

Lord of War Vol 3-271

Chapter 271: .Vengeance [seeking monthly pass to guarantee the end]

Void Duchy is composed of seven territories.

Panda collar, originally a baron-scale territory, is a north-south territory that is a long and narrow strip on the territory. Its tail is also the north, which is the entrance and exit of the wild land: the Gorge Rift. And on the right side of the long and narrow territory of Pandan, which is the East, it borders the Baron Yadby, the Earl of Berbice, and the Viscount Chiraff in turn. The Chiraff's territory is slightly larger, but because This territory is relatively barren, so it was designated as a Viscount.

From the map, the topography of the Viscount Chiraff is more similar to that of the Panda Baron, and it is longer than the Baron Yedby and the Earl of Berbice.

Continuing east at the Baron Yedby and Viscount Berbice, it is the Marquis Dinkine. This territory has very rich resources and is now one of the most important economic sources of the entire Void Duchy. The various taxes in this territory account for two-fifths of the entire Void Duchy's income.

And from the Baron Yederby to the south, they are the Viscount Daye and the Viscount Soan.

The territory of Viscount Day is like an ellipse. Its front half, that is, the half on the left, borders the Baronian Banda, and the second half, that is, the half on the right, is bordered by Viscount Suoan. The collar borders. The Viscount Soan is actually a relatively barren territory. This territory is mountainous and can provide fewer resources for collection. Of course, it is much better than Viscount Chiraff. On the map, this one looks like a triangle, which is also bordered by the three territories of Viscount Day, Baron Yedby, and Marquis of Tinchein at the same time.

The huge territory formed by these seven territories is the entire void duchy.

Of course, it is the area of the Void Duchy currently recorded on the map of the Kingdom of Lane.

In fact, on the territory map inside the Void Principality, the entire original Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance's Great Rift Valley area, as well as the hundreds of kilometers radiated out from it, extended from the Gorge Rift Valley. Has been included in the area of the Void Duchy. Calculating only from the current internal territory of the Void Principality, it is almost equivalent to one-third of the area of the Kingdom of Lane.

is bordered on the northeast of Suo'an County, the former Viscount of Suo'an. It was the Earl of Darissa.

The Lion of Thunder, as the vanguard of this crusade against the Marquis of Drohan, had crossed the border of the Void Duchy as early as two days ago and officially entered the territory of Count Daresa. The notification letter requesting military access was delivered to the earl three days before the Thunder Lion stepped into its territory. That is to say, a week before the official action of the Void Principality. The lords of the territory required for this military operation of the Void Principality have all received the official announcement from the Void Principality military.

It's just that, in the face of this circular letter issued by the Void Principality, no lord has given an official reply so far.

Logically speaking, let alone the territory of the same country, even if it is two allies of equal strength, one of them must obtain the other party's official reply and confirmation before allowing the army to pass. The country of the other side. So according to the rules. After the request for the right of military passage of the Void Principality was sent out. At the very least, the lords of these territories have to formally reply and allow them before the Void Principality can launch corresponding military operations.

Otherwise, it will be considered an intrusion.

If it were in the past, Sean would naturally act according to the rules of the nobility, and he would not act rashly until he received an official reply from these lords. For these lords to agree to the military access of the Void Principality, it is nothing more than to cede some interests, as long as they fill the appetite of these guys-to put it simply. It's the wrangling of diplomatic strategy.

In fact, these lords who received the notification letter of the request for military access from the Void Principality. The reason for not giving an official reply was that he was sitting on the ground and raising the price, waiting for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Void Principality to come and negotiate. Of course, it does not rule out the possibility that these lords were also involved in the secret invasion of the Void Principality six months ago. After all, it is not an easy task for thousands of troops to invade the Void Principality without knowing it. , At least there must be a secret cooperation of several lord nobles.

Just because they couldn't find the corresponding evidence, Xiao En and others did not retaliate against these lord and nobles.

Lock a target to strike, the Kingdom of Lane will at least close one eye, but if it is an indiscriminate large-scale invasion, then the Royal Family of Lane will definitely come forward. For the time being, Sean didn't want to tear his face with the Royal Family, so he had to deal with the Marquis, who had already had the evidence. Sean couldn't believe that this lord would really handle things so cleanly.

As long as this territory is captured and the lord who participated in the murder of Anno is captured, then there will definitely be answers that Sean wants to know.

Because of this, Sean naturally couldn't wait to receive the official replies from the lords before sending troops.

Anyway, he has already said that he is not seeking the consent of these lords. The reason why he still issued this notice in accordance with the rules was just to take care of the royal family's face. As for what other people think, Sean doesn't care at all.

According to the battle plan, the Lion of Thunder will go straight to the Marquis of Drohan as the vanguard.

The subsequent army is composed of steel wings, jet black wings, and the First Cavalry Regiment. The security line of logistics is guaranteed by Stalin's First Regiment and Aldolf's Mobile Infantry Regiment. As for the Scarlet Knights, the Wings of Conviction, and the Second Infantry Regiment, they will temporarily stay in the country as a reserve force. If there are heavy casualties on the front line and reinforcements may be needed, these three legions will be deployed as soon as possible.

This is not to say that the plan made by William was too cautious, but that the origins of the previous invading legion were so mysterious that William had to make such careful arrangements- even if he knew that the Marquis de Rohan was not able to interact with the void. The strength of the Principality to contend, but this time William will never allow the enemy to take advantage of it. Moreover, in order to prevent the enemy from using the Tune Tiger Leaving the Mountain to invade the Void Duchy again, Clover's Cecilia Guards will stay in the Void Duchy.

At the same time, William also asked Hela to secretly transfer the Savage Legion back.

The Wild Legion, which has been completely controlled by Hela, may not work for the benefit of the Void Principality, but if it is only used as a surprise soldier, it can be used as a means of icing on the cake. There won't be any problems. Especially, this time William will rush to the battlefield as a front-line commander. The internal security of the Void Principality is naturally the responsibility of Hela, so it is not difficult to mobilize the Wild Legion.

However, for this, Sean will leave two sanctuary powerhouses in the Void Principality.

These two people. They are Vinia. Breakwind and Rorty Kabas. The former is responsible for Neal's safety. The latter is responsible for the safety of Hella.

As for the strong accompanying, there are three people, Noro, Xuefanio, and Rena.

As for Marton, it was arranged by Sean to go back to the Snowwind tribe to find Saloqi Xuefeng. Of course, the bracelet from the Grey Crow tribe that contains the essence of the life tree of the entire Storm Feather tribe, and the Grey Crow All the broken branches of the tree of life in the tribe were also taken back by Marton to Saloqi. Also brought back at the same time, there was a sentence that Sean wanted Marton to pass on to Saloqi. After he made Saloqi the chief of the Eye of the Storm tribe. Join the Wild Federation immediately. And, together with the Wild Federation, launched an offensive against the Gray Crow Tribe.

Shaun did not forget that the Gray Crow Tribe was also one of the participants in the conspiracy against the Void Duchy, but he still has domestic affairs to deal with, so he can't be distracted and raise troops to deal with the Gray Crow Tribe at the same time. Of course, another reason is that if Sean leads a large army into the Wildlands, it may also cause some other unnecessary troubles. If the Wild Federation has a firm foothold, it does not matter, but now the Wild Federation is still an underground secret alliance. Did not tear his face with the Wild Council. Therefore, dealing with the Gray Crow Tribe can only be handled by the Wild Federation.

This is the benefit of having allies.

Void Duchy's operation on such a large scale. Naturally, it is impossible to hide anything. Almost when the Thunder Lion entered the Earl of Daressa, Sean's six allies and those enemies naturally received the news immediately. However, the reactions of these people were surprisingly consistent. They all chose to watch their changes. The main reason why Sean's enemies chose to watch the changes was that they did not yet understand what Sean planned to do, so they didn't. Change in response to ever-changing.

Shaun's allies chose to sit back and watch the changes for their own reasons. For example, Florence Wiles was dragged down by the Third Guard in Broken Dragon Valley, especially when the Thunder Lions and Cecilia Guards left, the pressure on Florence would be even greater, if not. He also has a top-ranked Mensho under his command, and he is afraid that the Third Garrison will counterattack back. Kos Hopson and Ronnis Holder were dragged down by the fascist kingdom, and the skirmishes that broke out in the last month at the border almost exceeded the total amount of the past year.

And Asuna, now the Grand Duke of the Principality of Garrod, naturally cannot send troops at will, and another reason is that her Principality is in the hinterland within Garrod's Fortress, and is one of Shaun's Void Principality. It was almost four months away, and when she sent troops to rush over, I was afraid that the war had already ended. Besides, it is impossible for her to send troops directly without the consent of the opposing lords when applying for the right of military passage like Sean.

As for the two allies of Hatch Boulder and Byrne Baidi, even if they want to support Sean, they also have to pass the military right of way. Moreover, the two of them were also unable to adopt a strong offensive posture, because the lords who bordered the two territories were either marquis of strength or marquis of real power, and these people stood on the opposite side of Sean and others, and belonged to the other kingdom of Lane. A Duke, a member of the Duke Roja Calci faction, they will not sell Hatch Boulder any face.

So from a certain perspective, even if Sean's six allies of the Kingdom of Lane wanted to support Sean, they were helpless, which was tantamount to being restrained.

Fortunately, Sean never thought of asking these allies for help from the beginning.

Anno's blood feud, that is the blood feud of the Void Principality, Sean is not so weak that he cannot get revenge and needs help from others.

After entering the Count of Daresa, the Lion of Thunder did not show a cautious attitude. Under the leadership of Alfred, the entire legion moved forward in a straight line, preparing to cross the Count of Daresa. Generally speaking, even if it obtains the military right of passage, the army will advance as close to the border as possible, and will not swagger to choose the way of crossing, so this move of the Thunder Lion. It was simply blatant contempt for Earl Darissa.

What's more, the earl has not yet agreed to the Void Duchy's request for military access.

So on the fifth day that the Thunder Lion entered the Earl of Daresa, the earl had already assembled the private army in the territory, and then stopped on the forward path of the Thunder Lion.

Thunder Lion is an infantry corps combining light and heavy infantry, so it is not equipped with horses. Even Alfred as the commander. I have never had the habit of riding horses. So when Earl Darissa was looking down at Alfred on a tall horse like this, the arrogant color on the Earl's face was clear and easy to see. Even when he glanced over the Thunder Lion, he found that this legion was actually Sometimes there are any races, and the arrogance on his face turned into contempt.

In his opinion, the so-called Lion of Thunder is just a miscellaneous army. How can there be so many races in the real powerhouse. So he thinks very directly. The external description of the power of the Thunder Lion is simply an exaggeration. As for saying that the Thunder Lion is one of the three elite legions of the Void Principality, the earl is even more scornful. In his opinion, if the so-called main force and elite legions are of the same level as the Thunder Lion, then the Void Principality There is nothing to worry about.

It's no wonder the earl would guess so.

Earl Joseph Tapmen, the lord of Daresa, but was born in an orthodox military family from the northwest aristocratic circle of Darbion.

In the war in the Northwest Theater of the year, the earl also had many outstanding military performances. One of the biggest feats was that he led his army late at night to raided the logistics supply line of the army of the Kingdom of Ryan in a suicide attack. Forcing Ryan's army to suddenly fall into an isolated situation deep behind enemy lines. Had it not been for the lack of sanctuary powerhouses on Darbion's side, it would have caused Angel Nugus to be directly beheaded by Devin breaking into the camp. The history of war in the Northwest Theater may have to be rewritten because of Joseph Tapmen.

So in fact, this Earl Darissa is actually a very capable lord, not that kind of straw lord.

In particular, in the year or two after the end of the war, the lord re-developed his army, which had almost only a few dozen people left, into a quasi-fourth-level army with a scale of 10,000. I have to say that this lord's abilities are indeed very strong, especially in terms of military strength. If he was given some more time, it would naturally not be impossible for him to cultivate a level four elite army again.

Therefore, this lord does not take Alfred seriously, it is naturally understandable.

But Alfred doesn't care about it.

The lion king is in a very bad mood now, because he has been delayed by the lord and his army for more than ten minutes.

The so-called soldiers are extremely fast, and ten minutes of time were wasted for no reason. How can Alfred's mood be good? Therefore, the eyes he looked at Joseph Tapmen naturally became extremely unkind, and it could even be said to be gloomy and fierce.

"The eyes are good." Joseph naturally saw Alfred's eyes, and immediately sneered.

At this time, the two armies were about one kilometer apart, but the commanders of the two sides did not order the war, but chose to negotiate before the war. Therefore, in fact, the distance between Alfred and Joseph was only about 30 meters, and the two commanders came with only their respective guard regiments.

"I don't have time to tell you these nonsense." Alfred said in a deep voice, "You should have received the notification letter."

"I have no answer." Joseph said lightly, still condescending.

"We didn't ask for your opinion." Alfred's voice is still low, his expression is already very impatient, "I just let you know, if you don't plan to let your army go away..."

"Haha, what a big tone!" Hearing Alfred's words, Joseph was really angry. Even the guardsmen beside him looked angry, "I want to see if I don't Allow you to pass through my territory, what can you do!"

"Not very good." This time, it was Alfred's turn that his voice became calm, "Under the blood flag, I will never die."

"Haha, it's so unstoppable, just rely on you!?" Joseph yelled, and the whip in his hand pointed at Alfred.

This time, Alfred did not reply, but gave a smirk. Then he turned around and led his guards back towards the Thunder Lion's main formation. Seeing that Alfred didn't even say hello, he went straight back to the Lions of Thunder. The anger in Joseph's heart became more intense, but he also knew that this was the meaning of Alfred's determination to go to war, so he was also fighting with him. The guard regiment returned to the formation at the first time. Be prepared for battle.

Sure enough.

When Alfred returns to the lineup. The entire Thunder Lion began to move, moving towards Joseph's legion.

But this time, the formation started to change quietly.

Thunder Lion's heavy infantry holding an impact shield walked in the forefront, while the light infantry walked to the rear of the legion and opened the corresponding formation. The archers in the Thunder Lion Legion are slightly behind the legion's main formation by about a hundred meters, but everyone has set up their bows and arrows and is ready to shoot at any time. And Alfred and his guards. It is the old rules to stand at the forefront of the legion.

As the Thunder Lion gradually approaches. The neat footsteps began to turn into thunderous rumblings. At this moment, the lion of thunder was like a galloping army, and the momentum of the whole army began to rise continuously.

Seeing that the momentum suddenly became extremely strong and powerful, a tragic aura of murder began to permeate, and the face of Joseph Menta, who had always been contemptuous on his face, became serious. As for the army under his command, the breathing of all the soldiers began to become heavier, and many of them even began to tremble with their teeth. All of a sudden, their aura was robbed by the Thunder Lion.

Joseph knew that this could not go on, so he raised his right hand. Running vindictively shouted: "The archer is ready! Aim at the archer behind the enemy's phalanx."

Suddenly, the legion behind Joseph heard the sound of a bowstring pulling.

Joseph rolled over and got off the horse. He knew that once the war started, if he continued to sit on the horse, it would be a living target.

The air became abnormally stagnant.

The distance between the two legions is only 500 meters, and the distance between the archers on both sides is 600 meters.

"Prepare!" Joseph's voice sounded, and the raised right hand did not drop.

The distance between the archers on both sides is only four hundred meters.

Joseph's regiment is a combination of cavalry and infantry. Although there is no heavy infantry as a strong defensive line, Joseph, who is already good at field battles and raids, naturally does not need this kind of cumbersome army in his opinion. At this time, he placed a phalanx of five thousand infantrymen on the front line, with three thousand sword and shield soldiers armed with simple swords and light shields, supplemented by two thousand pikemen; the position at a later point was the same three. Thousands of archers are responsible for long-range strikes. The standard range is 300 meters, but if they are precise strikes, they must ensure that the range is within 150 meters.

You should know that the precision strike at a parallel angle of 150 meters is already very good in the archer category.

As for the last two thousand soldiers, they are the light cavalry on the two wings of the phalanx, one thousand on the left and the right. It is more difficult to train cavalry than infantry, even if it is only light cavalry, so under normal circumstances, Joseph let the two thousand light cavalry be responsible for the harassment and containment of the flanks, and the final cleaning of the battlefield to harvest the enemy.

When Joseph felt the vigorous aura of the Thunder Lion, he knew that this army was still a bit strong, but in his opinion, he still couldn't compare with the army he had trained. Of course, he didn't plan to be big—he had such an excellent command and combat ability, naturally it was not a fluke, so Joseph was waiting. When he had to wait for the opponent's archer to enter the range of 300 meters, he immediately launched the first A wave of arrows rain, at the same time, let the light cavalry on the two wings attack, and after the second wave of arrows rain, he planned to attack the front line of the Thunder Lion.

He knew very well that the archers were not very effective against heavy infantry. It was only the second wave of arrows. Joseph's idea was not to kill the enemy, but to hurt and restrain the enemy. He confidently believes that once the light cavalry strikes, the front-line infantry phalanx of the Thunder Lion will definitely change and protect the archers in the back row, so what he wants is to prevent these infantry from being able to attack the archers in the back row. Protect it!

Looking at the Lion of Thunder still continuing to advance slowly, Joseph's mouth raised slightly, revealing a sneer: What an elite army, nothing more!

But, Joseph's smile quickly stiffened!

Because when the archers in the back row of the Thunder Lion stepped into a distance of 400 meters, they had already shot the first wave of arrows. The infantry phalanx in the front row stopped at this time and did not advance anymore.

One time. Joseph cursed angrily.

He knew that he underestimated the enemy!

The first wave of arrows rain attacked, naturally, not against Joseph's back row archers, but all fell on the infantry phalanx in the front row of Joseph.

Alfred's idea was also not about killing the enemy. It's hurting the enemy and damaging morale!

Those sword and shield soldiers may also be able to hold their shields to parry. But the pikemen who were also in the front row were unlucky. Those who were closer to the sword and shield soldiers were lucky. The pikemen who were a little farther away fell in pieces like wheat harvesting, and the wailing sound rang out on the battlefield for a while.

"Damn it!" Joseph cursed loudly, "The cavalry strikes! strikes!...The swordsmen and shields defend with their shields, and the whole army advances!...Archers, shoot free!"

The cavalry units located on the left and right sides of the phalanx. After hearing Joseph's order. They immediately attacked for the first time. Without Joseph's order, they also knew what their target was. At this time, time became extremely precious, especially since they had seen those archers drawing arrows again and preparing to start the second arrow strike. , So these cavalry did not care about maintaining the formation, one after another on horseback to run.

At the same time, the Pikemen immediately gathered their formation. Hiding under the protection of the sword and shield soldiers, and then began to move towards the Thunder Lion. But they didn't dare to gallop like cavalry. Instead, he moved forward cautiously, fearing that the enemy's archers would attack them again. As for those archers, like the cavalry, they knew exactly what they should do at this time, so their first wave of arrows fell towards the front line of the Thunder Lion to prevent them from retreating to protect the archers.

Without an order from Alfred, all the Thunder Lions have already consciously begun to raise their shields to resist the rain of arrows falling all over the sky. Compared to the square shield of the Shield Soldier, which is less than one meter long, the area of the Thunder Lion's shield is much larger. Even if the humans cannot lift the impact shield, it is not difficult for the bear and tauren to lift it. Therefore, under the clinking sound for a while, the bow and arrow strikes from the enemy were naturally blocked.

Alfred, watching the cavalry wing on both sides rushing in disorderly formation, he sneered and waved his hand again.

As the thunder lion of the brotherhood with Steel Wings, it is naturally also the best shot gun that knows Steel Wings. So when these cavalymen approached a certain distance, the light infantrymen behind the heavy infantry immediately threw out all the javelins they had prepared in their hands, and in an instant there was a sound of war horses crying and turning their horses; but this is not the case. At the end, the archers at the rear were also lined up at the first time, and then shot the second wave of arrows straight out.

is just the target of these archers' strikes this time, but it is no longer the cavalry on horseback, but the running horses.

At a moment's notice, there was another sound of people turning their backs on their horses.

After the second wave of arrow rain was shot, the second wave of javelin throws from the light infantry of the Thunder Lion followed.

This time, the enemy cavalry on the two wings immediately caused chaos.

Watching the cavalry on the two wings wiped out more than one-third without any achievements, and was still in chaos, Joseph's heart began to bleed! At this time, his eyes were already red, and he couldn't care about anything anymore, and immediately ordered a force attack. This kind of battle has completely entered a fierce battle. No matter how many tactical changes he has, he can no longer keep up with the rhythm. So at this moment, the only thing he can do is hope that the cavalry commanders on the two wings can immediately stop the chaos. , And continued to attack the Thunder Lion's back row, and the only thing they had to do was to cooperate with the cavalry on both wings to launch a fierce attack.

Looking at Joseph leading the enemy force to attack, Alfred snorted, and at the same time led the heavy infantry unit of the Thunder Lion, launched a charge towards Joseph's shield soldiers and pikemen.

From the perspective of momentum alone, it is undoubtedly that the Lion of Thunder is even more shocking.

Under the leadership of Alfred, the heavy infantry phalanx of the Lion of Thunder is like a sharp knife pierced into the butter, ruthlessly cutting the infantry phalanx of Joseph's army directly. Seeing that his infantry phalanx was cut apart by the Thunder Lion with almost no resistance, Joseph was so angry that he almost spewed blood out, because the performance of the Thunder Lion completely subverted the performance of a heavy infantry corps.

Be aware that heavy infantry regiments have always been known for their slow movement speed and strong defensive capabilities. And cutting the army formation is not the patent of the infantry, but the patent of the cavalry, especially the heavy cavalry-on the battlefield. The role of the heavy cavalry is to cut the army to combat morale, and the cavalry that is responsible for the attack is really used for the harvest of the battlefield.

However, under the command of Alfred, the heavy infantry of this Thunder Lion fully demonstrated the style of a heavy cavalry-not only is it not slow to run, but it also easily puts its own infantry in a square formation. Cut it out. What made Joseph vomit blood even more was that this Thunder Lion heavy infantry had cut and broke its infantry phalanx. Actually separated the formation of two batches-the first batch rushed towards his archer phalanx without looking back. The latter group turned around and started to make dumplings toward their infantry phalanx!

What's even more exaggerated is that the Thunder Lion light infantry phalanx, who did not follow the charge, threw the last javelin left on his body towards his infantry phalanx. Within a distance of less than a hundred meters, watch these barbarians, tauren, bears and many other races known for their strength throw their javelins, using the defensive ability of the square shield of the sword and shield soldiers. How can it be resisted.

So in an instant. Then there was another scream!

Along with this screaming sound, a new round of horses wailing and the screams of cavalry death also sounded on this battlefield again.

Then, Joseph saw that when the third wave of arrows was shot, the total number of two thousand cavalry on the left and right wings was less than one thousand at this moment, and they were less than the archer phalanx of the Thunder Lion at this moment. One hundred meters away. This should have been a piece of news that made Joseph very pleased, but when he watched those archers, he did not hesitate to drop their bows. Then he took out his spear and long sword, and then launched an attack on these cavalry. Joseph knew that his two thousand cavalry had finished playing.

Of course, he also knew that more than two thousand cavalry had been played.

The archer's phalanx, led by the Thunder Lion heavy infantry led by Alfred, is also over. Because the archers he trained are not like the archers of the Thunder Lions, they can use them directly as infantry after dropping their bows and arrows, picking up spears and long swords. The situation is basically linked to the term "tuan annihilation".

And himself and the remaining four thousand infantrymen?

Joseph looked around for a moment at his own soldiers who were being surrounded and being attenuated by the cannibalization. Joseph suddenly felt extremely ironic. More than half an hour ago, he still looked down on the Thunder Lions army, but in just more than half an hour before and after, he was all facing the end of the annihilation of the army, which made Joseph's self-confidence suffer a very serious blow. , After all, he has always believed that his military talent is very strong.

Facts have proved that he is the one who truly "is nothing more than that".

"We surrendered!" Joseph shouted in a deep voice, "We surrendered! Stop your attacks!"

However, facing Joseph's roar, the Lion of Thunder did not pay attention to it, and the frantic attack continued.

"We surrendered! You can't continue to attack! I am willing to pay the ransom!" Joseph continued to shout loudly.

But this time, someone finally responded to him. It was just the answer to this response, not the voice Joseph wanted to hear.

"Under the blood flag, never die!"

"Under the blood flag, never die!"

The roar of the Thunder Lion resounded throughout the battlefield.

Hearing this shout, Joseph's face turned pale, and even the army under his command completely collapsed at this moment. No matter how much Joseph wanted to regroup, he was completely powerless.

At this moment, Joseph really regretted making such a provocation to the Thunder Lion.

On April 16, 1878, a fierce and short hand-to-hand battle broke out between the Thunder Lion and the Earl of Daresa, Joseph Tapmen, who went deep into the Count of Daresa.

The war between the two sides lasted one hour and 23 minutes.

Thunder Lion killed 78 people, slightly injured 369 people, and seriously injured 121 people.

Earl Darissa's army, totaling 10,000 people, was wiped out.

Earl Daresa, Joseph Tapmen died on the spot.

Then, the Lion of Thunder drove straight in under the Count of Daresa, and the Tamen family was utterly annihilated.

At this point, the entire Kingdom of Lane finally clearly saw the determination of the Void Principality this time.

Under the blood flag, you will never die!

Chapter 272: . The Powerful Void Duchy

In a room with huge six-meter-high floor-to-ceiling windows, four people in luxurious costumes sit on each side of a long table.

There are young people, middle-aged people and old people. Among the eight people, three are even women. Two are relatively young, about twenty-four or five years old, and only one middle-aged woman who is about fifty years old; the other five are all men. A young man who is also about twenty-five years old, three middle-aged men about the same age as the middle-aged woman, and an elderly person who is about 60 years old and up.

In this room similar to a conference room, there are many elegant decorations, and even the decoration is mainly based on classical beauty and elegant beauty, revealing a restrained luxurious temperament everywhere. And not only this conference room, but the entire castle can see this elegant and noble atmosphere full of restrained luxury, and even the servants who serve in the castle reveal an essence that is hard to see by ordinary noble families. Angry.

Whether it is from the decoration, furnishings, the spirit of the servants, or the clothes of these obviously extraordinary nobles, they all reveal the brilliance of this family.

In fact, this family does have a prominent surname.

Simon.

The Simon family is an ancient family with the same long history as Dabian. The origin of this family started with a prominent military exploit. After two generations of expansion, when it was passed on to the fourth generation of Patriarch, the family motto changed from pioneering to defensive, and it began to develop in business. After several generations of hard work, the Simon family became an extremely prominent ancient family in the Kingdom of Darbion at that time, and their family style gradually got rid of the nouveau riche atmosphere and later generations that started the family. The businessman's aura began to become introverted, but the edge of this prominent family did not disappear because of this, but gradually grew stronger.

Even later, the Simon family finally succeeded in standing among the top nobles in the Kingdom of Darbion.

Climbed from ordinary nobles to powerful nobles. When it comes to the prefix of strength, no one in the match family knows the hardships.

Although in the ranking of the many powerful marquis of Darbion at that time, the Simon family's ranking has not been very high, but their family background even the seven dukes of Darbion at the time will not be underestimated. In particular, the family head of the Simon family at that time had always adhered to the principle of neutrality, which made the Darby expensive clan circle where various interests competed extremely fiercely at that time. The Simon family became a sweet pastry. Many dukes wanted to win this family into their own faction.

It's a pity that the war between Ryan and Darbion broke out. Because of the geographical position, the Simon family was divided into the Northwest Theater.

After that, Darbion became history, and the Simon family fell into the embrace of the new kingdom, the Kingdom of Lane. And because in the war in the Northwest Theater at that time, the strength of the Simon family was relatively intact, and the speed of turning the rudder was fast enough. So when the war is over. The Simon family not only retained the title of nobility, but even the territory and title were not weakened, and it was still a powerful family of marquis.

It's just that after switching to the Kingdom of Lane, the Simon family appeared to be much more low-key.

It's just that this low-key day only lasted for more than two years, and the Simon family once again entered the vision of the entire aristocratic circle. But this time, it was not the noble circle of the Darbion Kingdom, but the sight of the two major factions of the entire Kingdom of Lane, Senne and Beyond, as well as many other nobles who had not yet obtained the fief.

Because the Simon family is now the owner of the Marquis de Rohan.

Best. Simon. The current Patriarch of the Simon family is now the Marquis de Rohan.

The hour is noon. The bright sunshine was shining in through the huge French windows. However, in the meeting rooms that should have felt warm because of this, there was a lingering coldness, even if even the fireplace had been activated. The large amount of wood allowed the flames in the fireplace to burn extremely vigorously. People still only felt a chill.

At this time, all the large and small nobles who knew the situation in the entire Lane noble circle also felt a cold like a cold winter.

Since the Void Duchy sent troops in April 1878, it took nearly three months. The Void Duchy's army has traversed six territories, including three earls, two viscount collars and one baronial collar. And in the five territories that traversed, the lord of the Earl of Daressa, Count Joseph Talmen, tried to intercept the Thunder Lion with his own military exploits. As a result, he was rooted in the military for two to three hundred years. Nobles, the Tapmen family was completely erased by the Thunder Lion, as if the waves washed up on the beach and then slowly ebbed, the entire Tapmen family disappeared in history.

A total of hundreds of people in the Tamen family, regardless of men, women, young or old, all died under the butcher knife of the Thunder Lion.

Dalaisha led the famous defensive fortress, almost stained red with blood, and the tower gate family flag that had been flying for hundreds of years on the middle floor of the fortress was also replaced by the flag of the Void Principality. It's just different from the black background of the previous void flags. The background color of the void flag inserted in the Tower Gate family is bright red. Even the wings that represent the attack and protection of the Connery family are painted. It is dyed red slightly lighter than the base color.

This means that the Tamen family died under the blood banner of revenge.

If the demise of the Tamen family only allowed the nobles of the Kingdom of Lane to see Shaun's determination, then the next Viscount Ryder and the Earl of Maidan made the entire Lane's aristocracy a clear view of the Void Duchy. Crazy and bloody.

Viscount Ryder, whether it is strength or family heritage, it is naturally impossible to compare to the Tapmen family. But Viscount Ryder also has a huge advantage, that is, there is a mountain city built on the hillside in the territory. This city is built in a mountain range that spans the entire Ryder Territory. If the Thunder Lion wants to cross the Ryder collar, it must pass through this mountain city, otherwise it must bypass the mountains and lead it from Ryder. The territory next to it passed by.

In the face of the fierce Thunder Lion, Viscount Ryder simply closed the gates of the entire mountain city and declared that it had entered a wartime state.

Under Alfred's military right of way, the viscount directly refused, and shot a wave of arrows as a counterattack and warning.

Then, the result was not as Viscount Ryder had imagined, and the Lion of Thunder made a detour. They simply set up camp in this mountain city, and began to cut trees up the mountain to make siege equipment. Seeing this scene, Viscount Ryder only felt dizzy, so he had to rush around for help. And the closest to the Viscount Ryder is the Earl of Maidan—in fact. The Earl of Maidan is also the territory that received the request from the Void Duchy to open the military right of passage this time.

So with the help of Viscount Ryder, Earl Maidan immediately led the reinforcements to this mountain city, ready to resist the attack of the Thunder Lion.

After confirming the arrival of Earl Maydan's reinforcements, the Lion of Thunder did not blindly launch an attack on the city. After all, the enemy forces in the city at this time have almost reached 20,000. If you count the forced residents in the city, it is almost OK Cobbled together a force of about 50,000 people. With the Lion of Thunder, there are now only more than nine thousand troops left. Naturally it is impossible to take this city. So Alfred ordered to wait for the arrival of follow-up reinforcements, and at the same time stepped up the production of siege equipment.

Viscount Ryder and Earl Maydan naturally couldn't allow Alfred to make siege equipment here. Therefore, the two sides also broke out several wars. The Lion of Thunder has successively killed more than 3,000 people, while Ledermay The coalition forces of Dan's two nobles even left more than 10,000 people. It's just that the scale of this mountain city is quite large, with a resident population of almost 100,000 or more. Counting the mercenaries and floating population stationed in the city, it has almost reached a scale of 150,000. Even if only young and middle-aged people are left out of women, children and the elderly, there are almost 100,000 viable powers.

And after losing a series of battles. Viscount Ryder began to force the mercenaries and the young and middle-aged people in the city on the battlefield. In this way, the Thunder Lion was completely suppressed by the cannon fodder tactics of Viscount Ryder and Earl Maidan, and the casualties of the Thunder Lion surged to 7,000, almost not far away from the retreat. However, the coalition forces of Viscount Ryder and Earl Maidan are obviously not doing well. The 120,000 troops including the regular army and cannon fodder was actually consumed as much as 40,000, even though there are almost 35,000 people inside. It was cannon fodder, but it was still an extremely tragic loss.

However, before their coalition completely wiped out the Lion of Thunder, William led the steel wings, jet black wings, and the First Cavalry Regiment to the battlefield, and then directly began to establish the defensive front line, and directly called the Scarlet Knights and Convict Wings as reserve forces. And the Second Infantry Regiment. In the face of three new legions, Earl Maidan and Viscount Ryder can only retreat to the mountain city to stand firm, and at the same time ask for help from their allies.

The commanding William, with the full cooperation of the Void Realm, he certainly wouldn't know what Earl Maidan and Viscount Ryder were doing. But he didn't mean to stop it at all, but let them ask for help. This is not because William is too conceited, but he wants to know who is involved in this conspiracy against the Void Duchy. In the absence of sufficient evidence, naturally he can only use this method of casting a net. .

Even if the nobles who received the letter of help did not lead their troops, it is enough to know which nobles received the letter of help. Next, just let the Void Realm investigate these nobles who received the letter of help. William does not believe that these nobles will leave no clues, and as long as there are clues, even if it is a clue, William can extract all these guys. .

So outside the mountain city, William waited for a full month, until the Scarlet Knights, the Wings of Conviction, and the Second Infantry Regiment all arrived, and the nobles who received the letter from Earl Maidan for help still did not send troops.

So, William decided not to wait any longer, but to start a siege.

On May 22, 1878, the siege war surrounding the city in the mountains led by Viscount Ryder officially began.

Siege warfare is no better than field warfare.

On the field battlefield, relying on tactics to implement various encirclement, formation cutting, occupying high ground, etc., and even when to invest in reserve forces, when to launch the general offensive, and how to control the battlefield area, etc., they can achieve many wins with less Many classic battles.

However, in a siege battle, the only thing the offensive can do is to accurately grasp the timing, gain an advantage by hitting and crushing the enemy's morale, creating a situation where more and less are played, and turning the advantage into victory. Potential. Compared with the offensive side, the defensive side has too many advantages in a siege, because they basically control the two advantages of geographical advantage and people. Most of the time, the siege is required. Win through a huge military advantage.

City in the mountains, even after a few tough battles with the Lion of Thunder. Almost 80,000 troops are still preserved.

Under normal circumstances, the size of the force must be at least 150,000 or more, before it is possible to force such a city to be gnawed down.

William's actual strength was only 46,000, of which 5,000 were cavalry and 1,000 knights. In the siege. The knight can naturally play a role. It's just that under normal circumstances, no commander would let a knight group participate in a siege. Because it is well known that in the early stage of a siege war, when fighting for control of the city wall, the casualties were the greatest. Basically, in this case, a large amount of cannon fodder was sent to fill the death hole with some real soldiers.

For those famous siege battles on the Marvel Continent, the battle for the city wall is based on the unit of "segment".

When I saw the comparison of the forces of the Void Principality and the Mountain City, even if I knew that the so-called military power of the Mountain City was just forced civilians. There is a lot of moisture. But still no one is optimistic about the Void Principality. The entire Kingdom of Lane believes that the Void Duchy will definitely come home here in the Mountain City. After all, the Mountain City is the most important city of the Ryder Nation, and it is also the political center of the Ryder Nation. The city's defense facilities will not be weak. Where to go.

If the Void Principality had to eat this city, it would not be impossible, but it would definitely suffer heavy losses.

After all, the gap in military strength lies there.

But in fact, the army of the Void Principality only took two days. It completely took down the city wall of the mountain city, forcing the defenders of the mountain city to enter the street fighting.

Almost all Lane nobles learned of this information. Their faces all looked strange, but when they knew what method William was using, they were no longer strange, but shocked. Because there was only one sentence in the intelligence, Rena, Xuefania, and the Scarlet Knights participated in the first wave of siege.

Two sanctuary powerhouses, and a knight group, are all invested in the first round, which is also the fiercest battle for the wall?

Everyone thought William was crazy.

In this kind of fierce battle, even if the cannon fodder could not threaten the lives of the sanctuary powerhouses at all, it would still be a threat to the Knights. What's more, with so many people, even the strong in the sanctuary may not be able to kill them all. Once the strong in the sanctuary becomes exhausted, the golden strong or a sufficient number of regular troops can also threaten the strong in the sanctuary. s life.

But is William really crazy?

Judging from the results, it is obvious that there is no. Instead, it is better to say that the strong appearance of the Sanctuary powerhouse and the investment of the entire knights are the real reason why the army of the Void Principality can take down the city wall in the mountain within two days. This move not only greatly reduced the morale of the defenders in the mountain city, but also greatly protected the loss of the army of the Void Principality.

After , street fighting can't stop the attack of steel wings and jet black wings.

This siege battle lasted less than five days, and ended in the annihilation of all the defenders of the city in the mountains.

The Earl of Maidan, the Viscount Ryder, and the entire family of the Viscount Ryder, as well as his private army, all the residents of the entire mountain city, were all slaughtered by the Void Duchy- not only the young men and the mercenaries in the city , But also includes the old and the weak, women and children, not leaving one. The wailing of the entire mountain city resounded for four full days before it stopped, and blood stained almost every corner of the city.

This is the real massacre!

When William led the Void Army to leave the Mountain City, the entire mountain city was dead as silent as a ghost territory except for the Void Blood Flag that was hung in the highest part of the city and fluttered in the wind. The carrion-eating black crow is said to have landed in this city from the sky like a dark cloud covering the sky.

The Void Principality really uses actions to tell everyone a truth: under the blood flag, there is no end to death.

Any enemy who dared to stop the advance of the Void Principality army, the only end is to be bloodbathed. The noble family that stands in the way is that the entire clan will be annihilated; and if you think that relying on the defense of the city can block the Void Duchy, then the end of the mountain city led by Viscount Ryder is the best example.

And when the army of the Void Duchy passed through Viscount Ryder and entered the Earl of Maidan, the family of Maidan no longer dared to stop it. But even so, they were all hanged by William's order, on the grounds that Earl Maidan assisted Viscount Sod to resist the advance of the Void Duchy army and wasted the Void Duchy's precious time.

It's just that this time there was no move to slaughter the city.

Of course, there was a small episode in this incident, that is, Earl Maidan's family tried to keep the last fire and smuggled several people away secretly. As a result, these fires had not left the Count of Maidan, they were all intercepted and killed by the Void Dark Blade led by Ruby, and became the first people to be hanged in front of the family of the Count of Maidan.

Blood, cruel, and cruel, these are the impressions of all the nobles in the Kingdom of the Void of the Void Duchy.

However, this deterrent effect is indeed very good.

Because of the next two territories passed by the Void Principality army, its lords did not dare to make any resistance. Of course, it's not that there are no lords who want to try to defend against the city, but because of the lessons learned from the mountain city, the lord has just ordered to resist, the whole city riots, and then the hapless lord is turned to William's. In front of it, its fate is naturally conceivable.

In just three months, four noble families have been completely annihilated by the army of the Void Principality.

After , the army of the Void Principality was unimpeded all the way.

On August 22, 1878, the army of the Void Duchy officially entered the Marquis of Drohan, and its army's supply line spanned a full eight territories. Such a long supply line is naturally extremely unfavorable for a large army, because they have been completely isolated and helpless deep behind enemy lines. But in fact, no nobleman dared to attack this supply line of the Void Principality Army.

The reason is very simple. The power and dominance that the Void Principality has shown in the past four months has deeply shocked these people.

The one who really wants to be isolated and helpless should be the current Simon family.

At this moment, the entire Simon family is in panic. And at the moment when the army of the Void Duchy entered the Marquis of Drohan, more than a dozen people from the Simon family absconded, but these people have now all become dead-half of them are now owned by the Simon family. The Patriarch discovered that the death was directly ordered; the other half was intercepted and killed by Ruby in the Void Realm, and the corpse was directly thrown at the gate of the Simon family's castle.

So at this meeting, the atmosphere in the conference room was so dull that the eight seniors in the conference room, who can be said to control everything in the entire Simon family, felt the chill of death. It was not without reason.

Chapter 273: .The Simon family

The atmosphere in the conference room is still depressed.

The eight people who are in charge of the various real powers of the entire Simon family looked particularly gloomy at this moment, especially after they had read the report document in their hands.

Since the army of the Void Principality entered, the private armies belonging to the Simon family began to appear various desertions, even if the Simon family dispatched a supervising army and executed a large number of people with extremely severe methods, but this The desertion phenomenon still cannot be stopped. What's more, even the family members of the Simon family have begun to abscond with money, although it has been proved that this approach is completely undesirable, because the Void Principality side will not let go of any Simon family. Members, but the panic of the entire Simon family is still unavoidable.

Only these two days, the order of the Simon family has been completely chaotic, and it is not uncommon to see the phenomenon of the above mentioned.

Almost all of them showed a situation of broken cans.

"boom!"

A middle-aged man sitting in the conference room stretched out his hand to make a fist, and then hammered the table hard.

All eyes are on him.

"Too much bullying!" the middle-aged man yelled in a deep voice, "Is there nothing to say from the royal family of Ryan!"

Hearing that, another middle-aged man in charge of all the diplomatic affairs of the Simon family shook his head and smiled bitterly: "The Void Principality raises the blood flag. This is blood revenge. Not to mention that the Royal family of Ryan will not interfere with this kind of blood feud among nobles. We were in the era of the Kingdom of Darbion, and the royal family would not intervene either.... Rather, the royal family of Ryan did not appear to support the Void Principality, and we should be thankful."

Hearing the words of the middle-aged man, the more hot-tempered middle-aged man fell silent, and the atmosphere in the meeting room became even lower.

"Is there no other way?" The middle-aged woman couldn't help but said. Although her voice didn't sound too nervous, there was still a trace of sadness that could not be concealed. "In the beginning we shouldn't have..."

"Enough!" Before the middle-aged woman could finish speaking, the only old man in the meeting room was Best Simon. Now the head of the Simon family, the Marquis de Rohan shouted in a deep voice. She interrupted her next words directly. "What's the use of saying this now!... Since we have done everything, don't regret it, but we can only blame ourselves for not handling things properly and letting others touch the tail."

Hearing what Best said, everyone in the conference room lowered their heads in silence.

The three young people even looked at each other, and in each other's eyes, they all saw only deep fear.

In fact. This time a conspiracy against the Void Duchy. The Simon family is indeed involved. Moreover, not only the Simon family, but even the Earl of Maidan and Viscount Ryder, who were destroyed under the army of the Void Duchy, have all participated in this plan. This is why the Earl of Maidan and the Viscount Ryder will fight against the Void Army to pass. s reason. At that time, the Simon family did not want to support, they also secretly sent an army to rush to support, but no one thought that the coalition of the Earl of Maidan and the Viscount Ryder would be so vulnerable that it was destroyed in only five days. city.

Of course, unfortunately, it probably belongs to the Tamen family.

Because this family did not participate in the plan for the Void Duchy. They will be the first victims, purely because of the vanity of the nobility. It's just that even Joseph Tapmen didn't expect it. The Void Lords Council was so ruthless and ruthless, and directly wiped out their entire family.

At the beginning, there was actually a vote within the Simon family on whether to participate in this conspiracy against the Void Duchy. The result was three to four: three votes against and four votes for, so the resolution was passed, and then there was a preparation period of several months-as the outside world is now guessing, that branch went deep into the void. The mysterious army of the Principality is a private army cultivated secretly from the Simon family.

The essence of , like the Wings of Conviction that William had secretly cultivated, was prepared to appear as a killer.

As for the five shadow assassins, it is not the handwriting of the Simon family, but the mysterious allies who provided the action plan.

Of course, the Simon family has seen this action plan. In their view, it is simply perfect. In this plan, the private army provided by the Simon family is just a decoy. The real purpose is to plunder all the materials in the military research institute of the Void Duchy, and at the same time complete the investigation of the Void Duchy. The assassination of the Big Three.

As long as the three giants are resolved, the Void Principality will be a toothless and clawless tiger. No other actions are required at that time. You only need to instigate a little and create another conflict. Then it will be enough to disintegrate the Void Principality, and it may even change directly. For the control of the puppet regime. Regardless of the former or the latter, it is the Salmon family's reward for participating in this conspiracy—they will become the most powerful family in the entire Kingdom of Ryan in one fell swoop.

If it is the former, then the Simon family will acquire a large amount of military power and generals of the collapsed Principality in one fell swoop; and if it is the latter, the Simon family will have a secret duchy territory, which is naturally extremely important for the development of the Simon family. advantageous.

It can be said that the ambition of the Simon family is not small.

With such huge gains, that little risk is naturally a risky action for the Simon family, a family that had a business background for several generations.

But unfortunately, their action failed.

Unexpectedly, it is a problem for the Void Principality to have a strong sanctuary. Another problem is that it does not prepare emergency measures, and the method of destroying evidence is not perfect, so that the Void Principality will catch clues. However, this is the end of the matter, and no matter how upset and regret the Simon family is, it will not help. What they have to do now is how to avoid the crisis of extermination.

Judging from the performance of the Void Principality during this period, it is obvious that the Void Principality's immortality under the blood flag war is no joke.

"Patriarch, what shall we do now?" Another middle-aged man who has not spoken, asked in a deep voice, "Are we just surrendering?"

"Surrender?" The hot-tempered middle-aged man yelled, "Do you think surrender is useful!? Look at the fate of Earl Maidan! Do you think we surrender, the other party will let us go? ... Humph, I think it's better to fight the opponent fiercely."

"Fight a fight? Are you finished?" The middle-aged man who clearly advocates surrender asked rhetorically with a sneer. "The other party now has two sanctuary powerhouses. What are you going to do with them? Do you have the strength and qualifications to fight with them? People can easily kill you! ... Don't tell me you have to compare with them. We have never heard of the army level, the two legions of Dark Wings and Conviction Wings, but since they are all named after the "wings", do you think they are weaker than steel wings?"

"Then what do you mean. Let's commit suicide?" Best Simon glanced coldly at the middle-aged man who opened his mouth. Just one look made the opponent shudder.

Perhaps the Simon family is now shaky, maybe it is impossible to escape this crisis of destruction.

But now the Simon family has not really been destroyed, so Best Simon is still the head of this family, and he still has the ability to determine the life and death of the family. You know, Best Simon was known for his cold-blooded spirit in the era of the Kingdom of Darbion. He not only inherited the speculative and adventurous spirit of the businessman from his father's generation, but also the cold-blooded and iron-blooded pioneer of the Simon family. Military style.

"I. I didn't mean that. Patriarch..." After Best's coldly glared, the middle-aged man's voice went low.

"Humph!"

After snorting heavily, Best turned his head to look at the hot-tempered middle-aged man, and then asked in a deep voice: "If you can contain the two sanctuary powerhouses of the Void Principality, how sure can you block the void? The army of the principality?"

Blocked, not defeated.

This proves that the Simon family has admitted that they are at a disadvantage in the battle against the military power of the Void Principality. Want to defeat the army of the Void Principality under the command of famous generals, the Simon family also knows that this is a foolish thing. So Best Simon naturally wouldn't say anything to defeat and defeat the army of the Void Principality. In this regard, I have to say that Best Simon is quite pragmatic.

Hear what Best Simon said. This hot-tempered middle-aged man responsible for the military operations of the Simon family fell into silence, and his brain was rapidly analyzing the military strength of both the enemy and the enemy. At the same time, I am also simulating a game of sand table deductions between the enemy and us in my mind, trying to find the chance of victory from it.

He knows very well what the so-called "blocking" of Best Simon, the owner of the house, means.

As long as their Simon family can block the army of the Void Principality and prove to the entire Kingdom of Line that they are not weaker than the Void Principality in terms of the level of generals, then with the background, strength and reputation of the Simon family, they will surely be able to win many allies. With reinforcements, the Simon family will have the possibility of turning defeat into victory. Even, as long as the army of the Void Principality can be eaten, then the Void Principality will be in a situation of serious injury. Maybe their Simon family can find a chance to eat the Void Principality in a fair manner.

If it is really successful, then the Simon family can completely take the place of the Void Duchy and become a Grand Duke!

Thinking of this, the hot-tempered middle-aged man naturally showed a hot look in his eyes.

Of course, the premise of all this is that he must be able to block the attack of the Void Principality army.

At this moment, the meeting room that was originally filled with low air pressure suddenly became a little more tense.

Especially the three young people-in fact, these three young people from the Simon family were not eligible to participate in this kind of meeting, but they were already identified as the future of the Simon family six months ago. The successor to the person in charge of diplomacy, the person in charge of the military, and the person in charge of finance, therefore, has the qualifications to participate in such high-level meetings. At this time, two of the three young people looked at the hot-tempered middle-aged man expectantly, hoping to hear from his mouth a good news that would cheer them up.

Among them, a woman with a dignified and beautiful face and long golden wavy hair has the brightest eyes.

Because she is the successor to the next military chief of the Simon family-she will succeed her father.

After a long time, this hot-tempered middle-aged man finally exhaled a heavy breath, and his face also showed a bit of red excitement: "If we can choose the location, then the chance of winning is at least 50%. But. The premise is that the opponent's sanctuary powerhouse must be firmly restrained and cannot be distracted to attack our army. Otherwise, we have no chance of winning at all."

This chance is only half, which means that there is a 50% chance that the army of the Void Principality will be completely unstoppable.

The probability of is very low according to normal conditions. It is only qualified to try it reluctantly, not even "necessary".

but. To know. The person in charge of the offense is now William Yale, who is ranked seventh among the ten mainland generals!

Dare to say that there is a 50% certainty that he can block his attack, this probability is not low, but very high! For today's Simon family, it has reached the point where it is absolutely necessary to try.

"You only need to block the Void Principality army for a month, are you sure?" Best Simon hurriedly asked again.

"If it's a month, then this probability can be increased to 70%!" This middle-aged man with a hot temper. At this time, the voice of speaking is full of confidence. "It's just that I can only fight defensive battles, and I must defend against danger. If I'm fighting in the field, then I won't be sure at all. And...after this battle, we will be greatly injured, even in the last family. The door has not been destroyed, I am afraid that it will take a long period of rest in the future."

"As long as we can avoid this disaster, then we won't be badly injured." Best Simon waved his hand. He said lightly, "The secret library of the family will be opened for you. No matter what you need, you can directly bring it up! Starting today, you have all the calling rights of the Simon family, and no matter what you request, it will be the first time Satisfaction!...I'm going to find our mysterious ally now. If it is only to contain the two sanctuary powerhouses of the Void Principality, instead of fighting to death, I believe they will not refuse."

Hearing what Best Simon said, everyone in the meeting room showed a look of excitement. The fear of being threatened by death finally disappeared at this time.

However, under this extremely elated atmosphere, a strange color flashed in a person's eyes.

This person is another young woman in the conference room.

She has the same long blond hair, but her hairstyle is not big waves, but straight hair that reaches the waist. Compared with another woman, her appearance is much more gorgeous, especially her eyes are extremely moving and bright, and every smile has an indescribable charm.

At this moment, the strange color in her eyes flashed away, and it looked no different from the others in the room.

Soon, this meeting came to an end.

In order to be able to withstand the invasion of the Void Principality army, and to win an opportunity to turn defeat into victory, the people in this conference room immediately began to act. The formation of the formation, the contact of the contact, and the cooperation of the cooperation, as if everyone has found the motivation to dedicate a lifetime to it. And when these big figures in control of the destiny of the entire Simon family acted, the entire Simon family began to turn like a precision gear, operating ring by ring.

Soon, the order of the Simon family, which had already collapsed, was immediately re-established.

This is the quality possessed by a family member who truly has the foundation.

There is only one person, which is in sharp contrast with the busy Simon family.

That is the glamorous woman with a waist-length blond hair.

After the meeting, the woman returned to her room for the first time, facing a shadow in the room with a solemn expression, and said in a deep voice: "I want to see Grand Duke Sean Connery!"

Chapter 274: .clue

(I want to hear more of your voices and receive more suggestions from you. Now search the WeChat public account "qdread" and pay attention to give more support to "God of War Lord"!)

The blond woman's voice is very low and very low. Obviously even she didn't dare to say this aloud at this moment, so she could only lower her voice as much as possible. But from the slight tremor in her voice, it can be seen that the blonde woman is very nervous at the moment.

But it's no wonder.

As the successor of the next head of diplomacy of the Simon family, Diana Simon is naturally cultivated by the Simon family. Her father is now the head of diplomacy of the Simon family, who is responsible for all the external affairs of the Simon family, including various contacts and meetings with the allies of the Simon family. If people knew that Diana had said to see Grand Duke Void in her room at this time, I'm afraid that even her father would not be able to get rid of it.

So Diana had to lower her voice.

But after her voice fell, the situation in the room did not change at all.

is still silent.

This phenomenon caused Diana's expression to change slightly, and she bit her lower lip tightly. It was just that soon, she seemed to have made some determination, and she took a step forward again, and her voice was slightly louder: "I want to see Grand Duke Void, His Excellency Sean Connery! Now!"

Speaking of the end, the voice has become a bit more sullen.

In the room, he fell into silence again.

Several seconds have passed, but for Diana, it is likely that a century has passed.

The shadow in front of Diana finally shook, and it looked like boiling water. Immediately afterwards, Diana had an illusion, as if the shadow in front of her suddenly opened to the left and right like a curtain of a stage play. A tall figure then walked out of this shadow.

Looking at the man with indifferent and cold eyes, Diana's heart suddenly tightened, and she subconsciously swallowed.

Diana is not stupid, on the contrary, it can be said that she is very smart. So from some clues. She was able to infer many things, such as: Now the entire Simon's Castle must be under the supervision of the Void Principality. The reason for this judgment is very simple. Those who absconded from Simon's Castle will soon be caught by the Void Duchy and throw their bodies back in front of the castle. If the castle is not under surveillance, Diana would never believe it.

but. No matter how she guessed it. I didn't expect that the person who appeared in front of me at this moment would be the rupees of one of the three little giants of the void!

Void Principality, now known as the Big Three and the Big Three.

The Big Three refer to William, Hela, and Neal, the Archon of the Void, who are in charge of the Military Department of the Void Duchy.

The three little giants refer to the most mysterious intelligence organization in the Void Principality, and the three leaders of the Void Realm: Void Dark Blade Ruby, Eternal Night's Eli Kate, and Flying Eagle, Sigley Bernie.

Among them, the origin of the rupee is the most mysterious.

About the origin of the rupee. No one knows, it is even said that even the most mysterious department of the Void Principality-Void Realm. Not many people know about it inside. The only thing that can be clear is that the man who commanded Void Dark Blade, who was specifically responsible for assassination and anti-assassination and secret surveillance, possesses the potential and talent that many people envy very much. It is said that when he joined the Void Realm, he was only a bronze mirror person, but within less than five years, he already possessed the power of the lower level gold.

"Your Excellency Rupiah..."

"You are very smart." Ruby is two or three years younger than Diana, but his height is half a head higher than Diana. Although he looks quite thin, he is hidden under his clothes. The muscles are full of explosive power.

"I..." Facing the rupee that was half of her own height, Diana only felt a strong oppressive force to face him. She knew that this was the only real combat type that came out of the sea of blood. Only the strong can have the strong momentum. In the Simon family, there are several people with such a strong aura, and every time Diana sits with these people, she feels uncomfortable.

But at this moment, no one knew that after seeing Rupiah, Diana's inner anxiety disappeared instead, replaced by a more determined mentality: "I...I want to see the Void Lord!"

Rupi looked at Diana, and did not speak immediately, but the more silent, the more Diana felt a burst of speechless pressure. It wasn't until Diana's face turned pale, that she was obviously unable to bear Rupi's awe-inspiring aura, and Rupi said indifferently, "Master Shaun said that anyone who can discover our existence is eligible to be seen.... are you ready?"

"Ready?" Dianna was taken aback for a while, subconsciously thinking that Rupiah was going to kill her mouth.

But when she saw that Rupi was still staring at herself without any intention to kill, she bit her lower lip, and then nodded her head: "Ready!"

Immediately after, she saw Rupi suddenly shoot with lightning, and then her consciousness plunged into endless darkness.

When Diana woke up again, she found herself in a camp.

The layout of this camp is very simple, there is no luxurious decoration, but from the only things in the camp, Diana can still infer that this should be the camp where a commander is located. Almost the moment when he realized this, Diana knew where she was: the base camp of the Void Army!

Just as Diana landed on the camp bed, a young man walked in outside the camp.

This is a young man with black hair and black eyes.

The first time she looked at this person, Diana felt her blood as if frozen, and she didn't dare to move at all.

"Dianna Simon, right?" Shaun glanced at Dianna, and while walking towards the desk in the camp, he asked in a deep voice, "Is there anything to do with me? ... if I remember correctly If so, now our two families should be in a state of war, or...the kind of endless death."

Dianna was not surprised at why Sean could tell his name in one word. She knew very well, if Sean didn't even have this ability. Then it would be impossible to push the Simon family to such a situation. Rather, Diana felt a lot more relaxed when she heard Sean directly say her identity.

"I know." Diana swallowed and then smiled, but she might be nervous. This smile looks uglier than crying. "I...I have information, I think maybe Grand Duke you might be interested?"

"Oh?" Sean raised his eyebrows, then pulled a chair away and sat on it, "I think you don't know what the four words 'immortality' mean, right?"

"I know." Dianna nodded again, and she took a deep breath. Probably because Sean is not as fierce as in the rumors. So Diana also became completely calm, "Master Shaun, it is the Simon family that lives with you, but I am not a member of the Simon family."

"Really? So when did you discover that you are not from the Simon family?" Sean said lightly.

"From the moment I appeared here." Diana didn't feel any embarrassment. On the contrary, she began to show a calm temperament. "I was born in a side branch, and my mother is just a maid. There are so many people like me in the Simon family. It's just that I have good luck and have a decent face. I also have a heart that is hard enough and hard enough to have today's status."

Sean did not speak, but listened quietly.

In fact, the information about Diana had already been sorted out and sent to her when she was brought by Rupiah. Of course, this information cannot be accurate and detailed. After all, although the Void Realm now has excellent intelligence capabilities, it is only relative to some overall situations, such as this kind of detailed information to a noble member himself. You can only get a rough idea.

But these approximates, combined with Diana's words at this time, Sean also has a more detailed understanding of this woman.

At least, he knew that this woman was not lying.

"Even if you are no longer a member of the Simon family, why should I let you go?" When Diana finally finished telling her story, Sean said, "I think you should know what happened from my way. , I will never let go of anyone connected with this conspiracy against my Principality."

"Because I think the information I have is enough to buy my life." Diana said calmly.

"Tell me." Sean gestured.

So, Diana did not hesitate to be in the Simon's Castle meeting room at noon, and explained all the combat plans on how to deal with the army of the Void Principality this time. It also includes the secretly hidden power of the Simon family, as well as the combat style of the leading general this time, as well as news about several traps and decoys arranged by the Simon family.

It can be said that Dianna sold the entire Simon family completely.

After hearing Diana's words, Sean suddenly laughed, and then said faintly: "Not enough."

Hearing Sean's words, Diana's face finally changed suddenly.

However, Sean did not completely despair Diana. He soon said again: "I still need to know who the * is that moved your patriarch. In other words, I want to know the news about your mysterious ally.You never think that I will leave after you just wiped out your Simon family this time, right?"

While saying this, Xiao En stood up, and then said faintly: "You should know why I didn't immediately order you to kill. Like this kind of conspiracy with other families, your father must also know. Circumstances, so... as a successor, you can't be ignorant. In fact, I am not interested in how the Simon family intends to resist my army, because everything is in vain."

As Xiao En's words fell, Noro also walked in from outside the camp, just staying at the door of the camp. And Diana's face became paler when she saw Noro, and she instantly understood what Shaun meant by being uninterested.

No matter who it is, even if it is their Simon family, they never expected that Xiao En's subordinates actually had a fourth sanctuary powerhouse!

In fact, at this moment, all the Lion aristocrats, including the Lion royal family, don't know how many sanctuary powerhouses are in Sean's Void Principality. The only thing they know is that Rena and Xuefanio, and of course Rorty Kabas, after all, in the previous conspiracy against William, Rorty Kabas was shot. Only this time, with the arrival of the army, Rorty Kabas did not appear, so the Simon family believed that there were only two sanctuary powerhouses from the Void Principality.

"I, I really don't know." Diana's face looked a little frustrated. "The mysterious ally that the Patriarch said, we don't know who the other party is, but we guess that the other party's power should also be very large, otherwise they It will not give the Simon family a lot of equipment support, and even the cooperation of the golden strong."

Looking at Diana's expression, Sean knew that the other party had not lied, but this information was not what he wanted.

"Is there no image feature?" Sean frowned and asked.

"Image feature?" Diana frowned, but she frowned helplessly. "I have only seen the other party twice, but the other party is wearing a set of mage robes, and the whole body is wrapped tightly. I can't see the other person's image characteristics. But..."

"But what?" Sean asked.

At this moment, even as long as there is a little clue, Sean is not willing to give up. He believes that as long as there is a little clue, the Void Realm can immediately follow this clue to start a search, and Sean is very confident in the Void Realm, as long as they give them a direction for investigation, he believes that the Void Realm can now be able to , Sure to find the target. So, what Sean lacks is just a little clue.

Seeing Shaun's look very serious, Diana immediately said: "I saw the other person leave by accident once. It seems that there is a black mist wherever he walks, but I'm not sure if it's true. Yes, because the fog quickly dissipated."

Hearing Dianna's words, Sean frowned first, and then quickly showed a touch of shock: "Have you heard the other person speak?"

"Yes." Dianna didn't know why Sean asked, but she nodded and said.

"Is the other party's voice very hoarse and low, and no matter what it says, the context does not fluctuate at all?" Shaun asked again.

Diana's eyes were wide open, and her face was full of incredible expression: "You...how did you know?"

The inner thoughts were suddenly confirmed, but Sean sighed helplessly, but his expression was not happy at all.

In the dim night, Sean and William sat side by side.

Only one looked a little sad, and the other looked solemn.

"Are you sure?" William quietly listened to Sean's guess, then turned his head to look at Sean and asked.

"Nonsense." Sean gave William a blank look. "I also had a face-to-face meeting anyway, how could I not know.... In this way, it is difficult to search for clues."

"The fog spirit showed up in front of you once, obviously it came to you, don't you have any clues?" William frowned, "Even if there is a way to find a direction, it's okay."

"If I know who the other party is, I still need to find you nonsense." Xiao En said uncomfortably, "I have only seen that thing once, I only know that it is not weaker than the golden realm.... But that is already. It was several years ago. With the growth characteristics of the undead creature like Wuling, if it has enough lifeless energy, I am afraid it is no weaker than the sanctuary powerhouse. If it is really that thing, it will be troublesome."

"It's just the sanctuary, what's the trouble?" William was a little puzzled.

"As undead creatures, their domains have a special nature. After all, not all undead creatures can grow to the sanctuary realm." Sean knew that William did not understand the world of warriors, so he explained, "Lich type Needless to say, even though they are among the ranks of undead creatures, they don't think of themselves as undead. As for creatures like mist spirits, the more people die in their domain, their strength will be corresponding. Enhancement, or in their domain, they can also allow undead creatures to gain a certain increase in strength."

"So. Wuling is a very powerful undead creature?"

"It can't be considered strong, but it's more difficult to deal with." Sean thought for a while, and then said, "But if we fight with the Simon family, if he is present. We still have to find a way to lead this guy away. You can't let it go. He shot on the battlefield, otherwise it would be difficult to suppress his alienation."

"Alienation?" William's face was filled with confusion again.

"It's the mutation increase." Xiao En sighed, "Blackstone knows it? It's the product of two alienation. Generally speaking, once the mist is alienated, it may evolve into a  creature, sanctuary level. If it is. I'm afraid it's the level of the  commander.... Two years ago in the Royal Capital of Ryan. The Demon God that I and Rena dealt with is almost at that level."

"You also know that it was two years ago." William said lightly, "Isn't there Rina and Xuefanio now, and the strength of the two is not comparable to that of two years ago. What's more, there is promise. Luo Zai...Didn't you say that his strength is almost equivalent to the upper sanctuary, even if not, at least one'quasi' character can't run away, right?"

Shaun gave a bitter smile.

For Noro. No one knows better than him, after all, there is still a soul contract between them. But Noro's strength. To a large extent, it depends on his master's realm of strength. In terms of Sean's own situation now, Noro is not qualified to put the word "quasi" on it. Even if Sean lends the Black King to him, Noro can at best only exert strength close to the "quasi-upper sanctuary". If he really wants to become a strong upper sanctuary, he still has to step into the lower sanctuary. .

But these words, Sean will naturally not tell William, because it is unnecessary.

After all, they are here now, there are two low-level sanctuary powerhouses, Rena and Xuefanio, as well as the mutant emperor Dragon Blackstone who is almost equivalent to the strength of the middle sanctuary, plus Noro from the middle sanctuary. This strong combination lineup is enough for the Simon family to drink a pot. Even if the Simon family really finds two sanctuary powerhouses to contain Rina and Xuefanio, it is useless, because when Diana told Sean about this plan of the Simon family, Sean had already thought about it. Tactics of counterattack.

Noro will immediately join with Xuefanio to kill the strong sanctuary responsible for containing Xuefanio, and then rush to meet with Rina with Xuefanio to strengthen another sanctuary. The person also beheaded. After three people and one beast, they will directly enter the private army camp of the Simon family. With the means shown by the strong of the sanctuary, the strongest of the Simon family is just the golden realm and it is naturally impossible to stop it. So the ending time of this war is actually just the time when the two sanctuary powerhouses died.

"That Diana, are you really going to let her go?" William asked suddenly.

Sean didn't know why William mentioned Diana suddenly, but he nodded slightly and said, "This person, I have read the report. He is an individual.... The next head of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Simon family, as early as Three years ago, she started to participate in some diplomatic activities in the Simon family. It can be said that she controls all the diplomatic resources of the entire Simon family, which is of some use to us."

William shrugged and made no comments about this: "Our Void Principality should indeed establish a diplomatic department. Previously, because there was no suitable candidate, Hela and Neil took turns in charge of the related negotiations.... Now this one. The person named Diana is willing to join, which saves us a lot of trouble, but... can such a person really take on the important task?"

William's concerns are naturally normal.

After all, Diana can betray the Simon family, so who dares to say that she will not betray the Void Duchy in the future? What's more, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of a Principality does not mean that it is only responsible for the conversations of some allied parties and other irrelevant things. In Miracle Continent, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is usually also in charge of the establishment of foreign trade routes and other corresponding alliance cooperation. If it is to be calculated seriously, once Diana becomes the Minister of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, then her status and status will be inevitable. She will be able to learn about the fourth largest giant that will be promoted to the Void Duchy, and even the corresponding secrets of cooperation with the Wildlands.

And this is why Sean said that Diana has a lot of resources at his disposal.

But most people don't dare to trust Diana, but Sean doesn't dare.

The Eye of Truth gives him the true face of seeing through a person's good and evil.

If Diana is really distracted by the Void Principality, Sean can know it only by looking at it. At that time, he can even attack and frame his enemies by forging some confidential documents.

It's just these words, Sean naturally can't make it clear to William. Because once it is said, it will definitely involve other explanations. As the saying goes, "telling a lie often requires more lies to make up for it." Sean didn't bother to spend so much energy on lying and deceiving. Moreover, if it weren't for these things to involve his own greatest secret, Sean wouldn't dare to tell William.

"Don't worry, Neil will still be the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Diana just lay hands on him." Sean smiled and said. "Wait until Neil, Hela, and you think Diana will be fine. Let her take over....As for those confidential things, they can't be said now, but they will gradually develop in the future and it's no secret. When you can trust her, there will be no need to keep those new secrets from her."

Hearing Sean's words, William nodded slightly. Nothing more.

"By the way, let Ruby transfer two people to look at her. Don't say anything, she should understand it herself." Xiao En said lightly.

William glanced at Sean, and then chuckled lightly. When the solemn face rarely smiled, it made Sean suddenly feel like a bright wind. Just don't know why, at this moment, Sean suddenly thought of Noro, who had a very similar situation with William, and he couldn't help but shudder.

In fact, when Noro and William appeared in the same place. The development of the matter is indeed like the kind of nightmare that Sean had imagined.

Most of the time, the soldiers stared at William and Noro. And even knowing that these two guys are both men. But there will still be courageous soldiers whistling at the two of them-and once this happens, it will often turn into a very happy situation: William and Noro will both show very charming and charming smiles. , It is really laughable to make people feel the bones are crisp.

It's just that, after the bones are crisp, Noro will often propose a guiding approach: Let's fight. I will single you all.

Then those whistling guys will be knocked down by Noro in one minute. Of course, this guy is still very measured, at least he won't kill all of these people, it's just that the whole body is sore and so on, it is definitely unavoidable.

And often when these soldiers are tired, it will be William's turn to play. He usually greeted these people with a smile, and then began to give them high-intensity training. If it weren't for the wartime situation, Sean believed that William would let these soldiers not be there for the next week. Energy and time to think about other things.

You should know that these soldiers are not ordinary soldiers, but the elite and ace army trained by William like the Wings of Conviction and the Jet Black Wings. Their training level is already more than three times that of the general army, but William is abruptly able to continue to squeeze the potential of these people without hurting the roots of these people. It has to be said that William is formulating a training plan. The aspect is terrible.

Thinking of these inexplicably, Sean shook his head quickly and threw these strange thoughts out of his mind.

"I thought you were shocked by the beauty of that little girl." William smiled a little gloomily, which made Sean feel even more shocked, "Okay, it's okay to find two people to look at the woman.... I just let the rupee take it personally. Anyway, there is nothing to take the rupee next."

Hearing William's words, Sean knew that William's thoughts were different from his own.

In fact, Sean asked William to find someone to look at Diana, just to behave. After all, he has an eye of truth, what Diana's mind is like, Sean will know by sweeping it. However, it was a good opportunity for William to misunderstand Sean's words at this time. Anyway, Diana knew that she could only be regarded as a newcomer to the Void Principality, and she would be monitored for protection in name. It was a matter of course.

In other words, if Diana knew that her position was also the foreign affairs department of the Void Principality, I'm afraid she would be more like walking on thin ice.

This is the subtlety of human nature.

"By the way, what do you plan to do with your mount?" William suddenly asked when he saw Sean getting up and preparing to leave.

"Can you finish it all at once if you have something." Sean gave William a white look again, and then sat down again, "Nightmare beast. It's really not easy to deal with in the surface world. This kind of creature that is only close to the dark is simply The complete opposite of the unicorn."

"Maybe we can try to paint it white?" William asked whimsically.

"Unicorns are only close to innocent people. Basically males...especially human males are extremely evil in the definition of unicorns. If I can ride a unicorn, I guess everyone will doubt me. Gender." Shaun felt that sometimes he really couldn't communicate with William. This guy's common sense in the world of warriors is almost the same as an idiot. "Furthermore, even if the nightmare beast is disguised as a unicorn, it's just superficial It looks like a unicorn, but in fact, the nightmare beast's dark aura can't be concealed at all, and the gang will also have black flame footprints when they run. These are things that unicorns don't have."

"What should I do?" William frowned. "Does this thing keep good-looking?"

"Or?" Sean asked back. "If it wasn't because the product couldn't ride around on the surface, I wouldn't let Rorty Kabas take it back home and hide it in the wild.... Now it's only when I go to the underground world in the future that that guy will be able to use it. Anyway, on the surface, just treat it as if it doesn't exist, and just adopt a stocking policy."

"I really don't understand. What are you doing to provoke a nightmare beast in your spare time." William sighed, "Keeping such a thing. You have to hide it in every possible way so that you cannot be seen. You are simply sick."

"Don't tell me. That nightmare beast is not easy." Sean said faintly, "If it's an ordinary nightmare beast, I wouldn't be too lazy to let Rorty Kabas take the hard work to bring it home.... That thing, but it can be. Supports the aura of a lich, and may have survived for tens of thousands of years. Have you ever seen a nightmare beast that can live so long? I suspect that it must have been touched by that lich ."

"The lich named Lake?" William asked.

Shaun nodded, his face didn't look very good.

Basically, whenever he thinks of Lake, Sean will be very mad. But why he felt manic, he couldn't even tell him. Maybe he simply didn't like the lich, or maybe it was because of the frivolousness that the lich showed when he left. All in all, when the name Lake is mentioned, Sean gets very hot.

"If this is the case... You said the people at the Heerson Institute would be interested?" William thought for a while, and then suddenly asked, "The research is of great value, maybe it can be sold at a good price? Maybe, The Heerson Institute can still help us."

Shaun's eyes lit up slightly.

No one knows the power of the Helson Institute better than Sean. If he really sells that nightmare beast to the Helson Institute, not to mention the benefits he can obtain, he might be able to establish a good cooperative relationship with the Helson Institute. With the extremely advanced research capabilities of the Helson Institute, it is not a problem for the Void Principality to fully expand or gain advantages in biological research.

Just thinking of the nightmare beast approaching him, Sean felt a little bit sad.

But soon, Sean thought of a possibility: "Perhaps, I know what to do with that Wuling."

"Huh? What did you think of?" William asked eagerly.

"It's not me, but the Helson Institute." Xiao En laughed, "Thanks to your reminder... The organization of the Helson Institute is very interested in everything, as long as we sell the Wuling news. , They will definitely spend great efforts to find. With the status of the Helson Institute on the Marvel Continent, their network strength must be wider than ours. As long as I can touch some clues about the Wuling, then I can know that. Who is behind this conspiracy plan."

"What if the Helson Institute can't figure it out?"

"Then I have to use another chess piece." Xiao En shrugged, "There are two people in the Thirteen Deaththorn Coffins who still owe me favors. Anyway, they are just collecting information about a Wuling. It is not for them. Desperately, with Deaththorn's intelligence ability, coupled with the contacts of the Shanghai Ersen Institute, I don't believe that I can't find that Wuling."

Seeing that Sean said so, William couldn't say anything.

After all, only Sean had seen the situation of the Wuling. Or it's ugly. Whether it is the Wuling Spirit or not can't be determined. However, this made William more mindful. After taking the Simon family, he decided to torture the old guy named Besque Simon first. He didn't intend to let the Simon family die so much. easy.

The next day, the army of the Void Principality began to open its battle and attack forcefully.

Now that you know the battle plan of the Simon family clearly. So for William. This siege is even more non-threatening. From the beginning of the war, William was completely aggressive offensive posture, it was a fierce and forced offensive, and even the initial temptation and confrontation were completely omitted. And the Simon family, after seeing William's offensive attitude, immediately realized the problem, the entire Simon family will naturally scold Diana.

But it's up to now. They also have no way out. And besides scolding Diana, they also had nothing to do. I can only hope that the members of the Simon family will be more vigorous, and at the same time hope that the two sanctuary powerhouses who have invited to help out can be a little bit stronger. As for Best Simon, he naturally stepped up to request reinforcements, and even Duke Roja Calci sent a letter in the past, hoping that they could come forward to persuade him.

But it turns out that no matter how hard the Simon family works, everything is in vain.

When the war broke out the next day. After Nuolo, Rina, and Xuefanio killed the two sanctuary powerhouses invited by the mysterious allies of the Simon family, they joined the battle on the frontal battlefield. The Simon family is truly defeated.

In just half a day, Fort Simon was completely taken by the army of the Void Principality. The entire Simon family, including the direct line and side branches, including more than 500 people, all became prisoners. As for those servants who served the Simon family, The guards, etc., were ordered to be executed by William the moment the castle was breached.

This is not William cold-blooded or cruel, but a behemoth family that has controlled a territory for hundreds of years like the Simon family. The loyalty of its servants is completely unimaginable, and neither Sean nor William clearly They have no energy to spend with this family, so a naked massacre is the best solution. Even the private troops trained by the surrendered Simon family, William directly ordered them to be killed on the spot without leaving any prisoners.

This war was originally meant to demonstrate the power and cold-bloodedness of the Void Principality, and to prevent future people from wanting to fish in troubled waters with a fluke mentality.

Hela's idea is very simple. Anyone who dares to provoke the Void Principality must be psychologically prepared to be completely destroyed by the Void Principality. As for the slaughter of captives, it is likely that the enemy of the Void Principality will resist this shortcoming desperately in the future. Naturally, William and Hela will not care about it. Anyway, as long as the Void Principality is still so strong, his enemies will be so strong. After all, the fight for the heart is only speeding up the death, and it is not threatening at all.

So far, since the beginning of the army in April, the Void Duchy's blood-flag revenge war that lasted for almost half a year has finally come to an end with the destruction of the Simon family base camp. Many nobles who received the victory report of the Void Principality at the first time just shook their heads and sighed helplessly, because they already knew very well—especially the Sené noble faction. Provoked the minds of Sean and the Void Principality.

After leveling at Fort Simon, Sean only stayed for one day. After accompany William to interrogate Best Simon and got an answer, Sean left Fort Simon for the first time. Only Noro left with Shaun. As for Rena and Xuefanio, Shaun asked them to stay to protect William. Anyway, with Shaun's current strength and Noro's strength, it can be used in the entire Kingdom of Lane. Left sideways.

What Shaun didn't know was that he had just left Fort Simon with his front feet, and the Marquis of Flores came to Fort Simon with a letter written by the king.

Chapter 276: .The King's Letter

PS: I want to hear more of your voices and receive more suggestions from you. Now search the WeChat public account "qdread" and pay attention to give more support to "The Lord of War"!

After Shaun and Noro left, the power naturally fell in William's hands.

So when the Marquis of Flores arrived at Simon's Castle, only William was capable of welcoming this great figure who was still above the dukes in the entire Kingdom of Lane. Of course, with the strength of the Void Duchy in this blood-flag revenge war, even if you don't talk to the Marquis, naturally no one will say anything. After all, the Void Duchy is a country that has the same strength as the Ryan Kingdom. NS.

However, William did not neglect the slightest bit about the Marquis of Flores.

Soon the most trusted confidant of His Majesty Ingus met with William in the huge conference room of Simon's Castle.

In the meeting room at this time, in addition to William, there is also Diana Simon, the only survivor of the Simon family. Of course, now she is no longer surnamed Simon. Originally, Sean wanted her to follow her mother's surname, but her mother was just a commoner, so naturally she would not have a surname—in Miracle Continent, a commoner can have a name. Not bad, races like the Northern Barbarians don't even have a name. Whether it's Abaza, Anno, or Quik, they are all names given by Sean.

So, Diana doesn't have a last name yet.

The Marquis of Floris saw Diana in the meeting room, his expression was also slightly stagnant, but he was well hidden, almost disappearing in a flash. With the two fighting idiots of William and Diana, naturally, there would not be such a keen attention to discover Floris's astonishment. However, the Marquis of Flores silently raised Diana's evaluation to a level in his heart. People like him who were responsible for collecting various intelligence and performing some underground tasks for His Majesty King Ingus naturally knew very well that Diana appeared. What does it mean here.

In fact. Seeing Diana's smile of joy hidden under her calm face, she knew that the other party also knew what it meant.

"Long time no see, Lord Floris." After seeing the Marquis of Floris walking into the meeting room, William, who was dealing with some military issues, also stood up for the first time, and then hurriedly greeted him.

The Marquis of Floris naturally did not dare to neglect.

Maybe on the side of other nobles. He can put on a tall look. Even in the face of those dukes, the marquis can assume an equal position. But when facing William, the marquis did not dare to assume the slightest position, because he knew very well what position the young man in front of him had in the Void Duchy. He was a real powerful man. Even Grand Duke Sean also obeyed the instructions of the void giant.

Therefore, the Marquis of Flores didn't dare to put on a superb appearance. But greeted him with the same enthusiasm. Take the initiative to shake hands with William to show okay. In particular, he could hear that William called him "Sir Floris" instead of "Sir Marquis", and the closeness in it represented a very different meaning.

"I think Lord William, you seem to have a lot of important things to deal with, so I won't be polite with you." The Marquis of Flores glanced at the many documents on the conference table, and knew in his heart what William was dealing with at this time. What is it.

The Simon family has been passed down for hundreds of years, and its history may even be in the Kingdom of Lane, so there must be a lot of good things in this family. And the war. The fight is naturally money, no matter what name the Void Principality fights. Not to mention the defeat, but after the victory, it is natural to obtain benefits from the defeated side to fill the gaps in the huge consumption of funds in the war.

After all, the Void Principality is also a vassal state of the Lane Kingdom anyway, and this time it is still at war with the nobles of the Lane Kingdom, so it is naturally impossible to invade and occupy the land, unless the defeated party uses the cede of the land as compensation. However, this time the Void Principality was raising the blood flag for revenge, and all those who resisted along the way were ordered to be killed by William, so it is naturally impossible for these territories to cede territories and pay compensation.

In this way, these unowned lands are naturally returned to the hands of the Royal Family of Ryan. So if the Void Principality wants to obtain benefits from it to fill the huge funding hole for launching the war, it can only start from the secret vaults of these lord families or other aspects.

This is also an unspoken rule in the war of the same country.

However, the premise of this unspoken rule is that no royal family is present.

As a guest, you can't take the host's things in front of the host, right?

The Marquis of Floris is not a member of the royal family, but in fact everyone knows that he has always represented the royal family. So he appeared here at Simon's Castle at the moment, it seemed very subtle. And as a big figure who can be responsible for the entire underground intelligence of Ryan, how could the Marquis of Flores not know his situation.

It's just that he also has his own practices.

After he finished saying that, the Marquis of Flores stopped going forward, so naturally he couldn't see exactly what the papers on the conference table were. Therefore, whether the documents on the conference table are the internal documents of the Simon family or the military documents of the Void Duchy, it is entirely up to the Marquis of Flores to decide.

This is a typical show of goodwill to the Void Principality!

William naturally knew the significance of the practice of the Marquis of Flores, and he did not insist, so he stood with the Marquis of Flores several meters away from the conference table, smiled and said: "The military affairs are busy. I am embarrassed to entertain Lord Floris."

"It doesn't matter, they are all soldiers, just click directly." The Marquis of Flores smiled.

William also decided not to continue this kind of non-nutritious polite nonsense, Dang Even said: "I don't know Lord Floris, why are you here this time?"

Hearing William's questioning, the look of the Marquis of Floris also became more solemn, and his voice was much lower: "I'm here this time, no one knows."

William's eyes changed slightly.

The arrival of the Marquis of Floris, William had already known about it three days ago. Since the Void Realm could even sneak into and monitor the Fortress of Simon, he naturally knew the situation of the entire territory. So when the Marquis of Floris entered the territory, William naturally knew. Only at that time, William and Sean agreed that the arrival of the Marquis of Floris was sent by King Ingus. The purpose was nothing more than two: either to protect the Simon family from being destroyed; or to monitor. The profitability of the Void Principality.

But after a while of discussion, both Sean and William felt that the second option was more likely. After all, if you want to save the Simon family, then when Sean destroyed the Earl of Maidan, the Viscount Ryder, and the Tapmen family, someone should come forward, and this will prove that the Royal family of Ryan is very likely. Also participated in the previous conspiracy against the Void Principality.

It can't be said that Sean and others don't trust the royal family of Ryan. After all, the growth of the Void Principality is also obvious to all. If a kingdom considers from a long-term perspective, it will do everything possible to prevent its vassal state from becoming strong. This is also very natural - it can even be said that it is a recognized unspoken rule of the Miracle Continent.

As for the second item, the Royal Family of Ryan may also want to get a share, after all, the acquisition of this benefit is almost a steady profit. Therefore, the internal statistical documents of the Simon family placed on the conference table at this time only accounted for less than half of the entire Simon family, and William handled it in the presence of the Marquis of Flores, so these are the only things to deal with. It's just the accounts on the surface. Privately, the Void Principality can get at least 80% of the funds and benefits of the entire Simon family this time.

is also out of this consideration, so Sean felt that it was boring to stay, so he left it to William to be responsible.

But now, the Marquis of Floris actually said that no one knew of his arrival, so this meant that this was a secret operation.

William's expression also became serious: "I don't know what can help Master Floris?"

"Actually, this time I came, because I have something to ask Lord Sean for help." Marquis Floris said in a deep voice, and took out a letter from him at the same time, "This is a letter from His Majesty the King.... I don't know. Where is Lord Shaun at this time?"

Hearing this, William gave a bitter smile: "After taking the castle, Lord Shaun left first.... He and the Heerson Institute have a meeting that must be rushed to participate. But before leaving, Lord Shaun I have ordered it, no matter what, I can take the initiative."

It is true that William went to find Paqiuli, but the meeting is naturally nonsense, but he does not want to make Floris depressed.

The Marquis of Flores hesitated for a moment, probably thinking of the special management mode of the Void Principality, so he nodded, and then handed the Ingus's autograph letter to William, and said in a deep voice: "Your Majesty thinks. To implement a plan, the plan involves a very wide range of goals, which cannot be accomplished with the power of the royal family alone, so support from multiple parties is required.... Specifically, you can check the content of the letter."

"Dianna, you go out first." William obviously also knew the seriousness of the matter, turning his head to Dianna and said in a deep voice.

"Yes." Dianna tidied up the things on the conference table, and then quickly left the conference room.

For a time, only William and the Marquis of Flores were left in the conference room.

And William did not hesitate anymore, he opened the letter directly, and quickly browsed the content of the letter.

Only when he finished reading, his brows frowned, he raised his head to look at the Marquis of Flores, and said with a puzzled look: "Bad Blood Plan?"

Bad Blood Project.

A plan as the name suggests.

In the final analysis, it is a centralized plan to revive the majesty and presence of the Royal family of Ryan.

It has been two or three years since Ryan annexed Darbion. Basically, Darbion's national strength has been digested. The Ryan Kingdom has passed the weakest and most dangerous period. Now the neighboring countries want it. Starting with the Kingdom of Ryan, it is really necessary to carefully weigh whether it is worth it or not. Of course, in the past few years, small conflicts and frictions on the border have naturally continued, but both sides have restrained the escalation of the situation very well. The only thing to say that the scale of the conflict is larger is probably the conflict with the fascist kingdom. It is reported that the scale of the conflict has been getting worse recently, and the Hopson family has already used the garrison.

But these are still external causes.

As Ryan gradually digests the remaining resources of Darbion, the benefits that can be brought to the nobles are also declining, and basically all forces have begun to stabilize. However, in this process, the Royal Family quickly discovered a new problem: the Royal Family's jurisdiction over the noble cliques outside the Great Wall was almost zero, and this resulted in a development trend similar to that of a domestic country.

This is naturally a place that the Royal Family of Ryan cannot tolerate.

Not to mention that the majesty of the Ryan royal family is gone, even its sense of existence is equivalent to zero in the noble faction outside the Great Wall—that is, the original Darby expensive clan.

A royal family with no sense of existence and influence, what will happen next is not difficult to imagine.

Therefore, the staff of the Royal family of Ryan came up with such a "bad blood plan": to remove those nobles from the noble faction outside the Great Wall who have no respect for the royal family. All as bad blood. And what will happen to bad blood? It is conceivable.

It's just that this plan has not been implemented since its inception. In the final analysis, it lacks a bloodletting knife.

But this time, when the Void Principality raised the blood flag. When the war of revenge was fought. Ingus saw a bright blade appear. Obviously, using the Void Principality as this bloodletting knife is undoubtedly very suitable, and it can even be said to be the most perfect and ideal object.

Of course, the Royal Family of Ryan can actually not talk to Sean at all, as long as they release a few messages at will, based on the current situation in the Principality of Void. Naturally, it will not recognize its accuracy. Definitely choose to fight first. But now, Ingus asked the Marquis of Floris to personally send this autograph letter, and chose to tell Sean in its entirety. It can be seen that Ingus' respect for the Void Duchy.

But respect belongs to respect, but this does not mean that the Void Principality must be the knife.

The reason is simple.

This is a typical offense.

Don't think of those nobles who can own territories and have inherited them for hundreds or hundreds of years so idiotic and simple.

The Simon family did participate in the conspiracy against the Void Principality, so when the Void Principality launched a vengeance war. They are in a state of deficiencies. And after knowing the powerful and iron-blooded methods of the Void Principality, naturally no one would come to the Void Principality at this time. This is why no one comes to help when the Simon family asks for assistance from other noble lords.

But the bad blood plan is different.

These nobles did not participate in the conspiracy plan of the Void Principality at all, so naturally they would not feel unreasonable. If the Void Principality really sent troops, they would definitely choose to conduct negotiations and theories. If the Void Principality continues its war regardless of its disregard, then as long as one or two nobles are destroyed, the other nobles will definitely react to what is going on, so in order to prevent themselves from becoming the next victim of the destruction, these Nobles will inevitably choose Bao Tuan.

At that time, what the Void Principality has to deal with will not be as simple as one or two nobles, but the entire noble faction outside the Great Wall.

In other words, it is to face the war of at least half of the Kingdom of Lane.

In this way, whether the war will continue becomes a question.

If it continues, then it will inevitably evolve into a civil war, so it is not the purpose of the bad blood plan. After all, the root of the bad blood plan is to make the Kingdom of Lane a real power, so it is only those lords who ignore the royal family of Lane that are to be eliminated.

But if you don't continue, then the powerful image that the Void Principality is not easy to build will be destroyed in an instant. In this way, not to mention the influence and deterrence of the Void Principality in the Lane aristocratic circle, if you just retreat, you are likely to be caught by these nobles and have a bite back. At that time, the Void Principality may have to pay a compensation. .

With Sean's character, William didn't even need to think about it. Sean would definitely not care about civil strife or civil strife. If you want the Void Principality indemnity, you can fight again. In this way, the Royal Family of Ryan, who could not come to Taiwan, would definitely hate the Void Principality.

So, this is an almost thankless thing.

Seeing William hesitating, the Marquis of Flores also knew William's conjecture, so he said again: "As long as the Void Principality is willing to cooperate, the royal family will also give a certain amount of compensation, and will never let you suffer in this regard. ... And, once your Void Principality starts to act, there will be others who will cooperate with you to act together, and will never let Void Principality take the risk alone."

"Oh?" William raised his eyebrows, "So, it's not just our Void Principality that is the knife?"

"The Principality of Garrod will also cooperate." Marquis Floris said, "I came from there. Grand Duke Asuna has agreed to the plan, and an excuse for the battle has been found. ... At the same time, The Hobson family did not want their own instability behind, and the Duke of Tequila was also willing to help. The Marquis of Hold also agreed to contain it, and the Marquis of Wiles also agreed to lend the Holy Roman Knights as a promise to Ryan The royal family promised to assist the Marquis of Wiles to resist the counterattack of the Third Garrison."

William appeared unmoving on the surface, but in fact his heart trembled slightly.

Although the words of the Marquis of Flores had no special meaning, the content of the words themselves was very interesting.

Because the names of the people mentioned by the Marquis of Floris at this time are members of Sean's League of Seven. And as long as Hatch Boulder, Duke of Tequila, is willing to send troops, then the Bourne Bady family, the closest ally of the Boulder family, will certainly follow suit. In this way, in addition to Sean, the other six members of the Seven-Man Alliance are willing to support the Royal Family of Ryan. The meaning revealed here is very unusual.

"If it turns into civil strife, what should I do?" William frowned, he knew that this was the case. Then it would be meaningless to refuse. "I think Lord Floris should know that once the target aristocrats fight together, Lord Sean will most likely not choose to retreat."

"This situation, I can guarantee that it will never happen." Floris smiled, and then handed out a sticky note, "This is the goal that the Void Principality needs to deal with.... I think. Take the Void Principality's situation. . It shouldn't be difficult."

William took the post-it note, and then opened it. It was written with the names of three families.

"As long as Lord William, you act in the order of the list, then civil strife will not occur." Marquis Floris said, "As for excuses, I don't think there is more appropriate than blood-flag revenge."

Speaking of this, Floris also made an act of cutting the grass and rooting out the roots. Obviously, he hoped that the Void Duchy would be able to deal with the Simon family, the Maidan Earl family, the Ryder family, and the Tamen family. Cut the grass directly and remove the roots.

"If this is the case, I believe Lord Shaun will not refuse." William thought for a moment. Then he nodded, "However, regarding all the war losses in this operation..."

"Although all the territories taken by the Void Duchy cannot become the duchy's territory, all the inventory resources of these families will be owned by the Void Duchy." The Marquis of Floris smiled and said, "In addition, the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance is there. The Royal Family of Ryan will also help you withstand the pressure of the elders.... In addition, there is another piece of information for you."

William pouted his lips noncommittal.

Defeating the Maidan collar, Ryder collar, Talaisa collar and now Drohan collar, the loss of the Void Duchy is not small.

At least the Thunder Lion Legion had to be reorganized. In addition to the Steel Wings, Jet Black Wings and other Legions, the losses were quite serious, and there was also the cost of a long supply line. The huge profits of secretly selling bronze and silver magic weapons before the Void Principality are also a bit overwhelming. The profits of these four territories all go to the Void Principality, and it just barely fills the deficit, which can be said to be no benefit.

But this is a war of revenge, so naturally it is not calculated by these benefits.

But if you want to fight the other three noble families, then you have to calculate the gains and losses. With William's eyes and a random sweep, one can draw a conclusion: If you take down these three families, even if you take away all of the family's inventory, the trip to the Void Principality will still be a loss. However, if the Royal Family of Ryan can withstand the pressure from the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance, then this has to be said to be good news.

You must know that the Void Principality has once again made a huge profit from the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance—all the supplies of those hapless Chambers of Commerce have been confiscated. With the character of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance, the losses in the gray shadow black market before can only be regarded as a dumb loss, but this time the blatant approach of the Void Principality, they are bound to ask for justice to come back, and the Void Principality must not vomit something.

But if the Royal Family of Ryan can withstand the pressure, then the Void Principality naturally does not need to spit out the things that have already been eaten.

As for the information mentioned by the Marquis of Floris, William really didn't care.

He is very confident in the intelligence capabilities of the void, and it can even be said to be conceited. If there is something that the Void Duchy must know, it would have been placed on his table and waited for him to read it. Therefore, he is naturally not interested in the information said by the Marquis of Floris. But seeing that Floris actually used this information as the content of the transaction, William still wanted to know what kind of information could actually be placed on such an important transaction.

"What information is it?" William asked.

The Marquis of Floris smiled, and then he said: "Information about Wuling."

William's face changed suddenly, and his expression became more solemn: "Do you know the origin of that mysterious ally of the Simon family?"

Unconsciously, William's name for Floris also became respected, which shows how much William attaches importance to this information.

And why does Floris not know the meaning of this title change.

In his heart, he suddenly envied the void barbarian named Anno. However, he quickly converged his mind, and then said: "The intelligence department of the Void Principality is indeed developing very fast. And the collection of capabilities is indeed too advanced, even I am ashamed of this point.... But, , In terms of the establishment and accumulation of the intelligence database, it is still too young."

William nodded, knowing that what Floris said were facts.

The intelligence department of the Void Principality—how powerful is the Void Realm. Look at the level of Sigley Bernie and Avery Kate. but. The establishment of an intelligence database by an intelligence organization requires time to accumulate slowly, not that you can own it if you want to. In many cases, it is the dormancy of several generations of espionage personnel who can finally complete all the intelligence collection in a small area, and set up a project based on this.

So whether the information database of an intelligence department is rich enough, it is often possible to accurately judge the establishment time of the intelligence department.

The power of the Void Realm, no one will ignore it.

but. As the Marquis of Flores said. The Void Realm is still too young. Now perhaps the internal intelligence of the Void Principality can be fully controlled, as long as William needs it, all the background of a family can be thoroughly investigated within a few days. But if you leave the Void Principality, this investigation ability will begin to diminish, the investigation time will be correspondingly lengthened, and the level of detail will naturally be insufficient. Moreover, the farther away the collection and monitoring radiation of the Void Realm is, the longer and lower the time and details required will be.

At this point, William is also quite helpless.

To know. The current information base of the Void Realm is largely derived from the last time it was shared with the Marquis of Floris. Only the information shared that time. Basically, they are based on the Kingdom of Lane and the Kingdom of Darbion, and no other countries are involved.

Hearing what the Marquis of Floris had said this time, William knew that the information about the Wuling must have come from other countries.

"The Wiles family of the Fascist Kingdom, and the current Patriarch, Turin Wiles, is surrounded by a special guard who is full of mist." Marquis Floris said with a light smile, "As for whether it is a misty spirit, I It's not certain, because no one can understand the real situation of the guard.... But I think that with the power of the void realm, it should be no problem to investigate in depth and carefully, right?"

"Thank you very much." William nodded and said in a deep voice.

For William, the most feared thing is that there is no investigation direction, and once there is an investigation direction, many things will be much simpler.

Regardless of whether the entourage next to the Wiles family is a mist spirit, or practicing any special martial skills, William believes that the Void Realm will find it out. With the current capabilities of the Void Realm, once you try your best to investigate a person, you can still collect a lot of very useful information. After all, the power of the Void Realm lies there, what they lack is only the information library and database accumulated by time.

"On the bad blood plan, our Void Principality will definitely try our best to cooperate." William said.

The Marquis of Flores nodded, and said nothing more politely about the matter.

It can be said that this matter is based on each other's needs. It is just a transfer of interests, and there is no politeness or favor.

Immediately afterwards, the Marquis of Flores and William again discussed some things about the bad blood plan. After finalizing the next action plan, Flores stood up and left. This time William did not continue to sit in the conference room, but personally sent the Marquis Floris out of the castle door, and the Marquis Floris quickly disappeared from everyone's sight.

After watching the disappearance of the Marquis of Floris, William's face turned gloomy.

Intuitively told William that the so-called special guard next to Turin Wiles was probably the Mist, who was also very afraid of Sean.

"Let Ruby and Xuefanio come to see me." William said in a deep voice.

It's just that when he said this, there was no one around him, as if he was talking to the air. But since the last time he was almost attacked in the Void Principality, now regardless of whether William was followed by Bannock, Void Darkblade will send several dead men and shadow assassins to protect themselves, in order to prevent that kind of accident from happening again, so William's words. Naturally speaking to those shadow assassins.

When William returned to the meeting room, Ruby was already standing in the meeting room and waiting.

Not long afterwards, Xuefanio also rushed over.

Seeing that both Ruby and Xuefanio were present, William said, "There is a very urgent task that requires the two of you to work together."

Hear what William said. A look of surprise appeared on Xuefanio's face.

And the look of Rupiah. Although it was still calm, the heartbeat suddenly accelerated, and she did not escape the capture of Xuefanio. Obviously, Ruby also felt incredible about William's words, because Xuefanio's strength lies there. If there is a task that requires Xuefanio's coordination, then it can only prove that this task requires the face. The right target is likely to be a powerhouse at the sanctuary level. And this level of object goal. This is the first time since the establishment of the Void Realm.

"I want you to go to the Kingdom of Fascism." William said in a deep voice. "Check out the current Patriarch Wiles, a special guard next to Turin Wiles."

Immediately afterwards, William repeated the information about the fog spirit described by Diana, and also emphasized the danger of the fog spirit that Shaun said before. After talking about the information about Wuling, William reiterated the description of Marquis Floris just now, this time in order to give Rupee a more accurate investigator, and he does not want him to investigate the wrong target. Cause unnecessary waste of resources.

"So, our task is to investigate whether the guard next to Turin Wiles is Wuling?" Ruby asked.

"Yes." William nodded, "This is a very crucial point.... If it is really a misty spirit, then what you have to investigate next is whether this misty spirit is the mystery called by the Simon family. Allies. This time, what I need is definite evidence, so I hope your investigation can be as complete and complete as possible."

The Wiles family is the family of the Duke of the Fascist Kingdom. Its strength and background are naturally much stronger than the current Duke of Lane. After all, the Fascist Kingdom has withstood the invasion of the Chenas Empire back then, so there must be some background. . And these are also places that William needs to worry about, because the Wiles family is after all the nobles of the Fascist Kingdom, which is not the same as the position of the Lane Kingdom.

So the Void Principality wants to find trouble with Turin Wiles, so it must have real evidence before it can begin negotiations. Although you don't need to think about it, the Fascist Kingdom will definitely stand on the side of the Wiles family and will never allow the invasion of Shaun and the Void Principality, but if the Void Principality can occupy a word of truth, then it may be able to get it. The support of the Kingdom of Lane, even if it turns into a war between the two countries, will not need to be undertaken by the Void Principality alone.

Therefore, the completeness and completeness of the evidence is particularly important.

Of course, let Xuefanio accompany him to confirm the safety of this investigation. After all, if Wuling is really strong in the sanctuary as Sean said, then its strength may not be calculated according to the general lower sanctuary. With the current combat power of the rupees and the void, it is not a problem to deal with the strong in the golden realm. But if it involves the powerhouse of the sanctuary realm, it is not enough to see, so if Xuefanio is there, if the Wuling really makes a move, it can also resist one or two.

Furthermore, Wuling's biological attributes and Xuefanio's divinity also determined that Wuling would not be Xuefanio's opponent.

"I see." Ruby nodded with a serious face, "I will take care of this matter."

"It's one thing to handle it well, and the most important thing is your safety." William said in a deep voice, "The Kingdom of Fascism is no better than Ryan. It is a kingdom with a history longer than that of Dabion, especially when they have encountered it. It was a crisis of almost annihilating the country, so the fascist kingdom's background and level are very high.... The enemies you encounter during this trip are likely to be the middle sanctuary or even the upper sanctuary, so your safety is only the most important thing to consider."

"Don't worry." Xuefanio said faintly, "I have a sense of measure."

"If you need support, you must send a letter back as soon as possible. I will let Rorty Kabas and the others support you as soon as possible." William thought for a while, and added, "If there is a legendary powerhouse, then don't matter what the task is, let's go back and talk about it.... Therefore, you need to remember not to go too deep and investigate other unnecessary things, so as not to cause problems at other levels."

"I see." Ruby nodded.

"Then when shall we leave?" Xuefanio asked.

"Now." William replied, "but before you go to the Kingdom of Fascism, I want you to go back to the Void City, so that Rorty Kabas, Venia, and Hela will all come over. I need their support.... In addition, By the way, please inform Stalin and Aldolf so that they will be ready to extend the supply line again."

"Huh?" Xuefanio raised his brow slightly, and his face was puzzled, "Isn't the war over?"

"There are new changes." William said, "The information about Wuling was obtained through a deal with the Royal Family of Ryan, so now... we need to be a knife of the Royal Family of Ryan and solve some problems for them. "

"Okay." Xuefanio shrugged, "I don't understand this, so I won't ask anything."

William nodded and said nothing.

Then Ruby and Xuefanio left the meeting room and began to prepare.

And William also lifted the pen, wrote a letter, and then commanded to the air, and soon a shadow assassin appeared in front of William. And William handed the letter to the other party, instructed him to set off immediately, and then delivered the letter to Sean.

No matter how Shaun is the shopkeeper, and how he trusts William, Hela, and Neil, he is the Grand Duke of the Void Principality after all, and now everyone in the Void Principality is gathered around Shaun. Therefore, William agreed with the requirements of Floris and Ryan's royal family. When the bloodletting knife was planned for a bad blood plan, Sean must be notified of this matter.

When everything was done, William called Dianna to continue the statistics that hadn't been done just now.

Only this time, it was for Diana to bring all the Simon family data files. In this regard, the wise Diana naturally knew that William had reached a deal with the Marquis of Flores, but she would naturally not ask about these things that she shouldn't know. Now she is no longer a member of the Simon family, but a member of the Void Principality, so she must consider the problem from the perspective of the Void Principality's interests.

"There is one thing, I need you to come forward." While processing the Simon family information, William said.

Diana heard William's voice and was a little apprehensive: "Sir William, say you."

William pushed the post-it note handed to him by the Marquis of Floris to Diana, and then said: "About these three families, I want you to say that they are also members of the previous conspiracy against the Void Duchy.... ...I hope that by tomorrow at the latest, I will be able to see a piece of information that can link these three families together."

PS: I want to hear more of your voices and receive more suggestions from you. Now search the WeChat public account "q dread" and pay attention to give more support to "The Lord of War"!

When Sean received the letter, it was already three days later.

Now the entire magical teleportation array in the Kingdom of Lane has almost been laid. Except for a few more remote places and large military teleportation arrays are still under construction, it can be said that the network of teleportation arrays in the Kingdom of Lane has basically been established. However, at present, except for the Void Duchy, only those large cities in the aristocratic realms of the Kingdom of Lane have teleportation arrays, and there are no teleportation arrays below the town level.

Therefore, when Shaun and Noro left, they had to go to the nearest city. This was also the reason why the emissary of the Void Realm was able to find and catch up with Shaun.

Sean, after reading the letter sent by William, he was silent for a long time before saying: "I see, tell William, let him do it without worry."

After hearing Sean's reply, the emissary turned and left.

And Sean, a black flame lit up on his right hand, completely burning the letter to ashes.

Noro glanced at Sean, saw that his face was gloomy, and after thinking about it, he said, "What kind of king's plan is that is not bad."

Sean looked at Noro with a faint smile, and then said, "Which aspect do you mean?"

"You know what I'm talking about." Noro shrugged, his face looked very calm, but these things weren't within the scope of his concerns, so naturally he won't be taken care of by him, "Now you There is still a little friendship, but what about the next generation?"

Shaun was really surprised this time.

Even people like Noro who are completely unfamiliar with political careers can see the parts involved in the so-called "bad blood plan" this time. It is naturally impossible for people like William and Sean to be ignorant. Sean believes. When William first saw the content of the King's letter, he should have understood that the Void Principality also belonged to the definition of "bad blood" in the Bad Blood Plan, but this time, the Void Principality had no choice but to refuse.

The reason is simple.

The Royal Family of Ryan already knew about the existence of the Alliance of Seven with Asuna and Sean as the main players. Although the Seven Alliance of Sean and others now has a sense of identity and belonging to the Kingdom of Ryan. However, the overpowering of the Void Duchy and Garrod Duchy is already inevitable. This will naturally cause panic in the Kingdom of Lane.

Perhaps Ingus can trust Sean and Asuna unconditionally, but as Noro said, what about Ingus's successor?

Can the next King Ryan trust Shaun and Asuna so unconditionally?

Sean is not optimistic about this answer.

He knew that the proposal of the bad blood plan was not Ingus's original intention, or who the bad blood plan was to pick with the bloodletting knife, Ingus must have hesitated for a long time. It was only when Sean stubbornly launched the blood flag for revenge. This at the same time formed a situation in which King Ingus was in a difficult situation-under the general trend. Ingus can't make a choice.

It's just that Ingus's original intention is more biased towards Sean, Asuna and others.

It doesn't matter if he found it in his conscience, or that he feels guilty for Sean and others. In any case, Ingus knows at least that letting Sean and the Seven Alliance to be the bloodletting knife will inevitably lead to it. The strength of Sean and others was damaged. It is precisely because of this that King Ingus has the compensation plan for the Void Principality-he can withstand the pressure of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance. This is enough to demonstrate the powerful courage of the king.

As for the possibility information of that Wuling, it was probably incidental.

But Sean believes it. The compensation of Asuna and others would also not be less than the compensation of the Void Principality.

Of course, if you want to say that the royal family's gains are, then it is definitely greater than Ingus' compensation plan for the League of Seven. Because, after Xiao En et al.'s trouble, the noble faction outside the Great Wall will inevitably be greatly injured, and even forced to reorganize and reorganize. And taking this opportunity, Ingus can also push his confidantes into these unclaimed territories, becoming a new lord, and use this as a radiant point to begin to radiate the influence of the Royal Family.

"That old guy Ingus will be fine for another two to thirty years." Sean said in a deep voice, "But in a few years, I will leave the Kingdom of Lane, and then the next generation of Lane will also have nothing to do with me."

"What if the Kingdom of Lane wants to launch a promotion battle against you?"

A vassal state has always been a very difficult road to separate from the suzerain state and become a kingdom. Because this is undoubtedly beating the face of the suzerain country, and what is more, it is tantamount to announcing a news to the outside world that the suzerain country is too weak and can't even control its own vassal country. In this way, it will naturally attract many neighboring countries to pry into the suzerain state, and even launch an aggressive war.

So for the sake of face problems, or to show the strength of the sovereign state, the suzerain state will launch a war against the vassal states that try to break away from control and independence.

And this war is called a promotion battle.

At the beginning, if the Great Demon of Enkos hadn't stood between the Millennium Covenant Empire and the Kingdom of Lane, the Kingdom of Lane really wanted to break away from the Millennium Covenant and become a kingdom. This is absolutely impossible. After all, Lane didn't even possess the strength of the third-rate kingdom at that time, let alone the Millennium Covenant Empire sent troops, I am afraid that even the Kingdom of Hales and the United Nations of the Karossa tribe could take most of the Kingdom of Lane.

Of course, the promotion battle is also possible to avoid.

After all, if a vassal state is so powerful that even the suzerain state cannot be suppressed, then the outbreak of war between the two parties will inevitably only benefit the other fishermen. Therefore, a harmonious negotiation and negotiation is also very necessary.

However, will the Void Principality really fear the battle for promotion?

"If you really want to fight, then fight a chant." Sean's tone was very flat, but the content of the words seemed extremely domineering.

Today's Void Principality is not the small territory that was just a knight in the past, and it is not a baronial leader who seems incapable of facing the strong. In today's Void Principality, there are seven or eight sacred domains from the top powerhouses, and there are two trump-level legions in terms of military strength, and the generals are enough to make many countries embarrassed.

Only in terms of overall strength. The current Void Duchy already has the capital to upgrade the kingdom.

Just, Sean is not in a hurry yet.

Because once it is upgraded to a kingdom, it will be separated from many hidden aspects of protection-although Sean does not want to admit it, he has to say that this kind of policy is similar to the novice protection. It is indeed conducive to the development of the current void Principality. It's like. This time, if Shaun's Void Principality has been upgraded to a kingdom, then if he is going to trouble the Simon family, he will inevitably face the counterattack of the entire Ryan Kingdom, and he will also not be able to deal with the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance. Ingus helped him withstand the pressure.

In the current favorable situation, what Sean wants is to develop and grow the Void Principality as soon as possible, until he truly has the strength of a first-class kingdom. Let's upgrade again.

Seeing that Sean has made his own decision in his heart. Noro shrugged and didn't comment any more.

After all, these things have nothing to do with him.

So soon, Noro changed the subject: "Then what are we going to do now?"

"See someone." Sean said, "If it's no surprise, she should be waiting for us, so we should go there quickly."

"Woman?" Seeing Sean's reaction, Noro suddenly whistled.

"A very dangerous woman." Sean frowned. It seems to be thinking of some bad memories, "Um...but to be honest. Except for her bad personality, it's okay. At least her ability is really strong, this time I also plan to borrow a few people from her. "

"Do you still need to borrow someone?" Noro was taken aback.

"The environment of the Void Principality dictates that there are some talents that I can't cultivate." Sean said helplessly, "The ability of alchemy is much better than magic in some cases.... Nowadays, important places in many countries will use enchantment to arrange defense points instead of magic array. Although the defense ability of enchantment is weaker than magic array, it can automatically collect elemental power from the air to supplement and restore without relying on a large amount of spar consumption. , This is the biggest advantage that Alchemy will become popular now."

"It's just the difference in attack strength." Noro was noncommittal, "If the attack strength is sufficient, the magic circle will have a stronger effect."

"I don't deny this, but the enchantment is more humane than the magic circle." Xiao En replied, "Like the magic circle, usually there are only simple functions of turning on and off, and once it is turned on, it consumes a lot of magic power. But enchantment is different. It doesn't have anything to turn on and off this function. It will be activated immediately after the enchantment layout is completed, and the effect will be played immediately, and the general consumption will automatically be absorbed by the free elements and magic in the air. Recovery... However, if it is under a strong attack, it still needs to use external energy such as magic spar."

The Chanas Empire, as one of the seven empires, has now begun to change many secret places in the country from magic circles to enchantments. This is not without reason.

Of course, on the one hand, it is because of the influence of Paquiuli Boulder, on the other hand, the enchantment has been proved by countless facts, and it does have a better performance structure than the magic circle. However, if you don't consider more humane considerations, and just want a solid defense stronghold, then the magic circle is naturally more capable of meeting this requirement.

Along the way, Sean continued to popularize the abilities of enchantment and alchemy to Noro, which he did not understand. However, considering the many question marks and some strange knowledge that Noro would occasionally mention when he was summoning Noro, Sean had already understood that the plane world where this guy was originally in, did not have the ability system of alchemy and enchantment.

Ten Thousand Realms City.

A city with a very strong flavor of fantasy.

Sean still remembers that when he heard the name of this city for the first time in the game, he thought he had played the wrong game. But later, after countless facts proved that Sean did not play the wrong game, but the city does indeed have a very powerful enchantment-Ten Thousand Worlds, as its name suggests. And this is also the city controlled by Paqiuli's free-style faction in the Heerson Institute.

Generally speaking, the Helson Institute will not interfere with the change of political situation and the replacement of kingdoms.

In other words, it's not that it won't, but it's disdain to do it.

Because for the people of the Heerson Institute, research is the basis of their willingness to devote their lives to it. Regarding the change of the kingdom, the conquest, etc., it is meaningless to them, because they will find a way to solve whatever resources they need. Because of this, the respective factions of the Heerson Institute are all meaningless. There are different fighting mechanisms.

But the free-standing faction can be regarded as an outlier of the Heerson Institute.

In addition to not intervening in political changes, they are interested in intervening in everything else. Therefore, let alone controlling a city, sometimes they even appear in the palace to finalize a deal with those ministers or kings. For the people of the free-standing faction, there is no good and evil, no opposition, no right and wrong, and only value.

Therefore, the existence of Ten Thousand Worlds City is a completely independent city that the Darbion Kingdom ceded to the Free-style faction.

This city has its own laws and rules, and the laws of all outside kingdoms are not recognized by it. And after the fall of the Kingdom of Darbion, Free-style naturally also sent someone to reach a secret deal with Ingus in the first place, and the City of Ten Thousand Realms was still under the control of the Free-style faction, not under the control of Lion's law.

As for the content of this secret negotiation, no one knows except Ingus.

Sean and Noro, when they arrived here through the teleportation array. It's late at night.

But when the two came out of the teleportation formation. However, it was discovered that more than a dozen guards had surrounded the teleportation formation.

Nolo entered a state of battle for the first time, and the awe-inspiring aura of the middle-ranked sanctuary powerhouse burst out suddenly.

But his aura just broke out, and the sky that was dark night suddenly exudes a azure brilliance, and then Noro's face suddenly changed, because he felt an endless and powerful pressure directly. Falling on him, this made him at least need more than half of his mind to deal with this coercion. In this case, he could not even expand his own domain. And the strength can only play to the level of upper silver.

Such a sudden situation. Noro, who had never encountered such a thing before, couldn't help but feel nervous.

"It's okay." Sean stretched out his hand to stop Noro, who was about to have a burst of power and then chose to break through, and chuckled, "Relax, relieve your power."

Nolo was stunned for a moment. He looked at Sean sideways, and after seeing Sean nodded with a smile, he finally gave up the struggle.

The magic is that it was when Noro gave up resistance. At the moment when he lifted his aura, that huge coercion disappeared without a trace in an instant. In this way. On the contrary, Noro didn't feel any uncomfortable place, everything was normal as it was in the outside world-he could still feel that the breath in his body was not weakened at all, if he wanted it, he could radiate the belonging The strength and aura of the middle sanctuary powerhouse.

Sean smiled and pointed to the top.

Noro was a little unclear, so he looked up, but found nothing. But soon, his eyes changed slightly, because he felt a different breath-although this breath was very weak, he could naturally find some clues with his sharpness. And when he felt this unique breath, Noro woke up: "Enchantment?"

On the way, Sean has popularized a lot of knowledge about enchantment and alchemy, so if Noro can't react at this time, Sean will really doubt his IQ. So facing Noro's question, Sean nodded slightly: "Here, don't use your abilities without a talisman."

【Ten Thousand Worlds】 has many abilities, one of the most famous is 【rule suppression】 . Unless a legendary powerhouse comes in person, even the pinnacle of the upper sanctuary will be suppressed by the effect of this enchantment. All people without amulets in Ten Thousand Realms City can only display the highest level of silver strength-this still refers to the sanctuary powerhouse like Noro, if it is Sean, even the lower level silver can only be displayed. .

So in Ten Thousand Realms City, if you think you can walk sideways if you are strong, you will definitely die horribly.

Don't say what the fighting skills of the sanctuary powerhouse are there, how can the people who designed the special enchantment of [Ten Thousand Worlds] fail to take this into consideration. While weakening the enemy, those holding amulets in the enchantment can also gain an increase in combat effectiveness, and can even exert a stronger combat effectiveness through special battle formations.

Since the establishment of Ten Thousand Realms City, many people who have come to make trouble with their own strength and tyranny have basically died so hard that they can no longer die.

People who have been to Ten Thousand Realms City basically know this.

So when Sean said words like amulets, the expressions of the guards didn't fluctuate at all, they just looked at Sean a little.

Sean is also looking at the dozen or so guards present.

These guards are all wearing leather suits. The black leather pants look very tight. The feet should look like boots made of some kind of monster leather, and the upper body is a white shirt with a sleeve on the outside. A long, knee-length trench coat. On the inside of the windbreaker, there was an arc knife pinned to it, and all the guards' left hands were pressed against the arm guard of the arc knife. Although the right hand was hanging down, the strength of these guards would surely be able to draw the sword in an instant.

You don't need to look at Sean to know that the backs of these guards' trench coats must be painted with a diamond-shaped crystal, and then there are several lines surrounding the diamond-shaped crystal. And inside the crystal. It is painted with a small golden short room.

This is the mark of the guard of the Heerson Freedom Faction-the golden dagger, responsible for the security-related issues of the Ten Thousand Realms City. Among them, the captain-level figure must be the strength of the upper silver pinnacle, and the average team member is from the lower silver to the upper silver; the commander of the golden dagger is a strong man of the upper gold pinnacle, and the four deputy commanders are the lower gold Gold ranges from the upper level.

"Lead the way." Sean said.

This time, these guards really showed a hint of surprise. But considering that Sean is a guest of that adult. And the adult personally ordered them to come here and wait. So they didn't dare to be negligent at this time, and after making a please gesture, they led the way.

"The background is not small." Noro curled his lips.

This is the first time he suffers from the special ability of enchantment, so his face will naturally not be easy to see. Sean just smiled at this, but ignored it. Naturally, he still has some understanding of Paqiuli, and sending someone here to greet him at this time, of course, is because of her preference for pomp. So I was showing it to myself. But on the other hand, he is also expressing his respect for Sean.

After all, the Helson Institute can ignore a Void Grand Duke, but it cannot ignore someone who has made significant contributions to the study of the teleportation magic circle.

Especially the fact that this person still has the scholarship.

As long as Sean does not join the Heerson Institute for one day and confirms his faction, anyone at the Heerson Institute will maintain a high degree of attention to Sean and will always try to pull Sean into his faction.

Pa Qiuli, of course, it is inevitable.

Led by the guard of the golden dagger, Xiao En and others soon arrived at the mansion of the city lord.

I have to say that the people of the free-style faction do have some solo style.

Because of this mansion of the city lord. It was almost equivalent to a small castle, and it was still occupying the most prosperous urban area. Among them, Sean on the top of the castle visually measured at least 30 to 40 meters in height. Standing on the top floor can basically overlook the entire Ten Thousand Realm City. This is very different from the urban layout of Wanjie City in Xiao En's memory, because he remembers that there is no such a fortress in Wanjie City.

After the six-meter-high winch-propelled city gate was opened, the golden dagger guards filed in, and Sean and Noro naturally followed everyone in.

At this point, the golden dagger guard's mission was completed. After they confessed to Sean, they turned and left from the front courtyard of the castle. And the one standing to greet Sean and Noro was a middle-aged man in a close-fitting tuxedo, and he knew that he was a housekeeper without looking.

"Master Paqiuli has been waiting on the top floor for a long time." The middle-aged butler glanced at Noro, then looked at Sean and said in a deep voice.

This steward possesses the power of high-ranking gold. With this level of strength, he is already qualified to become a strongman of the Marquis family of a second-rate kingdom. Like the Simon family who was destroyed by Sean, the strongest high-end combat power of his family is one. A high-ranking gold powerhouse. However, in this free-form faction, such a strong man can only serve as a steward. This shows how strong the free-form faction is, at least its background is not a Marquis family of a second-rate kingdom. Comparable.

And the glance he aimed at Noro was naturally judging the danger of Noro.

Obviously, in Ten Thousand Realms City, Enolo's strength is not so strong that it is impossible to face. At least the housekeeper is sure that he can easily defeat Nuolo, of course, the premise is that he is in this city of Ten Thousand Realms. If you leave this city controlled by a free-style faction, Noro will kill the steward as easily as an ant.

After entering the main building of the castle, the housekeeper took Sean and Noro to a door of the room.

After a series of complicated operations, the door of this room was opened.

However, the space behind the door is very small, probably only able to accommodate about six to seven people. However, a magic circle was engraved on the ground, but Sean was not good at magic, so he could not identify the effect of this magic circle.

At the signal of the housekeeper, Sean and Noro walked into this small space. Under the control of the housekeeper again, a burst of light radiated from the magic circle.

Soon, a circle of light rose from the magic circle on the ground, and stopped until it passed over the heads of Sean and Noro. Immediately afterwards, there was a clicking sound around, and then a sudden sense of weightlessness was immediately transmitted, and it was obvious that this small space was constantly rising.

Nolo, who has experience in stagnation and flying, will naturally not be frightened by this sudden sense of weightlessness.

And Sean, the moment he felt weightlessness in this small space, he knew what it was.

To be tacky, it is basically an elevator.

As Sean's identity before crossing into this world, the elevator is simply a popular item, so it is naturally impossible to be scared.

Although the housekeeper seemed calm on the surface, he was still slightly surprised to see Sean indifferent, which made Sean feel a little funny.

But very quickly, almost instantly, the "elevator" stopped operating, and then the door was opened again.

And Sean, naturally, saw Paqiuli sitting in the room outside the door.

Paqiuli Boulder, daughter of the Duke of Hatch Boulder, one of the founders of the free-style faction of the Heerson Institute, also known as the "free-style creator".

In the circle of alchemists, Paqiuli has a powerful influence comparable to that of a sage.

The main reason is that more than 90% of all kinds of alchemy are created and compiled by Paqiuli. Even the powerful enchantment [Ten Thousand Realms], the City of Thousand Realms, is also from Pa Qiuli's handwriting. Although this woman acts crazy and arrogant, and often does not even consider the consequences, it is undeniable that she does possess very strong and outstanding personal abilities.

Many alchemists are willing to sacrifice their lives in order to get some guidance from Paqiuli.

Like the alchemy warrior Rosso, who had a brief cooperation with Sean last time, he temporarily joined Sean's camp in order to seek Paqiuli's guidance.

At this moment, when the door was opened, Xiao En saw that he was drinking black tea leisurely while enjoying the night view and starry sky of Ten Thousand Realms City. He couldn't help but smile: "Miss Paqiuli, it really is It's so leisurely."

"It's a rare break after work." Paqiuli looked at Xiao En, and also showed a little girlish smile.

Only at this time, will I probably remember that Pa Qiuli is actually not that old, she is just a young woman in her twenties now, at least she still has a girlish mind.

But soon, Paqiuli's eyes fell on Noro's body, her eyes lit up suddenly.

At this moment, Sean suddenly felt a headache.

Sure enough, Sean quickly heard Paqiuli's voice: "There are so many beauties around you.... If I'm not mistaken, this is definitely not Miss Cecilia. But the strength is pretty good. Not bad. How did you trick these people into your hands?"

It is not surprising that Paqiuli will investigate and understand herself. Even if she knew about the existence of Cecilia, it was not something to be surprised. Basically, she only needed to know him and the people who knew the void Principality. Everyone knows the existence of Cecilia. But as to whether you know Cecilia's true identity, it is difficult to say, but as the Void Realm gradually improves and grows, the work of covering Cecilia's true identity is naturally getting deeper and deeper.

At this time, when he heard Paqiuli's words, Noro was not as angry as an average man. Instead, he made a charming expression at Sean lightly.

This emoji. Let Noro look extremely sad and pitiful.

Even Paqiuli couldn't help but stay for a while.

But Sean, he may not appreciate it, because he has raised his right hand.

"Master Shaun, please calm down, I was wrong!" Noro's expression changed immediately, "Do you want me to be ashamed here?"

"You are the one who is ashamed, not me." Sean snorted coldly. Then he snapped his fingers mercilessly.

Noro turned pale in an instant, and his whole person fell directly to the ground and convulsed.

See this scene. Paqiuli's sluggish expression immediately returned to normal, and then turned her head to stare at Sean. And being stared at by Paqiuli, even Sean felt a horror, and it took a long time to hear Paqiuli sigh: "Soul death agreement?... You are actually willing to be so * such a beauty. I can't see it with my hands."

The soul death contract is a unilateral control contract.

The concrete performance of its contract is just like the punishment that Sean is now punishing Noro. And this kind of contract, unless the party as the owner of the contract is willing to cancel it automatically, otherwise the contract will never be cancelled. If you want to wait for the natural cancellation, the owner of the contract must die—not the contractor's hands. Even killing intent cannot be produced, otherwise he will be punished more severely, and the most serious case is to be buried with the contract owner.

But in fact, the contract between Sean and Noro is not a soul-death contract, but a more clever contract than the soul-death contract. Regardless of the degree and circumstances, as long as Sean died unnaturally, Noro would be buried with him, and it was also an annihilation method in which his soul was directly wiped out.

Naturally, Sean wouldn't explain this. He just sighed, and his face looked very helpless: "A chance. Otherwise, you think I'm willing to take this guy around."

"It's not good to have a beauty with you."

"Do you really think he is a female?" Xiao En curled his lips. "This guy is a man, but he has the blood of the superior elves."

"Superior elves?" Paqiuli was taken aback, but then her gaze at Noro changed.

Sean recognizes this gaze, the gaze of a typical researcher. Obviously, at this moment, Noro was an experimental creature in Paqiuli's eyes. For this, Sean will not sympathize with Noro, who makes this guy always like to die.

"Interested?" Sean simply sold Noro.

"What race?" Paqiuli still stared at Noro in a daze.

"Silver Moon Elf." Xiao En laughed.

Pa Qiuli suddenly turned her head to look at Sean, her eyes full of disbelief.

Silver Moon Elves, this is a group of elves that have been completely extinct on the mainland, and its history even goes back to before the Ash Age. You know, all the elven races on the continent today were formed after the division of the silver moon elves. Although their bodies contained a little silver moon elves blood, the blood was so thin that it was completely negligible.

In the Heerson Institute, there was an experiment on the bloodline purification of the Silver Moon Elf.

Although there are many factions in the Heerson Institute, and they are even hostile to each other, some important experimental information cannot be kept away from others. The * experiment initiated by the ancient blood faction captured more than 100,000 surface elves, including the four major races of steppe elves, forest elves, highland elves, and gray elves, and directly drained their blood. After continuous purification and concentration, only less than 20 milliliters of purified blood was obtained.

On this 20 ml, it is said that the blood concentration of the Silver Moon Elf is less than 50%. If you want to reach 100%. At least it has to be purified dozens of times before it is possible. It's just that this so-called 100% state is completely impossible to achieve, because limited by experimental materials and environmental factors, the highest theoretical value can only reach 67%.

But if you want to reach this height, at least a million elves have to be slaughtered.

At this point, even the Heerson Institute cannot bear such terrible consequences—don't think about it. If you let the Peace Council know. He will definitely smash the hometown of the Heerson Institute for the first time. Therefore, no matter how crazy the people of the ancient blood faction were, they wouldn't do this kind of thing, so this experiment would not end afterwards.

At this time, a living Silver Moon Elf was presented in front of Paqiuli, and it was strange that she was not moved.

"Let me draw a tube of blood!" Paqiuli's breathing immediately became heavy and hurried, "Just one tube is enough!"

"I can give you four tubes of blood." Sean stretched out four fingers, "In this case. No matter what experiment you want to do. It's okay."

Hearing Sean's words, Pa Qiuli's face instantly became brighter, red as if she could bleed. This was a sign of extreme excitement. However, Paqiuli quickly returned to her normal look, because she had dealt with Sean several times, and she knew that this product was also a master who did not want to suffer, and she was willing to send out 20ml of Silver Moon Elf blood. . Then the conspiracy must not be light.

Pachuli believes that although she is one of the creators of the free-style faction, she has very large authority. But she didn't dare to praise Haikou at will. No matter how good the experiment is, it also has a certain value. If it surpasses the bottom line of value, Paqiuli can only choose to abandon it even if she suffers.

As for the strong use of Sean, Pa Qiuli is not that stupid.

"Let's talk, what do you have." Paqiuli motioned to the housekeeper to serve Sean tea, and then put on a business-like appearance, "I don't believe you will send me four silver moon elves for nothing. blood."

"The conditions are naturally there." Xiao En laughed.

He is very happy to negotiate terms and deals with Paqiuli for the simple reason, because they are smart people. Not only do they know each other well, but also the relationship between Elsie Boulder and Elsie Boulder. Said Paqiuli and Sean can be regarded as her own category. Therefore, if conditions permit, Pa Qiuli does not mind helping Sean, and Sean also does not mind making a small loss in the deal with Pa Qiuli.

"Let's talk." Paqiuli gave Sean a blank look.

"First of all, I hope that this experiment on the Silver Moon Elf can only be carried out by your free-style faction, and you are not allowed to sell these Silver Moon blood to the ancient blood faction."

"So, do you know about the ancient blood faction?" Paqiuli was not surprised that Sean knew about the Heerson Institute, "I can promise you."

Sean nodded, not knowing whether he was nodding to what Paqiuli said about the ancient blood faction, or whether Paqiuli promised about the scope of the experiment. But he quickly said again: "Secondly, I need all the information about Wuling."

Hearing this sentence, Pa Qiuli glanced at Sean, her eyes had a unique meaning. But soon, Pa Qiuli snapped his fingers. The butler who had been standing next to Pa Qiuli since Sean and Noro came in, turned and left, sitting on the "elevator" and didn't know where he went, but it was very He will be back soon, this time holding a bag of papers and handing it to Sean respectfully.

"Inside, it is about all the information about Wuling collected by the Helson Institute." Paqiuli said, "I know what the purpose of your visit this time is. The Helson Institute is really interested in Wuling, but I The free-form faction you are in is not interested.... I have already greeted you and the beast spirit faction in advance. If you really want to deal with a fog spirit, they are willing to help you, but the premise is that you must The Wuling Spirit gave it to them... to live."

Shaun frowned.

But soon, he nodded and agreed: "Yes."

The Wuling is nothing more than an errand guy, not the main target at all. And being used as research material by the Heerson Institute, Sean believes that Wuling will definitely live a life worse than death. This can be regarded as a petty vengeance-it is not death that really makes the enemy fear. Because death often means liberation.

What really scares the enemy is that life is better than death!

"I will arrange it for you." Paqiuli said.

"Thank you." Xiao En knew that since Pa Qiuli had already taken the initiative to bring up the matter about Wu Ling, and also sent Wu Ling's information to herself, it proved that Pa Qiuli also acted for this Void Duchy's operation. After investigating, Sean was naturally very touched by this.

"Finally, I need a few alchemists." Sean said, "The kind that is permanently hired is not a cutscene."

"Are there any requirements?" Paqiuli asked.

"There must be at least one arrangement that is proficient in enchantment." Xiao En replied.

"I will mention you to arrange this." Paqiuli nodded, and then said.

"That's it, I don't have any requirements." Xiao En smiled, "Remember, after four tubes of blood, I can't guarantee that he won't be mad."

Hearing Sean say this, Pa Qiuli couldn't help turning her head to look at Noro, and smiled: "He just sold you, don't you want to say something?"

Noro lay on the ground without an image, and then looked at Sean with a charming face, which was simply fascinating: "I have already had a deal with him.... I will give you four tubes of blood. He wants I promised me one condition, which is not bad, and I am quite satisfied, so... I have nothing to say for now."
