

Lord of War Vol 3-511

Chapter 511: . Market

Lake looked at Sean's fast-departing figure, and the flame in his eyes suddenly increased by a few minutes, but was soon suppressed, and gradually turned into a small flame that swayed like a flame, as if it would go out at any time.

So, Lake just let Shaun disappear from his sight, and rushed to the forest of sighs.

"I thought you could not help but shoot." Alexis just stood there from the beginning to the end, did not move a bit, just staring at Rick so coldly.

"Without you, he wouldn't be able to pass here alive, even if I didn't make a move." Lek said lightly, "This time, I made a mistake. Although I have already felt the second breath of fate, I But I didn't expect this second breath to be you.... If I had known that you were willing to sign a contract to enter this plane, then I would be dormant for a while. But now, it is meaningless to say this."

Alexis shrugged noncommittal.

There are some things that are not known to the Lich King like Reck, even though he is already one of the rulers of a plane world. However, Alexis did not intend or said that he was not interested in telling Lake some secret things. In a way, Alexis is very satisfied with the current situation, because there are too many intelligent races in this world, which makes her feel more happy than the time when Alexis was fighting outside the territory.

Perhaps, in the eyes of many people, the so-called strong are those terrifying existences with great strength.

But in the eyes of Alexis and those who are familiar with Alexis, they know that the so-called strong does not mean strong. The reason is simple. In front of Alexis's killing realm, the realm of pure strength is completely meaningless. Only those who master special combat skills or have a strong physical fitness are eligible to be Alexis. Si thinks it is the strong one.

And after coming to this world. The first strong man recognized by Alexis was Vannie. It's not because of how powerful her strength is. In terms of strength, she is not even as good as the Nirvana Death Knight that was just killed by Alexis. It's just because she has a very special fighting technique in her hands, although she has never seen her show it. But Alexis knew that this was a very powerful killer move.

As for the oath knight Lauren. Or maybe the strength of the one who just killed has reached the critical point of the legendary pinnacle. It is a nirvana death knight who can step into the ranks of super powers with only one step, and it is not qualified in the eyes of Alexis.

"However, in your current situation, I am afraid that it is not my opponent yet." Rick let out a strange laughter, "It doesn't matter if I lose a death knight, I just happen to have a brand new one in this aspect recently. The idea. The lack is the powerful experimental material.... You. Maybe you can help me. Don't worry, I will definitely retain your self-awareness and kill Wu Ji."

"Then you can give it a try." Alexis said lightly, not at all like her disdain when she faced enemies before.

It's just that Alexis is indeed domineering and arrogant, but it doesn't mean that she has no brains. All her seemingly arrogant actions are based on her own strong strength and confidence. Those enemies who can make Alexis show disdain, but they don't have the real qualifications enough to make Alexis take a high look. But the Reck in front of him is different. Alexis once defeated the skeletal witch of the same level as Reck in the past: Little Lucas.

But that was just defeat. It has not yet reached the level of serious damage.

But it is true that as Lek said, in the seven great witches on the plane of bones. Even though they belong to the same class, there are strengths and weaknesses in terms of strength. Some Lich Kings are very good at necromantic spells, some Lich Kings are very good at close combat, and some Lich Kings are good at spells and death, and some Lich Kings are even capable of dominating most of them in one fell swoop. An army of undead on the plane of bones.

However, no matter what point he specializes in, he can become one of the seven great witches of the bone plane, and it must be a terrifying existence of the eighteenth order or even a higher order.

Alexis slowly took off the two slashing blades tied to his waist, and then he split his hands on the two sides and gently pressed it on the ground.

However, as soon as the ends of the two slashing blades touched the ground, a black aperture was automatically split on the ground, and the inside of the aperture was dim, like the dark side of the world outside the Faraway Territory. However, from these two apertures, a magnetic force was emitted, which firmly attracted the two cutting blades, and then Alexis released his hands and ignored it, as if he had initiated some special ritual. Generally, the two suspended blades finally began to be slowly attracted by the aperture, and then gradually sink into the aperture.

But soon, a black aperture appeared in front of Alexis, but it was much larger than the aperture on the left and right.

As the two slashing blades slowly sank, in this slightly larger aperture located on the front, a blade slowly emerged.

Through the silver light on the tip of the sword, you can see that this sharp sword with both sides is just like a little lotus with a sharp point, but there is already a strong murderous aura gushing out, a strong murderous aura. Floating even caused extreme instability in the space around Alexis. Especially as this sharp sword gradually appeared, the murderous aura began to become more and more obvious and intense, and even the ground began to produce red cracks, like blood veins.

When the sword body was finally fully revealed, the entire space suddenly shook, and there was even a terrifying roar that went straight into the sky.

The body of the sword is pitch black like ink, but there are golden light patterns embellished into complex curse print textures, a few * brilliance appear on the texture from time to time, and the two-sided sharpening is like flowing silver. The sword is one meter long and about one foot wide, which is almost the same as the wide-bladed sword in the hands of the former Death Knight.

But then, what emerged under the sword was not the hilt, but a dark golden long stick like the hilt of a gun. The handle is about two meters long. Similar to the red light on the sword, there is also a bright red brilliance flowing on the handle. Whenever the red brilliance flows, the golden part of the dark golden gun body will turn red. The color was like cursed night blood crystal.

Sword-blade gun.

In this world, there are not many people who don't know this kind of weapon. But it is precisely because of knowing this weapon. So I was even more surprised that the hilt was two meters long, because the real sword-blade gun hilt is about one meter long, and the blade as the main attack part will not choose the wide-bladed sword, which belongs to the category of heavy weapons. .

Alexis reached out and held the handle of the gun, and the black aperture on the ground suddenly disappeared completely. And the space that had been trembling all the time finally seemed to calm down completely, and even the roar of a fierce beast completely disappeared.

But the next moment. When Alexis waved and swept across. A terrible storm swept out directly.

In an instant, within a distance of nearly a hundred miles when the storm rolled out, all the ground was turned into dust and disappeared without a trace, leaving only a huge fan-shaped pit.

In Rek's eyes, two soul fires suddenly lit up. Because at this moment, or to be precise, when Alexis was holding that sword-blade gun. The aura on her body was burning like a frantic flame. Originally, she was at the level of the 16th order when she was holding the double swords, but now her aura easily broke through the limit of the 16th order, then the 17th and the 18th orders, until the 18th order critical point. It was just enough to stop.

Only a little bit, you can reach the level of nineteenth order.

Almost at the same time as the momentum is rising, there are several black and red patterns on Alexis's left face. These patterns did not destroy Alexis's appearance, but added a bit of weird and mysterious temptation to her appearance. And her black hair with straight buttocks became darker and darker. It was as if her hair had been in contact with the dark side of the void.

"Still not able to wake up completely?" Alexis whispered softly, "It's still a little bit worse."

fell along with Alexis's voice. The one who responded was the sword-blade gun she was holding in her right hand. It's just that the response was very slight, and it felt more like a sleeping child was quarreled by someone, and then made a grunt of inexplicable dissatisfaction, but never really opened his eyes.

"Almost." Lake's gaze did not fall on Alexis, but stared at the sword-blade gun in Alexis's right hand. "It looks like your gun of the market is not Really awakened.... In this way, you are not in a complete state."

I don't know why, at this moment, there was a feeling of relief in Lake's voice.

"Well, it's really a pity." Alexis said lightly, "But if it's just to stop you, with the current ruins, it's enough."

An, Chi, and Ruins, these are the three weapons possessed by Killing Wu Ji Alexis.

Among them, An and Chi are paired weapons, and they are also an important part of Alexis's single swordsmanship and double swordsmanship. If you talk about single swordsmanship, it's okay. In terms of not using fighting spirit, Alexis can use any weapon, but if you want to use double swordsmanship, only this pair of swords can withstand her fighting spirit. Play. These two weapons have been following Alexis for a long time. Although they are still not true artifacts, they do have a sense of self.

It's just that these two slashing blades are much inferior to the sword-blade gun named Xu.

This sword-blade gun is the combat weapon used by Alexis in the real state. It was obtained after she stepped into the realm of legend, and then followed her to fight all the way. There have been several times in the history of being broken in fierce battles, but every time Alexis was able to find extremely rare materials and master craftsmen to repair, so with the broken and repaired, this sword Not only did the blade gun not be damaged in the slightest, on the contrary, it gradually became an extremely powerful weapon.

After , after Alexis officially set foot in the ranks of super powers, this sword-blade gun finally accumulated enough to give birth to a real soul, not just the initial misty consciousness.

Since then, this sword-blade gun has officially transformed into an artifact.

Its name is Hui.

means destruction.

Everything in the world is eternal, but under the blade, everything is destroyed, everything is annihilated, everything is abolished, everything is annihilated.

But now, this artifact is still asleep.

If Alexis can step into the realm of the nineteenth level, perhaps he can truly awaken this artifact, and it is still a little bit worse in its current state. And Alexis is also quite helpless about this. After all, her current realm of strength is completely limited by Sean's realm. If you want to step into the nineteenth level, it will only be possible after Sean officially enters the legend. NS.

But even so, she is currently the strongest under Sean.

Even Kozilek, who is also produced by the card guard system, can only display the strength of the 16th-order critical point. Relatively speaking, his ultimate strength is the 19th-order, which is still better than Alexis. To be slightly inferior. As for Noro, he is only Tier 11 at the moment, and he has not yet become a legendary powerhouse. However, he is the lowest-level character in the Sean card guard system, and Noro also has a great advantage. At least he has now. The potential to impact legends and even super powers.

Breathing out a gentle breath, Alexis watched Reck's gaze gradually without the slightest emotional fluctuations, this is the real heart as still water.

Seeing the appearance of Alexis, Rek didn't speak any more. Instead, he suddenly stopped the staff in his hand. The thick black mist instantly gushed out of his body, quickly enveloping him. It seemed that Rek knew that he had lost to Alexis, so he decided to leave here temporarily and no longer confront Alexis head-on.

It's just that Alexis knows very well that Rek, who is already at the level of a strong plane, can never retreat so easily.

Gently tap on the toes.

In an instant, Alexis had appeared less than three meters in front of the black fog of Rek.

Immediately afterwards, she saw her right hand lifted slightly, waving the blade gun in her hand like a thunder and lightly touching it on the black fog.

There is no whistling wind or raging air current, and there is no earth-shattering sound.

However, the black mist that envelops Lake starts from the point of the point of the sword of Alexis, and it spreads out little by little like withered petals, and then diffuses into the purest in the air. energy of.

It's just that, in this black fog, there is no more figure of Reck, instead a bone gun aimed at Alexis's brow!

Chapter 512: . Lake's purpose

If there is someone in this world who knows herself better than killing Wu Ji Alexis, then there is only Sean.

Sean doesn't know what Alexis's past is. A lot of information about her is only once known on the game's official website. However, at that time, more understanding was only to find the way to break the law of Wu Ji, after all, in the game back then, the two sides were on opposite sides. But it is also true to the old saying: The people who know you best are often your enemies.

So, Sean Bilek, Jibril, and even people in this world or other planes know Alexis better.

Because in Outland, or in other worlds, no one would really regard this Killing Wu Ji as a real enemy.

So, Sean is not very worried that Alexis will be killed by Reck. Judging from the level of both parties, Sean believes that Alexis has the ability to protect himself, and can even cause some trouble to Lake. Ji's opponent.

Putting down his worries a little, Shaun buried his head and hurried towards the forest of sighs.

At this moment, he has activated all his skills that can increase speed, leaving no changes in the back move at all. But this is the case. When Xiao En rushed to the extreme edge of the forest of sighs, it still took a whole night, and it was almost dawn before he finally arrived here.

It is conceivable that Sean's state at this time is naturally impossible to be at the peak.

In this world, whether it is a sanctuary strong or a legendary strong or a super strong, most of their way of driving is to use mounts instead, and they rarely use their own laws to break through the air. Of course, if you want to hurry up in a short distance because of the urgency, you should naturally take a break through the air and travel faster. However, only legendary powerhouses have the resilience to quickly recover their physical fitness after breaking through the air.

I want to drive short distances with almost no loss. That is the ability that the super strong possess.

It's just that, Sean, who has reconnected with Kozilek, is naturally not a waste of time at this time, because he can already perceive that Kozilek is bringing Cecilia and others towards Shaun's location. In the same way, I also know what Rick has been doing in this black soil all these years. This old immortal fellow. He actually took the lead in Sean and cleared the Utopian copy of "Mad City Lost Paradise"!

But despite this, because of the lack of the restoration of order and fire, Utopia is still not available at this moment.

But for Sean, this news is not good news at all, and it can even be said to be worse than bad news.

Magic Capital Lost Paradise is a hurdle that Sean will never be able to circumvent when he wants to restore Utopia.

This copy is a twelfth-order copy.

The so-called twelfth level refers to the legendary level. In other words, the overall difficulty of this copy has reached the level of legendary scale. Even the legendary powerhouse is in danger of falling. In the game that year, Sean's Wings of the Void in the guild was exhausting the power of the guild. It took more than a year of real-world time. During this period, several times even almost caused the entire guild to become depressed.

But the final gain, but also made the entire guild a firm foothold in the entire southern continent of the miracle continent, becoming one of the famous overlords.

Originally, Sean's strategy for this dungeon was to gather a group of monster-level existences. Then rely on his familiarity with this copy to directly crush it. After all, there are two superpowers, Kozilek and Alexis. It is not difficult to challenge this dungeon. Although it is still a bit short of the level push, it is actually not difficult to win Utopia.

What really bothers Sean is actually the question of how to negotiate with the Millennium Covenant Empire.

But now, this dungeon has been cleared by Reck!

If an outsider accidentally knocks and clears a copy that originally troubled Sean, Sean should have been happy. But the problem is that when this dungeon is cleared, the person who cleared the level becomes the final boss of the new dungeon, and the difficulty of the entire dungeon has to be raised several levels, so this is not an interesting and happy thing.

It is like, after a hero kills the evil demon king, he suddenly realizes that life is really lonely as snow, so he becomes a demon king and wants to bring harm to the world, waiting for new heroes to come out to challenge him.

Sean was so depressed that he vomited blood.

But what makes Shaun even more helpless is that this so-called prisoner transfer by Reyce is not as simple as imagined. The so-called arrest and imprisonment of her back then was actually just a deal with the new emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Regardless of whether she let William leave the Millennium Covenant Empire or not, the results announced to the outside world will be her entry. Prison is the end. So in fact, William's departure and no further investigation afterwards were just another condition in the agreement reached between Reyce and the new emperor.

When Reyce was rescued, when they saw that Reyce was not restricted from freedom, Angel and Cecilia were already aware of the problem.

It's just that the battle had completely broken out at the time, and Kozilek's strength was indeed very strong, and it was an attack launched with the momentum of thunder, so the two legendary powerhouses did not have time to speak, they were killed by Kozilek and Rena. If it hadn't been for this, Kozilek and others would not have been trapped in the forest of sighs, and they have still been unable to break out of this forest.

Because, Lek directly refines these two legendary powerhouses to the death knight-the one previously beheaded by Alexis. However, before the death knight was transferred to deal with Sean and Alexis, it did make Kozilek and the others suffer. After all, Rina was unable to completely suppress this nirvana death knight, instead, it would affect others due to the impact of the fighting between the two sides.

Only Kozilek can really suppress this nirvana death knight.

But how could the Lich King, who is good at group fights like Lake, use his own shortcomings to attack the other's strengths. It was the old lich himself who dealt with Kozilek. By virtue of the geographical advantage of the sighing forest, combined with the help of lifeless spirit, the army of the undead has been continuously attacking Kozilek and others. Forcing Kozilek to be unable to completely solve the death knight of nirvana.

In fact, the death knight formed by the souls and bones of many legendary powerhouses, in the forest of sighs, its strength has already surpassed the level of the sixteenth level. land. Its strength may be able to exceed the seventeenth level. At that time, even if Alexis took the shot, he would have to use the gun of the market. It was absolutely impossible to achieve the place where he could be solved with only the Dark and Blazing Double Swords as before.

From this point of view, Lake told Alexis that he had made a mistake before, but it was true.

He does regret his recklessness.

It's just that Lake knows that there is a soul contract connection between Kozilek and Sean, he definitely won't let Kozilek pass on the things in the sighing forest. That's why he twisted the connection between Sean and Kozilek with a powerful magical power. Let Sean not know the situation here. If Sean and Alexis hadn't arrived at this time, Kozilek and the others would have been able to hold on for one more day at most, and would be completely captured by Rek.

Only in this process, Cecilia and others also discovered that, besides Kozilek, Rena, and Cecilia, Rick's target actually had one more goal.

Reyce!

After inquiring, everyone found that Layce was actually an extremely rare technical talent!

Moreover, he is not an ordinary technical talent, but a developer in the No. 2 plan responsible for the relaunch of the Millennium Covenant Empire. It can be said. The No. 2 project, which had been making no progress or even shelved, finally made breakthrough progress after she joined. As a result, she became the supreme leader of the entire plan, and the entire research team was reorganized under her leadership.

In the past few years, her research has reached a very high level, and it can even be said that she has successfully surpassed the old plans of the predecessors. In terms of results alone, Lays's No. 2 plan can already be officially put into a practical stage, but it wants to make higher-level progress and breakthroughs, using the materials and reserve resources currently possessed by the Millennium Covenant Empire. , It can no longer be pushed to a higher level.

This is why the Millennium Covenant Empire put pressure on the Principality of Lane, trying to obtain the blood of Cecilia and allowing Diels, the leader of the former intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire, to sneak into the Void Principality to try to retrieve the No. 4 confidential document. s reason.

Because the No. 2 project that Rais is responsible for is the Blood Vessel Awakening Project!

This plan, in the game, the Millennium Covenant Empire also acted, and it did appear in the second expansion. From this point of view, it is completely in line with the timeline of the current real world. . The outside world has always thought that the Millennium Covenant Empire was finally able to calm down the civil strife because the Patriarch of the Zoranton family returned to battle this time, but in fact, the re-entry of the Duke of Puhuus only occupied one-third of the battle. It's just a function.

The other two thirds are actually the official launch of the Blood Vessel Awakening Project!

Now, in the millennium covenant empire, a large number of powerful men who have awakened their blood have been literally created. Although these bloodlines are only bronze bloodlines, only a small part of them are silver bloodlines, and there is still a certain degree of difference between the artificial bloodline awakening and the real ancient bloodline people, but this is also true for the strength of the millennium covenant empire. In the promotion.

Even just by virtue of this, the Millennium Covenant Empire will not lose its national power due to this civil strife, but will greatly enhance the strength of the entire empire.

However, the new emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire is obviously not satisfied with this. He hoped that the artificial bloodline of his empire could become an existence that can truly stand shoulder to shoulder with the ancient bloodline. For this reason, he put his idea on Cecilia, but it was only because of the intervention and intervention of Andrew and others. Can helplessly give up.

And those rebel parties that suffered a big loss, because the bronze bloodline fighters officially entered the battlefield, finally learned of the existence of Reyes, so they managed to attack the research institute where Reyes was located, in order to capture Ley. S. This is the real reason why the emperor on the pure white throne finally couldn't keep calm and ordered Puhuus Zoranton to take the initiative to suppress the rebellion.

But even so, the research institute was breached. Although Reyce had already initiated the destruction procedure of the Institute before the breach, the rebel parties had also received some blood injections. Even sent strong men to chase Reyce. Then came a series of leaks. In order to block the detection of some people, there was the so-called transfer of prisoners, so that Xiao En and others knew the news.

It can be said that the intervention of Sean and others. It was purely a misunderstanding.

And if there is no intervention from Sean and others. Lake will continue to stay in the black soil, and will not run out. And if he doesn't show up, he won't collide with Cecilia, and if he doesn't collide with Cecilia, he won't know about Reyce's existence and her secret—it can be said that he really forced Rek to decide to launch. The death wave, and the reason for capturing Cecilia and Reyce is because of the research results of the blood awakening that Reyce possessed.

is even a lich. Can't detect the secret of the bloodline.

But Reyce not only succeeded in discovering the secret of the bloodline. It is even possible to make artificial blood vessels that can give ordinary people the power of blood vessels. This is the reason why Lake is really tempted. And as long as he catches Reyce, he doesn't even need Reyce's cooperation, and he pulls the soul out to read the memory, he can completely grasp the secrets of the bloodline, and then cooperate with him to capture Cecilia and Kozilek together. To live, he is confident that he can create a powerful bloodline that can be compared with the blood of the people.

Bronze, silver, and gold, these three are collectively called the basic bloodline.

In fact. The power of the bloodline is made of silver, and there is no so-called bronze. It's just in the game. The bloodline power that the player first came into contact with and obtained was the artificial bloodline created by the Millennium Covenant Empire, so there was the name of the bronze bloodline. The silver bloodline is also called the residual ischemic pulse. This is mainly because the power of this type of bloodline is finally formed by the power of certain ancient bloodlines after generations of degradation and dilution. The utility is extremely limited.

Like the Nordic bloodline that is most popular among power players in the silver bloodline, it is actually formed by the sons of Thor in the dawn age, after the bloodline dilution caused by generations of ethnic separation. If you want to trace the origin, the origin of the Nordic bloodline is the blood of the  of thunder in the blood of the people, and the blood of the ice  of Eswinter is a powerful bloodline of the same level.

As for the golden bloodline, it is a higher level bloodline than the silver bloodline, but it is essentially separated and diluted by its own ethnic group. However, in terms of bloodline strength, it is definitely stronger than the incomplete silver bloodline, so the golden bloodline is also called the broken bloodline.

And these three are also collectively referred to as the basic bloodline.

However, this so-called foundation is for the players in the game, because the power of the player's blood can be gradually improved and changed through continuous upgrades. Like the Nordic bloodline, players can eventually become the blood of the  of thunder through step-by-step evolution. Of course, if a player is not satisfied and wants to cover it to obtain a new bloodline, it is naturally also possible.

For the indigenous people of this world, even the so-called basic blood is not so easy to obtain, otherwise there will be no artificial blood.

Above the basic bloodline is the legendary bloodline called the secondary bloodline.

Those who are qualified to attack the realm of super powers must be powers who have the legendary bloodline and fully activate the power of the bloodline. If it is only the basic blood, it is not qualified to attack the ranks of the super powers at all, and the powers who can become the pinnacle of the legend are already the limit. As for the man-made bronze bloodline, it may be possible to make a strong person who was originally qualified to attack the legendary realm to become a true legendary strongman, but it is absolutely impossible to use this to attack a higher realm.

It can be said that the ambition of the emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire is extremely large-he is not satisfied with the bronze bloodline, but is trying to develop a higher-level artificial bloodline.

Of course, this ambition is even more trivial than Lake.

This old lich, who is like a lunatic, is actually trying to create a bloodline of all peoples that can be compared with the world's original power. If it is successfully created by him, then this can be regarded as a real new bloodline-all the bloodlines of all peoples are actually born after the powerhouses of the early dawn era obtained a trace of the power of the origin of the world, then It is the power that belongs to the most fundamental source of this world, and it is the power that can respond to this world.

After learning about these things through the spiritual connection with Kozilek, even Sean couldn't help being a little dumbfounded. Because he had always felt that he was crazy enough, but after analyzing Kozilek's description and analyzing the true purpose of Rek, he still felt that he was too petty.

Whether it's compared to the new emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire who tried to create countless legendary powerhouses through manpower, or the old Lich Reck who tried to create the power of the world's origin, Sean just wanted to be worthy of those who followed him, and wanted to be more important. As far as the glorious goal of Utopia is concerned, it does appear to be totally arrogant.

However, even if he knew this result, Sean did not intend to change his ideals and goals.

Chapter 513: In a dead end

A piece of sword light came out vertically and horizontally, turning into a black light curtain.

The wide-open kendo martial arts is full of a different kind of domineering, and all the bone warriors who touch this light curtain composed of swords and shadows have turned into powder, and even a trace of bones has not been found. But what really surprises people is that there is still fierce sword aura on these powders, which prevents these bone powders from sinking into the ground again and forming new skeletons.

The undead creatures of the skeleton system are destroyed in places where there is plenty of death, they will sink into the earth, and after being nourished by death again, they will be transformed into skeletons and be born again in this world. Necromancers, necromancers, liches and other magicians who specialize in the arts of the undead can accelerate the process of rebirth by catalyzing death energy with magic power. And the undead creatures of the walking corpse are actually the same in essence, the only thing they need is to have the corpse material.

The only thing that cannot be recycled is the relatively high-level undead creatures, such as the black warrior, the black knight and the like.

It's just that the technique of resurrection in undead magic is not invincible.

The easiest way to crack is to kill these skeletons in a place that is not filled with death and abundance, so they will naturally not be able to resuscitate.

It is undoubtedly a more laborious way like this black sword light criss-crossing method right now. But as far as the effect is concerned, it can also be called remarkable and amazing.

It's just that, sighing, there are too many skeletal warriors in the forest, almost inexhaustible.

Even though this black sword and shadow light curtain travels at an extremely fast speed, but the road where he passes by still leaves no gaps—all the empty spaces that were beheaded by it will soon be smashed by the bone warriors. If it weren't for the road that stretched from the edge of the sighing forest all the way into the ground was filled with bone meal, I'm afraid it would be impossible to tell that this person had come all the way in from the outside.

This person is naturally Sean.

Although rushing all the way consumes a lot of his physical energy, it is just a simple spurring of swordsmanship, which is not as large as the previous rushing. After all, these skeletal warriors are just undead creatures between the fifth and sixth steps. Even if a Tier 6 skeletal monster appeared, it would not be difficult for Xiao En to advance. Perhaps in the current state of Sean, and only the formation of a large army of Tier 7 and 8 undead creatures carrying out a siege, it is possible for Sean to frown slightly.

However, that's all.

"Where are you?" Sean connects through the soul. Issue an inquiry to Kozilek.

Faced with Sean's question. Kozilek also simply revealed his own aura directly, which made it easier for Sean to judge the distance between him than Kozilek's answer to where he is now. It's just that the information sent at the same time also includes some rather weird fragments. Obviously, Lake will not be able to get rid of the entanglement of Alexis for a while, but he is not reconciled to let Cecilia and others almost count. The cooked meat of the mouth flew, so I had to send some more powerful undead creatures to pursue it.

But it's a pity. In the case of Kozilek, a super strong man. These undead creatures can only play a role in hindering the advancement of Kozilek and others. It is impossible to drag Kozilek and others like the previous death knight to prevent them from leaving this forest of sighs. . However, with his toes, he knew what the old lich was thinking about. He just wanted to get rid of Alexis as soon as possible, and then rushed back to clean up Sean and the others.

It's a pity, this old lich will definitely not be able to do it in a short time. Because until now, Sean, Kozilek and others are basically about to converge. He was still entangled tightly by Alexis. It's not that Lake really has nothing to do with Alexis. Currently, Alexis, who has not fully recovered his strength, cannot threaten the old lich. It's just that the old lich wants to clean up Alexis. It's not easy.

If it's just a simple defeat, the Lich can naturally do it under the current situation, but it is completely impossible to kill it-maybe the death knight is not solved by Alexis, then cooperate with Lei It can be done by the means of gram. It's just that in a war, it's not easy to get it back if you miss the first opportunity.

It's just that, all of this is based on Alexis's willingness to fight Lek to death.

But will Alexis and Reck fight to death?

Killing Wu Ji is indeed arrogant, and can even be said to be overbearing to the pointless, but she is not brain-dead. Knowing that Reck has a strength far surpassing her current situation, she still played a death fight with Reck, unless her brain was flooded. Therefore, it was enough to just hold Lek back and prevent the old lich from returning to the forest of sighs and looking for trouble with Sean.

However, just when Xiao En was still carrying out the Wushuang mode, a black evil spirit suddenly rushed out.

The coming of this evil spirit is extremely fierce, not much weaker than Sean's black sword screen, and it is much stronger than Sean's sword aura, because the skeleton that was smashed by it along the way was directly affected by a black. When the flame was ignited, it was completely turned into ashes in an instant. This method of destruction is even more overbearing than Sean's sword aura. After all, Sean's sword aura will always be wiped out. By then, these bone meal will still sink into the ground for reorganization, but these will be ignited and turned into fly ash. It's impossible to recover and be born again.

Before and after it was just a moment of kung fu, this black and fierce suffocating aura directly collided with Sean's sword curtain!

A wave of air suddenly spewed out, and all the black flames entwined with that evil spirit also sputtered out in all directions, igniting the bone warriors who had surrounded them one after another, and then burned completely. In a blink of an eye, when the air wave calmed down slightly, with the impact point of Sean and this evil energy as the center of the circle of hundreds of meters, whether it was the skeletal warrior or the dead trees, all disappeared completely, forming a real piece. Vacuum zone.

Then, a figure fell from mid-air to the ground lightly, and this person was indeed Sean!

I saw Sean falling backwards in mid-air, while the black long sword in his hand was also hitting points in mid-air. Almost every time it was clicked, there would be a "crack" in the air, and then a black firelight exploded in the air, turning into a wisp of black smoke.

It seems that after the collision and confrontation just now. Sean was slightly at a disadvantage.

"Black Fiend Flame?" Xiao En's face sank, and he looked at the knight in black armor in front of him and he didn't have a good face, "I didn't continue to trouble you. You dare to intercept me here?"

"It's the best opportunity to solve you here." The voice of the knight in black armor looked extremely cold. But this coldness does not mean his indifference. It's more like a smell of death and emptiness, "In this way, everyone will only think that you are dead under the tide of death, and will not doubt us."

"I'm afraid you are not qualified enough." Although Sean stared at the black armor knight in front of him, he also stared at the surroundings with the corner of his eyes, vigilantly paying attention to everything around him.

"As a lord, you are often out of the territory. Even the military and political power is handed over to others. It is really not qualified." Another cold voice sounded, but compared to the hollow, dead, and indifferent voice of the black armored knight. It seems to have a somewhat rigid mechanized feeling, "But as a strong man, you are very cautious. This really makes us quite embarrassed."

A figure suddenly walked out of a pile of skeletons a hundred meters away.

This figure is wearing a black hooded cloak, but even so, you can still see the almost bright blood-colored eyes under the hood. However, these are not the places where this weird person attracts attention, but the long sword that was dragged upside down by his right hand is what really makes people's heart palpitating. This long sword exudes a thick black mist that has really turned into substance. However, these mists were condensed and not dispersed, and even strands of black air could even be seen to penetrate into the cloak.

Shaun's face became even colder.

He can feel it. The aura of these two men in front of them is the real abyss like the sea. Sean thought that if he was in his heyday, he would not be able to win with one enemy and two, but there is absolutely no problem in wanting to protect himself, but now he is consuming a lot of physical energy when he meets these two people, let alone Retiring all over, I am afraid that even self-protection is not an easy task.

After all, the strength of these two men is also not low, consistent with Sean's current realm, and both are strong in the middle sanctuary.

Breathed out gently, Xiao En's expression also became calmer, his eyes moved back and forth between the two in front of him, seeming to identify the identity of the person who came. And the two enemies who suddenly attacked Sean did not make any new moves. Instead, they showed a calm spirit and let Sean look at them. Of course, they were also looking at Sean, perhaps. Determine whether Sean's state is really not at its peak at this time.

After a long time, Sean finally spoke: "You are the sword of death."

Xiao En's gaze did not look at the black armor knight, but fell on the mysterious man who was dragging the black sword upside down. It's just that instead of looking at the man wearing the cloak, his gaze fell on the black long sword full of fierce killing intent: "One of the thirteen coffins of Deaththorn. Contaminated by the devilish energy of the abyss. And the degenerate artifact... It seems that Deaththorn seems to have found a new container for you, so that you can use the power of the middle sanctuary."

The mysterious man in the cloak suddenly let out a weird laugh.

It seems that because Sean had seen its origin, it was no longer hidden. It controlled the puppet to lift its body, and the black breath erupted from the sword more violently, so that the cloak on the container was all It was burned, revealing that the skin underneath had completely turned dark brown, and only his eyes were blood red. As a result, Xiao En could clearly see that the black mist emanating from the sword was constantly digging into the container through his ears, nostrils and other positions.

"Yes, I am one of the thirteen coffins of Deaththorn, named Moyuan." The eyes of the puppet container controlled by the death sword has no expression, as if the soul consciousness has been completely erased, only the hard and cold. The voice came from the closed lips, "However, my other name is more familiar to you...I am the sword of death, a weapon that spreads death and fear."

Getting the answer from Death Sword, Xiao En's eyes turned to the black armor knight.

"In the Thirteen Deadthorn Coffins, I have met with Ghost Sword, Devil Boy, Undead Girl Wendy, Black Death Tide, and Dark Prophet. There are also demon souls that were defeated by Christina of the Peace Council. What I heard. Duke Flaffith is a vampire from the underground world, and Moon Visitor. John is from the Night Demon Wolf clan. Sombra Black and Scissorhands Jack are both top powerhouses in the half-step legend."

Looking at the knight who is not much weaker than Death Sword in front of him, Sean's heart is not as calm as he has shown, but as the saying goes, if you lose, he still stares at the enemy in front of him indifferently. , And then said in a calm tone like a few Jiazhen: "Now the death sword has appeared, and the soul caller is a necromancer.... The only person who doesn't know the details and identity is the blood mask. Naxi, so I guess you should It was the Dark Realm Death Knight who stole part of the * of death divine power so that he possessed the dual characteristics of the living and the dead."

"Ask it knowingly." The Dark Realm Death Knight said coldly, his voice quite disdainful.

"Although the black evil demon flame is not as famous as the five flames, it is also a rare fierce fire." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "and as far as I know, in your death thorns, at least five people, including you, have mastered the control. The power of the Black Fiend Demon Flame. I'm just not sure whether you are the Blood Mask or the Dark Realm Death Knight.... But now, I can be sure of your identity."

"I'm beginning to believe the gossip from the organization that you used to be a high-level Deaththorn." Dark Realm Death Knight's eyes sank, but the murderous aura is increasing, "It is impossible for outsiders to understand our Deaththorn so thoroughly. "

"Stop talking nonsense! That lich has already discovered our entry." At this moment, another voice suddenly sounded, but the owner of this voice seemed to be really competing with something, so the voice appeared very rushed and weak, obviously at a disadvantage in the contest, "I can't suppress these undeads anymore. I quickly complete the task and leave."

Hearing this voice, Xiao En's face became serious: "This... is the soulcaller, right?"

"It's useless if you want to delay time." The soulcaller's voice sounded again, "Since we know you are here, how can we not understand and investigate the people around you?... I know you want to wait for Rina to come to support, but you probably have no chance. The three adults of Magic Tablet, Bone Tablet and Dark Tablet should have already played against Rina. We finally seized your weak opportunity now. It is absolutely impossible. Let you leave alive, you still accept your fate."

This time, Sean's face is the real change of color.

He didn't expect that Deaththorn would have such a big assassination against him this time!

not only directly dispatched three strong men from one of the thirteen death thorn coffins to assassinate him, but also dispatched three of the six death steles to be responsible for intercepting the actions of Rena and others. They may not have the intention of forcibly killing Rena. After all, if organizations like Deaththorn collect intelligence on Sean's forces, they will naturally know that Rena's strength cannot be normalized.

It's just that they only need to block Rena's support, and then take advantage of Shaun's current state of not being able to exert his full strength, and concentrate on making a breakthrough, they are indeed very sure that Shaun can be completely killed here. And Xiao En believed that since Deaththorn actually took so long to prepare for such a lore, then the thirteen coffins of Deaththorn must not be the only three in front of them, and maybe even the six death monuments are collectively. Shot.

Of course, Xiao En did not think that he had such a big face that he could make the Six Death Monuments and the Thirteen Coffins attack him. I am afraid that the intervention of other forces led to the current situation. At this moment, Sean only hopes that his guess is correct, so maybe he can still have a glimmer of life.

Chapter 514: .Hundred Swords Soul

A black brilliance raged out, ploughing a huge gully over three meters wide directly on the ground.

As early as this black brilliance rushed past, there was a figure who retreated first.

This figure is naturally Sean.

Faced with the strong attack of two middle-ranked sanctuary powerhouses with rich practical experience in Death Sword and Dark Realm Death Knight, even if Sean was in his heyday, he dared not take the risk of being strong, let alone at the moment. Not in full bloom. Therefore, it is not unusual for this to fight and retreat. It can even be said to be one of the tactics that Sean has been controlling the situation to avoid falling into the siege of two strong men at the same time.

It's just that Sean deliberately avoided it. Naturally, Death Sword and Dark Realm Death Knight could not let Sean get what he wanted.

Flashed past the terrible sword bombardment of Death Sword, and as soon as Xiao En retreated, the Dark Realm Death Knight rushed out.

The dark realm death knight driving that special horse is still in mid-air, and the heavy sword in his hand has already been swung heavily.

The black dead air turned into a violent wind, blowing sand and cracking rocks and swept towards Shaun, and there were even countless screams.

Dark Realm Death Knight's attack was not only violent, but also very insidious!

Not to mention that the black death breath that resembles a violent wind is obviously amazingly lethal. It is the sharp voice like the howling of a banshee, which can already make people who are not determined enough to fall into a state of trance, so naturally it will not be possible. Resist the black death attack like the wind. But what Shaun saw was far more than that, he could even see the black fierce flames hidden in the black dead wind.

Black evil Li Yan, not comparable to the five flames manifested by the laws of the great world, but it also has a very unique place.

This kind of flame is born out of the abyssal magic flame unique to the abyss plane, but in essence it is closer to the pale flame that only exists on the bone plane. Powerful and terrifying, but it also possesses the two characteristics of the abyssal demon flame's pollution of all things and the pale flame's burning soul. Once touched by this kind of flame. It is simply impossible to resist using magic power or vindictive energy alone. Unless it is extinguished by special means or secret techniques, the ultimate result is that one's own soul is severely wounded.

Sean naturally cannot be touched by these flames.

In fact, his body has the flame of destruction that belongs to the fire of the five laws, although he does not know where the flame in his body comes from. But this does not prevent Sean from controlling and using this power. And this time. Xiao En was able to find the black evil fierce flame hidden in the dead black wind because of the warning made by the flame of destruction in his body.

As for the howl that can affect the minds of others and cause a trance to attack the soul consciousness, it is nothing to Sean, because he has immunity to all attacks against the soul.

I saw Sean swinging his sword and dancing, fighting and retreating.

But every time he pierced toward the black sand with his sword, there was bound to be a "cracking" firewood cracking sound in the air, but it was the sound of the death knight hiding in the dark field and the destruction of the flames in the black wind. And along with every Li Yan hidden in the black wind was destroyed. The howling wind that is enough to destroy gold and jade will weaken by one point, whether it is momentum or power. When Xiao En broke five or six ten in a row, the scream of howling in the black wind had completely disappeared.

The confrontation at this moment was actually only completed in a flash.

When the Dark Territory Death Cavalry crossed the Death Sword bombardment, the black wind and sharp flames were swayed in the air, and after Sean broke most of the power, the Dark Territory Death Cavalry finally landed in midair with the horse. However, seeing that his attack was resolved so easily, his brows were still raised involuntarily, and there was a bit of coldness in his eyes. Dang Even drove the war horse and rushed towards Xiao En.

"Dark Dead Zone!" Along with the charge, the Dark Dead Cavalry also shouted angrily.

In an instant. It seems that the entire space has produced an inexplicable suction force, and the already bleak sigh of the forest, at this time, it has become a little bit more bleak, and there is even a decadent breath of death.

Shaun's face changed suddenly.

Because in his perception, what he sees is not just the illusion that the light seems to become darker. Through the perceptive tentacles of the power of law, Sean can clearly feel that the Dark Realm Death Knight has completely expanded his domain at this moment, which forces Sean to also have to expand his domain to resist, just so. , For Sean's physical and mental exhaustion, it is undoubtedly necessary to increase a lot.

When the dark dead zone of the dark dead knight was completely unfolded, the wisps of death aura was pulled out of the ground in an instant, and then began to converge on him. And when these dead auras converge strong enough, even the Dark Realm Death Knight itself begins to become blurred, and this blur is not only a visual effect, but also perceptual distortion and shielding. , Just like the dark mist cast by the old Lich Rek before, it was a pure darkness.

Of course, the Dark Realm Death Knight's ability is not so powerful at this time, but through these two points, we can see that the two laws of the Dark Realm Death Knight to build their own domain should be darkness and death.

Of course the most terrifying thing is the power of death in the field.

The Dark Realm Death Knight took away part of the * of death's godhead ability, but he did not ignite the * fire himself. In addition to his lack of ability, the most important point was that he did not want to become a god. It's just that the godhead and priesthood are so easy to occupy privately, so naturally it is corroding the Dark Territory Death Knight's own. If it weren't for one of the six death monuments, the Dark Territory Death Knight would have died a long time ago, but even so. , He also became a special existence of half-dead and half-living person.

So in some special areas where only undead creatures can set foot, the Dark Realm Death Knight can also get involved. It's just a sigh of places like the forest and the black soil. Although the Dark Realm Death Knight will not be weakened or affected, it is impossible to gain the power increase of this land. But now, when the Dark Territory Death Knight's domain was unfolded, he completely received the death energy nourishment unique to the Forest of Sighs, and his strength was directly increased by a large amount, and he had been forcibly elevated to the peak of the upper sanctuary.

If Sean hadn't consumed his own energy excessively before, he would naturally not be afraid of such a dark realm death knight.

But now it is not working. Even though he can block such a powerful enemy, there is still one of the thirteen coffins of Deaththorn that is not inferior to the Dark Realm Death Knight. But if he really wants to say it, Sean will probably be very thankful that this is not a land of black soil, otherwise the Death Sword will also get the power increase bonus, then Sean really feels that he is dead, and at least now There is still a chance of life.

Looking at the Dark Realm Death Knight completely disappearing in his own perception, after Xiao En took a deep breath, he suddenly raised his sword.

He has indeed lost his awareness of the Dark Realm Death Knight, but this is not a problem for Sean—if it is for a different combat environment, Sean can't guarantee anything, but at least for now. In this environment, if the Dark Realm Death Knight wants to attack him, then he can only choose a frontal breakthrough attack.

So after taking a deep breath, Sean's raised right hand suddenly pierced forward.

is just a sword, but in an instant it turned into a thousand sword shadows.

is just a blink of an eye, and the fan-shaped area in front of Sean is covered by dense black sword shadows. What is even more frightening is that the power of these sword shadows is also not weak. Almost every sword shadow is a real attack, not just an illusion of a fake shot.

If the bass or Cecilia were there, you could perceive that the wide-area style of Shaun's thousands of swords and shadows actually contained the sword-like aura of calming souls. But in fact, it has a completely different attack method from Beth's Soul Rehabilitation—Like Soul Rehabilitation, a wide-area attack that seems to be pierced by countless swords, but in fact it is pure destruction that focuses on one point, making people give birth to The feeling of being inevitable, unstoppable, and only being suppressed.

But Sean's sword does not have the horror of suppressing everything, but it also has a more or less unavoidable illusion.

Cecilia once said that it is not a compliment that Sean can be called a saint in swordsmanship, but that Sean does have the ability and talent in this area.

This sword is an attack method developed by Xiao En himself after his own perception and understanding of the soul-suppression.

Although is not as powerful as one-tenth of the power of the soul, it also has a wider range of attacks, and naturally more combat situations can be applied. And the most important thing is that if Sean wants it, he can convert this sword style into a calm soul at any time, forming a more terrifying attack power. Of course, the shortcomings are not without, it can even be said to be very big, because even if Sean is in his heyday, he can only make five swords.

A slight shaking came from outside of Sean's perception. It was not that Sean's domain tentacles had touched it, but his eyes clearly captured the shaking of this moment: The Dark Realm Death Knight was obviously surprised after seeing this sword of Sean, and this A trace of surprise also affected his body shape retention.

Capturing such a good opportunity, it is natural that Sean cannot easily abandon it.

I saw Xiao En suddenly take a step forward, and after exhaling a long breath, he suddenly inhaled, his face flushed instantly.

The next moment, thousands of sword shadows shook suddenly, and the entire space even produced unstable vibrations. But it can still be seen that these sword shadows began to overlap rapidly, shrinking from the original thousands of sword shadows to a hundred sword shadows. Although the attack range has been reduced a lot, it only covers a point in front of Sean, but the power emitted by the hundreds of sword shadows is countless times stronger than before, even hidden in the darkness. The figure of the Dark Realm Death Knight was completely frozen.

Soul Soul. Hundred Swords!

Chapter 515: .Soul Slash

Hundreds of sword lights gathered together, and the attack that only focused on one point was truly powerful in suppressing everything.

The indifferent face of the Dark Realm Death Knight finally revealed a shocked look. Even the scarlet warhorse under his crotch showed a very humane look of panic in his eyes. Obviously this is a horse already. Warcraft with wisdom.

But even if they both showed shock, they did not wait for Sean's blow. A person who can become a strong man in the sanctuary, not to mention comprehension and other aspects, is absolutely determined enough just because of the special existence of the dark knight or the half-dead and half-living creature, he will be shocked only because of Sean's The power of this sword was beyond his imagination and already possessed the ability to threaten him.

But if you say fear, then it is obviously impossible.

In the face of this shocking attack, the Dark Realm Death Cavalry that had already rushed straight was unable to make any evasion anymore, even when he swung the epee in his hand and slammed down. The dark red black fierce flames turned into a substantial sword light, like a giant python rushing out towards Xiao En and the shadow of the sword that had been condensed by hundreds of swords, and a burst of rain suddenly sounded in the air. The intensive blasting sound really emits extremely high heat like pouring oil into a hot pan, and the air is completely distorted.

But even if the shot is so fierce, but the Dark Realm Death Knight also did not relax because of this.

The death breath that was continuously extracted from the decaying ground of the sigh forest no longer only acted on the Dark Realm Death Knight itself, but began to infuse into the body of the mount under his crotch. The surging of tendons almost visible to the naked eye appeared on the body of this monster. In many places, black stratum corneum and scales began to grow. This monster actually began to strengthen!

When Sean saw this scene, the corners of his mouth twitched slightly: The high-level Cavaliers profession is a group of cheating dogs!

The knight system has a very special situation.

Before Sanctuary, the requirements for mounts were not particularly high, although many skills must be matched with mounts to be able to perform. But there are no mount requirements for that meeting. But after stepping into the sanctuary, the situation is completely different. After all, the battle of the sanctuary powerhouse is mostly domain suppression. If the mount is suppressed by the opponent's domain, it will drag the knight on the horseback instead.

therefore. Most of the sanctuary powerhouses of the knight system will carefully select their mounts. Especially some extraordinarily powerful monsters, in order to achieve a level of combat effectiveness that one plus one is greater than two. Especially with this phenomenon, after the knights and mounts both broke through and entered the legend, the increase in combat power was far more than one plus one greater than two, but greater than three or even four.

Like the nirvana death knight that Xiao En encountered before, obviously it will not exceed the legendary strength of the thirteenth order at most, but it is combined with the two mounts. The combat power played out is comparable to the pinnacle of the legend. Even if Alexis took the shot himself. It also takes double swordsmanship to be able to suppress it. The power of swordsmanship contained in those seemingly simple swords is shocking even for Sean, who is now able to call himself a "Juggernaut".

So this time, the Dark Realm Death Knight, through the enhancement of death energy, allows himself and the hip mount to both break into the realm of the upper sanctuary. This combat power is already comparable to a half-step legend. And this is because there is a huge gap between the legend and the upper sanctuary. If you fail to obtain the legendary ability, you will never be considered a legendary powerhouse. Therefore, the Dark Realm Death Knight is not a true legendary powerhouse at this time, but if it is suppressed by combat power alone. It is not impossible to say that the Dark Realm Death Knight is equivalent to a legendary powerhouse.

If this weren't the case, he wouldn't be able to continue advancing against Sean's Hundred Swords.

The black evil Li Yan, like a giant python, kept getting smaller, thinner, and lighter under the consumption of the soul, until finally it was completely melted to only a few thin curtains of residual fire, as if only a gust of wind was blowing, this The thin screen will be completely diffused.

But this is not without any gains for the Dark Realm Death Knight, at least in the conflicting consumption, Sean's soul calming also produced extremely large consumption. If Sean is in his heyday, it is really hard to evaluate who wins and who loses in this contest, but in the current state, in this mutual attack, Sean is actually the truth. Really at a disadvantage.

The blood on Xiao En's face faded and became abnormally pale, and the power of Hundred Swords Soul was finally completely weakened.

"It's almost a bit after all." Xiao En gritted his teeth, his face showing a slight unwillingness and helplessness.

Soul Suppression, this is one of the two ultimate moves that Bass taught to Sean in the early days. With every additional fifty swords, the power doubles and becomes the most powerful killer ever used by Sean. It's just that after reaching the realm of the sanctuary, the soul-suppression of Fifty Swords is basically difficult to threaten a certain strength of the sanctuary powerhouse, but after Xiao En stepped into the sanctuary, his strength was improved in all aspects, and the soul-suppression was also Basically can stab a hundred swords.

And until he officially stepped into the middle sanctuary, he was able to truly stab a hundred swords.

It's just that when he was on the floating island, Sean already knew that the power of Hundred Swords Soul Suppression had an absolutely suppressing lethal effect on those below the upper sanctuary, and even the upper sanctuary could play a certain threat. Only when dealing with the half-step legend, the effect is not so obvious. As for the powerhouse who really stepped into the legend, the power of Hundred Swords Soul can be completely ignored.

But there is a difference between guessing and seeing the result.

Dark Realm Death Knight rushed out of the black smoke that had already turned into a thin screen, and a few black mists surrounded him, gradually dissipating with his charge, revealing an unparalleled breath of death. After a certain degree of strengthening and the black evil Li Yan's counteracting impact, Sean's pressure from the soul-suppression of the hundred swords has been completely suppressed, and it is obvious that he can no longer form too much damage on the Dark Realm Death Knight.

Therefore, the Dark Realm Death Knight directly continued to charge with this remaining suppressive force-although the space atmosphere still made him feel a little uncomfortable, the effect was much better than when Shaun first used the soul-suppression.

Pale-faced Shaun looked at the Dark Realm Death Knight who charged, and a flash of determination flashed in his eyes.

He took another deep breath and expanded his domain to the maximum, doing all he could to counteract the power of the Dark Realm Death Knight's realm, trying to eliminate the Dark Realm Death Knight's power that does not belong to him, and fight him again. Fall back to the middle sanctuary. Although the effect is very low. But for the Dark Realm Death Knight who blindly wanted to break through Sean's blockade and approach Sean, it was enough, because he was also unable to be distracted at this time to maintain the domain's resistance, which made the Dark Realm Death Knight in charge. After entering Shaun's domain, the power of death in the body began to be deprived. The black power that turned into strands was drawn away from his body.

This way. The speed of the Dark Realm Death Knight is naturally inevitably reduced to a certain extent.

After all, the most typical effect of Sean's domain is to reduce the enemy's agility and speed.

Take a deep breath again, and Sean has already begun to forcibly overdraw the strength in his body, and the vindictive burst that he has rarely used is once again completely activated. At the same time, Sean finally stopped making any hole card reservations, and even the special skill he learned from Jibril: Blood Explosion was also activated at the same time.

Fierce momentum soared into the sky.

The original pale and colorless face also showed bleeding. What's more. Xiao En, who was already in a certain state of exhaustion and exhaustion, was unexpectedly restored to the state of his heyday, and even faintly had a subtle state of breaking into the upper sanctuary.

He has already fallen from the upper sanctuary to the critical point, and has consumed a lot of physical energy and energy compared to the dark realm death knight, at this moment, Sean undoubtedly has a greater upper hand. Seeing the situation on the battlefield turned so sudden and weird, the Dark Realm Death Knight, who was originally shocked by the power of Sean's Soul Resurrection Hundred Swords, finally changed his face at this moment, and this time it was no longer shock, but a real horror.

I saw Sean suddenly lift up his sword. The Black King in his hand was held high above his head, and the sky-filled sword shadow that was so faint to almost invisible also disappeared completely at this moment.

can watch the countless sword shadows that threatened him suddenly disappear. The Dark Realm Death Knight's heart sank to the bottom. Because before, he thought that Sean was already inferior, so he directly started to charge and was ready to connect to the big move to directly solve Sean, but he did not expect that Sean would actually hide this flop stunt. In this way, it would be the Dark Realm Death Knight directly. Hit Sean's big move.

He knew that even if he could resist this sword, he would have to pay a heavy price.

But now that he knew the result, the Dark Realm Death Knight had no idea to dodge at all. His mind quickly calmed down, facing Sean's attack, completely unafraid of the upcoming result, because judging from the state of blood surging in Sean's body at this moment, the Dark Realm Death Knight knew that Sean was not without this sword. Costly. But he is not alone in the fight, even if he pays a heavy price, but behind him are two other companions who are one of the thirteen deadly coffins.

And Sean, but there is no support!

Shaun didn't know what the Dark Realm Death Knight thought, but even if he knew it, he wouldn't care.

The sword in the hand that was raised high quickly made Xiao En's whole person glow with a terrifying mighty aura.

That is a kind of domineering that has tried all means, but still wants to win and want to dominate everything.

A kind of courageous imposing manner.

A kind of firm belief in defeating the strong with the weak.

A kind of domineering aura that is so solemn.

"Soul Slash!"

Along with Sean's roar, the right hand raised above his head suddenly swung down.

In an instant, the black sword light burst out of the sky, and there was a terrifying aura that completely tore the space in this area.

The endless darkness exploded with the surging of the black sword light, which was more terrifying than the dim light law power when the Dark Territory Death Knight expanded the domain before. Because under the brilliance of this sword, the entire space is truly in the most complete chaos and darkness, not only the light cannot penetrate, even the sound cannot be transmitted.

Only the power of a sword, but there is a domineering force that tears apart space and slays everything.

The one who bears the brunt is naturally the dark realm death knight facing this sword.

In his field of vision, except for the huge sword light that rushed towards him, he couldn't see anything else at all. Even if he is still charging at this moment, and even subconsciously swinging his sword to make a combat action, all the feedback from the perception makes him feel extremely strange, as if all perception and consciousness have been completely removed. Deprivation is completely watching the scene in front of you in the state of a third-party bystander.

The next moment, his whole person and the mount under his hips were completely swallowed by this sword light.

The huge sword light did not stop after swallowing the Dark Realm Death Knight, but continued to rush forward, even as the distance extended, the sword light became larger and larger. Even outside the forest of sighs, a black sword beam can be seen rising into the sky, and then raging out toward the distance, as if to completely split the entire forest of sighs in half.

Especially Rek, who was at war with Alexis outside the forest of sighs, the fire of the soul in his hollow eyes burned extremely vigorously.

is not excited, but more like a sign of facial twitching.

No one knows better than him what this black sword light means.

While watching this scene, Alexis also gave a soft whistle, the fighting spirit in his eyes became more intense, and he turned his head and stared at Reck firmly. This made the old lich almost swear, because Alexis, who was not originally very strong in fighting spirit, had already made him feel very tricky and helpless, after all, he was not known for his fighting power, and At this time, there is no suitable material that can compete with Alexis.

Now that Alexis's fighting spirit is more vigorous, it almost has to be turned into substance, how can Rick keep his relaxed appearance. Even if he wanted to leave here and return to the forest of sighs to regroup, but he was still entangled in here by Alexis, completely unable to get out, which made Rek even more annoyed.

Lake unfolded countless bone spears and bone spurs, and blasted towards Alexis, but the shock wave generated by Alexis's only movement of raising the gun completely broke his attack. However, Lake's purpose was not to solve Alexis only by these low-level undead spells, but to take advantage of this to quickly distance himself from Alexis.

After pulling the distance away, Rek didn't talk nonsense, but quickly gathered his own magic power into the wand in his hand, and then plunged into the ground abruptly.

In an instant, a huge white magic circle with a radius of ten miles spread out on the ground centered on Reck.

Countless death auras emanated from this magic circle, and began to corrode the entire earth at a very fast speed, dyeing the ground within ten miles of a pure white color, which seemed to be the powder of countless bones. Immediately afterwards, at the center of this magic circle, it seemed that there was an eye slowly opening, and with the opening of this eye, the dead energy within ten miles of radius turned into a substantive madness hovering, turning into countless A small black tornado with a height of about one meter.

"Bone Gate?" Seeing this scene before him, Alexis's face also became serious.

If Alexis breaks through to the nineteenth level or even recovers to his heyday, he is naturally not afraid, but now there is only the eighteenth level, and even the market is not fully awakened, but Alexis is not serious. careful.

Although she can beat the little Lucas, one of the seven great witches of the Bone Plane, back to the Bone Plane, but even Alexis dare not chase the Bone Plane and fight the Lich King, because this is essentially Is absolutely different. At this time, the white ground that Leike had assimilated was that he projected the plane of the bones into this material world. Leike, who was on this piece of land, definitely had a stronger combat effectiveness.

Even, he was able to mobilize all the real army belonging to him stored on the plane of bones.

This is no longer an ordinary death wave.

Said that the door to the Bone Plane was opened, and the Bone Plane would invade the material world without being too much!

"I didn't intend to do this at first, but since you forced me to have no choice, then I don't need to be polite." Rek said coldly, and then suddenly he waved his hands. Countless pale flames flew out and fell into all the small black tornadoes within a radius of ten miles.

The next moment, countless bone meal on the ground was swept in by these tornadoes, and then turned into burly warriors wearing heavy armors or riding dark horses!

Chapter 516: .Blood gas burst

The black sword light is like opening the world, with a domineering aura of tearing everything apart and killing everything.

The dark realm death knight swallowed by this sword light can no longer see the figure at all. It's just that his aura still exists. A little bit of perception can tell that he has not fallen due to Sean's Soul Slashing. Obviously he still has the ability to resist, but how long he can resist depends on his own strength level. NS. However, in terms of the Dark Realm Death Knight's own ability, Shaun's current strength might not be able to obliterate it.

After slashed out, Xiao En's face paled slightly, and his blood faded a lot, but at least he was not in a state of exhaustion and weakness as before.

However, even though it is not as weak as before, it can be clearly judged from the sense of breath that the sword that Sean just cut is not a small consumption of his own energy, at least it almost hollowed out him. Nearly half of the physical fitness.

However, just when Xiao En's breath was weak, he saw Xiao En breathe out a long breath, and then suddenly breathed in again. The blood on his face immediately recovered again, and his mental energy also appeared to be full of energy. However, people with more sensitive perception can still find that Sean's second recovery state is actually not as good as the first time before, at least far from reaching the level of his peak state.

Blood energy burst. Two styles!

This is a special auxiliary skill that Sean learned from Jibril. It is a similar skill that is similar to the explosive effect of vindictiveness. They all force their recovery by squeezing their own potential to continue fighting. Of course, after this state is lifted, it will definitely fall into a period of exhaustion for a long time. As for how long the exhaustion period lasts, it depends on how many * bursts Sean has stimulated.

Like now, Sean forcibly launched the second phase of the explosion of blood, which will undoubtedly make him fall into a longer state of weakness after the end of the skill time, but it will undoubtedly give him a more durable fighting ability at this time. But the only flaw. Probably the effect produced by the ability of this blood qi burst was inferior once more.

According to Sean's own estimation, the effect of the third burst of blood energy would probably only restore half of his stamina. It's just that it is obviously impossible to display such a powerful attack skill. Because the outbreak of vindictive energy is not like the outbreak of blood energy, which allows Sean to perform multiple times. And this time the amount of fighting spirit recovered was not enough for Xiao En to perform three complete soul-slashing attacks.

After Sean activated the blood qi burst. Second style, he struggled to resist the dark field death knight bombarded by the black sword light, and his heart was shocked, and a very bad thought instantly rose from his heart. Having reached his level of strength, his perception ability is naturally extremely keen because he is exposed to the laws of the world, so even if his vision is covered by the black sword light, he can't see the surrounding situation at all. But this does not hinder the dark realm Death Knight's perception of the outside world.

It's just that Sean is now not only a mid-level sanctuary powerhouse. It is also a grand prince who controls countless lives and deaths in a country, and his determination is naturally very clear.

So after regaining his physical fitness, he swung his sword again without hesitation.

The equally sturdy black sword light once again broke through the air and rushed towards the Dark Realm Death Knight.

But if you perceive it carefully, it is not difficult to find that Xiao En's second soul-slashing sword light is undoubtedly inferior to the first. It's not just that the sword light is not as strong as the first one, but also the edge of the sword light is not so condensed. It seems that the general trend of kendo has not been fully formed before being forced to use it against the enemy, so the power is naturally worse than the first soul-slashing sword light.

But if it is used to deal with the dark dead knight at this time. The power is undoubtedly enough.

The second sword light burst out of the sky with the same swift power, directly expanding the damage caused by the first soul-slashing sword light by several points.

Under the bombardment of these two sword lights on the ground, the huge opening that had been split suddenly extended to a radius of more than tens of meters, and even countless cracks appeared in the air, and the breath from the void was permeating from these cracks. After opening, there are even a few breaths that are not part of the material world appearing, as if they want to invade the material world through the cracks in the space barrier that was broken by the slashing of the soul.

It's just that, after feeling the domineering aura of slaying soul and slaying everything, these foreign enemy auras from the void quickly fled.

didn't know whether these beings had fought with Bass before, and recognized that this was Bass's signature sword skill, or was it purely frightened by the sword of Soul Slashing. But whatever it is, it is obviously good news for Sean, or for everyone present-of course, it is not purely good news for Deadthorn, it can only be said to be mixed. That's it.

Because even if Deadthorn and Sean are not at odds, or even the same as the Peace Council whose mission is to maintain world peace, they still belong to the world of Miracle Continent, so they know better than anyone else that There is no such thing as ending the egg".

There was a burst of sound.

The blasting sword light from Soul Slashing finally shattered completely, but in this way, it broke the surrounding space more thoroughly, revealing a huge void space, and everyone present could even see this clearly. Suddenly appeared under the rupture in mid-air, the black void surging like a river, and the white, black or purple lightning brilliance that flickered and bright from time to time.

This time, the space barrier seemed to be really broken.

It's just that compared to the destruction and impact caused by the battles of those legendary and even super-powerfuls, this kind of spatial barrier fragmentation created by chance and coincidence is not a terrible trauma to the origin of the world. . This crack just appeared, and it has already begun to be repaired at a speed visible to the naked eye. On the contrary, the surrounding cobweb cracks all over the space will still appear for a while, and they have not been repaired in the first time. It seems It is the original will of the world that doesn't care too much about this.

It's just that, at this time, Xiao En's face still turned pale, and the blood color faded even more serious than when he displayed the first sword light.

At this time, his eyes were staring at the broken space barrier, and his eyebrows seemed thoughtful.

But it was just a momentary difference. Knowing that Sean, who was on the battlefield, would naturally not be able to be there forever, after confirming that the fragmentation of the space barrier would be automatically repaired. And after being slightly connected with his own son of the world, Sean immediately turned his attention back to the Dark Realm Death Knight.

This dark realm death knight has already looked languid.

The armor on was already full of cracks, and in many places it even broke directly, exposing the linen shirt under the armor. But the strange thing is. This set of heavy armor is actually not a real material thing. It was the armor formed by the Dark Realm Death Knight captured from part of the godhead of the * of death. Before it broke, Sean still noticed the secret of the armor. At this moment, after the armor was completely broken, the secret was finally completely exposed.

Although this armor cannot be called an artifact, it is more powerful than ordinary artifacts.

Not to mention that the armor is actually composed of the power of the law. It has extremely powerful defensive capabilities. It is only a special effect attached to the armor. It is enough to make countless people envy. Because this set of heavy armor can actually make the wearer immune to any death attacks that directly affect the body and soul. It is precisely because of this that Sean's two soul-slashing methods failed to truly kill the Dark Realm Death Knight. Instead, it was because of the impact of the law of the Reaper priesthood that the space barrier was shattered.

However, after blocking the two swords of Shaun, this set of death armor finally broke. If you want to repair it, if there is no external support, it will take a long time.

And the damage caused by the dark dead knight. It's much more than that.

His previous mount does not have such a strong defensive ability as the Dark Realm Death Knight. Therefore, under the bombardment of the second soul-slashing sword light, he was directly beheaded on the spot, and his entire body was broken into two pieces.

Of course, Sean is also not well.

If it were not for the sudden space barrier crack, Sean's loss at the moment would not be so severe. He has now discovered that as a son of the world, he has gained a lot of benefits, but he is also closely related to this world, and it can even be said to be a completely integrated destiny track.

The destruction of the origin of the world caused by other people Fortunately, Sean will be aware of it for the first time. Later, as the son of the world, he naturally wants to prevent the opponent's damage to the world. But if he causes damage to the world, then he needs to be "punished" to a certain extent-Sean regards this physical energy and energy extraction directly on his own potential and soul as a punishment system.

At this moment, Sean finally understood a little bit why Jibril could endure such a long time and hide in his own plane world, instead of appearing in this material world. The reason is really that she is too strong, so powerful that the attack action between the gestures will definitely cause damage to the origin of the world, so she is equivalent to pitting herself in.

After understanding all the things here, Sean can be regarded as having a certain degree of knowledge of his own behavior in the future.

only.....

The corner of Sean's eyes moved on the battlefield.

The confrontation between him and the Dark Realm Death Knight seemed extremely thrilling, but in fact it took a very short time, and the winner was directly divided before and after even three minutes. Of course, this is because both sides are exerting all their strength, but the more important point is the conflict and destruction of the law, which is far more fierce and dangerous than those below the golden realm. If it is evenly matched, it will be fine. If you suppress the other side, no matter what method is used, the winner will be determined in a very short time.

Perhaps people who have not reached the realm of the sanctuary can't understand it, but once they step into the sanctuary to control the realm, they will all know this.

Not to mention the battle between legends and super powers.

At this time, Sean's gaze moved, looking for another person who could still threaten his life. He didn't know that the heavy armor on the Dark Realm Death Knight had such a miraculous effect that he made a mistake in his estimation during the battle, causing his own loss to be greater than expected, but fortunately it was not counted. Without gain, Xiao En not only knew what he needed to pay attention to in future battles, but also used it to explore more about the laws of space and time, which is of course great for him to step into the realm of the upper sanctuary. s help.

At this moment, a fishy wind suddenly slammed!

"It's you who are waiting!" Feeling the cold and murderous intent, Xiao En sighed in a deep voice, and the blood on his body burst out again.

Blood energy burst. Three styles!

This special skill taught by Jibril is a special skill product after the awakening of the blood of the son of the world. Because its effect is to directly extract the power of the world's origin and bless him, no matter what the situation or the realm, Sean can be fundamentally restored. Only this ability is not unlimited.

Blood Qi burst for the first time, it can fully restore the state.

And the second cast, the so-called two-form, can only restore about three-quarters of the state.

In the three forms, as Sean expected, he can only recover half of his own state.

It's just that the effects that can be restored by the blood qi burst are limited to one's own injury, spirit, will, physical ability, etc., but it does not include magic and vindictiveness. This ability is undoubtedly an extremely powerful and terrifying bloodline ability for people who simply use their own strengthening martial arts. It can even be said to be a trump card that can turn things around. For example, Alexis, this ability is for her. As far as it is concerned, it is terrifying to the limit.

Sean even thought about whether he should consider changing to a combat style that uses the physical body to strengthen the limit, but in the end he gave up.

There is no other reason, just five words.

Greed more than chews.

At this time, in the face of Death Sword's sneak attack, Xiao En's face did not appear panicked: "You two shot together, how could I not prevent you."

The Black King in his hand pierced toward the position where the aura of the death sword burst without hesitation.

Only hear the muffled sound of gold and iron fighting.

The doll manipulated by Death Sword was completely exposed in front of Sean. Not only did his attack fail to injure Sean, but Sean's sword was stuck in the gap in the armor of the elbow of the right hand holding the sword. As a result, the Death Sword's attack would naturally not be able to be swung down, but Sean completely restrained the offensive, and most importantly, Sean completely gained the upper hand in this counterattack.

"It's useless!" Death Sword showed a grin. At such a close distance, the stench from his body became even more obvious.

"Really?" Shaun, who was pale, raised the corners of his mouth slightly, and also showed a smile, but this smile also made Death Sword feel a palpitation, "Broken soul!"

Chapter 517: . It's a bit late this time

If you say, Soul Slashing is weak and strong.

So to break the soul is to break the weak with the strong.

Although the momentum is not as domineering as Soul Slashing, Soul Slashing also has a very different and subtle aura, as if this sword can break through all obstacles. Especially in the use of skills, Soul Breaking relies more on the increase in strength, as long as the greater the power of the caster, the greater the power of this sword. And unlike the pure attack skills of Slashing Soul, Soul Slashing is more like a counterattack defensive skill.

The tip of the sword pierced into the gap in the arm guard, and Xiao En's wrist turned slightly, and he jammed the right hand of the death sword, making the death sword unable to change the sword's strength at all. And even if he wanted to swing his sword and fall, the increase in Soul Breaker's power was far enough to block Death Sword's subsequent changes.

This sudden result immediately changed the face of the Death Sword, which he thought was the winner. Of course, it is naturally impossible for the puppet container manipulated by the Death Sword to make such an action. Shaun and others felt it. What was received was the breath fluctuation from the body of Death Sword.

As an artifact that has completely independent personality thinking, its essence is naturally more powerful than those artifacts that only have mature magic souls.

Such as angel outfits, Xuefanio's Frozen Rin, Emily's God of War Blade, etc., all just have a mature magical soul, and have not transformed into beings with independent personality thinking. Even the Black King that Sean is holding now has a new magical soul, and previously Enkos gave Sean a mature magical soul that was pulled out, all of which turned a piece of equipment into a piece of equipment. The core component of the artifact.

But in the final analysis, these artifacts still need someone to control to be able to exert their powerful power.

Unlike the Death Sword, which was originally called Demon Abyss, it has already fully equipped with a complete independent thinking. In essence, it can be regarded as the existence of an intelligent race. Only because of its nature is a fallen dark artifact, it will not accept the control of others. Anyone who wants to manipulate it will eventually inevitably be lured and swallowed by its evil nature, and will eventually become a soldier slave like a puppet.

At this moment, Death Sword exuded an aura of shocked mood swings very humanely.

However, after being shocked, Death Sword began to struggle desperately, seeming to want to break through the power of Sean's sword blessing on himself.

Dark Realm Death Knight's already decadent look, after feeling the almost desperate rise and struggle of Death Sword. The expression also showed deep shock. He could not understand. Why is the immortal and immortal sword of death, which is almost eternal, reveals such mood swings. Although in terms of strength, the Death Sword at this time is not as strong as the strength he had strengthened with the use of Death Qi before, but at least it is a real mid-level sanctuary, which is a bit stronger than Xiao En at this moment.

But the immediate result was that the death sword's attack was not only completely suppressed, but even life was threatened.

Dark Realm Death Knight does not understand the truth. But it does not hinder his sensory cognition. He knew that the death sword was absolutely dangerous at this time. It's just that even if he has the heart to rescue at this time, he can't do anything about it, because his injury is also not light, and the previous head-to-head confrontation between him and Sean can completely exhaust Sean's combat power under the protection of his own death armor. , Let Death Sword make the final fatal attack.

"It's impossible!" Death Sword let out a horrified roar, "You... why are you..."

"Why do you think I have to do my best to make the Dark Realm Death Knight lose the ability to fight?" Although Xiao En's face was slightly pale, he looked very tired. But his eyes were full of vigor, with an indescribable color of excitement. "I have to admit that the existence of the Death Armor is indeed beyond my imagination, but luckily I also hid a hand, otherwise, there is really no such good opportunity today."

Faced with Shaun's smile that made him feel scared, Death Sword's struggle became more fierce. But I don't know why, he, who has the strength of the mid-level sanctuary, is completely unable to resist Sean's oppression. Even his own deterrence and powerful consciousness belonging to the divine weapon are also in this struggle. Gradually falling into the wind, this scene is impressive to see Dark Realm Death Knight's eyebrows beating.

At this moment, even if he didn't understand it before, he can definitely see it now.

It was not only Sean's attack that suppressed the death sword, but also a purple aura attached to Sean's black sword. Although this aura is fleeting, it does not mean that this aura is so annihilated under the laws of the world, but is entangled in the consciousness of the death sword itself, and it also has an unshakable firm belief. Bit by bit swallowed the soul of Death Sword.

It is precisely because of this that Death Sword cannot truly manipulate the container and Sean desperately, and even the confrontation has gradually fallen into the wind, and Sean is about to cut the body and the container completely with a sword. Link. Once Sean succeeded in this step, not to mention what kind of damage it would cause Death Sword, but it was certain that Death Sword would completely lose the power to fight again, even if he was not damaged at all.

In Deaththorn Thirteen Coffin, the strength of the death sword is unparalleled, but compared with other members of the thirteen coffin, the weakness of the death sword is also extremely obvious. That is, he must rely on the container to be effective, and the strength of the container during his lifetime also directly determines the combat effectiveness that the Death Sword can exert.

In terms of the concept of an artifact, the death sword can be regarded as a concept of a super artifact, and it can display the strength of a super power purely in terms of soul strength. However, no matter how big the family is, it is almost impossible to find the pure physical container of the legendary powerhouse, let alone the super powerhouse-based on the concept before the deaththorn, it is to get a high-level sanctuary. The body of the strong is used as a container, allowing the death sword to manipulate itself and slowly nourish and nurture to become a super strong. Then the death sword can also complete the secret technique of soldier slavery, from an implement into a true intelligent race.

This secret method is actually recorded in the hands of the ancient dwarf royal family.

Therefore, for a long time before, Deaththorn has focused on the outland, just to find the royals of the dwarf empire, so as to obtain this secret technique. Just not to mention that this secret technique is not easy to obtain, even the body of a suitable upper sanctuary strong is also extremely difficult to find. After all, to become a strong upper sanctuary, the willpower will definitely not be weak. It's impossible to become a soldier slave and let the Death Sword completely control it

Sean could only see that the container of the death sword was the strength of the middle sanctuary, but he didn't know that, in fact, the container of the death sword was cultivated all the way from the lower sanctuary. It is precisely because of this that the connection between the container and the death sword is naturally very strong, and Sean can't completely cut it off for a while.

It's just that. This is only limited to ordinary people's ideas.

What Sean really wants. This soldier's container has never been a dead sword.

"No!" It seemed that he was aware of something, and Death Sword let out a stern roar, even full of panic, "Soulcaller! Why didn't you make a move!"

Facing the scream of Death Sword, he sighed, and there was a muffled grunt in the forest.

This sound seemed to be responding, but it also revealed his current state: wanting to rescue the dead sword. That is absolutely impossible. All can only rely on the hard work of Death Sword and Dark Realm Death Knight.

Hearing this muffled hum, Death Sword's mood swings were almost desperate.

Instead, it was the Dark Realm Death Knight, and he stood up again with his sword, as if he wanted to save the Death Sword. He could see that Sean was obviously trying to suppress and capture the soul of Death Sword. Although he did not know the reason, the instinct of the Dark Realm Death Knight told him that he must not let Sean succeed, otherwise I am afraid there will be extreme Great disaster and trouble. And right now. It is also when Sean is at the most critical moment, he must seize this opportunity.

Following this action of the Dark Realm Death Knight. Death Sword seemed to see hope, and the struggle and resistance became more desperate.

Only Xiao En frowned slightly, then turned his head and looked at Darkfield Death Knight, with a smile on his face: "This time, you are a bit late."

Almost as soon as Xiao En's words fell, the Dark Territory Death Knight felt a great shock in his heart. In terms of mood swings, it was not inferior to the Death Sword suppressed by Shaun. However, the Dark Realm Death Knight is also a decisive person. The moment the fear and tingling of death erupted, he did not hesitate to give up the idea of rescuing the death sword, and even the handle in his hand became a burden at this time. His epee did not hesitate to abandon it.

A roar suddenly sounded.

As the sound exploded, countless smoke and dust spread out at the same time, and even the ground shook. It is conceivable that if the Dark Realm Death Knight dodges fast enough, I am afraid that he will definitely be hit hard even if he is not dead just now.

There was a cold snort, which sounded from the dust and smoke.

When the dust dissipates, a beautiful shadow stands alone in it.

The one who came here was Christina of the Peace Council.

Just when he saw Christina at this time, Sean's brows couldn't help but raised slightly, his face showed a solemn look.

He had known for a long time that where there are dead thorns, people from the Peace Council will inevitably follow the action. This is like the two sides of light and darkness, which cannot be avoided. After all, the Peace Council stayed in the Void Principality for so long in order to carry out an all-in-one operation against Deaththorn, but then Deaththorn shrank and did not continue to implement the assassination plan against the high-level of the Void Principality. In connection with the subsequent withdrawal of the Peace Council from the Void Principality, Sean has vaguely grasped the action strategy of the Peace Council.

It's just that although Sean also expected that Christina might still negotiate with him on the Peace Council, he did not expect that Christina's strength would increase so fast!

When the battle of destiny broke out, Kristina was the strongest in the lower sanctuary. In that battle, Kristina also benefited a lot, and it was an inevitable fact to break through to the middle sanctuary. It's just that according to Sean's estimation, his breakthrough to the middle sanctuary was due to Andrew's light, so he realized the mystery of the law of space in advance. Otherwise, if he wants to step into the middle sanctuary normally, I'm afraid It will take another year or two, so it is guessed that even if Christina is a genius in a million, at this time, at most, she is the strongest of the upper sanctuary.

But I don't want to know that Christina is already a legendary powerhouse!

"I know you are a genius, but I don't want you to be so talented." Sean said with a sigh, "This time, there should be a lot of people from the Peace Council.... You can break through here, I'm afraid. Someone should have entered the death monument with you, right."

An extremely cold murderous intent, diffused from the field, and a black sturdy figure suddenly appeared in front of the Dark Realm Death Knight.

Because of his appearance, the power originally produced by Christina's sudden appearance was suppressed to the lowest in an instant, and it can even be said that it seems to be shaky in front of this person.

Don't ask. Xiao En also knew who the silver-haired young man in front of him was wearing a black armor that looked like a devil and a blood-red cloak behind him.

Inside the death thorn, except for the high-level, few people know the real powerhouse, one of the six death monuments.

Six Death Tablets are the real trump cards of Deaththorn.

Deaththorn Thirteen Coffins symbolizes the most talented and talented newcomers of Deaththorn. Generally speaking, after becoming a legendary powerhouse, you will leave the name of the thirteen coffins. Become a truly strong man with a unique side, but a strong man at this level is not yet the true trump card of Deaththorn. Only at this level, those who have experienced enough * fights, demonstrated unparalleled extraordinary combat power, and are even expected to impact the realm of super powers, are qualified to take over the name of the six death monuments that fell behind.

Six death monuments, there have been six places in the death thorns. After becoming one of the six ace powerhouses of Deaththorn. Although his name will not be erased. However, the internal organization will not be called by the previous name. Instead, it will use the stele as a suffix and a new title based on its own abilities. The six death steles of Deaththorn today are Kill Stele, Dark Stele, Demon Stele, Blood Stele, Dark Stele, and Bone Stele. Each of them has at least a fourteenth-order legendary combat power. Although the Mingbei and Demonbei are a bit inferior, they are also the critical point of the pinnacle of the fifteenth-order legend. Only a little bit can break through to become a super strong.

Deaththorn let the magic stele with fifteenth rank and two dark steles and bone steles with fourteenth rank to deal with Rina. This is already an expression of great importance to Rina's strength.

After the Ming monument appears. He just glanced at Christina coldly, but didn't start the attack for the first time. Instead, he glanced at Sean, and then suddenly stretched out his left hand and made a "grip" towards the death sword. move.

Suddenly, a powerful force of law suddenly appeared from the body of the death sword, helping the death sword to counter the attack of Sean. Although Death Sword's mood swings at this time are slightly reluctant, but compared with the inexplicable death threat in the face of Sean, the move of Mingbei makes Death Sword feel a little humiliated, but it is always better to live than to die. Okay, so Death Sword will completely accept the blessing of the law from Mingbei.

However, when facing this sudden power blessing, Sean sneered, and he manually added a few points of strength. For this reason, even if his face became pale as paper and even a trace of blood spilled from the corner of his mouth, he did not hesitate.

Motivated by such a tough posture by Sean, Mingbei raised his brows slightly, and said softly: "Let go!"

Suddenly, the strength increased by a few points.

This time, Sean spit out a mouthful of blood.

Kristina saw this, there was no trace of fear in her eyes, but a strong fighting spirit ignited in her eyes, and a stride suddenly slew towards the Mingbei.

Although Christina only has the strength of Tier 12, she has the three elements of Alchemy, Arcane, and Martial Skills. It cannot be considered as an ordinary combat power, especially at this time with the aid of the explosive secret technique of Alchemy. The momentum that burst out for a while went straight to the 14th-order powerhouse. From this point of view of the momentum, Sean saw a bit of Alexis's shadow on Christina, and in a sense, it was more like an advanced and enhanced version of Vivian.

If Christina had no awakened blood, Sean would not believe it if she was killed. He was even sure that Christina's blood might not be inferior to that of Rena, Xuefanio, Cecilia, etc., maybe it was a direct descendant of an ancient god, and the purity of the blood was only necessary. Higher than Xuefanio.

Otherwise, it is impossible to explain why Christina's progress is like riding on the Rockets.

"The potential is extraordinary. In another twenty years you may have the power to fight me." Mingbei glanced at Christina and said coldly, "The premise is that I have stopped making progress in these twenty years."

After saying this, he made a fist with his right hand and punched Kristina who had rushed in front of him.

With just one punch, the entire space seemed to be detonated. Numerous cracks suddenly spread in the air between Christina and Mingbei. It seems that there is no Shaun and Darkland Death Knight. The destruction caused by the blasting just now was great, but in fact the murderous intentions in it were even more dangerous than just now.

At this point, just seeing Kristina fly out at a speed faster than the charge, flying hundreds of meters away like a meteor, and even smashing countless skeletal warriors and dozens of withered trees along the way. knew.

only. After this punch, Mingbei suddenly raised his brows, a trace of surprise flashed in his eyes, and he stared at Xiao En: "Huh!?"

Following the look of Mingbei, Sean suddenly felt an infinite force of law turned into a heavy force on his body. He could even hear a crackling sound from his bones. It's just relatively so hard. However, Xiao En's eyes didn't show any signs of fear or decadence at all. Instead, Death Sword uttered an extremely screaming scream, which was quite a bit of a sorrowful scream.

"I'll give you this sword!" Xiao En let out a loud laugh, and his right hand shook suddenly. The soul-breaking power that had been deadlocked for a long time finally broke out!

With only one sword, the right hand of the dead sword's container was completely exploded. And with this burst. The heavy pressure on Xiao En's body also suddenly loosened. Xiao En flew back without stopping at all, and a dark purple light also flashed away on the Black King's sword.

Although the right hand of the container was completely blown up, the death sword also flew directly into the left hand of the Mingbei.

But after the Death Sword started, Mingbei couldn't feel the Soul of the Demon Abyss on the sword at all, and the strong demon energy on the sword was also madly dissipating. Before it fell into the left hand of the Mingbei, the death sword, which was originally a super-sacred weapon, fell to the level of a divine weapon, and when it fell into the left hand of the Mingbei, the sacred weapon that belonged to the death sword was immediately shattered. This long sword has directly become a piece of mythical equipment, and I am afraid that it has the characteristics of [Extreme Sharpness] in addition to its attributes. There are no other special effects.

This kind of weapon, even if it is a myth-level equipment, is also the most * piece of mythical equipment.

The eyes of Mingbei fell on the black king in Xiao En's hands: "Double magic soul!?!... No wonder you can strip the dead sword's character, it turns out that you had this idea from the beginning!... Humph , Lord Void, really easy to calculate. It's a pity that you are destined to fall here today."

Even though his face was extremely pale, Sean was not depressed at all, but his eyes looked extremely energetic.

In just contending with the power of the law of the Mingbei, although he was severely injured, which is likely to aggravate the side effects after the blood qi burst, but Sean's gains were far beyond expectations. It can be said that in the moment just now, his perception of the law has been extremely improved, and this little gain alone is almost not under the value of the soul of the divine weapon stripped of the death sword!

"I see, it's not necessarily." Xiao En let out a chuckle, "If you can get rid of the entanglement of the Peace Council as soon as possible, come to support as quickly as possible, and when you arrive on the scene, it is not to protect the dark dead knight, but the first time. If you kill me, then I might really fall here.... But now, I can only tell you with regret that you have lost your best chance."

Hearing what Shaun said, Mingbei was not angry but laughed: "The Peace Council has been dragged by the Killing Stele, the Blood Stele, and other members of the Thirteen Deadthorn Coffins. There are also followers beside you who sigh deeply in the forest hinterland. The magic stele, bone stele, dark stele and others are responsible for interception, so...I want to see how there is no chance."

A thick body of death abruptly gushes from the body of the Mingbei, but strangely, this thick deathness is not aimlessly diffused everywhere, but quickly condenses towards the right hand of the Mingbei, and then gradually It turned into a spear, but it looked a little vague in form, and it looked like a source of water was flowing fast. However, the death aura exuding from above has caused a sudden change in space. A more terrifying force seems to be passing through the multiple void barriers and blessed on this gray spear that is completely condensed by death.

The next moment, the Mingbei suddenly shook it, then raised his hand and shot.

Deadly pierced the empty spear!

This is a long-range attacking martial art of Mingbei. It is displayed by his ability to break through to the critical point of the legendary peak of the super strong with just one kick. The power of this gun is absolutely imaginable.

almost as soon as it was thrown out, it was already in front of Xiao En, as if it would completely penetrate Xiao En's head in the next moment!

But at this moment, a force that was stronger than the monument suddenly burst out of the sky!

A rift that tore through the void barrier was extremely abruptly hovering between Shaun and the deadly piercing gun!

Only a few centimeters away can penetrate the distance of Sean's head, but it has truly become an insurmountable moat!

The entire deadly piercing spear, which is formed by the power of strong dead energy, completely exploded in the space cracks that tore the barrier, and countless dead energy scattered all around. If it were not for sighing, the forest would have been a place eroded and decayed by the breath of death. The death aura that escaped was enough to completely cut off all lives within a mile radius.

The moment Sean appeared in this space, he stopped retreating, and then suddenly there were several wounds on his body cracking, and blood spurted out directly. Although Xiao En was not directly hit by the Death Underworld Spear just now, the lifelessness above still aggravated Xiao En's injury. This made Sean's injuries finally unable to be suppressed anymore. Even the state of blood gas explosion was forcibly suspended.

So, under the superimposition of these multiple injuries, Xiao En directly collapsed to the ground, and even his consciousness felt endless exhaustion.

It's just that the back figure stepping out of the void in the crevice still made Sean feel relaxed.

A small figure was slowly walking out of it, but his right hand was dragging a huge silver-white epee that was completely out of proportion to his body shape. The immature face looked murderous and awe-inspiring. Although it seems a bit ridiculous. But everyone who felt the murderous intent was absolutely unable to laugh, because the murderous intent was genuine, and even Mingbei felt a palpitating heart.

"Super...the strong!?" Mingbei was stunned for a moment, and his heart also stunned.

For Sean's actions, they have been planning for a long time ago, so naturally they have also investigated the combat power around Sean. However, in the information that has been checked countless times, there is no mention of the existence of a superpower level horror around Sean. Logically speaking, the highest combat power of the Void Principality should be Xuefanio, who can descend from God, and Rina, who has a powerful dragon.

Both of them are legendary combat powers. It's just that, like Christina, it can't be considered in terms of waiting for the legendary combat power, if it is in a state of outbreak that is less than the consequences. I am afraid that it will be able to display the combat power of Tier Fourteen. In order to avoid unexpected accidents, Deaththorn will use the power of the Six Death Monuments to intercept Rina and others, in order to suppress Rina with absolute advantage.

Although it has been mentioned in the intelligence that there is the figure of this child beside Rena and Cecilia, but at the time, no one regarded it as the same thing, but thought that this child was probably sighing that there was something special in the forest. ability. After all, after many trials, no one felt any fluctuations in Kozilek's breath that belonged to the strong.

Kozilek, who slowly walked out of the void in the crack, threw his left hand and threw a rounded head at the feet of the Mingbei.

Looking at the head that showed horror before death, Mingbei's heart was calm: "Since the devil monument is dead, I am afraid that the bone monument and the dark monument have also encountered poisonous hands."

Faced with Mingbei's question, Kozilek didn't seem to hear it. Instead, he turned his head to look at Sean and said, "No."

Sean smiled slightly, he naturally knew the meaning of Kozilek's words: everyone else was fine.

Understanding this, Sean really relaxes.

After just such a short time, Christina finally stepped back and walked back, but her expression looked a little embarrassed. It is obvious that the punch against the Mingbei just now is not an injury that can be ignored for her. . But at this moment, Kristina did not look at the Dark Monument, but looked at Kozilek, with an unclear complex color in her eyes. Although she knew seems to be to confirm the old saying that "the battlefield situation is changing rapidly".

Kozilek's strength for a long time, she looked at Kozilek right now. Christina still has an unreal illusion.

In the Dark Zone, the death knight is defeated, the soul of the death sword is pulled away, the soul-evoker is entangled, Kristina appears, the dark stele appears and hurt Kristina, and then Sean almost died and Kozilek was dangerous again. After the dangerous rescue of Sean, a dragon roar came out immediately. Rina, Cecilia, Angel and others, who rode on the black stone and stepped on countless bone warriors and bone demons, rushed into the battlefield, finally one by one. appear.

When Dark Realm Death Knight looked at a spear that was burning with flames and appeared in such a high-profile manner as Rena with huge wings of light on the back of the flames, his brows were raised, and his heart cursed: "Micah in the awakened state. Le armor...How did the artifact of the Saint Joles Empire fall into Rena's hands? Could it be that the leader of the White Wing, the strongest knight order in the world, has fallen!?"

Under the blockade of the information of the caring people, the battle of fate has not been known by too many people, so even a huge intelligence organization such as God's Eye has not detected any news at all, let alone a deadly thorn. In this way, in the intelligence war where one step is wrong, the death thorn situation is undoubtedly the same as a moth that directly hit the bright light of the Void Principality.

It just made the dark stele a little bit relieved. After the appearance of Rena and others, two figures appeared beside him.

The two people are the bone stele and the dark stele.

Although the two of them were sluggish, they were obviously seriously injured, but it is a rare good thing for the death thorns that the two of them did not die. Although there are many substitutes for the Six Death Monuments, not every one of them. People are qualified. Especially for these top powerhouses who are expected to impact the ranks of super powerhouses, it is natural that they will not fall, and of course hope that they will not fall.

Take a deep breath, watching Xiao En's side once again gather so many powerful men, Mingbei knows that it is impossible to kill Xiao En in the current situation. If there is no interference from the Peace Council, if all the people of the Six Death Monuments and the 13 Death Thorns Coffins are gathered, it may be possible to kill Xiao En at a certain price that can bear it, and at the same time completely destroy Xiao. These followers around me.

"Huh, although you are a bit late this time, at least you are not late." Xiao En smiled faintly, and with the support of Cecilia and Angel, he finally stood up, "I said... You have no chance."

"Huh." Mingbei hummed coldly, and did not continue to take advantage of his tongue.

He also knows that the current situation is really like what Shaun said, the general situation is gone.

Perhaps at the very beginning, if you do not rescue the Dark Realm Death Knight, but forcefully kill Shaun, I am afraid it will be the best result.

It's just that legendary powerhouses like them have a very stable mentality. Since there is no chance at the moment, of course they will not continue to reluctantly. The most important thing is that their Deaththorn is an assassination organization. As long as they continue to hibernate and look for opportunities, it is Sean and others who must be worried and always vigilant. In this way, from a certain perspective, it can be regarded as weakening the comprehensive strength of the Void Principality.

And most importantly, the fact that Rina had Michael angel costumes spread out, and the Saint-Joles Empire would never let it go. In addition, the affairs of Kozilek, the super power, will be made public. At that time, whether it is the Millennium Covenant Empire or the Chenas Empire, all attention will be directed to the Void Duchy. Under the attention of these two super empires, The situation of the Void Principality can be imagined.

"In this round, you won the void, but we did not lose all." Mingbei said coldly, and at the same time glanced at Rena and Kozilek each, which means that everyone present is very clear. "You don't have to think about leaving us...I admit that I can't kill you, but if we want to leave, you will stop..."

Without waiting for Mingbei's words to be finished, a stern and terrifying panic breath immediately rose into the sky!

The expressions of everyone present changed drastically.

Among them, Sean's face looks particularly ugly: "The door of the bones!... Rick that  thing!"

The three representatives of Deaththorn, Void Principality, and Peace Council, Mingbei, Sean, Christina, and others, all fell into a strange situation of silence, only the strong death spirit that echoed in this space was so rich. horrible. Even under the influence of this extremely rich and deadly aura, the entire forest of sighs began to undergo obvious changes. A large amount of black gas began to emerge from the ground, turning into that urging claws, and began to try to catch the intruder. The living in the forest.

Mingbei took a look at the dozen or so pairs of small hands that were as thin as a baby's ankle, and snorted coldly. At the same time, he exuded an aura that belonged to a legendary powerhouse, and immediately shook the claws that had been transformed into death energy. broken.

It's just these shattered claws, but they didn't disperse because of it. On the contrary, like being attracted by some suction, they turned into strands of black smoke and penetrated into the ground of the forest of sighs. After a short while, a dozen small soil packs bulged up, and then a small black hand was drilled out of each soil pack and still grabbed towards the Mingbei.

This time, Mingbei's face changed slightly.

But in fact, the slight change in his face is not just the monument, it is almost clearly reflected on everyone present-the only thing that has not changed is probably Kozilek.

The little guy's face showed a little distressed look, and Sean could clearly perceive Kozilek's inner thoughts from his heart, but this thought made him feel a little helpless. Because Kozilek did not worry about his own safety or other problems at all, the only thing he was depressed was that he could feel the extraordinarily strong energy fluctuations, which made his appetite greatly increased, but these energies belonged to the energy that could not be swallowed. .

Kozilek was very distressed.

As the dead spirit became more and more intense and intense, the faces of Xiao En and others gradually became hard to look at. Because sighing the threat of the forest, it is no longer just the black claws. The dead wood actually began to grow, and countless black or white leaves began to grow at an extremely crazy speed. But some trees that have not withered completely. The leaves also began to turn black, but the leaf pattern on the leaves turned red, like blood.

If only this kind of appearance change is produced, it will feel terrifying at best, but everyone present knows it well. These changes are not just as simple as the horror vision brought by the appearance.

A large amount of invisible poison gas. It has begun to diffuse from these leaves.

Although the current threat is not too great, with the passage of time, these poisonous gases will have a great and bad impact on the living.

The demon stele killed by Kozilek, the head that was thrown at the foot of the stele before, all the flesh and hair had melted into a pool of black sewage under the erosion of this lifeless energy. But just when everyone ignored the skull, two dark red soul fires suddenly ignited inside the skull—among the people present, except for the small group of mercenaries Rilitha. Everyone is a strong man in the sanctuary realm. So this change was caught by everyone as soon as it appeared.

Xiao En's face changed slightly, but at this moment it finally changed: "Step on that skull!"

When Mingbei heard this shout, he was taken aback. His first reflex was naturally impossible to follow Sean's words. After all, half a minute ago, the two sides still spelled out the real fire to divide the life and death enemy. Even if Xiao En was saved from death because of someone rescued, but the death thorn represented by the monument did not intend to let Xiao En go. They were still preparing to find a chance to retaliate in the future, so naturally it was impossible to listen. Shaun's instructions.

But just at the moment when Mingbei was stunned. Kristina and Cecilia also seemed to have thought of something, their expressions suddenly changed.

"Don't let that skull go!"

"Hurry up and destroy the soul fire of the skull!"

Hear the shouts of these two people. Moreover, looking at the expressions of the two of them, they were also slightly flustered, and Ming Bei realized that perhaps the changes in the situation were a little beyond his expectations. After all, he really didn't understand the changes in the entire forest of sighs.

Only at this time, when Mingbei was about to lift his foot to smash the skull of the former companion, it was obviously too late.

The skull whirled quickly, digging directly into the ground like a ground drill. The countless black death energy turned into hundreds of black arms extending from the place where the skull penetrated, and they were intricately entangled together. , Grabbed the raised right foot towards the Mingbei. It's just that under the powerful blow of the Ming stele, these hands formed by the death energy are naturally impossible to stop, and they are all stepped on by the Ming stele and fell back to the ground, exploding into countless black smoke billowing. Flow away.

The ground was even crushed several meters deep by being trampled on by the Mingbei.

But all of this, after all, it was still unable to stop the bone that had completely disappeared.

"After all, it's still a step too late."

This voice is not the voice of Sean, Christina, and Cecilia, but from the edge of the battlefield where everyone was fighting.

Accompanied by bursts of crackling fighting sounds, two figures soon broke out of the encirclement of the bone warriors and the bone demon, just as Christina was flying out by the dark stele just now and fell on the pile of bone warriors. Here, it's like abruptly rushing back with his own hands.

It's just that no matter who it is, seeing the two people slaying out of the encirclement of those skeletal warriors in front of them will definitely feel stunned.

The two people, the one on the left with black hair and a pair of black pupils, are typical characteristics of the Chenas. It's just that his complexion is very pale, it seems that he hasn't seen the sun for a long time, but the strong life in his body contrasts with the environment of the sighing forest. Maybe this is the way he can be The reason for the freedom of action in the current environment.

This person is naturally the soulcaller of one of the thirteen coffins of the Deadthorn.

Before, he was responsible for disrupting the influence Reck exerted on the Forest of Sighs, thus restricting those bone demons and bone warriors from being involved in the battlefield formed by Sean, the Dark Realm Death Knight, and the Death Sword. Although there is no way to achieve complete control, and the disturbance was discovered by Lake as soon as the interference appeared, and was almost countered, in any case, the talent and strength of the Soulcaller in this aspect of undead magic is indeed extremely astonishing.

The person who followed the Soulcaller was a woman in a golden robe.

This woman has an amazing figure-she is so burly and sturdy that the golden robe looks very tight when worn on her. Her appearance is very ordinary. Not to mention that it was compared with Cecilia, Angel, and others. Even Christina was completely incomparable, but her facial features showed a masculine aura that only men could see.

This woman who looks young and should not be more than thirty years old, carries a chopping knife in her right hand, and the scale of the knife is also out-of-specification work. Judging by the aura exuding from this woman and the specifications of the sword in her hand. I'm afraid she can split a heavily armed soldier holding a heavy shield in half with a single knife.

This woman is a golden robe executive officer from the Peace Council.

A gold-robed executive officer of the Peace Council appears together with a member of the Thirteen Deaththorn Coffins. This picture is indeed very capable of destroying the three views of others.

Even Christina's face became a little unnatural.

"Atana!" Christina shouted coldly, "I remember your duty is to solve the soulcaller, right?"

"The situation has changed." Atana shrugged and said indifferently. Just as Sean had expected this woman's sturdy appearance. Her voice also appeared very hoarse and deep, "Continuing to fight will not have any effect on the current situation, so I decided to temporarily truce."

Kristina still stared at the middle-aged woman named Atana coldly, even showing a little murderous intent.

Feeling all this, Xiao En sighed slightly in his heart.

He knew from a long time ago that Christina's temperament was so straight that she could barely rub the sand in her eyes. For her, everyone in this world is either black. Either it is white, and there will be no gray areas or buffer areas at all. At the beginning, Sean used Deadthorn's intelligence several times to lure the Peace Council into assisting. In fact, Sean used a more clever roundabout way to solve it, which made Christina acceptable.

But precisely because of this, when Sean was unable to use this deceit and circuitous method to deceive Kristina in the battle of destiny, and then had to confront Kristina head-on, Kristina Will be so disappointed. However, this kind of behavior is similar to the way of trading, if any member of the Peace Council except Christina comes over, they will choose to conclude a deal with Sean in exchange for a win-win situation.

It's like now.

The golden-robed executive named Atana, when she found that continuing to fight with the Soulcaller could not make the situation better, she chose to reach a truce with the other party. But if Christina is playing against the Soulcaller, I am afraid she will not stop at all, but must distinguish between the winner and the loser-just like her simple worldview perception, it is not black. It's just white.

"This is not the time to quarrel." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "The opening of the door of the bones and the influx of a lot of death has caused a fundamental change in the forest of sighs. This place is almost assimilated into the world of bones. We Staying any longer will be of no benefit to us.... Moreover, it will not be long before we face a nirvana death knight whose strength almost reaches the realm of a super power."

Hearing Sean's words, except for Cecilia, Christina, and the Evoker, the faces of everyone else looked very difficult to look. However, Atana's expression was still normal. It was obvious that she had heard about this from the Soul Evoker, and this was the reason why she agreed to a truce with the Soul Evoker. Although her strength is the realm of the upper sanctuary, but in a place full of death like the sigh of the forest, Atana's class is obviously a melee type, facing the soulcaller, who is also a mage or a master of undead magic. A strong sanctuary can never ask for any benefit.

Moreover, the super-powerful Nirvana Death Cavalry is powerful enough to beat the audience. Except for the three of Mingbei, Kozilek, and Rena, they can also fight with him and retreat. No one is there. The opponent of that nirvana death knight. Although this nirvana death knight was not born so quickly, if they don't leave now, I'm afraid it won't be so easy if they want to leave here again.

Kristina glanced at Sean. After seeing Sean's solemn expression, she finally closed her eyes somewhat unwillingly, and when she opened her eyes again, she was already calm again.

"Atana, we'll talk about you when we leave here." Christina said coldly.

"Whatever." Although Atana's strength is not as good as Christina, her face is very calm. In addition to her unique indifferent disposition as an outlandish barbarian, to a large extent it is probably also because there are also people behind Atana, "Even if other peace messengers are here, they will do the same as me. Choice."

Sean was slightly surprised, he did not expect Christina to be the messenger of peace at this time. But Sean was even more surprised. But it is still another piece of information hidden in Atana's words: it seems that the Peace Council is no longer dominated by pure black and white fanatics. It seems that factions that advocate the exchange of interests on the premise that the big goal remains unchanged have also been born in this lunatic organization.

"Your Excellency Void, in this situation, I think we need to cooperate." The Soulcaller looked at Xiao En, and then suddenly said, "Of course, for today's matter, we can make a certain degree of compensation. "

"Sean!" Christina suddenly turned her head. Looking at Sean.

Facing Christina almost turned into a real killing intent. Rena and Kozilek also looked at them coldly. In response to this, Sean could only sigh helplessly: "Tina, you also know what the dead world means. Once that nirvana death knight is born, all the people present except Mingbei, Rena and Kozilek Besides, none of us can leave alive. Maybe your Peace Council and I cooperate, we can make a * way to leave together, but the deadly thorny way of life is eliminated. Do you think they will let us smoothly break a  way? ... If so Let's play a game here, and if we solve the death thorn before leaving. You also know what this means."

Christina still has an angry look on her face, but she also knows that Sean is telling the truth.

Whether she is willing to accept it or not, the truth is that if they don't cooperate with Deaththorn, no one in the room can leave smoothly. And if there are any more casualties, it will only add more material to the forest of sighs. Even if they can really leave here, the end result will undoubtedly be to add more threats in the future-these materials can be used. Not a one-time consumable, but a hostile force that prevents them from closing the door of bones.

"Limited to the sigh forest." Kristina took a deep breath, "After leaving the sigh forest, I will continue to hunt you down."

"By your words, it's not enough, little girl." Mingbei said coldly, "I've already said, give you another twenty years, you will have the strength to challenge me today."

Xiao En glanced at Mingbei and curled his lips, but he didn't agree with Mingbei's words at all. Maybe it would take twenty years to change someone else, but for Christina, who is just like opening a plug-in, it will definitely not take twenty years. After all, after the legend, if you want to improve the realm of strength, it is no longer the accumulation of quantity, but purely relying on the comprehension, analysis, utilization, and control of the law.

Xiao En had already experienced the power of the Mingbei, but the power of the bloodline in his body is estimated to be the level of the legendary bloodline, which is significantly different from that of Christina's bloodline. At most ten years, Christina will be able to step into the pinnacle of the legend. As for the time to hit the super strong, it is hard to say, but it is impossible to become a super strong within ten years if you want to come to Mingbei.

"I don't want to bother about the matter between you, but I want to ask, how do you count your assassination against me?" Xiao En asked in a deep voice, "Since we are going to cooperate with the three parties, the time is still right now. It's more abundant, so we might as well make it clear now."

"Before the gate of the bones is closed, we will not trouble you." Mingbei said coldly. He has already heard about the world of bones from the soulcaller, so he also knows the critical situation right now. To the extent, the opening is simple and neat, "and in the meantime, it will provide all the conveniences you need."

"Not enough." Sean shook his head.

Mingbei's face was slightly cold, and his eyes showed a bit of fierceness.

"Before this time the Bone Plane invasion is fully resolved, Deaththorn is not allowed to pull the hind legs of the Void Principality behind my back, and must help me solve all the troubles that are not conducive to me." Sean said in a deep voice, not at all. I don't care about the cold killing intent of Mingbei, anyway, the strongest people on the scene are Kozilek and Rena on his side. Others can't see enough, "It's not just the closing of the door of bones."

The closing of the door of the bones and the complete settlement of the invasion of the bone plane are two conceptual matters.

If the former is going all out in the whole continent, it will do its best. It is likely to be resolved within one or two years, but the latter includes the sweeping of the sigh forest, the purification of the black soil, etc., and it will not be resolved within a few years. So if Sean can temporarily resolve the contradiction between Deadthorn and Deaththorn based on this, it will naturally be beneficial to Sean without any harm. Of course he knows that Deadthorn will definitely want to take this time. To restore the strength lost in this battle. But what about Sean?

Once let him complete the void empire plan. Then the number of strong men under Xiao En's command is definitely only a lot more. When Deadthorn wants to trouble Shaun, he must weigh the balance of combat power between them. What's more, Sean still has a bigger trump card waiting-when Jibril and other top world-class powerhouses have completely withdrawn from the Marvel Continent, and Lake and his bone gate are also solved, Alexis Si is probably the most well-deserved strongest man in this world.

After all, the essence of Alexis is a horrible existence of order twentieth.

In the case of absolute advantage. Sean naturally likes to expand the fruits of his victory-especially. The negotiations between Sean and Mingbei now do not seem to have any traps. Instead, Sean is afraid of the powerful force of Deaththorn and has chosen a more conservative strategy.

"Agree." Sure enough, as Sean expected, Mingbei had considered it a little, and after consulting with the Soulcaller, he nodded in agreement.

This point made Xiao En a little surprised: The Soul Evoker is probably the successor of one of the powerful existences in the Six Death Monuments. This point, I am afraid that it has already been agreed and recognized in the six death steles. Otherwise, it is impossible for Mingbei to communicate with the people of the thirteen coffins of Deaththorns-at least, Mingbei is the second strongest among the six death steles. He didn't communicate with the bone stele, the dark stele, or even the Dark Realm Death Knight.

Next, the soul caller signed the soul contract with Cecilia in the name of Deadthorn. Sean would not be so stupid to believe in Deadthorn's verbal promise.

"Then, there is one more question." After the contract was signed, Sean suddenly said.

"What's the problem." Mingbei said impatiently, "You're wasting a little bit of time."

"I didn't waste anything at all." Xiao En replied coldly, "It is you who have to consider and hesitate, and it has nothing to do with me. So if your answer is faster, then the time will naturally be saved." After all, Shaun also stopped paying attention to the dead thorns, but turned his head to look at Christina, and said, "The next question is about me and your peace council.... I need your peace council to give the same. My promise, like Deaththorn, is to ensure that before the bone invasion is resolved, the Peace Council must also ensure that no one will stab me in the back."

Kristina looked at Sean with a cold expression.

It's not the first day that she knows Sean, so she knows that Sean knows the mode of operation of the Peace Council very well. And since Sean knows the mode of operation of the Peace Council, even if Sean does not say anything, the Peace Council will never allow anyone to stir up trouble on the southern continent at this time. Everything must be done to solve the bone plane invasion. After the big event.

But now, since Sean made the matter public, Christina knew that Sean was definitely plotting something behind her back.

It's a pity that because of lack of intelligence, even if Kristina knows Sean's little moves, she can't guess what Sean wants to do.

Only Cecilia realized it at this moment.

In order to increase the chances of winning the Void Empire plan, Shaun not only dragged Deaththorn into the water and tied it to his chariot, but this was the rhythm of dragging the Peace Council into the water as well!

If Sean's plan is successful, then the two natural rivals of the Peace Council and Deaththorn, who are like natural enemies, will work together for the growth of the Void Principality into an empire, even if they learn about the conspiracy afterwards. You must pinch your nose to admit it.

Sean, this is going to turn conspiracy into arrogance into rhythm!

Chapter 519: . Turbulent situation (1)

The civil war of the Millennium Covenant Empire has reached a critical moment.

Accompanied by the layout of the man sitting on the pure white throne, the huge chess game with the entire millennium covenant empire as the chessboard has finally reached the time for a single decision.

In fact, if it hadn't been for some indirect interference caused by Sean, which caused the paralysis of the Star Tower and has not been completely restored, this time under the arrangement of the bloodiest and domineering emperor in the history of the millennium covenant empire, it would have long been arranged. It has been completely resolved, and it still needs to be shot by the former veteran Duke Purhus Zoranton himself.

But just as everything has advantages and disadvantages.

The paralysis of the Star Tower certainly gave the rebels a little breathing time, and even gained a greater strategic depth, but for a time it suppressed the strength of the empire's headquarters. However, because of this accident, the emperor learned more about the rebellion against the party. Even some of the double agents who had hidden deep before and the neutral aristocrats who had secretly turned to the old-school aristocracy were all uprooted. rise.

Except for the fact that the northern part of the empire was unable to carry out a thorough bloodbath because of the need to guard against the Emilia empire, the eastern, western and central parts of the empire were directly subjected to the most fundamental bloodbath with the emperor's iron-blooded means. Purification is more overbearing and  than the bad blood plan that the Lane Kingdom secretly executed at the beginning-at least the Lane Kingdom knows how to find an excuse to cover it up. The Millennium Covenant Empire can't even bother to find a fig leaf.

Basically, as long as you are suspected of being treason, no matter how large or small the actual number of participants is, the unified law will obliterate them. Many lurking nobles discovered that the new emperor was so cruel, and left their family overnight, fearing that they would be dragged down by their private deception, but they did not expect even these traitors to leave. Their family was still completely wiped out by the new emperor's order.

Over the past year, hundreds of noble families have been expelled from the eastern and western borders of the empire, and the territories have naturally been completely confiscated.

Although this policy did allow more nobles to flee to the south and join the camp of the rebels. But similarly, it also allowed unprecedented concentration of the power and imperial power of the Millennium Covenant Empire. If it can survive the turbulence of the years after the suppression of the rebellion. The entire millennium covenant empire will usher in an extremely terrifying period of rapid development, and it is even possible that within five years, the overall strength of the empire will once again rank among the top seven empires of the Marvel Continent.

You must know that for a behemoth like the Seven Empires, due to various reasons, the overall strength of the empire has fallen into a bottleneck, and it is simply unable to move forward. Can continue to maintain the empire situation that has formed the tacit understanding and rules of all parties. Even preventing the imperial power from weakening and being surpassed by other kingdoms is already a very difficult thing.

Of course, the solution to be solved is not without, but in fact it is not an easy task to operate.

At least the emperors of the other six empires do not have the same courage as the new emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire. They do not hesitate to wipe out the old interest groups and cancer within the empire on the premise of depleting the power of the empire, so that the entire Millennium Covenant empire can be restored. Revitalize more vigorously and vigorously, once again stepping into the development momentum of high-speed operation.

Now. The situation of the entire empire has been regained control by it, and a complete victory is already within reach.

Whenever I think of such an arbitrary decision, it can keep the entire millennium covenant empire in a leading position for hundreds of years. His feats are not even inferior to the founding emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire, and the corners of Budris's mouth will be slightly raised. As for the consequences of the failure of this decision, it is impossible to appear in Budris's life dictionary, at least he does not think he will fail.

Budris Dern is the birth brother of Angel Hillris' direct bloodline and the same father and mother. He is also the new emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire who has boarded the pure white throne after the royal murders. His arrogance, tyranny, and bloodliness are not only widely circulated in the Millennium Covenant Empire, but also heard in the southern part of the entire miracle continent, and even the slightly distant areas have a certain degree of understanding of it. .

After the  tyrant ascended the throne, the Emilia Empire once adjusted the empire's focus from the outland north to the south, in order to prevent the emperor from suddenly going crazy and launching a war on the Emilia Empire-the two major Although the empire is separated by several principalities and small countries, in fact, everyone knows that these small countries are not even a buffer zone. It is not an exaggeration to say that the two empires live next to each other.

It was only after the subsequent civil strife broke out in the Millennium Covenant Empire that the Emilia Empire returned its focus to the outland-it was not that the Emilia Empire did not want to take advantage of the fire, it was really powerless. Because the military system in the northern part of the Millennium Covenant Empire has remained intact, it still has the power to fight against the Emilia Empire. If the Emilia Empire wants to take advantage of the fire, it cannot quickly resolve the northern military power of the Millennium Covenant Empire. So once the elves, dwarves and orcs in the outland launch an attack, the Emilia Empire will suffer heavy losses.

So after weighing the two phases, the Emilia Empire still gave up the idea of taking advantage of the fire.

But what few outsiders know is that all of this is actually under Budris's control, or that he even hopes that the Emilia Empire will take advantage of this.

Budris sits on a white high-backed chair, with his left elbow resting on the armrest of the chair, his * together and lightly touching his temple, with a faint smile on his face looking at the pure white holy table. Many generals on both sides are arguing fiercely. He knew that the civil turmoil was about to end soon, and even the poisonous snake he had been scrupulous about-Marquis of the Demon Snake, Antas, would soon be completely resolved.

Although the empire's intelligence services were in a long period of low when they lost Diels, after Budris appointed a new intelligence minister, this terrifying agency was once again operating efficiently, and in this case it played a very important role in the turmoil of the empire. Among them, it included the news that the Marquis of the Devil Snake Antas had contacted the Insurgent Party and secretly funded the Insurgent Party, which he had already thoroughly grasped long ago, but Budris believed that this poisonous snake should be resolved under the circumstances at the time. Need to pay a great price, so he used pacifying methods to stabilize the poisonous snake, and even expressed his trust in Antas in many public occasions.

But as the plan to rectify the empire came to an end, Budris finally made up his mind to eradicate the poisonous snake.

at this time. The quarrel between the powerful aristocrats and the empire's powerful soldiers on both sides of the pure white holy table is nothing more than the final location of the decisive battle.

In the entire southern battlefield of the empire, although Budris gave Duke Purhus Zoranton a high degree of autonomy, he actually started a double guarantee arrangement from the very beginning. If the progress of Purhus Zoranton does not go well, then Budris will let the dark curtain army that belonged directly to him to carry out follow-up actions. Completely end this protracted civil strife.

So at the moment. In this pure white military chamber, which has always been chosen to determine the highest military operations, the dispute between the two sides lies in whether to use the Dark Curtain Legion.

Advocating the immediate deployment of the dark curtain army is the real power generals of the Imperial Army. They are basically long-established veteran fighters. Whether it is strategy, tactics, or logistics and many other conventional military issues, they all have their own set of codes of conduct, but the only thing they have in common is that these people believe in the principle of the speed of soldiers. Since the deployment of the Dark Veil Legion can shorten the battle to within one month, in order to avoid the paralysis of the Star Tower last time, the battle was delayed. So there is nothing wrong with a quick fight now.

and the party holding the opposition. It was a new nobleman who became edicted after Budris ascended the throne. They may be rebellious, or lonely, or they may have various other unknown ambitions, but without exception, they are truly powerful figures, so for them, keep their cards The advantage of the hand is far greater than turning over the hole cards. Victory is already at your fingertips anyway, even for a month or two at night.

The dispute between the two sides is naturally not a dispute of volition, but a dispute with real reason and evidence. Unfortunately, because neither side of the argument is mediocre, so no one can convince anyone. Only then did the dispute become noisy.

However, besides the man on the pure white throne, there was one person present who did not speak.

This is a middle-aged man who is about forty years old. He doesn't have any breath of the strong, but he looks calm like a calm lake. But that's it, this middle-aged man gives people a deep and strange feeling like a deep abyss. Even if he just sits here quietly, it still makes people unable to ignore the existence of this middle-aged man.

This person is Popocas Hantinier, the Duke of East Deen of the Millennium Covenant Empire, and the fourth person among the ten generals.

Millennium Covenant Empire, there are a total of four Dukes of Syden, prefixed with East, South, West, and North respectively.

Dern is the surname of the royal family of the millennium covenant empire. The four duchies divided by this surname are naturally resource-rich and fertile territories. Therefore, in the Millennium Covenant Empire, the dukes of the territories, even the dukes of real power and strength, are not a big deal. It is these four Dukes of Syden that countless nobles compete to climb the peak. Therefore, in the Millennium Covenant Empire, "Duke of Deen" also has other names such as "barrier", "guardian" and so on.

Like one of the ten generals, Popocus Hantinier is the duke of East Deen. His territory is located in a vast and rich land in the eastern part of the empire. This land is particularly famous for its fertile land, so it is particularly rich in excellent military horses. Almost two-thirds of the horses used by cavalry and knights in the entire millennium covenant empire were produced by East Deen.

Now, the four Duke of Dern of the Millennium Covenant Empire have been named two of them, namely East Dern and North Dern.

The two dukes have their own inherent missions. Any noble who accepts the Eastern Dean as a fief must be responsible for resisting a gorge death ground next to the black soil. When the death waves of the Millennium Covenant Empire erupt, the beasts in this gorge death ground will follow them to initiate a war of war riots. If it were allowed to join the dead tide army of the black soil and the forest of sighs, it would definitely be a huge disaster for the millennium covenant empire.

So this is also the reason why the last three dead tides that erupted in the Black Earth Land and the Forest of Sighs were all handled by the Duke of Puhuus.

If there is no accident, probably after this rebellion is suppressed, Puhuos Zoranton will take over as the Duke of Nanden and become the Duke of Nanden. At that time, if the next heir to the Zoanton family can pass a series of related tests, he can continue to succeed the Duke of Nanden. Otherwise, he would have to move out of Nandeen, and the royal family would reassign a territory.

As for the Duke of Nordden, he is responsible for defending against the threat of the Emilia Empire.

The only thing that hasn't come out yet is the Siden Neck, which has been vacant for a hundred years.

"Duke of East Deen, what do you think of this matter?" Budris asked slowly.

Accompanied by Budris's tyrant's opening. The debate in the Pure White Army Chamber soon stopped. In an instant, the entire military conference hall fell into silence, as if some powerful magician had cast a silent enchantment here. Whether it is the real power generals or those powerful nobles, everyone's eyes are focused on the Duke of East End, Popocus Hantinel.

"I believe in the abilities of the Duke of Nordden and Lord Puhugh." Popocas said lightly.

In just one sentence, the Duke of East Deen's position has been made clear: he is more inclined to hide the Legion of the Dark Veil.

Although not using the Dark Curtain Legion, the battle will be delayed for two more months. But Budris also seemed noncommittal. After all. Now that the rebel party in the empire's internal rebellion has been exhausted, he can still wait for two months, and he can just take advantage of these two months to arrange the next series of related matters related to the resumption of the territory to ensure that there will be no civil unrest. After being completely suppressed, a vacuum layer appeared on the power structure within the empire.

But just at this moment, an aura of soaring to the sky suddenly emerged.

Even in the military hall, this space also produced a sense of shock for a moment, as if a strong death spirit was permeating. But it was just a blink of an eye. This lifelessness has disappeared without a trace, as if the situation just now was just an illusion.

But the faces of countless people present. They all look very ugly.

This fully shows that everything just now is not an illusion!

Budris turned his head slightly, and saw a blue-haired man wearing a heavy armor that was obviously not of this era standing beside his chair. Although there was a white cloth covering his eyes, this blue-haired man was at this moment. The aura exuding from the man looked exceptionally cold and terrifying, and the exudation of this aura was only the aura that he vented subconsciously, not from whom he deliberately aimed at.

This is a super strong!

"Augustus, what's the matter?" Budris asked in a deep voice.

He knew that his personal guard would not show up easily, so in fact, there were not many people who knew that Augustus existed. Popocas could be counted as one, and only his confidants knew about the others. The existence of Augustus. So when Augustus appeared in front of everyone so suddenly, Budris felt extremely surprised in his heart. This must be a sign of something big.

"The door to the foreign land has been opened." Augustus's voice appeared very low, "Judging from the aura just now, it should be the door of the bones.... Right there, sighing over the forest. And since just now, it has been. The fighting aura belonging to the strong has been spreading, and there should be at least eight legends or more strong in the fight, and four of them are even super strong."

Hearing these words, the entire pure white army hall was exploded with a "boom" in an instant.

Four super powers went deep into the empire to start a confrontation, but they did not receive any news! You must know that only the battle of the legendary powerhouses may destroy a city with a population of 100,000. The battle of this super powerhouse can easily turn hundreds of miles into a dead place, even though the battle area is located Sigh over the forest, but this is also the territory of the empire after all!

"Let the Dark Curtain Legion attack, and the Shadow Forces are on standby!" Popocas immediately stopped hesitating and stood up and said, "No matter what the cause, but since the door of the bones was opened on the forest of sighs, we are the first to bear the brunt. Thousand-year alliance empire.... If we want to reorganize our armaments to deal with the corpses of bones, we must end the civil strife in the shortest time.... In addition, whenever we sigh for something unusual in the forest, the Death Valley canyon The wave of monsters on the side should not be too far away."

Budris's face looked very ugly.

Two successive battles to suppress the rebels, seeing the most critical ending stage, but always being disrupted by sudden events, this is undoubtedly very depressing and irritating. Especially serious is the impact and impact on military sentiment and morale, so Budris has no choice but to agree with Popocas at this moment, no matter what the consideration is.

"Duke of East Deen, you will be responsible for this matter." Budris nodded slowly and said in a deep voice, "I will immediately dispatch a force to sigh the forest to investigate, and at the same time mobilize the Imperial Army to do a good job. All preparations for the war... Augustus, I would like to trouble you to go and see what's going on."

"Follow your orders, my king." Augustus said in a deep voice, and as he bowed and saluted, his figure quickly faded in front of everyone until he disappeared.

Chapter 520: . Turbulent situation (two)

It is not just the millennium covenant empire that feels the shock of space.

Almost the entire Southern Continent can feel an extremely obvious sense of spatial shock, as if a door that has been sealed by dust was suddenly opened with brute force, and everyone behind this door was shocked. .

The Millennium Covenant Empire is only the first to feel such obvious changes because it is the closest to the Forest of Sighs.

is followed by the Wild Land, Void Duchy, the Kingdom of Line, the Kingdom of Fascism and other surrounding countries. Although those small principalities and kingdoms can also feel this sudden shock, but because the country lacks strong enough township powers, they can't understand what this spatial shock means, after all, the level of power gap is too large. NS.

Even in the Kingdom of Lane, it is only Elizabeth who can truly understand the meaning of this spatial shock.

It's just that the opening of the door of the bones at this moment is not a good thing for the Kingdom of Lane, which is now in a precarious state. It's just a sigh of the extremely dangerous places of the forest, the land of the black soil, and the dead place of the gorge. They are not too far away from the Kingdom of Lion, especially from Asuna's father, the holy wall of the Wall of Lion. Roald The Fortress of St. Drones is the closest to it.

There are two natural barriers in the land of black soil, one is the gorge and the other is the forest of sighs.

The reason for the formation of the canyon's dead land has not been studied, but here is the largest collection of beasts in the entire southern continent. Almost all the species that can be seen in the entire southern continent can be found here, and up to the eighth and ninth level of the beasts. It is a rare sight in the world that all the monsters of the first and second levels can gather together. It's just that this scene is not too beautiful for the Millennium Covenant Empire, because whenever the sigh of the forest's death wave erupts. The beasts in the canyon dead will also follow the riot.

Therefore, the significance of Dongde Enling's existence is to block the wave of monsters in the canyon's death land and prevent the confluence of the wave of monsters and the wave of death. Although the convergence of the two will also trigger battles, the battlefield is in the hinterland of the entire millennium covenant empire. As a result, it is still the Millennium Covenant Empire that has suffered heavy losses. to this end. The Duke of East Deen, who is seated by Popocas, is naturally responsible for blocking the tide of Warcraft. As for the threat from the death wave, the Duke of Puhuus has been responsible for the last few times.

This is also the strongest proof that Puhughes is about to become the Duke of Nandern. In fact, if it weren't for the thought that the Duke of Puhughes is too old now, and that his successor is still unable to be chosen, the empire will not be able to see the ability of the successor, so the title of Duke of Nandern has never been. Edict. It's just that although Duke Puhugh did not get this title. But in fact the military power in the southern part of the empire is also under its jurisdiction.

can be regarded as nameless and real.

Previously, Popocas wanted to give Puhugh the great credit for putting down the rebel party. But now with the opening of the door of bones, the undead army from the plane of bones is about to appear, he can no longer be so calm, he must end the civil strife as soon as possible, and then the Millennium Covenant Empire can meet the coming danger in a better state. . In fact, after discovering the news of the invasion of the Undead Army, to the people in the White Army Assembly Hall at that time, they were very clear. This is not only a huge threat, but also a huge opportunity.

Just step over. Then the separation of people's minds and military minds caused by the attrition of the civil war will inevitably be able to quickly recover in a short period of time, allowing the entire millennium covenant empire to shorten the time for rest and rejuvenation. This is undoubtedly a must for an empire that has experienced a decline in national strength caused by civil strife. Great opportunity. However, if this skeletal plane invasion event that followed immediately after the civil strife cannot be stopped, the fate of the Millennium Covenant Empire is naturally predictable.

Even if the country is not destroyed, I am afraid that it will no longer be able to keep the name of the empire.

So, as one of the ten generals in the empire, Popocas naturally couldn't sit still.

As the situation of the entire millennium covenant empire became more turbulent, the fluctuations in the Kingdom of Lane were also not light.

After Asuna learned from Elizabeth about the possible changes in the Forest of Sighs, she reported the matter to the council as soon as possible, and at the same time asked Vivian to go to the Fortress of St. Drones to find it. Own father. At this moment, there are certain things that for the current Kingdom of Lane, the pressure it has to face is not much less than that of the Millennium Covenant Empire, but even if the Millennium Covenant Empire fails, it has accumulated with its heritage for so many years, even if it regresses into a kingdom. Definitely in the ranks of super-class kingdoms.

And there is Budris who is ambitious, and even wants to make his reigning feats surpass the founding emperor of the millennium covenant empire, even if he is downgraded to a kingdom, he can definitely return to the ranks of the seven empires.

But Lane Kingdom is different.

This kingdom is already on the verge of subjugation in the eyes of those with a heart.

Even if the country will not be subjugated, the split may be sooner or later. And the most important point is the death of the old king Ingus, which is still a huge mystery to this day. Although the three successors have already begun investigating the matter, the four princesses Vulcis who want to make the fastest progress should be the fourth princess, after all, among her supporters is the Marquis of Floris who controls all the intelligence of the entire kingdom.

In the Royal Rose Manor on the outskirts of Royal Capital of Ryan, Asuna, Elizabeth, Marquis of Floris, Princess Frches and others all gathered in a reception room. This is different from the reception room where Sean was hosted before. The scale of this reception room is much smaller, and the decoration looks simpler and more concise, especially the decoration in many places can show some casual style. , I think this should be a relatively private meeting room.

"Grand Duke Sean, now in the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire?" Asuna frowned and asked the Marquis of Floris next to her.

"Yes, Grand Duke Asuna." Marquis Floris nodded. "Although there was an agreement with Grand Duke Shaun in the Void Realm, there are still some intelligence sharing and communication exchanges, so for Xiao We all know some of Duke En's whereabouts.... This time, Duke Sean did not conceal his whereabouts. Therefore, based on our intelligence collection and analysis, it is inferred that Duke Sean should have passed through the wild land at this time. The Millennium Covenant Zone."

Asuna's brows did not stretch because of this. Instead, she looked even more sad and annoyed: "Sean had communicated with me in private before. He was worried about Cecilia's safety, so he must rush back to the void as soon as possible. The Principality, depending on the situation, Cecilia should have entered the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire because of something.... So, this time the opening of the door of bones, I am afraid that Sean and the others can't get rid of it?"

"From the results of the analysis of the intelligence collection of all aspects. It should be impossible to get rid of the relationship." Elizabeth said. "Before, William sent troops to the wild land and intercepted a caravan that was preparing to pass through the Millennium Covenant Zone. A battle broke out between the two sides. Although it was not particularly fierce, it lasted a long time. This was obviously controlled by William deliberately. As a result, otherwise, with the combat power of the Thunder Lion and the Cecilia Guards, plus William's command, I'm afraid the battle would have ended long ago."

Speaking of which. The Marquis of Floris also nodded secretly.

After all, the title of ten generals is too loud.

"I guess that William's deliberate extension of the war time must be related to Cecilia and others, and it may even be because Cecilia was in danger or trouble at the time. It's just that this kind of danger and trouble is not in William. The area that can be solved, so he should be thinking about the solution at that time." Elizabeth paused for a while and continued, "It's just later. From the action of William led the army back to the gathering point of the wild tribe. Look, it should have reached a unified opinion with Sean. In other words, Sean will go to Cecilia in person.... This is also consistent with the time when Sean left the capital."

"Then the conclusion is certain now?" Princess Frches asked.

"Although there is no guarantee of 100%, but eight or nine will not leave ten." Marquis Floris nodded, "The opening of this door of bones is definitely related to Grand Duke Sean.... But although the first thing that bears the brunt is the Millennium Covenant Empire, but The St. Drones Fortress was originally established to resist the Millennium Covenant Empire that might attack our country. Another fundamental reason for its establishment was to prevent the undead army from flowing over from the Black Earth."

The words of the Marquis of Flores have already made clear the meaning.

The opening of the bone gate this time is naturally a great threat to the Millennium Covenant Empire, but the same is not without any threat to the Lane Kingdom.

In the history of several death wave outbreaks, St. Drones Fortress has not encountered the death wave attack, but the general direction of the death wave attack is the millennium covenant empire. However, the invasion of the undead army from the different planes is definitely not the same as the death wave in nature or effect. So, can the "Leyne Left Portal", which has been without war for decades, be able to resist it?

And if you can't resist the attack of the undead army, after breaking through this "left portal", at least one third of the entire southwest of the Ryan Kingdom will be completely fallen in less than three days. Because just behind this huge fortress, it was the landform of the Kingdom of Line that was almost a Pingchuan—no natural dangers, no important land, and no stronghold and fortress that could be established as a second line of defense.

"Just received the news, Prince Adams and his Oath Legion have set off." Marquis Floris whispered, "Duke Devon and his Legion are also ready to go. It's just that the council is still undecided about it. Let Duke Devon also dispatch to support Duke Roald, or let him go north temporarily to take over the post of Prince Adams, to guard against the Kingdom of Hales and the surrounding enemies who are ready to move."

"At this time, the Peace Council will definitely intervene, even if it is the Kingdom of Hales or the other wolves in the surrounding area, it will never take action at this time." Princess Frches snorted coldly, and her little face was also revealed. With a bit of coercion and suffocation, "The guys in the council are nothing more than giving this huge credit to my brother. After all, we have a 'score' limit now, and my brother's current ranking is not good enough. In the last place."

Only three people participated in the competition for the throne of King Ryan, namely, the first prince Adams, the third prince Arlan, and the fourth princess Frcis.

But unlike Arlan, who is good at diplomacy, and Vrches, who is close to the people, Adams is an out-and-out martial artist. Therefore, there is hardly any suspense. In the first scoring data announcement in this period of time, Adams is naturally the bottom of the identity, and is five hundred points away from the second-ranked Princess Fulhis. And Arlan, who is temporarily ranked first, is only 25 points ahead of Vulhis.

At the moment, the council asked Adams to lead his oath legion out, making it clear that the prince was going to collect points.

In fact, members of the Military and Political Council have always been more optimistic about Adams as a well-known secret.

The reason is simple. The prince is not good at internal affairs, so the military and political council will definitely have the final say on the policy of governing the country at that time. It is impossible for people to have no selfishness. No matter how saints are, they will definitely take care of themselves. Children and grandchildren. Therefore, in some general directions, the military and political councils will not make mistakes, but in some small details, they will naturally make some irrelevant layouts.

is like now.

The Oath Legion can also be regarded as the undead army, let them fight with the undead army, naturally there is no need to worry about them being "assimilated". In the same way, the characteristics of never dying, exhaustion, and no need for logistics also allow them to fight extremely long-lasting battles.

On top of these various advantages, it is natural for Adams to lead the army to attack, and no one can refute it.

"Princess Frches, I think in the current situation, you'd better return to the Principality of Garrod with me." Suddenly, Asuna said, "The current situation in the royal capital has become more and more chaotic. I heard that both His Royal Highness Adams and His Highness Arlan also encountered assassinations before, but the news was suppressed.... At that time, those assassinations were hidden deeper in the recent period, and I was worried that they would have any bigger actions. , And it's for you."

Princess Fulhis was taken aback for a moment, then turned her head to look at the Marquis of Flores, but saw that the Marquis of Flores nodded, indicating that she agreed with Asuna's words.

Seeing this scene, Princess Frches looked a little ugly: "Can you...let me think about it? I will give you an answer before dinner."

"Okay." Asuna nodded.

She is now completely tied to the same chariot as Princess Fulsis. Naturally, she doesn't want to see any problems with Princess Fulsis.

.....

As the space turbulence spreads wider and wider, a black cavalry corps is slowly moving south.