

Lord of War Vol 3-171

Chapter 171: Fight hard

"I'm fine!" Feeling the vigorous vitality surging in the space, Harding directly turned his head and shouted at Hitley.

For Harding, such a scar with bleeding beads is not a wound at all, but if Hitley is allowed to directly smash a healing technique or something like a magical technique, it will be really painful. So even if he was distracted at this time, Harding hurriedly shouted.

And Hitley, after hearing Harding's shout, was also taken aback for a while, and then realized that Harding could not accept the blessing of the Goddess of Life.

But the surging of life force just now actually appeared. Even if the magical technique has stopped at this moment, the breath radiating from Hitley is still very rich.

For organ puppets, judging the strength of the opponent is not like a normal person. Like Hitley, the whole body exudes the energy of rich life breath, in the induction of this silver knight, it is naturally a very difficult and powerful enemy.

In all the judging standards of organ puppets, enemies like this must be resolved in the first time. Therefore, after a shot attack failed to solve Harding, the Silver Knight shifted the target at this time, turned and rushed towards Hitley.

seems to be because of; long; wind; .+x. Just now used the result of a propulsion raid, so at this time the silver knight did not use this skill again, but started to run with his legs open. Obviously it is just an agency puppet. But when he started running at this time, it was like a thousand horses galloping. The rumbling sound was extremely violent, and it ran on the ground of the blue crystal stone. The ripples produced by each step of the fall are also bigger than when Sean and the others stepped on it just now.

"Damn it!" Seeing this scene, Sean cursed immediately, "Stop it! Don't let it enter the wizard group!"

No one knows better than Sean what the result will be when the Silver Knight enters the group of wizards. The fighting power of these humanoid monsters is basically equivalent to that of a quasi-high-ranking golden powerhouse, and they are also power-based brute force powerhouses like Rorty Kabas, so once these monsters enter the wizard group, use the wizard It was impossible for that weak body to withstand the blow of these silver knights. But Sean just wanted to return to the rescue. The Bronze Knight, who had been suppressed by Sean and Rorty Kabas, suddenly waved the broad-edged sword in his hand and slashed it towards Sean's back.

The capture of attack timing this time happened to be the flaw that Sean revealed in his combat skills. These organ puppets have incredibly keen judgment, and often as long as their opponent reveals a small flaw, they will not hesitate to catch it, thereby changing the battle situation. at this point. It is also why these organ puppets are not very powerful even if their individual strengths are. But it still gives people an extremely difficult, and even has to rely on the suppression of the level gap to be able to win.

Of course, this keen capture and grasp of flaws is also a major weakness of these organ puppets for real master players. Because they are all puppets with no self-thinking, they certainly can't see that some flaws are deliberately exposed by their opponents as bait. As long as they show flaws in front of them or seem a little weak, they will exchange these mechanism puppets, which is like a storm. Like an attack.

Just now. It's not that Sean is deliberately showing off, so this blow. It seemed extremely dangerous to Sean.

"锵!"

A harsh metal friction sound suddenly sounded, but the spear in Rorty Kabas's hand blocked the bronze knight's broad-edged sword from falling. Later, I saw Rorty Kabas suddenly take a step forward. When he lifted his right hand, he shook the sword in the bronze knight's hand. Fancy and fiercely hit the front armor of the bronze knight!

This blow actually smashed this armor into a dent, and it even took more than ten steps back to stabilize the power from the heavy blow of Rorty Kabas. And Rorty Kabas, who has not been able to achieve any major results before, is there any hesitation or the notion of mercy at this time. After he shouted "Give it to me here", he started to move slightly towards this apparently. The bronze knight who took a few minutes launched a stormy stabbing.

If they hadn't seen it with their own eyes, I'm afraid that not many people would believe that the knight's gun, which looked extremely heavy, seemed to be light and nothing in the hands of Rorty Kabas. Only the bronze knight was completely shrouded in the dense shadows of guns.

For a period of time, the ding-ding-bells kept on.

It's just that the situation on the other side of the battle has reached a level that cannot be ignored.

Cecilia waved, and the eighteen sparks of Solomon's heavy flame appeared in the air again, and then these flames instantly expanded and became bigger. The spark that was originally just a seedling instantly became the size of a basketball. But this time, these fireballs are slightly different from the previous situation. Almost every fireball shows a dark red color. It seems that there is magma surging inside. It just floats in the air, and it has already caused the surrounding people. The temperature has increased a lot.

This made the silver knight's attention slightly shifted, but it just glanced at Cecilia and then returned its gaze to Hitley. Obviously, the strong breath that Cecilia exploded at this time was only enough to make the Silver Knight look a little bit, but it was obviously not enough to let it transfer the hatred target.

And when Cecilia blasted all the eighteen fireballs at the Silver Knight, a surprising scene appeared in front of everyone.

I saw the silver knight bend down abruptly, his left hand holding the shield lifted upwards, and a silver-white barrier resembling a power grid suddenly extended from the shield in his hand, covering a full three-meter-high range from the front. .

Silver barrier!

This is the defensive skill used by the Silver Knight to deal with magical attacks. Once the Silver Knight activates this skill. It can almost be said that the reason why it is completely immune to magic is mainly because the concept of magic did not exist in the dawn of the dawn, and at that time it was basically the world of divine magic. The so-called magic are all attack spells constructed from arcane magic, which is pure magic condensate.

Until the twilight age, the intrusion of elemental power gradually has a variety of magic types, but even these magics are driven by magic. It was also at that time that the magic circuit system emerged. Strictly speaking, the future magic technology is actually an improvement based on the technology of the mermaid clan. And the current defensive skill called "Silver Barrier" is actually an isolation net created by this magic system, which can separate the magic from the power of the elements. Thereby an effect similar to magic immunity appears.

Of course, the loss is not without.

This skill consumes a lot of mana by the Silver Knight, and once it is activated. The Silver Knight cannot move at will. As for other side effects, it also includes a slight drop in attribute values such as strength and agility. It's just that even if these attribute values have declined, for Cecilia and Hitley, the silver knight's threat is still unprecedented.

And Sean knows very well. When the silver knight casts the silver barrier. This means that it is already within a certain kill range from the target of the mage.

All eighteen fireballs blasted on the silver barrier, but they did not cause any harm to the silver knight. This result made Cecilia startled. And the next moment, when the Silver Knight did not feel any magical threat, it directly lifted the silver barrier, and then the spear that was hanging behind him was raised flat again, and there was a lot of heat behind it again. Gushing. Even the air is twisted.

Propelled charge!

Use the flame generated by the consumption of magic power to support the combustion to accelerate the silver knight's stab attack. This is the silver knight's most powerful attack skill. Under this move, even Harding was unable to dodge, not to mention Hitley, who was listed as the target of attack by the Silver Knight at this time.

But Sean and Harding, it is obviously impossible to watch this happen.

Because Harding was closer to the Silver Knight, he came to the Silver Knight first, and slammed it towards the head with a direct punch. In this attack, Harding obviously no longer has any reservations. It can even be said that all the actions of power have completely erupted. There is a dark red light passing through the air. That is the attack trajectory of Harding's fist. .

It seemed that he hadn't expected that someone would stop in front of the Silver Knight in this almost suicidal attack, so the Silver Knight was obviously a little stunned after he was hit hard by Harding. Of course, it may also be due to the decline in attributes caused by the silver barrier just now, but in any case, Harding's blow really interrupted the Silver Knight's advance charge without delay.

However, the battle obviously did not end.

Shaun dragged the Black King straight from behind the Silver Knight, and then suddenly jumped up when he was still three meters away.

In mid-air, Sean held the sword hilt in both hands, and fell from the air in a jumping attack posture, and then the black king's sword slashed behind the silver knight. The fighting energy that erupted from Xiao En's body turned into a black sword wind, like a black light wheel, tracing the silver knight's body from top to bottom, and even the silver knight's body has already cut a line that can be regarded as A clean gap.

However, for organ puppets without a physical concept, such an attack is obviously not enough to completely destroy them.

However, Sean succeeded in attracting the hatred of this silver knight.

Because when Sean landed, the attack of the Silver Knight also followed, and the spear in his hand suddenly swung back, and a white halo swayed out. However, Sean seemed to have expected it, and he suddenly lowered his head after landing, so the halo swayed by the Silver Knight just wiped from the top of Sean's head, but even so, he still cut off a few of Sean's roots. hair.

It is conceivable that if Sean's movements or reactions are so slow, it's probably not the hair that will be cut off by this shot.

After Sean succeeded in a blow, he kicked the ground abruptly and pulled away from the Silver Knight. As a result, if the Silver Knight wanted to attack Sean, he would have to turn his face and expose his back to Harding, Cecilia and others.

The weaknesses of the organ puppets are all behind!

Obviously, although the Silver Knight and the Bronze Knight are both puppets, the Silver Knight is obviously better than the Bronze Knight in the judgment of the system constructed by magic. Therefore, when he saw Sean retreat rapidly, the Silver Knight didn't immediately pursue Sean after he got up. Instead, he shot towards Harding with a gun.

Looking at the shot that was stabbed at him, Harding's face showed a somewhat smirk: "Idiot."

Without the slightest hesitation.

Harding's left hand suddenly grasped the body of this long gun, his right hand was clenched into a fist, and then he slammed out at the silver knight's head again: "Grit my teeth!"

"boom!"

A dull loud noise was emitted when Harding's fist hit the Silver Knight's head.

This time, the silver knight's sturdy helmet material obviously can't stop Harding's destructive power from being blasted in the same position twice. This white and flawless helmet had already begun to show tiny cracks. Obviously, as long as Harding punched again, I'm afraid he could completely smash the Silver Knight's helmet.

In terms of personal combat skills, it is obvious that no profession can compare with a professional system like boxer.

However, as one of the highest technological products representing the mermaid clan in the twilight era, the Silver Knight is obviously not this type of waiting to die. His right hand moved a little, and after finding that the spear in his hand could not break free, it waved its shield and shot towards Harding without hesitation.

Shield strike.

This is an offensive skill that all shield combat classes have. It can not only produce a knockback effect on the enemy, but also has a certain probability to make the enemy stunned.

And a series of related tactical skills and actions surrounding the shield strike are also very mature among the players. It's just that this maturity is actually learned by players from monsters and NPCs, so there is no doubt that if Harding is hit by the Silver Knight's shield, then it must be the long spear in the Silver Knight's hand. The moment that runs through Harding's body.

But, is Harding fighting alone?

Behind the Silver Knight, a strong wind rushed forward!

The black tip of the sword pierced through the body of the silver knight, coming out from the back to the front!

Chapter 172: .Change tactics

As soon as the Silver Knight was dealt with here, Rorty Kabas on the other side also happened to deal with the Bronze Knight.

Looking at the bronze knight who was almost smashed, and Roti Kabas, who was tired like a dead dog with a spear, Sean slowly drew out the black king, and there were beads of sweat on his forehead that had not appeared in a long time. And Harding, because he forcibly caught the Silver Knight's spear, a blood stain was wiped out on his left hand. Blood beads were constantly seeping from above, and the hot pain was constantly stimulating Harding's nerves.

At this moment, no one's face can still maintain a relaxed and calm look.

Even Sean's look became weird.

He did not come to this copy of the Water Demon Secret Storage back then, but when watching the video, he did not realize how difficult these organ puppets were to deal with. At that time, he still remembered that the strength of the team that came to open up wasteland was only Tier 7. Although the open up wasteland was the result of the concerted efforts of the four teams, if the comprehensive strength of Xiao En and others were met in the original game, there was nothing. If the four teams are wrong, there will be no pressure to wipe out the opponent.

But why is it so hard to fight just against two bronze knights and one silver knight? Sean frowned.

"These mechanism puppets are more difficult to deal with than alchemy puppets." Rorty Kabas seemed to be too lazy to care about his image, and he threw the knight's gun to the place, lying on the ground so carelessly, constantly panting." Not only is the material strong, but the combat awareness is far beyond the scope of normal people. If it weren't for it, it's all empty. I would really think I was facing the Ancient Elf Guard."

Hearing Rorty Kabas's words, Sean suddenly felt a bright light!

That's right!

is the Ancient Elf Guard!

The mermaid tribe was a long time ago, probably at the beginning of the era of chaos. They have already established a huge empire, the Atlantis Empire. As a matriarchal society and a race that is regarded as pets by the gods, the mermaid tribe has always lacked powerful powerhouses. Their racial growth limit is probably the upper level of gold. Only a few super geniuses can become holy. The domain is strong, so the mermaid tribe is naturally proficient in other aspects.

in. Like the unique teleportation array technology of the gods, it was perfectly copied by the mermaid tribe.

The magic teleportation blueprint obtained by Sean in collaboration with the Heerson Institute is actually the work of the Mermaid. Even the magical device that will be born in the future. It was also reproduced on the basis of the magic mechanics technology of the Mermaid tribe, even including the most powerful tenth-level legion of the Maggie Empire today, the Holy Puppet Legion, whose prototype was also made by imitating these organ puppets of the Mermaid tribe. Different from the mainstream puppet production technology on the mainland today, all the mermaid puppets are driven by a complete set of magic mechanics system. Use Sean's way of thinking to understand. That is, every organ puppet is like a biological computer with basic artificial intelligence. The fighting skills they possess are pre-set when the mermaid is loaded into the magic system, and as their combat teaching template, they are naturally the elves of the ancient sacred elves, that is, the ancient elves guard.

In the Twilight Era, the standard for judging strength was more strict and rigorous than it is now. As the most powerful unit of the holy elves, even if it is not one in a thousand, it is at least one in a thousand. The rigor of the screening process is by no means understandable by people nowadays.

So in fact, the combat power of these organ puppets is converted to today's standard of strength. At least half a level must be raised to one level. In addition, it is not the players who are exploring with Sean at this time, but the local residents of this world. Although they are much stronger than the players, they also lack the player's all-purpose tactical thinking. And flexibility, these two points are what caused Shaun and the others to get into a hard fight.

Of course, as far as the solution is concerned, there is actually not no solution, that is, destroying the magic power supply central system of this dungeon, then it can directly weaken at least half of the combat power of these organ puppets. Because these mechanism puppets are also called magic puppets, they have unique fighting styles and combat skills. Unlike alchemy puppets and flesh and blood puppets, they can only rely on brute force to fight, so the battle and actions of maintaining mechanism puppets require extremely large amounts of magic power. , And in order to provide this continuous supply of magic power, all the mechanism puppets and the magic power array under the dungeon are connected, and the magic power they consume is supplemented by this magic array.

So as long as the operation of the magic circle is interrupted, these organ puppets will enter a low energy consumption mode, and their combat effectiveness will be weakened.

At the beginning, the first team to enter this dungeon chose to take the central axis, where they encountered a very powerful organ puppet. After solving this mechanism puppet, the central system of magic power supply was destroyed, and then the mechanism puppet in the dungeon became much easier to deal with. Later, when the local down town became a copy, many players tried it down, but the central system of magic power supply had already been destroyed, so the organ puppet was gone.

At that time, Sean, who had watched some videos, didn't think too much about it. He just felt that these organ puppets would be easy to solve. Unfortunately, the benefits are not proportional to the effort, and the copy also restricted only five people to enter, so Sean did. Did not bring a group to fight this dungeon. But the situation at this time is obviously different, because Shaun now finally realizes the key problem of this dungeon-the central system of magic power supply!

When the first player team to enter the dungeon to open up wasteland faced the twelve Bronze Knights in the first round, they also killed two people with their team's standard 25-man configuration. This is definitely not an accident. It was that these organ puppets had an increase in the supply of magic power at that time, and their combat power far exceeded their imagination. In other words, if Sean didn't know that these organ puppets would move from the beginning, and had Lanster's cooperation, I'm afraid they would be out of luck in the square.

Because after actually fighting the Bronze Knights and Silver Knights, Xiao En and others really realized how strong these puppets were. With their current strength. I don't dare to say that I can solve these organ puppets at will, let alone the third boss, even the easiest giant sword knight has the strength of upper level gold. And if you raise it by half a level according to the standard.

That is the combat power of the upper golden pinnacle. With the unique advantage of the Great Sword Knight in terms of destructive power, I am afraid that Sean and others will inevitably be attenuated when fighting this boss.

This is not what Sean wanted.

Thinking of this, Sean couldn't help but look at Hina.

Among all the people, Hina's personal combat power is the weakest. Originally, Sean thought that there should be no big difference between this water monster secret and the game. Therefore, he also brought Hina to hope to increase her combat experience. But unexpectedly, the actual situation is more difficult than in the game, so Hina has become a burden to Sean and others.

It's just that. Hina is obviously quite self-aware.

In the battle just now, she didn't make a blind move, just holding a gun in front of Hitley, and seeing her slightly relaxed at this time. Sean can roughly guess. If the advance charge of the Silver Knight was launched successfully, Hina probably could stop the Silver Knight's attack against Hitley at the cost of an arm.

Of course, because of the presence of the saint of Hitley, the goddess of life, as long as Hina does not die on the spot, even the severed limb can be recovered. It's just that the price Hitley needs to pay will be relatively large, and it is inevitable for Hina to suffer some.

All of this is for this young girl who has lived in fine clothes and food since she was a child. It is also a battle that requires willpower to win. However, Sean was very happy. Hina deserves to have inherited Alfred's bloodline in this respect. In terms of willpower, it is indeed unparalleled, and her courage is also very good. Of course, this aspect may be attributed to Rina's early knighthood of Hina. Spiritually guided.

Because of this, Sean is naturally more optimistic about Hina's future. Naturally, Sean certainly does not want Hina to die in such a place. On the one hand, he can't explain to Alfred after going back. On the other hand, Hina's potential now is worthy of Sean's care. The price to invest.

Maybe, this is the second Valkyrie of the void Principality in the future.

"What shall we do next?" After a short rest, the blood marks on Harding's left hand and right shoulder have completely disappeared.

Demonites are born with the racial talent of [Auto-healing], and after becoming a blood warrior, they will receive an inaugural reward called [Auto-healing]. The combination of these two talents naturally makes any injuries on Harding's body as long as it is not a standard for the severity of a serious injury, and it can be completely healed within a day. Not to mention this kind of chafed skin, which is not even a minor injury. Basically, it only takes about four or five minutes to fully recover.

So, Hitley's healing magic on Harding will only increase his burden and pain.

"These organ puppets are more difficult to deal with than we thought. If this continues, I am afraid that as long as the number exceeds five, we will have casualties." Harding frowned. The most important thing to be a strong man is. One point is to accurately judge the situation, "With our strength, we can only face three to four bronze knights or two silver knights at most. Once this number is exceeded, we will become very passive."

"It's really bad for us, so we have to change it." Sean nodded. For Harding's judgment, Sean still believes very much, "Let's go to the magic room first.... Mermaid The dungeons built by the clan generally have at least one magic room as the control center. The reason why these organ puppets are so strong is largely because the dungeon has an unlimited supply of magic power for them, so they Only then can we burst out with as powerful combat skills as before.... And as long as we destroy this magic center, the next battle will be much easier."

"Where is the magic room?" Cecilia asked, and at the same time turned her gaze to Lanster.

Obviously, no one thought that Sean would know the layout and construction of this dungeon. And Sean couldn't say anything at this time. He might be able to pretend to be a magic stick or an erudite scholar, but he couldn't say everything. In particular, he needs to consider the situation of the real mermaid dungeon that will open up wasteland in the future. If he says everything now, then everyone in the mermaid dungeon will definitely rely on him.

But Sean didn't know what was going on there. Because there was no one in the game before. Shaun didn't want to lead the whole team to death, so at this time, before Gerant clearly stated the direction, Shaun naturally did not dare to speak at will.

"Probably, it's on the bottom of the axis." Gerant flipped through his notebook, and then said, "I checked the information. There is an energy room in the direction of the axis. But I'm not sure about that. Is it the magic room you call it... But according to the information I have checked, the energy room is guarded by a powerful mechanism puppet. If we want to shut down the energy inside, I am afraid we must defeat this mechanism puppet. Row."...

"A powerful mechanism puppet?" Rorty Kabas frowned slightly, and then said, "How powerful is it?"

"Maybe better than the Silver Knight just now." Lanster's tone was a little uncertain. "The materials I read are only recorded in the literature. I haven't actually fought. I am not very clear."

"The guard of the energy room... is the guard." Sean sighed. He knew he needed to come forward at this time.

Puppets of institutions. Guard soldiers.

Compared to the mechanism puppets, this thing is more than a little bit stronger than the Silver Knight!

Compared with the terms in the game, then the Silver Knight can only be regarded as the captain-level mobs, which is commonly known as the little boss. Although the guard warrior hadn't reached the strength of the golden knight, it was not far from the great sword knight or the two twin knights. Of course the most important thing is that because the entire dungeon's huge magic system is used as an energy supply, the overall strength of the guard warrior is slightly stronger than the other two bosses.

The first team came to open up wasteland. Because he didn't find out the situation clearly, a dozen people were directly ruined when facing this boss. This is also one of the main reasons why they will be wiped out by the opponent when they meet the second player team.

"Ah, yes." If Lanster's eyes could be turned into star eyes, Sean believed that he must be seeing two twinkling stars now, "It is from the Guardian series, the model seems to be called... ..Guard soldiers."

The mechanism puppets of the Mermaid tribe are divided into various series according to their different purposes.

Bronze knights, silver knights, golden knights, twin knights, great sword knights, etc. belong to the knight series, imitating the knight style of the holy elf. And according to the type of imitation, the target is different, and there are naturally differences in individual combat power: for example, the bronze knight is modeled by the lower servant knight, while the silver knight is the upper servant knight. Although they are all entourage knights, this sequence is the lowest in the holy elf knight sequence, which is the so-called knight apprentice, but the distinction between upper and lower ranks is enough to explain everything.

As for the golden knight, twin knight, and giant sword knight, the three mechanism puppets are modeled after real elf knights, so they have more powerful combat effectiveness and more professional combat skills. For example, the twin knights are good at the display of combined combat skills, while the great sword knights are more focused on the sword skills and the destructive power brought by the great sword.

In addition to the Knight series, there are also Guardian series, Mage series, Assault series, Legion series and Special series.

The Guardian series is specially used for defensive operations. The combat capability of this type of organ puppet is relatively weak, but its protective performance has been greatly enhanced. Of course, the so-called weak combat ability is also compared to the first-class works of the knight series such as the golden knight, twin knight, and giant sword knight, and it is still much stronger than the two types of entourage knights.

"Guardian Warrior..." Xiao En sighed, "This type of mechanism puppet is not easy to deal with.... You all know the Silver Knights, right? Many words" Xiao En stretched his hand to the destroyed silver The knight, after seeing everyone nodding their heads, Xiao En said: "The fighting skills of that thing can be used by guards and soldiers, and the power is only big. In addition, if you fight against it, you need to pay special attention to its two combat skills, one It's a magic gun burst, a beam-type attack skill, and a frontal width of 5 meters and a length of 30 meters are all covered by its attack skills."

Hearing this, everyone's complexion changed slightly. The length of thirty meters is equivalent to saying that if professionals like Harding and Rorty Kabas face each other, then it is impossible to retreat and evade. Because with their strength, the 30-meter back jump is the absolute limit, maybe even less than that, so there is no way to fight at all.

"But you can rest assured that when it casts this skill, it will have an obvious state of charge. At this time, it only needs to hide behind it." Xiao En said in a deep voice. For this mechanism puppet, Xiao En can be considered to have something. I understand, because he has encountered this thing in other places in the game later, "Moreover, during the period of its use of this combat skill, it does not know how to defend at all, so we can take this opportunity to attack it. "

"So what about another combat skill?" Cecilia asked.

"The other combat skill is not our business." When Sean said this, he smiled weirdly, turned his head and looked at Rorty Kabas, "Splitting Gun, you know how to do it."

Hearing Sean, Rorty Kabas's face turned a little ugly.

Chapter 173: . Sean's Mindset

When        turned back to the original road, there was no accident.

Shaun found that these bronze knights did not seem to have patrol mode turned on. Only the Silver Knights turned on patrol mode and would move around the entire dungeon. But if you pay attention, you can avoid a head-on battle with the Silver Knight. Of course, if it is a sneak attack, the success rate is actually not great. After all, these are puppets driven by magic, not creatures, so naturally they don't have any vital parts.

If the materials are used inferiorly, it is easy to solve, but the mermaid are a group of obsessive-compulsive disorder patients, they would rather not make them than use secondary materials instead. So this has resulted in every mechanism puppet being a work of excellence. If it weren't for the weapons and equipment used by Xiao En and others, it was not a mortal product, it really wouldn't be able to cause any harm to these mechanism puppets.

But even Sean had to use the power of jumping, or the power of a stab, to break the silver knight's body. This may be commonplace for other warrior classes with strength as the main attribute, but for Sean, it is really a bit difficult, because he is playing the skill route, so to be honest, he doesn't like jumping and cutting. The means of attack, which made him feel uncomfortable. After all, when you are in the air, you have nowhere to borrow, and even if you want to dodge, it is not an easy task, which can easily be used as a living target by the enemy. In the game, Sean always tried to avoid this state of being a live target. After coming to this real world, Sean would not like this feeling and fighting style even more. So if it was possible for the trick that was used to deal with the Silver Knight just now, Sean really didn't want to appear again.

After returning to the square. Everyone soon discovered that there were two Silver Knights patrolling the square at this time.

This made everyone afraid to act rashly for a while.

Dealing with two Silver Knights at the same time, although it is the limit that Harding thinks, but if there is really no way, who wants to challenge the limit?

Fortunately, one of the silver knights patrolled around and walked towards the middle axis.

Its pace is not fast, but it is very calm when each step falls. Although you can't see its demeanor, people who have been wandering on the line of life and death for a long time like Sean, Rorty Kabas, and Harding move from the posture of walking around. It can be easily distinguished that this Silver Knight is on alert. For the average person, the most vigilant state is to pay attention to the surrounding situation while preventing sudden attacks. But look at the movements of this silver knight. Obviously in addition to the precautions that normal people have. If you really want to launch a sneak attack on it, unless you have a faster reaction than the Silver Knight, it will only be attacked by the other party. Especially when it's like Sean's jump cut, I'm afraid the silver knight will catch it just as soon as the fighting aura bursts out, and then the next moment Sean, who has nowhere to take advantage of or avoiding it in the air, will hurt the Silver Knight when he falls. It must have hit the opponent's spear directly.

What is the difference between this and suicide?

In an instant, everyone gave up the idea of sneak attack.

The only choice left then. Probably only the front is hardened or avoided.

After another silver knight patrolled the square, he turned around and walked towards the avenue on the right. It is not fast. But all the actions were exactly the same as the silver knight who walked toward the center axis, except that Sean and the others, who already knew that the sneak attack would not end, naturally didn't care. Under Xiao En's instructions, everyone began to gradually retreat towards the rear, and then hid behind the stone pillars.

This time, everyone suddenly felt a little grateful that those patients with obsessive-compulsive disorder finally did some good things.

These stone pillars should be large enough, so it's not a problem for each pillar to hide from someone. The only thing they need to do is to get the silver knight's perspective, so that they can avoid unnecessary battles.

Just as organ puppets are not creatures, no vital parts can be immune to all vital attack attributes, and even the assassin's back stab has no effect. Similarly, they don't have the keen sense of smell of creatures, so as long as they don't come into their sight range, these organ puppets will never spot Sean and others, unless they are equipped with a group of high-level organ puppets equipped with a detection system for obsessive-compulsive disorder. , Then it is possible to discover the hidden Sean and others.

While playing peekaboo, while observing the surrounding movement, this is also a rare experience for Hina.

But Harding, Rorty Kabas, Sean and others, are holding weapons in their hands tightly, and dare not relax in the slightest. And the three of them were also interspersed in the front, middle and back of the crowd, in order to prevent someone from revealing their identity, and they could be rescued in the first time.

Fortunately, the Silver Knight did not find Sean and the others, and soon moved on this road, and gradually disappeared in front of Sean and the others.

And Xiao En and others were finally able to breathe a sigh of relief.

Although hiding behind the stone pillar does have a sense of blood acceleration, and it is a waste of time, it is necessary to avoid unnecessary fighting as much as possible for Xiao En and others. And then, everyone did not delay the slightest. Under Xiao En's instructions, everyone carefully retreated into the square, and then immediately turned around and ran toward the central axis.

Sean knew that there were a total of twelve Silver Knights in the entire dungeon, and there were four on each road. They had already dealt with one Silver Knight before, but now there are eleven in the dungeon. However, these silver knights will not stick to one place, but will patrol the entire dungeon, but the patrol route is fixed, each road will have two patrols near the boss point, and the other two will move to Another way, and now that Sean and others have not seen the silver knights on the central axis appear, then it is equivalent to saying that there are five silver knights on the central axis now.

While advancing, Sean narrates the information he knows to a degree that is as unsuspecting as possible, which is naturally good for the whole team. Harding and Rorty Kabas kept in mind silently. Although Hitley didn't quite understand, she did understand that she must move forward against the stone pillar, and Hina's task was to protect Hitley. Of course, under the premise of ensuring that he will not be killed in one blow.

Shaun hasn't had this feeling of commanding a team for a long time. The last time he commanded, he was helping the Black Cat Chamber of Commerce. It has been several years since now. At this time, as Sean continued to explain, his thinking became clearer than ever, and the content of the explanation was no longer limited to the patrols of these Silver Knights, and even began to include other goals.

And as Shaun's explanation gets deeper. Everyone's eyes on Sean finally changed.

It's just that Sean still doesn't know that the eyes of other people looking at him have changed. He even has the idea of wanting to challenge the Silver Knight head-on. This is not his overconfidence, but his belief in the strength of Harding, Rorty Kabas and others. With such a detailed explanation and with his command, he is sure that he can completely crush a silver knight in front of him.

But when this idea just started, it was quickly suppressed by Sean.

"A Silver Knight is here." Harding said in a deep voice, and then his gaze turned to Sean.

Everybody knows. Sean is eager to try. So they all want to know that Sean is preparing next.

took a deep breath, and Sean waved his hand: "Hidden."

Now is not the time to fight these silver knights. He must consider the combat effectiveness of the entire team, because they will face an organ puppet almost comparable to the combat effectiveness of the boss. Therefore, Sean naturally hopes that everyone will be able to The perfect state to challenge. There is no need to waste energy and stamina at this time, anyway, after closing the entire dungeon's magic power supply system, they have time to deal with these organ puppets.

After hearing Shaun's words, Harding's eyes showed a hint of appreciation.

Until this moment. Harding's heart began to accept the lord Shaun a little bit. Of course, he also admires Sean's erudition very much. But just now Sean said more because of his excitement, but it also made Harding feel a little skeptical. He even began to think that Sean was probably not a human being. At least he had never heard of any human being so knowledgeable and knowledgeable. Extensive amount of knowledge.

He even began to wonder if Sean would be the heir of those bloodlines in the dawn era?

Of course, Harding is not the only one who has this idea.

Rotti Kabas, Cecilia, and Lanster also have speculations in this regard. It's just that their knowledge of legends is not as extensive and long-lasting as Harding. Perhaps Lanster may be able to fight Harding about ancient legends, but it is obviously impossible to imagine Lanster's off-line level. Far away, so these three people's guesses are not related to the legendary race of the dawn age.

But Cecilia roughly already knew that Sean's race might not be an elf.

This time, there were two silver knights walking to the square. Just like what Shaun had said before, everyone looked at Shaun and looked a little strange, but no one said anything. And because of the first experience, everyone was not so nervous this time, and soon waited until the two Silver Knights were far away, and then everyone set off again.

Soon, everyone came to a stone gate with complicated patterns.

The pattern on the stone gate is shining with light blue light. Before opening the stone gate, Cecilia already feels the incomparably pure magic power constantly leaking from the stone gate. There is no doubt that behind this stone gate is what Lanster calls the energy room, which is what Shaun calls the magic room.

The people who were supposed to be nervous, but at this time also became calm because of the serene color on Sean's face.

"Are you ready?" Sean asked softly.

Everyone nodded slightly.

So, Xiao En stopped talking nonsense, and pushed the Shimen open with his hand.

Soon, the entire energy room was completely presented in front of Sean and others.

Different from the imagined picture, this energy room is actually a huge room with an area of more than 500 square meters, and an incomparably huge magic circle is drawn on the floor of the entire room. Its ancient magic array pattern, even if Cecilia has studied the ancient magic array, can not understand its specific effect, but the only thing that can be confirmed is that the magic array has the effect of absorbing and storing magic power.

In the entire energy room, there is nothing else except this magic circle that is almost inlaid on the floor.

The reason why it is almost, it is because in the middle of the magic circle, there is a mechanism puppet with a slightly different shape from the bronze knight and silver knight.

The difference is that the costume of this puppet appears in the image of wearing heavy armor, rather than the smooth light armor of the bronze or silver knight. The shield on its left hand is also different from the small square shield that is so small that it can only protect half of the upper body of the Silver Knight, but a heavy tower shield that is almost as high as it. When you see this shield, everyone knowing that I am afraid that no frontal physical attack can have any effect on it.

As for its right hand, it is holding a giant knight gun that is almost the same as Rorty Kabas, and seeing the light yellow electric light twine on the gun body, I know that this knight gun is probably not an ordinary weapon. And when they saw this weapon, everyone finally knew why Shaun told Rorty Kabas that he was responsible for the Shattering Gun. Obviously, this is a combat skill that Rorty Kabas is very familiar with.

The puppet standing in the center of the energy room is the boss responsible for guarding the energy room.

The mechanism puppets of the Guardian series, guarding warriors.

Even in the Guardian series, the guard warrior ranks very high, usually only in the more important areas, the guard warrior will be responsible for guarding. Obviously, the merman tribe is very relieved of the type of mechanism puppet they made, and in fact, it has proved that the guard warrior is indeed worthy of their trust.

Without the slightest hesitation, after pushing open the stone gate, Sean stepped into the energy room.

Almost as soon as Xiao En entered the energy room, the head of the mechanism puppet suddenly lit up with two red lights, as if a sleeping person suddenly opened his eyes. At this moment, all those who were staring at these two red lights felt a palpitations inexplicably. The extremely dangerous feeling made everyone scalp, and the more keen the perception, the impact on this danger. The more intense it is.

"It seems that this product is very difficult to deal with." Harding smiled bitterly.

"According to the method I told you just now, you will find that this guy is just a target." Sean chuckled lightly. He also felt the strong thoughts of crisis just now, but there was nothing in his heart. Fear, some just excitement.

The strong self-confidence as the leader of the elite group has all returned to Sean at this moment.

Chapter 174: .fighting

The guard soldier raised the knight's gun in his hand, and then took a step forward. At this moment, a very faint yellow brilliance gleamed on its body. If it weren't for the amazing eyesight of Xiao En and others, it would naturally be impossible to see the weird scene just now.

Many magical powers.

Sean had already explained to everyone some of the characteristics of the guard warrior and various combat skills. At this moment, seeing this light flashing scene, everyone naturally understood what it meant. In the same way, everyone feels a sense of awe for the breadth of Sean's knowledge-it is not pure reverence or admiration, even if it is the accumulation of knowledge, once it reaches a certain height, it is also enough to make people. The power of awe.

In the case of sufficient magic power, the mechanism puppet. Guard warrior will automatically have a magic shield that exempts 40% of magic damage. This is a rechargeable passive skill that can only rely on a large number of magic attacks to consume the magic power of this shield, or to cut off the magic power supply of the magic array to the guard warriors.

Of course, it is obvious that the second situation is impossible right now.

If you don't defeat this guard warrior, there is no way to talk about closing the magic power supply of the energy room. After entering this room, Hina has carefully closed the door to avoid the Silver Knights on patrol from discovering Sean and others in the room, creating a more difficult battle environment. After this, Hina will stay with Hitley and Cecilia. After all, with her current strength, she has no way to play any role in the current combat situation. Of course, she can still learn something by watching Rorty Kabas's battle.

This is the biggest difference between the aboriginals of Marvel Continent and the outsider Shaun.

Like Hina, after passing observation. She only learned a little bit of fur. Only through countless trainings and a large number of practical applications, can she make a little progress in this area, but if she wants to truly master and master, then it is bound to spend more time and energy, for some intelligence is not very high. As far as people are concerned, mastering a combat skill is likely to require a lifetime of energy.

But Sean, it's not like that.

He grows through observation. Probably a proficiency mode, which is a bit like analysis.

And once it is successfully analyzed by him, then this ability will be automatically stored in his skill column. If Sean wants to unlock quickly, he has to invest a lot of proficiency points for it; but if he doesn't want to invest in proficiency points, then he can also find suitable data through his own exploration and understanding to unlock This skill. It's like calming the soul.

And in Sean's next plan. He is going to focus on research. In other words, the unlocked skills are Snow Wind, Dance of Breaking Wind, and See Through. In addition to seeing through this ability, Sean is ready to invest in proficiency points to activate directly, he has found a correct training method for the dance of broken wind, and perhaps through continuous training, he can truly master this ability without consuming any proficiency points.

Of course, that is based on solving the current problem.

In fact, when he stepped into the golden realm, Sean gained ten proficiency points. It's just that he has not used these ten proficiency points, but kept them. in case for need. The main purpose of his coming to the Wildlands this time is not simply to chat with those big tribes, but to break through his own limits and step into the realm of high-level gold, by then he will be able to master 20 proficiency points.

With these twenty proficiency points, Sean will naturally be much more convenient in future actions.

These are his previous plans.

But in this dungeon right now, it is obvious that Sean is not allowed to think and plan so leisurely. So when he saw the guard warrior move, Sean didn't hesitate to put the six proficiency points into the see-through, completely unlocking this ability.

【See through: See through the opponent's attack intention instantly, 10 attack determination trajectories. Passive / Tier 4 / Special, level 1/10, proficiency 1/5. 】

When the skill was activated, Sean finally understood why people who mastered this skill at the beginning said that this passive skill is a big consumer of proficiency. As a special Tier 4 skill, it is not difficult to activate it, but the investment in proficiency points can be said to be very amazing later, because just the first level to the second level requires four proficiency points.

And so on, the second level to the third level is five, the third level to the fourth level is six, so if you want to fully upgrade this skill, you need to invest a total of 72 proficiency points! In this comparison, seeing through this skill really requires more proficiency points than sword skills such as Dance of Breaking Wind, Sorrow of Snow Wind, or even Requiem and Soul Rejuvenation. It is truly a well-deserved consumer of proficiency points!

But now that they are all activated, and Sean also thinks that this passive ability is very helpful for the next battle, so of course he won't have any hesitation, and he simply put the last four proficiency points into it.

In an instant, there were some changes in the passive skill [See Through], but this change was just as Sean expected.

【See through: See through the opponent's attack intention in an instant, 9 attack determination trajectories. Passive / Tier 4 / Special, level 2/10, proficiency 1/6. 】

After all the battle preparations were made, Sean finally nodded slightly.

Fight, the next moment it will break out completely.

I saw Sean and Harding quickly rushed out from left to right, trying to circle around behind the guarding soldier. This action really attracted the attention of the guard soldiers. It glanced at Sean, and then quickly turned its attention to Harding, because it felt that Harding brought it more threatening, and the aura was also better than Shaw. En is stronger.

However, it did not immediately turn to face Harding, but protects it with its left hand shield, and adjusts the direction of its body slightly following Harding's movement, but it always keeps the direction of his right spear facing Xiao. Enhe is the enemy of the frontal mouth. In this state, even if it is flanked by Harding and Sean. It can still easily block the combined attack of Harding and Sean, after all, its attacking and defensive sides have always firmly locked Sean and Harding.

When he saw this scene, Rorty Kabas knew it. It's time to play by yourself.

In the process of rushing to the energy room, Sean had already mentioned his tactical ideas to everyone, so there is no need for Sean to emphasize anything at this time. Everyone knows what he is in this battle. In his position, he also clearly understands when and what he should do. Perhaps before this, their cooperation could not be regarded as tacit understanding, but when Sean split all the workload. As long as everyone can make sure that they can do their part well, then this kind of tacit understanding in combat cooperation can naturally be simulated.

And when Rorty Kabas moved. The situation on the court immediately fell into a subtle change.

Obviously, this guard warrior can block attacks in two directions at the same time, but it absolutely cannot block attacks in three directions at the same time, especially behind it is its weakness. So it was almost the moment when Rorty Kabas moved. The guard soldier began to retreat.

It's not retreating fast. It can even be said to be very slow, just a step-by-step retreat. But it is precisely because of this cautious retreat that no flaws have been exposed at all. In this case, the fight is undoubtedly a frontal assault, and if the guarding fighter is strong enough, if it is a frontal assault. It is naturally very unfavorable for Sean and others.

The original player team that challenged the guard warrior, with two main players, still lost nine people. Only finally managed to solve this boss. Of course, being unfamiliar with the boss' attack skills at the beginning is naturally also a problem. But even in this way, he still sacrificed nine companions before taking down the boss, which also illustrates the strength of the guard warrior from another aspect.

However, because there was already a perfect battle plan, the retreat of the guards fell into Sean's expectations at this time.

Standing in front of her and not moving, Cecilia began to chant a spell in a low voice.

Since the bloodline awakened, Cecilia seldom chanted spells in battle. Most of the time, she relied on Solomon's Eighteenth Flame to fight. Because these eighteen flame seedlings are just like some kind of extension of her body, and they can be changed arbitrarily according to the situation she imagined, and the power is also large enough, so naturally Cecilia is no longer needed to use Other magic to attack.

But the current situation is a little different.

Because of the existence of abundant magical power, even the most powerful magic will not have much effect on the guard warrior. The greater the power, the more magical power Cecilia needs to consume. This is for her. A burden. Therefore, Sean's battle plan for Cecilia is to win by quantity-relying on a large amount of low-level magic to bombard the guard warrior in all directions, in addition to forcing it to be unable to move at will, it can also act as a magic shield. Consuming effect.

Of course, if the magic cast is too low, it will naturally not have much effect on the consumption of the magic shield.

As a boss, the magic shield of the guarding warrior will also recover slowly. Although the recovery speed is not fast, if the consumption speed has not recovered fast, then it is better not to take action. Therefore, Cecilia's greatest strategic value in this battle is to perform non-stop magical attacks on the guard soldiers while restricting their mobility.

Perceiving that the magic power in the air suddenly added something strange, the guard warrior obviously stopped slightly.

Before the Twilight Era, the so-called magic of the entire Marvel Continent was attacked with pure magic power, and there was no such thing as an element. As the pet race of the gods, the mermaid tribe must also inherit the various magic skills they learned from the gods. This is somewhat similar to the magic net structure before the fall of the magic goddess, so in this energy room Here, some are only the purest magic power, and will not be mixed with other foreign objects.

But Cecilia's magic is to communicate the power from the plane of the fire element, and then combine her own magic and spiritual power to attack, so in this extremely pure magic space, the appearance of the fire element will naturally cause similar Because of the feeling of foreign body intrusion. Even after Cecilia communicated with the plane of the fire element, she suddenly had a very subtle illusion. It seemed that if she performed magic here, the power might be higher than the outside world.

Without much hesitation, when the spell was finished, the entire space immediately became hot and dry, and countless sparks shot out in the air, and then they gathered into two lines of fire and surrounded Cecilia's side. , And gradually turned into two extremely huge fire pythons. These two fire pythons look like real pythons. Whether they are flat heads, triangular eyes, or scales on the body, every detail is shockingly real. It seems that these are two red-red whole bodies. Anacondas— If they were not for the burning flames and strong elemental auras on their bodies, no one would think that these two fire anacondas were summoned creatures.

At least, no one has ever been able to summon such a lifelike elemental creature.

Chapter 175: .Cooperate

As soon as the two fire pythons appeared, under Cecilia's mind control, they immediately pounced on the guard soldiers.

Originally, the distance between the two is very far, less to say, there is a distance of two hundred meters.

But when the two coiled fire pythons leaped out fiercely, the distance of two hundred meters disappeared in an instant, and they landed just a few meters away from the guards. Immediately afterwards, the two fire pythons raised their heads, and as soon as Snake Xinzi spit out, two fireballs spit out from his mouth. This is bigger than a basketball. The fireball screamed over a distance of ten meters and directly blasted. On the body of the guard soldier.

But, just as Sean said before.

A golden brilliance instantly radiated from the guard warrior's body, and then turned into a golden semi-circular light shield similar to a protective shield, which protected the guard warrior inside. The two fireballs hit it like this, making two violent explosive roars, but as the flames flowed down like mercury, the semi-circular aperture on the guard soldier did not lose the slightest amount.

And what's even more surprising is that when the flames bursting by these two fireballs disappeared, the golden aperture completely disappeared at the same time. But at this moment, the two red lights on the pupils of the guard soldier's helmet suddenly lit up.

Obviously, the attacks of the two elemental fire pythons made him aware of a slight threat.

So it no longer retreated, but straightened its spear, and rushed towards one of the fire pythons.

The guard warrior did not perform a push-through charge, but just ran with his legs open like a normal person. But as it ran, there was a continuous roar on the ground, and even some shaking. If you look closely. It can be seen that every step of the guard soldier falls, a very weak wave of air will spread out like a ripple, and it is this wave of air that causes the ground to shake strongly.

This is also the effect brought by the magical power.

Magic shock.

For the general warrior class, the effect of this magical shock is not obvious, and it seems to be useless. But for professions such as magicians, the effect of this kind of magic shock will cause the magic in the magician's body to oscillate, resulting in a decrease in the magician's casting speed. There are even situations such as interruption of casting.

It can be said that in terms of targeting magicians, the merman tribe has fully considered all possibilities. But it's a pity. Although these two fire pythons made the guard warriors feel that there were traces of magic power on their bodies, they mistakenly thought they were magicians, but effects such as magic shocks were completely unable to have an effect on them. Therefore, these two fire pythons, like Rorty Kabas and others, are also unaffected in the slightest. It still opened her mouth and spit out a fireball to continue the bombardment.

But this time. The guard soldiers did not sit still.

It saw the path where one of the fireballs flew, and the spear in the right hand suddenly stabbed the fireball directly into the air. But in the face of another fireball, the guard warrior did not have time to explode in advance, but as long as the effect of the abundant magic power did not disappear, such a magical attack would naturally have no effect on it. It's just that in order to cope with the bombardment of this fireball, the guard soldiers really had to stop moving, which is probably its only weakness.

In fact. If it weren't for the huge consumption of this magic, Cecilia would definitely not only summon two fire pythons out.

is purely in terms of magic level. It is a seven-level magic, which has almost reached Cecilia's casting limit. However, as a spell that should belong to the summoning type, once the elemental creatures appear in the material world, they will continue to absorb the spirit and magic power of the caster as nourishment to maintain their own existence in the material world, so this The process is no better than before, it just consumes a certain amount of magic and mental power and ends after casting magic.

As long as these two fire pythons continue to exist, Cecilia must continuously supply her own magic and spiritual power to maintain their existence. Of course, because of the spiritual connection, if these two summoned creatures were killed, it would also have greater mental damage to Cecilia.

After blocked the second fireball, the guard soldier rushed forward again, this time its speed increased a bit, and the spear in his right hand also had a stronger light shining. Obviously, it intends to destroy a fire python with a powerful attack to reduce the continuous consumption of its own magic shield.

But, how can Rorty Kabas let this mechanism puppet be so compliant.

Originally, he was not far away from this mechanism puppet. When the mechanism puppet ran, Roti Kabas also didn't stand still. Just like Sean's previous battle plan, the two fire pythons, as the early hate attractors, will naturally cause the guard soldiers to counterattack. After all, Sean and others have no master, so they can only let two elemental creatures. To be a hatred and a second hatred, as long as the critical point of this hatred is stuck, then there is no need to worry about the frenzied counterattack of the guard warrior in the early stage.

So when he saw that the guard soldier's spear was about to stab the fire python on the left, Rotti Kabas's almost late spear hit the guard soldier's spear.

Under the collision of the two guns, a strange popping sound suddenly exploded.

Under the strong airflow, Rorty Kabas couldn't help but narrowed his eyes slightly. It was obvious that the strong airflow stimulation made him a little uncomfortable. However, after blocking this blow, Rorty Kabas was also on the guards' hatred list, but if calculated according to Sean's speculation, then Rorty Kabas should now have three feuds, which means it's not enough. Let the guard soldiers completely divert the attack target.

Sure enough!

The guard warrior only glanced at Rorty Kabas, but did not turn his head to attack immediately. Instead, he stepped back a little bit away from Rorty Kabas, turned back and rushed towards the fire python on the left. At this point, Rorty Kabas has already seen it very clearly. The fire python on the left must be the target of a hatred mentioned by Shaun before - although Rorty Kabas is not clear about the so-called hatred, two hatred, and three. What exactly does Qiu mean, but he is very clear about the tactical plan made by Sean.

So, when the guard warrior stepped back and tried to bypass Rorty Kabas, Rorty Kabas took another step forward at the same time, which happened to get the mechanism puppet within his attack range. Then it was the result of another two-shot collision, but after this collision attack, the time the guards looked at Rorty Kabas took a second longer, and it seemed as if they had already considered Rorty Kabas. The key target is the same.

It's just that this mechanism puppet. The guard soldier had just retracted the spear, and the fire python on the right was suddenly dropped by a fireball.

Compared to Rorty Kabas, the two fire pythons are in the sequence of first and second feuds respectively, and the fire python on the left did not continue to attack, plus Roti Kabas' continuous shots to guard the soldiers. The hatred value for this fire python has naturally dropped a lot. At this time, it happened that the fire python on the right rose to the first hatred target in an instant, so the guard soldier immediately turned around and stabbed a shot at the fire python without thinking about it.

This time, probably because of the irritation caused by the failure of successive attacks, the shot that the guards stabbed is no longer just an ordinary attack, but an attack skill that contains a strong yellow brilliance.

Rorty Kabas obviously did not expect that the guards would suddenly change the way of fighting. This is something that Sean did not say before, so the shot of Rorty Kabas, who was somewhat accustomed to parry, was still just ordinary. Raise the gun and **** it. When Rorty Kabas found that the situation was not good and wanted to change his move, it was obviously too late. So this time the result of the confrontation was that Rorty Kabas backed a few steps with a snoring, and a trace of blood overflowed from the corner of his mouth.

And one shot failed to completely intercept the attack of the guard soldier, although it has weakened at least half of its power, but when the shot stabs the fire python on the right, it still stabbed a shocking damage on its body. Hole-as big as a football! If it wasn't for this fire python that was just a creature composed of magic and fire elements, and had no so-called internal organs or pain, I am afraid that this python could be completely killed by just one blow.

But even so, Cecilia groaned equally.

However, with the fragile physique of the magician, it is inferior to a figure like Rorty Kabas, who has almost reached the limit of his physical body. Therefore, after just a sigh, Cecilia was not as simple as bleeding from the corners of her mouth, but simply squirted out a mouthful of blood. His face was instantly pale as paper, and even the two fire pythons were suddenly a little fuzzy. , As if Cecilia could not sustain the existence of these two fire pythons.

However, at this moment, two barrels of light fell on Cecilia and Rorty Kabas one after another. In an instant, the physical condition of the two of them was restored immediately, and the pale color on Cecilia's face instantly became ruddy. If it were not for the extremely bright blood on the ground, I am afraid that no one could believe that Cecilia had just Was injured.

These two pillars of light are naturally due to Hitley.

The name of the first saint of the Goddess of Life Church is naturally not a boast!

It's just that, at this moment, the guarding soldier's gaze has shifted from the two fire pythons to Hitley's. Looking at the red glow at the position of its pupils, it was very clear that it had already regarded Hitley as its first hatred target.

The next moment, it completely ignored the two fire pythons and Rorty Kabas, but stepped forward and launched a charge towards Hitley!

Chapter 176: .The Heart of Mermaid 【Seeking monthly ticket】

Hitley ot it!

Although Sean had also considered that such a situation would happen, this scene appeared so soon, naturally, it made Sean and the others feel a bit wrong. At least, this is somewhat different from the good tactical plan explained before. However, this can not be said to be Hitley's fault, only that this is a situation that no one expected, at least according to the plan, Hitley should not come in handy so quickly.

After Cecilia's state was restored, the fire python on the right was immediately replenished with sufficient magic power, and the huge hole on his body was instantly repaired.

Facing the guard soldiers who had already started to run at this time, the two fire pythons spit out two fireballs again in an attempt to intercept the mechanism puppet. Unexpectedly, it was originally just a running guard warrior, but suddenly a large amount of flame was ejected from behind. With the help of this impulsive thrust, he successfully avoided the result of two fireballs hitting himself.

Push sprint!

Since Sean has explained before, the guard warrior can be regarded as an upgraded version of the Silver Knight, so skills like this are naturally possessed.

As soon as it pushed forward, it passed a distance of tens of meters in an instant, and it was less than a hundred meters away from Cecilia and Hitley. This distance is naturally not particularly dangerous for them, but in this vast and empty room without any debris, with their professional system of one mage and one priest, it is impossible to run this way. There is no place for a mechanism puppet to even dodge. Update 176. The Heart of Mermaid and Rorty Kabas. It was also because the starting time was a step slower just now, and the guard warrior launched the propulsion charge, so it was too late to intercept. Even though he had turned around and ran immediately. However, even if the problem of distance is at his speed, even if he finally catches up, this mechanism puppet must have killed Hitley.

As for Sean and Harding, the two did not expect such a result at all. They are still attacking behind according to the previously formulated combat plan. At this time, even if the two of them ran wildly, the result would not be any better than Rorty Kabas.

Lanster looked at the guard soldiers rushing towards him and others, his eyes flickered a little, but in the end he seemed to have made some determination. His left hand shook suddenly, and the longbow on his wrist that could be folded into a dagger-like longbow immediately returned to its bow shape. Only this time. Lanster did not draw an arrow to draw a bow, only stretched out his right hand to pull the bowstring away.

When the bowstring was pulled for half a month, Lanster's face became a little flushed, as if he was holding his breath hard. And wait until the bowstring is pulled to the full moon. Lanster's face was already red as if it were an apple, and that appearance felt as if the whole person would explode at any time. Update 176. The heart of the mermaid is at this moment, but there is a silver dotted line emerging on Lanster's left hand holding the bow and on the right hand of the drawstring, as if Lanster pulled apart only the bowstring, but An invisible arrow has already been placed on the bow, and this is the moment when this invisible arrow appears. Almost the moment the silver thread appeared, the silver thread began to thicken and grow, and then turned into a bright silver light.

The dazzling light makes almost everyone look at him.

Even guard soldiers. I couldn't help but slowed down a little bit, and glanced sideways at the silver light.

Shaun's heart shook, he had already guessed what the bow in Lanster's hand was.

The heart of the mermaid.

It is clear. Lanster had disguised this bow before, otherwise Sean would recognize the true name of this bow when he first saw Lanster. In this way, Sean could suddenly understand why Lanster would rather give up the guitar than the longbow when he was hunted down by the slave trappers. This is not to say that the longbow can give Lanster Bring protection.

For the bard. What they really value is the musical instrument they carry, not the weapon. For them. Musical instruments are their survival tool. If they lose their weapons, they can't protect themselves at best, but if they don't have musical instruments, their survival will be a problem. And many bards' musical instruments are bought or built with a lot of money. It's more casual, just use it.

There is also a mermaid heart that is extremely important to the mermaid clan, which makes Lanster rather abandon the instrument than this longbow.

After all, the heart of a mermaid is a manifestation of the love of the elders of the mermaid clan for the younger generation. It can be a word, an experience, a weapon or even anything else. As long as it is taught by the elders at the end of the day, it can be regarded as the heart of a mermaid. This is also a way of inheritance of the mermaid, because "The "heart of the mermaid" will be passed on from generation to generation, and each generation of inheritance will make the "heart of the mermaid" more perfect and perfect.

At this time, as Lanster really played the role of this longbow, the camouflage on the longbow melted as quickly as Baixue met the sun. In an instant, this longbow revealed its true colors.

It has a dazzling luster like blue crystal-just like the elves like hollow carvings, the mermaid also have a stubborn preference for blue. And on the blue crystal-like luster, gold and silver are used as the depiction lines to create a beautiful, simple and magnificent ornate pattern. The handshaking part of the long bow is even a piece now on the miracle continent. It is completely impossible to see the bones of the Beiyang Poseidon.

When he saw the true face of this longbow, Sean knew the name of this longbow.

The Heart of Mermaid!

This longbow is also called the Heart of the Mermaid, and its inheritance history can even be traced back to the end of the twilight era. No one knows who forged the longbow, let alone its origin and inheritance, but since the period of Atlantis, the most prosperous merman tribe, this longbow has been associated with the mermaid crown, the northern trident, and the sea god. One of the five sacred artifacts of the Mermaid Empire.

In the game, someone had got this longbow. So Sean naturally knows some relevant data about this longbow.

A mythical weapon that can become an artifact in just one step.

But it is precisely because of this, so at this moment, Sean is also sure that he was in the game. Lanster was definitely killed. And in this life, if it weren't for the mistakes made by himself and others, I am afraid that Lanster's results would not be much better than the previous life.

Thinking of this, Sean suddenly thought of several other things, but it was obviously not the time to consider these things. What they needed most now was how to save Hitley. Once Hitley is killed here. Not to mention that this will not be of any benefit to their subsequent land reclamation, and I am afraid that they will be in a state of friendship directly with the Church of the Goddess of Life. After all, Hitley is the chief saint of the Church of the Goddess of Life.

Even if this is a problem child, once Hitley dies, Life Church will never sit idly by.

At this time, Lanster had already pulled the mermaid's heart to the extreme. When he saw the guard warrior glance at him, Lanster let go of the bow as if he could no longer hold the pressure.

Only hear a "hum" trembling.

The energy room, which had become a bit hot because of the two fire pythons summoned by Cecilia, was now under the sound of the bowstring trembling, instantly as if synchronized into the cold winter, everyone hit the same. Shivering. Even the two fire pythons were humanely showing a bit of malaise at this time, the flames burning on their bodies were almost extinguished, and they were even covered with a thin layer of frost.

And the silver light shining from the heart of the mermaid has crossed a distance of nearly 100 meters in the blink of an eye. It really hits the guard soldiers like an aurora.

Faced with this arrow, the guard soldier obviously had no time to evade, and was directly hit by the front.

but. It was different from the picture that everyone imagined to get the guard warrior in one shot.

The golden light mask will once again appear in the air, completely covering the guard soldiers in it, forming a layer of protection for them.

Seeing this scene, Sean knew that the arrow shot by Lanster's mermaid heart was obviously also a magical attack method. Originally, Xiao En and others did not sense any signs of elemental fluctuations. I thought it was a pure physical attack method, but I didn't expect it to ignore the fact that the magic before the Twilight Era had no elements at all. The passive shields of guarding fighters will only produce automatic defense mechanisms against all magical things. So this arrow is undoubtedly a magic attack.

However, in terms of effect alone, the power of this arrow is also amazing.

Because when the silver light blasted on the mask, the cold icy breath broke out completely in an instant. It took almost a second or two. The mask on the guarding soldier was within everyone's field of vision. It was completely frozen into a large block of ice at a speed visible to the naked eye, which looked like an Eskimo igloo. .

But soon, cracks began to appear in this igloo.

In the next second, with a crisp sound, the entire igloo shattered into countless pieces of fine ice and fell one after another, raising a white mist.

When the white mist cleared, the guard warrior in front of everyone seemed to be no different from before, but the sharp-eyed people had already discovered that the color of the guard warrior seemed to be dimmed and no longer the same as before. As bright and dazzling. And seeing this scene, there was a burst of ecstasy in Xiao En's heart, because he knew that the magical effect on the guard soldier had completely disappeared.

Although in the energy room, the magic power is very abundant, and the magic power supply center of the entire dungeon has not stopped, so as long as the charge is completed, the guard warrior will still enter the state of magic power again. But this process, let alone say, will take 30 minutes. If the guards cannot be solved within this time, then Xiao En feels that this time the wasteland reclamation is really unnecessary to continue.

However, perhaps because Lanster's arrow was powerful and cruel enough, the guards had already turned their attention to Lanster's body, and turned around and started charging towards Lanster. Obviously, this time becoming the first hatred target of the guard soldiers, it is no longer Hitley.

Lanster, who was already pale as if he was in a state of being in a state of disengagement, was immediately frightened as he watched the guards rushing towards him. Not to mention that his own strength is only in the Silver Realm. Even in terms of the ability to fight frontally, he is no better than Cecilia and Hitley. It can even be said that they are not as good as these two. Woolen cloth. After all, before facing those slave trappers who were also high-ranking silver, his mobile shooting was not at all threatening at all.

As for Sean, Harding, and Rorty Kabas, there is still a little distance from the guards at this time. If you want to catch up to rescue, unless you can slow the pace of the guards one step further.

At this critical juncture, Hina, who had been standing still, suddenly let out a loud shout, then waved the refined spear in her hand and rushed towards the guard soldier in a resolute attitude. This time the shot was obviously calculated by Xina, so her attack angle happened to be a blind spot where the guards had no time to dodge, in order to grasp the timing of the attack. Hina seems to have more and more the style of Rorty Kabas.

But it's a pity that Hina's strength is ultimately her weakness.

So this sudden blow. It failed to cause any damage to the guard soldiers, and even the so-called defensive effect was not achieved. However, this seemingly meaningless blow was for the three people who were desperately chasing after Sean and others. But it was undoubtedly an act of sending charcoal in the snow, because Hina charged and stabbed this shot, which happened to be on the right side of the guard battle, and directly interrupted the guard soldier's charge towards Lanster.

After        hit her hand, Hina knew that her strength was inadequate, so she did not succeed, but immediately retreated.

But for the guards, Lanster was certainly its first hatred target, but when someone attacked by its side. It is also impossible to remain indifferent. So almost at the moment Xina retreated, the guards' spears had already swept out and hit Xina heavily-even at this critical moment. Hina raised her hand and erected her spear to block the sweep of the guard soldiers, but the power gap between the two sides was too great, and the material of the weapon also had a lot of problems.

As a result, the spear in Hina's hand was naturally swept off, and then the body of the knight's gun hit Hina's petite ribs, and Hina was completely blown out.

Just look at this heavy blow. Hina's ribs may have to be broken several times, and she is still in the air. A big mouthful of blood has been sprayed out, and it seems that he has no idea of life or death.

Fortunately, among those present there was a saint like Hitley.

It can almost be said that the conditional launch is normal. At the moment Xina's body was swept away, two consecutive bright beams of light fell on Xina's body at the same time.

The first is the Holy Light of Life. Its function is to quickly heal Hina's injury. Then, as long as it doesn't move or cause secondary trauma, Hina's broken bone will be automatically connected again within four hours, even Even the internal organ damage caused by the fracture of the ribs will be automatically repaired. This healing process can ensure that Hina will be fully recovered in the next twelve hours, and will be no different from normal people.

The second way is the healing technique. This is an enhanced variant of the healing technique. It is a magic technique unique to the holy son and maiden of the Church of Life, and its effect is naturally stronger than that of the healing technique. The performance in the game is naturally to restore a lot of health, but in reality, it stimulates the activity of cells, which not only stops bleeding, but also accelerates the recovery and healing of wounds, and even promotes hematopoietic function.

It was this holy technique that healed Rorty Kabas and Cecilia before.

The light of these two divine arts fell on Xina who was still in mid-air, and her injury had been cured by six or seven points. Seeing Hina falling from the air, Cecilia hurried out to catch him, avoiding the secondary trauma that Hina's fall might cause.

With such a mobile medicine library as Hitley, as long as it is not killed on the spot, it is basically impossible to have any casualties. Of course, the premise is that Hitley is not killed by the enemy in the first time.

It's just that Hitley's existence value is unparalleled.

But her taunting skills, I am afraid that it is also completely full at the same time.

Because of the emergence of the two divine arts, the guard warrior once again turned his attention to Hitley's body, completely letting go of Lanster.

Only this time, before the guards attacked Hitley, the attack of Sean and the others finally arrived.

Chapter 177: .Transfer stage [seeking monthly pass]

The siege of Sean, Harding, and Rorty Kabas happened to form a card position for the guards, which forced the guards to continue to attack Hitley, they must bypass the Sean trio. Or repel them.

But for the three people with rich combat experience, it is naturally impossible for the guards to succeed so easily.

Rorty Kabas has walked around to the front of the guard soldier. The giant knight's gun in his hand is like a light branch. As he swings, it turns into a black gun shadow, madly moving towards the guard soldier. Pricked out of his body constantly.

Dark spear skills. The rain strikes and kills.

Before the relic of the riding **** was found, the lost knight's main combat skills were only one set, that is, the dark spear skills. Apart from that, it was impossible to learn any other combat skills. However, although there is only such a set of combat skills, it contains powerful single attack skills and can be applied to a wide range of group-wide skills. It is a set of combat skills with a very wide coverage.

Moreover, once the relic of the riding **** is found and the complete inheritance is obtained, then the dark spear skills will automatically be upgraded to more powerful lost combat skills. With the unique mounts of the lost knight, this will undoubtedly make the lost knight's combat effectiveness simply geometric Times of growth. Of course, many lost knights may not be able to find the relics of the riding gods and obtain official inheritance throughout their lives, but even the dark spear skills are enough for them to deal with any difficulties.

At this time, among the dense shadows of the guns, a series of collisions clinked together.

Even if the guard warrior has a tower shield that can cover the whole body, Rorty Kabas's attack is not static, but when he shoots and assassinates, he will move around in a small area. As the guard warrior shrank behind the tower shield, the sight was blocked, so it couldn't tell the coverage of Rorty Kabas's attack at all, and naturally it would be attacked by the disadvantage of resisting it.

Only when the body is attacked due to unfavorable defense, the guard warrior will move his body slightly and use the tower shield to defend. However, along with the movement of the guards, Rorty Kabas is also moving. It is impossible to completely block Rorty Kabas's attack. For this reason, the guard soldiers had to devote some attention to the attack of Rorty Kabas.

In this way, he is Roti Kabas, who is in the third hatred, naturally relying on this to quickly increase the hatred value, but it is obviously worse for the guard soldiers to completely transfer the hatred target. As a result of this, Harding and Sean are the most important thing, and they are also not idle, so in terms of the increase in hatred value, Rorty Kabas will naturally not be able to beat the dust.

However, in the face of the thick-skinned guard warriors, Harding's combat ability is obviously somewhat restrained.

Perhaps dealing with biological enemies-whether it is a monster or a human, demihuman, humanoid, etc., the combat effectiveness of the blood warrior can definitely be described as sturdy. However, in the face of the "Gundam" cast entirely from special materials, Harding lacks weapon assistance and appears to be a little powerless. Often his attacks only reach the effect of barely breaking the defense, and how much damage he wants to leave. , There will be powerless.

On the contrary, relying on the sharpness of the black king, Sean successfully attracted the frequent care of the guards.

When Sean once again swung his sword to make a mark on the right arm of the guard warrior, the guard warrior also slammed his gun at Sean suddenly.

...At this moment, in the scope of Sean's field of vision, it seemed that the whole world was placed in slow motion, and in an instant, there were countless dense dotted lines emerging from the retina. But these dotted lines quickly entangled with each other, turning into a thicker silver-white halo, passing from left to right in front of Sean, and Sean just glanced at him and found that he had more than half of his body. Being in this halo, Dang Even stepped back immediately, letting go of the halo that passed through her body.

Almost when Sean retired, the knight's gun in the hand of the guard soldier swept past, but its attack range happened to be the silver-white halo area.

After evading the shot, Sean again prepared to attack with a sword.

But at this time, countless dense dotted lines appeared in Sean's retina again. But this time, the fluctuations of these dotted lines are extremely strong, and they are not condensed into a halo like before, but are constantly evolving, but it can be clearly seen that the number of these dotted lines is continuously merging and decreasing. Soon, a dashed line turned into a solid red line, locked at the center of Sean's eyebrows. The appearance of this red light was a bit like being locked by an infrared sight.

However, this solid red line is not all.

Immediately afterwards, several red solid lines began to appear one by one, aiming at several vital parts of Xiao En's body, but they were all concentrated in the chest and abdomen.

No matter how Sean moves, these red solid lines can be firmly locked on Sean's body.

When all the dotted lines converge and merge, there will be a total of fifteen solid red lines locked on Sean's body. It's just that these red solid lines are obviously not fixed, but still fluctuate, and gradually some of the red lines that are close to each other are merged into one. In an instant, it changed from fifteen solid red lines to nine lines. Except for one that was locked at the center of Xiao En's brow, the other eight lines were aimed at other parts of Xiao En's body.

See through!

This is the impact and change that Sean will have after activating the passive skill of See Through.

Although the level of detection is still relatively low, it is impossible to accurately predict the enemy's attack position, but if the level is burned up over time, the result will be completely different. But even at this moment, seeing through the benefits brought by, still can reduce a lot of pressure for Sean, and make Sean's attention more concentrated. Although it is impossible to determine the exact attack position, Sean can use some action deception to limit the opponent's attack position.

Seeing the guard warrior's right hand shrinking slightly, it was obviously a stabbing attacking action, and Sean immediately paused, then swayed and turned sideways in a small area at an extremely fast speed, so that most of his body was stuck. The attack blind spot of the guard soldier.

Sure enough, when Sean used the angle and perspective to attack the card position, the right hand of the guard soldier was slightly raised, and the tip of the knight's gun in his hand was also slightly raised. From this perspective, if it is to attack, then Sean has only one position that can be attacked, so he almost doesn't even look at it and swings the sword without hesitation.

Only hearing a muffled noise, Xiao En felt a sharp pain from his tiger's mouth, and even his entire right hand was completely paralyzed.

This is the first time that Sean has hard-wired the attack of the guard soldier. In an instant, he knew how big the power gap between himself and the guard soldier was. Just a pair of fights almost made him almost lose his combat effectiveness. If he resisted head-on, he might be directly crushed by the opponent's power value. Rorty Kabas is probably the only one who can fight it head-on without losing the wind.

...Although Harding probably won't lag too much behind in power, because of the armor on the guards, Harding can't help the opponent either.

Fought head-on once, and after having an accurate judgment, Sean had a more accurate idea of his plan. Although the current situation is changing a bit fast, even because Hitley's ot twice caused some deviations in the combat position from the imagination, but at least from the current results, everything is still back to normal, as long as they continue to maintain this. The way of siege, if the position is stuck to prevent the guard soldiers from moving randomly, then the battle can still be continued.

"Cecilia." Sean shouted in a deep voice.

Cecilia who hugged Hina immediately understood, but after reaching out and snapping her fingers, the two fire pythons immediately disappeared completely in this energy room.

The two fire pythons were originally summoned in order to consume the magic shield of the guard soldiers, but because Lanster's accidental shot actually broke the magic shield, the continued existence of the two fire pythons is meaningless. . However, when he saw Lanster taking action, Sean did not have the slightest idea of being happy, because if he had known Lanster had this ability, then Sean would have worked out a more reasonable battle at the beginning of the battle. Plan, not like it is now.

In a sense, Sean actually dislikes this kind of hiding and holding people.

But since the matter has reached this point, there is no way to say anything. What needs to be done is to keep everything under control.

After removing the existence of the two fire pythons, Cecilia immediately took out a bottle of magic potion, raised her head and drank it in one gulp. In an instant, Cecilia recovered most of the magic power consumed, and then she immediately summoned Solomon's Eighteenth Flame with a wave of her hand. With her hand pointed forward, the eighteen flame seedlings suspended in mid-air immediately turned into ten. Eight fireballs, and then blasted towards the guard soldiers.

This time, without the protection of the magic shield, the guard warrior naturally loses its automatic immunity to magical attacks. And when he felt the attack of these eighteen fireballs, the guard soldiers obviously knew how powerful these fireballs were, because the red light on its pupils became unusually bright. But at this time, even if it wanted to hold a shield to resist it, Rorty Kabas on one side obviously would not let it go. The dense gun shadows were like a storm without stopping.

Just look at the fact that Rorty Kabas can smash a bronze knight with brute force before. Even if the manufacturing materials of the guard warrior are better than the bronze knight, this will only increase the strength of Rorty Kabas. , So if you really let go of your hand, it can still be deformed.

This also caused the guard soldiers to also dare not relax their defense against Rorty Kabas.

At this time, he watched eighteen fireballs blast towards him, the red light on the guard soldier's pupils instantly turned blue, and as soon as his left hand was released, he wanted to abandon the shield and retreat.

But at this time, Sean appeared strangely behind the guard warrior. Then he suddenly waved the Black King in his hand, and a black sword gas burst out of the air, slashing behind the guard warrior. His figure about to retreat was interrupted.

After one blow, Sean immediately withdrew from him.

At this time, Solomon's Eighteenth Heavy Flame is approaching. With the impact and coverage of the explosion, if you run slowly, you will definitely be involved.

So for a time, Rorty Kabas and Harding also retreated immediately at the same time.

In the next second, Solomon's Eighteenth Heavy Flame blasted on the guards without fail.

...The flames rising up into the sky completely engulfed this mechanism puppet in an instant.

In the blazing flames, only a vague black shadow can be seen faintly shaking. Obviously, this shadow intends to break out of the burning range of these flames. After all, with the power of Solomon's Eighteen Heavy Flames, even if the armor of the guard warrior was made of first-class materials, Cecilia, who had awakened the Phoenix blood, could not help burning like this. Just adhering to the principle of taking advantage of your illness to kill you, Sean will not miss such a good opportunity.

Furthermore, at this time the impact of the bombing has also passed, and the burning has already been burned. As long as you avoid being caught by the tongue of fire, there will be no danger at all.

So if you don't take this opportunity to attack, once you lose such an advantage, then the guard soldiers in the p2 stage will be difficult to deal with. So it can cause more damage at this stage, and it will be easier to deal with when it comes to the p2 stage. Before the battle, Sean had already emphasized this point, so when he saw Sean rushing towards the circle of flame, Rorty Kabas did not hesitate to launch an attack.

Only Harding, because of the distance of the battle, he can only hover around the edge of the circle of fire, and he cannot launch crazy attacks like Sean and Rorty Kabas.

And Sean and Rorty Kabas, at this time, don't care about the three seven twenty one, anyway, they are attacking the flames rising up into the sky without a brain, and they don't care about whether their attack can hit or not. For Sean, as long as this organ puppet was confined to this circle of fire, the flames continuously ignited by Solomon's Eighteenth Flame would be enough to cause enough damage to him.

Of course, if it can be burned directly, then it would be better.

Just this point, it is indeed a bit idiotic to talk about dreams.

Because after about a minute, the guard warrior who was suppressed completely unable to move finally smashed out the tower shield in his hand unbearably. Facing this surprise attack, Rorty Kabas didn't notice for a while, so he was hit by the tower shield, and the whole person flew upside down. Fortunately, the injury was not serious, probably because of the stun effect attached to the flying shield attack. Dizzy.

After throwing the shield, the cunning guard warrior did not choose the position where Rorty Kabas lost his defense as the breakthrough point, but chose the position of Harding as the breakthrough point. A dark shadow suddenly rushed out, and after smashing Harding back, it suddenly refracted in the middle of the way, swept to the side, and kept a distance of tens of meters from everyone. Even if Sean had already known such a result, the result of his interception was only to slash the guard warrior again, and could not completely leave it behind.

From this point, Sean knew that after discarding the burden of the tower shield, the speed of the guards was definitely increased.

Looking at the mechanism puppet guarding warrior standing in the same place, his left hand was already empty at this time, only his right hand was still holding the exaggerated knight gun, no matter how you looked at it, it looked exactly like Rorty Kabas. The only difference is probably that Rorty Kabas is not wearing armor, and this mechanism puppet is wearing armor-of course, if it is burned by Solomon's eighteenth flame at this time, it can almost be broken into iron. If it's an armor.

Seeing this scene, Sean sighed helplessly. He knew that his conjecture was correct. If he could really withstand the pressure just now and suppress this organ puppet within the circle of fire abruptly, maybe he could really skip the p2 stage and explode this organ puppet directly.

But at this time, it shouldn't be too difficult to deal with.

At least Sean believes that even now Harding can easily cause a sufficient amount of damage to him even with a shot, instead of just barely causing a small amount of damage as before. This change is very impressive for the output of the entire team, because in other words, it is equivalent to saying that Harding also has the ability to kill the guard warrior-to guard the warrior now this pair is almost about to be melted. Appearance, obviously can't stop Harding's claw attack at all.

With Harding's combat strength and experience, as long as he catches the opportunity, he will definitely not hesitate to take out the core of the magic circuit of this organ puppet.

So from now on, this guard warrior needs to pay attention to not just Shaun and Rotty Kabas. Even Cecilia also has the ability to kill this mechanism puppet. After all, the current guard warriors do not have the magic shield that they have produced since they are full of magic power to avoid magic damage.

However, for Xiao En and others, they also need to pay attention to the counterattack from this institution puppet. The guard warrior.

The guard warrior who enters the p2 stage, because after discarding the tower shield that slows down its speed, its movement speed and attack speed will be significantly improved. Especially after freeing up the left hand, the attack actions it can perform have become more, including Shaun's most feared magic gun burst and shattering gun. These two skills are the big destroyers. Recruit skills.

Chapter 178: .wreck

The guard warrior who looked hideous and terrifying, was standing with a gun at this time. If you ignore its shape, it looks like a lost knight. At this time, Sean couldn't help but have a guess: Could it be said that the inheritance of the lost knight was passed down by the holy elves? In the game, he was very clear about the combat effectiveness of this class because he had fought against the lost knight. However, he had obtained the lost knight with the complete inheritance of the relic of the riding god. .

But regardless of whether the template of the guard warrior is the lost knight or not, at this time it has entered the p2 stage and they cannot tolerate the slightest distraction.

Sean frowned and waved his hand at the same time, and shouted: "Everyone is scattered!... Hitley, don't heal anymore, suppress your conditioned reflex to me. Unless I let you take action, otherwise. How far are you hiding."

Hitley, who was stunned, heard what Sean said, she nodded first, and then asked with some confusion: "Then where should I... hide?"

Without waiting for Sean to reply, the guard warrior suddenly launched a push charge and charged towards Cecilia. In the battle just now, because Cecilia's Solomon's Eighteenth Flame had been burning, his hatred value was naturally the highest at this time. Seeing the guard soldier rushing towards Cecilia in one breath, Xiao En Dang dashed forward and rushed forward, and at the same time screamed: "Follow it, as long as you don't stand in front of it. You can do it anywhere!... ..Try to stay within your magical range."

At the same time as saying this, Sean had already rushed in front of the guards, and the Black King in his hand was cut off without hesitation.

The black sword wind is clearly visible.

same. Because the interception was in front of the guard warrior, nine solid red lines also appeared in Sean's retina. This is the guard warrior's attack position. Only this time, Sean couldn't rely on such methods as the card's perspective to forcibly avoid the attack of the guard soldier, but it was also impossible for him to retreat, because once he left. Then it is tantamount to completely exposing Cecilia to the attack range of the guards.

The black sword wind whizzed out in the air.

The red brilliance in the guard warrior's pupils flashed suddenly, apparently realizing that Sean's sword wind was extremely harmful. So immediately interrupted the push charge. His right foot slammed on the ground, and the ground swayed slightly. This move may have a great impact on people like Hina, but for people like Sean, Rorty Kabas, and Harding. For others, it has no effect. So when the guard soldier stabs with a gun. The Black King in Sean's hand immediately swung up because he couldn't determine the specific attack position, he could only use this stupid way to deal with it. Of course, with this method, it will inevitably increase the consumption of various physical abilities, including the consumption of mental power, because as long as there is a slight deviation, the spear of the guarding soldier will directly hit Sean's body, and both sides The power gap value that is enough to produce a crushing effect, even if Sean is not dead, it will definitely be the end of a serious injury.

The black sword wind hits him before the attack of the guard warrior.

Perhaps because the guard soldier's condition at this time is already seriously bad. Therefore, after Sean's sword wind smashed into the guarding warrior's body, it actually caused an instant lag and retreat, and it was also continuously shining with a large amount of electric sparks. The guard soldier should have stabbed Sean. Naturally, he died midway because of this, but as long as the knight's gun deviated from the position where it had been brushed from the black king, Xiao En's heart suddenly tightened.

Because of the shot just now, even if he swung his sword to resist it, it was absolutely impossible to block it. On the contrary, it was very likely to be attacked by the brute force of the guard warrior. It hurts myself.

So after this sword has been made, Xiao En did not hesitate to retreat.

After all, facing a boss like guard warrior. Positive resistance is not his strong suit. The work of acting as the master should have been taken care of by Rorty Kabas, but at this time he was shot and flew out by the tower shield of the guarding warrior. It would take some time to get back, so Sean came to deal with it.

As Sean retreated, Harding immediately stepped forward to take over Sean's position and once again blocked the guards. At this time, Hitley and Lanster had also led Hina to bypass the front of the guard soldier. After all, Cecilia was still standing in front of the guard soldier because of the hatred issue. The distance to be pulled apart is at least 50 meters.

This is already outside the attack range of the magic gun burst.

The guard warrior who was shot backwards with a sword by Sean, after stopping this action, it found that its front target had been replaced by Harding. But it doesn't make any difference to it, so I just shoot it out without thinking about it. This time its action is exactly the same as that of Rorty Kabas's previous attacks. Basically, it is fast, hard, and fast. These three points were just displayed with the power of an organ puppet, and there were a few more whistling winds in the air.

If it is an ordinary person, or if Sean is in the front at this time, then I am afraid that even if it can be blocked, it will seem quite embarrassing.

But Harding, as a companion who often attacked each other along with Rorty Kabas, he had already had his own experience in dealing with this shot. It was just because of the silver knight's loss before that, when Harding was able to deal with it, he fully activated the armor fused in the flesh and blood.

The black and red armor instantly emerged from Harding's body.

Almost just a blink of an eye, Harding standing in front of everyone has become a warrior wearing a heavy armor. This armor is not terribly hideous, but when Harding wears it thoroughly, he suddenly exudes a very strong **** aura, even a bit richer than the murderous aura exuded by Sean and the others. This is obviously the aura that a real one can only possess when a thousand people slaughtered a thousand people.

And those guys who died in Harding's hands. I am afraid that the strength will not be too low, otherwise it is impossible to have such a strong and strong murderous aura.

Completely ignoring the shot at him, Harding's left hand suddenly grabbed it. Shoot directly on the body of this knight's gun, letting the spear and his hand armor produce a large amount of sparks. And he himself approached quickly as well, completely adopting a close combat stance-before that, because the armor on the guards was too defensive, Harding's attacks could hardly leave any substance. Sexual damage, so they can only engage in stray combat.

But now, the defense of the guard soldiers has dropped to the lowest point. Then Harding naturally had no reason to back down.

For the demons, retreat is not in their life dictionary at all.

After the bully approached. Harding's right hand was clenched into a fist, and a fist hit the guard's helmet.

followed by the second punch, third punch, fourth punch...

Harding's shots were completely punchy. With his fully activated armor state, coupled with his own powerful strength, if he were replaced by an ordinary person, his head would have been blown out long ago. It was the non-living existence of the guard warrior that was able to carry Harding so many punches without being blown out of his head. However, under Harding's repeated bombardment, no matter how powerful the organ puppets were, they couldn't hold up, not to mention the fact that they were almost melted by the flames of Cecilia.

When Harding blasted the sixth punch, the helmet part of the guard warrior was finally completely deformed, and an obvious dent almost squeezed the red glow at the position of one of his pupils.

Co is at this moment. A shock wave similar to a sonic boom burst out of the guard soldier's body. Harding was unprepared, the whole person was completely repelled a few steps, but when he wanted to step forward again. The guard soldier took a leap, and the red light on his pupils stared at Harding firmly, and he held the spear in his right hand and lifted it sideways. At this moment, the huge air current visible to the naked eye suddenly began to converge on the guard soldier. , Like a whirlpool, quickly gathered on the guards' spears.

See this scene. Xiao En immediately shouted in a deep voice: "Hading step back!"

A strong light gleamed on the guard soldier, and it swiftly flowed to the huge knight's gun.

"Rorty!"

The spears of the guards have exuded a bright golden light.

at this time. Rorty Kabas finally came over to replace Harding's position.

His left hand completely ignored the sharp thorns on Harding's right shoulder armor, and suddenly pressed down—it was only surprising, but when Rorty Kabas's left hand was pressed up, the sharp thorns on Harding's right shoulder looked like it was the melted Shirayuki that shrank and shortened quickly, and then retracted back into Harding's body. Even the shoulder armor on his right shoulder disappeared under the hold of Rorty Kabas's left hand—when Rorty Kabas's left hand was pressed. After falling on Harding's shoulder, he pulled Harding back with a sudden pull.

And Rorty Kabas's right hand, holding the knight's gun, slammed out in the direction of the guarding soldier.

At the same time, the long spear in the hand of the guard soldier pierced at the same time at the position where Rorty Kabas and Harding were.

"Splitting Gun!"

An angry shout came from Rorty Kabas.

The next moment, the knight guns of Rorty Kabas and the guards slammed up and stabled wildly towards each other. Although the movements of the two sides are very fast, but the strange thing is that this time it is not densely suspended in the air, as if time has stopped. Whenever the two sides stab a shot, it is located between Rorty Kabas and the guards. In the tiny space between the two fighters, the ghost of a knight's gun appeared.

In just a few seconds, this space was occupied by dozens of knight's guns, including Rorty Kabas, some guarding soldiers, and even the shadows that seemed to overlap with two knight guns.

But Sean who has seen the video is very clear that this thing is not a shadow, but a real killer move. The reason why this kind of shadow appears at this time is entirely due to the characteristics of the Shattering Spear skill—it comes with a special effect similar to the rules of time and space. Once it is caught, it will be completely unable to move. Only after the skill is fully utilized, this The time flow rate in the film space will return to normal.

But at that time, it was equivalent to all the attacks hit at the same time. In other words, all attacks will burst out damage in an instant, and it still ignores the range of defense damage—how many people fall into this space. Then everyone will have to endure the outbreak of this round of attacks, and its damage value will not be shared, this is the real scary thing about the Shattering Gun.

in the game. Only the lost knight can learn this skill.

'S full name is [Dark Spear Skill. Air Breaking Shattering], but most people will call it the Shattering Gun, and of course only those who know the secret of the lost knight's inheritance will call it this way. And Rorty Kabas knows the terrible part of this trick, so when Sean mentions it, his face will become very ugly, because even if he accidentally falls into it. Then he also has to withstand all the attacks of the guard soldiers.

Basically, no one has ever survived this trick.

The guard soldier still wielded his gun tirelessly. Naturally, there were more and more gun shadows belonging to the guard soldiers on the scene. But Rorty Kabas, after swinging about thirty shots, his face was obviously pale, and even his movements started to slow down. Obviously, this has reached its limit. If it continues, Rorty Kabas' threat will be completely wiped out, and even he will not be able to escape the attack of this shattering gun.

Because the Shattering Gun has another feature, that is, the more gun shadows it launches, the more powerful it will be when the final move is made.

Rotti Kabas has basically fallen behind the guards in the number of shots at this time, but if it is just such a gap of three or four shots, it is not enough to cause him to suffer too much injury. But if this continues, or if Rorty Kabas launches a unified attack in advance, then he will suffer a great loss. So at this moment. Rorty Kabas put himself in a difficult situation, so he had to grit his teeth anyway.

But at this moment, Sean had already walked around behind the guard soldier from the other side. Harding has sharp eyes. He immediately knew what Sean was planning to do, so he also quickly walked around behind the guards at the same time, preparing to join forces with Sean to carry out a sneak attack.

In the past, this method is naturally meaningless.

Because the guards have excellent defensive performance, they are not afraid of this kind of sneak attack, and they usually use the shattering gun. The guard soldiers will definitely bring as many enemies as possible into the attack range. It's just that today's situation is obviously different. First, Lanster broke the magic shield, and then Cecilia burned the undefeated golden body. At this time, he was also restrained by Rorty Kabas, the lost knight who also knows how to break the spear. Therefore, the guards behind the soldiers can Said it is completely undefended.

If he didn't take this opportunity to attack, then Sean would not be able to claim to be a commander.

If Harding and Sean's circumnavigation made the guards feel a sense of crisis, thus speeding up the frequency of their shots, then when Cecilia called out Solomon's Eighteenth Heavy Flame again, the aura exuded. At that time, what the guard soldiers felt was not a sense of crisis, but a real threat. The red light in his eyes began to flash irregularly and frequently, and the speed was getting faster and faster. If you look carefully, you can find that the hand of the guard soldier holding the knight's gun is getting tighter at this time.

It is not surprising if these various reactions appear on a person, after all, any creature will have its own emotions.

appeared on a mechanism puppet, which is really shocking!

It's just this moment, but no one has noticed these strange places.

"Shoot!" Xiao En, who walked around his back, snorted in a deep voice, and the black king in his hand burst into black smoke in an instant.

The dark atmosphere emanating from the extremely dense black smoke made Harding look sideways, but now he also knew that the battle had reached the most critical point, so after a quick glance, he took the first shot to the guards. The back suddenly attacked.

Finger sword, claw tap, tiger fist.

Harding's shot was just like an attack by a martial arts master: first, his palms and four fingers pierced the weak part of the guard's back, and a faint crack was pierced in it with only one blow; then the four fingers were slightly weakened. Qu, the finger surface smoothly hit the weak crack, and the crack spread and split up like a spider web; when the phalanx knuckles knocked on it, Harding immediately turned his palm into a fist, concentrating all his strength. Above this crack in the web.

In an instant, this crack was completely sunken in, as if the windshield of a car was smashed by a heavy object, and all the broken armor pieces were barely sticking.

After _____, Harding was not greedy for merit, and immediately withdrew from him.

With this blow, it is enough to interrupt the attacking action of the guard warrior. Rorty Kabas, who was already close to ten shots less than the guards, naturally took this opportunity to make up for it immediately. And when the guard soldiers finally recovered and were ready to continue their shots. Sean's attacks followed one after another.

Seeing that the dark energy bar on his status bar has emerged to 30%, Sean is not in the mood to pay attention to the others. He has almost condensed all his insights and learning during the recent period into this sword, and then Swing forward. If Cecilia had the intention to observe at this time, then she could see that Sean's sword had exerted at least two-thirds of the power of the law line, which was only a short distance from the so-called "Holy" level. step.

When all the black breath suddenly poured into the back of the guard warrior. In an instant, the crack that Harding had left on his body was completely shattered. The sword energy formed by the violent dark energy scattered into the body of the guard warrior. It began to wreak havoc in its magic circuit system, but if you want to completely destroy the guards with this blow, then obviously the power is still a little bit close.

If it were a sword at the sanctuary level, it would be almost the same.

only. This battle was destined not to fight alone from the very beginning, so even if the combination of Sean and Harding could not destroy this mechanism puppet, there were still other companions on this trip.

Like Rorty Kabas, he has never let go of such a great opportunity.

When the guards stopped again, Rorty Kabas couldn't wait to stop his guns, and the densely packed gun shadows seemed to be pulled back to Rorty Kabas's knight guns. In a blink of an eye, this knight's gun swelled to a palpitating level, and even the pupils of the guard soldiers appeared extremely bright. It's just that Rorty Kabas didn't have the mind to observe these, he just shot directly and directly passed through the sky of gun shadows of the guards. Then point it on the body of the guard soldier.

In the next second, all the gun shadows condensed on the Rorty Kabas' knight's gun seemed to have found some catharsis, and they all burst out in a dense and dense manner.

Like a storm from the void, all the gun shadows madly bombarded the guards, and even the gun shadows he stabbed himself were driven by the attack of Rorty Kabas, and they turned into one handle after another. The long spear stabbed at the guarding soldier. But it's just a second or two. The front body of the entire mechanism puppet had been blasted to pieces, and electric sparks splashed frantically on the guards. Many places can even see the magical circuits hidden deep inside.

At this moment, the red glow of the guarding soldier's pupils was already weakened and almost extinguished.

However, it is just a matter of extinguishing. As long as the red light is not extinguished, then it means that its core circuit is still in operation. Perhaps it is broken, but it also has a certain threat.

It's just that this mechanism puppet has no possibility of continuing to fight.

Because of Solomon's Eighteenth Flame from Cecilia, this time it did not change into eighteen fireballs, but from a very tricky and strange angle, it penetrated into the body of the guard soldier from various holes. Immediately afterwards, these eighteen flames suddenly swelled and burst out, and they actually caused an explosion directly in the body of the guard soldier.

With the power of Solomon's Eighteenth Flame, it is no need to think about it.

The roar of 18 consecutive explosions sounded continuously, and then in everyone's sight, this organ puppet that threatened everyone's life just now was completely blown into countless scattered fragments, many of which were even complete. Melted into a piece of golden iron juice. Even if the most brilliant craftsman of the Mermaid clan appeared here, it would be absolutely impossible to put this puppet back to its original state.

But surprisingly, the knight's spear in the hands of this puppet was not destroyed in the explosion, and there was not even a trace of damage.

In addition to the knight's gun that is still intact, there are two other things left by this mechanism puppet in the explosion. They are the tower shield that smashed Roti Kabas, and a quiet one at this time. A red diamond-shaped crystal suspended in mid-air.

Chapter 179: . Valuable spoils

The red diamond crystal suspended in mid-air is the power switch that closes the entire energy room.

In this regard, Sean is no stranger.

Of course Lanster is no stranger.

Different from the imagined situation, when Sean reached out to take the diamond-shaped crystal, he could feel a warm energy slowly radiating from the crystal. The energy inside is not so violent or strong, but it feels like a neutralizer-like feeling for Sean. Just holding it in his hand, Sean has roughly guessed the diamond-shaped crystal. Specific efficacy.

After that, Sean threw the crystal to Lanster: "Stop the operation of the magic center and leave it to you to operate it. No problem, right? Many words."

"Of course." Lanster nodded, and then he quickly ran to the middle of the energy room.

The area of the entire energy room is about 500 square meters, and the surrounding walls and ceiling are all reddish brown, yes? none? mistaken? .s. It seems to be made of red copper—although in the magic circuit system, red copper does have a relatively high magical effect, but Sean still does not think that the walls of this room are paved with red copper. After all, in ancient times, there were many materials that were far more magical than red copper. In this red-brown space, there are no other decorations, it looks very simple.

However, the magic circle on the ground will almost completely occupy the entire ground.

The engraving of the entire magic circle is very complicated, and the engraving method is still used to engrave the floor, and then cover it with a transparent crystal plate. When the magic circle is constantly running. The floor of the energy room emits a soft blue light. If you observe carefully, you can find that there is a liquid-like substance flowing slowly in the groove under the crystal plate.

These. It is the magic power that has been completely liquefied, and it can be seen that the magic power of this energy room is huge.

The position where the guard soldier was before was the core eye of the entire magic circle. When it was still, it was half kneeling on the ground with a shield and vertical spear. The position of the bottom of the knight's gun was inserted into the groove in the eye. At this time, after the guards were blown up, the groove was naturally completely exposed, judging from its shape and size. Obviously, it was just right for the diamond-shaped crystal to be inserted.

This is not a dangerous move.

So Lanster didn't hesitate at all. After receiving the crystal from Sean, he immediately ran over. Then the crystal was inserted into the groove, and then rotated. It's like inserting the key into the lock hole and opening the door lock.

Along with a slight shaking sound, a ring suddenly bounced from the place where it was inserted into the crystal groove. Then there was a round platform slowly rising from the ground. Maybe it's because this round platform hasn't risen for a long time. A large amount of dust shook off the raised round platform, and Lanster let out a violent cough. And with the rise of the round table, the blue liquid in the grooves under the crystal plate no longer flowed, and then, like a virus infection, the red light quickly replaced from the position of the magic circle's eyes. With these blue rays, the entire magic circle changed from blue to red in an instant.

When the entire magic circle turned red, Xiao En and others could clearly feel that the entire dungeon seemed to have undergone some changes.

The magic of the energy room is still strong at this time. However, it is losing at a speed that everyone can perceive, and I am afraid that these magic powers will be completely exhausted in three minutes at most. Once the magic power supply of the energy room is lost. Then all the organ traps that rely on the entire dungeon's magic power formation to operate will be paralyzed, and even other organ puppets will enter low energy consumption mode due to lack of magic power. This also means that these organ puppets will not be able to Then use too powerful combat skills.

These benefits are obvious.

But at this time, there are even greater benefits that are clearly placed in front of everyone.

The rising round platform-or cylinder, is inlaid with sixteen blue spars the size of an adult's fist. These spars look like magnified and elongated diamonds in shape, except that each spar is exactly the same in size, cut, and shape. This is obviously not a natural product, but a man-made one. Out of the product.

It's just that almost everyone, including Sean and Cecilia, when they saw these spars, their breathing became involuntarily rapid.

Infinite Magic Stone.

This is the name of these blue spars.

As the name suggests, the so-called infinity means naturally infinite, and the meaning of infinite magic stones means that the magic power that these magic stones can provide is endless. Of course, based on Sean's long experience in the game, he certainly knows that these infinite magic stones are not truly endless, just because in the process of manual polishing, they can automatically absorb the free magic in the air. The magic circle, that's why this almost endless illusion appeared.

To put it simply, these so-called infinite magic stones possess the ability similar to self-sufficiency. Of course, if the magic power that needs to be consumed is extremely large, then the magic power in these magic stones will still be used up, but the infinite magic stone will not be like other magic stones or cores. Once the magic power is exhausted, it will turn into ash. Just take the infinite magic stone and put it in a place with strong magic power for a few years, then the magic power in the infinite magic stone will be restored again.

Using sixteen infinite magic stones as the magic power supply for the entire energy room is indeed a very generous act, because in today's era, infinite magic stones can be said to be the existence of priceless treasures. Moreover, the mermaid who designed this dungeon has already considered it from the beginning. The magic circle they set up also has the effect of magic limitation. As long as all the magic is limited to the energy room, then the entire energy room can be in magic. The full-bodied state, in this way, can also restore these infinite magic stones, and the magic power of the infinite magic stones will not be consumed too fast because the mana required by the dungeon is too large, which will cause the energy room to lose its function.

have to say. The mermaid's consideration is still very thorough.

It's just that Sean didn't understand a little bit. Why didn't the people who pioneered this copy of the wasteland take away these infinite magic stones? To know. The infinite magic stone is really priceless, let alone sixteen, even one is enough to make people crazy-the northern lone tower and the lunatic magicians who overlook the spire, once sold an infinite magic stone for one The acquisition of Legendary Equipment, and this acquisition news is still valid.

Sixteen infinite magic stones, that is sixteen legendary equipment!

Even the worst legendary equipment can sell millions of pan-continental gold coins, let alone. And even if you don't change it for legendary equipment. The infinite magic stone also has a very wide range of uses, especially when the future magical technology is developed, the emergence of the magical spar has subverted everyone's cognition. As the predecessor of the magic spar, the value of the infinite magic stone is naturally higher.

So Sean really couldn't figure out at this time, why did the people who opened up wasteland said that this copy was a loss-making business at all.

Before everyone recovered, Xiao En had already walked to this round table, and then reached out to get the Infinite Magic Stone.

But when Sean's hand just touched these infinite magic stones. He was stunned first. Then I came to understand why the people who opened up wasteland said that. Because these infinite magic stones are actually completely inlaid on it, even if Sean exhausts the strength of the milk, he cannot pry these infinite magic stones off. It is conceivable that there are system protection commands in the game. These infinite magic stones There must be a command on the magic stone that "cannot be disassembled, cannot be picked up".

Seeing Xiao En's behavior, the few people who were still absent next to him came to their senses, and immediately surrounded them and began to dig these infinite magic stones with their hands.

Then soon, everyone's expressions became disappointed.

The feeling of entering Baoshan but returning empty-handed is really unhappy.

Shaun frowned. He didn't believe that there was really no way to get these infinite magic stones. You must know that this world is the real world, not the game world that is limited by various data and systems. So Xiao En thought there was definitely a way to get all these infinite magic stones.

After a little hesitation, Sean took out the black king.

But this time, instead of swinging his sword to attack the round table, he directly used the black king as a lock picking tool, piercing the inlaid position of the infinite magic stone with the tip of the sword, and then began to exert force little by little. The depth and pry up. At this time, Harding and Rorty Kabas looked at Sean's gazes, and they suddenly became a little more subtle. They hadn't seen anyone who was greedy for money, but they really hadn't seen a miser like Sean. .

However, what surprised the two of them is still to come.

When Sean used the Black King as a crowbar, he also injected his own grudge, which made the Black King sharper. Of course, the rising speed of Sean's dark energy bar was also not slow. Just when Rorty Kabas was about to persuade Sean to give up this kind of useless work, there was a "ding", and then in everyone's stunned eyes, Sean really pryed off an infinite magic stone!

"Haha!" Sean reached out and picked up the diamond that looked like a fist, with extreme excitement on his face, "Sure enough!"

Immediately afterwards, despite the dumbfounded appearance of the surroundings, Xiao En immediately started to pry up the second piece. And because of the success of the first piece, the second infinite magic stone was easily pried out by Sean. Now everyone knows that these infinite magic stones are not as strong as they appear on the surface. If you have the position, you can still get all of this wealth in your pocket.

It's just that Rorty Kabas looked at his knight gun, and then decisively gave up the idea of hands-on; and after Harding also looked at his paws, he silently chose to sit aside. Only Lanster was pulling out a meat cleaver and trying to pry these infinite magic stones imitating Sean's appearance. Of course, the result is completely predictable, because the tip of the knife broke from the round table because of excessive force. He bounced back, almost cutting off Lanster's ears.

So, the group had to sit aside and watch Sean's solo performance-he had already pryed off the seventh infinite magic stone.

I am afraid that it will not be long before these sixteen infinite magic stones will be completely included in Sean's bag.

And it turns out that this time is shorter than they thought, because when Sean pried the ninth piece. He has completely mastered the skill of prying stones. Starting from the tenth block, it was almost as long as Shaun inserted the Black King in, and then applied a little force. The infinite magic stone that is priceless in the eyes of the world will accurately fall into Xiao En's hands, and then he will directly receive it into the storage ring, and others will not even have the opportunity to take a second look.

Not long after, Sean completely scoured the sixteen infinite magic stones.

Looking at the sixteen cavities exposed on the round platform, everyone was speechless, especially when they saw that Xiao En's face was unsatisfactory at this time, they couldn't help but want to complain.

But Shaun doesn't care about other people's thoughts. At this time, he was happy about his decision to explore this dungeon: it seems that this decision is really correct!

Of course, if you want to say that you are satisfied in this way, it is still impossible. So soon. Sean's gaze fell on the knight's spear and the tower shield that the guard soldier was holding. Let's not say whether the tower shield is a good thing, but the shape is not inferior to that of the knight gun in the hand of Rorty Kabas, but it was completely preserved in the Solomon XVIII heavy flame bombing by Cecilia. Yes, this also means that this stuff is also not simple.

Watching Sean walk towards the knight's gun. The other people's brows also frowned slightly. But Rorty Kabas took the lead: "Don't you think that stuff is also a treasure? A lot of words."

"Is not it?". Sean asked rhetorically.

"How could it be?" Rorty Kabas grinned. "This knight gun is a specially built weapon. In addition to being strong and durable, it doesn't have any other strengths, and not everyone can wield it. Weapons."

"That's not necessarily." Sean pointed at Hina who was in a coma, "If that guy really followed you to learn gun skills, then she would be a lost knight like you, so I should find her too. The weapon is ready. Don't you think it's too late if you wait until there is a need to rebuild it?".

"Hey." Rorty Kabas burst out laughing. "I said Lord Sean, since you know the inheritance of the lost knight, then you don't know that it is impossible for a surface person like you to become the lost knight."

"You thought it was impossible for me to pry down those infinite magic stones." Sean said lightly, and immediately made Rorty Kabas a bit speechless, "You have to believe that there is nothing in this world. There is the word 'miracle.'... And, maybe I was worried too much, but I always feel that Hina can no longer be regarded as a pure surface human."

Hearing Shaun's words, others might not understand it, but Cecilia started to think.

The contract signed by Hina and the Crypt Cold Spider Queen is a reciprocal contract, which is a contract between humans and dragons in the past—both parties to the contract can obtain each other's power, knowledge, and many other abilities. Once this kind of contract is signed, it cannot be changed for life, and if one of the parties dies, the other party will also die, but with this restriction, the lives of both parties also have a shared dichotomy.

But the most important thing is that as a human being on the other side of the contractor, the body will change slightly with the other side of the contractor.

One of the most important points is the changes in blood.

In other words, if Hina finally succeeds in breaking through her own shackles, then a new bloodline will be born in this world: the bloodline of the Crypt Cold Spider. Although the success rate is infinitely close to zero, as Sean said, what is impossible in this world full of miracles?

Sean bends down to pick up the knight's gun, the heaviness of the start, even at this time, Sean feels a little strenuous, so he knows that Yishina's current strength is not to say that it is swinging, even if it is held in his hand. It's impossible, because this weapon is too heavy, or Xie You can barely use it when she stepped into the realm of upper silver. If you really want to control this weapon, I'm afraid you still have to step into the golden realm.

Then, Sean opened the real eye and began to check the knight gun.

However, he did not expect that this look would have caused Sean to have the idea of picking up the treasure.

[Broken Thunder, legend, hardness 450, piercing 236, strength +75, endurance -10, agility -20, spear skill +3, spear skill damage +250%, a certain chance to trigger the special effect "dominant and arrogant": this time The attack will cause a damage judgment of strength *5; the attached skill "Magic Gun Burst": Whenever encounters a magic attack, it can absorb the magic power in it. It will be activated when the energy bar reserve is full, facing a straight line of 30 meters facing a diameter of 5 Attack targets within meters; equipment requirements: strength 145, endurance 120. Equipment limitations: Cavaliers, Berserkers. Equipment impact: The use of this equipment will cause 3 times the fatigue consumption of mounts with a load force of 200 or less. ]

[Item description: This knight gun has a long history of spreading. It is so long as no one remembers who made it, but the only certainty is that it is obviously not a product of the mermaid style. However, after careful observation, you finally came to a conclusion: this is at least a product of the same generation as the mermaid clan, because you found traces of the magic circle that obviously do not belong to this era, but it is specific You can't tell whether it is the twilight age or the ashes age. ]

Chapter 180: .strengthen

Sean did not expect that he defeated this mechanism puppet. The guard warrior could actually get so many benefits.

Not to mention the legendary knight gun, only the sixteen infinite magic stones already gave Sean the idea of a worthwhile trip. Even, he has fully considered the usage of these sixteen infinite magic stones—two pieces can be exchanged for two pieces of legendary equipment: Cecilia has always had no weapons, although she is because of her blood. Because of the power awakening, even without the bonus of the magic wand, she has a strong combat power, but if she is given another magic wand, then the increase in her strength is undoubtedly undoubted.

As for the other piece of equipment, Sean had prepared it for Bannock. He hopes to be able to change to a set of equipment that is more suitable for him, even if it is not legendary. The most important thing is that the equipment for Bannock must be formed.

As William's personal guard, if Bannock's strength cannot be improved as quickly as possible, then his value will be greatly lost, and at the same time, he will be completely wasted of the Saint of Barriers—no—wrong—.{}{}{}{s}. Ride this profession. At least Sean has been in this world for three or four years, but Bannock is the only full-time defender among the people he has seen so far, and he is also an extremely rare barrier Paladin, so if it is not a last resort, Sean does not want to abandon such a talent. As for the remaining fourteen pieces, Sean intends to wait for the magic technology to fully flourish and get a few magic cannons back. With these infinite magic stones, not only will the power be greater, but there is no longer any need to worry about magic. The problem of high consumption. And Sean even had some expectations. The mermaid treasure seemed to be much stronger than the current water monster treasure in terms of scale and guard. Maybe the following is a plural-type energy room, if this is the case, then he has really posted it.

So Sean quickly picked up his mentality. Lead everyone to move on.

This time their goal is still the mechanism puppet. Greatsword knight.

Just as he left the energy room, Sean also took away the tower shield that stunned Roty Kabas.

Originally the tower shield, Sean wanted to take it back to Bannock or Anno for temporary use. After all, even good things like Broken Thunder are out, so this tower shield might not be a common product.

It's just that imagination is beautiful, but reality is quite unfriendly.

Because this tower shield is just an ordinary shield, at best it is well-made. It barely reaches a high-quality grade. As far as the Void Collar has begun to replace the impact shield, a high-quality tower shield like this is worthless, and Sean didn't bother to take this thing. However, considering that there might be a use later, he would put it in the storage ring together with the legendary knight gun [Broken Thunder]. However, Sean was not overwhelmed with the rewards of this trip.

Because he knows very well that this kind of gain is completely different from the situation in the original game. At least in the game. Just because there is system protection. Therefore, players who open up wasteland can't remove these infinite magic stones-but this is also a long time later in the game before they know the role of infinite magic stones. But in this real world, because there is no systematic protection measures, so Sean has obtained huge benefits instead.

It's just that, Sean is still a little surprised about Broken Thunder.

The Guardian Warrior is ranked relatively high in the Guardian series, and has excellent performance, but it can be randomly assigned to a knight's gun like Broken Thunder. Sean would not believe it anyway. So there is only one answer left. This knight gun must be prepared for a special type of mechanism puppet. In the end, it fell on this guard warrior by mistake, and it made Sean cheaper.

Of course, this is also very likely to be related to the different ways of fighting and destroying this mechanism puppet by Sean and others.

Like in the game, when the guard warrior was solved, it was not so thorough. Because of the health bar, even if the core of the magic circuit is not directly destroyed, as long as the health is wiped out, it is still considered as a kill. It's just that the spoils are definitely not going to be so good. It is said that the dropped things are very ordinary, and there is not even a "big explosion". This made the leader of the wasteland reclamation group angry and scolded his mother. After all, after losing so many manpower Without the slightest gain, this is naturally not a happy thing.

No longer thinking about this question, Sean walked to Hina's side, and then asked: "How is Hina's situation?"

"The signs of life are very stable, and there will be no sequelae." Hitley is doing the final check for Hina, "But..."

Every clergyman in the Church of Life is also involved in medical skills. It may not be said that they are very proficient, but in some cases, they can still have some treatments if they have a little knowledge of one or two. It is helpful, and not all clergy of the Church of Life are like Hitley, who have almost infinite divine grace and can perform divine arts at will. In many cases, once the divine arts are exhausted, they need to use their own medical knowledge. Come for treatment.

"But what?" Sean was a little anxious. If Hina had something wrong, he really couldn't explain it to Alfred.

"Hina's signs of life are a bit too active." Hitley said in a deep voice, her voice showing a bit of seriousness, "If it is a normal person, it usually takes about four hours to recover from an injury like this. And in the next twelve hours, you must try to avoid further injuries, otherwise it is easy to get worse. But Hina...she only took half an hour, the broken bones and broken internal organs in her body were already there. It's completely repaired, this kind of regenerative ability...unlike human beings."

This was the first time Sean saw Hitley, who had always been timid, showed a solemn frown.

"Will it affect?". Sean asked nervously.

"I'm not sure." Hitley shook her head, "I have never encountered this situation before. However, Hina's injury just now, under my treatment, seemed to accelerate a certain growth rate in her body. ...I'm not sure if this is a good thing or a bad thing, but based on the current situation, it is probably a good thing, because she will be able to fully recover in two hours at most and continue fighting."

"Are you worried about the sequelae?" Sean asked.

Hitley did not reply, just nodded.

"It should be fine." Sean thought for a while. There is nothing special about the Crypt Cold Spider Queen. The greatest value of that beast is to produce a large number of spider eggs, but the Crypt Cold Spider alone is useless. , Only when he cooperates with the Crypt Demon can the greatest combat value be exerted. At the beginning, Sean's purpose was to control the Crypt Cold Spider King and later produced a large number of Crypt Cold Spiders for himself, and captured a Crypt Demon by the way. Human races to cultivate the power of the underground world.

"En." Hitley nodded slightly. Since Sean said it was all right, she didn't say anything.

So everyone simply rested in this energy room. Hina was not awake anyway, and it was impossible for them to leave Hina here and continue to explore the dungeon. After all, this is a real world, not a game world. You can also rely on communication methods such as secret chat to connect with each other. Fortunately, Sean hoarded a lot of food and water before entering the wilderness, so resting here at this time would not be in trouble because of lack of food.

About an hour or two later, Hina woke up.

But when Hina opened her eyes, Sean saw a slight change in Hina's pupils, and it seemed that there was a purple halo at the edge of her pupils. It's just that the appearance and disappearance of this layer of halo are very fast, so even Sean is not sure if he is dazzled, but what he can be sure is that Hina seems to have become a little different after waking up. .

Obviously, the aura exuding from the body is much stronger, and there is a little more of the smell of Warcraft.

So Xiao En knew that when Xina was injured just now, the crypt spider queen far under the Black Swan Castle transmitted her own power through the spiritual connection with Xina. With the strong physique of Warcraft, as long as it is not fatal, it is absolutely impossible to die. However, after the local cave spider queen and Hina signed a reciprocal contract, if Hina died, the spider would also not survive, so it is natural for it. A large amount of energy will be generated to strengthen Hina's body for physical transformation and recovery.

In fact, even without the cryptic spider queen's action, Hina would not be able to die, after all, Hitley had already begun treatment in the first place. Only in this way, Hitley's shots naturally became speeding up Hina's body transformation process. This is where Hitley said Hina was not like a human being.

Because the moment Hina was seriously injured and unconscious, she was no longer a pure human, at least now she has half the bloodline of the Crypt Spider Queen.

"All right? A lot of words." After seeing Hina sober, Sean, who had already guessed the truth, didn't say anything, but handed Hina the food the first time.

Just after a round of body strengthening and transformation, Xina naturally felt abnormally hungry at this time. After she nodded slightly to Xiao En and said that she was okay, she started to eat. At this time, Hina did not have the old lady's attitude of chewing and eating slowly, but resolved the food in front of her at an extremely fast speed. After she had eaten and drank enough, she had completely resolved the group of people. Approximately three days of rations.

Shaun and Cecilia glanced at each other, and both saw shock in each other's eyes.

This kind of digestion speed is truly comparable to that of Warcraft. And it is very possible that the bloodline of the Crypt Cold Spider Queen can really be transformed into pure bloodline power in Xina. By then, there will be a brand new bloodline power in the world, but I don't know this kind of bloodline power. Which level can be ranked. But in any case, Hina's achievements in the future are destined not to stop at gold, but can definitely break through the sanctuary, and the worst is the lower sanctuary.