

Lord of War Vol 3-421

Chapter 421: .Battle of Destiny (3)

After the black sword light swept out quietly, Xiao En's face suddenly turned white.

Immediately afterwards, he spouted a mouthful of blood, and the whole person collapsed directly to the ground, seeming to be completely collapsed.

Kristina looked at Sean with a complicated expression.

She found out that she really didn't understand this lord.

From the first meeting to the third meeting now, Christina found that whenever she thought that Sean's hole cards were exhausted, she would see him open another card that had never been exposed to anything. The hole cards in front of the person. Moreover, each of these hole cards has great power to turn things around—just like this time when she met in Adroan, although she was surprised that Sean's growth rate was so amazing, after all, she didn't step into the sanctuary one day. Even if you can't really step into this world.

So, to be honest, Christina didn't think about using Sean's force at the beginning, just wanted to use his profound knowledge.

However, I did not expect that the strength of Levi and Alyssa shocked Christina a little.

And when she thought this was Sean's hole card, Kozilek's shot really made Christina feel stunned.

She never thought that it has only been two years since Sean became the Void Lord, and he has recruited the powerhouses at the pinnacle of the legend to join. This is the foundation that those first-class kingdoms can have. She knew that if it weren't for the military power of the Void Principality, it would still not be considered strong. Maybe after Kozilek joined, the Void Principality would have the comprehensive strength of a super-first-class kingdom.

But you must know that the whole process from being a pioneering knight to having the energy today is less than five years!

What can you do in five years?

Christina recalled the process of her own growth, from the first meeting with Sean to the present, that is, from the upper level of gold to the lower level of sanctuary, although it is not far from the realm of the middle sanctuary, but A day without breaking through to the middle sanctuary will never count. But that's it. She is also known as one of the few geniuses on this continent, especially with amazing talent in actual combat ability.

Kristina couldn't help but wonder. If she's a genius like this, then what is Sean? Don't even say it was Sean, I'm afraid that even the female mage next to Sean can't match-Christina's intelligence on Cecilia. It is also very thorough. Five years. Then he broke through from the lower Bronze Realm to the lower Sanctuary, this strength span was more terrifying than any genius Kristina knew.

In this world where you don't ask about the process and only look at the results, no one will know how Cecilia grew up. They only know that Cecilia has only spent five years, from the most ordinary magic The teacher has become a low-level sanctuary strong enough to make more than half of the entire continent bow and salute. Moreover, Cecilia is also a magician with a strong bloodline talent, which is destined to never stop her future achievements from being legendary, at least as a super power.

so. Now on the mainland. Many people have already focused on the Void Principality.

Because the future potential of this principality is very large.

Kristina thought, I'm afraid those guys who are eyeing the Void Principality now would never think that Sean's subordinate already has a legendary powerhouse. Of course, I didn't even want to think that Xiao En, the Void Lord's own combat power, was definitely not weak to ignore.

Thinking of this, Christina looked at Woody's corpse and couldn't help feeling a little more sympathetic.

She knew that it would be very easy for Woody to kill Sean in terms of strength alone.

Even the terrifying sword skill that Sean had just shot. In the heyday, whether it was Woody or herself. They can easily dodge the past-it's not that Sean's sword skill is too weak, but that he can't exert the true power of this sword at all. If you're not mistaken, this sword skill is obviously a sword skill that can only be performed by a strong man at the sanctuary level. Although Christina doesn't know how Sean did it just now, she knows it very well, Xiao Enshi. I am afraid that the energy required to develop this sword is not low.

At this time, it can be seen that Sean is almost slumped on the ground, not wanting to move at all.

But Kristina knows better that Woody's situation just now is actually at the end of the battle-the mental damage in the self-detonation field is not something ordinary people can withstand. If you change to a weaker person, you will definitely have yourself just now. Life. Woody was able to stay strong and still tried to pull Sean back. This shows that Woody's strength is definitely not weak, and his will is absolutely amazing.

Of course, Christina's injury is also not minor.

Her domain [Absolute Light] was completely cancelled out under Woody's domain self-destruction. Don't even want to use domain power in a short time.

As for when to recover, it depends on Kristina's understanding of the field and the speed of recovery from her injuries. But even if it is a genius, it will take at least five days to repair the field.

"Help me." Of course Sean wouldn't know that Christina had thought so much, but he still knew that Christina's domain was offset for some unknown reason, "Your domain... When will it be able to recover."

"It will take at least five days." Kristina helped Sean up, letting Sean turn his body's center of gravity like a koala.

She glanced around at her surroundings and looked at Adroan who was completely caught in the panic of the war. Kristina's face naturally looked ugly. But when listening to a series of explosions sounded in the distance, Christina's also pale face also showed an indescribable weird color: "It seems we have to find a place to hide. Now The fluctuating aura of battle is too tyrannical. In our current state, as long as we are swept away by the aftermath of the fighting of those strong, I am afraid that there will be no bones left."

"No." Sean shook his head slightly, then took out a bottle from his body, took a sip for himself, and then handed it to Christina, "Here."

"What is this?" Kristina took the bottle with her left hand and asked subconsciously, but after taking it. Smelling the aromatic scent from the bottle, she already knew what it was, and she couldn't help but look at Xiao En in a little surprise.

"Life Essence." Shaun's answer confirmed Kristina's guess, "I got it from a tribe of elves who didn't know what to do. I gave it to others. I left some for urgent use. ... Right now. It comes in handy."

The sap of life, also known as the sap of life, is the most essential part of the tree of life and the most important life-saving medicine for elves. Although the effect is not as good as the original life fluid that claims to be able to treat any injury as long as one breath is left, it only needs about 100 ml of life fluid, even if it has suffered a great internal injury or even caused internal bleeding. Can stabilize the injury.

The bottle used by Sean. It is a standard medicine bottle. The capacity of each bottle is one hundred milliliters.

With such a small bottle of Life Essence, tens of thousands of gold coins can be sold on the black market.

Xiao En drank half a bottle in one sip. The effect of this medicine was naturally wasted a lot, but his weakness and internal injuries were also very significantly recovered.

Kristina knew her injuries. It was the mental trauma caused by Woody's self-destruction. Even if she drank too much Life Essence, she couldn't return to her peak state, so she just took a sip. About ten milliliters or so, and then handed the bottle back to Sean. But Sean didn't answer. Speak directly to Kristina, and after Kristina hesitated a little, she didn't refuse, so she put it away.

Such a small amount of life fluid can also allow Christina to deal with some special situations.

Although the liquid of life on the black market has a clearly marked price, it is not always available.

At this time, Sean and Christina found a place at random and hid and rested. At the same time, they carried their anger and swiftly wandered through the body in order to let the medicine's effect be faster. Although Sean is not a fighting spirit with water attributes and light attributes, and his level of self-healing is somewhat lacking, anyway, with the life fluid, Sean's injury has recovered very quickly, even compared to Christina's recovery. The situation is even faster.

The tactical thinking of racing against time, Sean is not at all ambiguous.

However, Sean and Christina are resting here, but Adroan's battle has not stopped because of this.

It can be said that the people who did not leave Adroan in the previous two days are truly * mold for eight lifetimes.

Because whether it is the battle between Kozilek and Laurent, or the battle between the two Saint Sons of the Church of God and Levi and Alyssa, the aftermath of the battle generated by these powerful men is within the scope of the aftermath. It was impossible for ordinary people to stop them, and they fell to death one after another. Even if someone with more strength can escape the battlefield of Levi's side by chance, if they are accidentally involved in the battle between Kozilek and Laurent, they will also be unable to escape.

Even if it avoids the range of battle between Kozilek and Laurent, it is extremely dangerous to face the aftermath of the battle above the sky-in a way, Edward and Ziggs, Yebien The aftermath of the battle is truly the most dangerous. Because the two battlefields on the ground can be avoided if only careful enough, but from the battlefield in the sky, no one can guarantee that something will fall.

At this time, the battlefield is located above the sky.

Edward retreated Ziggs with a punch, but was slammed in the back by Jebien's slasher.

Suddenly, countless blue flames spewed out from Edward's back like a blowout.

However, Yebien, who had already prepared for a long time, immediately danced a shield to protect him, and saw that this silver-white heavy shield, which was tall and even so thick, emitted a soft white light. All the flames sprayed toward Jerbeen were blocked by this white light, and could only be sprayed to the left and right, as if a pair of blue flame wings had grown on this heavy shield.

Waved a shield to block the scorching flames, and Yebien did not dare to stay too long, and immediately flew back and distanced himself from Edward.

Almost at the same time that Jebien retreated, the blue flames on Edward's back stopped immediately, and then they retracted into Edward's body one after another. At this moment, there were no scars on his back, there was only a shallow white mark. Obviously, the sword of Jebien just now did not cause any substantial damage to Edward.

This result made Jebien's brows frown.

Although among the four Paladins, he is called the "Eternal Aegis" and is recognized as the most outstanding guardian of the Saint-Joles Empire. He has protected the emperor of the Saint-Joles Empire no less than a hundred times. Assassination. But in fact, his angel outfit. Raguire has excellent offensive and defensive capabilities-in other words, he is not only good at defense, but also very good at offense.

Although Raguel is naturally not fierce enough compared to Ziggs's Michael, but with a single sword, Edward's skin was not broken. This result is undoubtedly very shocking.

You must know that in the nearly half an hour since the battle, he and Ziggs worked together in an incomparably tacit cooperation, and even firmly controlled the offensive and defensive rhythms, and did not allow Edward to have the slightest rhythm advantage. . But in the end, the two of them had to sell their flaws to get an attack opportunity right now, and the result of this failure to break the defense was really shocking.

"Surprised?" Edward turned his head and stared at Jebien, his voice so cold that there was no trace of emotion at all.

Jebian was even surprised to find that most of Edward's face was covered with a stratum corneum that resembled scales. I don't know if it is an illusion. At this time, Edward's body seems to be enlarged in a circle, and it looks slightly larger than his normal body shape. But soon, Jebien determined that this was not his dazzling, because Edward's clothes were obviously more stretched.

"Demonized?" Jerbin frowned slightly, but the corners of his mouth raised quickly, "I admit that with the strength of Ziggs and I, it is indeed no longer your opponent now, but... I'm afraid of you. You can't control your bloodline anymore, right? You think you are demonized here, can you still leave alive?"

"Humph." Edward snorted coldly, his aura still looked extremely overbearing and even arrogant. "Can I leave? Don't bother you. But what I can guarantee is that if you don't hand over Diane, You two don't want to leave alive.... I don't believe you will not feel that at this moment, the area of one thousand kilometers has been cut off by a powerful field of aura. Even if I am truly demonized, as long as this field does not Disappear, then no one can feel my breath."

Hearing Edward's words, the expressions of Ziggs and Jerbyen also looked a little ugly.

It's not that they didn't feel it, but they couldn't think of what kind of person displayed such a powerful field aura to isolate all the breath within a thousand kilometers of Adroan. You know, to be able to display such a powerful field aura to isolate everything, it is obvious that the opponent has the absolute strength to subdue Edward, but why does the opponent not make any moves?

If it weren't for this breath that seemed very righteous, they would even think that it was a powerful demon who had come.

But since it's not an enemy, why should you help Edward?

Zigs looked very angry.

Because of this behavior, in their opinion, there is no difference between them and the heretics!

Chapter 422: .Battle of Destiny (4)

The sharp sword aura burst out of the sky.

This is a crescent-like black sword energy, no more than two meters high, and the thickness of the sword energy itself is less than one millimeter. However, the coverage area raged by the aura of awe-inspiring aura is all ten feet in a radius. Obviously, this sword aura has its own inherent laws.

Sword Saint and Sword Emperor, the reason why they can be called the emperor in one of the "swords" is because they have extremely unique talents and abilities in the "sword" aspect.

Incorporating the power of laws into the sword aura to increase the power and damage of the sword aura is the most commonly used attack method for them.

Beth said that he could not exert his true combat power on the plane of the Marvel Continent, in addition to worrying about the will of the world, another reason was also because they did not master the upper laws of this world. However, as the basic law that constitutes the world plane, it has a lot in common with the world plane he is in, so it is naturally not difficult to borrow these basic low-level laws.

Because of this, Beth's sword aura is especially powerful.

In the face of this sword-like black crescent sword-like aura, Oscar moved his hands and made an action similar to opening doors and windows. Suddenly, countless golden brilliance shone out, and then quickly built an invisible barrier wall in front of Oscar.

When this sword qi hit the invisible barrier a few inches in front of Oscar, the expected loud noise did not appear.

, on the contrary, seemed a little weird and silent.

However, in front of this invisible barrier, the entire earth collapsed to a depth of nearly one meter, directly revealing the black rock layer underneath, and all the sand was directly vaporized and evaporated at this moment. No dust or smoke appeared.

The only thing left is the impact that Oscar felt.

Afterwards. The destructive power formed by this sword aura spread out along the two sides of the invisible barrier. As a result, the collapse of the earth gradually stopped after it extended a full range of nearly tens of meters, but the fragmentation marks of the earth obviously did not stop so easily.

If you look down from the air, you can see Oscar behind the sword blocking Beth. A "human"-shaped sinkhole appeared directly on the ground.

"Annihilation?" Oscar frowned. The gaze looking at Beth was also a little bit more surprised.

Beth did not reply, but his expression also seemed a little surprised. But soon he returned to his unchanging indifference for thousands of years, and said in a deep voice: "It turned out to be a plane traveler. No wonder you dare to stop me here.... But even if you can stop me, you can't change anything."

"No, it has changed." Oscar smiled slightly, "Just three minutes ago. The future I saw has changed.... In fact. If you are willing to wait here with me, we actually don't need to continue playing. Go on. And, I am also happy to tell you about this new future."

"Reason." Beth's voice was as deep as ever.

"There is no conflict of interest or contradiction between us, do we?" Oscar asked rhetorically.

Beth just sneered back.

"Well, I can guarantee that your host is very safe." Of course Oscar knew what Beth was thinking, but shrugged helplessly. "There are some things that I can't tell you too much. Because language itself is also a kind of power. If I tell you too much, then the future will change because of it.... I just don't want to see the most tragic thing in the battle of fate. It's just the ending."

Beth raised his brow slightly.

It's not that he doesn't believe Oscar.

He knew very well what kind of ability Oscar's special ability "Vision of Destiny" is, to put it simply, he can predict the future. It's just that unlike the foreseeing the future that most people know, what Oscar can see is many fragments of the future-which means that the future is in constant change and there is no fixed ending, any thing. The changes may affect future changes.

It's just that, as Andrew once said, the words of any  stick can't be believed, because no one knows what their motives are.

So, it's hard for Beth to believe Oscar's words.

Because he didn't know what Oscar chose to do.

In fact, any person who can predict the future is lonely in his life, because they are destined to be suspected, used, and may even be assassinated and imprisoned. Of course, because they can see so many futures, they also know the deepest part of each person's human nature, so they also won't trust anyone, the only thing they can trust is themselves.

"I don't want to fight with you." Oscar sighed, "I think you should know that you can't break through my blockade and interception. Similarly, I can't control you, so the battle between us is only There is no benefit beyond wasting energy and causing damage to the origins of this world. So if we can reach an armistice agreement between us, then it would be the best."

"Do you think it's possible?" Beth asked back with a sneer.

"If I tell you..." Oscar smiled slightly, looking very elegant and calm.

Windy, slightly rising.

A puff of sand was rolled up on this plain.

Oscar's lips were closed, as if to say something.

But Beth's face also appeared a little surprised, his brows gradually frowned and then opened, his eyes gradually calmed down, and the most important thing was that his awe-inspiring killing intent gradually faded, no longer the way it was before. strong. It's just that his expression is as indifferent as before, but those who know him will know that Beth's expression is very indifferent. This is his normal situation. If his expression changes, then it is often It's really bad.

"You should know the consequences of deceiving me." Beth said lightly.

"Of course I know." Oscar smiled and nodded, "If it weren't for all the known futures that allow you to join the battle, the whole world would deviate from the trajectory of order as a result, I wouldn't stop you here.... After all, few people in this world can stop your group of people."

Beth coldly snorted noncommittal: "Then I will wait here....If it exceeds the time limit, but the future you mentioned has not yet appeared..."

"Then I will definitely let you pass." Oscar raised his hands somewhat helplessly.

At this moment, a group of extremely bright blue flames burst out in the sky. Just like a firework blooming.

Beth and Oscar, both of them involuntarily raised their heads and looked at the battlefield in the sky.

They can clearly "see" that strands of black power are emitting from the battlefield in the sky. Although it didn't appear to be too rich or conspicuous at this time, how shrewd the two of them were. They can see it naturally. The dissipation of these black powers is obviously stronger than the initial situation. If the increase continues at this rate, this power will reach a critical point in at most three hours.

At that time, Edward will not be able to maintain his human form, and will inevitably completely enter the demonization.

The so-called demonization. In fact, it is the true form of all demon gods. It is also the posture that they can show their true strength.

It's just that this posture is an absolute disaster for any material plane. If you want to maintain the energy of this posture, you can only continuously absorb the power of the world's origin to maintain your own vitality. Because of this, the arrival of any demon  in the main material world is a complete destruction and destruction. . If before this, no one would pay attention to Edward just because he was not threatening at all. Then once he was completely demonized, this world plane could no longer tolerate him. At that time, no matter what the powerhouses at the peak of other planes think, for their own survival or the survival of the tribe and even the world plane, they will inevitably come to Edward's trouble, either completely kill him or drive him out of this plane. .

This has nothing to do with camp, or honor, or even humanity, race, or any other issues.

is purely the most essential question of survival.

Oscar sighed softly: "That demon is probably the kindest demon I have ever seen."

"However, this is of no use." Beth said mercilessly. "It's you, who completely isolated the atmosphere here from the outside world. Once he becomes demonized, then what he draws is the vitality of all the life forms in this area. ... In that city, there is a population of more than one hundred thousand. What is the difference between your behavior and ordinary heretics?"

"So, at this moment, in the eyes of the Peace Council and the church personnel, I have indeed been branded as a heretic." Oscar chuckled, "But what about it? They don't know that I did it anyway... Even if I know, no one of them can beat me. Take a step back and say, even if I can, can't I run... Anyway, after this battle of fate, I won't stay in this position. It's time... it's time to leave."

Speaking of this, Oscar glanced at Beth, and then said faintly: "You too."

Beth did not answer the conversation.

But soon, there was another strong explosion in the sky, and it was obvious that Edward was fighting again with the two paladins from the Saint-Joles Empire. But a discerning person can know at a glance that just by the strength of these two paladins, they are not Edward's opponents at all. Had it not been for the cooperation of the two people to be very tacit and strong enough, they would have been killed by Edward long ago, and it would be impossible to persist until now.

But now, their persistence can only be called hard work.

Because the victorious Libra did not lean towards them from the beginning.

"The right wing of the gods has fallen, and now the four great paladins of St. Joles have only the sword, shield and left wing." Oscar rarely showed a solemn look. "If it is the two wings plus the sword and shield, maybe it will be possible. Subduing this demon god. But now there is only the cooperation of a sword and a shield, let alone subduing, even suppression is impossible. It seems that the aura of fate is more dangerous than I thought, and the left wing can't find it at all. Opportunities for support."

"Unexpectedly, your vision of destiny will sometimes be blind." Beth suddenly smiled, "Don't tell me, you haven't sensed the unpopularity in the city until now."

"Inhuman?" Oscar was taken aback, "You mean, that breath of fate..."

Now, it's Beth's turn to be a little surprised.

And seeing the appearance of Bass, Oscar can only helplessly smile. Said: "I really didn't see it.... I can only feel that the breath on his body is the breath of destiny, but in fact, I can't see everything about him, because his soul and original breath have been affected by Xiao. Well, that kid is covered. This is the concealment ability endowed by the soul contract, and even I can't break this rule."

Hearing Oscar's words, Beth looked pensive.

"If it is not convenient to say. Then forget it." Oscar said somewhat "acceptingly".

"Exciting generals is useless to me." Beth squinted coldly. He said with a face of disdain, "It's really inconvenient to tell you too clearly, because you're right, and language is also a kind of power.... And from the words you just said, I also captured very important information. That is, the future you can see is limited, not all futures can be seen by you. Therefore, there is still an "unknown" future.... If I tell you too detailed information. Then you Will see more of the future."

Hearing Beth's words, Oscar's always smiling look stopped, and he could no longer maintain that relaxed smile.

"The reason why you are stopping me here is to reduce the variables as much as possible, that's all." Beth relentlessly exposed Oscar's intentions.

Now, it was Oscar's turn to show a helpless wry smile.

At this moment, he finally believed that the sentence "if you talk too much, you will lose" is not aimless. It's just that he didn't expect that Beth would be so smart. From his limited words, he accurately captured a lot of core information and key information.

"All I can tell you is that it is an alien creature." Beth said lightly. "Its true posture is not much weaker than the one in the sky.... And in terms of appetite, it may be even worse."

Oscar's face suddenly turned white, and even faintly able to see the blue veins floating, he turned his head to look at Adroan in a little astonishment.

Because just now, at the moment Beth said this, he saw several futures that had never appeared before!

But when Oscar just wanted to move, Beth suddenly appeared in front of him.

While looking at the bass blocking the way, Oscar was taken aback.

"We had an armistice agreement, I will stay here to 'accompany' you." Beth looked at Oscar coldly, and then said, but he added an accent to the word "accompany", "You don't want me to break the agreement. , I also don't want you to break the contract."

At this moment, Oscar's look is very exciting.

Because he found that he seemed to have lifted a rock and hit his own foot.

As he said before.

He can't do anything about bass, but it's not impossible to intercept it. So bass, there is no way to get the Oscar, just want to entangle the Oscar not to enter the city, this is also not a problem. It can be said that the strength between Oscar and Beth is at least in this plane world.

"It seems that it is really difficult for us to live together peacefully." Oscar sighed helplessly.

"I think we can live together peacefully." Beth smiled, "I still have a lot of good things here, or we should learn from the customs of the Chenas Empire, make a pot of tea and then sit down and have a good chat. Let's talk, how?... I am quite curious about many things about you, for example, what kind of future you have just seen."

Oscar snorted: "That  Shaun, dare to play tricks under my nose. He is a thief. This is to bring the entire Northern Commonwealth to turmoil! And not only that, he actually wants to confess the saints. The Joles Empire will be dragged down!... If he is really allowed to do this, even if I prevent the battle of fate from damaging the origin, but the entire Northern Continent is completely turbulent, there will still be many unforeseen accidents!"

"Sean is just a kid." Beth shrugged. "Anyway, you want to leave this plane, aren't you? In that case, what are you so annoyed for? ... And as far as I know, it's also possible to stop this kind of thing. It shouldn't be you, but the Peace Council.... I said, you're all that old, isn't it okay to enjoy the blessings honestly? You are not tired, I look tired."

Being so mocked by Beth, Oscar laughed angrily: "I shouldn't have stopped Deadthorn and Solomon's people from entering the arena."

"Since Solomon's people have been killed by you, and the death thorns have been driven away by you, stop mentioning these meaningless things." Beth glanced at Oscar and said lightly, "But even if you don't Solomon's people have solved it, and I will solve it too. Those guys actually urged Nanali to take action in order to confront Jibril, hum..."

Speaking of this, Beth's murderous intent could not help but stare again.

Oscar took a deep breath, then raised his head to look at Beth, and said in a deep voice, "Are you really not going to give way?"

"Before I wanted to enter the city, it was because you didn't pit it, for fear that I would ruin the city." Beth looked indifferent, but the killing intent seemed more and more solid, "Then, you are now Are you planning to let me go to the city again?... But unfortunately, I suddenly decided to change my mind. How do you say that Xiao En is a half disciple of me, since my disciple rarely has the ambition and the strength to make something called vigorous. Deeds, how can I, as a master, make you ruin his affairs?...So, you should just stay here to drink tea with me honestly."

After all, I saw Beth suddenly plunged the sword in his hand into the ground, and shouted: "World-style. Judgment."

In an instant, thousands of sword auras as thick as buckets rose into the sky within a hundred li. These sword auras soared straight into the sky, but each of them could affect the surrounding area of several meters. When the blockade net formed by all the sword auras was connected, the area within a hundred li was completely sealed off.

From the outside, you can only see that the area within a hundred miles is like a forest of swords.

Under the raging sword energy of , the impact is no longer limited to the earth, and even the sky has become a no-fly zone.

Feeling that the surrounding activity space has been compressed to less than three meters, Oscar's face showed a trace of amazement. He knew that this was caused by his carelessness, and because of this he lost the opportunity, but he didn't expect that Beth would actually stop here decisively and directly display such a powerful domain blockade sword skill. At this moment, he has been locked by a Qi machine, as long as he has any unusual movements, he will be attacked by the extremely fierce and fearful sword Qi Ocean.

Oscar, who is as strong as the plane traveler, dare not act rashly at this time, only showing a look of resentment.

As if to make Oscar more regretful, the city of Adroan also exposed an extremely tyrannical aura at the same time.

That is the breath of angel costume. Raguire's awakening!

Chapter 423: .Battle of Destiny (5)

Gabriel, is one of the angel costumes owned by the four paladins of the Saint-Joles Empire, with an attribute of water.

The person who owns this set of angel costumes is Laurent, who has the blood of Hegler in the Tyre family branch. The affinity between him and Gabriel reached 95%. Among the four paladins of the Saint-Joles Empire, the affinity is second only to the commander of the White Wing Knights. Ziggs, the owner of Michael the Sword of Punishment, is even above Raguire, who is known as the "Eternal Shield".

Yebien's fit with Laguire is only 93%.

Therefore, Laurent can also make Gabriel enter the awakening attitude, and even his performance is slightly stronger than that of Jebien.

The only thing he can't compare with Jabien is his lack of experience.

Kozilek looked at Laurent whose armor had changed dramatically in front of him, his brows frowned.

Before Laurent, the armor on his body just showed a normal blue color, and there was no peculiar thing about it. When attacking, he could feel the hardness of the armor and the defense it could provide. Powerful. Of course, Kozilek can clearly feel that this armor can provide Laurent with a very strong recovery ability. Many times he has beaten Laurent to vomiting blood, and even noticed that Laurent's breath has changed. Weak, but it won't take long for Laurent's breath to recover.

This makes Kozilek somewhat incomprehensible.

In fact, Kozilek really cannot understand the meaning of the two words "artifact".

At this time, the armor on Laurent did not have any significant changes in appearance. The only thing that changed was that the armor on Laurent was suddenly covered with a layer of light that resembled water vapor, that kind of azure blue. It became deeper, and the sheen like a torrent began to flow quickly on the armor. And it is precisely because of the rapid flow of these blue lights that a hazy water vapor is produced on the armor. Laurent was a little unclear against the whole person.

Behind Laurent's battle armor, there were two more pairs of huge water-blue wings.

I can't see what power is formed, but every flap of the wings will sprinkle many blue starbursts. This point is somewhat similar to the energy wings formed by flames, but there is no point at all that has similar energy to flames.

Besides. The biggest shape change. They are the double swords in Laurent's hands.

This pair of double swords were just ordinary long swords at first. At most, the blades are slightly thicker than normal long swords. This kind of weapon is more suitable for attacks such as swinging, slashing, and slashing. Moreover, double swords, even if they were more skill-based martial arts, might be weaker in terms of power, but they were particularly good in terms of technical combat.

is also because of the peculiarities of Gabriel weapons. Therefore, many outsiders think that Laurent is a weapon powerhouse that is different from the other three paladins.

The so-called weapon powerhouse. It is an unwritten way of addressing the strong from the outside world.

Because many real strong men will collect materials and forge their own weapons after reaching a certain level of strength. Those who have the ability and conditions, background, or greater ambitions usually start when they step into the golden realm, while those who are generally less capable or with weaker conditions and abilities will start from the sanctuary realm. .

This kind of powerhouse who pays more attention to taking advantage of weapons is called the weapon powerhouse.

And here is the northern and western continents. It is notorious for years of war and chaos, which is naturally more special than the smooth sailing of the southern and eastern continents. Therefore, the general golden realm will start looking for materials to build their own most handy weapons. Especially the Western Continent is even more exaggerated. The silver realm masters have already begun to prepare for this work, and then the golden realm is thoroughly familiar with weapons. Even if the so-called human and weapon unity is not achieved in the sanctuary realm, it will not be too bad. Too far.

Therefore, there is such a sentence on the Continent of Miracles.

"People from the Eastern Continent are good at strategy and fighting together. The Western Continent has the most workshops and forgers in the entire continent, and the strong in the Northern Continent are the real strong."

As for the Southern Continent?

Except for a thousand-year-old covenant empire, many people look down on the people of the Southern Continent, thinking that they are a group of people who play in the mud. Therefore, the countries that border the southern continent with the standard boundary markers of the eastern and western continents naturally never admit that they are people from the southern continent, and they keep moving closer to the eastern and western continents. Precisely because of this, the culture of the Southern Continent is actually very severely impacted and influenced by both the Eastern and Western Continents, and therefore gradually there is a saying that "there are many merchants in the Southern Continent".

The ten largest chambers of commerce in the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce, more than half of them were established from the South Continent.

But now, the blades of the double swords in Laurent's hands have become thinner, narrower, and pointed, some of them look like huge cones. This is obviously more inclined to the traditional stabbing sword, but it is larger than the stabbing sword. For several laps.

Weapons like this have better lethality in the abilities of stab, point, and penetration.

If the previous double swords paid more attention to the power of lethality and range, then the current double swords have abandoned that destructive power and instead focus more on penetrating and armor-piercing body power.

It can be said that this weapon is the weapon that really tests the skills.

But Kozilek didn't care about it.

What he cared about was the aura that Laurent showed at this time.

Generally speaking, the spread of momentum and the thickness of cohesion can represent a person's realm of strength. The reason why people at a low level can't see through the strength of a high level is because they have not reached that level. They don't know what the cohesion thickness and strength of that aura is. They only know that the aura is stronger than themselves, so the strength must be stronger than themselves. . At the sanctuary realm, because they have contacted and controlled the domain after all, they have been able to hide their own aura and aura. Therefore, generally, people at low realms can't even see the opponent's realm of strength before revealing their own aura. It is also difficult to see specific strength in the same realm.

And the aura that Laurent showed at this time, even almost reached the realm of the seventeenth order.

From the twelfth level to the fourteenth level, they are all legendary realms, but if they can have the godhead at the fourteenth level, they can be called a demigod, which is much better than the ordinary fourteenth-level legendary powerhouse. , Almost able to compete with the legendary peak powerhouse of the fifteenth order. And if the demi-god-level powerhouse ignites the divine fire and raises the divine kingdom. Then you can officially become a god, but the judgment of the strength of the * after becoming a * is related to the power of faith.

If there is no one who believes in and is on the verge of falling, then it is a weak god, whose strength is almost equal to the legendary peak power of the fifteenth order.

The weak gods, middle gods, and high gods after . Corresponding to the ranks of the super powers of ranks 16, 17, and 18. It's just that it is difficult for the gods to truly descend onto the physical realm. Because in the material world, their divine power is no different from the super strong, and once they are defeated and die, they are truly fallen, and they will even be seized of the godhead.

Only after their own kingdom of gods can they truly be called gods. Compared to the state of the same realm, they are probably half to the first level.

The level above the eighteenth level, there is no so-called super strong peak, but called the plane strong.

means the strongest in this plane.

Equal-level capping degree of the strong general plane. It depends on the strength of the world wall of a plane and the perfection of the laws. The level cap strength of Miracle Continent is twentieth. Therefore, the nineteenth and twentieth levels above the eighteenth level are all strong plane sequences. The gods are assimilated with the laws of the world. Although theoretically they can grow to a level equivalent to the strength of the plane's capping, in fact, even the three most believed gods in Miracle Continent are only the existence of the eighteenth order.

Perhaps after his own kingdom of God, it can be equal to the nineteenth level.

There is only one type of person, and theoretically they can reach the level of assimilation with the plane.

That is the son of the plane.

If it exceeds the limit of the plane, it is called a plane traveler. Because they have been able to tear apart the plane barrier with their bare hands and walk freely in plane space. Even the establishment of plane channels, plane coordinates and other things that ordinary people simply can't imagine.

If the children of the plane grow to this stage, then they must cut all the causal connections with the plane. Re-elect a new son of the plane.

The reason for is also very simple. They can no longer easily enter the material world, or even interfere with the existence of the material world.

Jibril, because of this, he chose Shaun to be the son of the new plane to replace him. As for herself, she can leave the plane of miracle and explore a new plane world or the outer space of the void or even the entire dimensional world. Of course, Jibril could not leave before Sean officially took over, so her state of being unable to interfere in the world and unable to leave is called an observer.

This is also Sean's future growth path and final destination.

It's just that Sean now doesn't know this.

Just as Kozilek did not understand why Laurent suddenly became stronger.

He used his own experience to explain that Laurent, like him, was also limited by the blockade of the soul contract and could not truly restore his strength. It's just that Laurent's master is lucky now, breaking through his own realm, so Laurent can also restore his true strength.

Thinking of this, Kozilek suddenly sensed the location of Sean, and then sighed a little helplessly.

At this moment, Kozilek even complained that Sean's strength was too low.

If it weren't because Sean's strength was too low, he wouldn't have had to fight Laurent so hard, he would have solved Laurent long ago. But now, Laurent has not only improved in strength, it has become more difficult to deal with, but he can still only fight with the fifteenth rank - Kozilek feels a bit dissatisfied with this.

As for fairness?

The world where Kozilek lives, there has never been any fairness.

Only those who survive are qualified to talk about other things.

So Kozilek clenched the heavy sword in his hand once again.

The next moment, he will continue his usual vigorous and resolute vigor-regardless of whether you are a sixteenth or seventeenth step, let's talk about it!

Laurent obviously didn't realize that Kozilek was so ferocious. He had already shown that he was about to enter the 17th tier at the peak of the 16th tier, and even reached the critical point. Kozilek actually dared to attack, trying to control the rhythm of the battle. This discovery made Laurent very upset and angry.

It's just that the awakening state of the angel costume is not just about making Laurent stronger.

It really made Laurent a super strong.

So, the reaction nerves that were slightly unable to keep up with Kozilek's speed before, can also clearly capture all the trajectories of Kozilek's movement at this time. It just waited until Kozilek's trajectory was really seen. Laurent's heart was truly astonished: even if he was a little surprised before, he was only surprised and amazed at Kozilek's outstanding talents, and he did not have too deep fear of Kozilek.

But it is different now.

He can see Kozilek's body shape is still trembling constantly during the movement.

This is a very practical high-level combat technique, and it can even be said to be a combat technique that must be learned by the strong fighters.

Because this constant tremor is similar to frequency conversion-like movement. Can make it difficult for opponents to lock their own Qi. Therefore, it is easy to dodge and avoid being locked by the magician's mental power, which leads to some automatic attacks of tracking magic.

But what Laurent saw at this time was more than just these.

But in this kind of continuous movement, Kozilek can even maintain a very high ultra-high-speed movement, even Laurent, who is as strong as the super strong, can't let his mental power lock Kozilek. Therefore, even if he could clearly see Kozilek's movement, he could also use some powerful medium and long-range attack methods for no other reason. Just can't lock Kozilek. So this kind of attack is naturally just a waste of effort.

As soon as he thought of this, Laurent simply stopped acting cool.

Since Kozilek wanted to fight close, Laurent would not be afraid.

Because in terms of weapon advantages, Laurent is more suitable for close combat than Kozilek—after all, Kozilek's epee is too long, and it needs enough space and distance to swing more than two meters in length. Laurent wanted to make Kozilek unable to use weapons to fight, and once he was unable to use weapons to attack, Laurent, who was already good at weapon warfare, would naturally be able to occupy a greater advantage.

In the air. A very strong sonic boom erupted.

An invisible aura is produced from this sonic boom. Like a black hole that destroys the world, it expands wildly, and then crushes everything around it to dust again—in fact, the area where Kozilek and Laurent are fighting is already an absolute clear space area.

As early as the first collision between the two of them destroyed an area with a radius of more than 100 meters, there was no more living person in the range. It's just that this absolute disaster for the residents of Adroan did not end there. With the subsequent confrontations and fierce battles between the two, almost a quarter of the city of Adroan has been destroyed. In the hands of these two people, countless residents, masters, and powerful people did not even have time to make a scream. Under the impact of the force dissipated by the confrontation and collision of the two, together with the buildings that sheltered them from wind and rain, directly turned into powder, blood mist and dust.

However, the fighting height of the two men is getting higher and higher, reaching a height of almost 400 meters.

But even so, the invisible force field impact caused by the collision between the two people at this time still crushed Adroan, who was already in ruins—yes, it was like playing. After a round ball was finally squeezed out of mud, it was as if it was smashed by a hammer directly. Countless smoke and dust, once again squeezed by the invisible force field produced by the impact and collision of the two, rose all over the sky. The only thing compared to the terrible power produced by the previous collisions is that there are probably no dead people this time, right?

Anyway, everyone is almost dead.

After this burst of explosion, a black shadow flew out immediately and retreated a distance of almost 20 meters in the air.

The other figure, although it did not fly back, still seemed a little shaky.

The figure that flew out was naturally Laurent.

On the surface, it seems that Laurent has suffered, but in fact it is not the case.

Kozilek glanced down at his chest, where there was a blood hole.

The blood hole is not small, and its diameter is almost the same as that of a large screwdriver. It's just that it's not deep into the flesh, and it's stuck by the sternum, so it can't hurt the inner heart, but it's obviously very dangerous from the situation, because through this blood hole, the sternum can even be seen vaguely. There is still a scratch on it-if Laurent's strength just now is a little stronger, this is not a scratch, but a crack.

The blood flowing out soon dyed Kozilek's clothes red, and it spread very quickly. In almost one or two seconds, the chest of his white shirt had turned into a red shirt.

Kozilek's brows were not slightly frowned this time. But wrinkled tightly.

He directly waved his hand to tear off his robe, exposing the skin inside.

There is no difference in the body of a normal human child. It can be seen that the skin is very tender and white, and there are no muscles or muscle lines. If it weren't for the aura exuding from Kozilek's body at this time, just look at the figure and the skin of this body. No one would regard Kozilek as a legendary powerhouse. Just think of it as a kid who doesn't understand anything.

However, as the clothes were completely torn off, the blood hole in Kozilek's chest naturally appeared more clear and obvious, and blood was gushing out almost every moment.

This is the real surge!

Frowning Kozilek took a deep breath, and then his eyes on Laurent became colder.

He stretched out his left hand slowly, wiped his left chest, and wiped all the blood away, which made his left hand turn blood red in an instant. It looks a bit hideous. It's just slightly magical. It was Kozilek's chest that actually began to have muscles growing and building crazily, but the blood hole was filled in the blink of an eye. Not only was there no blood gushing out again, even the skin color was exactly the same. It's not like a new muscle.

Laurent kept staring at Kozilek, he could naturally feel the killing intent in Kozilek's eyes.

Similarly, he was also quite puzzled that he had failed to completely kill Kozilek with that blow.

As a real powerhouse, Laurent not only has considerable confidence in his own strength. He is also very familiar with his strength and combat ability in different states, even his ability to shoot. He has a clear understanding of the destructive power and lethality that can be formed. So the confrontation with Kozilek just now seemed crazy. Even in the actual battle, Laurent found that Kozilek's fighting skills were higher than he thought, so that he failed to completely block Kozilek's space.

But even so, he blocked Kozilek's epee with his left-handed sword-compared to the previous two swords that could not stop Kozilek's slashing, but now only a single-handed sword can block Kozilek's power, this You can see the gap between the super strong and the legendary peak strong. And it was the sword that Kozilek unexpectedly blocked the attack of the epee, so Laurent was able to seize the opportunity to give Kozilek another sword.

This sword, in Laurent's imagination, was the death knell of Kozilek.

It's just that after the long sword stabbed, the strength and counter shock transmitted from the sword body when it was pierced, immediately let Laurent understand that this sword can't kill Kozilek!

He didn't expect Kozilek's muscles to be so tough. If it hadn't been for his sword to have become like an awl, he might even be caught by his muscle layer as soon as he pierced Kozilek's body, and he could no longer get in. And after piercing with this awl-like long sword, there is still a sense of difficulty similar to piercing thick hard leather, so Laurent couldn't help but increase his strength a little bit before finally being able to pierce Kozilek's chest muscles. .

It was only this sword, but because of the power change in the middle, the sword that was pointed at the heart was missed and hit Kozilek's breastbone.

So Laurent was depressed again.

He didn't expect Kozilek's breastbone to be so hard. The sword finally pierced Kozilek's chest muscles, but it was jammed by the breastbone, so Laurent had to apply force again. But I didn't think, it was just a scratch, and before he had time to shatter his sternum, his left hand could not stop Kozilek's second force, and he was directly slashed out - but this kind of flying, Laurent now has experience, and his strength has been strengthened, so he quickly adjusted his condition, except that his left hand was a little numb from the shock, there was no damage at all.

The reason why fighting is particularly capable of making people grow is for this reason.

After all, Laurent didn't know how many times he was shot by Kozilek in the past half an hour.

If it hadn't been for Gabriel's special ability to quickly recover from his injuries, and the unique moisturizing and repairing effect of the water attribute, he would not know how many times he died, and how could there be a battle that could hurt Kozilek now. But watching Kozilek stretch out his hand to fill up the blood hole that was finally pierced, Laurent also raised his brows, because at that moment, he could feel a lot of vitality gushing out of Kozilek's body.

Life force, this is what Kozilek has stored after eating so many things.

Just this time he repaired the blood hole in his chest, it consumed almost half of Kozilek's fullness.

If Kozilek's 80% full is converted into a value of 80 points of energy. Then the energy consumption of repairing the blood hole in the chest is almost seven o'clock. And Kozilek must maintain the minimum level of fighting vitality, at least 50% of the level, in other words, the vitality that can be consumed by him is only 30%, which is only 30 points. Now that it consumed seven points like this, it would be a strange thing if Kozilek didn't get angry.

To know. Those who turned into blood mist due to the collision of invisible energy. It does not provide vitality to Kozilek.

And most of them are ordinary people. The vitality of tens of thousands of ordinary people may be less than five vitality points, so there is no interest in Kozilek.

So this time, Kozilek's desire to kill Laurent was strengthened.

Because in Kozilek's eyes, Laurent is almost equivalent to 40 points of life force, which is 40% fullness.

"die."

Kozilek snorted coldly, then raised the heavy sword and rushed towards Laurent again. Only this time. Kozilek already knew how dangerous Laurent was. So of course it won't give Laurent the chance to hurt himself like the previous time. And Laurent also seemed to know that he had lost his best chance to kill, so he became cautious, relying only on his speed, skill, and weapon space advantage to suppress Kozilek, and use this advantage bit by bit. Accumulate and try to become a winner.

It's not that Laurent didn't want to use the unique advantages of the super strong to completely suppress Kozilek, and directly determine the victory.

only. When reaching the realm above the legend, many special and powerful abilities. It is necessary to cooperate with the power of the law to be able to form power.

And once any law is used, Kozilek may not be able to use it, but it is not too easy to completely destroy and twist it, or even let this ability form backlash damage. Laurent was distorted once before Gabriel hadn't awakened Gabriel's power of law. That time, his injury almost turned into a serious injury that could not be recovered, so he did not dare to use the legendary ability in front of Kozilek.

And now, although he is a super strong, his legendary ability and special field have just been activated, and he almost collapsed and formed a backlash. How dare Laurent continue?

He feels like he is the most awkward super strong.

Sora has powerful domain manipulation and rule utilization abilities, but he dared not use it in front of Kozilek. He can only compete purely with physical strength and fighting skills. In this way, he is a super strong and there is no difference between a legendary strong. Although it is indeed stronger than Kozilek in terms of neural reflexes and strength, this strength is relatively limited, so it can only rely on the stupid method of accumulating advantages to win the battle.

But this stupid method is extremely applicable to Kozilek.

Because we want to rely on this method to win, this battle can only be established at least for several days and nights. Before Laurent had established enough victory, the fighting rhythm was completely in the hands of Kozilek. It was equivalent to hitting whatever he wanted. Kozilek turned around and patted his * and left when he didn't. Laurent thought There is no way to continue fighting.

Of course, if this happens, Laurent will definitely be depressed to vomit blood.

And he has to face a more serious problem.

He couldn't keep Gabriel's awakening state for so long.

So to continue the stalemate and delay the battle, it is naturally extremely unfavorable for Laurent. And he also knew very well that Ziggs and Jebien were dealing with Edward's demon. With that demon's increasingly powerful demon power, how could Laurent not feel that the other party was about to become demonized? So he also knew that Ziggs and Jabien needed to support themselves more than to support themselves.

Under the constraints of various external factors, Laurent's mentality has become a little anxious.

It was almost as soon as Laurent's mentality changed that Kozilek captured it accurately, so the next second, his offensive suddenly changed again, and the rhythm immediately slowed down.

In an instant, the sound of weapon collisions that had accumulated almost like firing guns suddenly became like calm flowing water, and only occasionally would there be a sound of weapon collisions.

Now Laurent was so depressed that he wanted to vomit blood.

Because he discovered that his mentality has been keenly captured by Kozilek. And the more anxious he is, the more the opponent will ignore it, and will only drag him with a slower fighting rhythm. And it is even more outrageous. At this moment, Laurent realized that he was a little bit difficult to ride a tiger, even if he wanted to get rid of Kozilek, it had become a difficult task.

After the two clashed like warm water for ten minutes, Laurent realized that it would only be detrimental to him to continue like this. So after hesitating for a while, he forced Kozilek to shoot at his own price with a false move, leaving the circle of war. After all, for Laurent. The injuries Kozilek caused would not be fatal to him at all. As long as Gabriel is present, his injury can quickly recover in one breath, which is obviously stronger than Christina's Absolute Light.

At this moment, knowing that he could do nothing with Kozilek, Laurent decided to go to support Ziggs and Jebien first.

As for Diane?

He has been forced out of the protection circle by Kozilek, and it is too late to go back and stop him. Obviously Diane was rescued. For them. Of course, Di An wanted to get him back. However, if a Paladin commander has been damaged, they cannot continue to damage the Paladin commander. Anyway, they can sense Diane's angel costume. They can find out wherever they go. Naturally, they don't worry about wearing it. Anhui is missing.

Furthermore, Xiaobai has also received news to bring people over for reinforcements. As long as they can leave here and meet Xiaobai, he does not believe that these enemies cannot be solved.

After quickly weighing the pros and cons. Laurent was also simply, and just got injured and got out of the ring. Flew quickly toward the higher sky battlefield.

But Laurent didn't want to fight anymore-in fact, he felt that he was right to do so. He didn't think Kozilek would continue to entangle him, because both sides simply had nothing to do with the other. Of course, Kozilek couldn't help Laurent because he awakened Gabriel. Once Gabriel went to sleep again, Laurent was just a fish on the chopping board, and Kozilek would kill it as he wanted.

However, Laurent did underestimate Kozilek.

Kozilek was consuming the energy of the Fire of Life at seven points, and now the anger was raging, how could it be possible to let Laurent leave. So when Laurent was out of the battle circle, Kozilek immediately chased him up without even thinking about it. He started directly with a storm-like bombing attack method, which forced Laurent to be unable to avoid it, and could only block with a sword. Parry, and with this parry, he immediately fell into the circle of war with Kozilek.

And Kozilek still controls the rhythm of the battle.

Laurent really vomited blood this time.

In addition to being angry, Kozilek was slapped fiercely again—it seemed that he knew that no matter how to cut it, the angel outfit could not be destroyed, so Kozilek simply used the shock generated by the sword to injure Laurent. . This kind of concussive injury method is much more serious than pure slashing and scratching, because one is a muscle injury, the other is an internal organ injury.

Even if Gabriel can heal Laurent, the recovery speed of internal organ injuries is after all slower than skin injuries.

It's just that, once again, he tried to leave the battle circle and wanted to leave, but Kozilek still quit, and stuck to the trouble of continuing to find Laurent.

This made Laurent so angry that he cursed directly.

But for the words that Laurent scolded so smoothly, Kozilek couldn't understand a word—just kidding, Sean usually speaks slowly with Kozilek. Once he speaks quickly, Kozilek will say that he doesn't know Shaw at all. What were you talking about, and he was too lazy to speak, so he tilted his head to look at Sean. So at this moment, facing Laurent's series of most standard imperial language abuse vocabulary of St. Joles, Kozilek said that he did not understand at all.

And the way he expressed it is also very simple: just swing a sword and shoot.

It's like playing tennis, no matter what, just rushing to get close is just a shot.

What's even more unfortunate for Laurent is that he didn't want to be entangled with Kozilek at this time. He just wanted to get out of the fight as soon as possible. As a result, he was driven away from Adroan like he was driven by Kozilek, and he didn't know where he went. The location is gone. When he looked up, he didn't even know where Edward, Ziggs, and Jebien were on the battlefield. He could only hear the sound of explosions from a kilometer altitude from time to time, and Laurent was angry.

When he was angry, he naturally wanted to find Kozilek desperately.

But Kozilek saw Laurent swinging his sword to kill him. He suddenly changed the fighting rhythm and became warm.

In this way, Laurent was almost destroyed by Kozilek's play-and Kozilek, as if he had found a new toy, for a while, he forgot to eat the fire of Laurent's life, and dedicated himself to Laurent. Let's play.

The surviving residents in the city of Adroan, watching these two monsters go further and further away, in fact, they are also somewhat relaxed.

It's just that when there were violent explosions and collapses, and dust flying all over the sky on the other side of the city, their relaxed mindset soon sank again. Because they suddenly remembered that the people who seriously threatened their lives were not only those two monsters, but also four other strong men who fought very fiercely and brutally in the city.

The destructive power of these four people fighting is not inferior to Kozilek and Laurent!

Chapter 424: .Battle of Destiny (6)

Several times, but only an inch-long golden light broke through the air.

These golden lights are not an inch long, the light is not condensed and slightly dim, about the size of a baby's index finger.

But in the face of these golden shots, no one dared to take it hard, but quickly dodged it.

I saw that after hitting a wall, these golden lights showed no signs of bursting. Instead, they passed directly through the wall, leaving only a few holes the size of golden lights in the wall. The golden light that came out through the wall did not disappear, but continued to move forward until it finally dissipated after passing through several thick building walls one after another.

The golden light emitted is an instrument similar to the shape of a flintlock.

But different from the real suifire rifle, the shape of this gun is slightly larger, and the overall shape is silver and streamlined, as if it is an integrated production, without seeing the external assembly line and connection point. There is no Flintlock shot hole on the gun. Instead, there is a diamond-shaped energy crystal at the position of the shot hole, but now this energy crystal stone is not transparent and shiny. Most of the area has turned black and gray.

If Sean was there, he would definitely recognize the origin of this gun at a glance-Silver Flowing Fire!

As one of the two most representative new armed forces in the era of the magic weapon, the appearance of the magic gun has brought earth-shaking changes to the entire world. To a certain extent, it has replaced the status and role of the archer, but because the consumption of the magic gun is too large, so after the situation in the mainland tends to stabilize, the magic gun unit generally exists as a special unit, and the main war situation is The long-range strike method still relies on archers.

It is also because of the powerful ability and particularity of the magic gun that Shaun knows so much about Hunting by Fire.

In the development history of the game, the appearance of the magic gun is not very abrupt, but triggered by the birth of two products.

These two products are the fire dragon of Robles, known as the originator of all magic guns, and the silver flow fire known as the prototype magic gun.

Simply put it. The Silver Flowing Fire is a work before the birth of Robles' Fire Dragon. But the reason why it is not called the originator of the magical gun is that the magical gun itself still has many defects, coupled with many reasons such as technical limitations, so this magical gun can't do the quantity. Production can only be a unique handmade product. But it is undeniable. Because of the existence of this magic gun. That's why the weapon forging master was able to get inspiration from the hunt for fire, coupled with the advent of the era of magic technology, solved the problem of technical limitations, and finally made the magic gun be mass-produced.

Of course, before the emergence of mass production, Robles' fire dragon appeared as a product that replaced the silver flow fire. This is also the only magic crystal-level pistol-type magic gun in the history of the magic gun.

The distinction between and magic weapons is roughly the same. The magic gun also has several different levels. There are five levels: energy level, crystal level, magic crystal level, magic core level and immortality level. All magical guns need to rely on energy carriers to be able to drive, which is one of the main reasons why magical guns cannot be equipped in a large area, because even the seven empires can't consume it like this.

Like the energy level, its carrier is the charging crystal. The standard market price of this crystal on the Marvel Continent is ten gold coins. It is generally used in some magic lamps and the like, and one piece can maintain a standard. The energy level magic lamp consumes for one month. But the standard specifications used on the magic gun-of course, the current standard specifications of Miracle Land are converted to the standard specifications for the magic gun. It can be made into two pieces and there are still some bits and pieces, which is probably only about eight shots. Although it can be recharged, it takes at least three days to fill the energy of a rechargeable crystal.

As for the crystal level, it is an energy crystal that is one grade higher than the charged crystal. It can maintain the firing times of almost fifty shots, and its power is stronger than the energy level. Like the energy-level magic gun, it can't shoot through the equipment with the refraction plate, but the crystal-level magic gun can. The disadvantage is that the energy crystal cannot be charged. It is a consumable and can only be used up. leave.

Silver Flow Fire is a crystal-level magic gun.

As the owner of this magic gun, Alyssa is naturally very familiar with all the advantages and disadvantages of the silver flow fire.

She only glanced at the energy crystal on the silver stream fire, and she already had an understanding in her heart: she could fire five more shots.

This is the first time Alyssa has used silver flow fire on the earth boundary.

In fact, even on the floating island, she didn't have much chance to use this gun. Not to mention that the calm and calm atmosphere of the floating island rarely encounters battles, even if you go to those small planes to experience, because the silver flow fire is only this one, you need to draw and select each time to qualify. . It's just that Alyssa's luck is better. Seven out of ten experiences can use this gun. Therefore, when he comes to the realm this time, the floating chamber will hand over the gun to Alyssa for emergency need".

It was not that Eliza didn't want to use the silver flow fire during the time in the land boundary, but that the energy crystal that met the specifications was really hard to find.

Energy crystal is the companion mine of the magic crystal mine-magic crystal, which is the charging crystal. It's just that after these ores are mined, they all need to go through a series of polishing, grinding, cutting and other process methods, but even this will only meet the specifications for the use of some special magic tools. The standard specification for the silver flow fire is ten centimeters long and two centimeters in diameter.

This kind of cutting is not simple, and the price of the energy crystal is not particularly high, which is about three times higher than that of the charged crystal, so Alyssa went to several magic stores and no one wanted to make this Cutting specifications. In addition, because she was in a hurry to track Sean's trace, Alyssa had to abandon the purchase and instead use the silver stream fire to fight as far as possible-she came to the realm this time with only 20 energy crystals.

In the half an hour since intercepting the two saints, she has consumed eleven energy crystals.

Now the twelfth one in the Silver Flowing Fire.

The fierce battle can be seen.

The shots fired just now did not hit the target-in fact, except for the very beginning, the two saints didn't know what the weapons in Eliza's hands were. After suffering a big loss, they didn't dare to resist. Alisha's attack. Therefore, although the battle was very fierce, Alisa fired nearly six hundred shots in more than half an hour of battle. But the only thing that really caused the damage was the first dozen shots.

This is also one of the drawbacks of the magic gun.

Under the blockade barrage that has not formed enough power, facing the real strong, the deterrent power of the magic gun is not even as good as the bow and arrow.

At least. The arrow shot by the bow and arrow is an extension of the power of the strong. Even if it is a block, it will be affected by the counter-shock force. However, the "bullet" fired by the magic gun is only pure magical energy. Unless it is inevitable, you don't even need to counterattack and block actions. You can just evade - of course, this is also the case. Because the silver stream fire's rate of fire and the initial attack speed are not enough.

The fire dragon replaced by Robles, even Bizos and Suanceo couldn't dodge so easily.

In terms of the Earth Federation era. That is, the effective killing distance of the silver stream fire is only 20 meters-within 20 meters. These two saints couldn't dodge either, because of the shooting speed of magical energy. However, at a distance of more than 30 meters, the two of them even blocked more than necessary. As long as they dodge, they can completely ignore Alisha's attack.

For both of them, Levi is the real threat.

Only at this moment, when Alisha fired five shots again, the energy crystal on the silver flow flame was completely black and turned into powder and drifted away with the wind. A figure struck like a ghost, and the short sword in her hand took Alyssa's throat!

Bizos!

As one of the two great sons of the Church of God of War. Bizos's strength is not as good as Su Anso, but this is also relatively speaking. Compared to the many powerful players in the Northern Principality Federation, his strength is definitely in the first-class sequence even if it is not the top. There is no other reason, because he is a holy son who has been recognized and baptized by Marz, and naturally possesses powerful strength. .

The Shadow of God of War is one of several unique abilities he possesses.

And this is also the reason why he was able to pass a distance of 50 meters in one fell swoop and attack Alyssa!

Bizos's personal combat power is not as good as Su Anso, but in terms of tactics and tricks, it is far better than Su Anso. Since the beginning of the battle, he has also played a role in restraining and sweeping the formation. He did not face Levi head-on. At most, he had a short and fierce confrontation with Alisha for a few rounds, but neither side could help. Who. What Alyssa didn't know was that Bizos had already marked Alyssa in the confrontation of those rounds.

This is the prerequisite for the activation of the Shadow of God of War: the target lock must be marked first, and then the effect can be directly activated within a distance of 50 meters. After the effect is activated, it can instantly appear next to the target regardless of the distance of 50 meters. A mandatory attack.

At this time, Bizos directly activated the ability of the War God's Shadow—there was no attack before, because Bizos was always observing. He knew that he was not as strong as Suanceo and Levi, and he was worried that Eliza was not inferior to Levi, so he has not acted rashly. So now that the silver flow fire energy crystal in Eliza's hand is exhausted, he knows that within five seconds Eliza will not be able to use this powerful and strange weapon again, so the Shadow of the God of War will be activated immediately. One hit kills to solve Alisha's trouble!

Looking at Bizos suddenly disappearing in front of him and appearing directly in front of Alyssa, Levydang even wanted to turn around to support.

He and Alisha cooperated tacitly, and the distance between each other was not too far apart. It's just that Bizos and Su Anso won't be close to Eliza within 20 meters, but stayed at a distance of 30 meters to fight, so Levi also fought at this distance with Su Anso, Bizos confronted. It's just that he didn't expect that Bizos was so insidious that he would mark Alisha's body from the beginning, and then endure it until now.

Witnessing this scene, Levi was also very clear that even if he rushed past to support this distance, it would take two seconds—this time is probably the time that Alyssa can hold on.

But as one of the two great sons of the God of War Church, Suanceo and Bizos are not right, but under the premise of the God of War Church, the two of them can work together. At this time, Bizos had the upper hand, and seeing that a big problem was about to be solved, how could Suanceo allow Levi to leave.

So almost at the same time that Levi turned around, Su Anso's long sword stabbed towards Levi's back without hesitation—he didn't even say such things as "Dare to be distracted even if you fight against me" or "Unexpectedly." Dare to turn your back to me" such nonsense. For Su Anso, only the enemy who has stopped breathing is the safest enemy, and you must not be careless until the enemy stops breathing!

Feeling the attack from the back, Levi could not get out, so he had to return to the sword to block.

But in this way, naturally, I missed the best time for assistance!

Bizos is extremely fast.

is obviously an outbreak of silence for a long time.

This kind of tactical strategy, the most important thing is to kill with one hit.

Levi wanted to turn around to support, but was entangled to death by Su Anso. He couldn't get out and leave in a short time. He could only watch the dagger in Bizos's hand pierce Alisha's throat. .

Seeing the dagger approaching directly, Alisha did not show any panic on her face, she could even be said to be calm and a little indifferent.

It seems that the target of this dagger is not like himself.

I saw Alyssa's body. At this imperative moment, the blade of the dagger made a scar on the side of Alyssa's neck, and blood shot out immediately. But this kind of injury is not too serious for someone like Eliza who has experienced many battle trials. At least in this side of the moment, she still paid great attention to Bizos' attack. Thereby avoiding the risk of the carotid artery being cut.

After avoiding the fatal blow in one fell swoop, Alisha just wanted to fight back, but saw Bizos's wrist flicked, the short sword in her hand was already held by his backhand, and then she fell.

Bizos's strength is not as good as Su Anso, which is also relatively speaking.

But fundamentally speaking, Bizos is also a veritable high-ranking sanctuary powerhouse, and a powerhouse like the Northern Duchy Federation slaughtered in countless corpse mountains and blood. Whether it is combat experience, combat awareness, or combat skills, Bizos is far more than many people. He definitely belongs to the group of strong men who can stand at the top of the Northern Continent-it is the Northern Continent, not the Northern Principality. federal!

Therefore, Bizos's sword that changed his hand, naturally, went straight to the heart of Alyssa—the heart.

"Time Wheel!"

This time, Alisha did not choose to resist, but raised her left hand and let the thing fall down—it was a metal object similar to a pocket watch. The chain was wrapped around Alyssa's left hand, ensuring that Alyssa wouldn't fall to the ground even if she didn't hold it tightly.

At this time, the cover of the pocket watch has been opened, and there are seven spars about the size of a fingernail, five of which are silver.

These seven spars exude a soft brilliance. Condensed but not scattered. But it is not strong, it just happens to cover the entire range of the pocket watch.

However, there is a very unique force that radiates from Alyssa as the center of the circle, and it spreads quickly, forming an invisible transparent semicircular cover.

In this range, Bizos's speed suddenly slowed down, and even his dagger posture could be clearly seen.

Looking back at Alisha, she was short and back again. He quickly distanced himself from Bizos. While retreating. She also didn't stop there, but quickly pulled out another crystal from her body, and then put it into the silver stream of fire. And until then, Bizos raised his head and looked at Alyssa, who had been more than ten meters away from him, and he also keenly observed that in the process, the pocket watch on Alyssa's left hand It is not covered.

obviously. The peculiar ability that limits his speed while increasing Alyssa's speed comes from the pocket watch on Alyssa's left hand.

It's just that Bizos didn't understand. What kind of power is this?

is neither divine power nor all magic. Although he can feel the elemental power contained in this power, it is very different from the magical power that Bizos knew. In essence, the power displayed by Eliza is more pure and docile, without the violent and introverted explosiveness contained in magical power.

Is it alchemy?

Bizos couldn't help but think of this term slightly.

In recent years, a new magical power that is very popular in the East Continent. Although this emerging force has not yet completely spread to the entire continent, as the northern and southern continents bordering the eastern continent, some areas have been impacted by this emerging force, and many more claim to be alchemists and Special talents of alchemy warriors. As far as Bizos knows, these talents who use Alchemy as the core means of combat do have some strength, but that's all.

So for Alyssa might be an alchemist, Bizos only hesitated a little, and then chose to ignore it.

Because he doesn't care what kind of occupation Alisa is or what kind of person, he has discovered from the previous confrontation that Alisa is not as scary as Levi, and can easily deal with it with his strength. So Bizos quickly adjusted his mentality, and at the same time he let out a roar, only to see a red light shining from his body, and then the slow effect on him was completely cracked, and the whole person was completely broken in the next moment. Chase and kill again towards Alisa.

When the red brilliance of Bizos's body was shining, Alyssa knew instantly that the slow effect of the time wheel was useless for him.

Perhaps others don't know the secret of the magical technique of "The Wheel of Time", but Alyssa, as the caster, naturally does not know.

In fact, the essence of this magical technique is to increase its speed by "stealing" the opponent's speed-the ratio of stealing is about two to one, which means that every time Bizos temporarily reduces his agility by two points, Alyssa can temporarily increase her agility. However, the manipulation nature of this "magic technology" is not determined by personal strength, but by the level of the magical device and the level of the spar embedded in it.

Like the magic device in Elisa's hands, it is the most basic prototype magic device, and it is an experimental product of the same level as the silver flow fire. So even if the spar that Elissa puts in it is a high-level spar, the agility value that can be stolen by using the "Time Runner" is only 30 points.

But just these thirty points are enough to make Alisha avoid the almost mortal blow just now.

Just now.

When Bizos turned on a certain immunity that could counter this special effect, Alyssa's speed naturally returned to normal at this moment.

It's just that the distance has been stretched, so this increase in speed seems unnecessary to her.

On the contrary, it was the scar on the neck and neck. At this time, it became the top priority for Alisha to solve.

I saw Bizos rushing towards Alyssa with a stride, but Alyssa looked extremely calm. With a flick of her left hand, she retracted the pocket watch-like magic guide in her palm, and pressed her thumb to the cover to place the pocket watch. When closed, the light radiating from the pocket watch disappeared instantly, and the peculiar force field permeating the air completely disappeared the moment the pocket watch was closed.

But all this is not the end.

I saw Alisha raised the gun in her right hand and fired continuously. Ten golden rays of light shot out towards Bizos, shooting ten places.

These positions happen to firmly lock Bizos' offensive direction.

Bizos knew the power of these golden lights, unless he wanted to die together, otherwise he could only choose to avoid it. He glanced at the scar on Elissa's left neck and neck. Although the carotid artery was not cut, the tear in this wound was not small. The blood had stained Elisa's collar red, and the area was still small. It is spreading and expanding rapidly, so Bizos feels that there is really no need for him to fight Alisha here.

In his opinion, as long as he maintains this fast-tracking rhythm, Alisha can be consumed here.

So in the face of the ten golden light shots, Bizos chose to avoid it.

And Alisha, waiting is the moment that Bizos avoided.

At the moment when Bizos evaded, Alyssa shook her left hand, and then opened the pocket watch-like magic device again, shaking out all the seven crystal stones inside, and the silver flowing fire with her right hand when she shook her left hand. Throw it into the air. At this time, even if Bizos wanted to take this opportunity to attack Alyssa, there was nothing he could do, because he had been completely driven back just now, so it was tantamount to giving up such an excellent opportunity to obliterate.

Until this time, Bizos knew that he had been fooled by Alyssa.

The first second.

The silver stream fire was thrown into the air, and seven spars were ejected from the magic device.

Bizos hides on the side of a rock wall.

Ten rounds of fire in a net form blocked the direction from which Bizos was attacking Alisa. They were intertwined in the middle of the two, separated by ten meters.

Second second.

Alyssa wiped her right hand from her waist bag, and seven spars of different colors were sandwiched between her fingers, mainly blue.

Bizos could only watch Alisha's actions helplessly.

Eight bullets are fifteen meters away from Alyssa and only five meters away from Bizos' hiding place.

Two of the outermost shells on the left and right sides have penetrated two stone walls.

The third second.

Alyssa wiped the inside of the pocket watch with her right hand. The seven crystals between her fingers were actually pressed directly by her, without even a trace of error.

Then raise his right hand.

Eight rounds of fire were more than 20 meters away from Alisha, all of them passed by Bizos's side, and did not cause any damage to him.

The swirling silver stream fire was tossed to the highest point and began to accelerate to fall.

The fourth second.

Bizos suddenly jumped out of the hiding place and rushed towards Alisha at a very fast speed, but in the blink of an eye he leaped more than ten meters.

Alyssa glanced at Bizos, her right hand held aloft just to catch the falling silver stream fire, and her thumb slightly rested on the trigger. The left hand holding the pocket watch-shaped magic device was slightly loosened, and the magic device was allowed to fall again, whispering in a low voice: "Great recovery technique."

A soft blue brilliance exudes from the magic guide,

The fifth second.

Alyssa kicked her feet, and once again opened a distance of five meters from Bizos, raised her right hand to aim at Bizos again, and did not hesitate to pull the trigger to fire another ten shots in a row.

This attack did not block Bizos' range of activities, but focused on the pursuit of maximum lethality.

At the same time, in Bizos's angry look, the scars on Eliza's neck were healing quickly at a speed visible to the naked eye.

Chapter 426: .Battle of Destiny (8)

After a short rest, Shaun and Christina hurried to the house where Dian was imprisoned.

This is a three-story house. The main building material is wood, the ground floor is built with stones, and the stairs outside the house are also made of stone. There is nothing special about the house itself, it's just that the selected materials are relatively high-end and strong-in Miracle Continent, there is no such architectural concept as earthquake resistance, mainly because there are almost no earthquakes. Things like that happen.

Theology is above all else.

But at the moment this house, in Sean's view, has a very strong earthquake resistance.

But he didn't understand this. On the contrary, Christina, who was next to him, knew a little: "It's a magic circle."

"Magic Circle?" Sean was a little confused.

"The magic circle that can counteract the wrath of the gods, this thing... is not simple." Kristina only knows a little bit, so she was a little confused. Erz's handling method after discovering it."

Shaun curled his lips and said nothing.

For these gods to play infernal affairs, Sean is really not interested at all. He can see that the building of this house is not simple, but when it comes to the use of magic circle theory and other functions, Sean really doesn't know much about it, especially this kind of building that has formed specifications, even if Sean wants to steal This drawing of the magic circle is impossible to achieve.

So, he quickly lost his interest in research and directly opened the door to the third floor.

Kristina has been following Sean.

Originally, the two were worried that there would be other people from the Saint-Joles Empire staying behind in the house, and they would inevitably have to fight again. Unexpectedly, the whole house was empty. Only two corpses were found on the second floor. It seemed that they were the original owners of the house—that is, the lurking Dawn of Adroan sent by the Saint-Joles Empire. God believer. Probably the two people already knew their destiny. After all, as the house provided for the three paladins like Ziggs to live in, they would definitely be settled afterwards, in order to avoid these criminal laws. So these two people have already "self-dedicated".

Shaun only glanced at it, and then said nothing.

Kristina naturally has no interest.

So, the two quickly found Diane, who was imprisoned on the side of the corner, on the third floor.

Dian's hands were locked, and he was hung on the railings on both sides, and his feet were also wrapped around a heavy hammer. The clothes on the body can only be said to barely cover the body. Because of all kinds of off-road travel for a long time. He had worn out his clothes and trousers a long time ago, and he didn't look any better than a beggar, especially his messy hair and bruised body, he looked even more pitiful than ordinary beggars.

Perhaps it was the life experience of having a very difficult life, so seeing Diane at this time, Xiao En's heart was vaguely moved.

Kristina frowned slightly, because the smell on Diane's body was so unpleasant.

Especially, there is an aura of dilapidation and corruption everywhere on his body—with the strength of Sean and Christina. How can I not know what this means. obviously. Di An had a very serious internal injury, and even the origin of his body might have been destroyed, otherwise it would be impossible to have such a deadly smell that the internal organs had been corrupted. If Diane's current situation continues, he will die in one or two months at most.

But even if Diane is now down and decadent to this level, his eyes are still very bright, staring at Sean and Christina without any fear or other emotions, and some are just calm—but The calmer he is, the more Shaun has a desire to vent in his heart. Especially Di An's height is very high. Even if he is now leaning against the corner wall with his legs straight. But the feeling he gave to both Sean and Christina was still like a mountain, and there was a very unique sense of heaviness rushing toward each other.

Kristina understood this as the oppression of the strong.

looks almost like a dying person, but still can bring such a terrible sense of oppression to Kristina and Sean, Kristina could not help but guess what Dian will be like in his heyday.

"Are you here to kill me?" Dai An glanced at Sean and Christina. Although he didn't care much about the strength of the two, it also referred to him in his heyday. In his current situation, I'm afraid to be casual. Come to someone above the Silver Realm, and he can be solved.

"No." Sean shook his head, then went to help unlock the torture instruments that had locked Di An, "Help you."

"Help me?" As if hearing some funny joke, Di An suddenly let out a burst of laughter.

But soon, the laughter turned into a violent cough.

It can be seen that Di An's body is really very weak and very badly injured.

Sean didn't understand the doors and ways of the punishment, so naturally he didn't know how much force the Saint-Joles Empire had put in to restrain the "terrorist" Diane, only the kind of power that restrained him. The special tool of torture that uses the power of the devil can accelerate his death. Being able to persist for more than half a year and not dying is enough to see how strong Di An's will to survive is. Of course, there is also part of the factor in that his vitality is indeed stronger than ordinary people.

After taking down all the torture instruments, Di An exhaled a sullen breath, the expression on his face seemed a little relaxed.

is just a few minutes. It is obviously impossible to restore movement and freedom.

But he could also see that Sean and these people really came to save himself. So after hesitating a little bit, he still said, "Do you know Edward?"

Sean was taken aback for a moment, then nodded: "I know."

The Confessor. Edward, the seventh demon, this title is too clear for Sean. Because this old undead fellow is still his titular uncle, and he has had some feasts with him, of course, Sean will not say this now, because it is meaningless.

"How is he?" Diane asked.

He can hear Edward's roar when he visits Adroan, and he can naturally know why Edward is here. It's just that he has been kept here, so he doesn't know what the situation is outside, even if he is released by Sean at this time. But he still couldn't understand the specific situation immediately. Because he is too weak now, or it shouldn't be said to be weak, but no longer capable of fighting.

It's just that when I asked this question, Christina frowned. Seems to realize that something is wrong.

"Fighting with people from the Saint-Joles Empire." Sean said casually. "I don't know the specific situation. You should be aware of the battle at that level."

Sean meant that he was not strong enough to intervene in the battle between Edward and Ziggs and Yebien.

Diana naturally understands.

"You can still fight like you are?" Kristina asked, frowning.

"What do you think?" Di An chuckled, "I hurt my origin, and I was treated specially. Unless it is the sap of the tree of life. It can restore me to my state. But I want to restore the strength of the heyday, There is no way...because my mental state is not very good either."

The original tree of life liquid, also known as the original liquid of life, the holy liquid of life, is the essence of the core original liquid of the tree of life. In layman's terms, it is the source blood produced by the heart of the strong, like the liquid of life is a diluted version of the liquid of life, so the effect of the liquid of life is a hundred times that of the liquid of life, and it is said that as long as there is one breath left. Then drink ten milliliters of life essence, and all injuries can be restored immediately. Even more powerful than the Holy Healing of the Church of Life.

The reason why it is so powerful is that the Holy Healing technique can only treat all kinds of internal and external injuries, but the essence of life can restore a person's injuries to the original state-including the aging organs can also rejuvenate, this The effect is equivalent to extending life. The only thing that can't be cured is the damaged soul and the over-consumed mental state. Apart from that, it can be said that life essence can cure anything.

"I have the original liquid of life, I can provide you." Xiao En said, and at the same time took out a small bottle of liquid from the storage ring and handed it to Diane.

Looking at the vial of liquid, the well-informed Di An knew very well that this vial of life essence was exactly ten milliliters, which would allow him to fully recover his physical condition. Therefore, his expression was slightly taken aback, then he raised his head to look at Sean and Christina, and said, "Do you know who I am?"

This time the question was a bit heavy.

"I don't know." Sean shook his head, "But I don't care.... I only know that if you join this battle, you can change the situation outside, so no matter who you are, I must restore you to your state. ... Even if it is not the heyday, you must join this battle."

"That's right." Christina nodded, "As long as Edward can be solved, nothing else matters."

"Solve...Edward?" Diane raised his head and looked at Christina, "Edward is here to save me. Do you think I will solve Edward at this time?"

This time, it was Christina's turn that was a little surprised.

However, Xiao En didn't say anything, but simply plugged the bottle of life essence in his hand to Diane, and took action to show his position.

And when Christina looked at it this way, the look on her face suddenly became angry, pointing to Sean and shouting: "You already know the situation right now, right?"

Shaun did not answer, but slowly got up.

Maybe others don't know, but Sean has already collected a lot of information from Oscar.

Oscar wanted to prevent the fate pattern of Marvel Continent from being changed, and for this reason, he had to act as a fate weaver to re-establish the fate of the battle in this place where many forces naturally gathered. You know, even if Oscar can see the future, he can't rashly and forcefully reverse his destiny, because that will make him wiped out, so he must use this ingenious method to circumvent the punishment.

In Oscar's plan, what he had to do was to drive Edward out of the land of Miracles, and at the same time to let the Church of God of War and the Empire of St. Joles avoid the outbreak of national war, and let the people of the Peace Council go back and forth, and finally stop it. Overlooking the collapse of the minaret.

In other words, in these four things, Sean and Christina must be involved in order to balance the entire battle of fate—that is, Christina and Sean Must join forces to fight against the Church of God of War and the Empire of St. Joels. And since it was decided to let Sean and Christina intervene, Oscar was of course to stop the people from Fort Solomon and Deaththorn, because the two groups of people came for the floating island and the Peace Council respectively. If these two groups of people are allowed to enter the arena, then Oscar will ultimately only prevent the collapse of the Observation Minaret. National wars such as the Saint-Joles Empire and the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy cannot be prevented.

Even, Edward will destroy the entire Northern Continent, and the Peace Council and Deaththorn unscrupulously regard the Northern Continent as the main battlefield to end their many years of grievances.

all of these. It's not what Oscar wanted to see.

He even figured it out to drag Sean into the water. Beth and others will also appear here, so he must personally prevent Beth from entering the battle of Adroan.

Unfortunately.

Because Oscar failed to see through Kozilek's identity, he missed such a terrifying existence, but it turned out to be a place for Sean to use it.

Sean is noncommittal about Oscar's great ideals and practices.

But he is willing to join this battle with his own selfishness.

In his opinion, whether it is the Saint-Joles Empire or the Church of God of War, there must be one or two people left behind. Of course, if you can achieve the most perfect situation. That is to kill all the two saint sons of the church of God of War. At the same time, the three Paladins will stay together forever. In this way, whether it is the saint plan that he is going to implement next or the future battle with the Saint Joles Empire, he can make full preparations.

For this reason, Diane's release is the key to the entire plan.

Only release Di'an, it is possible to solve the few paladins and the two holy sons. Originally in the Oscar plan, after Di'an was released, it also meant the end of the battle of fate. Because then there will be nothing about the Peace Council and Sean. Oscar naturally has no reason to continue fighting with Beth, he will come forward to persuade all forces. After all, in Oscar's words, no one can beat him better, so if he can't persuade with words, he decides to convince everyone.

Unfortunately, all of this ultimately fell short because of Sean's status as the "Son of the Plane".

Now that Oscar is entangled by Bass, he has no possibility and opportunity to come forward, so how the next situation will develop is no longer the Oscar's final say.

Sean stood in front of Diane, turned his back to Christina, and said softly: "I just ask you, what will you do after you go out?"

"I will kill those three paladins." Di An smiled faintly, "To be honest, my mission was to kill Edward, but it was just a secret that the Church of Chenxi was staring at me, so it eventually evolved. It's a situation where I must join forces with Edward.... But all of this is not important anymore. The important thing is... I can't watch Edward die just like that, at least, just rush to him to save me."

Speaking of this, Di An lowered his head slightly: "I told him that if both of us must die, then he must die under my sword."

"Then you go kill him now." Kristina shouted.

Diane just smiled and did not speak.

This reaction and attitude made Kristina clenched her fists.

"Because Edward is a demon, he must die, right?" Diane asked, tilting his head, looking at Christina.

"Yes." Christina nodded, "Any instability and destructive factors that are not conducive to world development must be eliminated."

"Are you a member of the Peace Council?"

"Yes." Christina nodded proudly.

"If I were a believer in the Demon King, what would you do?"

Kristina's face instantly became very ugly, she stared at Sean firmly. But Sean was also a little dazed. He knew that Diane and Edward had some inexplicable and unclear relationship, or Oscar told him, but he didn't know that Diane was actually a heretic.

This is no ordinary charge!

"This world is not only black and white." Diane ignored Christina and continued, "It was the demon who asked me to kill Edward. He called himself Enkos and gave me a set that can deal with it. Edward's armor. It is precisely because of this armor that the people of the Church of Dawn wanted to kill me and regain this armor, even forcing me and Edward to join forces for this.... According to this situation, you call me a heretic. Is it good or bad? What role is Chenxi Church playing? As for Edward that you hate, what kind of existence is it?"

Sean did not hear too much, he only understood one sentence, Diane is a believer of Enkos!

Kristina didn't bother to pay attention to so much, she just yelled coldly, "It's all wrong. They are all existences that must be eliminated.... Since you are unwilling to solve Edward, then I have no need to save you. Even because you are a heretic, I have more reasons to kill you."

After that, Christina rushed forward, trying to kill Diane.

But it was almost the moment Christina started to move, but Sean didn't hesitate to turn around and swing his sword. The whole action was done in one go, and Christina was forced to retreat.

"Are you going to stop me?" Christina's face was cold.

"He has to go out." Sean said lightly, "Diane, how about a deal?"

"Do you dare to make a deal with the heretics!" Christina's expression on her face became even more angry, and she rushed towards Sean without hesitation.

It's just that, when Christina can't use the domain at the moment, Sean wouldn't be afraid of Christina and immediately swung his sword. With his current sword skills, he can really fight Christina. Comparable. As a result, he was able to find time to find a chance and said to Diane: "I will help you stop her. After you go out, you will not only solve the people of the Saint Joles Empire, but also help me solve the two saints of the Church of God of War. son."

Dian was taken aback first, then smiled: "Okay!"

After that, without any hesitation, when he raised his head, he poured the original life liquid directly into his mouth.

In an instant, a thicker and more solid aura erupted from Di An's body, almost turning into a substantial ochre beam of light and rushing into the sky. And the many scars and injuries on Di An's body were also recovering quickly at a speed visible to the naked eye, and soon returned to the previous healthy state, the stench of organ corruption exuding from the body. Also disappeared completely.

The only constant is probably because of the beard that has not been cleaned for a long time and the messy hair like a bird's nest.

"Uriel!"

With a low growl, the angel costume Uriel emerged from Di An's body one by one, and after the golden brilliance flashed away, Di An, who had already dressed up, looked majestic and majestic. The only pity is that with his current state, Uriel cannot enter the awakening state, and can only fight with the strength of the fifteenth rank.

But for the situation that has been completely chaotic to the point of being terrible, adding another Diane with a legendary peak combat power is enough to cause earth-shaking changes in the battle situation.

Chapter 427: .Out of control battle of destiny

The appearance of Diane immediately caused a shock to the entire battlefield.

The first thing I felt was not from Edward and others above the sky, but Oscar who was still competing with Beth.

This personable, charming, and charming middle-aged man who has always appeared to be very calm and graceful yelled at the scene without image.

Obviously, in his plan, he did not expect that Di An would be able to regain his strength-in all the futures he had seen before, there was no such thing as Di An joining the battle. It wasn't until Beth revealed Kozilek's identity that Oscar saw more of the future, including the future fragment of Diane's recovery and involvement in this battle. But even in this scene, there is only one of the many futures that Oscar can see.

So, in line with the idea of self-deception, Oscar certainly thought it would not be so coincidental.

But the destiny thing, no one can accurately predict its future.

Even if it is Oscar, it is also not good.

So Diane not only recovered, but even joined the battle as a strong man, so naturally, the balance of the entire battlefield was completely destroyed.

Oscar has the ability to remedy even this result.

It's a pity that he was dragged by bass.

In terms of personal strength, Oscar is not an opponent of Bass at all. As long as Bass wants, he can completely damage Oscar in a few rounds of confrontation. However, under the restrictions of the world of wonderland, Beth can't exert his full strength. Even his ultimate method can only display a few of them, even the reduced power version, so naturally he can't suppress Oscar, but instead I have had contact with each other several times.

To use a layman's word, that is that the two sides played very well.

In another battlefield a few hundred miles away from Adroan, the golden and black rays of light continued to agitate. That is the brilliance produced by the collision of sword energy and magic.

But if you look down from the sky, you will be shocked by the shocking scars on the ground—in the hundreds of miles of space on this battlefield, no place is complete. Fragmented ground is the most normal, and more of them are huge gullies one after another: the small ones are about ten meters long and two to three meters wide, and the larger ones are tens of meters long and five to six meters wide.

Energy fluctuations raging out. It is enough to directly smash any strong below the sanctuary realm.

Beth is empty and unable to play with strength. The fight was extremely frustrated and angry.

As for Oscar, although on the surface it seems that he has the upper hand, in fact he is also getting tired as he fights. In his original intention, he did not intend to fight with Bass to this level, but it was a pity to fight this kind of thing—especially when the two sides were evenly matched, then there was no possibility of the so-called "release of water".

Beth continues to increase the offensive intensity. If Oscar doesn't want to die here. Then of course he has to deal with it with the same intensity.

This is the real reason why the fighting between the two sides has become more and more fierce, and the destructive power is also increasing.

So that, at this time, Diane had already summoned the angel costume Uriel, and joined the highest-level battle above Adroan, Oscar had no intention of paying attention to all this. The only thing he wants to do now is to save himself and not let himself become a victim in this battle of fate that has already lost control.

Yes.

This battle of fate planned by Oscar. It started when Diane recovered and joined the battle.

has completely lost control.

Until then, Oscar couldn't help but think of what Beth said before: "Destiny. It is not something you can control if you want to control it.... Maybe you once had the experience of getting rid of destiny, but it was just that you didn't die. That's all, it doesn't mean that you are above your destiny."

...

At the kilometer high school in Adroan, because of Diane's sudden appearance, Ziggs and Jebien also became a little flustered.

The combination of these two people could not suppress Edward, who was about to enter the demonization, not to mention the addition of a Diane who was not under them at all.

certainly.

For Ziggs and Jebien, the joining of Diane is definitely a nightmare. But for Edward, it is undoubtedly good news.

At least, Edward can take a sigh of relief and devote more energy to suppress the blood of the demon in the body and avoid completely entering the state of demonization. You know, if he really enters this state, unless he chooses to leave this plane immediately, no matter how much Dian thinks about love, he still has to swing a butcher knife at him, because in the state of demonization, For every second Edward exists on this plane, this plane will accelerate the original consumption for more than ten years.

There are some things, you can know each other well, and you don't avoid saying it completely.

So, Diane could feel that Edward's fighting intensity was slightly weakened, but he would not ask Edward why.

"You are still alive." Edward glanced at Di An and sneered, "It really surprised me."

"I haven't killed you yet, how can I die." Diane's tone was also very indifferent, "Don't forget, I came here just to kill you."

Just listen to the conversation between the two, it is not difficult to imagine the grievances between the two.

It's just that the two are actually standing side by side—well, it's not actually side by side. The distance between the two is almost 30 meters apart, but they are standing in the same direction and facing Zieg. Si and Jebien, so this scene with this dialogue seems a little weird.

"It's up to you?" Edward looked at Diane, who was on his right, with a cold voice that was almost emotionless, "I don't know who I played as a monkey in the first place."

"When you put gold on your face, can you not ignore the facts?" Dian also looked sideways, looking at Edward floating in the air to his left. of."

Zigs and Jebien looked at each other, and some didn't know how to speak.

They really want to say that they are still in battle, but watching Edward and Diane seem to be a little angry, they are also happy to see this scene. At least. The current situation gave them a short rest time-in the confrontation with Edward just now, the two really didn't even have a moment to rest, so they have been in a state of extreme consumption.

"How good is the injury?" Edward asked suddenly.

It was in the state of screaming and scolding with Edward. When Edward suddenly asked such a question, Di An was slightly startled. certainly. Ziggs and Jebien were also stunned. They were also a little curious about how Di An's injuries recovered. After all, they gave Di An the torture instrument, so it is natural to know how much Di An's injuries were. It is no exaggeration to say that even if the high priest of the Church of Life came in person, he would never have imagined that Diane would recover his strength so soon.

"A man named Sean saved me." Diane was silent for a while before he replied, "He has the sap of the tree of life."

Hear Sean's name. Edward froze for a moment. But the look on his face didn't fluctuate. He just regained his gaze on Ziggs and Jebien, and then threw an object to Diane: "Take it."

Di An, who took the thing, first took a look and found that it was a ring, but he soon understood that it was a storage ring.

After he put his mental power into the storage ring, the shock in his heart was even greater: "You robbed a tribe of elves?"

"Tu." Edward's answer was equally straightforward, "I went to a foreign country."

Dian fell directly into silence.

Of course he knows what Outland means.

The territory where the elven empire, the orc empire, the dwarf empire, and other races with intelligent behavior are located is the outland. According to some explorers, the Outland is a territory no smaller than the Wonderland. There are currently nine outland empires known. There are two more empires than the seven empires in the Marvel Continent, but it is still unclear which of these nine empires is strong or weak. But only in terms of scale, the orc empire has the largest power, with a total of four.

Next is the Dwarf Empire, with three.

In the end is the Elf Empire, there are only two.

"Silver Moon Forest or White Sand Land?" Diane asked.

"Is there a difference?" Edward gave Di An a sideways look.

Dian was lost, and immediately smiled: "It really makes no difference."

Whether it is the Empire of the Silver Moon Forest or the Empire of the White Sands, it does not make any difference to Edward. And Diane really didn't need to know which empire's subordinate tribe Edward was patronizing. The only thing he needed to know was that Edward had killed himself and slaughtered an elven tribe in exchange for what was in the ring.

Di An sighed lightly, and then put the ring away carefully.

Watching Diane's actions, Edward snorted and stopped speaking.

But Diane chuckled slightly: "For the sake of this ring, I will let you go once. I hope you will seize the opportunity."

"Who let it go and who doesn't know yet."

Edward sneered, but he glanced at the place where Di An had just appeared. With his eyesight, it can naturally be seen that there is a man and a woman fighting in that house at this time, and the fighting is also very fierce.

For that man, Edward will naturally not forget.

Because this person is the culprit who turned him into a demon: Sean.

I just don't know why. At this moment, Edward can't hate it at all.

He sighed slightly, and didn't have the mind to understand who the woman who fought against Sean was. Just by looking at the other party's shots, he knew that this woman really wanted to kill Sean, but he was helpless for some reason. Can succeed. He knew that this woman probably suffered a lot of injuries, and if he continues to consume it with the current desperate means, it will only be Sean who will win in the end.

After knowing the result, Edward was naturally not interested in continuing to observe the situation on the battlefield below.

He looked back at Ziggs and Jebyan, and said in a deep voice, "Do you want revenge?"

Although Edward did not say what revenge, nor did he clearly explain the goal, Diane knew what Edward asked. He smiled slightly, then moved his body slightly, making a crackling sound of fried beans, tightening the extremely exaggerated giant sword in his hand, and smiled: "Quick fight is quick....If you solve them, I have to go. Solving the two saints of the God of War church."

"It's just two reptiles." Edward curled his lips in disdain.

The next moment, he and Di An, both left and right, each found a target, and then launched a frantic attack.

Only relying on teamwork was able to reluctantly defend Edward's Ziggs and Yebien. At this time, because Diane joined the battle, it was naturally even more unable to cope. It was just a few seconds, and Edward was aimed at a flaw in Jerbyen, and he directly tore off an arm, and a puff of blood suddenly fell from the air like rain, accompanied by the pain of Jerbeen. hum.

...

Just when the battle situation at the heights of Adroan changed drastically.

A void crack suddenly appeared behind Oscar!

Chapter 428: .destiny?

The appearance of the void crack came without warning, and even a trace of void air did not escape.

Obviously, this is an extremely powerful energy control technique.

However, for Oscar who can display such a powerful fate to isolate the field, it is natural to find this void crack. After all, it is no exaggeration to say that the entire range of fate isolation shrouded in Oscar's realm, and anything that happened in this realm would be clear to him as long as he perceives it a little bit. But because he was very clear, he was naturally shocked by the sudden appearance of this void crack.

Because, logically speaking, after the isolation of fate unfolds, it is impossible for anyone to enter this domain.

In the next moment, Oscar will know who is here.

A layer of golden brilliance appeared next to him.

This is Oscar's legendary ability: Wall of Destiny.

Although an attack that is powerful enough to a certain degree can break the wall of fate, but with the cooperation of the field of fate isolation, no one has yet been able to break the wall of fate of Oscar. Therefore, inside the Observation Minaret, Oscar's Wall of Destiny is also called the Wall of Absolute, which means that absolutely no one can break this defensive force field.

However, on the other hand.

can force Oscar to display the Wall of Destiny, which is enough to prove that Oscar is in a great crisis.

From the crack in the void, quickly stretched out a paw.

This is obviously not a human hand.

This paw almost turned into a phantom and flew straight to Oscar's neck.

But when the claws come into contact with the Wall of Destiny, the golden light instantly becomes extremely dim. However, no matter how dim the golden light was, it still clung to Oscar's body tightly. It was not broken because of this, and because of this reaction, the creatures in the void crack could not help but sigh softly.

It was almost when the golden light faded and a soft sound rang out. Oscar realized the greater trouble and danger.

He tried his best to get rid of the grip of this magic claw, but he didn't want to use his force, and the golden light that protected him immediately shattered into slag, and the magic claw naturally held his neck. There was only such a momentary time difference before and after, Oscar didn't dare to move at all. A look of horror appeared on his face even more. Because he couldn't figure out how, that someone could actually break his own wall of fate under the isolation and cooperation of fate.

"I like here."

There is a thick and arbitrary voice from behind Oscar. Judging from the tone, the owner who can hear the voice is a bold and uninhibited guy.

In fact, even if Oscar doesn't look back, he still knows who is appearing at this time.

In this world, no more than five people can break through their "wall of absoluteness" so easily. And two of them are existences that he will probably never meet in his life. Among the remaining three people. One is sleeping and one is in front of him, so there is only one answer left.

The black figure walked out of the void crack.

The owner of this figure is no one else, it is the Great Demon King Enkos.

Maybe this void crack is a bit small, so Enkos, who has recovered his body, cannot be calmly walked out, so that he has to bend down and squeeze out of the void crack, but even if it is squeezed out, it is still Let the Void Crack expand a lot. So much so that it affects the surrounding space walls. Of course, for these things. Enkos wouldn't care at all, only Beth frowned slightly.

While watching Enkos, who had recovered his body form, appeared, Oscar's expression quickly faded.

If he still has the hope of winning in the face of Bass, so much that he is willing to give it a go, then in the face of Enkos, he can't afford any thoughts of resistance at all. Even at this moment, he couldn't help but think, is this a joke made by fate?

Being a cocoon?

The existence of fate isolation is largely to prevent Edward's deification and cause the plane to collapse. Another main function is to limit the strength of the bass. Although bass and Oscar are the same as the twentieth level, in fact, in the field of fate isolation, bass can only play the strength of the nineteenth level. This is also the reason why Oscar dares to confront the bass head-on, otherwise it is pure Oscar As a magician, how dare Beth the sword emperor to contend?

But Enkos is different.

This guy is a real twenty-second order existence.

In terms of strength alone, this guy is already at the level of a plane traveler, a bit higher than the level sequence where Oscar and Beth are now just plane powerhouses.

It's just that, even though Enkos has the strength of the twenty-second rank, he can't fully display it. It is usually limited to within the twenty-second rank, because this is the highest critical point that the plane of miracle can reach. Of course, Enkos is also different from Bass. Enkos awakens his existence through a special method, so he has assimilated with the Marvel Continent. Even if the strength of the twentieth rank is exerted, it will not cause any problems, as long as it does not exceed it. Twenty steps are enough.

If this is the case, Oscar will naturally be able to play a few tricks with Enkos.

But the problem is that fate is isolated.

In order to prevent the plane's origin from being destroyed and causing the plane to collapse, the function of fate isolation is to completely isolate this world from the Marvel Continent plane. And since it is completely isolated because of this, then what happens in the fate isolation has nothing to do with the origin of the plane, then Enkos will naturally not only use the strength of the twentieth level to shoot.

This is why Enkos said he likes it here.

Similarly, this is why Oscar thinks this is the reason why he is bound to himself.

Because he counts thousands of dollars, he didn't even count that Enkos, the great demon king, would appear here, which is completely inconsistent with the script he prepared at the beginning!

Everyone who can understand fate is strictly a director of the world, because they can completely manipulate the fate of others through the future they see, and let the other party act in accordance with the script they have conceived.

Oscar is no exception.

What's more, Oscar's force value is not low, and he is one of the ten people standing on the pinnacle of the Marvel Continent.

Therefore, he has greater pride and confidence that he is a director who can arrange the fate of others at will. And historically. He has indeed succeeded many times, and even a few times he has manipulated the private fights of the largest organization forces on the Marvel Continent with extremely secret methods-this feeling of hiding behind the scenes and manipulating everything is the most favorite of Oscars. Yes, if not this time he had to stop Beth himself, he would be more willing to manipulate this battle of fate in another way.

Unfortunately. The person he calculated this time was Sean, who had just officially become the son of the plane.

In a sense. Oscar is right with fate.

Because it is impossible for Sean to follow Oscar's script to do things, he has his own selfishness and concerns.

"Why are you here?" Beth frowned. "Where is Nanaly?"

"It's handed over to Abis and Dex." Enkos said lightly, but soon frowned, "Why are these two guys here?"

"Which two?" Beth was puzzled.

"Edward and Diane." Enkos snorted coldly, raised his head and looked at the battle above Adroan, and naturally saw the situation where Edward and Diane joined forces. At this time these two people have completely gained the upper hand. One of the two paladin captains from the Empire of St. Joles was torn off by Edward, and then punched through his chest and abdomen. Obviously, it is impossible to survive. "How did these two guys join forces? ...Huh! What about this old guy?"

Obviously Enkos was a little unhappy. When he said the last sentence, the force in his hand could not help but became a little bit stronger, and Oscar showed pain on his face.

"He can't die yet." Beth said lightly, "It will be very troublesome if he dies.... You go inside and solve the problem first. Sean is also inside."

"That kid?" Enkos was a little surprised, "What happened to Andrew?"

"It should be okay," Beth said. "Leave him to me. You go over there first to solve those troubles. The battle should be over."

"Got it." Enkos threw Oscar aside, then got up and flew quickly towards the sky over Adroan.

His speed is extremely fast, and he obviously has no idea of keeping his hands or hiding his traces, so for outsiders, he almost appeared in Edward, Diane and Ziggs, and Jebien as soon as he moved his body. In the battlefield. As soon as the abrupt figure appeared, the strong aura exuding from his body instantly stunned the four people present that they did not dare to move at all. Of course, even if he wanted to move, he could no longer move. Edward's punch just now Both of his hearts shattered, and the paladin commander obviously could no longer survive, and was falling to the ground at this time.

Ziggs had the intention to pick up people, but Enkos's reality was too abrupt, so he didn't dare to act rashly. He could only watch his friend Jebien fall heavily to the ground, throwing a large area of the ground. All fell, just like a meteorite.

"My lord..." Diane looked at Enkos who appeared in front of him, and was taken aback.

"The reason I gave you Uriel, I think you haven't forgotten it?" Enkos looked at Diane and said coldly.

"I didn't... forget." Diane's voice was a bit astringent.

Zigs looked at Enkos in disbelief: "You gave Uriel!?"

"A follower of Legzain?" Enkos glanced at Ziggs, then snorted coldly, "That old  stick is developing well now....I am not interested in you for the time being, don't force me to break the rules. Get out and get out now."

"My lord's name is not something you can call a demon!" Ziggs was very courageous, and shouted directly to Enkos, "Uriel must hand it over! I will never allow these gods to be taken by the devil. Defiled."

Enkos laughed so furiously that he didn't see what he was doing, and he appeared in front of Ziggs in an instant, with his right hand already attached to Ziggs' chest. A powerful suction instantly emerged from Enkos's palm, and Ziggs's face also changed drastically, but no matter how hard he struggled, he completely broke free of Enkos's right hand, and he could only feel the angel's outfit. That powerful force quickly faded from his body.

Soon, the whole angel costume. Michael disappeared from Ziggs' body as a faint phantom.

Immediately afterwards, without waiting for Ziggs to react, a more powerful force came from the depths of his soul. This immediately made Ziggs' face become more shocked, and at the same time the struggle became even more. Crazy. It's just that all of this was futile in front of Enkos, as Enkos' right hand gradually left Ziggs' chest. A red ball of light was gradually peeled from Ziggs' body.

In this red ball of light, there is an armor look.

Diana, who has the experience of searching for Uriel, knows that this ball of light is actually the original form of the angel outfit Michael.

And what Enkos is doing now is undoubtedly to completely strip Michael from Ziggs.

It's just that Diane didn't know the meaning of this move, but Ziggs couldn't be more clear.

As the four sets of angel costumes inherited by the Morning Light Church. Only when the holder dies can he perform a special ritual to be stripped from his soul. Otherwise, no matter what methods are used, it is impossible to separate the angel costume from the body of the holder. This is why Ziggs and others must * Diane back to the Saint-Joles Empire, because they do not have The way to separate Uriel, only the Pope has this method.

But now!

But seeing Enkos effortlessly strip Michael from his soul, how can Ziggs not be frightened?

After Enkos stripped Michael from Ziggs' body, he suddenly shook his right hand, and Enkos took away the whole angel costume. Then he didn't wait for Ziggs to react. Enkos's voice sounded again: "Just let you go, you don't want to go. Then you don't go now."

Having said that, his right hand swept abruptly, and he drew it directly from Ziggs's face, and immediately drew Ziggs out, truly falling from the kilometer high school like a meteorite, crashing into Adroan's. Inside the building complex, another piece of dust was raised. But this is not over yet, Enkos stretched out his index finger to point in the direction where Ziggs fell. A small black ball quickly fell to the ground at an extremely fast speed, and then it turned into a black ball-shaped energy force field with a diameter of 100 meters.

Everything in this force field. Whether it was the ground, the building, or other things, all disappeared completely, not even a trace was left.

After finishing this, Enkos turned his head to look at Diane, and said in a cold voice: "When I gave you Uriel, what did you do?"

Dai An pursed his mouth and said nothing.

"Say!" Enkos shouted.

"Kill...Edward." Diane spoke with some difficulty.

"But what did I see?" Enkos said coldly, with a feeling of hating iron but not steel, "You and Edward are fighting together."

"Huh." As a demon, Edward naturally has his pride.

However, because of this cold snort, Enkos suddenly appeared in front of him, and directly raised his hand and swept it over with a slap.

When Edward wanted to hide, it was too late, and he immediately slapped Enkos's slap. It's just that he wasn't directly taken to the ground like Ziggs did, but he was still taken tens of meters away.

"My lord...there is a reason!"

Seeing that Edward was taken away, Diane hurriedly said, and at the same time, he also explained the reason why he would join forces with Edward. As a believer of Enkos, Diane's power was given by Enkos, and he also bears the mark of Enkos's believers. All of this is destined to Diane's inability and impossible to deceive Enkos, or even to violate Enkos' orders. .

As Diane narrated the process, Enkos just listened quietly. After half a minute after Diane finished the narration, Enkos said coldly: "Done talking?"

"It's over." Diane nodded.

"Now, kill him." Enkos said again, "This time, no one from Chenguang Church will trouble you."

"My lord!" Di An was a little dazed, and said subconsciously.

"Can't get a hand?" Enkos stared at Diane, his tone a little cold, but even a normal creature could hear the killing intent in Enkos's words.

Dai An pursed his lips and did not speak.

"Go away." Enkos shouted in a deep voice.

"My lord..." Di An raised his head.

"I'll let you go." Enkos snorted and turned his head to look at Edward. "Since you don't want to do it, then it doesn't matter. I was just lazy to look for him everywhere. Now that I'm here, I'll take this matter. Solve it all at once.... There is nothing for you here. What should you do? Get out of my sight now."

"grown ups....."

"Don't understand?" Enkos said again, "Better not let me say it a third time."

Diane lowered his head helplessly, then glanced sideways at Edward, finally gritted his teeth, turned and left here.

He knew that in front of Enkos, there was no affection at all, because he was born as a true * believer, and he naturally knew the creatures of the abyss and * very well. For a great demon like Enkos, moodiness is fundamentally common. Of course, there is no special care for his believers, because in the eyes of all demons, people like them are just tools.

Although Diane is very clear, the relationship between himself and Edward is absolutely opposite, and there can never be a chance of reconciliation.

It's just that the recent years of fighting side by side and Edward's rescue today make Diane very reluctant to face the fact that "Edward is the enemy". If it is the moment that must be faced, Dian does not want it to be today, even tomorrow. It's just that he knew that when Enkos appeared here, there was no room for him to speak.

Inner anger, almost completely burnt Diane's sanity.

At this moment, he has only one thought, and that is to find the two saints of the church of God of War to vent his inner anger.

Chapter 429: .Christina's Faith

Smoke and dust permeated the air, covering an area more than ten meters in radius.

There are many particles in these smoke and dust, so the visibility is naturally extremely low, not even half a meter. Falling into this smoke-shrouded area is no different from entering a dark world where you can't see your fingers. Of course, because this is not a special field of magic, perception is still very useful in this hazy world.

There is a long black shadow, like a fish swimming in the water.

After looking carefully, I realized that this long black shadow was an arm.

The force of the arm coming out of the fist is extremely strong, because the airflow moves in the direction of the arm, it easily spreads out a blank area with extremely high visibility.

Just where the fist fell, there was also a black shadow blocking it.

This black shadow is much larger than the arm, and the width of the horizontal plane is also larger. It is obviously not a normal body part.

When the fist gets closer, the impact of the airflow is greater, and it is natural to see that the block of metal in front of the fist is a piece of metal.

Black.

When the hard fist hits this metal surface, the strong air flow suddenly burst out from this point of origin.

Like the eye of a tornado, all the smoke and dust gushes out crazily along the spiral airflow, dispersing all the smoke and dust in the eye of the storm with a radius of two meters, clearly revealing the two sides in the confrontation and confrontation. With the eruption of the strong airflow, the range of smoke and dust is undoubtedly spread a lot, but it is also obviously thinner, at least not as visibility even half a meter at the beginning.

The two people in the match are not others, but Sean and Christina.

Sean blocked Christina's explosive punch with the sword face of the Black King. Judging from the power of Christina's punch, if the material of the Black King is not good enough, it is a general high-quality weapon. It is also likely to be interrupted by this punch.

It is clear. Christina was really angry.

Of course, Sean knew it just by looking at Kristina's face.

I saw Kristina's right fist slightly changed, and immediately changed the position of the fist, and then lightly pressed on the sword surface, but it was like a force of adsorption that Kristina instantly got close to Sean's side. . The left fist hit Sean's right rib at the same time.

Kristina is extremely fast. It is faster than the general rank powerhouse who is better at boxing. If she didn't use special methods such as alchemy and arcane arts, Xiao En would never believe it. But even if Kristina's speed was fast, Sean didn't care too much, because speed was originally his strong point, so he chose to withdraw his sword and retreat very lightly. Dodge Christina's punch.

But Christina is reluctant. A bully made a big advance, this time he even used his right fist.

Her two fists punched out one after another, which was a bit of a punch posture from a regular boxer. But by looking at the howling wind brought up by Kristina every time she punches, we can know how miserable it would be if she was beaten by her fists.

Even if Sean wants to face Kristina head-to-head once, he will never choose to fight back when Kristina has the upper hand.

Patience has always been the last thing Sean lacks.

Furthermore, after the previous ten minutes of offensive and defensive swaps, Sean also gradually felt some very mysterious feelings. He felt that this time was a great opportunity for him to break through, so he didn't mind being given the upper hand by Christina for a short time. After all, it started with Kristina. Sean has the upper hand for much longer than Christina-although Sean knows why this happens, he still didn't keep his hands when he shot.

Kristina, cares but chaos.

Even Sean doesn't know why Christina cares so much about herself. It seems that her dealings with demon believers made her feel very upset. At this moment, all the trust and friendship turned into full of anger and grief.

It is precisely because of this that Sean is even more afraid to have reservations—just kidding, he is not as good as Christina. If it wasn't because Christina's mental consumption was too great to maintain the domain, Xiao En has long been beaten as a sandbag by Christina. But at this moment, even if Christina is unable to maintain the field of battle, but her strength in all aspects is better than Sean, if it is not for the loss of sanity due to anger, and frequent mistakes, Sean is not sure. How long can I last?

But now anyway, Sean is indeed fighting with all his strength.

The shape of the black king is imitating the shape of a knight's sword, which is the kind of knight's sword that fights immediately. It is more suitable for chopping, slashing, and slicing. The weight of the sword body is mostly concentrated on the tip of the sword. However, Sean almost never fights right away, so he has also increased the weight on the hilt, and the blade is thicker and heavier. This is why the Black King can block Christina's punch without breaking.

The Black King in Sean's hand slightly picked up, and the sword edge turned into a black shadow, but it cut into the only flaw that was revealed in Kristina's continuous fist attack—because of being too close, Sean's retreat is unrhythmic, and even the punches with Christina have become unrhythmic. The situation that originally had the upper hand was brought into Sean in this involuntary situation. As a result, after a right fist is shot, the left fist cannot be connected.

Sean's attack was mixed in this connection error—the Black King's blade accurately hit Kristina's left fist and forcibly disrupted her rhythm, followed by a long sword. The tip of the sword pierced Christina's left shoulder blade. The next moment, Sean slammed into Kristina's body with a backer, because it was a full-strength collision with no hands left, and the heavy attack immediately knocked Kristina back ten steps in a row.

However, Christina was also stiff, and the muscles of the left shoulder blade were clamped, and while retreating forcibly, it also brought Sean to keep up.

So when Kristina stabilized her figure, Kristina's right fist drew towards Sean's left cheek again.

Sean had seen Christina's boxing power after going crazy before, so naturally he didn't want to be so short. But if he avoids, he must give up the black king in his hands. Because Kristina's left hand had already grasped the sword of the Black King—Sean didn't understand what kind of skills Kristina was performing, and even holding down such a sharp Black King with his bare hands didn't show up. Cut, even dare to use his fists to block the sword of the black king.

In desperation, Sean can only let go of his short body. Escaped Christina's punch.

But I don't want to. Christina is also a veteran with quite a wealth of combat experience. Seeing Sean let go of his sword, how could she not take the opportunity to attack. Immediately after pulling out the Black King with his left hand, he flicked the long sword without knowing where it was going. At the same time, he slapped at Sean at an extremely fast speed, and directly hit Sean with a more solid backing. Hit and fly out.

was forcibly knocked into flight by Christina. Sean, who flew upside down, quickly adjusted his body shape in mid-air. After a twist and turn, the whole body shape turned into flying horizontally, and the right hand sank and pressed to the ground. The strength brought by Christina was immediately transmitted to the ground, shaking out a huge mark, and the surrounding ground collapsed. It's more than a few inches. And Sean also took this to turn his body, the center of gravity quickly sinks, and the whole person immediately landed, once again turning all the impact into dispersion force and shook the ground into the ground. Larger web cracks are formed.

But at this time, Christina had already rushed over again.

Only the words of martial arts. Ten Sean and together are not Christina's opponents.

This is not to say that Christina is more than ten times stronger than Sean, but after coming to this world, all Sean's mind is placed on swordsmanship, and even his profession follows swordsmanship. And a person's energy is limited. If Sean is unwilling to spend a lot of proficiency points to fill his skill list, he is actually not much different from the genius of this world, so in the case of losing his weapon, Sean can hardly contend with Christina.

This is exactly what Christina wanted.

However, it was not the result that Sean wanted.

Faced with Christina, who was attacking like a storm, Sean roared in a deep voice, and showed his power without hesitation.

As the prototype of the realm, Sean's current potential will no longer pose any threat to his life after he acquires the silver body. Simply put, the current situation already has the same consumption effect as the realm-as long as Sean Able to withstand the consumption, then he can maintain the range of force field forever.

Kristina was impacted by Sean's momentum in the front, and the speed of the whole person was immediately affected, and all aspects of the movement speed were obviously slowed down.

This unexpected state made Kristina obviously a little lost.

But this loss of consciousness was only an instant, and even less than a second, Christina had completely recovered. Although she can't expand the domain right now, for Christina, a momentum is not enough to restrict her actions-after all, momentum is only a suppression of momentum, although the boundary line of the law has been touched, it is not after all According to the law, it may be okay to deal with the strong below the sanctuary, but using momentum to deal with the strong at the sanctuary obviously can only play a role for a moment.

I saw Christina's aura suddenly surging, and vindictiveness burst out of her body instantly, breaking the suppression of Sean's "potential" immediately.

Sean didn't expect Christina's reaction to be so fast.

After suppressing Christina with force, Sean had already jumped and flew out towards the place where the Black King fell. After not wanting to be broken by Christina, Sean suddenly felt a tingling pain in his head, and his stature was involuntarily stagnated, and then Christina reached out and grabbed her ankle, followed by Christina. It spins like a top, and after two consecutive turns, Sean is thrown away.

It's just that Kristina is not stupid. The direction that Sean throws is naturally far away from the drop point of the Black King. Kristina has discovered that Sean, who is holding the Black King and not holding the Black King, is simply Two people. In this case, he naturally wanted to let Xiao En be as far away from the Black King as possible. After all, Xiao En was much easier to deal with when he had no weapons.

was thrown out by Christina, and Sean could only adjust his figure quickly in mid-air, but the tingling sensation from his head still made Sean feel a little uncomfortable.

But this time, Christina didn't press it hard again, but watched Sean quickly adjust his figure in mid-air, staggering when he landed.

At that time, Christina also experienced such a slow growth period-first the maintenance of the field, and then the suppression of the momentum. Then came the embryonic form of the field, which finally formed its own field. So for Kristina, she knew very well what Shaun's situation would be like after she had cracked it with the force of law, and the intense pain was not much better than the field being exploded.

The only difference I have to say is that the level of pain is probably a little lighter.

certainly. This actually has an advantage.

It's just that Christina didn't intend to speak out. As for whether Sean can grasp it, that is his own business.

Geniuses have the pride of geniuses.

"You disappointed me." Kristina said in a deep voice. She stared at Sean blankly. The only thing that looked good was Kristina's eyes. It was a disappointment, deep and deep. Disappointment. "Why?"

Sean lightly clutched his forehead. Glancing at Christina, she smiled and said, "Why?...Because I am a lord and a great prince, I am responsible for my followers. As Diane said, the world is not only black and white. There is still a lot of gray. As the business people often say, when there is demand, there will be competition. Not all demons are evil. There will always be one or two good people."

"Huh." Christina laughed. The voice was somewhat contemptuous.

"You really don't believe me." Sean shrugged, "I'll just say two things you don't know."

Kristina raised her eyebrows. He put on a look of listening, but the look on his face was still contemptuous.

In fact, in the earliest days, there was no distinction between an executive officer and an arbitrator in the Peace Council. Basically, they had to intervene in everything. Naturally, many people were offended because of this-no empire was willing to tolerate the existence of such a special power institution as the Peace Council, so the seven empires and other forces that looked at the Peace Council unpleasantly joined forces.

The teamwork resulted in the loss of two-thirds of the elite of the Peace Council, which was directly injured. Among them, in addition to the seven empires, there are Deaththorn and several other powerful organizations that are not inferior to Deaththorn. This is also the origin of the feud between the Peace Council and Deaththorn. Of course, according to the personality and ideas of the Peace Council, they naturally hate the seven empires and other major forces, but it is a pity that the Zenus Empire, the Saint-Joles Empire, the Millennium Covenant Empire, and the Emilia Empire. The five veteran empires of Maggie Empire are too rich, and the Peace Council really can't help them.

However, these five of the seven empires were unable to take them, and it does not mean that the other two empires were unable to take them. Therefore, under a series of coincidences, the Peace Council easily destroyed these two empires. In one of the empires, everyone including the royal family was slaughtered. Of course, the Peace Parliament also has a perfect excuse, that is, the empire has been corrupted to its roots, and the people have been living in dire straits. This is also the most sensational of the many things the Peace Parliament has done, because an empire's Corruption directly obliterates this empire.

But also after this incident, the five established empires explicitly prohibited the Peace Council from interfering. Since that time, the Peace Council has indeed kept a low profile for a long time after encountering the cooperation of many forces across the continent, and there have also been more arbitrators. The emergence of a post. What the five established empires refused was the arbitration conducted by the arbitrators. Even in unnecessary and special circumstances, they also refused the arbitration of the arbitrators of the Peace Parliament to arbitrate their subject countries.

It can be said that the introduction of arbitrators is an innovation of the Peace Council in seeking breakthroughs and changes.

It's a pity that this plan ended in failure.

Because not everyone can accept the pure black and white ideas of the Peace Parliament.

After decades of thinking, the Peace Council made another amazing move: adopt orphans and implement brainwashing training.

After a short period of failure, this method soon ushered in an extremely astonishing period of explosive harvest.

Because of the purity of belief, the simplicity of thought, and the specificity of quality, the council has many more powerful officers-these people's minds are not complicated, so they are easy to control and can be better executed. Tasks and training. These executive officers, who appeared like puppets, quickly restored the vitality and strength of the Peace Council to a certain degree, and in turn made them firmer in their brainwashing strategy for orphans.

It can be said that the executive officers of the Peace Council have only two backgrounds: either they are orphans. Either the descendants of the martyrs.

Because only they can accept the purest extreme ideas of the Peace Parliament.

Christina, is an orphan.

From small to large, everything she came into contact with was what the Peace Council wanted her to see, so her world was very pure and simple: it was either white or black, and there was no so-called gray zone. All existence that cannot be classified as white is black. And black is evil. Evil will be obliterated.

This is what Christina has learned over the past two decades.

Now, Sean tells Kristina that there is actually a third color in the world. How can Kristina believe it? In other words, she didn't go violently on the spot, but patiently put on a respectful appearance, which was already very important to Sean's performance.

"Elken. Have you heard of it?" Sean said.

"Lord of arrogance. One of the Seven Demon Kings." Kristina replied, her tone indifferent.

"She's dead." Sean said again, "It was killed by the demon that Diane believed in."

When Kristina heard about Elken's death, her face was shocked and surprised at first, but after hearing the second half of Sean's words, her face showed contempt again, saying: "The chaos between the demons everyone knows, what's so strange about a dog biting a dog between them. Who knows what conflict of interests is because of."

"Heh." Sean also laughed, and his voice became a little brisk. "Elken wants to invade this world. She even opened the Demon Gate directly. Even the Demon Legion is ready on the abyss. They will be able to invade only when the Demon Gate is officially opened.... But, this Everything was stopped by Enkos. I admit that demons are very chaotic creatures by nature, but why would a demon that you keep saying that you must destroy will stop another demon from invading?"

Kristina opened her mouth, as if she wanted to say something, but she didn't know how to say it.

Intuitively told her that there was something wrong with what Sean said, but Christina really couldn't think of what was wrong.

A person who believes in pure has one advantage, that is, pure thinking.

A simple-minded person, for Sean, that is a fool.

It is a fact that Enkos prevented Elken's invasion, but the bigger fact is because Andrew is in this world and is still asleep in his body. As long as Elken invades this world, the first thing is to kill him. Essentially, Elken is standing on the opposite side of Enkos, so Enkos will kill Elken. This It is the same as Christina's "contradiction of interests".

Of course, because of the asymmetry of information, Christina doesn't know this.

"How do you know that the demon lord prevented Elken's invasion?" Kristina's tone was obviously unbelievable.

"Because I was there at the time." Sean replied, "You should know that I have provided you with a lot of information for the Peace Council?... In fact, I have the ability to predict, but this ability is not subject to my own control. Control, but occasionally flashes in my mind, making me feel like a dream. So it is difficult for me to distinguish which are dreams and which destiny wants me to know. Before I get a clear answer, come to me Say everything is fake."

At this point, Sean paused for a while, and changed a more sincere tone of voice to say: "Those things I told you have been carefully investigated and confirmed to be true before I dared to speak. This is also true. That's why the information I provided to you before is accurate."

"You didn't mean that the Devil's Gate is on the northern continent, it's the Medusa Chamber of Commerce..."

"Yes." Xiao En nodded, "Even I don't know, there are two Demon Gates originally....Because you have come to the North Continent, there is another Demon Gate, I can only investigate the truth by myself. Sex. But I didn't expect that the Devil's Gate was already open, and even a lot of little demons came in. Do you think that with the strength of your Peace Council, you can open up two Devil's Gate battlefields at the same time?"

Kristina was silent.

In fact, the peace parliament is indeed possible.

Don't say there are two places, even three places are fine. However, the problem is that in this way, the Peace Council will also fall into an extremely weak state. If it is targeted by death thorns at this time, the loss of the Peace Council will be very heavy. It is even possible to fall into a severely injured state again. This is also the real reason why the Peace Council has acted more and more low-key over the years, because the Peace Council today is no better than it was when it was first established.

"In some coincidence situation, Enkos helped me." Sean retained the truth of certain things, and then continued. "If it weren't for him. I would have died in Elken's hands a long time ago.... Therefore, I owe Enkos a favor. Don't tell me that dealing with the devil is becoming a heretic. I only know that others are right. How I am, I will treat others as I should."

Kristina remained silent.

"Is there a conflict of interest between Enkos and Elken? I don't know, and I don't want to know." Sean said softly, his tone a little dull. "I only know. The South Continent did not fall into the chaos of the demon invasion because Enkos killed Elken.... Our world was saved by a great demon. Don't you think it is ironic? Acknowledge your efforts and dedication of the Peace Council, but I think you should also understand that many practices of the Peace Council are problematic."

"Excuse." Christina sneered.

"Excuse?" Sean was not annoyed, but smiled, "That's good. Let's talk about another thing.... Do you know why the Peace Council and Deaththorn are enemies?"

"That's because there are many dark creatures in the dead thorn."

"It's half right." Sean shook his head slightly, "The other half. It's because Deaththorn has teamed up with the Seven Empires to pit your Peace Council."

Speaking of this, Sean directly told Christina the earliest story of the Peace Council. These include the joint efforts of the seven empires and the subsequent "retaliation" of the Peace Council. Of course, Sean's unique brainwashing sophistry is also indispensable: such as the cultivation of orphans, the brainwashing cultivation of the Peace Council, The arbitrator has never been able to enter the core circle of the Peace Parliament and so on.

Christina didn't show any special color on her face at first, but as Shaun said more, Christina's face became silent.

Whether it is Sean or Christina, they are very smart people.

And smart people have an advantage, that is, some things don't need to be said too much and more clearly, as long as they start appropriately. Just looking at Kristina's look, Sean knew that he had successfully shaken Kristina's faith-all this was what Sean needed to do.

is not to reverse Kristina's thoughts.

But shaken.

In fact, Sean is not sure that he will succeed, because people who believe in pure have one problem: that is stubbornness.

They will automatically filter all heretical comments against their beliefs, and only listen to the good side. Sean is obviously experienced in these things, so when he narrates things about the Peace Council, he did not incorporate too many personal emotional factors, but described it in the tone of a third party's onlooker narrative. Of course, the most important point was The massacre of the Peace Council-Sean believes that this is a stain on the Peace Council, so they will definitely not promote it internally.

It's just that they won't promote it, but it doesn't mean that this matter doesn't exist.

Many forces and organizations on the mainland have records of this massacre, but the people who know this is the Peace Council are doing very few. And Deaththorn happens to be one of these few people, and this is also the reason why Deaththorn calls the people of the Peace Council a hypocrite.

But these real villains, Deaththorn, there is nothing worthy of praise.

"Sophistry." Christina said coldly.

"Sophistry?" Sean tilted his head, and then smiled, "Just treat me as a sophistry.... But there are some things that you don't want to deny, and they don't exist. In fact, you peace council does do it. There have been many things that are contrary to your purpose, and the big demon you think you hate the most and must be killed has also successfully saved the world, even... the first mission of the demon believer of Diane, It's also chasing and killing the demon  Edward."

After pondering for a moment, Sean said for the second time: "This world is not only black and white."

"You gave me information three times." Christina was silent for a long time, and then suddenly said, "In essence, I only helped you get paid twice.... This time, it's the third time. Peace Council The deal with you has been settled. And our friendship has ended here. I admit that this world is not only black and white, but I can only accept black and white."

Sean also fell into silence.

He just looked at Christina so quietly, not knowing what he was thinking. After a while, Xiao En sighed slightly: "To be honest, I think it's easy to be friends with you, and I also hope to be friends with you all the time.... But it's a pity that our minds cannot be unified. You can only accept black and white, but to me, the world has many colors."

"I know." Kristina nodded, and she turned her head to look at the high sky, where Enkos and Edward were on the battlefield, "This time, I believe your story."

story?

Shaun frowned slightly.

Because Sean is also a smart person, he has guessed Kristina's plan, but he does not intend to ask.

"Your domain has already taken shape. Feel the pain when I was suppressed just now." Kristina turned her head, looked back at Sean, and then said, "You used to be my friend. But, I The Sean Connery that I knew is dead...The next time we meet, there may be a difference in identity due to different positions. I hope you can be prepared."

Shaun just smiled and stopped talking.

And Christina just stared at Sean again, then turned and left.

Adroan, she is no longer needed in this battlefield.

In other words, the battle of fate that had to let her in is over.

Chapter 430: .Marz Goddess

The ground is full of yellow sand, there are pits and pits everywhere.

But the weird thing is that in the area hundreds of meters away from this devastated land, it is a green and lush area.

This is a vast grassland.

It's just that nearly one-third of the terrain has now turned into Gobi wilderness, with yellow sand rolling.

But if you watch it up close, you will definitely feel more surprised.

Because the ground of many pits is actually directly crystallized, how much energy burst can this be formed?

But in one of the huge pits of crystalline sand, there was a person lying there.

This person is a little thin, his hair is yellow, maybe it should be golden, but at this time it looks a bit like withered leaves, and it is stuck piece by piece, tightly against the scalp, looking abnormally embarrassed and dirty. His face also showed a kind of abnormal grayness, his decadent aura was very heavy, especially his eyes were even more lacklustre, and his supposedly handsome facial features looked a little collapsed and haggard.

There are armor-like phantoms flickering on him, and the phantom will become lighter after each flicker. However, after a few consecutive times, the phantom will be solidified again, but before long, it will become lighter than before. After such a moment, the phantom of the armor was completely invisible, and only the dotted line like a line was still outlined in the air, barely able to see the outline of the armor.

The breath of life of this person lying on the sand is already very weak. If there is a necromancer, then you can see that the fire of his life is trembling.

However, there was another person standing in front of the person who was about to become a corpse at this time.

To be precise, he was a child who was dragging a huge sword with an extremely exaggerated shape.

This kid is naturally Kozilek.

Since Kozilek can appear here, it is not difficult to guess the identity of the person who fell in front of him.

Laurent Hegler Tell.

One of the papal guardians of the Morning Light Church, the Left Wing of God. This year's angel costume. Gabriel holder.

Lying on the ground, Laurent looked at Kozilek whose face was intoxicated, and seemed to want to say something, but only slightly opened his mouth, but he could only make a few * ho sounds similar to the wind of a bellows. He wanted to raise his right hand to grab Kozilek's foot, but in the end only the index finger of his right hand moved slightly. He didn't even have the strength to lift his right hand.

is more than strength.

Laurent can feel it. His vitality is losing at an extremely fast rate, and his eyelids are getting heavier and heavier.

Is this the feeling of death? —— Laurent thought.

He didn't understand why he lost.

After Gabriel enters the awakening state, he should be able to completely suppress Kozilek. But in fact, he was eaten to death by Kozilek, and Gabriel canceled his awakening state until his strength was almost completely exhausted. Then he was completely defeated.

In the whole battle. The only time he has the upper hand is when Gabriel is awakened. But even if Gabriel entered the awakening state, he could not completely suppress Kozilek. At best, he could not be beaten by Kozilek like a ball, but he wanted to get rid of Kozilek or defeat Kozilek. The same is powerless, even unable to escape.

So that, in the end, it can only end up in such a situation.

It's...somewhat ironic.

The corners of Laurent's mouth raised slightly, revealing a self-deprecating smile.

He only felt that his eyelids were getting heavier and heavier. The world is getting darker and darker, and the bright sky has turned into a dark night.

finally. Laurent still didn't say a word, and couldn't grasp Kozilek's foot with his right hand, so he slowly closed his eyes with a self-deprecating smile.

The color of intoxication on Kozilek's face gradually turned into intoxication, and a small redness appeared on his white face.

With a taste of contentment, he lightly slapped a full burp, and then touched his stomach with his left hand.

The life fire that swallowed Laurent was much better than he expected.

Of course, the physical energy consumed in the battle was smaller than he expected, and this is the real reason for his gains.

But he can also understand the self-deprecating smile on the corner of Laurent's mouth.

In fact, Laurent's strength is definitely more than this.

As the left wing of God, his affinity with Gabriel is higher than that of Jerbyen, who is known as the Eternal Shield. Therefore, in some respects, Gabriel's combat power after awakening is naturally better than Jerbyen's. Slightly higher. But it is a pity that the person who is fighting with him is Kozilek, a monster with unlimited energy. If he is replaced by other legendary peak powers, not to mention those skill-type and endurance-type ranks, simple power-type people like Kozilek, early Laurent had already been dragged down, how could it be possible to wait until Laurent exhausted his mental power, forcing Gabriel to be released from the awakening state.

Only Kozilek has the energy and strength to consume.

Therefore, Laurent will die here, which is definitely a very unjust thing for him.

It's a pity that in this world, there has always been a theory of victory and defeat, and there has never been a theory of fairness.

After solving Laurent easily, Kozilek tilted his head and looked in the direction of Adroan. He could feel that the current situation of Adroan had become much simpler and more dangerous.

The reason why is simple is because he has discovered that the two auras that have the same original aura as Laurent have disappeared. In Kozilek's cognition, the news of breath also means fall, or death. For Kozilek, unless he happens to be beside him, no matter who it is, it is worthless to him once he falls, because this loss of life energy is so fast that it can be said to be a little bit too fast. To the point of fleeting.

If it is normal, Kozilek will definitely rush back to Adroan immediately after solving Laurent.

But now, Kozilek has a very uncomfortable aura entrenched in Adroan, which makes Kozilek a little reluctant to return to Adroan, and this is why Kozilek feels more dangerous.

There are not many people who can make Kozilek feel uncomfortable, so far there are only two.

The first one is Oscar, and the second one is the breath that now occupies above Adroan. Intuition tells Kozilek that the aura entrenched in the sky is much more dangerous than Oscar, and Kozilek is too lazy to speak. It doesn't mean that he has no IQ. On the contrary, he is smarter than Sean imagined, so he is not willing to put himself in a dangerous environment.

But at this moment, an extremely strong astonishing aura suddenly broke out in Adroan.

After this momentum broke out, it was accompanied by a mighty power like ocean waves. Wave after wave centered on Adroan. The radiation shock spreads out to the surroundings. However, Kozilek, who is extremely sensitive to aura, can feel a unique and unique aura from this power, which is a kind of awe-inspiring aura unique to the plane, just like the law itself.

This is the unique breath of the gods!

If it weren't for the smell of extremely fierce fire of life burning in it, Kozilek would even think that it was a * who descended in this material world.

Because of the smell of the fire of life burning, Kozilek knew that this was just a * surrender.

The situation of Adroan. It seems to be much more dangerous than he thought.

curled his mouth slightly. In the end, he was still a little worried about Sean's safety-Kozilek had to worry, because if Sean were to die in front of him, he would not dare to imagine the consequences-so soon, Kozilek set off towards Adroan Go quickly.

This time, his speed was used to the limit, almost without any reservation.

I saw a silver-white lightning flashing through the air, almost shaking the air into a vacuum, and even vaguely high heat volatilized.

Because this time I was driving at full speed without reservation. So Kozilek quickly rushed to the place where God descended.

I was only slightly surprised when I saw it.

In a ruin. There is a young man suspended in it. His upper body is completely naked. There are complicated and weird patterns on his body that change like a snake. The only constant pattern is concentrated on his face, symmetrical. , It looks a lot like the mark of the Church of God of War. His hair is pale white, which looks a lot like the white of albinism, but the hair quality can be seen to be extremely soft, at this time it is slightly rippling like a wave on the sea.

His eyes are golden, and they don't look like human eyes. On the contrary, they smell like vertical pupils. Holding a sword in each hand, now it is completely impossible to see whether the two swords are long swords or short swords, because the swords are burning with extremely dazzling golden flames, and it feels like holding two golden fires. Bar instead of two swords.

The awe-inspiring warfare intent on his body continued to radiate.

Bizos is halfway behind this person.

So it seems that the one who invited Marz to come is Su Anso, who is best at fighting.

At this time, it was Diane who was confronting the goddess Marz.

Because Di'an's mental strength has not been completely recovered at this time, Uriel cannot be awakened, and he can only maintain the fifteenth-tier combat power, but in terms of combat power alone, it is with God Jiangma. Erz unanimously. It's just that there is a very obvious crack on Diane's chest. Even if there is a very thick earth-yellow light shining and compressing, there is still a golden flame burning tenaciously on it. It is not difficult to see that in the previous battle, Diane is actually at a disadvantage.

If it is an ordinary person, I am afraid that Marz has already solved it by this time.

, that is, the angels equipped with such artifacts are so powerful that they can block Marz's frontal blow without dying.

But Diane has an angel costume. Uriel is blocking it, but Levi is not so lucky.

Located on a ruin not far below Diane, Levi lay.

The large remaining building wall on which he is leaning is already covered with cracks, and it seems that it will completely collapse at any time. Two extremely obvious sword wounds crossed from the front, and it seemed that they were about to be cut into four pieces. The blood not only stained his robe red, but even a small pool of blood gathered under him. Not to mention that his face was as pale as paper at this time, and there was almost no vitality in the reaction.

Shaun and Alisha are surrounded by Levi.

Alyssa's appearance was obviously not good. Her left hand was a bit weird, and it seemed to be discounted. She was pulled weakly, and she could only hold Levi's wound with her right hand. Tears were dripping from her face, watching her lips keep opening and closing, it seemed that she was saying something, but Levi might not have heard it clearly.

And Sean, although he is also in distress, he is obviously better than Levi and Alissa, at least not that bad.

He was reaching out his hand to open Levi's mouth, and then poured some liquid into his mouth, and then poured the remaining liquid directly on Levi's body, there was a sizzling noise, and there was a lot of mist came out of Levi's body. But when these mists came out, there was still a golden flame burning from Levi's body, scared Alissa and Sean involuntarily backed up a few steps, and then there was another rush. Hurry up to put out the fire.

But in such a short time, Levi's upper body's clothes were completely burned by the golden flames, and parts of his body were even scorched. In particular, the cross-shaped scar is particularly obvious on his body-extending from the two sides of the stomach to the left and right shoulders, the center of the intersection happens to be at the position of the stomach. Although the wound is not large, it is extremely Deep, which makes healing extremely difficult.

When Kozilek arrived here, he saw this scene in front of him.

It's just that he doesn't just look at it with the naked eye, but at the same time he can sense the breath.

He could feel the breath of life that Levi had almost extinguished, but because of what Shaun had done just now, it became a little more vigorous. It's just a little bit. If Levi's life fire is quickly draining away, his death will only happen sooner or later. Levi's injury did not improve as a result, but was only temporarily suppressed. That's it.

Feeling the aura of Kozilek behind him, Marz turned his head slightly and glanced, then his brows wrinkled slightly.

But soon, there was a burst of joy in his eyes.

Because it was a surrender, and as soon as it came, it was a short and fierce confrontation, so Malz did not understand the current situation of the battle, or that he did not have time to understand. There was a terrible and powerful aura above the sky. This aura made Marz realize that even if he completely descended on his body, even in the kingdom of God, his home game, it would be difficult for him to contend against the opponent, so he was not very much. Want to stay here.

What he didn't expect was that the opponent in front of him was so difficult to solve—of course, Marz was referring to Diane, like Levi, Alyssa, and Sean, and Marz didn't think of him at all. . But if it was just a Diane, even though it would take more energy and time, Marz didn't think the opponent was qualified to confront him.

So Kozilek's sudden appearance at this time finally made Malz feel a little bit tricky.

But when he turned his head to look at Kozilek carefully, a look of ecstasy appeared in his eyes: the fate he wanted most, unexpectedly, he was automatically delivered to the door!

He had sent the oracle before and asked the people of the God of War church to help find Kozilek and sacrifice him to absorb Kozilek's power. As long as he can obtain this power, he will be able to break through to a higher realm, not to mention the level of becoming a creation god, at least he will be able to win the position of the supreme god.

And if he can really possess the supreme divine power, then he can surpass all the gods on the plane of Miracle Continent, and then he will be able to absorb the godheads and kingdoms of other gods through constant divine warfare, thus becoming the entire Miracle Continent. The only * on the plane. This temptation can't be resisted by anyone, at least Marz knows that the * of morning light is also making such an idea, but the method is different from him.

So Marz really wanted to absorb Kozilek's power.

The only troublesome thing is that Kozilek's whereabouts are uncertain and difficult to grasp, so he can only find it by descending the oracle.

But I didn't expect that now Kozilek actually delivered it to the door by himself, how could Marz not be excited!