matter.

The two northern barbarian teams that were arranged later also took this opportunity to forcibly rush in, using half-length shields and long spears as tools to open the way, easily tearing open the outermost defensive line of the entire circle, directly cutting this Part of it was completely cut, and then the heavy cavalry who had left the formation and lost their shelter were quickly wiped out with thunder-like means. After doing this, Ronnis naturally did not dare to be distracted, but Cecilia was also calm, and did not rush to fight at all, but started to weaken the defense of these heavy cavalry layer by layer with a blunt knife and slow fire. , And as long as there is a chance, she doesn't mind biting a piece of meat on it.

In just one and a half minutes of confrontation, less than two hundred of the Ronnis's 300 heavy cavalry died, while the northern barbarians lost less than fifty.

The situation of the war has completely presented a one-sided situation.

Lonnis's rout is only a matter of time. However, it was slightly different from what William had guessed. The three hundred heavy cavalry did not flee, but behaved like a real guard of the dead, even if only the last soldier was left in the battle. , And will never surrender.

It's just this kind of persistence, when it falls into the eyes of Cecilia and others, it seems a bit meaningless.

And when Shaun's adrenal stimulation was finally coming to an end, Dyson, who was already embarrassed, was finally unable to hold it up. In order to resist the combination of Shaun and Xuefanio, Rina finally caught an offensive opportunity!

She took advantage of Dyson's sword to avoid Xuefanio's saber, and then sideways to avoid the slashing of Sean's sword, but at this time, he was a bit exhausted, and naturally his figure might still be as agile as before, so He was cut to his left rib with a sword by Sean—in fact, at this time, he hadn't noticed that Sean's sword was able to stab him, not because of his exhaustion, but because of Sean's direct activation of something. special power.

Under the pain of eating, Dyson finally tasted the fear of death coming, and under the threat of this death fear, he finally abandoned the little sensibility in his heart and decided to abandon Ronnis and escape alone!

But maybe his thinking reaction slowed down, or maybe because he was in the coverage of the ice halo, his movements became a little slow, so that when Rena had bullied him from behind, he didn't notice it at all. ! It wasn't until Rina's spear pierced his back and then penetrated his chest cavity, when the spear head burning with blue flames came out, that his body finally gave back a strong signal of severe pain and coldness. Dyson Yi He lowered his head in disbelief and looked at the tip of the gun, then slowly stretched out his left hand and touched the sharp tip of the gun.

In an instant, the three fingers of the thumb, index finger, and * that touched the tip of the gun were immediately covered by a layer of frost, and the frost continued to spread out. In a blink of an eye, these three fingers were completely frozen into ice.

Then Dyson clearly saw that in the part of his chest where the gun tip had penetrated, a large area of frost had begun to infect and spread out.

The spear was pulled out.

No blood splattered out, only the frightening icy blue is constantly spreading and spreading. Within a few seconds of pulling out the spear, half of Dyson's body had already been frozen into ice. At this moment, you don't need to think about it and know that the blood in his body must have been frozen earlier than his body, and the heart has already been frozen. Stop beating, strands of cold air are radiating from Dyson's pores, and the freezing process actually spreads from the inside to the outside.

Sean's pupils shrank suddenly, and he recognized this magic!

"This is not Winter's Fury."

Xuefaniao stood with his sword, seeming a little surprised by Sean's gaze, but he nodded and said, "It's not true."

"Everything is withering." Sean suddenly remembered a taboo term. At this moment, he finally knew who the goddess Ethwinter was.

This goddess has not only fought with the God of War to seize the Godhead, but is also the only true strongman in the game who successfully grabbed part of the Godhead fragments from the God of Death. It's just that after the goddess fell in the game, her ice and snow godhead was robbed by the ice god, and the godhead to which Rindong belonged was also divided by several other gods, even the part of the death * she robbed. The godhead also returned to the hands of the * of death.

Winter is cold, and this season has absolutely nothing to do with things like new life or awakening.

"Winter's Wrath is a simplified version of the Withering of All Things." Xuefanio seemed to know that Sean was so knowledgeable, so he didn't make a fuss, but said calmly, "These two magics seem to be the same, but you can only find out if you have actually played against it...The Withering of All Things has another additional function, that is, it can take the soul. As long as the target killed by the Withering of All Things, their soul will not fall into anything. The hands of the Necromancer and the God of Death will only be swallowed by Aswinter and become part of her divine power."

Sean was silent, he certainly knew the terrible magic of this magic.

In the game, all players killed by this magical technique cannot accept the resurrection of the resurrection technique, let alone resurrect from the nearest resurrection point. They can only choose to resurrect from the temple bound to the resurrection point, and they will be forced to drop two levels. However, the terrible part of this magical magic is not here, but this magic has a penalty of falling orders!

In other words, if a player has reached the seventh level of the lower golden level, but if this magic is killed, then they will fall back to the sixth level and ninth level. At the end of the game, a priest of the dead church who learned the magic of "All Things Withering" was regarded as a treasure by the major guilds, but as such a powerful magic, naturally it was not without any cost. If you die in the case of pvp, this magic spell will be forcibly deleted.

Looking at Dyson's gradual transformation into an ice sculpture, Sean's inner shock still failed to calm down.

However, Ronnis was afraid when he saw the tragic scene of Dyson's death, and finally revealed a huge flaw in his command!

Cecilia's eyes lit up, how could she miss this great opportunity!

Suddenly, it was a fire snake opening the way. The fire snake that rushed did not make a surprise attack from above this time, but directly broke through the defenses of several heavy cavalry with a horizontal charge, burning a road.

The Northland Barbarian who was already ready immediately turned into a charging arrow, and suddenly inserted from this road, rushed forward with a fierce and undaunted offensive, and finally completely cut the entire circle formation. After the division was successful, there was naturally no possibility of these heavy cavalry being encircled again. They followed Alfred in eight tough battles. They knew very well what to do in the next battle to expand the results, so they erected the same shield. The guns were isolated like this, like a lotus flower in full bloom in the mud, and all of a sudden, these heavy cavalry's echoes were completely isolated.

In this kind of internal and external attack, the continuous flow of northern barbarians began to use this line as the boundary. Together with the northern barbarians outside the encircling circle, they began to continuously cut their formations and squeeze the space, destroying the defensive lines and lines of these heavy cavalry. Layout, and then assassinated with a long spear, leaving no life at all. After solving Dyson's high-end combat power, Sean, Xuefanio, and Rena immediately returned to join the battle. With these three masters as the main arrows of the attack, these heavy cavalry were even more powerful. It was impossible to withstand this attack that was not at the same level, and they were completely defeated.

But until then, no heavy cavalry was willing to surrender. A dozen heavy cavalry even guarded Lonnis, constantly desperately seeking opportunities to break through, even completely ignoring the spears that pierced his body.

William specifically confessed that he wanted to capture Baron Ronnies alive, and Sean also discovered that the baron did have a lot of use to him, so how could he let it go?

So, he finally gave the order to wipe out. After receiving this order, the northern barbarians no longer had any scruples, and their shots became a lot more spicy. After this kind of real momentum developed in the continuous battlefield killings broke out, Lonnis finally truly understood the relationship between the two sides. The gap between.

is not only the gap in high-end combat power, but also the gap between commanders and generals, and even the military!

A few minutes later, three hundred heavy cavalymen trained by Ronnis were killed in battle!

The entire camp has been completely engulfed by the sea of fire. Lonnis's 300 heavy cavalry were killed in battle, more than 1,000 logistics and servants killed more than 400, and more than 500 people fled. There were no prisoners—not that they could not be caught, but Sean. The others disdain it at all.

Watching his camp engulfed by the sea of fire, and three hundred heavy cavalry were also buried in the sea of fire, Ronnis remained silent.

"Tie it up and take it away!" Xiao En said without thinking about it.

"You can't treat me like this, I am a nobleman, and I demand to treat me like a nobleman captive!"

"Stop talking nonsense." Xiao En sneered, "You forgot what I said before? You are willing to surrender and treat you like a noble captive, but you insist on fighting to the end. You know your decision to let How many people have I lost? Do I still want the treatment of a noble prisoner?... It's kind enough that I didn't kill you." After that, Sean said to the two northern barbarians: "Tie up, tie up. It doesn't matter if it is tight, anyway, there is no need to make him feel better, as long as you don't let him die, this person is still useful."

"What shall we do next?" After Sean was finished, Rena walked up and asked.

"Anyway, the strategic goal has been achieved. We will now return to Baige Town. The war has completely broken out from now on....The next thing is to see whether the remaining three lords are willing to cooperate with our actions."

Chapter 34: Surprise

Heavy rain started under the sky.

The rain is amazing, and the rising water vapor obscures the sky. The whole Boulder and the surrounding area of tens of kilometers are plunged into a hazy world, and the visibility is not even ten meters.

The agave collar, as the territory of the Boulder family, the vastness of this territory is well-deserved first in the entire Kingdom of Darbion, even the direct territories of the royal family cannot compare with it. But no one in the entire Kingdom of Darbion would be envious and jealous of the Boulder family's possession of such a territory. The reason is simple. The entire tequila collar is composed of one duchy, two marquis and five earls. The merger means that the Boulder family has at least one field duke, two field marquis, and five field earls. In this world where even a single viscount can already establish a family, the Boulder family, which has so many noble titles and titles, has not separated because of this. It must be said that this is an incredible thing, of course. It also means that the influence of the Boulder family in the kingdom of Darbion is extremely terrible.

As the most proud agave collar of the Boulder family, this city named after the Boulder family is undoubtedly the core of the entire Boulder family.

After seven expansions, Boulder City is now a huge city that can accommodate more than 300,000 residents. This city is not only the economic center of the entire Tequila Collar, but also one of the few trading cities in the entire Kingdom of Darbion, and almost every year trade taxes can reach millions.

The innermost circle of this huge city has been completely transformed into a fortress. This is the political center of the Boulder family. All children with the Boulder surname will live here until the age of sixteen. After that, they will be assessed and assessed. Only those with talents, talents or pass the assessment Only the teenagers can continue to live in this fortress, and once they fail the assessment, they can only leave the fortress to seek development on their own, and the Boulder family will no longer provide any material support free of charge.

The downpour seems to show no signs of stopping at all.

In this kind of weather, naturally no one will take to the streets, so there will be no business. Except for the hotels, even the pubs in Boulder City are closed. But in this kind of weather, there will be some people who are nervously busy.

Sivel is a business leader in the Eastern Capital Wolf Chamber of Commerce.

This is a large chamber of commerce active in the southeastern part of the Marvel Continent. It is headquartered in the Zenus Empire. Its trade scope is centered on the Zenus Empire and radiates to the surrounding kingdoms and principalities.

Sivel is over half a hundred years old this year. As an ordinary person, his appearance looks older than his actual age. As a veteran business leader who joined the East Capital Wolf Chamber of Commerce when it was established, it is impossible for Sivil to be responsible for the Boulder family's trade route. It's just that the fortunes are not good, because usually offends more people, plus the previous shipment. An error caused the Chamber of Commerce to lose a lot of money, so Sivil was sent here on the grounds of "whether he was capable enough".

"Quick!" Although Syville is over half a hundred years old, his aura is becoming more and more condensed. At this moment, his voice actually covers the roar of the rainstorm, "Move faster! Fasten the light rope, one by one, pay attention to the truck. The tarpaulin on the top, some goods in it can't get wet!... It's all right after entering the city, everyone moves faster, and I invite you to drink to warm everyone up in the evening."

Sivil's words spread far away in the heavy rain, which made the caravan members who were advancing through the rain feel excited. Especially those mercenaries, who can save a sum of money, this kind of good thing is not very common, so even if they start to help, this makes the caravan's forward speed a lot faster.

Sivil stretched out his hand and wiped his face, cursing: "This * ghost weather."

"Hey, my lord, you don't know." Hearing Sivil's voice, a caravan member who seemed to be a little older said with a smile, "Every year at the end of the rainy season at the end of summer, there will be heavy rains in the Tequila Collar. The coming, this is also one of the main reasons for the fertility of this land.... At least the harvest at the autumn harvest every year is very good, but the scale of the heavy rain this year is indeed a little bigger."

Syville screamed, he just came to the tequila collar soon, and many things are not clear. However, it is rare for anyone to know this at the moment, so Sivil asked humbly, seeming to be flattered by the good attitude of the business leader, the member who was questioned looked very frightened, but he After all, he has some experience and experience, so he is no stranger to Syville's problems.

At this moment, there was a sound of horseshoes.

Sivel turned his head in surprise, and there is such a loud sound of horseshoes in this torrential rain. What kind of scale should this be?

However, when this team of cavalry appeared in Sivil's line of sight, he realized that this team of cavalry had only a dozen cavalry, and they were all light cavalry. However, the sharp-eyed Sivil also found that when this team of light cavalry was running, their aura was very awe-inspiring, and the formation was also very unified. A team like this was barely able to reach elites even in the Chenas Empire. The ranks.

"It's a private soldier of the Boulder family, the tequila cavalry unit." Seeing Sivil's gaze, the caravan member next to him explained wisely, "I heard that this cavalry unit is only three thousand people. However, although they are light cavalry units, they are all trained according to the training scale of heavy cavalry. Back then, this unit was one of the few units in the kingdom that could block the Marquis of Tonis on the frontal battlefield.... It is said that the current Red Cross The commander of the cavalry regiment was once the commander of this agave cavalry regiment. It seems that the cavalry unit he trained is very powerful, so he can become the head of the Red Cross Cavalry regiment."

"This unit seems to be in a hurry."

"Probably because of the lord who led Panda."

"Isn't Panda collar abandoned?"

"Hey, the Marquis of Tonys in the Principality of Ryan didn't know what he thought. He sent a lord to manage the Pandan collar. As a result, there hasn't been much development over there. This lord has a contradiction with the Mordge collar. It seems that they are threatening to flatten the Maudge collar. No, for the sake of their reputation, the Boulder family certainly has to put on a posture. Some time ago, the private troops in the territory were sent out except for the Tequila Cavalry Regiment. , I am going to give a severe lesson to that lord.... This battle, I don't think there is any suspense. Can a new lord win the private army of the Boulder family? That is 20,000 people. The mixed corps."

Sivil did not know much about the war, but after hearing these words, he had some doubts about the appearance of the agave cavalry. He could see that this cavalry unit was really anxious, especially the leader of the knight. His aura was too strong. The rainstorm falling in the sky couldn't reach him at all, as if there was something around his body. The invisible protective cover blocked the rain.

This is a method only available to the gold-level powerhouse!

Despite the heavy rain, the gates of Boulder City were not closed. According to the rules, horses were not allowed in the city. However, this team of tequila cavalry entered directly on horseback and did not mean to dismount.

However, when the soldiers in charge of the city defense saw these tequila cavalry steps on the road paved with red bricks in the city, everyone's faces were surprised. This road is a private military road owned by the Boulder family. You can only ride horses on this road when there is an emergency military situation. However, except for the cavalry when the war with the Principality of Lane broke out a few years ago, after the cavalry set foot on this road, before and after Nothing like this has happened in decades.

Is there another war about to break out?

When the agave cavalry arrived at the central fortress of Boulder City, the mounts under the hips of this group of agave cavalry were obviously no longer good, but at this time no one had time to pay attention to these, because the leading knight quickly He was summoned to the large conference hall.

Standing in the meeting hall, the knight's face was a little pale, and his figure was a little shaky. This was because the fighting energy in his body was consumed too violently. But in fact, he really can't let the rain get wet, otherwise the letter he put in his arms will naturally be soaked by the rainstorm, and the content of the letter will not be preserved.

After seeing the old Duke Hatch, the knight took off his light armor without hesitation, took out the letter in his arms, and handed it to the Duke who seemed to be a lot more emaciated than before. After the Duke accepted the letter, he immediately opened it and couldn't wait to open it. He only glanced at the content on it, and the whole person was immediately stunned, his expression a little unbelievable.

"died?"

"Yes.... All six tequila black guards were also killed." The knight nodded, "At that time, we all felt the aura of powerful power, so we had set off immediately, but it was about a distance from the border of the tequila collar. For nearly half a day, when we arrived, the other party had already robbed Master Elsie, so we immediately launched the search circle, and finally only found the body of the Tequila Black Guard."

"Do you know who did it?"

"The opponent's technique is very sophisticated, and the tail is also very clean. All thieves have been eliminated, and there is no survival."

The old Duke Hatch's face turned ugly, and then he suddenly thought of something, and shouted: "Where is Yuki now? Use magic communication to tell him immediately, let him come back to me immediately! Also, notify immediately Ronnis and the others, let them stop their actions! At the same time, they ordered the troops not to go to Mordge to lead them, and return immediately!... It must be the handwriting of the Marquis of Tonis that can calculate everything so accurately!... Damn, What on earth is there in Modge worthy of the devil's attention!?"

"But my lord...we and Lonnis do not have a magic communication tool."

Duke Hatch was taken aback for a moment, and then angrily said: "Then find a way! In any case, you can't let them conflict with Sean!" After thinking about it, it seemed that he didn't feel safe, and he immediately said: "And The Marquis of Tonis asks for peace!"

"But Master Elsie is no longer in our hands."

"Does the peace talks still need Elsie!? What do I do to raise your staff! Give me a plan immediately before tomorrow!"

"Yes!"

Several staff members previously relied on by the Old Hatch Duke responded with a little horror. They had never seen Old Hatch so angry.

Chapter 35: .All he wants is war

Viscount Rud has been having nightmares lately.

Since a month ago, he saw a cloud of red fire erupting from the direction of the original Shaofu leader, he fell into a certain panic. This emotion brought him too much pressure. Even if he didn't understand anything, he could feel the terrifying power contained in the fire cloud. This power made him feel an unmatched illusion in his heart. At this moment, he regretted coming to find it. Trouble with Lord Panda.

Rudd Mitchlin is a new noble in the Kingdom of Darbion. After this family based on commercial development became a nobleman, it did not quickly integrate into the aristocratic system of the Kingdom of Darbion. Very strong rejection, and the emerging aristocracy is largely dominated by military reformers, and the Mitchlin family, who was born as a businessman, naturally finds it difficult to integrate. Although Rudd was high hopes by his father when he was young, he hopes to expand the influence of the family, whether it is to integrate into the old aristocratic circle or the emerging aristocratic circle, it is a good thing for the Michelin family.

That's why Rudd joined the coalition without hesitation after knowing the identity of Ronnis. As long as he can catch up with the Boulder family, the most influential nobleman in the Darbion Kingdom, he will become the hottest person in the entire Darbion Kingdom in an instant, not to mention integrating into the old aristocratic circle or the emerging nobleman. Circle, the people of these two aristocratic circles even want to draw him in turn.

Out of this beautiful expectation, Rudd will put all his capital into this gamble.

He still has some confidence in his abilities.

Perhaps he can't compare with Baron Ronnis in terms of military capabilities, but he also has specialties that Ronnis doesn't have-he is one of the few lords in the kingdom of Darbion who can manage both military and government affairs. His territory has gradually become prosperous thanks to his hard work, and now he no longer needs to invest funds in trade and commerce, but can start to feed back funds to him, which also allows him to start adding more Attention and energy are devoted to the building of the army.

Originally, his life should be getting better and better.

But I don't know why. Once he remembered the fire cloud he saw a month ago, he felt a panic of fear. It was the kind of fear that emanated from the depths of the heart, the tremor that couldn't be restrained at all. In the past month, he has not slept peacefully for a day, even if there are two high-level silver masters around him, but I don't know why Lu Germany just has no sense of security at all.

He always wondered, would it be too rash to agree to join Ronnis's invitation to join the coalition plan?

Rudd got up from the bed and glanced at the empty soft bed, wondering why there was a sudden loneliness in his heart.

His family is still too young. It has developed from the great-grandfather's generation. After three generations of hard work, his father finally became a nobleman, but only had an identity title. Although he got married afterwards, he spent most of his life working hard to become a nobleman on the ground. In Rudd's impression, he and his father did not see each other several times a year until he was eight or nine years old. Finally stabilized, his father got his wish and became a nobleman on the ground, but his mother died of illness.

Lovesickness becomes ill.

He once hated his father, so when he was arranged by his father to go to the Military Academy at the age of nine, he did not refuse, just thinking that the farther away from his father the better. Then he stayed at the Military Academy for six years. During that time, he did not return home once. After graduating at the age of sixteen, he served as an officer in the Royal Army of Darbion, and he was also in the Ronnis that he knew. After three years of training, he joined the Kingdom Expeditionary Army at the age of nineteen. After four years of expedition, he caught up with the invasion of the Principality of Lane. That battle was also the first time he led his troops back to his father's territory as an officer to participate. defense.

Naturally, it goes without saying that the kingdom of Darbion was completely defeated, and the territory his father had worked so hard to manage for his entire life became the spoils of others.

For this reason, his father got a serious illness. When he was dying, Rudd seemed to have finally found out in his conscience and went to see his father for the last time. It was also on that side that made him firm in his desire to make the Mitchlin family a great noble in the Kingdom of Darbion. For this reason, he gave up the title of earl that he might obtain, inherited the title of viscount from his father, and became a noble on the ground. The development of the family and the territory is constantly working hard.

After nearly five years of development, his territory has finally begun to prosper.

But looking back, Rud realized that he seemed to miss a lot of things. For some reason, he suddenly remembered the sweet smile in his memory, but the family power behind this smile also made Rudd understand that the girl was not raised by himself, as Kazes Hodgedi. The second daughter of the prince, her future had already been determined, even if he wanted to marry her, her father would not necessarily agree.

That is the daughter of a prince.

"If you can catch the Boulder family line..." Rudd whispered softly.

The cruelty of reality has made him understand that even if he can develop the territory and the army no matter how strong he is, but without allies, he is just a piece of fat in the eyes of others. Wars between nobles often break out. As long as it is not on the scale of a national war, other surrounding lords will naturally not be able to intervene. It is also a contest for strength and allies.

"As long as I can enter the sight of Prince Kazes, maybe I will really have a chance." Rudd squeezed his hands, and the fear in his heart gradually calmed down. The future is also limitless. As long as I continue to maintain a friendly relationship with him, I can also succeed! This gamble, I have nothing to lose, anyway, I am a winner anyway!"

Like hypnosis, Rudd continued to puff himself up, and his eyes gradually became quiet.

There was a rapid knock on the door.

"Come in." Rude said in a deep voice.

The door was pushed open, and a plainly dressed middle-aged man stepped in.

The two high-ranking silver masters under Rude's command were all those who followed his father back then, and were cultivated by his father with exhaustion of effort. However, the strength of these two people does not seem to be very good. Both are over forty years old and are still in the upper silver stage. If there is no big opportunity, these two people will probably stop at this level in this life. Fortunately, these two family knights are still loyal to the Michelin family. At least they never thought of leaving. They also survived the most painful and difficult days with Rudd, and now they both have it. To his own manor.

"Uncle Northen, what's the matter?" Seeing the middle-aged man's face, Rude hurriedly asked.

"Master, Baron Ronnis has lost."

"Lost?" Lu De was taken aback for a moment, then said, "What's the matter?"

"The lord is more cunning and aggressive than we thought." Northen said in a deep voice, "A few days ago, he secretly entered the territory of Baron Ronnies, and then launched a raid. The specific process of the battle was not discussed. It's not clear, but according to the information received, the lord named Sean started with a raid and created a chaos in the camp of Baron Ronnies, and then seemed to take control of the stable area, forcing Baron Ronnies to rehabilitate him. The cavalry can't deploy a formation, and then the fighting situation is not clear."

"At present, we only know that Baron Ronnies should have fallen into Sean's hands, and now this lord is leading the troop on a swaying return journey. According to the feedback from the guerrillas, the size is about four hundred."

"Lonnis actually lost?" Rudd frowned. "Is there a way to find out how many people the lord brought when the war broke out?"

"No way." Northen shook his head regretfully, "The situation is very complicated now. The other two barons have already planned to retreat. Master, I think it is better for us to retreat now?"

Rudd did not answer Northen's question, but frowned and asked: "You said that the lord is now on his swaying return journey?"

Although I don't know why Rudd wanted to ask, Northen still said, "Yes."

"This lord has great ambitions." Rudd's brows have deepened. A person who can develop both the government and military affairs of the territory will certainly not be a idiot. "What he wants is a game. War. That's right! This leader is a war! Maudger and Elsie, even we are just excuses and pretences. Maudger must have some unknown secret! Northen Uncle, get the map."

Nuosen didn't understand, but he immediately took the map according to Rudd's orders.

This map is not much different from the one given by Asuna to Sean, except that the names of certain places on the map are different, but the fineness is obviously better, and it can already be compared with William. The fineness of the map made is comparable, and it can be seen that Rudd's emphasis on the map is definitely not lower than that of William.

But on this map, Rudd did not see any wonders. His first reaction was that the Principality of Ryan had some secret information that they didn't know, and it was possible that there was something buried in the Mordge's collar. A certain treasure. But soon he overthrew this idea, because if it was just like this, they could organize a small team to enter, so that it would not attract attention.

After a few seconds of contemplation, Rudd drew the outline of the map on a piece of white paper, and marked both the enemy and the enemy in two colors, red and blue, and then painted the area representing the Modger collar in red.

When Rudd finished this action, the whole person was stunned for an instant, his face was as scared as he had seen a ghost: "Strategic forward base!"

Even if Northen didn't know anything about military issues, he knew very well what the six words "strategic forward base" meant. He raised his head in disbelief and looked at Rudd: "Is the Marquise of Tonys still Want to start another war?"

"Even if this is not the case, as long as this territory is taken by her, all the surrounding area will be restrained by her. By then, she will really be completely in the shadow of her threat." Rudd's face was a little pale, originally The already calm and peaceful heart panicked again. He uncomfortably remembered the fire cloud he saw a month ago, "I will immediately find a way to inform the Boulder family. Save it!"

"but....."

"There is nothing but, Uncle Northen!" Rudd said in a deep voice, "We have nothing to lose, so this time we are all winners anyway. But if the Kingdom of Darbion does not exist, then we will win again. Many, but also a loser!... The Marquis of Tonis would never come up with such a strategy, the Lord Sean Connery is a lunatic!"

Chapter 36: . People who play cards unreasonably

The sky is very clear.

Sean's team was indeed swaying forward, and even deliberately swayed from the border of another baron, but the baron was so scared that the baron retreated for thirty miles. This made Sean have the idea of taking advantage of the fire. . However, considering that the Iron Wings troops were really exhausted, and there were nearly 700 people on the other side, this battle was also a bit tough, and it was likely to destroy William's layout, so Sean had to give up.

Different from the nervousness and cautiousness during a sneak attack, the way back is much easier, which also represents a certain degree of boredom.

In fact, both Rena and Xuefanio didn't understand why William wanted to capture the baron alive. If they choose to kill him, they can get the same benefits. Anyway, the territory of Ronnis has been taken down. If the Kingdom of Darbion wants to get it back, it will naturally be done by war, but If this is the case, wouldn't it be more in line with Sean's idea?

Everyone knows that Sean, the lord, is going to fight the kingdom of Darbion.

And if Ronnis is killed, it will be able to better motivate the morale of the army. At least Rina would be happier, because in this lord's territory, her manpower was the most damaged at the beginning, and it was not necessarily less damaged than in the hands of the viscount.

It's just that Sean didn't nod, so Rina could only hold the breath in her heart and vent her inner anger in other ways.

"You are torturing!" Ronnies, who was locked in a cage like a rare animal, roared angrily, "You are an insult to a nobleman!"

"Insult?" Sean glanced lazily and smiled, "You haven't seen a real insult yet.... Maybe you think it's not good to be a rare animal and want to be a dog? Rina, next You don't need to give him dry food for the meal, just give him a few bones."

"Yes, my lord." Rina said with a smile on her face.

Lonnis's face was flushed. When has he been humiliated like this!

"You will pay the price!" Lonnis suddenly shouted, his eyes full of unwillingness and anger, his life's fame was ruined!

"The price?" Sean looked at Ronnies and smiled, "You remind me.... There has never been anything for nothing in this world. Since you want better treatment, then let's do it. Equivalent exchange."

Seeing Sean's face, Ronnis gave a faint sigh, and his eyes became more wary: "What do you want to do?"

"Well, because of your wrong decision, you have caused me to lose nearly a hundred subordinates, so you don't want to get any noble treatment from me." Sean said simply, "But if you take you If the production plan of the special armor worn by the heavy cavalry is given to me, I can consider letting you enjoy the noble treatment for a week.... Your family is a marquis family? Then I will let you enjoy the treatment that a marquis deserves. "

"Hehe, it turns out you wanted my armor to make drawings." Lonnis suddenly laughed.

He is a commander, but under this premise, he is a lord and a nobleman. As a qualified nobleman, the skill of negotiation is naturally instinct. No matter on the bed or under the bed, no nobleman lacks this skill. So when Ronnis heard Sean say his He couldn't help but laugh when he wanted to. As long as Sean was willing to negotiate with him, he felt that many things could be resolved.

Anyway, for a nobleman, failure on the battlefield is nothing more than a greater loss at the negotiating table.

"It is not a problem to give you the drawings for making the armor, but don't you think my current situation is not suitable for negotiation?"

Although Lonnis looked unusually embarrassed, and his luxurious clothes had become tattered, but at this moment still showed some of the elegance that nobles should have, even Sean had to admit that a real man No matter how decadent the nobles are, the temperament on their bodies is real, because this sense of superiority has been deeply carved into their souls.

"Negotiating?" Sean also laughed, "Who told you that I was negotiating with you? Do you have the qualifications? But just a defeated, from the point of view of the nobleman, you are just my spoils. As a trophy, there should be something like a trophy. I think you are a monkey and you are a monkey. I think you are a noble when you are a noble.... Now, you are still here. In the cage, so in my eyes you are just a monkey."

After hearing Sean's words, Cecilia finally couldn't help but laugh; but compared to Cecilia's stubborn smile, Xuefanio and Rina laughed completely without image. As for the northern barbarians who don't know what etiquette is, it is even more impossible to give Ronnis face, and those northern barbarians who don't know what happened, all laughed loudly after asking each other.

Soon, the laughter spread far away like a rolling thunder.

"You!" Ronnis was flushed with anger again, he felt like a monkey, being repeatedly humiliated.

"Now even if you give me the drawing, you can only enjoy the treatment of the earl." Sean squinted at Ronnis, still in a calm appearance, "Your next sentence may determine whether you enjoy the treatment of the earl or the earl. Viscount, so think about it carefully."

Sean is a skilled veteran player, so many crafting recipes in the game can be obtained by digging treasures, copying, etc., through certain tasks, they can also be obtained in the hands of npc. And since the standard equipment used by Lonnis's heavy cavalry is this special armor, putting it in the game means that he must have a quest line that can obtain this kind of armor production blueprint.

If it's in the game, Sean will definitely take some brain power to get this task, but since it's in reality, then he naturally doesn't need to buy anything like favorability, anyway, he and the Kingdom of Darbion were originally in the hostile camp. Since this is a destined result, Sean will naturally adopt other methods to obtain this drawing, for example, the way it is now.

Since the other party emphasizes the need for aristocratic treatment, why don't I give it to you, anyway, this situation is very normal in the war. However, Sean didn't want to give it to the other party in vain, so that the other party would take it for granted, so naturally he wanted Ronnis to exchange the armor production drawings.

He has checked after the war.

Lonnis's heavy cavalry used this kind of armor, which is indeed an armor between light armor and heavy armor, and its protection is stronger than light armor. Not only can it resist arrow damage as effectively as chain mail, but it also has a certain degree of resistance to piercing damage from weapons such as dragon spears and long spears. As for damage such as slashing, not to mention, the protection ability needs to be better than light armor.

This is an advantage in defensive capabilities, but what Shaun really values is that the weight of this armor is only one-half of the weight of plate armor, and one-third of heavy armor, which is not considered to be the weight of light cavalry. Especially big. If Sean is willing to spend more money, configure better horses and equipment, and strengthen the training of cavalry, he can even deploy a heavy cavalry like Ronnis.

However, the only thing that cannot be determined at the moment is the material used to make this armor.

If it's just a material like ordinary heavy armor, it's okay. At most, it will cost more manual costs. However, the heavy cavalry unit configured in this way is more than half cheaper than the heavy cavalry unit of the same size, and the protection ability is excellent. many. Of course, if you encounter heavy cavalry or infantry units that are willing to spend the cost to build, the heavy cavalry built with this equipment does not have much advantage at all, because this kind of armor is not thickened and interlayered, so crossbow arrows and The damage of armor-piercing arrows is also unavoidable, and in terms of the hedging force of the frontal impact, it is also weaker than the traditional heavy cavalry.

So Sean's demand for this armor equipment is not so strong, and can only be used as a transitional equipment.

Since this is the mentality, of course he has put on an indifferent appearance, so in the eyes of Ronnis, Sean has become a little unreasonable to play his cards.

After a moment of silence, Ronnis finally had to admit the cruelty of reality, especially in the hands of someone like Sean who played cards unreasonably. This made reality even more cruel. All his negotiation skills could not be used. Sean's hands. Even, he couldn't tell whether the words that Xiao En said just now was a threat of guilty conscience or something else, but he didn't dare to try to challenge Xiao En's bottom line.

In the final analysis, his essence is still a nobleman who is eager to enjoy himself.

Therefore, Ronnis had to make the attitude and appearance that a trophy should have, and whispered: "In such an environment, I can't make drawings for you. At least I need the most basic drawing tools and a table." "

"It doesn't matter, I will give you these things when I get to Baige Town." Xiao En said with a calm face, "So when do you make drawings for me, when will you be able to enjoy the earl-class treatment for a week.... And Before that, you could only stay like this. Oh, yes, because your previous impoliteness made me very upset, so your lunch and dinner today only have meat bones with minced meat."

"Hmph, you better pray not to fall into my hands one day, then..."

"Tomorrow's three meals are also meat and bones." Sean said calmly, so Ronnis was very aggrieved and chose to shut up.

He is just a little uncomfortable with the current life, but it doesn't mean that he is a tall and handsome idiot.

Seeing this scene, Cecilia and others couldn't help it. A dignified high-level commander of the future military department who is highly anticipated by the Kingdom of Darbion, can only helplessly deflate along the way, and dare not even say a word in the scene. How can this make people not laugh?

Looking at Ronnis's flushed face and holding back the anger in his heart, Sean couldn't help but feel a dark refreshment, so he smiled and said, "I am in a good mood now. I will tell you a news for free... But in the future you want to If you know any news, you need to exchange things. I am a very fair person. I like the principle of equivalence best."

Lonnis took a deep breath, as much as possible to calm the ups and downs in his heart, and then asked: "What news?"

He understands that free things should not be for nothing.

"Your coalition has already started pulling out. It is now heading towards Baige Town, probably to save you." Xiao En laughed, "I don't see it, you still have a human heart, what is that person's name? ... is Viscount Rudd your good friend?"

Lonnis was slightly startled when he heard what Shaun said, and immediately reacted: "All of this is a trap!? Your real purpose is just to start a war!?"

"Almost." Sean shrugged, "But your friend really cooperates with my actions. Now my territory can be expanded again."

"Heh, you want to defeat Rudd with just a few people in your hand?" Lonnis let out a disdainful sneer, "Rudd's talent and talent may not be as good as mine, but his command is mainly steady, even if it is me. It's a headache to confront him. What's more, with nearly four thousand coalition forces, do you really think this little force in your territory can stand it?"

"I think it can be blocked." Sean turned his head and said seriously, "Because this time William led the army and Alfred was the vanguard."

Lonnis's pupils shrank suddenly.

"Furthermore, Earl Simi has also led the Thunder's Front from Tonys Fortress. When we return to White Pigeon Town, Mordege should be taken."

This time, Ronnis's face has become a little pale.

Chapter 37: The so-called nobility

The outbreak of the war was beyond everyone's expectations.

When the news of Asuna's dispatch of troops spread, the entire Kingdom of Darbion instantly fell into a panic. In this case, the honeymoon period of the conservative and hawks in the military ended quickly, and they turned to the doves who had been silent during the Ronnis incident. This time, even the original sense of existence was not very high. The neutral faction of China has also formed a force that can not be ignored in an instant, but the more the neutral faction is united, the more irritable the hawks will be, because it is impossible for the neutral faction to support their position.

As for the reformists, this time they unexpectedly chose to remain silent.

The shadow that Asuna caused to the entire Kingdom of Darbion was too strong, and it was so strong that this generation of people had completely lost their fighting spirit.

As the instigator of this panic, Sean continued to move forward indifferently.

It is about a day's journey from Baige Town. If the team speeds up a little bit faster, it can even reach Baige Town in the early morning. This is good news. As for Ronnies, who is regarded as a rare animal, after eating meat and bones for two full days, he has also become honest, and he has no extra energy to think about how his country will become, because he even now Survival has become an issue.

Ideal is full, the reality is very skinny.

Lonnis repeatedly chewed the meaning of this sentence, a little surprised by the meaning of this sentence, and his hostility towards Sean was unknowingly lessened.

He began to feel that Sean is a respectable opponent.

Of course, Sean did not know that a word he said casually would have a brainwashing effect on Ronnies. If he knew it, I am afraid he would have all the Internet words learned on the earth that year. In Nice's mind. In fact, when Sean said this sentence, he was purely complaining about Ronnies. It was just because the content of the words was too advanced, so this kind of complaining seemed a bit boring. In the end, Cecilia asked about this. After the meaning of the sentence, Xiao En opened his mouth to explain it, and everyone understood the meaning of the sentence.

In an instant, many people's views on Sean changed immediately.

Although he is advancing along the established route, Sean is not doing nothing. At this time, he is sorting out the territory information in his mind, and sorting and storing them in different categories.

This function was discovered by Xiao En accidentally recently, but he didn't know when he had it. However, it is a good thing for him to be able to sort them into categories like this, and he also found that many buildings have special functions.

For example, in the education category, there is a gadget called "Magic Library". The name sounds pretty popular, but it is actually a gadget similar to a smart library on the earth. Its function can allow anyone studying in the library to get an efficiency +20% commission, and the library can also be upgraded. The five-level library can increase the efficiency by 40%, which can greatly shorten the learning efficiency of students .

But this thing looks very good, but the architectural requirements are not easy.

Not to mention that its architectural premise is to establish an academy, and it has a secondary research institute and a series of other building facilities. Only the magical power source makes Xiao En discouraged. Let's not say that the world has not yet developed into the era of magic technology. Even if it does, Sean can't afford this kind of stuff. It can cost millions of dollars at every turn, and according to the requirements of the five-level magic library. To calculate, just this magical power source needs nearly 50 million gold coins.

With this money, Sean might as well build a non-commissioned officer academy. This thing allows Sean to directly cultivate a large number of non-commissioned officers. This is an important building that is absolutely necessary for Sean, because he cannot have only one or two in the future. An army, and the size of the army cannot be so small. Therefore, with the expansion and reintegration of the army, the non-commissioned officers of the middle class are a very important link. After all, when the commander of any army gives orders on the battlefield, it is impossible to be as detailed as the team. It is a real world.

The problem is that the premise of the construction of the noncommissioned school is still to build an academy first, which makes Xiao En very distressed.

Basically, almost all the architectural premises in the education system require the establishment of a college first. This is the framework of the entire system, and only after this framework is built, can other details be adjusted in this framework, but when he thinks of the huge capital and vast area required to establish the college, Sean feels The pressure is too great.

And even if Sean can really build an academy, and build things such as the non-commissioned officer's academy, magic tower, etc., it does not mean that it can be cultivated immediately. There is also a very critical factor in it, that is, the strength of teachers. . How could it be possible to educate good students without a good teacher? Even if William, Cecilia, Alfred, and Rena were all sent by Sean to be a guest teacher, it was still far from enough.

Shaun is really melancholy.

The feeling of sitting in the treasure house and not being able to enter is really desperate.

When all these things were sorted out, the team was about to arrive in Baige Town without knowing it.

Sean sighed a little tiredly, and Cecilia asked with concern: "What's the matter?"

"It's nothing, it's just a bit...irritable." Sean said with some irritation. When he turned around, he saw Ronnies lying in the cage asleep, and his mood became even more unhappy. So he walked over and thumped the cage. Ronnis woke up.

"It's time for dinner?" Ronnis rubbed his eyes, yawned, and sat up lazily.

The height of this cage is not high enough for Ronnies to stand up, and it can't make him sleep comfortably in a large font. Basically, he curls up when sleeping, and he can only sit even for activities on weekdays. Then, occasionally chatting with Sean on one occasion to pass the time. So at the moment he got up and sat in the cage, he really felt a bit like a rare animal. This kind of consciousness instantly made Xiao En even more crazy.

"I hope there will be a little more flesh on the bones today." Ronnis murmured. Unfortunately, the people around the cage were all guys with extraordinary ears, so this murmur was naturally unable to hide from Sean and the others.

"I said, can you be more spineless!" Xiao En felt that it was a good thing to torture the enemy, why suddenly it became unpleasant, "You are a nobleman! Someone who wants to inherit the title of Marquis in the future even has A genius who may become the sixth duke of the Kingdom of Darbion, can't you be more like a nobleman?"

"What? It's not time to eat yet." Lonnis drew his ears and curled his lips in dissatisfaction. "I'm just a trophy. Isn't I a monkey in your eyes?... By the way, if I If you learn how to call a monkey, can you bring more meat in the bones for the next meal?"

"Your shame is there!" Sean roared.

"Can that thing be eaten as a meal?" Ronnie looked at Sean in surprise, "Isn't it what you said, "Life is like rape. If you can't resist, you must learn to enjoy it"?... So I can only Try to enjoy it, anyway, the Marquis of Tonis has already sent troops to participate in this battle. What is the suspense of this war? I might as well just wait until the end of the war."

"It's only a few days, has your will been worn out like this?" Sean looked at Ronnies in disbelief.

Is this still the commander who ordered a deadly battle with himself in the barracks before?

This is not scientific at all!

Where is the high-spirited Ronnies before?

"Are nobles like this?" Sean looked at Cecilia with a look of surprise.

"Aren't you a nobleman?" Rina and Xuefanio looked curious.

Although Sean's title at the moment is only a knight, his behavior and etiquette are obviously more elegant and far-sighted than ordinary nobles. Everyone believes that Sean is definitely from a certain person in the Chenas Empire. Known member of the ancient nobility. So at this moment, everyone was surprised at Sean's question, even Ronnis, who seemed to be used to being raped, also raised his ears.

It is not fake that he is a little bit self-defeating, but this does not mean that Ronnis's xinxing has been completely wiped out.

"It's different from the noble in my impression." Xiao En said with a look of surprise, "Doesn't the noble retain the elegance and pride of the aristocrat even if it is defeated to death? Look at this guy, it's only a few days ago. Time! It's like a mangy dog!"

"So I dropped from a monkey to a leprechaun?" Ronnis continued to dig his ears, and said something that almost made Sean go violently.

However, everyone was somewhat relieved about Sean's question.

"There is no comparison between now and before." Cecilia thought for a moment, and said, "The nobles in the past were a belief in chivalry and dogma, and the people paid taxes to the nobles and lords, and the nobles and lords were responsible for shelter. My own people... But now with the increase of nobles, the noble system is divided into three different levels: real, real power, and strength. Therefore, belief and spirit have already undergone certain changes, plus the current frequent wars. Therefore, it is not uncommon for nobles to become prisoners. Therefore, there is a noble war protection treaty. However, this kind of treaty is not binding. It is just because there are conflicts of interests, so many people will choose to default."

This kind of treaty, Sean knows very well that if the nobleman becomes a prisoner, he can be released as long as he can pay a ransom that satisfies the victor. Of course, if his family or family members are unwilling to pay the ransom for him, then he can also choose to pay the ransom himself or sign certain contracts with the victor, such as how many years of service to the victor as the price of self-redemption.

"For the current aristocracy, it is actually just one thing to die generously..." Cecilia frowned, seeming to be considering the words, "It's quite stupid.... Basically as long as there is release or self-redemption Hope that many nobles are willing to give up the face of dignity. Of course, there are still some nobles in this world who still advocate chivalry and faith, but after all, they are a minority."

"If I decide to kill you now, what would you do?" After hearing what Cecilia said, Sean turned his head and looked at Ronnis.

"No room for negotiation?"

"no."

"Then please allow me to take a shower and have a rich last supper. Finally, please send my head back to my family." Lonnis said in a deep voice, and the sordid temperament of a mangy dog on his body is also completely gone. .

Chapter 38: .Impact shield production drawings

Shaun didn't kill Ronnis in the end, and that sentence was just a joke.

And when the team returned to Baige Town, it was as early as he had expected, it was early in the morning.

At this time, the town of Baige looks exceptionally peaceful.

The original Baige Town was developed from a small village. At the center of the town is a circular square. The original mayor's mansion and the houses of several wealthy businessmen were built around this circular square. The house is basically this kind of wrap-around layout. But I don't know when, the original circular layout was changed to a field layout, with the innermost circle as the center of the entire town.

But when Sean decided to expand into a city, William made changes to the layout of the entire town.

The square in the center of the town has not been changed in any way, but the surrounding wealthy business houses and the mayor's mansion have all been demolished and rebuilt, and a new temple is also built. All this is the central area of the entire city, and the original circular layout around the town square is also All torn down and rebuilt. Except that the city center still retains the circular layout, everything else will be planned in a field-shaped structure and distributed according to different areas.

The new city, Xiao En, decided to name it Void City, and the south and east of the city will become the key planning and investment areas of this city. The east of the city will be converted into a market area. All taverns, hotels, grocery stores, etc. will be concentrated in this city. In addition, a vacant lot will be specially opened. Here, Shaun is going to be converted into a flea market. Anyone only needs to pay. For a little money, you can get a stall here for free peddling, and everything will be directly protected by the city defense team, even the thieves' guild will never be allowed to move here.

The south of the city will be converted into a residential area for the rich. All the houses here are independent buildings with front and back courtyards, and the security here is also directly under the responsibility of the city defense team. In the future, Sean even plans to invest one or two strong players here. Only in this way can he advertise the importance of this area, so that the land will be heated up and sold at a very high price.

Of course, in the foreseeable early days, no one would buy a house here. Basically, the price of a courtyard is not lower than one million gold coins. With the financial resources of the residents of Baige Town, who can afford it? But anyway, it's all about planning and constructing here. As for other things, you will slowly consider it later. Anyway, the expansion of the Void City can't be only this time, but the initial investment can only be like this.

In the final analysis, it is still insufficient funds.

It looks like a lot of more than two million, but after more than half a year has passed, after the various expenses and expenses have been consumed like water, Xiao En now only has two million pan-continental gold coins left. If you continue at this level, Sean will go bankrupt in about two years, so he has to find other ways to make money as soon as possible. Of course, it is also a good choice to open up and occupy new territories. .

Lonnis, who was locked in a cage, looked at the whole town that had been pushed to the town wall, and the farmland that had begun to be cultivated outside the town, he was a little silent in his heart. He is really not very good at managing and developing territories, but it doesn't mean that Ronnis really doesn't understand anything. Many times he just lacks practical experience. After all, he spends most of his time on military development and research. .

"It looks like everyone is underestimating you." Ronnis sighed, his voice a little lost.

The Pandan collar has been abandoned for nearly two years. During this period, although the Kingdom of Darbion also neglected this territory intentionally or unintentionally, in fact, as the most suitable entrance to the barren land, the nobles of the Kingdom of Darbion never had a day. Give up the collection of intelligence on this territory. Ronnis would choose to become a baron and go to the territory bordering Pandan to develop. A large part of the reason is also for "this territory is a natural import and export of wild land".

However, in the past six months when everyone has lost intelligence collection and judgment, the lord Sean has completed the reunification of the entire territory, and has also removed all the hostile forces on the surface, and even now he has begun to A small town was built into a city.

From these perspectives, if anyone still thinks that Sean is an incompetent lord, and only Alfred under his command is worthy of attention, Ronnis must be the first to go up and fight hard.

He was insulted extremely cruelly and inhumanely under the hands of this lord.

Have been downgraded from monkey to leprechaun.

"It's nothing, I like it." Xiao En shrugged indifferently. He didn't care at all what others thought of him. "Don't worry, I will tell the truth. You won't worry about my integrity when trading with me. Once you enter the city, you can come down and move freely, but I will arrange for someone to look at you. You know the rules. When will you make drawings for me? When will you start enjoying the treatment of earl-class prisoners."

Lonnis took a deep look at Sean. He has been tortured during the recent period, but this torture is only a mental problem. But once he let go, he didn't think there was any problem. It was a bit tangled in eating three meals a day-although it was bones with minced meat, it was not leftovers by others, just Most meaty parts such as leg bones are removed from the meat.

In general, it means that he can't eat enough and sleep well.

However, Ronnies was quite good at having fun in hardship. As for Sean, he always scolded him for trembling along the way, so he selectively ignored it. Anyway, what he said from the lord's mouth wouldn't be a good thing, so why should he find it unpleasant for himself?

"I don't understand one thing very much." Ronnis said, "May I ask?"

"Equivalent exchange." Sean didn't look back.

Lonnis pondered for a while before he said: "In addition to conceiving this special armor, I also conceived a matching product. I named it the impact shield, but it is still an unfinished work. What are the conditions for semi-finished products?"

Sean was taken aback when he heard this.

Impact shield!

This is a war shield similar to a square shield, but its specifications are not large shields, but heavy shields.

The reason for this is that this shield adopts a special peg-type triple structure for building. It should be known that the building of shields also has a strict standard production system-heavy shields such as tower shields are because of it. The internal double shield structure; and large shields such as half-length shields and square shields are only the difference in scale, and there is one more internal steel plate splint than the light shield.

So the method of making the triple structure is very advanced for this era-at least this idea is not proposed by the blacksmith, but technically not allowed, so it could not be manufactured. But the most famous place of this kind of shield is the word "peg" in the "peg-type triple structure"-this kind of war shield is equipped with a peg, which can be driven after the mechanism is activated. Into the ground to make the line of defense stronger.

Moreover, when the pegs of this kind of shield are opened, the shield surface will be correspondingly enlarged by one circle, increasing the defensive area and the force-bearing area.

Impact shield is a special shield to resist the impact.

However, in Sean's impression, this special shield needs Magic Technology as an aid to design. Although some players in the game suggested that the power part of Magic Technology can be replaced by steam technology, but that When the shock shield appeared, it was already the age of the official application of Magic Technology, so this argument has always been controversial.

At this moment, I heard that the impact shield was actually invented by Ronnies, and Sean recalled that the armor equipped by the heavy cavalry trained by Ronnies was also a new type of armor that appeared in Magic Technology. Suddenly, it was great for Ronnies. interest of.

"You really don't know how terrible things you have invented." Sean turned his head and looked at Ronnis, "Your skill points are really not white. In terms of military research, you are already at the forefront of this era. ."

"Really?" Ronnis looked at Sean a little strangely. Of course he could hear the emotion in Sean's words, but the more he was like this, the stranger he became. Why would Sean praise him, "Then do you want to exchange?"

"Change, of course!" said Xiao En impatiently, "but I have said before that I am fair. Since you gave me these two production drawings, then I will give you a choice.... You can consider Change the treatment of earl level to marquis level, or change from one week to half a month, you choose."

"Marquis." Ronnis said without thinking.

Xiao En muttered in his heart: It was really the fault of the nobleman, but he also said: "Well, you have any questions, you can ask."

"You really started this war because of Elsie?" Ronnis said.

This time, even Rena, Xuefanio, and Cecilia pricked their ears and listened carefully. In fact, they also wanted to ask this question, but for some reason they couldn't ask it.

"Of course." Sean nodded, "Elsie is my friend. Although this guy is indeed a little stupid and stupid, since he is my friend, I can't just ignore it.... If Said that he was only the lord who was deposed by the family because of poor management of the territory, so this kind of thing belongs to their family's affairs, of course I can't intervene, but since there is someone behind it, it is impossible for me not to intervene."

"It's just that I know very well that it is impossible for me to compete with the Boulder family in your kingdom with my current strength, so naturally I can only ask for foreign aid.... Of course, Mordgling is indeed a good territory. So Asuna-sama would be very interested in choosing to shoot, otherwise I really don't know what kind of remuneration to ask Asuna-sama to do this for me."

As Shaun's words just fell, Rina's brows frowned slightly, and she suddenly stopped walking in front of her. The team that had been advancing stopped abruptly, and the movements were as neat as one person in action, even bringing Ronniss. An illusion of time stagnation and space stagnation. Only then did he discover that the steel wings under Sean's command were not simple, and it seemed that it was not unacceptable to lose under this team after thinking about it this way.

After a moment of silence, Sean glanced at Xuefanio, who pointed to the left, and Sean looked over at the same time: "Come out, your breath is too obvious."

A faint sound of footsteps.

Chapter 39: .The strong!

The sound of footsteps came slowly from far to near.

A vague figure gradually appeared in front of everyone.

Every time he walks, there will be a very subtle trembling sound when he falls.

This kind of sound does not sound in everyone's ears, but a resonance sound similar to a heartbeat, which gradually resounds like a drum. At this moment, it seems that a huge torrent of sound is gradually spreading. Almost everyone can feel that the blood in the body seems to be frozen, that kind of fear of palpitation instantly enveloped everyone's hearts, and all their perceptions seemed to be completely numb.

Shaun, Xuefanio, Rena and Cecilia's complexion changed drastically.

So strong and powerful!

This is a gold-level powerhouse!

A middle-aged man dressed in plain clothes appeared in the sight of everyone.

He wears a very ordinary hunting suit, without any luxurious decoration. The only advantage of this hunting suit is that it is conducive to the stretching of activities. He wears a sword on his right waist, but he carries it on his right hand. A black spear.

But what is really surprising is not the weird attire on this middle-aged man, but his appearance!

He has short black hair, a sharp face, black pupils and bronzed skin.

All this shows that this middle-aged man is a typical citizen of the Zenas Empire!

"Are you from Zenas too?" The middle-aged man looked at Sean, as if he was a little surprised that he would meet another citizen of the Zenas Empire here.

Sean's pupils shrank suddenly, looking at the opponent's slightly weird spear and sword costume and the typical appearance of the Zenas Empire, he felt a little surprised in his heart: "Weapon master!"

"You really are from Zenas." The middle-aged man's voice was a little hoarse, but it was full of a unique magnetism, "My name is Yuki Lincoln, and I am the bottom right seat in the Seven-member Hall of the Darbion Boulder family. ...Seeing that you are the first Zenas I have seen in so many years, I can let you off once, but there is a premise that Baron Ronnis will be handed over to me."

The terrifying coercive aura disappeared instantly.

Rena, Xuefanio, and Cecilia's complexion became very ugly. If you can accurately control your aura, this is definitely a high-level gold-level powerhouse!

Bronze, silver, and gold, these three realms are clearly restricted.

Bronze level is mainly the development and training of physical strength. To understand it in Shaun's words, it is the category of normal human beings below bronze, and the Bronze level begins to gradually develop in the direction of Superman. People at the top of the bronze peak cannot be like Superman. Flying away like that, basically in terms of physical strength, it is really no different from Superman.

Silver level masters, in fact, there is not much difference in essence from the bronze level, but they have one more attacking skill than the bronze level. Regarding the use of fighting spirit, it is the most common course in the world. There is a systematic and detailed book introduction in this respect. Any silver-level master can watch the books in this area for free in different guilds to determine their own The direction of grudge application.

As for the gold level, it is officially beginning to have a clearer distinction of strength, just like the second-tier and third-tier occupations. The reason why people with gold level strength are called strong is that besides the limit of their physical potential far exceeds that of silver level masters, the most important point is that strong people at this level have been able to use the special technique of "coercion". This is also the reason why a gold-level powerhouse can easily deal with even a dozen high-ranking silver pinnacle masters.

Because the two sides are not at the same level at all.

And the upper gold powerhouses can basically send and receive aura and coercion freely, and even accurately target very few people.

But this does not mean that the golden powerhouse is truly invincible.

Even a golden powerhouse at the top of the ranks, once they fall into the encirclement of the military formation, they will die. Of course, this is likely to require a lot of human lives to pile up.

However, it is obviously impossible for Sean, who are more than 400 soldiers with steel wings, to kill Yuki.

Because the top gold powerhouse can be killed by the number of people, only the fifth-level army.

Shaun's team is not even a Tier 4 army. You have to know that a Tier 5 army can be regarded as an ace army in any kingdom. Even in the more demanding empire, the fifth-level army is definitely synonymous with the elite army.

Shaun frowned.

Rina glanced at Sean. The lord did not express her position at the moment, but as a knight under the lord, she could not do nothing. So Rina sighed in a deep voice: "Set up an array!"

There was only a loud bang, and all the northern barbarians had formed a square array, protecting Sean and the others with the carriage that had imprisoned Ronnis, and the half-length shield in the hands of the northern barbarians was also He erected, and began to cling one by one to increase the front row's ability to withstand. The spear in his right hand has also been erected. At this moment, all the northern barbarians have a solemn expression of death, not because of their opponents. Strong and fearful.

Lonnis looked at the changes in the northern barbarian at this moment, and his eyes changed again.

Lingxing prohibits this kind of thing, and he is confident that it can be done if he is allowed to train. But if you want to completely ignore the huge gap between the two sides and let all the soldiers die without fear, Ronnis believes that it is impossible, because it is only possible for the long-famous ace army. The thing, especially in the impression of all generals, if you have to rely on the army to deal with a high-ranking gold-level powerhouse, it is indeed only an ace army.

In the entire Kingdom of Darbion, there are only two aces.

One is the Royal Guards regiment, which is responsible for garrisoning the royal city. It is composed of heavy infantry and heavy cavalry; the other is the Third Guards garrisoned in the southeast of the kingdom. The army of soldiers, they are the main force used by the Darbion Kingdom to resist the orcs in the Wildlands. Basically, this army has only infantry, cavalry, and mobile soldiers. As for the weapons, it is entirely a matter of personal preference.

Lonnis is really unable to understand, why does this army have the courage to confront the high-ranking golden powerhouse?

Don't they know what the upper gold powers represent?

Sean stared at the strong man, his palms were slightly wet, it was the first time that he felt such a strong pressure. Even when he faced a silver-level master with just the lower bronze, he didn't think there was any problem. He thought he could still defeat the opponent easily, but Sean really didn't expect that he would meet the strong of the upper gold pinnacle so soon. , This is what he really feels is a sense of danger that can be called horror.

Especially, the opponent is still a weapon master!

There are two hidden advanced occupations in the Zenas Empire, one is the monk system known as the King Kong Undefeated, and the other is the weapon master system with all weapons reaching the level of expertise.

The former is claimed to be one of the three strongest physical shields in "Miracle"; while the latter is characterized by the highest level of expertise for all weapons, which means that people of this profession can use any weapon, and they can also add extra Give full play to the power of weapons.

But the weapon master is only an eighth-level occupation in the weapon master system. This occupation can only reach the level of full weapon proficiency, but his professional talent can increase the proficiency level of a weapon. The weapon master of the upper golden pinnacle said that the opponent's professional level has reached level ten, so he can increase the proficiency of the two weapons to specialties. Looking at Yuki's posture, it is obvious that the two weapons he specializes in are the long spear and Long sword.

The most terrifying thing about weapon masters is that they know weapons far better than anyone-in game terms, that is, their block rate is terrifyingly high. This also means that they can parry and counterattack many physical types of damage, not to mention that Sean's steel wings are only a three-level army and there are only more than 400 people, even if it is an ace army, it does not have a scale of more than 1,000 people. Don't even want to stop Yuki.

The terrifying nature of high-end combat power as a strong man can be seen from this!

"It seems that you are insisting on being an enemy of me." You Qi stared at Sean, his aura suddenly let go, and roared out like a violent wind. The palpating sense of fear instantly pressed on everyone's hearts again. "You are very lucky. Originally I was going to kill you, but now my order has changed. I just need to bring back Baron Ronnis.... It's just that it's harmless to hit you hard before then. of....."

Suddenly, Yu Qi's aura suddenly shrank, and he looked up at the sky, only to see a silver light trail hovering in the sky. In the next second, You Qi looked sideways to the right of Xiao En and the others. Only a knight wearing a silver-white heavy armor suddenly rode the horse. He was obviously only one person, but it felt like a thousand horses. Pentium in general.

Able to step into the golden realm, the judgment of the aura is extremely keen and accurate, and even "see" the condensed aura.

At this moment, in You Qi's eyes, this silver-white knight with heavy armor alone possesses a stronger aura than Shaun and his army. There is no doubt that this is also a powerful man of high rank, and his strength is only I'm afraid I won't be under myself.

"Silver Flame Falcon Knight?" Seeing this knight driving the horse, You Qi raised his brows, and his whole body was quite calm.

Darbian Kingdom and Fascist Kingdom are neighboring countries. Naturally, these two countries are not unfamiliar with the stronger and famous people in each other's countries. Compared to You Qi, the guest of the Boulder family, Dante, who has the nickname "Silver Falcon Knight", has a bigger name, so it is natural for You Qi to recognize this powerful knight.

What Yuki didn't think about was why the Silver Flame Falcon appeared here!

Almost at the same time, the two seemed to have a feeling while looking at the left side of Xiao En and others. Someone suddenly appeared here! If it hadn't been for this person to suddenly exude the same strong breath, Dante and You Qi hadn't even discovered the existence of this person!

"I have the same goal as yours. We can be regarded as allies in this matter." The voice of the visitor was a little hoarse and sharp, and it could even be said to be a bit ridiculous, but no one would find it ridiculous, because it is the same. A high-ranking gold-level powerhouse said, "If you were the only one, you would probably return without success tonight, so how about we solve Dante after we work together, and then we can do our own thing?"

"Okay!" You Qi did not hesitate at all.

If he is the only one, he is really not sure that he will be able to kill Dante. He will probably return tonight without success. At this moment, no matter whether the newly emerged strong man is an enemy or a friend, he can only be an enemy or a friend. See it from the friendly side.

Seeing Yu Qi and the newly-appearing strong man negotiating with no one else, and treating them as goods, Xiao En felt a fire burning wild in his heart.

"Two fights one, it's because you did it." The negotiation between the two strong men had just been completed, and when they were about to start their hands, a speech with an obvious sarcasm suddenly sounded.

In the sight of everyone, a woman with the halberd on her shoulders and her hands on the halberd stepped forward, her mouth twitching slightly, and her face mocked: "How about the rider over there, how about we also join hands?" "

"Okay!" Dante glanced at the woman without any hesitation.

Lonnis looked at the scene in front of him with a shocked face, feeling extremely unbelievable. At this moment, there are actually four high-level golden peak powers that are rarely seen! Moreover, these four people were obviously coming for Sean, which made Ronnies extremely surprised: this Sean Connery's Zenus, who on earth is it! ?

Chapter 40: .Thunder Light Halberd

Thunder Light Halberd. Vivian!

When Sean first saw the woman coming here with the halberd, he immediately recognized her.

Vivienne Michel, is a woman with light brown short hair, her pupils are amber, her facial features give people a dignified and elegant feeling, her skin is fair but not as delicate and smooth as Cecilia , Her figure is not plump, let alone Elizabeth, even if she is somewhat inferior to Rina and Xuefanio, but her characteristics as a female are relatively obvious, but it is slightly better than the current Cecilia Some only, but perhaps it was a compensation from God, Vivian has a pair of amazingly slender legs, which may be related to her professional identity.

As one of the two most important high-end combat powers under Asuna's command, Vivian's strength is almost equal to that of Elizabeth, but since Elizabeth awakens the power of blood, Vivian has obviously been inferior, and this is also Vivi. The reason why Ann is going to the Wildlands. But Sean heard from Elizabeth and Simi that Vivian's strength is only the upper silver pinnacle, but how did he go to the Wildlands for more than a year, and he was already the upper gold pinnacle?

Is this strength increasing too fast?

"Are you Sean Connery?" Vivian turned her head and looked at Sean, seeing his identity at a glance.

"Yes." Sean nodded.

"Haha, not bad, good seed." Vivienne laughed heartily. "Elizabeth told me about your situation and gave you a gift. It is compensation for missing your award ceremony."

"Okay." Xiao En didn't refuse either. Naturally, gifts given by someone like a gold-level powerhouse would not be too bad.

There was a smile on Vivienne's face, which made her look more gentle and temperament, but soon her brows wrinkled, her face became a bit cold, and she suddenly turned forward. When he stepped on, the halberd in his hand suddenly stabbed, and suddenly there was a thunderous roar in the air.

The faintly visible blue electric current suddenly exploded at the tip of the halberd's gun, and the light of thunder extended, split, and exploded in the air.

At this moment, Sean can even vaguely see that within the transmission range of this thunder light, all the air has been evaporated, forming a complete clear space. When the thunder light gradually disappeared, there was a "pop" explosion, and the surrounding air suddenly poured into this cleared area, instantly forming a white air stream visible to the naked eye, and in the next second Vivian will fight With a flick of the halberd, this white air stream suddenly exploded again, and the impact range of the shock wave even extended dozens of meters away.

Amid the eruption of this shock wave airflow, strands of black mist suddenly appeared, and a figure suddenly appeared in the impact of this airflow.

Vivian snorted coldly, "Do you really think everyone can't find your trace?"

"Battle Mage?" The mysterious man of unknown origin said hoarsely, clearly a question, but his tone did not fluctuate at all. It was calm and surprising, "No wonder I was found."

It seemed that after hearing these words, Xiao En formally began to examine the man in the cloak whose whole body was surrounded by misty souls.

Before, because of the emergence of gold-level powerhouses one after another, coupled with the strength and momentum displayed by these powerhouses, it completely subverted Sean's cognition, so he did not observe this sudden appearance too carefully. Observing carefully at this time, I felt shocked and unbelievable in my heart. Even though Sean has always felt that he has a new understanding of this real world, but at this moment, he still feels that his knowledge of this world is completely inadequate!

This man surrounded by mist is not human at all!

"Fogling!"

Everyone looked at the mysterious man in the cloak, even Yu Qi was shocked.

The situation on the scene has undergone some subtle changes.

Mist is a kind of undead creature, similar to existences such as ghosts and banshees.

But unlike soul bodies such as banshees, Wuling still retains the reason, emotion, and IQ as human beings, but they are now appearing in this world in the form of magical condensate. It wouldn't be a big deal if this were the case, but the problem was that Wuling's magic fluctuations were very slight. Unless it was a person who was also very sensitive to magic, it would be impossible to discover the existence and movement of Wuling.

This undead creature is naturally suitable for being an assassin.

But if you just think that Wuling's frontal combat effectiveness is not good, then this person will probably be killed by Wuling soon.

In Sean's memory, Wuling does not seem to have any professional divisions. He only knows that this kind of thing is very difficult, even if it is a Tier 6 professional player, many people died in this creature. However, many of the wild monsters actually have no division of occupations, only a rough division of strength. As for whether they encounter low-level strength or high-level strength, it can only be based on luck.

But what really impresses Sean is that Wuling's camp tendency in the game is a type of being close to hell, so it is impossible for them to cooperate with humans. Basically, any task involving Wuling is 100% based on the elimination of Wuling as a development route. It is absolutely impossible to have multiple different judgment methods and completion methods like other tasks. The only thing that does not need to be considered is the situation of dealing with Wuling. , Is to use any method to kill Wuling.

But now, this Wuling is obviously in collusion with humans, which has greatly subverted Sean's cognition.

And creatures such as * and * are usually directly linked to infidels in this world.

Although Uki wanted to injure Sean hard or cause some trouble to Sean, he represented the Boulder family. If it is reported that he and the heathen were teaming up, he would not wait for the strongest hostility to the heathen. Chenguang Church was the first to let him go, and the Boulder family would not let him go, which is why You Qi's reaction at this moment seemed so subtle.

"You are really funny." Wuling let out a human-like laugh, but the flat tone made people feel shocked. "It seems that even if I continue to stay here, it doesn't seem to make much sense.... Facing three strong men at the same time, I am not so arrogant yet."

"Want to go?" Vivian raised her brows suddenly, "I have only heard of such creatures as Wuling, and have never seen an entity.... Stay and study it for me."

"Haha." Wuling uttered two monosyllables.

Suddenly, a large amount of black mist suddenly burst from its body, and it quickly condensed into a black sphere like thick ink splashed out. The surface of the sphere is as smooth as a mirror, but it feels like a kind of transparent barrier, and the black sphere is filled with mist and frantically surging, as condensed as the substance, only by looking at this point, we can judge the inside of the black sphere. How violent and strong the energy fluctuations should be.

But soon, another more violent force burst out without warning.

I saw a purple-blue suddenly appearing around the black sphere, and the violent wind element repelled almost all other elements out of this area. It felt like a black pearl in the deep sea.

Immediately afterwards, I saw this purple-blue electric light suddenly condensed, and it seemed to become extremely strong and condensed. In a blink of an eye, it collapsed and shrank crazily toward the black ball, and all the wind elements crazily moved toward the black circle. The ball poured in. At this moment, everyone could see that the condensed black energy of the black sphere became deeper, and the energy surging inside became even more crazy.

When almost everyone's attention was attracted by the black ball, a blue cold light suddenly burst out.

It was as if the first ray of light finally broke out, driving away the darkness that enveloped the earth.

Immediately afterwards, the blue light became extremely bright, and a white beam of light shot into the sky directly.

The dazzling and dazzling white light pierced everyone's eyes completely, as if the whole world had become a white glow.

A faint muffled sound suddenly sounded.

It's Vivian!

The white light began to fade, and Sean's eyesight was the first to recover.

What catches the eye is a deep pit with a diameter of more than ten meters and a depth of about five meters. The ground is completely crystallized because it cannot withstand the baking of high temperature, but outside this deep pit is strands of black. The fog continued to emit from the ground and gradually dissipated in the air, and along with the emission of black fog, there were countless thunder snakes wandering on the ground, emitting arcs from time to time.

Weiwei stood holding the halberd. There was a scar about three centimeters long on the right arm holding the halberd. The flesh and blood rolled from the scar had dried up, and it looked more hideous, and there was also a black mist on it.

This is the * life unique to Wuling!

In reality, Sean has not yet tried the specific taste of being invaded by * death air, but he did not miss the trick in the game at the beginning. It feels like being bitten by thousands of ants, and accompanied by This kind of tingling and painful itching into the bone marrow is more of a kind of spiritual torture.

But now, Vivian's face did not change the slightest. She did not even look at the scar, but stared into the distance with cold eyes, her face became extremely cold: "I didn't expect Wu Ling to be so cunning. It can escape under my killer move.... But it has been seriously injured, and it is estimated that it will find a place to hide and cultivate, and I will hunt it down.... That rider over there, is it okay to leave it to you here?"

Dante's left hand raised, and the silver Saker falcon soared into the sky. He concealed the shock of Vivienne in his eyes. He turned his gaze to Yu Qi again, and said in a deep voice: "In the name of a knight You promise, he will never hurt this lord, nor can he take away the prisoner in the cage."

"You knight is a bit interesting, I have a chance to come and drink with me in the future." Vivian laughed heartily, and then the halberd suddenly danced, and the whole person flew out like a blue lightning, several ups and downs. After that, there was only a blue light spot in everyone's eyes.

Dante lightly pulled the reins of the war horse, raised the gun in his hand, and said coldly: "Next, it's our turn."

But seeing that You Qi only glanced at Sean and then at Dante, he returned his hand to tie the spear on his back, and said with some enthusiasm: "If I shoot now, then the nature of the matter will change. , So it's impossible for me to take action at this time.... Your Excellency Baron Ronnis, I'm sorry to have you suffer for a while. Duke Hatch will organize diplomats to negotiate the ransom soon."

Having said that, Youki turned his head to look at Sean, but he performed an ancient noble etiquette of the Zenas Empire: "Sir Sean, for the sake of the same Zenas, I hope you can make Ronnis Your Lord Baron enjoys the proper courtesy of the nobility."

"I can assure you." Sean smiled slightly, and replied with the courtesy of a nobleman in the Zenus Empire, "I am very rule-based, and I have reached an agreement with Lord Ronnis on the way. But it was very pleasant."

Lonnis rolled his eyes. How did he feel that the mental torture on his way was so hard? But he wasn't stupid enough to say such words at this time. Who knew what tricks this sinister Sir Sean would have to fix himself, so he simply fell asleep without paying attention to anything. As a result, his action caused You Qi's misunderstanding, which made You Qi feel a little guilty, so he stopped saying anything at the moment, turned and left here.

Turning my eyes, a few minutes ago, there were four strong men who were going to fight to death and death, only Vivienne and the Wuling had an unwieldy move, and then the matter ended somewhat inexplicably.

At this time, Sean finally had time to turn his head and look at the knight who seemed to fit the identity of Prince Charming: "Who are you again?"