

Lord of War Vol 2-381

Chapter 381: .Capture Hela alive

The brilliance of silver se, shrouded the whole land like moonlight.

There is no smoke and dust flying in the sky, and no noise, as if the whole world has calmed down.

The only thing left is a corpse that has been completely divided and the huge gully on the ground that spreads more than tens of meters.

Shaun's face became extremely pale, and there was no blood at all.

Requiem is indeed the biggest killer of Sean at present. It allows Sean to have the ability to kill all inferior gold powers with one blow. Of course, there is also a premise here, that is, the closer you are to the target, the greater the power and success rate of this ultimate move. However, even though the power of Requiem is extremely powerful, its negative effects also make people dare not take it easily, especially when facing the upper gold powerhouse, Requiem cannot even cause enough threat to the opponent.

Fortunately, the madman is not a Tier 8 profession.

It's just that, in the face of a profession that is far more powerful than the general strength of the violent violent person, Sean does not dare to get too close, because he will absolutely not be able to withstand the frontal punch from the opponent with all his strength. However, if the distance is too far, although the violent violent madman cannot dodge, but with his strength and physical quality, he can still do it if he wants to hold a blow and not die.

In this way, Sean, who needs to endure fifteen minutes of hard and weak time, is naturally a living target in the eyes of the other party.

So in order to ensure that he could truly kill the opponent with one blow, Sean did not hesitate to injure the roar of the brawny man once, and even scratched his left rib by that terrible stone pillar.

With the fall of the brawny man, the vestibule garden fell into silence for several seconds.

Whether it was the heavy armored soldiers, Rosso, Avril, it was obvious that they couldn't believe that Sean's strength could actually kill this brawny man.

For those heavy-armored soldiers, the existence of this brawny man is more than just their commander. According to the original plan, they will cooperate with this brawny to completely block the invaders here, so that other people on their side can fully assemble and react, thereby completely annihilating the invaders here, but in fact, it was at the beginning. The plan was indeed very successful. No matter which person it was, it was indeed impossible to completely leave the vestibule.

However, the change of the battle situation is to stop the two opponents who are planning to take a detour, and start to produce amazing changes.

The people they trusted and admired died like this?

Not only these heavy armored soldiers were unbelievable, but also Rosso and Avril could not understand.

Although they believed in Sean, they also knew that Sean had so much confidence because he had some secret skills. But from the very beginning, they never thought that Sean could kill the opponent. At first, they wanted to severely inflict the strong man, and it was the two of them who really wanted to kill the strong man, so no matter what Whether Rosso or Avril Lavigne is actually ready for the final blow.

But the fact is that Sean simply killed the opponent in seconds.

Even if they didn't want to believe it, the corpse of the brawny man was clearly presented in front of them, and they had to accept this fact.

An abnormal sound of gold and iron fighting, suddenly awakened everyone.

A touch of golden brilliance is suspended in mid-air.

It was this golden light just now, blocking a strong arrow that didn't know where it came from.

It was Avril who first came back to her senses. As a devil-breaker, she possessed a sharper perception than others. In almost a moment of effort, she had already discovered the position where the hidden arrow was hit-this position happened to be behind a relatively hidden stone pillar. If there is a master lurking here holding his breath, it is indeed very difficult for people to discover. . In fact, if it hadn't been for this sneak attacker to shoot this arrow to expose his position, even Avril would not know that there was anyone here.

From the shot of the brawny man to the sneak attack at this moment, this is basically a series of tricks.

If it weren't for Sean to have the means to protect himself, then the consequences would be absolutely disastrous.

When she thought of fighting before she said she would protect Sean, she almost killed Sean under her nose. The anger and shame in the hearts of Avril and Rosso can be imagined. So without the slightest hesitation, Avril and Rosso immediately launched an extremely fierce counterattack.

It was Avril Lavigne who took the lead. An extremely cryptic wave of black se energy emerged from her body, which was the unique demon-breaking fighting spirit of the professionals of the demon-breaking system. When this energy was concentrated on her hands, she saw her instantly draw a bow and set an arrow, and then a series of rain-like black rays were continuously shedding from the bow.

Although these brilliances are only a finger long, and they don't look very bright, they look a little bleak, but if you look down on these black rays of light, then this rain-like black rays of light can definitely give anyone. a surprise.

Magic breaking skills? Black rain.

This is one of the few magic bows that can be used not only against magic professionals, but also powerful skills that can severely injure other warrior professionals.

Although the light of the black se appears dim, but in fact all are condensed by Avril's devil-breaking fighting spirit. Although these cannot cause incidental strong damage to non-magic professionals, they can be produced by the devil-breaking Bowman. The skills, but it has a very terrible penetration. Shrouded in such a black rain, if you don't avoid it in advance, it will definitely be enough to tear any person below the golden realm to pieces.

Even people in the golden realm will definitely be hit hard by this.

Shaun's gaze locked on the stone pillar tightly.

The angle and timing of the arrow's attack are very clever. It can be said that if he hadn't had the last and biggest hole card of Guru, then the arrow would penetrate his heart just now, and the vindictive power sensed from the arrow also made Sean understand that once he was hit by the arrow. If so, his heart will definitely be shattered.

Therefore, there is no doubt that this person lurking here to carry out a sneak attack is definitely a strong person in the golden realm.

Sean even couldn't understand why the person hiding in the stone pillar didn't choose to shoot at the beginning. In fact, if this golden realm powerhouse made a move as early as the moment he launched the requiem, he could not only injure himself severely, but even the brawny man would be protected. Of course, the opponent would definitely be severely injured, but if it is such a situation where both lose and lose, at least the opponent can maintain an unbeaten situation.

It's just a pity, there are no more ifs now.

The black rain from Avril Lavigne had also completely covered the range of the stone pillars, and began to attack indiscriminately.

There is no loud roaring noise, nor any amazing and dazzling light and shadow, only a dull and simple "puff puff", but no matter who sees the bombarded venue, the gods on his face will not be easy to see. Where to go. Because just by looking at the power, you can know that the people hiding behind are absolutely impossible to survive.

When the black rain finally poured out completely, the stone pillar collapsed and turned into a pile of rubble, and blood began to seep out continuously.

Everyone knows that the people hiding here must have been broken into pieces by this black rain.

But there was only one person, and his eyes still did not leave the pile of rocks.

"Guru!"

Sean's shout came a little abruptly.

But Gollum, who already had a spiritual connection with Sean, grasped Sean's meaning in the first place. It turned into a golden brilliance, and flew toward the pile of rubble, pulling out a long golden light and shadow in the air, but if you look closely, you can find that the ultimate goal of Guru's flight is not broken. The pile of stones is an empty space slightly to the left of the pile of rubble.

At this moment, the pile of rubble suddenly burst into a loud noise, countless rubble splashed out one after another, and a figure jumped out of it.

The figure is almost covered in blood, and it can be seen that the black rain just now had a profound impact on him. But with his powerful strength, he was only hit hard in the end, and he didn't die right away. He didn't get out immediately after being injured. Instead, he waited for a few seconds before choosing to escape. I have to say that this man is indeed very good at tolerance and tolerance. ambush.

But unfortunately, the opponent he met was Sean.

Sean saw the direction in which this person might escape earlier, so he made Gulu attack this position, so at this time, the figure's escape looked more like he was hitting Gulu on death-hunting.

Roseau had already entered the crowd of heavily armored soldiers at this time. The first round of attacks formed by more than a dozen heavy armored soldiers on him did not pose any threat to him. Instead, Rosso took this opportunity to directly kill him. And at this moment, seeing the figure trying to escape and the interception of that brilliance, Rosso subconsciously wanted to intercept the opponent, because he didn't think that this golden light could kill the strong man who had escaped the black rain of Avril. However, it is estimated that it is just to slow down the pace of his escape.

However, the next scene stunned Avril and Rosso again.

Because what they saw was that when Jin Guang hit the strong man, the strong man fell directly to the ground without even screaming. But the golden light flew directly to Xiao En's side. This time they could clearly see that the body of Jinse Guanghai was actually a luminous object in a spherical state, but judging from some previous actions, it was very Obviously this ball of light belongs to some kind of intelligent creature.

When        looked back at the figure hit by the ball of light, he was shocked to find that the man's neck was completely twisted. It looked like a pair of big hands held this person, and then twisted it fiercely. It's no wonder that this person fell down without even making a scream.

This time, all the heavy-armored soldiers finally knew that it was impossible for them to win the three people in front of them.

didn't know who took the lead first, all the heavy armored soldiers finally began to scatter in a rush, and fled in all directions.

Obviously, these people know that under such circumstances, if they flee in a group, they are simply giving Sean and the others a chance to catch them all. And now if they dispersed and escaped, perhaps some of them would still die, but most of them would still be able to escape.

In fact, according to normal circumstances, Xiao En and others will not hunt down these deserters, because their purpose is to take Hela.

But I don't know why, watching these heavily armored soldiers escape, Xiao En's brows are getting more and more frowning, and he vaguely feels that something is wrong.

His eyes swept across the backs of these heavily armored soldiers one by one.

All the heavy armored soldiers have discarded the heavy halberds in their hands, and their running posture is full of various embarrassments. Perhaps because of the heavy armor on the body, these soldiers did not run fast. Even if Sean and the others did not chase at this time, they only ran a distance of 20 to 30 meters, and then their speed started. Gradually, if Xiao En and others really want to make a move, probably only a few of the remaining thirty people will eventually escape successfully.

Then, Xiao En's gaze stayed slightly on the figure whose body had been dismembered and the figure whose neck was completely twisted.

Although he knew the foundations of the Enugus family for a long time, even if there were no sanctuary powerhouses in the family, he could only rely on the gold powerhouses to support the scene, but the number of gold powerhouses encountered in this manor was still the same. Shaun was shocked.

Because according to Sean's intelligence, now Nugus and Howard's two families have invested a total of three golden powerhouses on the southern battlefield, and Howard's army marching into the tequila collar also has two golden powerhouses with the army, this Before and after, five golden powerhouses were put on the battlefield. You know, the entire Boulder family has developed in the Kingdom of Darbion for so many years and has become the strongest family among the five dukes, but now there are only five golden powerhouses.

Because of this, Xiao En dare to implement this cross-epoch beheading tactic so arrogantly.

But I didn't expect that Nugus Manor actually has three gold powerhouses here!

One of them can even borrow the power of rules.

Compared to the quasi-sanctuary powerhouses like Rena and Dante who have reached the peak of the upper gold powerhouse, the man named Ah Haer is the real quasi-sanctuary powerhouse. With his power alone, he can contain Dante and Rena without the mount bonus. This shows the terrible aspects of the sanctuary powerhouse, but fortunately, the quasi-sanctuary powerhouse like Achaer, As long as he does not truly become a strong man in the sanctuary for a day, he will not be able to mobilize and borrow the power of the rules indefinitely.

In this way, every time he borrows and mobilizes the power of the rules, it will bring great pressure to him, so in the battle, he will use this assassin only when it is the most critical and necessary. This is also the reason why Sean dared to rest assured that Dante and Rena would go to confront Al-Haier.

To put it bluntly, the two of them are to resist the pressure.

As long as he can bear Ah Ha'er's attack, then he can be restrained.

Similarly, like these two low-level golden powerhouses who have died here at the moment, Xiao En believes that they should also be regarded as candidates to resist pressure.

It's just that they didn't expect that Sean would have two strong supports, Rosso and Avril, and they also didn't expect that his lethality and threat would be greater than what they had estimated.

Sean even wondered, if he didn't borrow Dante's support from Florence at the beginning, I am afraid that the decapitation tactics this time would be fundamentally impossible to execute? Even if there are two people sent by Paqiuli as reinforcements, even if he can rely on Requiem to kill a violent madman, the final result is probably to consume the vital power of the Nugus family.

All kinds of thoughts, passed through Sean's mind.

Then, his pupils shrank suddenly.

He finally realized what he had overlooked!

He has dealt with the Nugus family on the frontal battlefield!

Therefore, the Nugus family will never underestimate their combat effectiveness. They will only amplify their combat effectiveness infinitely, and cannot choose to conservatively estimate it. This is probably why Achaer was buried in the previous corridor. The reason for the magic trap to ambush. Obviously, the other party had already discovered that the intruder was him from the very beginning, and had already carried out a series of preparations.

It's just that the opponent did not expect that there will be tyrannical talents like Dante and Rena, and also did not expect that the strength of Rosso and Avril was stronger than they thought.

Therefore, an Ah Haer could not successfully block them, allowing them to break through here.

Thinking of this, Sean immediately began to think carefully about some of Hela's habits and habits.

For this woman who is very good at using situations, Sean has never taken it lightly.

If it were in this situation, what would that woman do?

The next moment, when Sean glanced over the heavily armored soldiers, he immediately understood.

will count!

"This woman's mind is so cruel! I almost made you lie!" Sean cursed in a low voice, "Roseau, Avril, stop all the heavy armored soldiers! Especially those who ran away together, The only possibility is that the injury will not die!"

Hearing what Shaun said, Rosso and Avril Lavigne just froze for a while, and immediately reacted.

"Left!" Rosso dropped a sentence, and then immediately rushed to the left.

In his direction, there are almost thirteen heavily armored soldiers.

Seeing Rosso's choice, Avril didn't say anything. After all, she was an archer and still had an advantage in attack distance, so she immediately targeted the twenty or so heavily armored soldiers on the right.

Seeing the actions of Rosso and Avril, all the heavy armored soldiers suddenly stopped escaping and turned around to attack both Rosso and Avril.

At this moment, the corners of Xiao En's mouth finally raised slightly, because he saw that when these heavy armored soldiers chose to return, there were still five heavy armored soldiers running forward without stopping. But this time, the five heavy armored soldiers finally stopped hiding their identities, and took off their helmets and heavy armors.

Among the five people, there are actually two women and three men. The three men followed the two women slightly behind, while the plump young woman on the left picked up a slightly thinner woman. Move at a fast speed.

Just glanced at the movement speed and formation of these five people, and Xiao En knew that the woman who was being held was the target of his trip.

Hella Nugus.

As for the young woman holding Hela, although Xiao En didn't know who she was, he could tell that she also had the strength of a lower level gold. On the contrary, the three men next to him only have the strength of the upper silver, but these three are obviously guard-type professions, I am afraid they are the last line of defense to intercept Xiao En and others.

"Guru!"

Shaun has no time to waste with them. Since he has the biggest hole card of Guru in his hand, then of course there is no reason to use it.

After hearing Sean's shout, everyone's heart was shocked.

Because of the previous scene of Gulu killing the sneak attacker, it still lingers in everyone's hearts.

At this time, when Sean used Gollum again, Hela's heart finally sighed helplessly.

She knew that she was really defeated this time.

Not only was the decapitation tactic implemented by her opponents innocent, she even succeeded in making the opponent, even the three hole cards she had hidden so deeply were completely abandoned this time. Therefore, she was not wronged because she was defeated in this battle, because she was completely defeated by Sean with a frontal breakthrough. Although part of the reason was the raid using decapitation tactics, she was not that way. Kind of people who can't afford to lose.

This time, there was finally a scream.

Under the collision of Gulu, the chest of a high-ranking silver guard was directly knocked down.

Immediately afterwards, the second and third screams sounded.

The two guards weren't Gulu's enemies at all, and they were directly smashed to death by Gulu using the simplest and most brutal means.

In terms of the force field attached to Guru itself, the only person in the entire Nugus Manor who can confront Guru is probably the quasi-sanctuary powerhouse Awaer.

Glancing at a resolute Sigrid flashed in her eyes, Hela sighed helplessly: "Stop the killing, we surrendered."

"My lord!?" The former eagle, now the real name of Sigrid, who has now recovered, looked at Hela in her arms in astonishment.

"Let me down." Hela said softly.

Although Sigley was not very willing, she still chose to obey the order, because at this time the ball of light that made her heart palpitated had hovered in front of her, even if she wanted to resist, she might not have any chance. And more importantly, the 30 or so heavy armored soldiers did not play their due role. In the face of the real golden powerhouse, with their number, it is impossible to stop them. Therefore, death is naturally from one time. The ending is already done at the beginning.

Hela was escorted to Sean by Rosso. At this time, Sean still has not recovered from the weak state, but it does not mean that he has really lost all ability to move.

The two supreme commanders on the southern battlefield met for the first time in the world on this **** venue.

"We finally met, Miss Hela." Sean laughed.

"Then what do you want to do?" Hela sorted out her appearance a bit, which made her temperament more obvious and stronger. Even if she looks very ordinary, no one can ignore the high-ranking person in her. Strong breath, "Kill me?"

"No." Sean shook his head, "If there is a chance, I still want to cooperate with you."

"Cooperation?" Hela chuckled, "Don't you let me surrender to you?"

"It's cooperation." Sean confirmed his words again, "Don't you think that Darbion's life has come to an end? Do you want to die with this country?... If we cooperate, I can assure that there will be the Nugus family in the future history."

"Nugus?" Hela raised her brows and let out a noncommittal sneer.

"Of course, it doesn't matter if you want to restore the Garcia family." Sean shrugged, "I happen to know the truth about the destruction of the Garcia family back then. Do you want to know, Miss Hella Garcia?"

Hearing Sean's words, the ***** se on Hela's face fluctuated for the first time.

But soon, she returned to her indifferent appearance again, and said in a deep voice: "If you can leave here alive, we will talk about the option of cooperation when that time comes."

"You don't need to worry about this." A smile appeared on Sean's face. "If you are talking about the last hole card played by the Nugus family, then he probably won't have a chance to make a move."

This time, Hela's ***** se was finally completely moved.

Chapter 382: . Contracts and fetters

The results of Sean's raid on Nugus Manor cannot be said to be brilliant, but at least in terms of current progress, it can be said to be successful.

Of course, if he can really escape back to Pandan, then he can be said to be complete.

It's just that Hela didn't think that Sean and the others could leave Nugus Manor so smoothly. Because maybe others don't know it, but since she has become the only heir to the Nugus family, she knows many of the Nugus family's secrets. Because she is coordinating the overall situation, after all, there is such a saying that has spread very widely on the Marvel Continent.

In front of absolute power, any yin tricks are false.

With the background of the Boulder family, it can compete with the other four duke families for so many years, and its strength is naturally conceivable.

So the Nugus family actually has a very deep hole card.

A strong sanctuary who only obeys the Patriarch of the Nugus family.

A middle-ranked sanctuary powerhouse who has never recorded anything in the Kingdom of Darbion, and has never appeared in front of anyone.

This is the real proof that the Nugus family dared to challenge the Boulder family and even tore their faces.

As for the previous sanctuary powerhouse stationed in the wild land, although it can be regarded as a hole card, it is actually a matter of open **** within the family, so in fact, it is actually also in the circle of the upper nobles of the Darbion Kingdom. It's a semi-public secret. Unfortunately, according to Hela's intelligence, this Sanctuary powerhouse has been out of touch with their family for a long time. So far, no one knows what happened to him. The only thing that can know is that the Sanctuary powerhouse was at that time. Sent by Gerson to the Void City.

Thinking of this, Hela looked at Xiao En a little bit more surprised: Does the other party also have a sanctuary powerhouse?

.....

A few hundred meters away from the Grand Front Garden. A man blocked the way of an old man.

This old man is about 60 or 70 years old, his gray hair is slightly bleak, and his face has a lot of wrinkles. It can be seen that this old man is really a bit older. It's just that for anyone with a little bit of strength, no one dares to despise this old man, because the aura emanating from him is too strong, even if he just stands in place casually, but still There is a strong aura like the surging waves constantly rushing towards it.

Wave after wave, wave after wave, like a deep sea.

This is a real sanctuary powerhouse!

And it's not an ordinary sanctuary powerhouse. Judging from its breath fluctuation, at least it must be a strong man in the middle sanctuary.

The old man glanced at a corpse by the young man's feet, and there was a slight surprise in his eyes, but it was only a moment.

The corpse lying at the feet of the young man is not unfamiliar to the old man.

He is a sanctuary strong in the Nugus family. It was the pillar that supported this family to become one of the five duke families, of course that was when he was alive. But because of the previous action. After being hit hard by the thundering front in the rift valley. He has always been in a state of recuperating. Although his strength has not fully recovered even now, it is probably only equivalent to Achaer's level, but because he is a real sanctuary powerhouse after all, so the actual combat experience and the use of rules are inevitable. It's much richer.

But now, he died under the sword of the young man in front of him.

The old man has probably been able to judge the strength of this young man: the lower sanctuary.

"Young people. Talents and talents are gods bestowed by God. Although it is a very lucky thing to have such talents and talents, it is meaningless if you can't survive." The old man finally spoke. .
"Surrender... As long as you surrender to the Nugus family, I can persuade the patriarch to forgive you for killing Lawrence, and even I can guarantee that your strength will be greatly improved in a short time."

"Let my strength be greatly improved in a short time?" Hearing the old man's words, the young man suddenly smiled.

The young man originally had dazzling blond hair. He just stood casually, giving him a very bright and sunny feeling. Almost anyone who saw him would have a good feeling easily. What's more, at the moment he laughed at this moment, even the old man had a sense of clarity and comfort as if being illuminated by the sun. And it is precisely for this reason that this old man with a somewhat yin aura would make an exception to say a few more words, otherwise he would have already started to kill people with his xing style, so there would be so much nonsense.

This young man is naturally Andrew who has had an appointment with Sean for two years.

"Yes." The old man nodded proudly, "You are just stepping into the realm of the lower sanctuary now. There are middle and upper positions above this realm. Don't you want to continue climbing? And me? , It can save you from taking many crooked roads, which will greatly help your promotion."

When he heard the old man's words, Andrew smiled: "With the strength of your middle sanctuary?"

The old man with a proud face just before, his face suddenly became difficult to look at.

As a superior person, what I dislike the most is the arrogance of the lower person. He can ridicule, arrogant or even be arrogant, but it does not mean that a lower sanctuary can be arrogant in front of him, which makes the dignity of the old man feel a kind of provocation. On the Continent of Miracles, usually the inferior provokes the superior, which often means digging their own graves. Perhaps the better-tempered people will laugh at each other with a phrase of ignorance and fearlessness, but it is a pity that this old man is not a good-natured man. people.

"You are looking for your own death." The old man's face became extraordinarily yin sinking, "I will give you one last chance, either surrender or die."

"Oh." Andrew sighed softly, "It's really fearless for the ignorant."

The blue veins on the old man's forehead were erected, his brows were slightly raised, and the whole person began to exude a terrifying and terrifying killing intent. He just took a step forward, and the terrifying aura that was like a deep sea turned towards Andrew. It rushed forward, like a giant dragon showing its hideous fangs, and began to attack those tiny reptiles who dared to provoke it. Under this huge breath, the ground was torn apart at an astonishing speed. Then the direction of these cracks is surprisingly Andrew, and as the cracks increase, the ground also shows signs of collapse, and strands of dust and dust continue to emerge from the cracks.

The momentum is amazing!

This is the imposing means that belongs to the sanctuary powerhouse to borrow the power of the world's rules!

In essence, this old man still didn't hurt the killer at the beginning, maybe he really wanted Andrew to surrender. Because Andrew can see that with his aura and coercive means, for people below the sanctuary realm, it is naturally a one-shot kill, but for the sanctuary-level powerhouse, even if it is just a newcomer to the sanctuary. Newcomer to the domain. At the most, it is the disintegration of its fighting will and fighting ability, which is not a fatal injury.

It was also the last glimmer of light left in this old man's heart, and Andrew did not immediately hurt the killer.

He still stood on the spot, without any movement, but for a moment it seemed that he could see a slight tremor in his figure. It was as if the ray of light had been folded away from him.

Immediately afterwards, the astonishing momentum that surged like a storm was like a typhoon that had passed. The position three meters in front of Andrew suddenly disappeared without a trace.

The old man was taken aback. Immediately his face turned pale, the whole figure retreated several steps like prostration, and then finally stopped, but at this time, he was a few dozen old in an instant, his back was already rickety, and it seemed that he was just standing. Now he was about to use all his strength.

"This. What the hell..." The old man's eyes became a little frightened, "Who are you?"

"It doesn't matter who I am, of course you don't need to know." Andrew said softly, "If it weren't for your merciful thoughts when you shot, you would be the same as this corpse called Lawrence."

"my power....."

"I just temporarily cut off your connection with the rule power of this world. Maybe one or two months, maybe one or two years, you can still regain your current strength." Andrew said in a deep voice, "I just don't want anyone to be here. It's just the employer who disturbed me at this time. After all, I have a two-year contract with him."

"You... why can you still exist in this material world?" The old man's voice became a little frightened.

"This is not something you should know." Andrew's voice was already a bit dignified, "I will ask for the last time, do you want to leave here, or insist on continuing to trouble him? ... Of course, if you still want to trouble him. I won't stop you this time. I just want to stop him to the extent that you are only inferior gold and cannot borrow the power of the rules. I am really not very optimistic."

The **** se on the old man's face changed several times, and finally he sighed helplessly: "The Nugus family seems to have come to an end this time."

As for the Nugus family or the Kingdom of Darbion, Andrew didn't care at all, and it can even be said that even if the world is destroyed, it has nothing to do with him. Of course, the premise is that he has already left this world at that time. Otherwise, if someone really wants to destroy this world, he might have to stand up and help resist it. So now he resists the will of the world but has to be in some way. It is quite contradictory for Andrew to act as the guardian of some world will to a certain extent.

Seeing the old man staggeringly choose to leave, Andrew did not pursue the chase. After all, his contract with Sean was to block any strong man above the sanctuary for him in the past two years, so if he can avoid killing as much as possible, He will still choose this more peaceful means.

Just like the last time he just "persuaded" the dragon knight from the Millennium Covenant Empire, but didn't kill him.

But soon, the blood se on Andrew's face disappeared like chao, and even his lips turned white, as if all the blood in the body had disappeared. But this situation did not last long. When his heart beats again strongly, the place where Andrew was standing instantly collapsed within a radius of tens of meters to a depth of two meters, and the entire area seemed to be like It was held back by an invisible force field and disappeared abruptly.

Only after this terrible strong fluctuation, the blood on Andrew's face returned to normal again, and the whole person seemed to have nothing.

But if you look closely, you can find that Andrew's hair seems to be shorter by an inch, and there is some gray and black soot on the shoulders of his clothes. And even his whole person seemed to be more solid. There is no longer a somewhat ethereal illusion like before.

"Your sin has increased again." At this moment, Bass's voice suddenly sounded from deep in Andrew's heart.

"I know." Andrew sighed slightly.

"You are merging into this world, and if this continues, you will be completely restricted by the rules of this world." Beth's voice became anxious.

"One more year." Andrew was silent for a moment, and then he began to speak.

"Don't kill anymore." Beth said again, "You are different from me. I have a world of illusion as a barrier. In this world, I will not be infected by their souls when I kill people, so I will not carry this world. Sin... I am your sword, and I will bear your sin!"

"Don't worry, you will have a chance soon." Andrew chuckled. "When I complete the contract with Sean, the realm of illusion will be immortalized on you, then you can walk around in this world without having to bear the sins of the world, so the next thing can only be handed over. Here it is for you and Enkos."

"How long will you sleep?"

"Who knows." Andrew shrugged, and he moved his shoulders slightly. It is not so easy to bear the original sin from the will of the world directly, which gives him a more real sense of exhaustion. "But during my deep sleep. I hope you can take care of Ablis, Dex and Nanali."

"Nanny, I think it should be handed over to Enkos." Beth said mercilessly, "Only a guy who can grow flowers in a sealed environment for so many years, like him, can become a qualified nanny.... I am a sword, I can only kill the enemy."

"Damn it, don't think I didn't know you were talking bad about me again. Beth, do you want to die?". Enkos's roar was particularly abrupt.

"Then you can tell me, what are you doing now?". Beth asked rhetorically.

"Plant flowers!" Enkos said spitefully, "The black mandala is about to run out again. Without this raw material to make holy water, Nanaly will lose her temper again."

"Look, it's over." Beth's tone was particularly calm, "I was praising you just now. Of course, if you don't like it, I can take back what I just said."

"Really?". Enkos was somewhat skeptical.

"In a sense..." Andrew thought for a while, and then said, "I really praise you."

"Huh, I know that Lord Demon is better than you!" Enkos started yelling again.

"Shut up!" As the demon master level of the abyss world, Enkos's soul is exceptionally strong, so its soul power is naturally unparalleled. Whenever he yells like chicken blood-especially here with his soul in the connection of power as a transmission, Andrew and Beth will have a particularly headache.

"Cut." Enkos grunted softly.

At this moment, there was an extremely strong vibration on the earth again. This time the earthquake was not much weaker than the previous one. It can even be said to be worse than the previous one, because almost half of the buildings in Nugus Manor in this earthquake, it was completely in ruins, and the wailing that resounded throughout the manor was a little bit more.

But in the midst of this earthquake, Andrew closed his eyes and silently felt the atmosphere around him, before a smile appeared on his face.

Originally, he thought he needed to help the two knights, Dante and Rena, but for the moment, it was obvious that after catching Hela alive, Sean and others turned around to assist Rena and Dante. , Forced the quasi-sanctuary powerhouse back, so everyone has left safely. The reason why the earthquake fluctuations this time will be stronger than the previous one is purely because Sean and others used some kind of explosive device to destroy the entire teleportation array.

Of course, not everyone left through the teleportation array.

Like Dante, he escorted Paquiuli away with Rosso and Avril. After all, the technology of the teleportation array is not perfect now. Since Hela is to be brought back to the Void City, one person must give way. As for the golden powerhouse who follows Hela, she will cross several realms with Dante and return to the Void City, but at that time Andrew believed that this area should be a safe area.

"Sean has gone back." Andrew said in a deep voice, "You will be in charge over there."

"As long as you are within the realm of falsehood, no one can hurt him." Beth's voice was full of incomparable domineering, "However, this war should be over soon?"

"Almost." Andrew said in a deep voice, "but before that, I must first intercept another sanctuary powerhouse.... The Kingdom of Darbion is already jumping the wall, so I can help a little bit to speed up the country's demise. Otherwise, once the contract period expires in a year, I won't be able to make a deal anymore."

"Don't kill anymore." Beth said softly, "If the original sin is so deepened, you may not be able to survive for a year."

"Don't worry, I won't kill people if I don't have to." Andrew smiled, "It's more appropriate to leave the technique of killing people to you."

"I am your sword."

"Waving for me."

"Follow your wishes."

Chapter 383: . Murder in the forest

Time is slightly forwarded for a while.

About half an hour before the start of the Nugus Manor raid, an order from Nugus Manor also happened to be transmitted to a forward base in Berbice through magic communication. Then twenty minutes later, a force of about three thousand people set off from this forward base secretly, marching towards the Northern Grey Shadow Forest, and then officially a few minutes before the launch of the Nugus Manor raid. Enter the Forest of Gray Shadows.

There is wind blowing.

There is a trace of moisture in the wind that is far more humid than other times, and it is vaguely incomparable.

The Forest of Grey Shadows is a relatively vast forest in the southern part of the Darbyang Kingdom. The richness of its materials is also the most important economic benefit in the southern part. Basically, it can be said that the existence of this forest is the support of the forest. The economic pillars of the two territories, Bisling and Yedby. It's just that for some reasons, this territory has not been completely mastered by the lords of the two territories. Therefore, due to certain psychological factors, both sides have acquiesced to the stop of the third party. The reason why No Mori completely stood firm.

So in terms of forest area alone, it is not impossible to completely cover up the traces of three thousand people.

After all, these people are just passing through the Forest of Gray Shadows, and they don't want to stay here.

Soon, the figure of the last soldier disappeared at the edge of the forest.

This 3,000-person army is composed of a 30-person wizard regiment and a 3,000-person infantry regiment.

The equipment specifications used by the infantry regiment proved that this must be a jingbing unit created by a certain noble Jingxin: all the soldiers are in a light blue armor, with a long sword hanging on the waist, and a round shield on the back. . These equipments are not brand new, and there are traces of the aftermath of the war. Every soldier has a murderous air on his face, and he acts as a scout for the soldiers who wandered outside the large army. It is also a face of jing and vigilance, and his attention is highly concentrated.

Grey Shadow Forest, now it is actually equivalent to falling into the hands of the Kingdom of Dabian.

Hela scattered dozens of nails in the area facing the Pandan collar in this forest, so as long as there is any trouble on Sean's side, both Yadby collar and Berbish collar will be in the first place. Receive the message immediately.

So in a certain state, this **** corps that entered the Grey Shadow Forest is actually okay even if it does not send scouts around to jingjie. However, the commander of this corps did not do this. Instead, he chose to continue jingling and contact the soldiers of this corps with the combat traces. From this, he could infer that the actual combat effectiveness of this corps was definitely not low. At the very least, it should be a quasi-fourth level army.

Such an army, with the assistance of a mage regiment, can often explode more combat power than a general Tier 4 army. More importantly, the equipment used by this army also makes them very suitable for fighting in terrain like the forest, which also has an extremely amazing bonus to their combat effectiveness.

across the forest of gray shadows. Even if it is the rhythm of the rapid march, at least it takes about two days.

However, considering the physical fitness of the wizards in the wizard group. Under normal circumstances, if it can travel through the entire Grey Shadow Forest to reach the frontline battlefield of Yadby's collar within four days. This is considered a good result. As the temporary commander-in-chief of this team, the middle-aged man with a face full of vicissitudes obviously had a bigger worry: when the battle mobilization order was issued, the confidential information he received included the copy of William Yale's The report and related data of breaking through the three lines of defense in Yadeby in just three days, as well as the most important picture of the current situation in Yadeby.

From the map, he can easily analyze that if the army that invaded Yedby continues to advance to the front line of the battlefield, then they will be at most three days later and the main force stationed in Yedby will engage in battle. Although he already knew that the order from the Southern Theater Command was to shrink the entire line of defense in the Yedby. However, if there is a battle with the main force at this time, they will be attacked by the enemy immediately after crossing the Grey Shadow Forest.

The commander named Weber didn't think that with their 3,000 troops and 30 magicians, they could become a surprise attack on the enemy's rear.

The best and most brilliant result. It is that they share part of the pressure for the troops on the front line, so that the defensive line that is about to collapse can be temporarily stabilized, or to maintain a balance of power. Of course, as a surprise attack, they, including the 30 mages, may not be able to be left. It is a lucky thing to be able to leave a whole body.

If it is really for this strategic goal, then they will not be dispatched, but several other troops.

So about half an hour after entering the Forest of Gray Shadows, Weber issued the first order: the whole army marched for six hours.

A seasoned commander will not leave a troop in a state of rapid marching for a long time, because it will make a troop's combat effectiveness drop, especially when encountering a sudden encounter, which will make the situation worse.

The six-hour rush march without any accidents, which made Weber's heavy mood slightly relaxed.

After the six-hour rapid march, Weber ordered a one-hour rest, followed by a four-hour normal march.

For soldiers, this way of marching is not unfamiliar, especially in wartime. But for the 30 wizards, this method made them complain. Many wizards even started to get angry because of this. But in this special situation, Webber could not say anything. It was impossible to take care of these three. Ten mages delayed the rhythm of the entire army, and eventually led to the deterioration of the battlefield situation in Yadby?

So after Webber moved out of Hela's name, although these mages were still dissatisfied, they did not continue to say anything in the end.

In fact, if it were not for these wizards, Weber would never rest here for an hour. Therefore, after serving in the army for so many years, he knew very well that if the rest time is too long, the sequelae of physical fatigue after the rapid march will be more severe. Great, all signs indicate that this pair's combat effectiveness has dropped even more. Fortunately, the three thousand people who followed him this time were all veterans. He survived the countless battlefields of blood and fire, so he doesn't need to worry about his own control and adjustment.

The only thing he needs to worry about is the thirty mages.

After a short break, the unit went on the road again. After four hours of normal marching, the unit once again ushered in a short break. This time the break was shortened to half an hour. Although the grievances of the mages were obviously greater, Webber was too lazy to say anything. When the half-hour break was over, Webber immediately ordered the whole army to continue. This time they will go on a rapid march for two and a half hours.

After this troop went through a march for twelve and a half hours, they finally stopped.

Only this day, they have already completed one-third of the distance of the Forest of Gray Shadows.

Although Grey Shadow Forest has almost no sunlight due to the tall canopy, for Webber, who has a more sensitive sense of time, he can still easily tell that the outside world should also be night.

So camp and rest. This is what they need to do at this time.

But soon, all the wizards ushered in a new bad news: they only have six hours of rest.

But this time the thirty mages didn't even have the strength to complain. They simply ate some food and fell asleep. Soon there was a slight snoring sound. Today's marching rhythm is really too hard for the wizards from the Magician Association. After all, the long-term pampering and treatment has made them forget the hard work of learning magic. Although they still maintain the ability to fight, they are basically because I am more accustomed to the team battle mode of the wizard group, and gradually forgot his own way of fighting.

Hard to wait until these masters are noisy and noisy. Webber finally had time to breathe a sigh of relief.

"My lord, I found something is wrong in the forest." But before Webber took out the dried meat from the food bag he was carrying, a man he had arranged to be a scout ran over. "The situation is quiet tonight. It's strange."

"What do you mean?" Weber's ***** became a little nervous.

"Within a range of hundreds of meters nearby. There is no trace of any beasts." The scout said in a deep voice, "Moreover, I also found a lot of people. Judging from the weight of the pace, it should be the demon hunters who are moving. It's just that. ..."

"It's just what?" Weber was a little puzzled. "The general level of monsters in the Grey Shadow Forest is not high. For ordinary people, the threat is really not low, but once a large-scale army enters, these low-level monsters will not come. Trouble with us. Especially since we are still an army, as long as we don't provoke the **** demons on the Huahai side, even the big lizard will not run out in this forest."

"My lord, the problem with the Beast may be easy to explain, but... the demon hunters in the Gray Shadow Forest almost never act after nightfall." This scout is obviously very aware of the situation in the Gray Shadow Forest. "And... According to observations, we found that the demon hunters who are still active are almost all high-level demon hunters. They look like they are purging this area. According to normal conditions, these demon hunters If a person finds that our regular army has entered, it should be the first choice to avoid it, even hunting will not be in such a close range to us."

"Have a Yin plan?"

"The subordinates are not sure." The scout hurriedly lowered his head.

He is just a scout. He is only responsible for reporting the situation and problems he found. As for other judgments, it is not his responsibility.

Next, there was a long period of silence.

But in any case, as the temporary commander-in-chief of this force, Weber must also be responsible for the situation of the entire team. Therefore, he quickly increased the number of night watchmen, and its scale more than doubled. Although this would affect the future combat effectiveness of the unit, and even cause his combat plan to be implicated, he was also very clear. The value of thirty wizards is much higher than their corps, so he dare not take risks.

Among the combat orders he received, he must give priority to ensuring the safety of the wizards at the first time.

To put it ugly, the three thousand of them are actually not much difference, that is, they are slightly more advanced cannon fodder.

On a night when Webber was worried, the imaginary raid, yin plot, or even melee did not appear, which made Webber's mood a little better. But what followed was a sense of helpless emptiness. Because of the sudden increase in the scale of the night vigil last night, the combat effectiveness of the entire army was reduced by at least 20%. This is still his conservative estimate, so the plan to reproduce yesterday's marching rhythm was originally planned today, but it is naturally impossible to implement it.

Originally, according to Weber's plan, they would traverse the entire Grey Shadow Forest in three days, and then get a ten-hour adequate rest period on the third night. They appeared at noon on the fourth day. On the flank of the main force of Darbion led by Yedby, if everything develops according to his assumptions, then at this time they can not only play the role of a surprise soldier, but even because of the arrival of the wizard group, they can also carry out a counterattack, which is the worst. Can cause a major loss to the enemy.

but now. He had to revise his battle plan. If he wanted to give the whole army a sufficient rest before leaving the Grey Shadow Forest, then they would appear on the battlefield on the fifth day, and they would enter the battlefield at this point in time. Unless the enemy has not launched an offensive, their appearance is tantamount to a sheep sent into the mouth of a tiger. It has no value except for contributing battlefield merits to the opponent.

March for a whole day. Weber is constantly thinking about the fastest and most advantageous battle plan. But until the whole army began to rest at night, he still did not come up with a complete plan, which made him feel a little irritable.

"Business as usual."

In the end, Weber had no choice but to give such an order.

The wind is getting bigger.

The chao dampness in the air is also more obvious, and this time there is still a vague smell.

For these battle-tested soldiers. They immediately distinguished the smell of blood from the smell, and the smell of blood could be transmitted by the wind, so what kind of killing would have to result in such a result!

Webber was awakened the first time.

The scouts sent out also quickly brought a reply: Those high-level demon hunters did not know why, and they carried out another **** killing here in the Grey Shadow Forest. It seems that several tribal-sized wolves were slaughtered, and then a material treatment was carried out on the spot, and the **** smell was emitted from these corpses.

Hearing such a reply, Webber frowned.

As we all know, the demon hunter almost never cooperates, even if there is that, it must be guaranteed. Being able to slaughter several tribal-sized wolves in one fell swoop is not something that a few demon hunters can do, and according to the report of the scouts, this is also proved. A total of more than fifty high-level demon hunters participated. In this operation, there seemed to be someone injured, but the scouts did not dare to get too close, mainly because they were afraid of causing misunderstandings.

For Gray Shadow Forest, only when the strength reaches the upper silver stage can it be called a high-level demon hunter.

The purpose of gathering more than fifty high-level demon hunters is by no means simple.

Webber immediately thought of the overlord in the Forest of Gray Shadows: Thunder and Fire Two-headed Lizard.

Only this behemoth is worthy of the cooperation of more than fifty demon hunters, and there must be someone who has paid a big price at this time and wants to purchase a certain part of the material of this behemoth. And the price is even enough to make these demon hunters temporarily give up their prejudice and hostility and choose to cooperate.

Thinking of this, Webber's heart relaxed slightly. He did not order the strengthening of the vigil, but did not revoke the existing vigil scale.

The entire temporary camp has not changed at all, just like a calm lake, without any ripples.

It's just that Webber didn't know that all the changes in the camp had already fallen into the eyes of a person.

This man who stood calmly on a treetop not far from Webber's camp by virtue of the dark environment of the Forest of Grey Shadows and the shelter of the leaves was not someone else, it was Sean who trusted and relied on most. People.

William Yale.

His originally calm face now has a slight smile, and the drunken red and the gently raised corners of the mouth that appear on his face are particularly charming and charming in the darkness.

It's just a pity that no one can see William's appearance now.

"This commander is very cautious. He is of the same type as Stalin. An enemy like this is difficult to defeat with any surprise tactics on the frontal battlefield, because their steadiness and caution force any enemy who wants to defeat them must be upright. Attack from the front." William's voice revealed a little excitement, "This is why the last time Stalin was garrisoned by Berbice, he was able to destroy an enemy several times more than him. He wanted to destroy any of them. It is absolutely impossible for the troops under the command of the commander of China to not pay a heavy price."

"The lord, you mean... to catch him alive?" Standing behind William was Bannock.

The barrier Paladin is now following William like the shadow of William. Although his strength has not broken through the golden realm, Sean doesn't mind investing a lot of materials in him. This allows him to at least face the next golden powerhouse and will not be without counterattack.

There is this former veteran demon hunter who is following William. William doesn't want to understand the entire Grey Shadow Forest. In fact, after breaking through the three lines of defense led by Yedby a few days ago, William secretly entered the Gray Shadow Forest with a guard in charge of Bannock. Under the understanding, they successfully avoided all the nails Hela arranged in the Forest of Gray Shadows.

So in fact, no matter which unit entered the Gray Shadow Forest, or when they entered, as long as they thought of taking the route of the Gray Shadow Forest into Yadby, it would be equivalent to announcing that they had slammed into it. In the cobweb that William had already woven.

"No need." William shook his head. "It is enough to have one Stalin, and another person with the same talent and ability as Stalin is not a good thing for us, but a cumbersome and...burden."

Bannock nodded thoughtfully.

"Action."

"Yes." Bannock replied in a deep voice, and then he imitated the sound of a bird beast unique in the Forest of Gray Shadows. The whistle sounded softly.

waited for a while, and then began to hear one after another.

If you listen carefully. You can find that the sound of these sounds happened to surround the entire camp.

But it's a pity. Everyone, including Weber, did not realize this at all.

Until, when the first sharp arrow broke through the air and nailed a magician to the ground, the entire camp boiled like boiling water.

But for the exhausted magicians, this raid came too fast. The arrows that had been aimed at them were densely covered like raindrops. In this wave of arrows, more than a dozen magicians were killed before they could react at all, and the number of soldiers who sacrificed to protect these magicians was even greater, but even so. There are still nearly ten magicians suffering various injuries.

The only surviving magician, there are fewer than five people!

Wake up, Webber saw this scene in front of him, he only felt a burst of blood pouring into his brain, which made him almost fainted when his eyes went dark.

The most important wizard group, because of exhaustion and a little negligence, it directly damaged 25 people in a wave of arrows!

Why does the Grey Shadow Forest have an archer?

But this question just surfaced in his mind, and he immediately found the answer.

Regular archers are absolutely unable to play their due combat power in places like Gray Shadow Forest, so there is only one type of people who can produce such quasi arrows in Gray Shadow Forest, those high-level demon hunters!

Why do these demon hunters dare to attack them! ?

Webber looked incredible.

In his impression, no matter how arrogant and arrogant the demon hunter was, he never dared to conflict with any army. After all, with the military formation and cooperation of the regular army, the lone ranger-like demon hunter would not have any advantage at all, and in the end, waiting for them would inevitably be death.

It is also out of this consideration that since last night, although he has heard of the large-scale actions of high-level demon hunters, Webber's own soldiers, or the superiority of the soldiers, did not allow him to remove these. The demon hunter really took it seriously. In his opinion, increasing the number of night watchmen and the range of jing ring is enough to value those demon hunters, and even this is still faintly revealing a message that there are regular troops nearby.

If those demon hunters are smart enough, they will definitely choose to escape.

But now!

The arrow rain continues!

Although these arrows are a little sparse, every arrow that breaks through the air will inevitably have a soldier fall forever, which makes Webber feel a burst of mad anger.

It's just that this anger comes quickly and goes quickly.

After the anger disappeared, Webber ushered in a wave of fear of death.

Because in his vision, large-scale regular soldiers began to appear.

These soldiers have completely formed an encirclement, completely besieging them all.

The soldiers in front of Webber did not play any flags, but just glanced at the equipment and clothing of these soldiers, and Webber already knew the origin of the army.

Thunder's front.

The scariest and most powerful army under the female demon from Tonis Fortress!

At this time, the only thought that still remained in Webber's mind was why this army that scared the entire Kingdom of Darbion appeared here!

Chapter 384: . Soliciting Hella

..

≪!--α

Originally, she thought that what was waiting for her would be a cell, but the result was completely different from what she had imagined.

This is a very clean room, the furnishings in the room are very simple, that is, common choices such as vases, desks, and oil paintings, but it is obvious that they have been adjusted and furnished by Jingxin, because the whole room looks There is a unique simplicity and atmosphere. But it wasn't these that really satisfied Hella, but in this room she could smell a faint fragrance, which was a natural floral fragrance rather than a floral fragrance artificially blended by an alchemist.

Hella likes the natural floral scent, because it reminds her of her mother's tenderness.

A light knock on the door sounded.

Hella returned to her senses and looked at the door, but did not speak.

After a while, the door sounded again.

"Come in... please come in." Hela finally had a reaction this time, but after getting used to Xing's words, she finally remembered her situation at the moment, so her words changed a little.

It was not someone else who came in from outside the door, it was Sean.

With a faint smile on his face, he looked around for a while, then turned his gaze on Hela, and smiled: "How is it, are you satisfied?"

"Very satisfied." Hela nodded generously. Her eyes were very clear and calm, without the shame of being a prisoner or the arrogance of receiving preferential treatment.

Simple and clean.

"You said that if we can successfully leave Nugus Manor, then I am qualified to talk to you about the next cooperation right?" Sean pulled a chair away, then sat on it, and stood in the room looking at it. Hela of Zhongyang, "So now. Can we talk about our cooperation?"

Hella frowned slightly.

To be honest, Helazi se is not outstanding, her facial features will feel good when taken out alone, but when organized together, it gives people a bland feeling, and does not make people shine. The stunning, using Sean's words on Earth, is the type that is never found in a typical embarrassing sea. But even so, Hela still has a temperament that ordinary people don't have. After all, from the moment she is sensible, the skills she learns and masters are destined to be impossible for her to be ordinary in her life. Of course, another aspect is also related to her family background.

Therefore, when Hela's brow furrowed slightly, the coercive aura of her unique superiors naturally radiated out.

It's just that for Sean, it won't have any effect. He still smiled at Hela.

A few seconds later. Hela, who finally realized that she was gaffe, came back to her senses, and then pulled a chair away and sat across from Sean. It's just that her behavior is different from that of ordinary people. She didn't have the slightest pretentiousness and tweaking. Very calmly and generously and Xiao En looked at each other, and then said: "What is a cooperative method?"

"You are not the only survivor of the Garcia family." Sean said with a smile on his face.

Looking at Sean's smile, Hela felt that it was almost like a devil's smile. Of course she is as smart as she knows that Sean's words are actually a temptation, a trap that forces her to give up the negotiation initiative. If it were in any other circumstances, she would definitely not give up the negotiation initiative, but this time she couldn't help it. She did it. So after a few seconds of contemplation. Hela finally spoke: "How many survivors are there."

"Back then, the Garcia family was framed because of a political yin conspiracy, which led to not falling behind. Three other people managed to escape the siege." Sean said with a calm face, "Two of them are your uncles, and the other one. He was the strong man hired by the Garcia family at the time.... But I guess you are definitely not interested in that strong man."

A flash of mockery flashed in Hela's eyes.

The so-called strong. It's nothing more than lower or upper gold. If the Garcia family had a sanctuary powerhouse, they wouldn't have become a substitute for the dead because of that political yin plot. Therefore, the pure golden realm powerhouse is really not regarded by Hela. After all, as she is now ri, of course it was before being captured alive by Sean, let alone the golden realm powerhouse, Sanctuary She is qualified to command the strong.

"But in fact, if you don't have that strong man, let alone your two uncles, even your mother can't run away." Sean had long known that Hela would show such an expression, so his tone of voice There is also a hint of contempt in it. This subtle pleasure of slaps makes Sean feel very happy. "I have some clues about the strong man right now. At that time, he was making sure that your mother successfully escaped. I went back to rescue your two uncles. Of course, I'm not sure what the final result will be."

"You mean..." A hint of excitement flashed in Hela's eyes, "As long as you find that person, you can find the survivors of the Garcia family?"

"I'm not sure, but this is indeed a clue." Sean smiled slightly.

"What do you want me to do?" After being excited, Hela quickly calmed down. Of course, she knew that Sean would not say this for no reason, so she might as well be a bit more straightforward after she has lost the negotiation initiative. Listening to what Sean intends to let her do is better than she bargaining with him without knowing Sean's bottom line.

"I said, it's cooperation." Xiao En smiled slightly.

"The definition of cooperation is very wide." Hela said in a deep voice, "I don't know which kind of cooperation you are referring to."

"I need a subordinate like you."

"Does this differ from letting me surrender to you?" Hela let out a sneer.

"Of course there is." Sean nodded seriously, "surrender to me, that means you can only obey my orders. But what I need is not a puppet who only listens to orders, what I need is Your talent, your general application that almost pushed me to a dead end, your layout ability far beyond ordinary people.... And I will not simply treat you as a subordinate, I will restore your reputation, even let You re-established the Garcia family... If you have to say the essential meaning, then it is probably that we are an equal relationship, not a subordinate relationship."

Listening to Sean's words, Hela fell into deep contemplation. She prides herself on seeing countless people, and she only needs to have a simple conversation with the other person to see whether the other person is sincere. And based on her observation, she could see that Sean's words were of course not to fool her, but to talk to her very seriously, which surprised Hela a bit, why there is such a nobleman in this world Woolen cloth?

"Did you and William say the same thing?"

"Facing William, I will be simple and rude." Hearing Hela's question, Sean couldn't help but remember the first time he met William, "I said something to him."

"Simple and rude?" Hela was stunned, "What's the matter?"

"I need you."

I heard Sean say these words so bluntly. Hela was stunned for a few seconds, and finally couldn't help laughing: "It really is simple and rude!... You just use these words to make William follow you from now on?"

"Trust takes time to build." Sean shrugged. He didn't think there was anything wrong with this sentence. He remembered when he was in the game. The president of his guild often said this to people, and then many people would always be fooled by him on the thief ship. "I hand over the military authority of the entire territory to him. I never interfere with any of his actions, because I don't think it is necessary, and I also believe that he can do all this.... This is the trust that William and I have built up with each other. "

When Hearing Sean's words, Hela's eyes were a little bit more strange.

In her impression, what she has learned from childhood to age is intrigue, because even relatives in the family. They are all enemies to her. And the kindness to the enemy is the cruelty to herself, so from the moment she is sensible, she has never experienced family affection. Even in the face of her father, her only impression is that the score system in the family can only survive if they get higher scores, and then stand at the highest point of the entire family and have more authority.

Therefore, trust this kind of thing, but Hela has never owned it.

or yes, but that is the trust of others in her, not her trust in others.

There is an essential gap between the two.

"What do you need me to do?" Hela was silent for a moment before speaking.

"I said, what I need is not a puppet who only obeys orders." Sean said softly, "With your cleverness, you will be able to find a suitable position for you in my team... I said, trust. It takes time to build, but I don't mind starting to build trust in you from this moment, so if you want to go out for a walk, or go to the meeting room to observe the meeting and see the strategic plan for this time, there will be no one. Stop you."

Hela fell into silence suddenly and did not respond to Sean's words.

But Sean didn't mind either. He stood up politely, then performed a noble courtesy to Hela, and said again: "Regarding your identity, Neil will send someone over to check with you soon. From this moment on, you can formally abandon the surname Nugus and restore the surname Garcia.... But because it is currently in wartime, I hope you can stay in this mansion, even if it's a saint here. A strong domain will definitely not hurt you."

"I seem to understand the reason why you didn't put the sanctuary powerhouse in your eyes." Hela laughed suddenly, as if she had caught some secret.

"The matter is actually a little bit complicated. I will explain it to you later when I have a chance." Sean knew that Hela must have been thinking about it, but at this time he wanted to explain and he didn't know where to start. The matter also involves many other interests, so Sean feels that it is better not to make it too clear for the time being.

"As the first step to build trust with each other, I feel it is necessary for me to tell you one thing."

"What's up?"

"Just before you raided Nugus Manor, I just issued an order for the wizards of Berbice to secretly reinforce Yedby through the Grey Shadow Forest." Hela said, "Moreover, about I also made some slight adjustments to the defense forces of the Berbice collar and the Chiraff collar. In fact, they are all a trap. If you rashly launch an offensive, you will only lose a lot."

"You mean, you let the wizards use the Grey Shadow Forest to reinforce the Jederby?"

"Yes." Hela nodded, "So I'm going to tell you now that the army you lead in Yadby will be very dangerous."

"If you want to pass the Grey Shadow Forest, then I don't think I need to worry about it." Xiao En smiled, "The Grey Shadow Forest has an underground black market of demon hunters, which was beaten by me a long time ago. After I got down, I also snatched things from the Chamber of Commerce Alliance, so I actually prepared an ambush there a long time ago, waiting for you to send someone to the Grey Shadow Forest."

"According to my understanding, the situation in the Grey Shadow Forest is a bit complicated, and the force of the unit I ordered to be allowed to be dispatched is not weaker than the average force. With the assistance of the wizard group, I am afraid that the combat power is not much weaker than that of the Fourth Army. Hela frowned slightly, and she felt a little incomprehensible about Sean's pride, "So in terms of combat power alone, I don't think you have any troops that can stop this army from advancing."

"What if there are five thousand thundering fronts?" Sean smiled.

This time, Hella can finally understand Sean's sense of pride and superiority.

Chapter 385: Pacify the southern theater

The Thunder's Front is the Jing Rui army that Asuna really spent countless efforts to build. This army made countless contributions in the first war with the Darbion Kingdom, and at the same time became the entire south of the Darbion Kingdom. The lingering nightmare of nobles.

Because they are also the army that has the honor of duli designation, almost no army can defeat this army called "Demon Fang" by the expensive Darbys on the frontal battlefield, except for the Boulder family's agave army. But in that battle, the Boulder family also paid a lot of money. At least in that battle, the private forces of two Marquis of the Boulder family were forced to cancel their organization. .

So for the Kingdom of Darbion, the only thing to be thankful for is that this "devil's tooth" only has a staff of 10,000 people.

However, after the battle between the Rift Valley and the strong sanctuary named Lawrence of the Nugus family, the Thunder's Front actually only had 7,000 troops left. After all, this army wanted to supplement the army. Not an easy task. However, despite the fierce battle conditions, this at least allowed this army to successfully reach the level of a quasi-fifth level army, and it was only a handful of the door that could become an ace army comparable to the jing sharp troops of the empire.

So let such an army ambush in the Forest of Gray Shadows, and its size is still five thousand people, not to mention a small army that can use the equipment and geographical advantages with the assistance of the wizard group to be able to display the level of the fourth-level army. Even the mountain lion army that has not yet been destroyed, is blocked by the thundering front.

Therefore, the battles from the Forest of Gray Shadows are simply one-sided **.

In this battle, William's side only paid the price of hundreds of Thunder's Front soldiers and dozens of Tier 5 and Tier 6 Demon Hunters, and successfully wiped out the wizard regiment in the southern theater of the Kingdom of Darbion. And three thousand guards.

In the ** order issued by William's confirmation, none of the soldiers on the Darbion side was able to leave alive.

After this battle was over, William immediately asked the Thunder's Front to dress up, and at the same time, he also asked the thirty priests who accompanied him to disguise himself as a wizard group.

For William, this Trojan horse tactic is simply a yin strategy that he can't be familiar with anymore.

At the same time, in order to cooperate with this Trojan horse force, William also ordered the large forces that have been on standby at Yedby to start a fierce attack. Within two days, they completely tore the line of defense of Darbyang's leader in Yedby, and attacked the enemy. The main force of the party launched a battle. Taking advantage of this chaotic moment, the Trojan horse force naturally appeared on the edge of the battlefield "just right", and gave the Panda leader a deadly attack, allowing the main force of Dabion in Yedby to win a breathing time. At the same time, it easily gained the trust of this force.

The second battle that broke out immediately afterwards was almost without suspense.

The special force composed of three thousand thundering fronts and thirty priests of the Church of Ice, Snow and Winter easily broke through the enemy base camp, successfully hijacked and paralyzed the local command center, leading to complete chaos in the front battlefield. Then it was eaten away by Iron Wings and Cecilia's Guards. Of course, in this battle, the casualties of Thunder's Front were also not small. The 3,000-man troop eventually only survived more than 1,000, and this is because Xuefanio was extremely active on the battlefield. If not, If such a person who can be regarded as a quasi-sanctuary powerhouse comes and goes on the battlefield, I am afraid it is not easy to paralyze the entire enemy command center.

However, this extremely risky behavior has also achieved great gains, especially its strategic significance is irreplaceable.

The fall of Yedby, also means the complete fall of at least half of the southern region of Darbion.

If at this time, the Darbion Army located in Berbice and Chiraf do not retreat, then they are likely to endure a combined offensive attack from four or even five sides. But if they retreat, then this is also tantamount to surrendering the strategic advantage that they have finally gained, and even because their retreat leads to insufficient strategic depth space and completely loses the advantage.

So, regardless of whether the Berbice and Chiraff's Darbion army will retreat, the victory of the Principality of Ryan in the southern theater is only a matter of time.

In terms of conventional military merits, the overall victory of the first war zone can win many honors and merits to the commander in charge of this war zone, so if Sean can become the first among the three major war zones divided by this war. A commander who ended the war in the theater of war, then his resume in the Principality of Lane will naturally add a very strong stroke, and even the military headquarters of the Principality of Lane can occupy a more important position in the future.

And in a sense, if the southern theater that Sean is responsible for is the first theater to settle the war, then this is definitely an extremely loud slap for the nobles in the northwest theater. Because whether it is from the logistical support attitude of the Ministry of Public Affairs, or the mobilization of the nobles in the Principality, or the difference in status, the Northwest Theater should be a well-deserved gathering place for the strong.

But in fact, the Northwest Theater of the United States is nothing more than nothing, and its battle report data is even not as good as the combined military battle report of the three families of Asuna, the Boulder family and the Dubai family.

It was not only William, Neal and others who could see this, but even Hela Garcia, who had officially joined Sean's command, took several days. When William announced that he had officially won the Yadby collar. And on the day when the enemy was completely defeated, Hela had already discovered these problems. It can even be said that she has found far more problems than Xiao En and others seem on the surface, after all, she is the authority in this area.

So, Hella contributed to Sean her first strategy after becoming a member of her staff: spreading rumors.

It is actually not very accurate to say that it is a rumor, after all, this incident did happen.

As we all know, the incident of the Nugus family encountered a surprise attack is naturally a very sensitive matter, so Hela can guess that her father will conceal and block these news. However, she has now left the Nugus family, so she naturally doesn't care about all of this. Therefore, after borrowing some manpower from William and Ruby, she began to announce the rumors of Hela's death in Berbice and Chiraf.

Then the result was exactly as Hela expected. The garrisons of Berbice and Chiraff had some very subtle panic reactions. Of course, this kind of reaction was only circulated among the upper-level officers, and for the lower-level officers and soldiers. In other words, they didn't even know that all their actions from the beginning to today actually came from a woman's layout.

After this subtle panic began to radiate, the second thing Hela did was to redraw the defense line of the Berbice and Chiraff collar and give it to William. After obtaining this completely confidential document information, William did not let Hela down. He did not completely defeat the garrison of Berbice and Chiraf in one breath, but instead used his slight advantage in military strength to cannibalize. The method of harvesting the troops on the line of defense bit by bit, while dragging the two troops on the battlefield completely and unable to retreat, this set of slow-knife meat-cutting tactics of boiling frogs in warm water showed an extremely amazing effect in William's hands. .

Of course, in a sense, this is the first time William and Hela have joined forces.

One for layout planning, and one for tactical strikes.

These two wise generals, ranked seventh and tenth respectively, will soon let Dabion fully appreciate the terrifying strategy.

Because when the garrison generals of Berbice and Chiraff realized that the situation was not right, they decided to unite and retreat after meeting, they finally found that their back path had been completely cut off, and they were blocking their retreat. The troops on the route are not ordinary troops, but are said to be the three most powerful troops under Sean's command-the Lion of Thunder, the Cecilia Guards and the Iron Wings.

In the early stages of the battlefield, after successfully annihilating the mountain lion legion, the Thunder Lion was broken into pieces and hidden. After learning about the joint plan of Asuna and the Boulder family, Sean was naturally in the first place. Time to recall this extremely powerful force. Although the Lion of Thunder did not catch up with the war against Yedby, at the last moment, Alfred led the Lion of Thunder to successfully participate in the final battle planned by the two ten generals.

If this is only bad news for the garrisons of Berbice and Chiraf, then when they discovered that the terrifying "demon tooth" of Thunder's Front had actually appeared in the north of Berbice's battlefield, It is said that the top commander of Berbice fainted on the spot, because this was not bad news, but disaster.

The next war is almost a one-sided situation.

The two armies that were besieged here were unable to break through the siege, and were unable to even merge, so they were surrounded and beaten by the army led by Panda.

Faced with this scene, Sean only thought of a word.

Close the door and hit the dog.

On April 11, 1874, after a month-long battle, Darbion's troops stationed in Berbice and Chiraff finally announced their unconditional surrender to the lord of Panda in the Principality of Lane, Sean Connery. .

Although there are actually several armies in the southern region of the Kingdom of Darbion that have combat effectiveness, and even Prince Hodgdi's private soldiers have not been dispatched, but more than two-thirds of the entire southern region has been under the control of Sean. , The real main force has already been hit by the wiping out, and the remaining resistance force will naturally not be seen by Sean.

At this point, it can basically be said that the battle between the Kingdom of Darbion and the Principality of Lane in the southern theater ended with the overall victory of the Principality of Lane.

And Sean Connery, naturally became the first commander to end the war in the three major war zones of the Principality of Lane this time.

It is said that when the upper aristocrats in the Northwest Theater heard about this, many people broke their wine glasses directly.

Then, a letter of command from the Supreme Commander Commander was also sent towards the Void City at the same time.

Chapter 386: . Against Sean's scheming

The southern theater became the first theater of war to be quelled. Whether it was in the Kingdom of Darbion or the Principality of Lane, it was considered a blockbuster.

It is reported that after hearing the news, it was not only the nobles of the Principality of Lane in the Northwestern War Zone who threw away the wine glass, but even the one in the Royal Palace of the Kingdom of Darbion broke a lot of things. Of course, the most angry and frightened are the nobles who survived in the southern region, such as the two dukes Ashan Nugus and Jen Howard. The reason for their anger is that they can think with their toes. I know that the reason why the Southern Theater was defeated so quickly must be because Hela betrayed them, because they both knew very well that Hela was not dead at all, but was taken away by Sean Connery. .

As for the reason for their fear, it is almost the same as the reason for anger.

Hela must not be able to endure torture, so he revealed all the secrets to the other party. This time, all the layout of the entire southern battlefield was planned by Hela. The weight of the secrets she vomited is so much. This is simply acceptable. Something you want to know.

But when they really wanted to take over and re-modify, they found that they had no way of starting, because they didn't know what Hella's idea was in the beginning, and what the meaning or pitfalls of her arrangements were. . As a result, the two dukes began to have discord with each other, and in the end the two sides finally parted ways completely. This moment is also equivalent to officially announcing the demise of the Nugus family, which was once infinitely brilliant and even capable of clamoring with the Boulder family.

After all, the main force on the front line fighting against Pandaling is almost all the active force of the Nugus family faction.

However, on the southern side of the theater, there was one person who didn't panic at all.

Prince Cazes Hodgedi.

He also has 30,000 troops under his command, as well as a fierce army-level Scarlet Knights.

Although the size of this knight group is only a thousand people, if it is used well, its combat power will not be weaker than a heavy cavalry group with a scale of 10,000 people.

Of course, the most important point is that in the entire southern theater defense line set up by Hella himself, the prince has not participated from the beginning to the end, so his army not only maintains a perfect scale, but even its combat effectiveness level is not at all. decline. Even because he did not participate in the layout of Hella, no one knows how the prince's specific defense forces are arranged. If he just guards his own territory and wants to eliminate the prince, it will be a real thing. storm.

According to the general commander's approach, he would definitely choose to avoid the territory commanded by the prince. At most, he would be on guard. At least he would not charge head-on. After all, the entire southern theater has been completely settled and ended the war. This point of resistance is already at a negligible level.

But Sean really couldn't ignore the prince.

Like Ashan Nugus and Jerne Howard, two nobles of the southern faction, Sean may be able to ignore them for the time being. Because at present, the Duke of Jerne Howard, after knowing the near-occupied situation of the Southern Theater, this guy directly led people to the camp of the Southeast Theater, and now he is facing the Boulder family like a mad dog. People bite; As for the Duke of Asan Nugus, Sean wants to completely defeat or even live the Duke, which is a matter of minutes. He only needs to let Rina take the Scarlet Knights to run for a while. Just a trip.

So it is not so much to ignore it, as it is no longer worthy of Sean's attention.

Anyway, once he swung his army eastward, the confrontation with Jen Howard would be a matter of time. On the contrary, Sean hoped that this old guy would not be killed by Asuna first.

Only Prince Kazes Hodgedi, Sean must solve it anyway.

And still take the initiative to solve.

If he doesn't want to die.

Sean squeezed the dead bones in his hand. This epic weapon brought him great benefits. The most important thing is that this weapon can become stronger as his strength increases. Although he is still limited to the upper silver and has not broken through, he believes that once he breaks through to the lower gold, the death bone should get a strong increase in genital xing. This is the point that Sean has been very fond of the death bone so far. s reason.

Because at this stage, it is really difficult to have another weapon that can surpass the dead bone in xing ability.

However, it is precisely because of the superiority of the dead bones that Sean will cause himself an annoyance.

He must cut off the blood of Prince Kazes Hodgedi, this is an agreement between him and Romeo, otherwise his soul will be taken away by the demon lord Kanternus. After all, this is not a game, but a real world. All the rules and tasks can no longer be explained by just the words "mission failure". Once almost all tasks fail, the cost is death.

So now that the war in the southern theater is basically settled, Sean held the first post-war plenary meeting after letting everyone rest for a while.

There were a lot of people participating in the meeting this time. It can almost be said that Sean's current team is already present, and even the heads of the mercenary regiments are fortunate enough to be invited. This really makes them a little sincere, after all, the mercenary regiments. This name seems to be quite remarkable, but unless it is the first-class mercenary group on the mainland, it has never been regarded by the nobles.

It's just that, because the heads of these mercenary regiments were seated, the situation in the conference room was actually a bit subtle.

In this large conference room that can accommodate more than thirty people, there are three distinct groups of people.

The group of people sitting on the left side of the long table in the conference room are the nobles from the Principality of Lane. They are mainly Nolien Sharon. Although the number is only a mere five, they are real nobles after all. They have been since childhood. They have developed an arrogant and domineering style, so even if they were shocked by Sean's dismounting, but these guys who have forgotten their pain after the scars are all looking full of momentum at the moment, as if they were in this conference room. Just like the master.

The group of people sitting on the right side of the long table, although one more person than the five-person group from the old noble family of the Principality of Lane, they are the weakest group in the entire room. These six people are naturally the six commanders from the mercenary regiment. Of course, not everyone will put those nobles in their eyes, like the head of the Red Scorpion Mercenary Corps Catalina and the head of the Fierce Bear Mercenary Corps. Caron, these two guys didn't put those nobles in their eyes, just because the aura of the other companions seemed weaker, so no matter how strong the two were, they couldn't hold up the scene.

As for the other group, they are naturally Sean's people.

In addition to the two giants William and Neal, those who entered the table have now officially joined the third giant, second only to Sean and comparable to William and Neal.

Hella Nugus.

For Hella, a very ordinary-looking woman, no one among the people present has not suffered from her, and even everyone once felt the pain of almost leaving their hometown. Therefore, for Hella to become one of the Big Three next to Sean, none of these followers under Sean's objection, on the contrary, they feel quite safe.

This is the highest expression of respect for the strength of the Miracle Continent.

In addition to these three giants, the others present include Alfred, Rena, Chefanio, Stalin, Aldolph, Knock, Clover, Anno, Thain, Tini, Cecily Twelve people including Ya and Rude. Except for the four of these people, Xuefanio, Tini, Cecilia, and Rudd, all the others are already at the legion commander level. Those who hold positions are also big shots.

As for Xuefanio and Dini, the people present are no strangers at all.

In the final battle between Berbice and Kiraf, Xuefanio led her priests to become the most magnificent scenery on the entire battlefield. It is precisely because of the existence of this priesthood that the Cecilia Guards and Iron Wings, which are responsible for blocking the enemy's retreat, have gone through a **** battle before they can stop the charge of as many as 50,000 people. It provides the most favorable guarantee for the opening of the Thunder Lion.

It is precisely because of this that Sean will order a ***** battle without letting any enemy on this battlefield escape.

Because he has this news about the priests, Sean does not want to disclose it yet.

But for those present, this is no secret.

And according to Rupi's information, Sean also knew that since the end of the battle, the five nobles from the Principality of Lane had all inquired about the situation of Xuefanio and Dini and the ***** they believed in. However, only Nolane is the only one who clicks to the end. The other four nobles have tried to get close to Xuefanio or Dini, but unfortunately they have not succeeded. However, there are also very clever nobles who have chosen to go back and change. To please other members of the priesthood.

Sean certainly knew what these nobles were thinking, after all, if he could have a clergy, this would definitely be an extremely terrifying increase in combat power. But if these nobles simply think that this will be able to win a clergy, then they are quite wrong. After all, Xuefanio and Dini are willing to work for him, or is it because he and Eswinter have Contractually agreed. Therefore, the final behavior of these nobles can only attract one or two priests. In this way, it is not difficult to ensure the situation of the nobles themselves, but if they want to be used in war, it is absolutely impossible. thing.

Sitting in the meeting room, Sean's eyes swept over everyone present.

His face looked very solemn, with an unprecedented seriousness, which was very different from the impression of Sean by many people present. Only those who have gone through countless battles following Sean will know that once Sean shows such a face, it usually means that he has made a decision in his heart.

"How are we now?" Sean said solemnly, sitting in the lobby of the conference room.

"If the southern area of the Kingdom of Darbion is basically under our control, the remaining resistance will be negligible." It was not the Big Three under Sean who spoke, but one from the Principality of Lane. Viscount, his face looked a little excited.

In fact, not only this viscount, but the other four nobles except Nolane, all looked excited at this time.

Originally, they just wanted to come here to make some merits, and did not think too much, but it turned out to be wrong because the Southern Theater was the first theater to settle the war, and the merits they could make would definitely not be based on this alone. few. Especially in that battle, all of them participated. In any case, they were considered to be the troops involved in the frontline combat. Even if Sean did not exaggerate their military merits by saying a few words to them, what was the great military merit? Indestructible.

"So, what do you think we should do better at this time?" Xiao En glanced at the viscount. Of course he knew the reason for the excitement of the other party, but what about?

"I think we should now provide reinforcements to the Southeast Theater or the Northwest Theater." The viscount still said with a look of excitement. "Now the only units in the South Theater that still have a relatively complete combat power are Prince Hodgdi's troops. Although we can't do it if we want to completely wipe out the prince's vitality, this is meaningless to us at the moment, so we only need to stay behind one or two troops to prevent any movement from the other side."

Is it really meaningless to destroy Prince Hodgdi's troops?

Everyone at the scene knows that this is not the case. Only by truly defeating Prince Hodgdi's troops, capturing or even killing the prince, can this be regarded as the real end of the war in the southern theater, otherwise it can only be regarded as Nominally ended the war in the southern theater. In order to maintain this apparent unity, this also means that Sean must stay here with a force sufficient to contain Prince Hodgdi's forces, otherwise, once he switches to the other two theaters to reinforce the other two theaters, then Hodge Prince Di launched a counterattack instead, so when Sean returned to help, it was estimated that most of the territory he had finally won would be lost, and even more serious, it would also affect the strategic plans of the other two theaters.

Therefore, it is definitely a very important thing to eliminate the vital power of Prince Hochdi.

However, the military strength of a prince Darbion is not enough for the nobles present. Perhaps if a noble is allowed to deal with it, there is indeed a lot of merit, but there is really no one among the nobles present. People have the strength to deal with the prince's forces alone. So this is the reason why they don't want to face the prince, because no one wants to have less merit.

"According to you, that means we should reinforce other theaters now?" Sean raised his eyebrows.

"Yes." The viscount nodded.

"Heh." Xiao En smiled slightly, but ignored the nobleman, "William, Hela, what do you think?"

"I think we should solve Hodgdi first." Hearing Sean's words, Hela and William wouldn't know Sean's thoughts. This guy is obviously going to trouble Prince Hodgdi, even though they I don't know the reason, but of course it won't be reversed at this time. This is the name of the Lord Lord.

Only Rena knows why Sean is so anxious to deal with Prince Kazes Hodgedi, because she was also there because of the agreement with Romeo. It was precisely because of that time that she became a follower of Sean, and she has been fighting with Sean all the way to the present.

"This is a complete waste of combat power!" Upon hearing William's words, the viscount immediately retorted, "A mere prince..."

"Quietly?" Hela sneered. Since the final battle, Hela completely secured her position as one of the Big Three. Although she hasn't put on that kind of aristocratic score, some of them can almost be said to be branded. The original xing in her bones can't be changed anyway, so her sneer makes people feel like being in the ice cave, "If it's just a prince, then trouble this adult to solve him. , We're here to congratulate the lord's victory in advance."

"You!" The viscount was also a little speechless when he was choked by Hela.

The other three nobles looked at each other, and roughly understood that Sean, their nominal commander now, was determined to fight Prince Kazes Hodgedy, although this was almost nothing to them. What kind of military exploits can be made, but they can't make a fuss with this commander because of this. After all, with their combined forces, it is the same for this commander as to whether they are present or not. This can be seen from the fact that they were hardly dispatched during the last battle.

In a sense, they are actually no different from the self-employed troops.

"In a purely strategic sense, if the prince of Darbion is not resolved, then we can only reinforce the southern theater, and at the same time, we must leave nearly half of our troops to prevent the prince's counterattack." If it was the previous sea. La, she didn't need to explain to these people in such detail, but the current environment was different. She thought she was no longer the tall Hela Nugus. Here, she was just Sean's subordinate, and even a knighthood. There is no chief of staff, and based on her understanding of the nobles, if those nobles want to trouble her, they can simply be squeezed at will. Therefore, whether it is because of herself or because of Sean's face problems, there are some things that she must still be explained, "Don't forget, everyone, we just solved the main force in the southern theater of Darbion, but the Howard family's large force did not suffer any losses due to this battle."

After hearing Hela's words, everyone chose to be silent.

They are not fools. Of course, they know what kind of threat the prince Kazes Hodges' full force size is to them. Originally, this is a choice whether to fight or not. Since Sean insists on fighting, Then of course they will not argue about anything uninterestingly.

But at this moment, the door of the conference room was suddenly knocked open.

Everyone at the meeting was taken aback. The expressions on their faces were suspicious, surprised, jealous and unhappy.

But when seeing the costumes of the people who broke into the meeting room, the faces of the nobles from the Principality of Lane became somewhat respectful.

Sean's sight did not fall on these people, but over them to look at the downed guards outside the door.

Those are soldiers with jet black wings, heavy armor guards trained by William, but at this moment all of these people have been knocked down. If it were not for the weak aura, Sean would feel that they had been killed. And Bannock, who was responsible for guarding outside the door, was easily suppressed by a middle-aged man at this moment. If he weren't for the special meat shield profession of Barrier Paladin, I am afraid he would not end up heavier than those few. Where is the guard guard?

Of course the most important point is that the person who suppressed Bannock did not kill him, otherwise he would have been able to solve Bannock with the strength of his upper golden pinnacle.

"I'm the special envoy of the Ryan military department. Who is the Baron Bandar, Sean Connery?"
A man with a mustache stood out, his eyes hanging upside down, and it looked a bit yin. Bird of prey, this makes Sean dislike it very much.

However, after hearing his words, the five nobles including Nolane got up immediately, and then bowed slightly to show their respect.

This tribute is naturally not for the envoy, but for the person standing behind the envoy.

During the war, the appearance of military envoys usually also represents the presence of the commander-in-chief of the battlefield, so no matter how high or low the title is, he must be respected. Of course, this is partly because special envoys have relatively large military powers, so unless they are truly powerful families, they generally ignore military special envoys. Otherwise, no one dares to ignore the existence of such a powerful villain.

Unfortunately, Sean is an exception.

He just retracted the sight of those who had passed them, and then landed on the so-called Ryan military envoy again: "I am."

Sean's indifferent reaction naturally made the envoy feel dissatisfied, but he would certainly not be a fool if he could serve as a special envoy. He may look down on Sean's baronial title, but Sean still has an identity as the commander-in-chief of the Southern Theater that is equal to his special identity. In addition, Sean has just won a battle that almost completely ends the war in the Southern Theater. At this time, it is obviously irrational to have a conflict with Sean.

"I'm here to pass on the command of the military commander." The special envoy snorted coldly. "Now I order you to immediately put all the troops in the southern theater into the northwest theater, under the jurisdiction of the commander of the northwest theater, and end the war in the northwest theater as soon as possible. ....This is an order transfer letter, so please apply for a visa."

Put all the forces of the Southern Theater into the Northwest Theater! ?

Sean suddenly raised his brows, and he couldn't help but feel angry.

The pacification of the southern theater is only a nominal statement. Everyone knows that there is still a big hidden danger in the southern theater. If this hidden danger is not resolved, the entire southern theater cannot truly support other theaters. At this time, it is said that all the troops of the southern theater will be transferred to the northwest theater. This is equivalent to giving Prince Kazes Hodgedi a chance to counterattack, and as long as he succeeds in launching a counterattack, regaining the large area of the southern theater. Part of the territory, then Sean's efforts during this period will be completely wasted.

If all the troops of the southern theater are put into the northwest theater and only Sean's military exploits are erased, then letting Sean be incorporated into the jurisdiction of the commander-in-chief of the Northwest theater is tantamount to Shaun's life.

Because of the announcement of this order, it is tantamount to saying that Sean's command will be reduced by one level, and all his actions will have to obey the command of the Northwest Theater Commander. Therefore, if the southern theater is occupied by a counterattack and he dares to lead his troops back to aid, then the commander-in-chief of the northwest theater can definitely sue him for escaping in battle.

Hearing this military order, let alone Sean, everyone under Sean's command is not unangered.

As for the nobles, apart from Nolane, the other four were somewhat gloating.

In fact, when the General Assembly battle in the Southern Theater was over, Sean knew that this time his achievements were too great and too brilliant. The old nobles in the Principality of Ryan would certainly not want to watch him sit up. After all, those guys also participated in the war. It was too slow. In fact, many of the early benefits were swallowed and digested by him. So Xiao En originally thought that those guys would wipe out half of his military merits or weaken his rewards and title. However, he didn't expect to be such a merciless method, and he would still use military orders to mobilize such arrogance.

Then everyone present heard a laugh from Sean.

Anger is very anti-laughing!

Chapter 387: . Sean's simple and rude cracking method

Sean's laughter is very soft, but because the environment is relatively quiet right now, it seems extraordinarily loud.

The slightly raised corners of the mouth also made Sean's smile look very clear and clean, but the slightly squinted eyes made many people's hearts flashed with terror, it was like finding a prey about to be imminent. Start a hunt for the predator.

The special envoy from Lein's Ministry of Public Affairs turned red slightly after a moment of panic, and instantly became angry at his withdrawal at this moment, because he felt a feeling of humiliation.

On the title, although he has no actual territory, he is also an earl anyway, and he is far more than Sean in terms of title alone. In terms of family history, he was born in Finlisting, a well-known old aristocratic family in the Principality. This family can be regarded as one of the founding patriarchs of the Principality of Ryan. Therefore, even small aristocrats with territories should be polite to see him. . Of course, the most important thing is that his current status represents the military commander in this war. In terms of status, he is on the same level as Sean, even half a level higher than him.

And the thought of being shocked by a guy whose comprehensive background is far less than his own makes this military envoy from Finlisting feel extremely annoyed.

"You, what are you laughing at!"

"It's nothing." Although Xiao En's face was still smiling, the breath on his body began to become dangerous. "You hurt my people as soon as you came. You are so arrogant and domineering, your military commander knows. ?"

"What do you mean?" The military envoy frowned slightly, telling him instinctively that this sentence was definitely not a good thing, but he didn't know how to refute it.

"It doesn't mean anything." Sean shrugged and said faintly, "I'll just ask you, is it the idiot who hurt my soldiers?"

idiot! ?

Hearing what Shaun said, everyone in the room was taken aback.

And Xiao En, soon felt a murderous aura rushing towards him.

This momentum naturally comes from the strong man who is at the top of the golden peak outside the door.

Any strong person will never allow himself to be provoked by a weak person. Given that Sean is only a high-ranking silver, he will naturally not be regarded by that strong man. If the family behind Sean is strong enough, it may be able to frighten the opponent, but Sean is just a baron. However, this identity is naturally less of the other side's eyes.

He had a murderous intent on Sean, which was a matter of course.

Or to say something awkward, even if he kills Sean, he may not necessarily be buried for it. After all, for the Principality of Ryan, there are not many powerhouses at the top of the golden peak, especially those who hope to break through the realm and enter the sanctuary, which is even rarer.

So if Sean and the other party are in conflict, what choice the Ryan Council will make is simply obvious.

It's just that the choice made by the Ryan Council is not within Sean's consideration.

When this killing intent enveloped Sean, the other three auras that were not weaker than this golden power broke out on the spot in the conference room.

These three auras come from Rena, Xuefanio and Dini.

The cold, knife-like aura locked Xiao En in the opponent's breath, and also locked the golden powerhouse.

In an instant, the face of this strong man changed drastically, because he never thought that behind the baron there were three strong men who were not inferior to him. Especially one of the vast cold breaths made him feel the threat of death. Under this killing intent directly reaching his soul, it was really difficult for him to raise any thoughts of resistance. And when he thought of this, the face of the golden powerhouse became even bigger, because he discovered that he was actually disintegrated by the opponent at that moment.

The face of the golden powerhouse changed many times in an instant, and it was natural that he couldn't hide it from the others in the room. It was also at this moment that the nobles finally had to confess a truth that they did not want to remember at all. Sean Connery's subordinates are indeed strong like clouds. There are as many as three strong ones in the golden realm alone. Among them, Xuefanio is the most powerful. This priest with a knife has almost completely reached the level of a quasi-sanctuary powerhouse.

It's just that they don't know why this priest with a knife from the church obeyed Sean's instructions?

"What do you want to do?" The military envoy is a very clever and sleek person. Just looking at the attitude of the nobles in the meeting room, he immediately knew that the lord was far from simple as he thought, so he didn't say any more. What cruel words.

But, Sean has been too lazy to play such a boring game with this military envoy. His eyes have passed the military envoy and fell on the strong man: "You just wanted to kill me?"

"Hmph." The strong man let out a cold snort.

He really looked down on Sean at all, and only the three golden powerhouses who could threaten him were the only ones that made him attractive. However, the golden powerhouses are all dignified and proud, and he doesn't think it is the same A baron can command these three golden powerhouses who are not below him at all. In his opinion, this must be the guard who Asuna stayed to protect her little lover. Now in the Principality of Ryan, the statement that Sean is Asuna's lover is an open secret in the aristocratic circle. Just like his existence, it was the Finlisting family who asked him to protect the military envoy.

So in the heart of this proud golden powerhouse, he felt that it was necessary to report to the Fenlistine family after he returned, that Asuna's strength has surged now.

"Rina, let him kneel down for me." The smile on Sean's face deepened, and then he said a word that shocked everyone present.

"You..." The military special envoy was stunned. When he realized that he wanted to say something, he just said a word, he felt a strong wind whizzing by his side, and then he passed it behind him. There was a violent crash.

As soon as Sean finished saying that, Rena rushed out like a tyrannosaurus.

As an armed knight, she lacks combat skills, but in terms of momentum alone, there are really few professions that can be compared to her, especially in this real world, the basic form of expression of aura skills is momentum. So Rina rushed forward with great momentum. With her own attribute value and the assistance of aura skills, it is a very easy thing to want to temporarily increase power and other attributes to suppress opponents in the same realm, so With just one punch, the opponent, the golden powerhouse, was directly knocked down.

I never thought that Sean was able to command the golden powerhouse to move Rena until he got down on the ground with a punch from Rena. He immediately blushed and swung a punch at Rena. In his opinion, it was already a great shame for him to kill the high-ranking silver on the spot, so he was suddenly beaten at this moment. Wherever he could calm down, the counterattack was naturally an inevitable result, even in his opinion. If only Rena is alone, he doesn't need to worry about anything at all.

But what people did not expect was that he had just thrown this punch. Before she hit Rina, a light blue brilliance radiated from Rina's body, and the mist of Ru white flowed from her body. , A transparent object showing the shape of armor has enveloped Rina's body. And when he punched it, the cold touch on the back of his fingers also made him immediately realize that this transparent ice armor was definitely not a blinding method.

The golden powerhouse did not recognize what this was, but for the nobles and mercenary group leaders who were active in the previous battles, they could see at a glance what the transparent armor covering Rina was at this moment.

The unique ice armor technique from the Church of Snow and Winter!

Slight cracks appeared all over the ice armor on Rena's body.

Shaun's gaze condensed: The strength of this golden powerhouse is obviously not weak, and he is also a profession that is extremely good at close combat. The role that this profession can play on the battlefield is naturally inferior to Rena's armed knight, but if it is in the current confrontation of the strong, then it is obvious that Rena will suffer.

And judging from the fact that this punch can knock out nearly 50% of the continuous effect of the ice armor technique, the opponent has absolutely no intention of keeping his hands with the punch just now.

"Nio." Sean knew that it was not easy for Rina to solve the opponent, and he really didn't have the intention to continue to entangle with the opponent like this, "No need to be merciful."

As soon as Shaun's words came out, the air in the court instantly became cold.

This is not an illusion, but a precursor to Xuefanio's real shot.

And Shaun's sentence is not merciful, so naturally he is not going to stay alive.

So this time, even Nolane looked at Sean with a surprised look, and his eyes were a little bit more puzzled.

In his opinion, Sean is not such a knowing person, but a lord who is more inclined to rely on means and ingenuity to achieve his goals. Perhaps this time the orders of the Minister of Ryan are indeed a bit excessive, but things like this are only a game of political struggle. The end result is that even if Sean loses the territories he has worked so hard, but once the Northwest is ended If the whole army counterattacks after the war zone, it can still regain the lost ground. The most is that Sean will suffer a little loss in the distribution of the territory, and for Asuna's sake, it is impossible for the Principality to have too ugly food in the end. .

But now Sean's behavior is equivalent to having a complete relationship with the Fenlisting family.

You know, when they brought the supplies distributed by the military to support the southern war zone, Sean had already had an affair with the Shab family, who enjoyed the honor of "Ryan's Sword". Now if he offends another one when he was founded in the country, he will also stand. The Fenlisting family who has done a lot of work, if these two families attack Sean together, I am afraid that even Asuna may not be able to keep him.

Because in the ranking of the twelve high-ranking noble families, the Fenlistin family ranks eighth, and the Sabo family ranks fourth.

So, Nolane couldn't understand what Sean was doing.

However, if outsiders can't understand, it doesn't mean that Sean's followers will be unable to understand. Of course, not everyone can understand, but for most people, they don't need to understand at all. How can Sean? Say, what they do.

But at least, people like Hela, Neal, and William can understand the meaning of Sean's behavior.

Because from the very beginning, Sean never thought about accepting orders from the Ryan Army!

Norrain is used to the kind of political indulgence and sacrifice from the nobles and powers, so in many cases, for the sake of the so-called overall situation and family considerations, he can only constantly choose to compromise. Like this matter now, Nolane thought for the first time what kind of trouble he would bring to the family if he refused, and whether he and the family behind him could afford this trouble, so he acquiesced from the beginning. This scheme was compromised.

But Sean is different.

He gradually developed from nothing to the point where he is today, so there has never been a word such as compromise in Sean's dictionary. He may choose to temporarily make some concessions for the greater benefit, but concessions are never equal to compromise, and if there is no greater benefit as bait, even if it is facing no hopeless road, Sean will never He would not choose to regress, he would only blaze a new path out by himself.

Want him to give up the family property that he had accumulated with great difficulty, Xiao En would never agree to it.

And since it is impossible to accept this military order, it is equivalent to today that he must take action to leave the military special envoy and all these people from the military. In this way, it must be an excuse that suits him. . And once you use this excuse to attack the opponent, it is equivalent to offending the power represented by the opponent. Since the result is that whether it is to injure and subdue the golden strong or kill him, he will completely tear his face with the opponent, then Sean is certain It is to choose a way that can weaken the opponent's strength as a result.

So, killing is the inevitable result.

When the icy chill filled the meeting room, Xuefanio started.

Her movement range is not large, and the speed is not fast, but everyone watching her movements has an unavoidable illusion. Perhaps those who are weaker have not had much feelings, but like Noraine and the golden powerhouse who is fighting Rina, they feel a very strong death crisis, as if they only need to be treated by Xuefanio. With the target, it is absolutely impossible to escape.

Seeing Xuefanio walking towards him, the golden strong man immediately gave up to continue his attack on Rina. He knew that the opponent was really murderous this time, so as soon as he changed the target, the golden strong man immediately roared, a beast-like aura burst out of his body, and he broke free from the Qi lock from Xuefanio. Then the veins burst on his body, and the body suddenly increased by a circle, looking extraordinarily stout. Strong and ferocious.

Then he didn't hesitate anymore, and suddenly rushed towards Xuefanio, waved his hand and slammed towards Xuefanio's head.

Faced with this punch that was extremely strong in both momentum and speed, Xuefanio did not dodge as embarrassedly as everyone imagined.

She was so light as a butterfly, she almost dodged with the punch of the opponent. The strong wind blew Xuefanio's long hair, but it failed to hit her face. Leave even a scratch mark.

Followed by the faint sound of metal rubbing—the sound of the sword being unsheathed.

Then there was a faint silver light.

There was no splash of blood, and there was no particularly ***** and terrifying scene, but the screams of this golden powerhouse suddenly sounded.

His entire arm was cut off by Xuefanio's understatement, and then fell to the ground, raising a white mist. And at the incision on his shoulder, there is a piece of smooth like a mirror—it is really smooth like a mirror, because at the same time the arm is cut, the cold air has completely frozen the wound, and there is not even a drop of blood. It drops to the ground, and the ice crystals condensed by the cold air are more like a mirror, which can clearly reflect the scene in the mirror.

The fear of everyone is even greater!

It was the first time that Nolane saw Xuefanio's shot. At this time, there was only one thought in his heart: So fast!

But is it true that Xuefanio is faster than the opponent?

Only the golden powerhouse and Sean who faced Xuefanio head-on knew that it was not Xuefanio Fast, but that he himself was affected by Xuefanio's coldness, which led to slow thinking, which directly affected his judgment. His ability to react has declined.

To put it simply, he has slowed down.

At this moment, Sean knew that it was only a matter of time for Xuefanio to become a powerhouse in the lower sanctuary, because her ice and snow realm already had a rudimentary form of the rules, as long as she was perfect and familiar with the use of this aspect Advantage, then the realm of ice and snow will be transformed into the realm of ice and snow, and at the same time, Xuefanio will be officially declared as a sanctuary powerhouse.

The next moment, Xuefanio lightly waved the artifact in his hand-Binglin again, and then the cold air condensed on the golden man's neck.

With two understatement, they killed a strong man at the top of the golden peak. Xuefanio took the sword and returned it to its sheath. The cold in the room was also swept away, and then she and Rina returned to Shaun's. Behind. Bannock, who was standing outside the door, did not come in. He immediately helped up the soldiers who had fallen to the ground, checked their injuries one by one, and then turned his head to look at Sean and shook his head slightly.

These poor soldiers did not have as good luck as Bannock. They were all shattered by the opponent's shots.

"You...you dare..." The military envoy didn't know if it was scared by the tragic death of a strong man around him, or he really didn't figure it out. He finally pointed at Sean as if he lost his mind. , Opened his mouth and yelled, "You dare to kill the envoy of the Ryan Army! Do you want to rebel? The law enforcement team, don't hurry up and take down this person who intends to rebel!... You guys, don't you? Come and help quickly."

The last sentence of            was for several nobles including Nolane.

Only after seeing Xuefanio's aggressiveness, how dare these nobles come up to ask Sean's trouble? It is still clear to them that the viscount of the Sabre family was seriously injured by Sean.

"Take them all to me!" Sean also yelled back with murderous intent in his eyes, but he was different from this military envoy in that he shouted at the nobles from the beginning. "Will the special envoy of the Ryan military department break into the high-level secret meeting that is being held at will? Will kill my soldiers at will? I did not expect that Dabian's spies are actually a group of guys with such a low IQ. You think that with this Can you deceive me by being despicable?... You still don't hurry to take them down? Are you also Darbion's spies?"

Norrain's eyes suddenly condensed, and his heart was shaken. At this moment, he finally knew what idea Shaun was playing.

Vote for the name certificate!

He has tried countless ways to crack Sean, even looking for Asuna's asylum, but in any case, he did not expect that Sean's cracking method would be so simple and rude, and he directly charged the other party with a spy charge. Then force them to do it together! Nolane even bet that if they didn't do it, Sean would definitely do it to them, and the documents to the military at that time only need to say that they died on the battlefield.

In an instant, several nobles looked at each other on the spot.

"You...you want to rebel..." The military envoy panicked.

"You want to rebel? Betray the Principality of Lane?" Compared to the panic of the military envoy, Sean was much calmer.

"Oh." He sighed slightly, and when Nolan raised his head again to look at the military envoy, he was already indifferent.

Chapter 388: .Hella in the layout

In the small meeting room on the third floor of the Lord's Mansion, Sean, William, Hella and Nolane gathered together.

After all, Neal is responsible for the overall planning of the territory's internal affairs. Although he is not much better than William and Hellason in strategy, he does not intend to invest too much in this aspect, because everyone can only work in their favorite fields. Only then can they exert their ability and effect of being more seductive.

So for this alternative meeting, Neal simply didn't bother to participate.

In the small meeting room, Sean sits on a leather chair with his feet on the meeting table, looking at Nolane with interest.

Although the Sharon family represented by Noline is not among the top twelve nobles in the Principality of Lane, if they really want to compete hard, they can still squeeze into the twelfth place. It's just that the management policy of the Sharon family has always been that harmony is the most important thing. Therefore, this family has always been a good gentleman in the Principality of Lane. The same noble children from this family will not easily conflict with others most of the time.

But, not long ago, he was the first person to act on the military envoy.

As a member of the aristocratic coalition that came to the southern theater to support, Noline is the highest among his peers in terms of personal strength, overall strength, family background, or his own title. Therefore, in fact, the entire aristocratic coalition is naturally Enolaion. The head of the horse is looking. So when Nolane was the first to do it, of course, the other four nobles could not stand stupidly. At this time, all fools knew how to choose, so Sean was equal to pulling himself up from the five families at the same time. Of the chariot.

This is the biggest role and benefit of the name vote.

If it's the other four nobles, then even if Sean pulls them into the chariot, it doesn't have much value. After all, these people's families are not very good. But Nolane's identity is completely different. Shawnduo's offending a Finlisting family is beyond his original plan, so he certainly doesn't want to offend a Sharon family again if possible, but now it is directly equal to The Sharon family had to stand on his side.

Unless, they are willing to give up Nolan.

But Noraine is not only a real earl, but also a strong gold player. Although he is only a low-level gold, he is still very young now. Therefore, no one dares to say whether his future achievements will be great, but he will definitely not be too low. , This is destined that the Sharon family cannot give up Nolane.

"I think you were too reckless to do that just now." Nolan frowned.

"Reckless?" Sean shrugged, with an indifferent look on his face, "I don't think so."

"You can also say that you offended the Saber family for it deliberately, just to erect an enemy for yourself. What about the Finlistine family?" Nolane said in a deep voice, "After all, that order is a genuine order from the military. , I don't think it's bad for you even if you accept it. Anyway, your territory will definitely be preserved after the war, but the benefits are not as big as it is now."

"I am dissatisfied just because I want to cut my income." A sneer appeared on Sean's face, and then he said in a deep voice, "The so-called game must require two players to play against each other. But in fact, this time. It's not a game at all, it's just a decision made by the old guys in the Northwest Theater without authorization, and its purpose is very obvious to infect the territory of the guide theater."

Noline did not deny this statement of Sean.

In fact, any political struggle is bound to be a game between two chess players. As for the others, all are just chess pieces. Even if it is their Sharan family, occasionally in some special circumstances, they can only act as chess pieces and be placed on the table to compete. This is the fate that anyone who enters this noble circle cannot avoid, even those The king and the emperor didu are like this.

But this time, the development of the situation is indeed as Shaun said.

There is no one on the side of the military department that stands on Sean's position. Therefore, the transfer and instructions of the military command can not be counted as the victims of the so-called game ending, but will completely treat Sean as a victim. Cannon fodder is ready to be consumed. It is precisely because of this that Nolane can understand Sean's anger, but he still thinks that Sean's actions are too extreme and extreme.

But even if it is extreme and extreme, so what?

He has also boarded the thief ship, and it will not be easy to get off the ship again.

"Anyway, I've done everything, and I don't want to ask anything else. I'll just ask you, can you be sure that the other party will not leave here alive?" As an earl of the field, he certainly does not lack decisiveness. Since he was the first to move his hands, of course he also considered the rest of the matter clearly.

"It's impossible." Sean chuckled, "But even if he can escape, I won't drag your Sharon family into the water."

"Since I have taken action, it is up to you to decide whether to drag the Sharon family down." Nolane said in a deep voice, God se was very calm and did not appear to be anxious, "but I suggest, You'd better handle things cleanly. The disappearance of a military envoy will definitely make the military attach great importance to it, and even send an investigation team."

"Oh, I didn't intend to conceal it at all." Xiao En smiled and said casually, "I will send a report to the military department soon, and tell the military department that someone is posing as a special envoy of the military department. , Raided my lord's mansion and wounded and killed many of our soldiers, but I was shot dead in the end."

Norrain's pupils shrank suddenly, and then he exhaled heavily: "You are such a lunatic! You are directly hitting the Finlisting family in the face, even if they don't want revenge, it's impossible."

"Do you think they don't know when their people entered my territory?" Sean looked indifferent. "With the faces of their upper aristocratic families, you think they would simply let it go. Me? Even if this ***** envoy was really not killed by me, as long as they are missing from me, they will definitely pounce on my flesh and blood like a hungry jackal, so..."

Speaking at the end, Sean shrugged with a look of "you know".

"Indeed." Nolan nodded, "But if you can, I really don't recommend you to use this method to solve the problem.... Maybe this method is really simple and rude, but also very relieved. After all, for those who do not respect you. You can give an extremely powerful counterattack to any of you, but if you do so, your enemies will only increase."

"After the Principality of Lane annexed the Kingdom of Darbion, do you think this country will still be satisfied with the title of the Principality?" Sean let out a sneer, "Under such circumstances, the reshuffle of the domestic aristocracy is already an inevitable result. This is an inevitable result."

That's why the Finlisting family chose this method to deal with me at this time. Those old high-ranking nobles would never want my former superior, Asuna-sama to grow up, and I..."

Shaun didn't say what he said later, but Nolane was not a fool. He might not understand a little bit before, but at this moment, he immediately understood after hearing Shaun's reminder.

After this national war is over, Asuna will definitely become one of the twelve high-ranking nobles if there is no accident, and people like Sean and Florence who have made great contributions in this national war will definitely become important. The strength of the lord, and because they were all promoted by Asuna, in the old party's cognition, Sean and Florence would definitely be regarded as Asuna's natural allies. In this way, weakening the strength of the allies of the opposing family is a very common political method, but the strength of Florence is so strong that it is helpless after all, and even the strong of the sanctuary can not please, of course they will not ask for hardship. eat.

Therefore, weakening Sean's strength is the only option.

However, Sean was not as honestly divided by them as the nobles imagined. He now fully explained to everyone with his own actions that he is not a sheep, but a fierce beast like Florence, even more powerful than Florence.

"I understand." Nolan nodded.

"But you can rest assured that I will not drag your Sharon family into the water, and of course the other noble families will not." Xiao En continued to laugh, "You don't know anything anyway.... Of course, I also know that after this incident, the other party will definitely come to me for trouble, so I hope you can provide some valuable advice to your family elders, for example, I can fight well, or my followers can fight well. so."

Looking at Sean's arrogant face, Nolane's heart was a little bit envious.

Many people think that it is a lucky thing to be born in a big family, but only those who are born in a big family know that their ties are definitely not as good as they seem on the surface.

However, Nolane will certainly not ignore what Shaun said, because in his heart, he does not know whether Shaun himself can beat him, but his followers are definitely capable of playing! And not only his followers, his armies are also very capable of fighting, especially the three armies of Thunder Lion, Iron Wings, and Cecilia Guards that he has investigated before. In his opinion, these three The army is almost like the thundering front of the year.

But the problem is that there was only one Thunder Strike back then, but now Xiao En has three under his command. This combat power is enough to lay the foundation for his future.

All kinds of thoughts flashed in Nolane's heart, and then he showed a helpless smile: "You can rest assured that as long as I am still alive, I will never let my family suffer a major loss. "

Sean, of course, could hear the meaning of Nolane's words.

Obviously Nolane believes that any conflict with Sean is irrational, so he will do his best to prevent any conflict between his family and Sean.

Sean certainly wouldn't be hypocritical about Nolane's remarks that are almost political. He said generously: "The Connery family will always treat you as a friend.... But it's just you. "

Preparing to leave the meeting room, Noline suddenly stopped. After a little stunned, he said: "This sentence of you is the biggest gain of my trip."

After speaking, he opened the door and left the meeting room.

For a while, the conference room fell into a slightly silent atmosphere.

For a long time, Xiao En exhaled a turbid breath: "Is that idiot sure I can't escape?"

"Of course." William nodded, "It has been sent to the Prison of the Void, and Rupiah will take over. It is absolutely impossible to escape."

Void prison refers to the secret prison built under the lord's mansion.

Now this prison has been reconstructed and expanded to a certain extent, and it can be regarded as the headquarters of the Void Realm. The Void Realm is an intelligence agency under Xiao En's command that integrates intelligence collection, spying, investigation, assassination, lurking and other underground capabilities. Therefore, it is naturally very important in terms of security. Basically, as long as it is locked in the Void People in prison will never escape here again.

When William said that the military envoy had been taken care of by Rupiah, Sean nodded in relief.

Today's rupee is the deepest and sharpest blade that Sean hides in his hands.

As the leader of the Void Realm, perhaps his personal strength has not yet reached much strength, but he is a rare talent in terms of coordinating and arranging tasks. Because Rupi has a very thorough understanding of the abilities of everyone in the organization, the tasks he arranges will never waste a single bit of strength, and even the variables are controlled to a relatively low level, so the void is in his place. His hands have become more dangerous than ever.

Especially after joining Elickett, the entire Void Realm was immediately renewed, and its intelligence collection and investigation capabilities were at least doubled. Moreover, in the foreseeable future, once Hela's Sigley Burnie, who specializes in intelligence work, joins, the Void Realm's intelligence analysis and processing may also be greatly improved.

"It's a pity that Rupi is still not an expert in interrogation." Sean said with some regret, "Otherwise, I guess I can dig out more information from that idiot."

"If the interrogation expert, you can wait for Sigley to arrive here. She is very good at this aspect." Hela suddenly interjected, "But it is a pity that we can't let this person continue to live, otherwise I'm afraid that we will continue to live. There will be no way to implement the plan."

"Oh, so I said it's a pity." Sean sighed helplessly, "Let Ruby perform the mission according to the plan, move faster, and then send all these corpses to the command center."

"Then I will arrange this." William stood up, said a word, and left the conference room.

After watching William leave, Xiao En turned his head and looked at Hela, and said in a deep voice, "Are you sure this plan will work?"

"Of course." Hela took it for granted. "In terms of layout and setting up a series, I believe that none of you are better than me.... But I hope, my lord, you will think about it next time you make a move. Consequences, don't add too much extra work to me."

"Okay, I will try my best." Sean gave a wry smile.

"Anyway, we have dragged all the nobles into the water, so we only need to make a better excuse to send these corpses back and say that they are spies. That's enough." Hela said with a face. Yun Danfeng said lightly, for her, the tactics for delaying time like this are simply as many as there are, and there is no need to waste even a little brain cell. "Of course, the truth of this matter, as long as you are not a fool, you can guess it. But we gave each other a step down, and we said on the surface that we would not drag them into the water, but according to the secret thoughts of those nobles, we will definitely report the matter to the head of the family as soon as possible, so next They need to wrestle for a long time, and when they make a new decision, we have truly ended the southern battlefield."

"Okay, I get it." Sean nodded.

He also knows that Hela's time-delaying plan looks simple and has his rough style. But in fact, the most important thing is to send the corpse back to the command center. Although this will be foul with Finlisting, it can also make the nobles understand that Sean Connery is not the same. Sheep, and sending the corpse back can also prove his "clear conscience" from the side. Coupled with the muddy water caused by the secret contact between Nolan and his family, this can give him enough to win. time.

As long as Prince Kazes Hodgedi is solved, Sean will immediately send troops into the Southeast battlefield to assist Asuna without hesitation.

At that time, even if the military department wants to order the mobilization to make him withdraw, then we have to consider Asuna's emotions.

"Are you sure Nolane and the others will contact the family secretly after they leave?" Sean still had some questions.

Regarding Sean's question, Hela was completely too lazy to answer this time. She simply gave Sean a blank look, and then bluntly said: "I am more worried about another thing."

"What's the matter?" Sean asked.

"I have seen your military newspaper map. It is indeed a very good plan to divide this war into three areas. It has effectively dismantled Darbion's vitality. Those who can make this plan are in your Lane. There is only one person in the principality."

"Who?"

"Asuna g. Evans, only she knows Darbion that much." Hela said softly, but Sean could hear her voice with obvious complexity when talking about Asuna. "But in this way, there are also great disadvantages for our southern theater.... If the southeast theater or the northwest theater cannot withstand the pressure and defeat, then our southern theater will immediately be affected by a large-scale war. When we sent back the bodies of those people, if one of the people we angered was cruel enough, he could just pretend that the Northwest Theater could not withstand the counterattack pressure from Dabion, then withdraw troops and regroup, and make a road that leads directly to us. With the opening of the southern theater, then we may be trapped in the dilemma of fighting on two sides or even on three sides."

Hearing Hela's words, Sean's face instantly became difficult to look at.

But soon, he calmed down, turned his head and looked at Hela, and said, "Since you have already said it, then there must be a solution?"

"It does." Hela nodded, "It's just that I'm not sure if she is willing to help you, because... She has a very strange temper. She hates the Nugus family very much, but on the other hand she also hates Ryan very much. Principality."

"She? A woman?" After seeing Hela nodding, Sean asked again: "Who is she?"

"My sister, Angie Nugus."

Chapter 389: .The last battle in the southern theater

This time, there were not many legions, but the three main legions: Iron Wings, Cecilia Guards, and Thunder Lions were still on the attack list, and they were the front-line troops. Followed by the six mercenary regiments combined by Knok temporarily as commander-in-chief. After all, Knok does have a huge talent advantage that no one can match in terms of rushing to the rescue.

However, after experiencing a conference war, the total strength of Sean's army is naturally not as strong as before.

Three troops like Steel Wings, Cecilia Guards, and Thunder Lions, the total strength is less than 20,000, and the average legion is only 6,000. As for the six mercenary regiments, it is better. Because there are three Jing Rui troops on the battlefield to pull hatred, the losses are still kept within a controllable range. The six mercenary regiments together still have about 30,000 people.

The total strength of the two units is less than 50,000. In terms of strength, Sean does not have any advantage against Prince Kazes Hodgedi, and it can even be said to be in a relatively inferior state. The knight regiment under Prince Sri Lanka is equivalent to a heavy cavalry regiment of ten thousand people. However, this advantage is not particularly terrifying to Sean. After all, the Iron Wings unit is now equipped with impact shields because of its small number, and it can barely be regarded as a cavalry killer.

The real biggest problem is actually the geographical advantage occupied by Prince Kazes.

If he had a choice, Sean was actually unwilling to press it so early, but since the final battle that determined the war in the southern theater broke out, he felt that his blood became more and more over time. It's getting hotter and hotter, but on the contrary, his soul is starting to get colder and colder. This extreme polarized reaction made him feel very uncomfortable.

But at first, Sean thought he was just suffering from a strange disease. It wasn't until Beth suddenly appeared in front of him without warning that he finally realized the danger.

His soul is gradually leaving.

On the aspect of soulology, Beth is a well-deserved master, so the words about soulology spoken by him are naturally very authoritative. According to him, Sean's soul is currently in an extremely unstable state. This state may last for three to five days or three to five months, or even three to five years or thirty to fifty years. After all, for life As far as the demons in **** are concerned, there is no concept of time at all. Therefore, no one knows how long this state can be maintained.

But the only certainty is that the contract between Sean and the unknown devil is beginning to take effect.

If he doesn't let the blood of Kazes Hodgedi be extinct as soon as possible, then he is likely to die because of this contract.

This is the root cause of Sean's attack on Kazes Hodgedi at all costs.

In this kind of life-and-death issue, let alone the Finlistine family, even if it is going to fight directly with the Principality of Ryan. Sean will move his troops without hesitation.

So soon, the flames of war finally burned to the territory of Prince Kazes.

.....

A crystal glass flies to the wall at a very fast speed. Then fell to pieces.

The bright red se liquid in the cup instantly scattered like rain. On the pile carpet dyed red and white, it looks particularly eye-catching.

A burly middle-aged man sits on a high-back chair in the middle of the room. His face is full of anger. It seems that breaking a cup is not enough to calm his inner anger, so he is whole. He stood up suddenly and lifted a square table made of metal and crystal completely with his hands. The awe-inspiring aura on his body also became even more fierce and terrifying at the same time.

There was a jingle of varying degrees.

The table was directly lifted by the middle-aged man several meters away, and fell heavily on the ground and fell to pieces. Naturally, the drinks and food on the table were also broken into pieces in the process. Those soups and soups Water and other things are swaying a clearly visible trace on the white fleece blanket.

"This is what you said before that foolproof!?" The middle-aged man let out an angry roar.

This handsome middle-aged man. It is the uncle of Moro VII, one of the two remaining princes of Darbion, Kazes Hochdi.

"His Royal Highness, the Principality of Ryan is indeed interested in accepting our surrender." A middle-aged man glanced at the other four companions around him. Seeing that they all looked silent, the middle-aged man knew he had to speak. "And judging from the news we received, the Principality of Ryan has indeed sent someone to the Void City to convey military orders..."

"The other party is only going to convey the military order, but none of us knows what the military order is." Before the middle-aged man finished speaking, another man who was not too young spoke up, "Maybe it was an order. Go to war with us completely?"

"The people in the Principality of Ryan may be very shameless, but they don't necessarily really want to fight us to the death." The middle-aged man who spoke before immediately retorted. The Marquis's war was greatly injured, and the conflict with the Fascist kingdom has gradually become stronger in recent years, but even then it's not easy for the Principality of Ryan to completely annex us. Besides, once the Principality of Ryan is in this national war. If your vitality is severely damaged, the Fascist Kingdom will certainly not let go of such a good opportunity. No matter how you look at it, accepting our surrender is the most advantageous plan for the Principality of Ryan."

"Then the troops under the Baron Panda have now officially entered our territory, what do you say, Lord Howson?" The middle-aged man who was refuted by his words let out a sneer, and said with a mocking expression on his face. , "Are they just here for a long trip? Or are they just coming to say hello to us?"

"Perhaps there is a misunderstanding." The middle-aged man called Hosson frowned slightly. He didn't like the tone of the middle-aged man in front of him, but the plan he presented this time did go wrong. Therefore, he has an inescapable responsibility, so he can only open his mouth to explain. Otherwise, given the important level of trust he has received before, there is no need to speak too much at all.

"Misunderstanding?" Hearing Hossen's words, the middle-aged man was beginning to be a little bit overwhelmed. "The last battle in the Southern Theater, if we attacked, could inflict a fatal blow on him. In this way If we lose in the final battle, we won't end up in a situation where we completely lose all our advantages like today. On the other hand, as long as we hold on for a while and wait for Duke Howard's troops to come back, we can even fight a beautiful counterattack. Because everyone of us knows. The three theaters opened up by the Southern Theater in the Principality of Lane received the least support!"

Hawson's brows furrowed tighter.

In fact, he had already predicted the situation at the moment. After all, his plan was full of very dangerous variables from the beginning: once it succeeds, then Prince Kazes Hodgedi will become the entire south and even the southeast. The most powerful lord in the war zone. This is naturally extremely beneficial for Prince Kazes to stand in the Principality of Ryan in the future; but if the plan fails, then Prince Kazes Hodgedi will also become isolated and helpless. Even because he gave up his comrades in the Southern Battle. And completely lost the possibility of counterattack.

As a result, the accusations he needs to face Hosen are naturally very serious.

And now, even he Horson is a little confused, why did things turn out to be like this?

The conditions he negotiated with the Principality of Lane were the commander in the southern theater. Lord Panda, Baron Sean Connery will soon be drafted into the Northwest Theater, and then the only remaining combat power in the Southern Theater they represent will immediately launch a counterattack in the Southern Theater, thereby tricking Duke Howard's troops into returning. Southern theater. In order to alleviate the pressure that the southeast theater needs to face. Immediately after the southern theater counterattack plan seized a certain degree of territory, the northwest theater will also send a force to counterattack the southern theater, when they will work with the southern theater counterattack forces of the Duchy of Lane to destroy the Duke Howard's troops, and then take advantage of the situation. Join the Principality of Lane.

All the plans have been prepared, and even Horson has deduced many sets of tactical plans to truly ensure that there is nothing wrong.

But why hasn't all this been acted according to the original script?

If Hosson knew that this would happen, he would definitely not propose to join the Principality of Lane. On the contrary, as the middle-aged man said just now, when the final battle of the Southern Theater was opened, he would directly overwhelm all his troops. Attacking from the rear would surely be able to completely defeat Sean's troops, preventing him from turning his advantage into a victory, and naturally he would not fall into the situation he is today.

It's just that the people present didn't know that it was precisely because they did not participate in the battle between the two leaders of Berbice and Chiraff, that they were able to live to this day. As one of the three most threatening main forces in the southern theater, how could William and Hela fail to guard the prince's forces? If he really dared to put all his forces into that battle, then Sean May indeed be defeated on the frontal battlefield and need to be re-rested before the end of the battle can be reopened, but there is no doubt that the troops of Prince Kazes Hodge will definitely suffer heavy losses, and his subordinates The most proud of the Scarlet Knights will inevitably be annihilated.

It is precisely because he did not participate in that battle that the prince still retains his complete combat power, which makes Sean feel a little bit tricky.

This is war. There are advantages and disadvantages.

It's just that no one present would think so.

As the confidant of Prince Kazes Hochdi, no matter which person takes it out alone, they can be regarded as a famous person in the Kingdom of Darbion, so each of them is very proud. Therefore, everyone present naturally thought that if they hadn't participated in the battle, it would have been Sean's jumping clown to jump here.

You must know that they have not participated in the war in the entire southern theater from beginning to end.

Slowly glanced at the five people present, Kazes Hodgedi's gaze stayed on Hosen's body for the longest time, but in the end he didn't say anything to himself, a think tank who had indeed presented himself with a lot of strategies. , But said in a deep voice to everyone: "Kaqi, it is meaningless to say those words now. The most important thing is that the lord of Panda has made it clear that he is going to start the final battle with us. Everyone present. What do you think?"

"His Royal Highness, I think we must fight." The person called Kutch was the middle-aged man who had been arguing with Hosen. At this time, after hearing Prince Kazes' words, he immediately became the first one. A person who expressed his stance, "The three corps of that lord's forward army combined are only a mere 18,000 people. As long as my Fire Dragon Corps strikes, they have only one way to go."

"The lord's forward army is indeed a joint action of three legions, but don't forget that these three legions are the three strongest armies under the lord's command." Hosson saw Kach's arrogance. Some can't help it. "Like the army called the Cecilia Guards. All the soldiers are captured soldiers of the Fourth Legion of Darbion. When is your Fire Dragon Corps stronger than the Fourth Legion of Darbion?"

"Hawson, what do you mean!" Hearing what Houghton said, Kutch got angry on the spot. This time even the word "sir" for Hossen was completely omitted, "Since we all know that they are soldiers of the Fourth Legion of Darbion. As long as we attack, you think they can continue to command these. Soldier?"

"Since the other party can command the soldiers of Darbion's Fourth Army, they must have used some method." Hosen said coldly, "As long as this method is not cracked for a day, then Darbion's Fourth Army's Those people are our enemies. And there is indeed a big gap between your Fire Dragon Corps and the Fourth Legion of Darbion. If you let you attack rashly, it would be a serious loss of our own combat power."

Although he was still not convinced, but this time Kutch really couldn't refute anything. Because of the military battles in the southern region of Darbion over the years, the Fire Dragon Corps under his command has indeed not been an opponent of Darbion's Fourth Army. If there is a fight against the Fourth Legion of Darbion on the frontal battlefield, even if the rebellious Fourth Legion has only more than 6,000 people, and his Fire Dragon Legion has 10,000 people. But in the end, even if he wins, it must be a miserable victory.

"Also, don't forget." Seeing that Kach didn't speak, Hawken said again, "The Thunder Lion had completely wiped out the Mountain Lion Legion on the frontal battlefield. Although the Mountain Lion Legion was on the frontal battlefield. The combat ability is indeed weaker, but that is only relative to other legions. If your fire dragon legion encounters the mountain lion legion on the frontal battlefield, you must be the one who loses? The final battle of the lion king As a result, Alfred's reputation has become even stronger."

Kaqui was already silent.

"There are steel wings," Hosson said again. "This legion's fame time was earlier than the other two, because the first commander of this legion was the lion king, who was also a Lions. If the feat of traversing thousands of miles in the past did not allow you to clearly feel the strength of this army, then you can recall the original invasion of Tinchin. This army was in its second legion commander. Under Nou's command, the Second Cavalry Regiment of Darbion was hit hard!"

Kachi's face se became darker.

"The three legions under Sean's command all have the feat of defeating, defeating, and even completely annihilating the legions that received the duli designation of our Dabion on the front battlefield." Horsen's voice became colder, but it was also even more cold. Sobering people, "Even if the total strength of the three legions combined is only 18,000 people, any one legion alone is enough to fight against the 10,000 people of your Fire Dragon Corps."

These battle reports and data came out of Horson's mouth, which seemed particularly cold, but it also calmed down the few people present. Perhaps they could think that it was just the luck of their opponents, or that they had achieved victory by taking advantage of some advantages they didn't know about, but whether it's the former or the latter, victory on the battlefield is victory, and defeat is defeat. , People will always remember the winner instead of remembering the loser.

So although Hossen's words were cruel, at least he calmed down the other fellows who were also a little hot-headed.

"Can we only surrender?" After a moment of silence, Kutch suddenly yelled, apparently a little bit irritated.

"Of course not." Hosson has recovered his previous calm aura as the think tank of Prince Kazes. If the opponent's vanguard is on the offensive, then if you ask Lord Thaddeus to lead the Scarlet Knights into the battlefield from the side to start a charge, you can definitely inflict a heavy blow on the opponent.... You know, in war, the superposition of forces has never been It's as simple as one plus one equals two."

Hearing this, everyone present felt a bright light.

Kazes Hotchdi glanced at one of the five people present, and then asked, "Teddes, what do you think?"

"His Royal Highness, I think I can give it a try." Thaddeus was silent for a moment, and then nodded, "But if we only face a forward army, we will have to work so hard, and we may even lose a lot here. How do we deal with the second wave of forces from that lord?"

"So this tactical plan has one of the most critical issues." Hearing Thaddeus's words, Horson began to explain, "Once the confrontation begins, we must end the battle within three days. Otherwise, we will be trapped. The battlefield is deadlocked, and what is waiting for us is death at that time."

"But if we end the battle within three days, our losses will still be very large."

"As long as we can deal with that lord's vanguard, then we have the capital to negotiate with each other."

"I see." Thaddeus nodded, "Then I will do my best in this battle."

The miracle calendar May 20ri, 1784, all the armies under Prince Kazes Hodgedi fought head-on against the three main armies under Sean's White Ice Ridge, and at this time Thaddeus led the Scarlet Knights. The regiment circled to the side and rear of the front battlefield.

A rushing charge that cuts into the main battlefield from the side battlefield is rapidly brewing.

Sometimes before the battle between Sean and Prince Kazes Hodges completely broke out, a messenger finally arrived at the command center in the northwest theater of Darbion.

At this time, it was May 3ri, 1784, and it was raining slightly in the Northwest Theater.

The rain was not heavy, but it happened to disperse the sultry weather a bit.

When this messenger arrived, it happened that a group of nobles had just finished a meeting and discussion, so he was quickly introduced into the main account.

Compared with Sean's ease and comfort in the Southern Theater, the Northwest Theater, which is stuck in a stalemate, is not so good.

Although each of the three theaters has a theater commander, because of the special characteristics of the Northwest Theater, the commander-in-chief of the entire national war actually also serves as the commander of the Northwest Theater. Simply put, it is the Northwest Theater. The status of the theater commander is just a gilded title. Therefore, as the most intense battlefield, this command center naturally moved to a place closer to the front line and set up a camp directly in the camp.

The place where this messenger was introduced is the main account of the entire camp.

At this time, a meeting has just ended. Almost all the nobles in the main account and a few qualified generals have not left yet, they are just packing up something.

After entering the main tent, the messenger's eyes swept across the circle. The nobles inside were not fast in cleaning up their things, but they still gave people a messy feeling. Moreover, it is a conference room, but the layout of the camp is not simple at all. On the contrary, it is very luxurious: not to mention that the tables and chairs in the tent are not ordinary goods, only the magic oven used to control the temperature in the tent. There are as many as four.

This kind of magic cauldron is also the prototype device of the future temperature control magic device, but compared with the ** products inspired by the future magic technology, today's magic cauldron still has a very primitive side. Although two kinds of airflows, cold and warm, can be released through cao vertical furnaces, so as to improve the temperature of a certain space range, the operation and maintenance of these cao must always maintain the consumption of magic power, so in these four Two apprentices of magician were waiting beside the cauldron.

I only hired these eight apprentice magicians to do this kind of work of looking after the magic cauldron, and the daily expenses were at least 400 gold coins.

In addition, there is a two-meter-long table on the left and right ends of the camp. There are a variety of delicacies on it, including a lot of hot food. These are obviously prepared for these nobles and generals. You can enjoy it during a break, and there are four young maids standing next to the long table. They will take the cold and hot food away and exchange it for a hot one.

It's just that the messenger has just scanned it, and he has discovered that the dishes on both sides of the long table are exactly the same, and the two tables are only for the convenience of the nobles on the conference table in the middle. That's it.

Even in the war, these nobles still did not forget to enjoy a luxurious life.

The letter brought by the messenger has been handed over to the silver-haired old man sitting at the conference table.

Devin Solder Sabre.

This old man is the current head of the Saber family and the third person in the history of the Saber family to receive the title of "Solder".

Solder, meaning sharp sword, was the first patri The family's g also enjoys supreme honor.

It's just that the Saber family is different from the Evans family. In order to prevent the members of the Saber family from losing their initiative in the future, the first Patriarch set up a series of assessments. Only those who pass the assessment can inherit the "Solder". This glorious name. But what the Patriarch didn't expect at the time was that he was appointed as the second heir to the Shab's family and failed the assessment. This disappointed him, but it did not make him cancel the family's ancestral training. A new ancestral motto has been added. Anyone who has the blood of the Saber family can participate in the assessment. Once successfully passed the assessment and named "Solder", they can become directly regardless of their status. Patriarch of the Shab family.

In this way, although the Saber family still had the birth of a third heir to the Patriarch, he also failed to obtain the honorary name of "Soldier" until the birth of the fourth Patriarch, and successfully passed the test to obtain the glory of Soldier. After being named, the Shab family, which had fallen out of the rank of the 12th highest aristocratic family of Ryan, returned to the second place.

This period is also the most glorious period of the Saber family.

If it weren't for Lion who was already a subject of the Millennium Covenant Empire at that time, I'm afraid that the fifth Patriarch of the Shab's family could not be just a Marquis. Fortunately, the younger brother of the Patriarch later became a hereditary marquis who owns a territory. At that time, seven members of the young and middle-aged generation of the Sabres family won the title of hereditary earl. The prefix of the title is at least the name of real power. .

It is a pity that the fifth heir of the Saber family failed to pass the test in the end, and when the sixth Patriarch came to the throne, the Saber family began to eat their roots again and gradually ranked in the ranks of the twelve upper noble families. slide.

Until the appearance of De Wen.

Dawain Sabre is just an illegitimate child. Although the blood of the Sabre family is indeed flowing in his body, his identity has never been recognized and he has been bullied in the family. At that time, his half-brother had entered the final stage of fighting for the Patriarch because of his noble birth. Later, in a family plot, the cruel brother finally became the seventh Patriarch of the Sabre family.

And the first day of the Patriarch's leadership, he ordered the killing of Dai Wen and his mother, but in the case of Yin's mistake, Dai Wen entered the assessment of the name of Soder's glory. According to the ancestral motto of the Saber family, no one is allowed to interfere or disturb the members of the Saber family who entered the assessment process. Therefore, when Dai Wen could not be killed at the time, the seventh Patriarch directly killed Dai Wen. His mother also ordered that once Dai Wen's assessment is over, he will be killed immediately.

After all, at the time, no one was optimistic about De Wen.

It's just that no one thought that after a month and a half after entering the Soder's Glory Examination, De Wen finally ended the examination, and he returned with Soder's name of Glory.

This is an unexpected result.

But the ancestral motto of the Saber family has been written very clearly after all. Anyone with the blood of the Saber family can participate in the assessment. Once successfully passed the assessment and being named "Soldier", regardless of identity Both can directly become the Patriarch of the Sabo family.

Therefore, Devin Soder Sabre naturally became the seventh head of the Sabre family.

After learning that his mother had died tragically, and his father had not said anything to keep him, the first family order Dai Wen ordered was to execute his father, his younger brother, and the younger brother's mother. It's just that the situation was quite complicated at the time. After all, the younger brother's mother was not a small person, but was born in the Rowland family, which was also a family of twelve upper nobles. At that time, the Roland family sent someone to negotiate.

It's just that, under his anger, Dai Wen would not pay attention to this at all, which eventually led to the rupture of the Saber family and the Rowland family, and then the two families fought a very large-scale civil war. And the final result of this war was that the Sabres family won a brilliant victory with an overwhelming advantage. The Rowlands family even fell directly out of the order of the twelve upper nobles, if it weren't for the rules of nobility and the interference of the Ryan royal family. , Roland's family will even be annihilated because of this.

However, because of this war, the nobles of the Principality of Ryan clearly saw that the sword of the Sabo family was still sharp.

And Devin Soder Sabre, because of this, gained the nickname "Bloody Marquis".

Of course, among Roland's or some people who dislike the Sabre family, it has become the "Marquis of Marquis".

But anyway, Devin Soder Shabo still resisted the title of "Ryan's Sword".

And this time, it was precisely because of Asuna's compromise, so this sword of the Principality of Ryan could finally be pointed at by soldiers.

took over and read the letter delivered by this messenger, Dai Wen's brows wrinkled slightly, and the evil spirit on his body also became strong and awe-inspiring. He raised his head and glanced at the messenger. The great power from the superior instantly made the messenger's face extremely pale, but fortunately, Dai Wen didn't stay on him for too long, just staring. Then moved away in a second, and this didn't make the messenger faint on the spot.

Daiwen, but not just a lord as simple as that.

As the sword of Ryan, he is also one of the seven sanctuary powerhouses in the Principality of Ryan. Although he is only a lower sanctuary, his personal strength has surpassed any Patriarch in the history of the Shabe family. Even the second and fourth Patriarch who inherited the name of "Sodell", his strength has stopped at the golden peak of the upper position, so it is not a good thing to be threatened by Dai Wen with such a strong aura of attack and threat. .

"The letter, I have received it." After De Wen retracted his gaze, his gaze fell on the strategic map on the conference table, and then he said in a deep voice, "You can go."

Dane's voice is a bit hoarse, which is quite in line with Dane's current age. It's just that although his voice is a little hoarse, it doesn't sound weak at all. On the contrary, it is full of vigor and vitality like a young man. This also represents that Dane's Jing power is very strong.

But this is also a normal thing.

Sanctuary powerhouses, even if they are only lower-level sanctuary, usually can live for one or two hundred years without any accidents, and even two hundred thirty or forty years are everywhere. And usually once promoted to the strong sanctuary, their physical fitness and function will be greatly improved. It is very common for the old to become middle-aged and the middle-aged to become young. Of course, there are occasional strong people who are not. Will be wasted on reshaping the appearance of the body.

Dawain Sodell Sabre is such a strong man: he still maintains the appearance of being promoted to the lower sanctuary strong.

And usually such sanctuary powerhouses are often relatively crazy actual combatists. After all, they did not waste their power to reshape the physical appearance, so this part of the power is naturally used by them to improve their combat skills.

In the face of such a strong man, it was just an ordinary person's messenger who naturally did not dare to say anything. He nodded and left immediately.

After the messenger left, the other people in the meeting room looked at Dai Wen with a curious look.

Unexpectedly, the Lion's Sword was also simply, and directly threw the letter in his hand to the earl who had come to represent the Finlistine family this time. After the latter took the letter and read it with some curiosity, his face instantly became unusually blue, and he patted the table on the spot and stood up: "This Sean Connery is really deceiving! Is he really? I feel like I have the support of Asuna's son, so I can do whatever I want to do!"

"Please pay attention to your words, Earl Finlisting." Dewin glanced at the opponent, and then reminded him, "The Marquis of Tonis is far above you, whether it is title, battlefield status or strength. If you If you don't want to provoke two political enemies to your family."

Hearing what Dewin said, the earl of the Finlisting family felt cold.

Although there were many nobles present, and although the Evans family did not send a representative to fight, there were still many nobles who had a good relationship with the Evans family. Although Asuna has announced her separation from the Evans family, she is after all the daughter of Commander Lloyd. Here, she directly says that Asuna is a son, which is tantamount to provoking two Evans families at the same time.

So it immediately understood that Dai Wen was suppressing this with his prestige.

If the thing about him calling Asuna a son is still spread, then this is equivalent to offending the Sabre family, so if you want to tell Asuna or Commander Lloyd about this, the nobles present must be here. Consider it carefully in your mind.

Of course, the people present are not fools. Hearing what the earl of the Finlisting family said just now, everyone knew a little bit.

Obviously, the lord of the southern theater, Sean Connery, this time even the Finlisting family was offended. Before that, they all knew that Sean had severely injured a Viscount of the Shab family. In this way, it is equivalent to Sean Connery, the lord of Pandaren, who has offended two families of the top twelve nobles, so Dai Wen speaks for the earl of the Finlisting family. It's a matter of course.

Some nobles even have a keen sense of smell, Dai Wen said this is basically equivalent to the Shab family has issued a joint invitation to the Finlisting family.

"I'm sorry, Lord Devon, please forgive me for my short-term gaffe." The earl immediately apologized, "I also hope that everyone present can forgive me for my mistakes. The main reason is that an earl in my family was brutally murdered, so..."

Speaking of this, the earl has made fists with both hands and his face is full of anger.

But De Wen glanced at the earl, and then stopped talking.

These superficial words are actually nonsense, but De Wen still had to admire the prudence and...stupidity of the earl of the Finlisting family.

What he said just now was indeed an invitation to join forces, but the subtext of the earl's response to this was that his title was too low to be the master. In this way, Dai Wen naturally has no need to say anything. He believes that the Finlisting family can never swallow this breath, so eventually the Finlisting family will definitely come to him to join forces. After all, his family members The junior was only seriously injured, but this one from the Finlisting family was killed directly.

It's just that when the time comes, when the Fenlisting family comes to him for a talk, then it is not that he invited Fenlisting to join forces, but the Fenlisting family wants to flatter him.

This is also the reason why Dai Wen felt that the earl was stupid, and let off such a good opportunity out of thin air.

However, Dai Wen doesn't really care about this.

Because this time he gave the order to mobilize the forces in the Sean theater, it was not originally his intention, but the group of nobles in the northwest theater was dissatisfied with Sean as the commander-in-chief of the southern theater. That's why some Yin's secret thoughts were tossed out, and that's why there was also that transfer order.

But as everyone knows, the commander of the Northwest Theater is actually just a gilded puppet, and the real commander is David Sodell Shab, so the real role of this transfer order is only to reduce Sean's military exploits, thereby giving These nobles in the Northwest Theater have more chances to split their military exploits. After all, they have already negotiated terms with Prince Kazes Hodgedi to ensure the safety of the South Theater.

It's just that no one thought that Sean would be extreme and crazy so far, he would directly kill the earl who was sent by the Finlisting family to gild.

This method, Dai Wen, to be honest, still appreciates it, because it is indeed very courageous.

However, one must find a job if he is in his position, so no matter what Dai Wen thinks, he must show a clear attitude.

Almost in such a moment of his thoughts, the nobles in the command room who are good at various yin schemes have already devised a new yin scheme: fraudulent defeat.

Dane almost just glanced at the long red line drawn on the strategic map on the conference table. He already knew what the beasts in human skin wanted to do in the conference room. If you really swindle on this line of defense and retreat a hundred miles, then it is equivalent to completely exposing the entire southern theater to the eyes of the nobles in the northwest theater of Darbion. For those lunatics who are almost crazy now, Seeing the gap in this line of defense, it was like a hungry wolf seeing cooked meat.

Once the hungry wolves are allowed to enter the southern theater, nearly half of the entire southern theater will fall into the flames of war again.

The first one to bear the brunt is the land of Sean's foundation: Panda collar.

Of course, if this happens, the Northwest Theater will definitely bear a large part of the responsibility.

But so what?

As long as they can finally regain these lost ground, then the credit will still be theirs.

This is the hideous and ugly face of the nobleman.

Dane Sodell Sabre looked at these nobles who had started quarreling for the division of the southern war zone, with a disdainful sneer on his face.

...

at the same time.

In the conference room, there was almost a civil turmoil for the division of the southern territories of the war zone, especially the final ownership of Pandaren. The messenger who was in charge of delivering the letter at the beginning rode a fast horse away from this. Camp.

While running, he took off the disguise on his face, revealing a slightly immature and young face.

This person is surprisingly the leader of the void, Rupiah.

After Rupi ran a few hundred meters away from the camp, the horse under the crotch was finally so tired that it began to pant, and its running speed also began to drop. But at this moment, two riders sprang from the side, but unlike Rupi's image, these two riders are real knights. At this time, the two knights each led a horse and quickly approached Rupi, one of them was holding two of them, and when these horses approached, Rupi jumped to the other horse with one vertical jump, and then the three of them were six. The horse quickly moved away.

Soon, at night, the three rushed to a camp.

This camp is obviously set up temporarily, but in terms of scale, it is very rigorous and reasonable.

After entering the camp, Rupi immediately turned over and got off his horse, and then quickly ran towards the main tent in the middle.

There is only one person standing in the main account.

Hella Garcia.

Faced with one of the newly promoted Big Three, Ruby immediately said everything he saw in the tent of the Northwest Theater Command Room today. No detail was omitted, even Dane stared at him. As well as the feeling at that moment, he clearly said it.

Soon, Hela listened to Rupi's narration.

At this time, her eyes were also slightly narrowed: "It seems that the old man has already seen through your identity, so he didn't let you stay there. But do you think I don't know their plan? Huh, It's naive.... It seems that they will soon choose to bluff and lose on the battlefield, and let the mad dogs of Darbion be transferred to Pandan. Our plan must also be stepped up."