

Lord of War Vol 3-61

Chapter 61: . Surprisingly hidden clues

After a sword penetrated the opponent's throat, Xiao En immediately withdrew, and did not continue to stand in front of the opponent.

He knew very well that the fighters were a group of true lunatics, and their counterattacks before their deaths were extremely shocking, so Sean didn't want to be killed by the opponent's counterattacks.

Seeing Sean's sword penetrate his throat and immediately retreat, the fighter also knew exactly where he was defeated. He has imagined many situations, but he has overlooked the fact that the opponent may know himself very well. Of course, he did not expect that the opponent's hidden weapon actually has the power of rules, because he has just begun to get in touch with the rules. The degree of power is naturally impossible to compare with the other party.

He lost this battle.

And the price is his life.

At the moment when he saw the opponent's bodyguard fell to the ground, Xiao En still did not relax his mind, he directed Gulu to another fatal attack on his head. At this point, after making sure that the other party could not die anymore, Xiao En walked towards the room guarded by the short man.

This is a large room.

According to Sean's conservative estimate, it should be at least about 100 square meters. Although the decoration style is simple at first glance, if you delve into the value of materials and decorations, you will be full of luxury everywhere. Especially in the middle of the room, the big bed with a length of three meters wide is actually covered with a complete silverback bear fur. This fur alone is probably equivalent to the value of all the decorations in the entire room.

At this time, a middle-aged man sat on this big bed.

He leaned back against the bed pillow, bent his left leg, and placed his left hand on his left knee casually, looking at the uninvited guest Shaun with a calm expression on his face. There was not the slightest anxiety or fear on his face, only a kind of peace of looking directly at death, as if he had already known his fate, so he didn't bother to do any struggle.

This person is the goal of Sean's trip.

Underground black business. Robert.

Ryan has three recognized underground kings. They jointly control all the underground industries of the entire Kingdom of Ryan, including smuggling, gambling, gambling, and other business industries derived from this. But the scale is so large that it naturally needs some manpower to help take care of it. As a result, underground dealers like Robert were born. In this way, there will naturally be many different disputes and contradictions, some of which are private enmities, and some are conflicts of interest.

There are only three kinds of people who want to kill Robert.

Either he wants to swallow the secret route that Robert has mastered; or he has a private vengeance with Robert; or he wants to replace Robert's position.

But no matter what kind of person it is, Sean is not interested.

"You don't need to look for it, Weier is not here, she has already left." Robert said when he saw Sean looking around, "I have been in this business for almost 25 years. So I am very Know those so-called rules. The moment you showed up, I had let her go."

"Don't worry, I didn't mean to kill her." Sean shrugged, and walked straight towards Robert.

In Sean's eyes, the light from Robert's body has always been yellow. Unlike the person who fought with him before, the moment he realized that he was here to kill Robert, the light radiating from his body turned into a red that represented hostility. However, even with the neutral yellow light, Sean did not have the idea of keeping his hands, since he has decided to survive in this world, and there are still many unfulfilled promises. Then he must find ways to improve his survivability.

The fastest way is undoubtedly to gain a lot of proficiency points.

"Heh, that's good." Robert chuckled and relaxed completely, without even intending to make a symbolic struggle, "Let's make a deal."

"Not interested in."

"Don't be too busy to refuse." Robert seemed to have expected Sean's attitude a long time ago. Still speaking as if talking to an old friend, "I know who asked you to kill me. With the cruelty of that person, I'm afraid I will start to attack you soon."

Hearing Robert's words, Sean couldn't help but slow down.

"You should be very clear about the rules of our business. Some things obviously cannot be exposed. So the best solution is to silence." Robert shrugged, "I know too many secrets of the Black Hawk, but those secrets in the past. It's all small problems, but the secret that I learned recently is too important, so big that even if I marry Black Hawk's half-sister, he can't tolerate me."

Xiao En, who was supposed to see his lords with a sword, stopped subconsciously at this time.

Robert's wife is actually Black Hawk's half-sister?

This news is really beyond Sean's expectations.

Lane's three underground kings, Black Hawk is the bloodiest one, because he is not as concerned as Potter and the Marquis of Floris. At the beginning, in the game, the quest line that belonged to the Black Hawk in the area of the Kingdom of Lane was the most difficult to obtain. At least as far as Shaun knew, there was not a player who was active in Lane at that time who could start the underground mission of the Black Hawk. Because he doesn't need to complete a series of missions like Potter to directly open the underground mission contract, nor is he like the Marquis of Floris as long as the reputation value and friendship value of the Kingdom of Ryan can be opened to a certain level.

Intuitively tells Sean that the way that Black Hawk's underground mission is opened should be related to his sister, that is, Robert's wife.

"Sometimes, it's not a good thing that the cake is too big." Robert chuckled, "Therefore, naturally there will be betrayers.... Of course, to some extent, they will not admit their betrayers. Identity. If you are interested..."

Speaking of this, Robert casually tossed a gold coin to Sean.

Shaun reached out and caught the gold coin.

But when he opened his palm, he realized that it was not a gold coin, but a gold-plated coin. This is something that can only be used in some special entertainment venues, but recently, due to the promotion of some caring people in Lane, this kind of gold-plated coin can also be used as an equivalent gold coin in some places.

"This is the clue." Robert still looked indifferent, "If you can find it, then I can guarantee that your gains will be huge."

The sound of rapid footsteps suddenly sounded.

As soon as Sean heard this voice, he knew that someone had already arrived outside. He whispered in his heart that he was wasting too much time in such a place, but there was no pause in the movement in his hand. A stride rushed in front of Robert. With a light wave of the dead bone in his hand, he directly smashed Robert into the head, and the action was so swift and sharp as to surprise any professional assassin.

"damn it!"

Almost at the same time that Sean beheaded Robert with a sword, a roar rang out from outside the door. Then there was the sudden sound of breaking the wall. The bodyguard of the Luoshan Hall of the other party is actually a person who does not take the usual path. He did not enter from the main entrance, but broke into the wall directly, using the noise and dust caused by the broken wall to disperse the people in the room. attention.

It's just that, it's a pity that his past experience didn't make him profitable here, because his opponent is also a person who never plays cards unreasonably.

Sean didn't even think about it, and directly swayed a piece of sword energy against the wall.

The dark black sword aura that was as dark as ink spread over almost the entire room in an instant. Because Xiao En was unable to control this move, it naturally caused these sword auras to be completely irregular in the entire room. Although this will greatly reduce the threat and the power effect of the sword move for the strong, it will also cause a lot of trouble to the opponent because of the lack of trajectory of the sword aura. If it only serves to block the enemy, this is enough.

"Where to escape!" Facing the sword energy that was raging in the entire room, the bodyguard of the Luoshan Guild Hall let out a roar again, still rushing towards Xiao En like a bull regardless of it. I didn't care about the sword energy raging everywhere.

Shaun's eyes drew slightly.

The opponent is a pure defender!

Only the purest defender. I dare to ignore Xiao En's sword spirit in this way, otherwise, even a fighter like that short man would subconsciously protect the vital parts. At this moment, Sean naturally fully understands the security mechanism of the Luoshan Hall-their internal bodyguards must be two or three people, and one of them will inevitably be equipped with a defender. The role of this defender is Used to contain the enemy or delay time as much as possible.

In this way, there will inevitably be a person who is specifically responsible for capturing or even killing opponents.

The moment Sean, who was planning to break out of the window, rushed to the window. Suddenly stopped, he turned around and fought against the defender who was charging towards him-due to the disturbance of vision caused by the dust coming out of the wall, Sean could not see the other party's attire at first. Naturally, there is no way to deduce the other party's occupation. At this time, after the two sides fought against each other, Sean finally saw each other's professional system.

Armed shield warrior.

This is a profession that focuses on physical defense. It is basically based on parry, block, high mobility and dexterity.

Especially the armed shield warrior in front of me. The characteristics of this profession have been brought into full play. He has almost no defensive equipment that will increase the load. He only wears an elbow shield on the part of both hands and arms. This is a kind of large buckler. A defensive shield, as long as your hands are closed, you can form a round shield that can defend the entire surface.

Shaun's sword was blocked by the round shield with his arms folded.

It's just that this defense ability is very high. But the opposite will also block the view.

Xiao En instantly retracted his sword at a very fast speed, and black vindictiveness erupted from the dead bones. Xiao En felt a dizzy feeling in his whole person, but he still held on to the chaotic aura that suddenly surged out of his body. With a backhand sword swept out, he shot the defender out of the window.

In an instant, a strong light flashed outside the window.

"It's me!" Feeling the glare of bright light, the defender shouted immediately.

In this way, the situation has changed exactly as Sean had guessed. This is indeed a two-person offensive and defensive team.

And Xiao En, also taking advantage of the fact that the opponent was aware that the person coming out of the window was himself, so the moment he stopped attacking, he suddenly broke out of another window!

Chapter 62: .mission completed

There are about two minutes left for Sean's strengthening time-the fight with the golden strong can only last for five minutes. This is his biggest shortcoming, but this shortcoming he has no way to make up.

The gulf in the gap in strength is, after all, a flaw.

As for the topography of the Luoshan Guild Hall, Sean has completely kept in mind. The only thing he needs to do now is to escape to the exit on the south side within two minutes.

In fact, in Sean's plan, he has an evacuation time of about four minutes.

It's just that he didn't expect that Robert's bodyguard was so strong, he took a little longer, and then wasted more than a minute because of Robert's words. Although the time consumed does not seem to be much, the accumulated time is almost three minutes. At this time, coupled with the pursuit of two high-ranking golden peak powerhouses, if Sean can't leave the Luoshan Guild Hall within two minutes, then he will probably never leave here again.

Seeing Xiao En coming out from another broken window on the second floor, the eyes of the strong man who had been waiting for the opportunity to attack outside the house flashed with anger.

The person waiting outside the house, ready to give Sean a fatal blow at any time, is naturally what the group of dancers called Seya.

At this time, Seya glared at his companion with an annoyed look.

The cooperation of the duo is a combination of one movement and one static, one offense and one defense.

The weapon in Seia's hand is a long spear, but thanks to the particularity of his body's fighting spirit and strong enough abilities, his attack range is much wider than that of the long spear in his hand, and that's why He is usually the one who is responsible for giving the opponent a fatal blow.

According to the plan, his companions should be used as bait to push the enemy out of the small space. Under normal circumstances, once the person who is forced into desperation finds that the only exit is blocked, he will definitely choose to renew it subconsciously. Open up a new outlet. The window is the first natural choice under this reaction, especially when the environment is still on the second floor at this time, as long as the bronze-level person can leave without injury. People who dare to come to the Luoshan Hall to be assassinated are naturally unlikely to be weak.

So Seya chose to wait outside, ready to give a fatal blow at any time.

I just didn't expect that the one who was forced out of the window would be his partner!

Seeing after Sean landed comfortably. Seia didn't care about his partner either, his feet suddenly slammed into force, and the whole person shot towards Xiao En like a cannonball. After his induction, Sean was just a silver master. Although he didn't know how Sean killed Robert's bodyguard, he thought he had used a special weapon. He also didn't dare to be big, the only thing he thought about was to put Sean into his attack range first and then solve it.

As a strong man, Seia has enough patience.

Or. Any strong person has never lacked patience.

It's just that when the chase between the two sides unfolded, Seia was still deeply shocked.

Because of Sean's speed, it is much faster than he imagined and predicted.

He increased his sprint speed with a grudge burst, and rushed towards Sean at an extremely fast speed. According to Seia's budget, his landing point should be about 20 meters directly in front of Sean. In this position, he doesn't even need to turn around. He just needs to pick up the gun and sweep behind him, and he will bring Shaun who is fleeing into his attack range, forcing Shaun to stop and fight and cannot escape.

But when he landed on the destination with perfect calculation. Sean was not 20 meters behind him as he had planned, but fifty meters in front of him!

This estimate is a full seventy meters away!

Seeing this scene, although Seia was still a little unbelievable, he still had to accept the fact that the opponent's speed was far beyond his own estimate. This makes Seia feel that perhaps it is because of this situation beyond ordinary people's estimation. Only then did the other party succeed in plotting to get Robert and his bodyguard. But if it's just the speed advantage, Seia doesn't think that the opponent will be as strong, and perhaps he will be counted by the other party unsuspectingly, but Seia does not think that Sean can count himself.

The next moment, it is still using the eruption of vindictiveness on the feet.

Saya once again shot out at Sean like a cannonball. But in terms of distance, it was still nearly 20 meters away by Sean.

Only at this distance, it has been completely included in the range of Seia's attack.

Seeing a sudden wave of Seia's right hand, and his left hand quickly caught the gun body, the spear had been hovering in Seia's hand, like a propeller.

The strong wind started to converge with the rotation of the spear. It was supposed to be an intangible thing invisible to the naked eye. At this time, it appeared as a gray and tangible thing attached to the spear, and it was still constantly using it. The speed visible to the naked eye condenses and grows.

In almost an instant, the spear in Seia's hand, which was originally a bright yellow body, turned into a gray spear, and was accompanied by a faint blue electric light shining on the gun body from time to time.

Feeling such a strong storm, Sean doesn't need to look back to already know what's going on.

Elemental gun skills. Storm strikes thunder.

This skill is not a unique skill restricted by occupation, it is a corresponding skill of a common weapon. This means that anyone who uses spear weapons can learn this skill. And from the point of view of the name, it can be clearly discovered that this skill is not a pure physical attack skill, but an attack ability that also comes with elemental damage.

In fact, the damage judgment of any magic attack skill performed by physical means is a double damage judgment of physical plus magic, so this type of skill is also called "magic martial art". And most magic martial arts also have many anomalous effects. For example, this "Elemental Spear Skill. Storm Thunder", as long as it is hit by it, it will be accompanied by a negative effect of paralysis, and the negative effect cannot be passed through ordinary methods. disperse.

Of course, in reality, it is usually difficult for anyone to be able to resist Zea's elemental spear skills.

Sean naturally didn't want to be this test subject.

When he heard the whistling sound of wind and thunder that is unique to Elemental Spear Skill. Storm and Thunder, he then contacted Seia's weapon as a long spear, and he knew what kind of skill it was for a long time. So at the moment Seia activated his skills, Sean had already begun to perform irregular evasive movements—he was really clear about this type of skills, such as "Elemental Spear Skill. Storm and Thunder", which requires storage. When the power is activated, the longer the charge time, the stronger the power will be. The longest charge time can reach one minute, even the minimum charge time is more than five seconds.

Five seconds is enough time for Sean to make a lot of reaction time.

Almost at the moment when he saw Sean's irregular turning and dodge movements, Seia's face became difficult to look. He couldn't help cursing his own stupidity in a low voice, and after all he made the mistake of underestimating the enemy. But at this time, he had already started to activate his skills. It was a situation where the arrow had to be sent on the string, so even if he regretted it, it was too late. He could only stab forward with a spear at the moment of five seconds of accumulating power.

The thunder and roar sounded like a thunderstorm instantly.

A gray beam of light sprayed out of Seia's spear, with blue electric lights shining on it, and the ground dried up and cracked, and scorched black marks appeared.

Although Seia had tried his best to aim and predicted the trajectory of Sean before launching, the gun penetrated. But it still failed to achieve the desired effect. Instead, the dust raised by the fierce fighting blocked the vision, which made them lose the trace of Sean.

When Seia's companion rushed over, they saw that Sean had disappeared and Seia stood on the side with an iron face.

"Have you missed it?"

"The opponent is not an ordinary person." Saiya said in a cold voice, "He should have a very detailed understanding of us and has already made targeted contingency measures.... Such an enemy. It is very tricky."

"Now what?"

"If you want to leave in this direction, you can only go through the exit of the south gate. We must stop it before that, otherwise once we enter the Earls Court, the situation will be very unfavorable for us." Saiya said in a deep voice. "I am going to catch up now, and you immediately report to the chairman. At the same time, you are ready to support my actions."

"I see."

Seeing his partner nodded, Seia stopped saying anything, but immediately set off to catch up. But I don't know why, at this time, Seia's heart is very disturbed, and his intuition is constantly reminding him to continue pursuing it, it is likely that he will pay his life for it; but if he does not continue pursuing it. Until this assassin was killed, he felt that he might not be able to break into the sanctuary in this life.

Under the two-phase balance, in order to improve his strength, Seia still made the decision to pursue it after all.

Only at this time, Xiao En had already used his advantage in speed to leave the South Gate. He did what he had agreed with Rena before. As soon as I left the Luoshan Hall, I entered an empty alley, then took out a set of clothes from the storage ring to replace it, and removed all the disguise on my body, and restored my original appearance. , Just walked into Earls Court.

When Seia also pursued the earl's square, he couldn't help feeling a tingling scalp when he saw the dense crowd. It is not an easy task to find the assassin who assassinated Robert among so many people, especially since Earl's Court still has several roads. After all, Earl's Square was once the center of the Royal Capital of Ryan. Although it is now gradually moving south with the development of the capital, there are still many people in Earl's Square who like to stop here when nothing is wrong.

Saya's eyes swept across the crowd one by one.

Soon, he found a person who was very similar to the assassin he had fought before.

The reason why they are similar is because this person still has some differences in the eyes of Seia and the other person. Only in the present situation, there was a flash of light in Seia's mind, and he immediately understood: that assassin was definitely a disguise, so the current height and shape is his true condition.

After trying to understand this, Seia rushed over without even thinking about it.

'S awe-inspiring killing intent broke out completely, and almost without even thinking about it, he stabbed the person whom he had targeted with a single shot.

"There are assassins!"

"Protect Lord Duke!"

Accompanied by a cry of exclamation, Seia instantly felt that two auras stronger than him instantly locked him. At this moment, his whole person was like seeing some terrible sight, completely unable to move, and the meaning of the exclamation just now echoed in his mind.

The Lord Duke?

What Duke?

A red light burst out suddenly, and then in Seia's field of vision, the tip of a spear pierced towards him.

At this moment, Seia, who was originally unable to move, was finally inspired by the will and instinct to survive because of this cold killing intent, and suddenly raised his hand and waved his gun to try to parry. But when the two spears collided with each other, Seia knew he had lost, because in terms of the quality of the weapon, his weapon was obviously not as good as the other, so when the two weapons collided with each other, his The weapon was completely destroyed.

trap!

At this moment, Seya instantly understood: All this is a trap!

The assassin who assassinated Robert was not only very familiar with his target character, Robert, but also very familiar with the terrain and even the defensive forces of the Rotharn Hall. This was obviously a long-planned assassination plan. But Seia thought that this was everything before, but he didn't expect that the assassin had already detected that a duke would appear here today, so he deliberately pretended to be the other party to lure himself into being fooled.

It seemed that he really shouldn't be chased out. —This is the last thought Seia stayed in his mind.

In the next moment, the flame spear in Rina's hand shattered the spear in Seia's hand, and then stabbed it through.

Earl's Square, which was originally peaceful and quiet, naturally became extremely chaotic under this circumstance, and many civilians fled away screaming.

Sean looked at the chaos around him calmly, without saying anything. And Rina, after killing Seia with a single shot, retreated to Sean's side, waiting for Sean's next instructions—in fact, she had already anticipated the current situation, so corresponding countermeasures are naturally there. It can be said that the people around Sean, except Marton and Winia, everyone knows about Sean's plan.

Since the result of the battle, the situation has been clear at a glance.

Sean looked at his attribute list, and with the fall of Seia, he also had five proficiency points into the account, which also meant that he had officially completed the task so far.

It's just...

Xiao En slowly raised his head and watched as a heavily armed team rushing towards him from the Luoshan Guild Hall.

"Oh, there is still a small problem to be solved."

Chapter 63: . Preparations before the Martial Arts Festival

Duke of the Void Sean Connery was assassinated on Earls Court only ten days after he was named.

The whole King Ryan was an instant sensation.

This is not only a contempt for imperial power, but also a contempt for the entire aristocracy.

Overnight, the defense level of the royal capital increased several levels, and even the guards responsible for the security of the Ryan Palace were mobilized to patrol the streets of the royal capital. Any suspicious person was allowed to be arrested directly. Almost after this day, the already very good public order problem reached a higher level in an instant, even if it is not an exaggeration to say that the house is not closed at night.

As for the Luoshan Guild Hall, it was also ordered to suspend business for rectification on the day of Sean's assassination.

Although someone reported the death of Robert the businessman that day, compared with Sean Connery, the Void Duke, no one would care about the cause of the businessman's death. Although it sounds unusually ironic, this is the truth-in the eyes of many big people, the life and death of a businessman can't be compared with that of a duke, so they just arranged for more people to investigate this matter thoroughly.

But soon, the investigators in charge of investigating the truth about the death of the great businessman Robert encountered unprecedented obstacles.

Their clue is interrupted.

From the time and location of Robert's death, contacting Seia's pursuit distance, and tracking all the way to the south gate of the Luoshan Guild Hall, investigators found that some clothing fragments were left in the shadow corner of an alley. A nail inside hooked the torn off. In this way, it naturally proved that there were indeed assassins here to change their clothes and leave, so in a sense, they could indeed prove that the bodyguard who had won the Luoshan Guild Hall was not the assassin who attacked the Duke of Sean.

Everything is just a trap that a caring person has already prepared.

But no investigator dared to publish this fact.

Because in any case, it is an obvious fact that the Luoshan Guild Hall has been thoroughly investigated and temporarily sealed. No one is sure if this is another political struggle. If it is not, it's okay to say. If it is, then they will announce the result. If the layout of a big man is broken, then they will definitely not be able to eat. Of course, the most important point is that the clue of the assassin they were looking for has ended here.

In this way, the final result can prove that Seia is not an assassin. On the contrary, it looks like it was deliberately arranged here.

Lane's royal capital, as if suddenly covered with a haze, quite a bit of panic.

However, Sean Connery, the person who made such a big drama as a self-written, directed and acted person, is still busy with his own affairs. In fact, he didn't know anything about the outside world. In the past two days, since the Royal Family of Ryan first expressed their sincere condolences, almost all the nobles of the king-no matter they are the Senners or The nobles outside the Great Wall have sent special persons to send gifts to express their condolences. Some small families and even patriarchs came in person.

Throughout the entire history of Lane for hundreds of years. There are only five people who can enjoy such an honor.

It's just that Sean knows very well that Ryan needs him to win the silver and gold championships in the individual martial arts competition, so he is so nervous. If he didn't have this strength and foundation, I'm afraid the Royal Family of Ryan would be just a few words of condolences at will. How could it be possible to bring out many treasured secret medicines to oneself?

Not to mention, the various gifts received in the past two days alone are worth more than five million.

This is undoubtedly an additional income for Sean.

Of course, by the way, he also solved his so-called minor troubles-the person in charge of the Luoshan Guild Hall, the so-called chairman, was nodding and bowing in front of Xiao En with a smile. The gift he brought is not the best. However, it was obvious that he had inquired about Sean's preferences, so the things he brought were very much in line with the things that Sean needed at present-various forging, alchemy, and magic materials with a total value of about 300,000.

"Master Shaun, I'm extremely sorry about the things about Seia!" The president of the Luoshan Guild Hall said respectfully, "I really didn't expect that he would be the spy placed by the Darbion rebels. "

"Oh." Xiao En raised his eyebrows, "has been thoroughly investigated?"

"Yes." The president raised his head and glanced at Sean. After seeing him raising his eyebrows, he swallowed, "It has been formally found out that Zea is indeed from Darbion, and we have also found a lot of correspondence with Darbion's rebels in his residence. It is certain. Sayah was the real murderer who killed Mr. Robert, a big businessman. His purpose was to try to confuse Mr. Robert's death and then initiate an assassination against you."

"Do those investigators know about it?"

"It should be known." The president of the Luoshan Guild Hall carefully looked up at Xiao En, watched Xiao En's expression, and said carefully.

"Since those investigators know, then just follow the normal process. I know you can't blame you for this." Xiao En looked at the president in front of him and said in a deep voice. He just wanted to troubleshoot this small flaw as soon as possible. It's just a solution. As for the way it is solved, Sean doesn't care, "After all, those who don't know are not guilty. I believe that if you know the real situation, you will deal with it properly in the first time."

"This is inevitable." The president of the Luoshan Hall nodded and said, "After all, I am a Laneer."

Sean nodded slightly, then waved his hand to indicate that he was a little tired and wanted to rest, so the president of the Luoshan Hall stood up and left. Seeing the other person's departure, Xiao En felt a bit of sympathy for the person named Seia in his heart.

As the person involved, Sean was naturally very clear about the whole thing, but he did not expect that the real behind-the-scenes boss of the Luoshan Guild Hall would have so much courage to directly pour sewage on him. After all, in this case, the Luoshan Guild Hall will probably be reorganized and inspected for a long time. Of course, there will be no income for a long time, but in contrast, it seems that this can indeed be The impact of Sean's assassination was minimized.

Similarly, they can also get a great benefit.

That is the right to freedom of action against the Darbion rebels.

For a long time to come, I am afraid that the entire Ryan will fall into an atmosphere of panic and fear. After all, the attack now through Sean is also equivalent to announcing that the Darbion rebels have infiltrated the Royal Capital of Ryan, so they will definitely be infiltrated more severely in other places, so even if there are occasional disputes and conflicts. . Even the use of military forces to suppress, all this can be used as an excuse to reach the Bion rebels.

Sean doesn't have to think about it. The real behind-the-scenes boss of the Luoshan Hall must be the core member of Sené's aristocracy. Because with the name of the Darbion rebels, these Sené nobles can freely carry out military mobilization and command in the Ryan Territory. Maybe even more powerful troops can be sent to encircle him-anyway, as long as the blame is passed on to the Darbion rebels, then there is no evidence.

A sneer appeared at the corner of Sean's mouth.

Fortunately, he was prepared, otherwise, he might really mess up his hands and feet because of this little trouble.

Almost two or three days after the president of the Luoshan Guild Hall paid a visit to Sean, the investigation into the death of Robert, a businessman who had been stagnant, has finally begun. The Lothian Hall, which was killed by Duke Sean Connery, hired the bodyguard, Zia, and proved to be a member of the Darbion rebels, and all this was done in revenge for his current status through the war against Darbion. Duke Sean Connery.

To put it simply, this is a premeditated and targeted retaliation.

Of course, a discerning person would have known at a glance that this so-called targeted retaliation was purely a farce, after all, if it was so. It is impossible to be the only one. It's just that the aristocracy is a place where tacit understanding is emphasized. This result is of great interest to the nobles, whether they are the nobles outside the Senegal or the nobles in the Senegal. Therefore, no one has expressed any different opinions and opinions on this. opinion.

Therefore, the result naturally ended in this way.

Only this time. Sean had already received the second contract task from the Potter Tavern to gain proficiency points.

As for the incident at the Rothane Hall, the Potter Tavern was actually an insider, but they were not stupid enough to disclose the truth. Especially watching Sean, who only did a simple disguise, took the task from them for the second time, which showed that Sean didn't care about the truth at all. Faced with such a big man, even if they gave Potter more courage, they did not dare to threaten Sean, after all, the strength and foundation that Sean showed now was not weaker than the other six dukes.

No one is stupid.

but. For Ryan, Sean's actions were not considered good behaviors.

Especially when the Martial Fight Festival is about to start, the surrounding neighboring countries have already moved in to the Royal Palace, and the king's city actually has one after another murders, which is naturally very annoying.

In a week, after a large amount of security force has been invested. Three homicides still occurred in King Ryan.

Except for the death of the great businessman Robert, the deceased in the other two homicides actually have similar identities, but they are not as famous as Robert.

Such a thing naturally made King Ryan very angry.

But no matter how angry the king is, it doesn't matter to Sean. Sean in the past week. All the contract tasks for obtaining proficiency points in the Potter Tavern have been completed-there are a total of four tasks that can bring proficiency points to Sean, three of which are designated to kill the target character, and the last is an * task. , This is also the reason why King Ryan had three homicides.

After all this was done, Sean did not hesitate to put all the thirteen proficiency points accumulated during the recent period into the agility value in one go.

In this way, Sean's agility value reached 115 points.

Just counting the 20 points of agility added by turning on the light body technique, and the direct doubling of adrenal stimulation, in the end it was only 270 points of agility, which is far from reaching the new qualitative change requirement of 280 points. Ten o'clock. Of course, if you convert it into actual data, only five points are enough. If you can get these five points of increase in agility, then Sean believes that he can reach his theoretical data value.

In other words, if you can increase your agility by five more points, you can learn the soul-suppression skill through self-learning without consuming any proficiency points. But Sean also knows very well that if he wants to learn to calm the soul in this way, he needs to make persistent efforts. After all, this kind of learning method is not more than proficient devotion, and you can complete the skills in the body and mind in an instant. Learning and mastering.

But in fact, if he can, Sean really doesn't mind using this method to master new skills.

Because if there is no persistent practice of sword skills these days, it is impossible for Sean to comprehend the special ability of "sword wound. Dark collapse"-although the system still does not recognize this special ability of Sean, Sean has always I think this is because of the wrong way of using it. In other words, Sean always believed that this special ability should still have the possibility of perfecting, but it might be because of the particularity of his own current vindictiveness that the current embarrassing state would appear.

Speaking seriously, Sean's current internal condition is not very stable.

It was mainly because of some problems with his rank route that this kind of half-toned situation appeared. If he uses too much dark vindictiveness, he will fall into a blackened situation. Although Sean is not very clear about what the so-called "dark slave" is, it certainly sounds bad from the text introduction. So Sean didn't want to try at all.

Furthermore, the "Holy Water for Pilgrims" is not easy to do.

According to Hitley, this is not ordinary holy water. It takes a large amount of divine grace to be purified by the chief priest above the high priest level to purify such holy water. Even as the saint of Hitley, there are a lot of free divine graces every day, but she has only condensed three drops for so long. This time when Xiao En went out, he gave out all the three drops of holy water.

Currently, the dark power threshold in Shaun's body is only 48%, which has not yet reached the point where he needs to use the holy water of the pilgrims.

But if he uses the dark grudge again, then he needs to use the holy water of the pilgrim once.

At the moment, the most important thing is to increase the last five points of agility.

At this time, there are less than seven days left before the official start of the Martial Arts Festival. Shaun decided to transform the dead bones for the first time in this last time, to ensure that he can get the last five points of agility.

Chapter 64: .Teaching and Forging

In the ground floor of the Void Duke's mansion, there are a few rooms that can barely be regarded as secret rooms, and an emergency escape route.

Of course, as a mansion once dominated and controlled by the royal family, there is naturally a secret passage connected with the palace. But now, of course, this secret road is unilaterally closed. It's just that with Sean's character and thinking, it is naturally impossible to let the Royal Family decide everything, so he also simply and neatly asked someone to seal the secret road as well. In this way, the secret road would be completely blocked. It's blocked.

As for the other secret rooms, except for a slight modification to one of them, he ignored the other ones.

The materials he collected through various methods during this period have been stacked in this room at this time, and the epic weapon that has been with Sean for more than a year is the anvil that Sean put aside. superior.

Although Sean desperately wants to start work immediately, but at this time he still has to deal with a guest.

Cady Luck.

This is the alchemy blacksmith of the Kingdom of Lane, a high-ranking bronze craftsman, who was almost stunned by Arnom in the underground auction last time.

Shaun really wanted to squeeze some residual value from this unlucky ghost, such as the alchemy material that can be used with the purple spot mithril bone. It's just that the things on hand were piled up one by one, and Sean instead forgot this old guy who had little sense of existence. So at this time the old man didn't know where he came to find out that Sean was the alchemist who broke through the smoky fluorite scam before, and suddenly ran over to find Sean.

For such a guy, it doesn't matter if Sean sees or not. Anyway, the president of the Luoshan Hall also gave Sean a lot of materials, enough for him to experiment.

It's just that this old guy's stepping stone really moved Sean.

A stone of order.

This kind of thing is so rare that it can be compared to the top five forging artifacts on the Marvel Continent.

Originally, Sean was still worried that the dark power on the dead bone was too strong, even if it was just a preliminary transformation, it would take a lot of effort. Maybe it will fail in the end. But if there is such an extra stone of order, then Sean will have absolute confidence and certainty that he can completely transform the dead bones, because the stone of order can stabilize the dark power inside the dead bones.

As the saying goes, cannibalism is short, and holding hands is short, so I have more requests from Cady Lacker. Of course Sean can't go missing.

So, he had to go and meet the old guy.

It's just that the meeting place is not a regular reception room, but a secret room underground that has been transformed into a forging room by Sean.

"I know why you came to visit me." Sean said straightforwardly, "I am indeed an alchemist, and I am even more powerful than you think.... I didn't bother to see you. , But because you gave me a stone of order, I allow you to watch my transformation here."

Cady Luck is actually just a middle-aged man in his fifties, and it is still several years before he truly becomes an old guy. It's just maybe because of the forging problems that have plagued him for a long time, so he doesn't look much different from those 60 or 70-year-old old men. Even the voice revealed a deadly tone. It doesn't match his age and occupation at all.

At the very least, Arnom's unique and powerful voice is more like what a blacksmith should have.

At this time, upon hearing Sean's words, Cady Luck's face showed excitement, even because of excitement. The tone became a little sharp: "Watching, really...really okay?"

"Of course, why not." Sean said indifferently.

Although for many craftsmen, when crafting or making anything, no one is allowed to watch, not even the apprentices they own, unless they are ready to let them inherit their own mantle. Because any craftsman who can climb to a high level. They must have their own unique secret skills, these secret skills may be inherited from the predecessors, or they may have been worked out by themselves, but no matter which one they are, they are their biggest competitive capital in this industry.

So, never let others know about it at will, nor even allow others to watch.

Because now that he can become a self-reliant alchemist. Naturally, he also knows a lot of skills and techniques, so as long as you just watch the forging of other higher-level alchemists, you will also have great benefits for yourself. Even if you can't learn those unique forging skills, you can gain a lot of experience by analogy, and you only need to learn and comprehend it later. It can become its own thing.

This kind of strength increase is very fast.

Because of this, Sean allowed Kaidi to watch, which naturally made Kaidi very excited.

What's more, Sean is not re-forging a piece of magic equipment, but to transform the old equipment, which has higher technical requirements for the alchemist.

At the very least, you must fully understand the ideas and creativity of the alchemist who created and designed this magical equipment, only then can you make changes on its basis. In fact, in the circle of alchemists, this kind of transformational technical work even has a higher gold content than the ability to tailor demonized equipment for others. After all, this is equivalent to correcting mistakes.

"As long as you don't disturb me." Sean shrugged indifferently, and then stepped aside to deal with the half-prep work.

As for the concrete reconstruction plan and plan of the dead bone, Sean has not made up his mind completely.

Although the death bone is indeed very powerful as an epic weapon, there are several attributes in it that are not necessary.

For example, "The Devil Believer" and "The Rage of the Enemy", the special abilities attached to these two dead bones do not have much effect on Sean at all.

The former is to make the * creatures have a good impression of the dead bone holders, but it will be detected as an extremely evil existence, so in non-combat situations, Shaun always throws the dead bones in the storage ring, because space is unique. Some isolation can shield detection perception; while the latter is to kill the demon creatures on the abyss plane, which can give the dead bones a little increase in attribute points, and the distribution mode of attribute points is increased in order.

In other words, the dead bones in the sword form increase in the order of strength, endurance, and agility.

Like Sean, who wants to increase his agility by five points, he must kill at least fifteen high-ranking bronze demon creatures to meet the requirements. Of course, if it is a demon creature with the strength of the golden realm, it would be enough to kill five. It's just that demonic creatures are not easy to find in the main material realm of Miracle Continent, so in the end they can only start from the aspect of transforming dead bones.

However, it is not easy to completely erase these two attributes, and if possible. Sean still wanted to retain the two attributes of "Soul Immortality" and "Bloodline Limit" as much as possible. Because the former attribute can make Sean immune to all soul and spiritual attacks, although there is still some spiritual influence, at least it will not endanger the soul, and will not cause any damage to the soul; while the latter can increase with Sean's strength And get a certain degree of increase.

As for the other attribute "morphological change", this is not what Shaun needs, it doesn't matter whether it has it or not.

However, when Sean finished processing the preparation materials and put the dead bones into the furnace to start burning the soft blade, he found that the ordinary flames of the material world could not burn the dead bones at all, and even added special In the case of condiments. The body of the dead bone showed no signs of softening, which made Xiao En a headache.

"This...this material is so strong." Caddy exclaimed.

Shaun gave the other person a white look: "Nonsense, the thigh bone of the devil lord as the main material, can it not be hard?"

"The thigh bone of the Devil Lord!" Caddy looked at the dead bone in Sean's hand, with an inexplicable look of awe on his face. "Using the thigh bones of the Great Lord of the Abyss as the material, then ordinary flames must be impossible to smelt, after all..."

"I know." Xiao En said softly, "Forging with materials from the abyss and hell, it will inevitably have high fire resistance and dark energy resistance.... But there are ways to eliminate it, but I didn't expect this. The gadget unexpectedly adds more than a kind of fire-resistant material."

"More than one kind?"

"Yes." Xiao En nodded, his eyes became a little serious. "The fire dragon heart potion is added to my furnace. In terms of the temperature of the inner flame, it is enough for smelting. But..."

"but?"

Sean glanced at Kaidi, thought about it, and said: "Alright, let you review common sense by the way....Do you know the Fire Dragon Heart Potion?"

"I know." Caddy was like an apprentice at this time. He nodded his head earnestly and reverently, "It can greatly increase the temperature of the flame, which is basically equivalent to the internal temperature of the fire dragon's fire capsule. The internal flame temperature can reach the temperature of the dragon's breath at the same time, and it can also change ordinary flames. Into a flame with magical properties."

"Dragon's breath. It's the flames spitting out from the dragon's compressed vitality. Don't you think it can hurt the devil lord?" Sean tilted his head and asked back.

"This....."

"Anyway, there are only a few materials that can withstand the fire dragon heart potion." Sean shrugged, "You see, now the flames burn on the dead bones will produce a distortion-like avoidance, which proves that the addition is dead. There are also materials such as fire element crystals on the bones.... This thing is actually like cracking a code, analyzing it bit by bit and then inverting it. This process is actually very interesting."

Speaking of this, Sean clapped his hands and said: "Okay, here is the question time.... Now that the type of fire element is determined, what method do you think should be used to eliminate it?"

"Water... element?" Caddy was stunned for a moment, and then said.

"The idea...is quite satisfactory." Xiao En sighed, "Probably know why you are still at the level of a bronze craftsman."

Hearing Sean's comment, Cady Rack's dark complexion inevitably turned red.

"The fire element and the water element are indeed opposite elements, and they can cancel each other." Sean said softly, "but other than that, anything that can absorb the power of the elements can be used.... But now we I don't have these two things, what should I do?"

"Uh..." Caddy was stunned in an instant.

Waited for a while, before he heard Kaidi's answer, Sean sighed helplessly, which made Kaidi instantly feel a sense of helplessness.

"We just need to re-enhance the power of the flame." Shaun glanced at Caddy helplessly, "Use your mind."

"Yes... I'm sorry." Caddy lowered his head like an apprentice to admit his mistake.

"You're sorry, it's not me." Sean took out a few pieces of blood sand from the storage ring and sprinkled a large amount of blood sand that had been robbed on the side of the gray shadow black market. This thing has a very strong invisible fire elemental power, and the power of the flame can naturally be increased through the flame of magical nature, but it will also emit poison at the same time. But at least it can really solve the immediate urgency.

Sean sprinkled the blood and explained to Caddy.

soon. A pale green mist rose from the furnace.

Sean doesn't matter, but Caddy started to cough constantly. From this point, we can see the difference between ordinary people and silver masters. Although these emitted toxicity are not very strong, they still make people feel uncomfortable. So Xiao En had to take a purification stone to purify all the poisonous gas.

After waiting for a short while, the body of the dead bone finally began to show an orange-red color, with obvious signs of softening.

In fact, the so-called fire resistance only uses the repellency of elements to repel fire elements.

All the flames on the Marvel Continent are just a matter of the amount of fire element. Therefore, unless it is in the field of element clearance, otherwise the so-called fire resistance depends only on how strong the repelling force of the fire element is. Once it reaches a certain critical point, then even the equipment with fire resistance cannot withstand the burning of high temperature flames. , It will still produce damage and other phenomena.

The smelting of smelting is actually one of such phenomena.

The dead bone must undergo the first step of smelting and smelting. Then Sean can continue to transform it.

However, when the dead bones began to burn more and more red, the sword began to spread with a black air with a strong demon aura. Surrounded by these black air, the dead bones seemed to have a protective film. No matter how the flame tongue in the smelting furnace continued to wrap around, they could no longer hurt this long sword. In this way. The temperature of the blade naturally began to decrease and then gradually cooled down. This result was not what Sean wanted.

"This...this is not a magic weapon!" Looking at the strange situation in front of him, Caddy said with a shocked expression.

"I never said that this is a magic weapon." Sean said lightly, and then he directly threw in the order stone that Caddy sent today.

The entire space seemed to be hit by a strong impact in an instant.

Only heard a "boom".

As if an invisible aura burst out in this forging room, Kaidi only felt a strong thrust and slammed it against the wall. He looked at Sean with some horror, watching Sean stand indifferently. Just watching the changes in the smelting furnace, Kaidi couldn't help but secretly guess what level of weapon Shaun was transforming? Is it a legendary grade?

At this time, Sean seemed to know Kaidi's inner thoughts, and said in a deep voice, "This is an epic weapon."

At this moment, Kaidi's face became even more horrified: a master who can forge epic equipment! ?

In the circle of craftsmen, transformation is a more advanced technical work than forging.

So since Sean is transforming an epic equipment. In other words, in Kaidi's eyes, Sean is naturally a real master who can forge epic equipment. But in fact, it is not what Kaidi thought. In the game, all equipment except artifacts can be freely modified and tempered by the player, so Sean is just a player's light. It does not mean that he is a master forging.

Of course, if you forge a map for him, he can indeed forge legendary equipment according to the book.

As for epic-level equipment, Sean is really powerless, because there was no forging map of this level in the game.

After Cady identified Sean as a brilliant master, he watched Sean's actions more carefully and seriously. Of course, he didn't think that Sean could be so good at such a young age, so Caddy thought that Sean must have a very good master. After all, now in the entire Marvel Continent, the most famous forging technology is the Zenus Empire, and Sean is a veritable Zenus person no matter how he looks at it.

Stone of Order, this is indeed a very rare material.

In fact, this is not an exclusive material for the forging department, but a universal material. This material can be used in any sideline, and its only function is to balance the conflict between two opposing forces. Things like darkness and light, fire and water, wind and earth, etc., are equivalent to a universal neutralizer with very high adaptability.

At this time, the dark power of the dead bones completely overflowed from the sword, and its purpose was naturally to avoid the dead bones from being destroyed. But Shaun's act of throwing the Stone of Order in. It is equivalent to forcibly breaking this kind of dark shelter-at a speed visible to the naked eye, all the dark power is quickly absorbed by a stone of order about the size of a knuckle, and in an instant, the dead bone sword is completely absorbed. It became orange red again.

This time, Sean didn't let this state last for long, but quickly took the dead bones directly out of the smelting furnace, then put them on the anvil, raised the hammer next to him, and slammed it down.

Mars splashes all over.

But with the sparks that erupted from the collision between the hammer and the sword, Xiao En's mind suddenly sounded an electronically synthesized sound.

"It is detected that the equipment dead bone is entering the forging and transformation state. This behavior will have unpredictable consequences. It will also clear all the task chains related to the dead bone. Do you want to continue?"

Shaun's movement, there was a momentary lag.

In fact, he has long known that the dead bones will definitely involve a mission, and it may even be an epic mission. It's just that if this task is done. In the end, they will definitely face the creatures of the devil lord or the devil lord. After all, the introduction of the dead bones has been very clear. The dead bones first appeared in the form of a gun, and then Gabriel was nailed to the monument of immortality. So the final part of the mission is definitely to save Gabriel's soul. The difficulty of this mission is not definitely an epic mission at the level of a large team.

What is the epic mission concept of a large team?

That is one hundred players of at least Tier 11 (higher sanctuary) team up to complete the task.

This kind of task, Sean doesn't think it can be easily completed in this real world right now.

And Sean has always been a very realistic person.

The benefits that require a lot of time and energy to reap are obviously not as big as the benefits that can be reaped in a short period of time.

therefore. After only a slight delay for a moment, Sean's right hand smashed the hammer down again.

At the moment when the hammer hit the dead bone, the whole world was like the pulse of the heart, and there was a beating that was inaudible to everything in this world-it seemed to be a crisp sound of broken chains and broken mirrors.

However, the only things that cannot be heard are ordinary creatures in the world.

Those astrologers. The messengers of destiny, the true peak powerhouses who have entered the legend, the masters of Solomon's Castle, known as the mysterious castle, all turned their sights on Ryan at this moment.

Because they heard the sound of the chain of fate breaking.

No more than these. At this time, Sean did not feel it at all, because he was facing a new problem-when his hammer fell on the dead bone sword for the fifth time, it knocked out a crack in the dead bone sword. Then he poured the purple-spotted mithril bone, which had been prepared and melted into a liquid shape, on the sword, and began to put it into the sword mold to cover its attributes again, when Xiao En's mind once again sounded an electron. Synthetic sound.

Only this time, the voice is no longer cold.

"Detect the seeds of the dark aura in the forge. The matching rate of the dark aura with the current forged items is 97.1%. Do you want to activate the dark vindictive and consume 50% of the dark vindictive qi to recharge the forging?"

"Please note: All your choices will lead to completely unpredictable consequences, and will change the existing attributes of the forged product. Please choose carefully."

If you say, the first prompt appeared in Xiao En's expectation, so Xiao En can drop the hammer without any scruples. However, the system prompt that appeared for the second time was obviously beyond Sean's expectations, so for a while, he was caught in confusion.

Does it need to be charged or not?

Chapter 65: .Apprentice Cady Luck

As night falls, from a high-altitude view, the houses in the Royal Capital of Ryan are lit up, and it looks like there is a different kind of exquisite prosperity.

The Void Duke's Mansion located on the Seventh Avenue of the Kingdom, after a period of excitement, it has finally fallen silent again recently.

However, with the visit of Cady Ruck, the first alchemist of the former Principality of Lane, the Void Duke's Mansion once again successfully broke into the sight of many nobles. In fact, many aristocrats still don't understand that, like those fairy tales that deceive children, in less than two years, a pioneering knight became a power standing in the kingdom. Duke of the pinnacle.

Thanks to Sean's blessing, after the war with Darbion ended, the archives of the Kingdom of Lane received the registration of more than 30 pioneering knights from more than a dozen nobles.

Ambitious, not just those nobles who already have status.

It is said that Ryan's most famous bard has deliberately written a biography for the Duke Sean Connery.

Of course, those nobles who have cast their sights on Sean's Void Duke's mansion are more concerned about what Cady Luck, the alchemy blacksmith, wants to do when he goes to Sean's house.

After almost ten-odd hours of hard work, Sean and Cady Luck finally got a little break.

At this time, Sean is taking the former Alchemist Cady Luck from the Principality of Lane, who now puts himself completely as an apprentice, to the restaurant. Here, the servant and the cook have already prepared the dinner in advance, and the same table includes Venia, Marton, Cecilia, Rena, Chefanio, etc., who are concerned about the arrival of Cady Lac. , Still showed enough enthusiasm, after all, no matter what occasion a senior bronze craftsman is on, as long as it is not a hostile relationship, it is still very popular.

The time for dinner is not long—in fact, it can be said to be very short.

Perhaps because Sean is from the earth. So his eating speed has always been very fast.

Of course, in terms of aristocratic etiquette, Sean's behavior is naturally very rude. Because according to noble etiquette, if Sean is a guest, then his eating speed must be kept at the same frequency as the host. It can't be too fast or too slow. The most perfect degree is when the host finishes a meal at the same time. If, as the host, Sean's eating speed is slow, it doesn't matter, but it can't be too fast. , Because there is a minimum requirement for the time of each dish, usually about 20 minutes for a dish.

However, Sean's eating habits directly omit many steps such as appetizers, pre-dinners, etc., and are directly the main course. Moreover, it usually only takes five to ten minutes before he declares that he is full. And in accordance with the noble etiquette of the dining table. Once the owner stops the knife and fork, it is equivalent to announcing that the dinner is officially over. At that time, no matter whether other people are full or not, they will stop the knife and fork.

However, because Rina, Xuefanio, and Cecilia have followed Sean for a long time, and they are all people who have been on the battlefield. So they are all used to Sean's eating habits and ways. They even thought that this was the most standard marching speed for eating—all the soldiers under Sean's command never took more than five minutes to eat, so after a while, everyone became accustomed to not acting in accordance with noble etiquette.

As for Marton and Winia, although these two people are elves, they are in the barren land, a region where wars are constant over the years. Therefore, compared with the human world, the more cumbersome elves etiquette have long been forgotten by them. Compared to eating speed. The two of them are faster or slower than Sean, so naturally they can keep up with Sean's rhythm.

The only trouble is the middle-aged Caddy Luck.

When he saw that the main course was served directly instead of other appetizers and the like, he was really taken aback, and then when he saw the appearance of other people devouring, his appetite basically disappeared by half. But to be polite. He insisted on eating a bit, and when Sean stopped the knife and fork, he stopped the knife and fork in sync—or for him, it was actually equivalent to liberation.

At this point, the dinner is officially over—in seven minutes. This is because Sean was really exhausted after a day of work, so he ate an extra main dish.

"Then, Mr. Caddy, I will arrange for someone to take you back." Sean looked at Caddy Luck, and then said.

"Wait a minute, Lord Sean." When Sean turned his head to look at the bodies of Rina, Wigna and Marton, Caddy hurriedly said, "Master Sean, I want to talk to you about something. I have no idea....."

"Master Shaun, please allow me to leave the table first." Upon hearing Caddy's words, Cecilia immediately said, "My magic experiment upstairs was just halfway through."

In front of outsiders, Cecilia has never embarrassed Sean. Although many people now regard her as a younger sister, in fact, the two of them are not related at all, and only Aldolf, There are only four of William, Clover and Rena. At this time, Cecilia's words, in the eyes of outsiders, are naturally a kind of expression of great respect.

And hearing Cecilia say so, the others are not stupid, so they are all goodbyes. Of course, Sean will not have any opinion on this.

After only Sean and Kaidi were left in the restaurant, Sean said, "Mr. Kaidy, just say anything."

Kady nodded, and then said: "I have a few questions to ask Lord Shaun."

"What is the problem?"

"About the black energy that burst out during forging and tempering..."

Hearing what Caddy said, Sean knew what Caddy wanted to say, so he didn't wait for him to finish and said, "That's charging."

"Recharge?" Kaidi was a little confused, "Isn't that the area of specialization of magicians?"

"Well, you haven't practiced martial arts, so it's normal for you to understand it." Xiao En thought for a moment, and then said as much as possible in a more intuitive explanation, "There are also forgers like me who have mastered certain martial arts. Skills, people who can start a grudge. So occasionally some forging equipment, we can also perform actions similar to charging, which can greatly improve the quality of the equipment, and even attach some special abilities to it."

"special power?"

"Yes." Sean nodded slightly, "Like forgers with fire attribute vindictiveness, if they charge equipment, they can improve the fire resistance of the equipment or have a certain fire attribute-related effect. The same. Reason. If it is other attributes, it is possible to attach some related attribute abilities to the equipment. This is the same as the charging of magicians when making jewelry, alchemy props or even magic props, so I also call it Recharge."

"That's it." Caddy nodded with some enlightenment, "In the afternoon. Lord Shaun, the effect of charging that epic sword is...dark energy?"

"Yes." Sean did not deny it.

Although people with dark energy are indeed rare in this world, they are not uncommon.

Magic such as manipulating the undead belongs to the dark magic, but although necromancers are disgusting and even targeted by churches and countries, they are not included in the ranks of infidels. For the same reason, they have dark vindictive warriors. Naturally, he would not be treated as a heretic. It can even be said that dark energy is also one of the supporting points of the world system that constitutes this miracle continent. Therefore, no matter how evil tends to be, it will not cause similar results as dealing with infidels.

And Sean, when he was forging in the afternoon, he finally chose to consume 50% of the dark energy to recharge the dead bones. to this end. He had to consume a pilgrim's holy water to suppress the dark energy in his body, and the result this time was not without gain for him, at least he probably knew what the so-called "dark slave" would be like. End.

"Then...Master Shaun, do all the high-quality magical equipment need to be recharged?" Kaidi asked again.

"No." Shaun shook his head to deny Kaidi's cognitive error, "The so-called recharge. In fact, it is only an auxiliary method, but it is not necessary. If you choose the material of good quality, and you are making it If there is no error in the process, then even if you don't need to charge, you can make gold-level magic equipment. And it needs to pay special attention to the idea that charging can make high-quality magic equipment is also very wrong. And dangerous."

"Why do you say that?"

"For a martial artist, excessive charging will cause the fighting energy in the body to become mixed and impure, which will not only cause some damage to the body, but also lead to a decline in the quality of equipment due to the deterioration of the quality of the fighting energy." Xiao En Explained. "Secondly, not all demonized equipment or even more advanced equipment are suitable for charging. This is also related to the fighting spirit of the martial forge.... Just imagine if a demonized equipment with water element is attached. , But you are charged with fire attribute vindictiveness, then what will the result be?"

Cady Luck is like a pupil. Seriously thinking about the result of this question, then nodded thoughtfully. Only soon, he said again: "This can only be said to be a mistake, so how dangerous?"

"Dependence." Sean said softly, "and a series of problems derived from dependence."

Seeing Kaidi's face showing a bit of incomprehension. Sean added again: "Once you find that charging can improve the quality of the equipment, then it is very likely that you will rely on this special forging method. As a result, there will be what I said earlier to the forge. The damage to the equipment and the reduction in the quality of the equipment. In addition, the greater danger is that the thinking and innovation of the forger will be limited, because you will continue to make equipment that is more in line with your own vindictive attributes, and will not try new ones. It is conceivable how natural the result of the material will be over time."

"I see." Caddy sighed, with a sense of satisfaction on his face.

Sean can understand this attitude, because in the game, once any difficult questions were answered, or he successfully cleared a dungeon to obtain a new kind of equipment, props, etc., he would have such satisfaction. Demeanor. From this point of view, Cady Luck and Sean are actually the same kind of people, and their ambitions are not big, but for some reason they are willing to put in ten times, a hundred times the effort.

"Fighting energy charging is also a skill of the forger, but this skill has great limitations." Seeing Kaidi's expression, Sean couldn't help but talk more.

Kady nodded humbly.

Of course he knows what this limitation is—only by becoming a warrior can he use this special forging technique. As far as Kaidi's age is concerned, even if he wants to become a warrior, it is already impossible, so this forging skill is naturally impossible for him to use. Therefore, he also understood that what Shaun said to him was to make him give up this whimsical forging method.

"And." Seeing the look that Kaidi had already understood. Sean added, "The technique of recharging is also divided into high and low. Forgers who are really good at using this technique will not recharge at will, but will use it according to the situation. This involves There are many different application techniques.... You can simply understand it. If you tell you in detail, it will not do you much good."

"I understand." Caddy said he understood, "Then... Lord Shaun, what effect will your charge yesterday bring to that epic sword?"

"It's hard to say." Sean shook his head, "But it doesn't conflict with the death bone itself. After all, the main material for the death bone is the leg bones of the demon lord, so the dark vindictive charge can still increase some power and strength. The effect. Although the main material I used in the transformation is mainly to destroy demons, it is actually a dark forging material, but it may be affected by the stone of order, and the dark ability may be affected to a certain extent. Inhibition...Of course. On the whole, the power effect and even the amplification ability brought by the epic equipment will definitely rise significantly."

"I don't know if Lord Sean is willing to take an apprentice." After hesitating for a while, Cady Rack suddenly said straightforwardly, "With the skills of Lord Sean now. It is definitely more than enough to take an apprentice."

Hearing Kaidi's words, Sean knew that Kaidi must be a great master in the forging industry.

But considering his age now, no matter how you look at it, it is obviously impossible to be a so-called self-taught talent—because even a genius must be led by a master. However, no matter how talented a genius artisan is, it is impossible to become a middle-class goldsmith at the age of 25 or 6—in the history of the Artisan Guild, the youngest goldsmith is three. At the age of thirteen, this is a craftsman who really only indulges in forging the world.

And Sean?

His public identity is not only a duke, but also a master of the silver realm. At the same time, he is also a military strategist, politician, etc., although it has not been officially disclosed, but basically many people already know the identity, including prophet, fortuneteller, appraiser, and knowledgeable scholar—of course, fortuneteller, divination Xiao En thinks that these types of teachers and appraisers can be collectively referred to as magic sticks.

You must know that although the Miracle Continent is a world full of miracles and miracles, it is actually a world that pays attention to every effort and harvest.

So instinctively, Sean did not want to deny Cady's speculation.

"You mean. Want me to accept you as an apprentice?" Sean looked at Caddy.

"Yes." Kaidi nodded seriously, "I hope to be an apprentice to your adult, and I want to learn more advanced forging techniques."

"Our age gap is a bit big, right." Sean frowned.

"Master Shaun, I remember that you Chenas people have a slang term called 'the master is a teacher', right?" Caddy said in a deep voice. His attitude and look are very serious and serious, without the slightest false color, "If this is the case, then age should not be your reason for rejecting me."

"But even if you become my apprentice, I don't have much time to teach you." Sean said.

"I know." Caddy nodded, "I know Lord Shaun, you will be very busy as a duke, especially the Darbion War that has just ended and the upcoming battle festival, but as long as you make time for a while Point me, then this is enough....Moreover, with my current forging level, I can help you. As long as Master Shaun agrees, I can return to the Nether Nether with you later."

"Then what about your property in the capital?"

"I will sell, and invest all the funds into the construction of the Void Neck."

Hearing Kaidi's words, it must be fake if Sean said that he was not heartbroken. A senior bronze craftsman who was attacking a silver craftsman, no matter how he looked at it, would be of great benefit to the development of a territory. In particular, Sean knows very well that this era is about to enter the era of magic technology because of his advancement. By then, ordinary equipment weapons will be replaced by magic weapons, and the status of magicians will be greatly reduced, so the opposite is alchemy. The status of the blacksmith will be greatly improved.

In terms of immediate benefits or long-term benefits, tying Cady Luck and the void collar together, Sean will not have any loss.

So after a few seconds of thinking, Sean agreed to Kaidi's proposal and officially accepted Kaidi Luck as an apprentice. And Sean did not keep the matter secret, so by the next day, Cecilia and others knew that Caddy was already Sean's apprentice, but they didn't know anything about it. Surprised. On the contrary, if Caddy was not impressed by Sean after seeing Sean's skills, then Cecilia, Rena and other talents would really be surprised.

But it is precisely because these followers of Sean take it for granted, so naturally no one will promote this kind of thing, so the outside world does not know that Cady Ruck, the former only alchemist in the Kingdom of Lane, has now become an apprentice of Sean. Things. But for those old politicians and nobles with a sharper sense of smell, they still smelled something unusual.

Because, in the next few days, Cady Luck officially moved to Sean's residence of the Void Duke, and he was conducting research and discussion with Sean on forging science every day, and watching Sean all the way. Reconstruction of dead bones. In this process, Cady Luck naturally learned a lot-although these knowledge and skills are very common for players, they are still very impactful in this era. After all, there are many skills and knowledge. It was gradually developed and researched by players in the middle of the game.

In the process, Kaidi gradually understood why Sean could become a goldsmith-of course, this is purely Cady Rack's own opinion. After all, Sean is just a player with the help of system functions. However, in front of outsiders, Sean did behave impeccably. Any forging step was as accurate as an instrument and a textbook, without the slightest omissions and mistakes. It is completely impossible for such a perfect and accurate forging to make any mistakes.

So, on the day the Martial Arts Festival was officially held, Xiao En finally completed the initial transformation of the dead bones.

Similarly, he has already thought about the next second phase of the transformation plan, and has named a new name for the dead bones that have been transformed.

Black King.

Chapter 66: .War Fight Festival-Silver Vol 3 Chapter (1)

Located about two streets south of the Earl's Square in King Capital, there is a battle arena.

Originally, in the hands of the second King Ryan who drew the blueprint of the city, there was no place for this arena. It was built only because of the personal preference of the third King Ryan. Then, in the era of the fifth King Ryan, this The Zadou Arena was closed and abandoned. If it weren't for the high cost of demolition of this arena at that time, it would have already been demolished by the fifth King Ryan.

Now the sixth King Ryan, Ingus Ryan chose a completely different approach from his father: He rented out this arena directly.

The lease term is 30 years. As long as it does not touch on the law and fundamental principles of Ryan, Ryan will not interfere with all the operating methods of Arena.

So after being taken over from the Arena, this place has become the most lingering holy place for all the nobles in King Ryan. Here, almost every day there is a very tragic * battle, whether it is a hand-to-hand fight between humans and beasts or a team fight, etc., everything can be satisfied in this arena.

It's just that today, the atmosphere of the Arena is a bit different from the past.

Although the strong  smell caused by the long fight still lingers, but today's arena gives people a more solemn feeling.

But this is no wonder, because it has been closed for nearly a month since it was learned that the silver and gold events of the Wudou Festival will start in this arena. Within this month, it is natural to re-plan and reorganize the entire arena. Although it is impossible to make too many changes due to tight time, at least it does add a touch of solemnity to this arena.

As time goes by, people continue to enter the arena.

The first to enter and occupy a good position are naturally the powerful and powerful people. To this end, the Arena has also opened up a special channel for these big shots to enter. For this kind of vanity performance that can show their status and power status, these nobles like it the most, especially seeing the envy and admiration of those civilians cast on them, which makes them feel extremely excited.

at this time. A carriage painted with dark black paint is passing by this gate.

There are no decorations on the carriage, nor any markings and family crests. It looks like a very ordinary carriage. But passing from here at this time, no matter how you say it, it clearly reveals an extraordinary breath. Many nobles seemed to think of something, and the look in the carriage became a little unclear.

After passing the gate of the arena, the horse-drawn carriage circumvented the side path, and then drove straight ahead.

This trail is actually not very long, about a hundred meters, but most people don't walk into this trail at will, because it only leads to one place.

The door of blood.

This is the back door of the Lion Arena and the entry venue for all free competitors in the Lion Arena.

It's just that, because it is a free player, it is a problem to ensure the strength. Naturally, it needs to pass a little test. And this test is this trail that is no more than a hundred meters long-the road of trial.

It is not someone else sitting in the carriage, it is Sean.

Cecilia is walking with Sean, and Rena is in charge of driving the car. As for Xuefanio, Marton, Winia and others, they did not travel with each other, but were resting in Sean's mansion. At the same time, some preparations are being made for the upcoming martial arts gold group event.

Sitting in the carriage, Sean looked out the window of the car, looking at this quiet, slightly eerie trail, then turned his head and looked at Cecilia: "Is it a cloister-shaped magic circle?"

"En." Cecilia nodded obediently, "The more conventional cloister-type magic circle is accompanied by primary hallucinations and primary fears, oh. There is also a mental pressure. The pressure on the newcomers in the Bronze Realm is still relatively large. However, the silver realm masters will basically not have much effect.... Of course, if the will is strong enough, they can still complete this path smoothly."

"Is the road to trial in the Ryan Arena to test the will of the contestants?" Shaun pouted noncommittal. "However, the corridor-type magic circle can generally be changed by replacing a few nodes. I don't People who feel that they have the capital to contract the entire arena will only find such a trial road."

"Even if you change it. It's just an upgrade of the power effect. There is no way to change the specific effect." Cecilia denied Shaun's statement. No interest."

Sean shrugged, then reached out and rubbed Cecilia's head lightly, and smiled: "I'm really not interested. But I still have you."

I don't know if Sean's actions are too intimate, or if Sean's words are ambiguous, Cecilia's face became a little hot and flushed. It's just that Sean has already turned his head and looked forward at this moment, missing the beauty of Cecilia's face, because he has felt the carriage stop, but Sean is looking at the surroundings. There is still a short distance from the gate of blood.

"What's the matter?" Sean asked.

"There is a traffic jam, Lord Sean." Rina's voice came from the front of the carriage.

"Traffic jam?" Sean frowned, then opened the car door and jumped down.

Soon, he understood what Rena meant by traffic jam.

In front of Sean's carriage, there were already a whole number of ten carriages lined up. To say nothing, there were more than twenty carriages, and many of them were large-scale carriages that had been transformed. On the surface, these carriages are obviously much higher than Sean's carriages. Many of them have uniform configurations in terms of specifications and decorations. There is no doubt that these carriages are obviously sent by the surrounding countries this time. Seed players participating.

Martial Fight Festival, although nominally it is to celebrate Ryan's rise to a kingdom, in fact it is a military competition that competes with various strengths and backgrounds.

With regard to the part of the individual martial arts competition, Sean has already learned very clearly from Floris, so he naturally knows that during his period of time, he was busy transforming the bones and getting more proficient. Reese was also busy with the official holding of the Martial Fight Festival. As a martial arts event that spreads across the country, the people participating in it naturally cannot be those who are selected. After all, it is related to the future potential of a kingdom, so the civilians are naturally allowed to participate.

Basically, for events like this, for many civilians, this is simply an opportunity to soar into the sky. Therefore, the number of participants is actually as high as tens of thousands.

But after a series of selections and eliminations, only sixty-six people were able to participate in today's competition.

These sixty-six players include a total of 17 seeded players from five countries, including the United Nations of the Carrosa Tribe, the Kingdom of Hales, the Kingdom of Fascism, the Duchy of Robin, and the Kingdom of Lane. The other forty-nine people are Laing civilians who have used their own strength to fight through a series of audition competitions. They can participate in today's game with their personal strength, which means that they already have it. Enough strength.

In order to make enough time for the golden group. Therefore, the sixty-six people participating in the silver group competition will decide thirty-three people within one day today, and these thirty-three people will enter the second round of the competition tomorrow. In the future, in order to take into account the excitement and visibility of the game at the same time, these 33 people will decide 17 people in two days, and then nine people will be decided in two days to enter the third round of the game, and then draw lots. The form determines the last five contestants in a day.

Of course, as far as the flow of the event is concerned, there will be one person who does not need to participate in the game by.

When the final five is determined, the game in the silver group comes to an end, and the five players will get a one-week break.

As for the time of the week, it is the time for the golden group.

This time. The number of participants in the gold group is relatively large. There are a total of more than 200 participants from the five countries. According to the established process, these people will determine the top sixty-four within a week, and then after the top five in the silver group determine the last three, it will be the turn of the gold group. It's just that the second round of the Golden Group lasts as long as one month. These strong players will decide the quarterfinals within this month. For this reason, the Silver Division Championship and Asian Season Finals will only begin one and a half months later.

Rina and Cecilia have both confirmed to participate in the gold group competition. Today, both of them are obviously here to accompany Sean.

And when Xiao En went out today, he had already received the information prepared in advance by the Marquis of Floris. Today his opponent is a teenager from the Kingdom of Hales, perhaps because this person is from a foreign country, so he has very little information, just basic information such as name, height, weapons and habits that may be preferred. But the only thing is certain. It is that this person is not on the danger list.

The so-called danger list is just a few people that the Marquis of Floris told Sean to pay attention to.

According to this information, there are a total of five people worthy of Sean's attention in the Silver Division. One is a prince from the United Nations of the Karossa tribe, one is a descendant of a nobleman from the Kingdom of Hales, and one He is the grandson of a duke of the Fascist Kingdom. The last two are the twin grandsons of a prince from the Principality of Robin. These five people are not only powerful, but at the same time, the Marquis of Floris specifically explained that they must be merciful. If these five people die, then it is very likely that a new round of war will be caused, because their identities are too great. Too special.

This. Sean actually still has a little headache.

Because of these five people, two of them have received the best silver in their own country. It is not a simple matter to defeat such an opponent, at least Sean is very clear about what kind of strength the so-called "strongest silver" represents.

So Sean did not dare to guarantee anything to the Marquis of Flores. He could only say that he would let them live. As for whether the body could be intact, no one could tell. For this, the Marquis of Flores also expressed his understanding. After all, no one knew the situation of the battle, and the battle of the battle also had the purpose of weakening the strength of the enemy country.

At this time, in the arena, the sixth King Ryan, Ingus, was standing on the grand viewing platform and delivering speeches similar to leaders' congratulations. The envoys from several surrounding countries also smiled and amiable. Watching the speech of Ingus, of course, accompanied by the speech of King Ryan, the nobles and civilians in the arena also continued to make waves of applause.

From every aspect, this is obviously a magnificent and glorious beauty of Guotai Min'an.

But in fact, how turbulent the undercurrent is, you can see from the blood gate of the Arena at this moment.

Because in addition to the four countries of the Kingdom of Hales, the United Nations of the Carrosa Tribe, the Duchy of Robin, and the Kingdom of France, the people who came to the competition knew each other and knew the bottom line. Whether they were civilians or nobles in the Kingdom of Lane, they were all the same. Keeping a certain vigilance in his heart, this made Sean couldn't help but shook his head secretly.

Chapter 67: .War Fight Festival-Silver Vol 3 Chapter (2)

"In front of outsiders, I don't know the convergence point. I really let others show a joke." Suddenly, a voice sounded softly beside Xiao En.

Although the other party made the footsteps very quiet, in fact, Sean had already heard someone walking towards him early in the morning. So Sean was not surprised or showed other emotions at the sound that suddenly rang around him. He just glanced sideways at each other, a young man who was only 21 or 2 years old at the most, still had the unique immaturity on his face as a young man. People like this are in the eyes of Shaun and Maotou children. There is no difference. Although he is actually only two or three years older than his counterpart, his experience in the past three years has made Sean much more mature than his peers.

Maybe it's because I've heard of Sean's name a long time ago, so when this young man was stared at by Sean so directly, even if he tried to keep calm, his heartbeat suddenly accelerated and his eyes The expression he showed fully explained his nervousness.

"It seems you should know who I am." Sean said calmly.

"Yes." The young man swallowed, then took a deep breath, and the whole person became calmer.

Able to adjust one's own state at such a fast speed, this kind of person is more or less still has such a general style, at least no matter what kind of work they are engaged in, such a person can persist longer than others. Sean also had a little more appreciation in his eyes. Of course, it was more because he heard the other party's candid acknowledgment, rather than the hypocritical humility or other disguised emotions unique to the nobility.

"I am Duin from the Amila family, and my father is Count Drov." The young man named Duin Amila said in a deep voice, his face telling his family and his When his father was born, he was extremely proud, "I have always been very eager to see you, Lord Duke."

Sean remembers. The Drove collar is a piece of earl collar located north of King Ryan's capital, and the lord is a middle-aged man named Povia Amila. In the era of the Principality of Lane, he was known for his sturdy military achievements. In fact, it was his ability to turn the tide that the Amila family would not sell off the territory and become a defeated nobleman. But even so, it still couldn't make the whole family stand in the ranks of Ryan's top giants again.

In the original war against Darbion. This Duin Amila from the Amila family went to the Northwest Front with his father, and it is said that he has also achieved a lot of merit. Won the appreciation of Duke Devin. And this time, it was also Devin Sodder Sabre who used his power to make this young Master Duyin one of the seventeen seed players in the silver group to directly enter the competition.

"Oh?" Sean was a little confused.

In Ryan's court and field, De Wen is a radical commander, and his party members are actually quite strong. At least one-third of the military department are his people. And the Duke of Lane's sword, Duke Dewin, has publicly expressed his appreciation for Du Yin, so Du Yin has been labeled as Duke Dewin's faction anyway. This alone is considered from a political point of view. It is impossible for Wei Duin to show such enthusiasm when facing Sean.

Even, Sean can still see a trace of reverence in his demeanor.

This is even more confusing for Sean.

Because the entire Ryan aristocratic circle now knows that there is a juncture between the Void Duke Shawn and the "Duke of Duke".

"Although I may be overwhelmed by my ability to say this, but..." Du Yin's face showed a rare expression of embarrassment. "Since I heard about your deeds, Sir, I have been impressed by your bravery. Sir Sean, you are really the bravest among the nobles I have ever seen..."

"Puff...cough cough." Hearing Du Yin's affectionate confession, Cecilia couldn't help being the first one.

It's just that this chuckle is obviously a very rude thing no matter how you hear it. So after making a sound, Cecilia hurriedly reached out to cover her little mouth, perhaps because of the movement too hard, or perhaps because of the lack of breath, so Cecilia's chuckle soon became Violent coughing.

Sean hurriedly stretched out his hand to help Cecilia pat on the back smoothly, glaring at him irritably, but the doting in his eyes was also obvious.

Of course, Rina, who was standing on the other side, was really holding back a little bit hard, her face flushed slightly.

Seeing the weird reactions of the two people around Xiao En, Du Yin seemed to have realized something, his face became a little embarrassed, and he hurriedly explained: "Sir...Sir Xiao En, I didn't mean that, I justI just....."

In Ryan, there are indeed a considerable number of nobles who like men, and there are even some beautiful male pets like captive female pets. And Sean, as the Duke most respected by King Ryan today, his status is by no means comparable to that of the past. Ryan as a whole does not know how many women want to climb into his bed, and of course there are certainly many men. At least as long as Sean let out a little bit of wind, then there will definitely be people who will continue to recommend themselves.

At least, Du Yin knew that at the dinner after the canonization of many nobles, no less than double-digit marquis and counts brought their sons and daughters to attend. Except for those nobles with background and strength, the descendants brought by most nobles such as marquis and earl are not necessarily outstanding, but they are absolutely outstanding in appearance. It's just a pity that Sean didn't attend the dinner, so these nobles only regretted it.

At this time, what Du Yin said clearly meant to express worship, but there were indeed some ambiguities. If you were not very familiar with Du Yin, you would definitely think he was suggesting something.

Sean, Cecilia, Rena, and others don't understand Du Yin, but they also know that what he wants to say is not what he wants to say. At least he is really not implying anything, and there is no ambiguity. Because his attitude is very correct and his breath is also very stable, it is impossible for a person with such a correct attitude and peaceful atmosphere to suggest anything to Sean, unless of course he is a veteran who is already very familiar with these.

But how Du Yin looks at it, obviously he would not be a veteran.

Sean reached out and patted Du Yin on the shoulder, and smiled: "I know."

At this moment, a rumbling sound began to be heard from the Blood Gate, which immediately attracted everyone's attention.

Soon, someone started to walk out of the door of blood.

Sean's eyesight is of course pretty good, so it can be seen from a distance that this person still has a list in his hand, which is estimated to be the order of today's battle. At this time, because this person who seemed to be an insider of the Arena appeared, the competitors who were originally scattered around also began to move towards the Blood Gate. Although Sean knew who his opponent was, but It is also not clear which game he will be scheduled in, so he must also wait for the arrangement.

The insider who arranged the order of the battlefields gave a contemptuous glance at the people present, and focused on Rina and a few other people who did not look like Ryan's natives for a while, and then Shen Sheng said: "I don't care what you guys want to do, but the only ones who can enter this door for a while, you can only go to the side and wait. After the end, as long as you are still alive, you will continue from this. Come out, as for those who are dead, don't worry, someone will arrange for you to pick up the corpse."

For such threatening remarks, except for a few silver realm teenagers who may have no background status, they showed a little bit of diffidence and embarrassment, but the others were calm on their faces. Obviously most people are well aware of the possibility of losing their lives in the arena. At this time, they still choose to stand here, and they are fully psychologically prepared, at least not because of this. A few violent words of people were frightened.

"If you are ready, go in. This is your battle serial number card." The middle-aged man said in a deep voice, "The above has clearly stated what time you will compete in the field....Today's There is only one battle, so when your battle is over, as long as you are not already a corpse, you should leave through this door. Of course, if you become a corpse, you can rest assured, we promise you will send it out, Jiejie ..."

"Low energy." A man with short red hair snorted coldly.

It's just that his words are not the lingua franca of the mainland, but the official language of the Kingdom of Hales. Xiao En froze for a moment, and then realized that this is the auxiliary ability of the system. He didn't expect that the system would even retain this ability, which really surprised Sean.

However, Sean is noncommittal about the evaluation of this red-haired man.

Because this guy who seems to be an insider of the Arena is actually just a silver master, the reason why his aura is so strong is entirely because he is used to seeing blood in the Arena. Among the people present, basically few will be deterred by his aura, only those who are not sufficiently enlightened at all will be frightened by him, but he can only stop there.

Shaun glanced at the others and didn't make any movement, he directly stood out.

"Name." The middle-aged man still looked at all sentient beings.

Sean smiled slightly and said softly: "Sean Connery."

The look on the middle-aged man's face instantly became full of strange fear.

"Don't be nervous." Sean laughed softly, "Give me a brand."

"Yes, yes..." The middle-aged man wiped the sweat from his forehead, then hurriedly searched the identity register, and only a few seconds later he handed a card to Sean.

Sean looked down and saw that a number and time were simply written on it, but there was nothing else.

But Shaun knows that this is his time and place for the competition.

From the perspective of time, it is not too long. It is estimated that the first player will be the second one.

Chapter 68: .War Fight Festival-Silver Vol 3 Chapter (3)

Number: 3; Time: 10:25.

Participant: Sean Connery.

This is the information recorded on the ID card that Sean got.

The number next to the number is naturally the number of the battle arena. Like this number three, it means that Sean is asked to report to the third ring.

The scale of the Ryan Arena is as large as those of the imperial arena. Therefore, in fact, there are more than a dozen sub-area areas with an area of about 500 square meters and an area of more than one in the center. An open-air circular site of one thousand square meters. Basically, there are various duels in the Ziqi area every day for people to enjoy, and the most central open-air circular duel is open once a month, but on the third, six, nine, and twelfth of each year There will be a bigger * competition in four months.

But for this martial arts festival, the interior of the arena has naturally undergone a series of renovations and plans.

Although King Ryan's speech was arranged in the central open-air circular arena, due to the advance preparation of the magicians, his voice was naturally spread throughout the arena. After this speech was over, the official martial arts competition began, so naturally there was a flow of people in the arena at this time, and many people chose to go to the arena area of their interest to watch.

Of course, the most popular among them is Sean's No. 3 ring and several other ring competitions of geniuses who are obviously also valued by various countries.

Fortunately, due to the structure and layout of the arena, contestants entering through the blood gate do not need to act with other people, but have a special channel dedicated to them.

Following the instructions of the personnel in the arena, Xiao En soon came to the players' lounge in the third ring area.

Here, a young man is already closing his eyes and resting.

This is a young man with a little reddish hair, but it is not as red as the young man from the Hales Kingdom that Sean had seen before.

Shaun hasn't been in the Kingdom of Hales for long in the game, so it is naturally not clear about the customs and habits of this kingdom. The only thing Sean knew was that the Kingdom of Hales was a kingdom of pure bloodliness-basically there were only two types of people in the country, namely, red-haired nobles and variegated commoners.

The nobles of the Kingdom of Hales were all brothers who were granted by the founding emperor. If the blood is traced back, it is basically the same ancestor, so the nobles in the Kingdom of Hales will more or less have red hair. It is said that the source of the red hair color is due to the unique bloodline of its ancestors. Therefore, the brighter the red hair color, the purer the bloodline. Therefore, only people with red hair color are seen in the Kingdom of Hales. Basically, they must be nobles or their descendants.

As for the common people, the highest status they can obtain in their entire life is a real-power lifelong nobleman. However, although this aristocratic identity cannot be inherited hereditary, his children can also obtain a series of elite education that is not inferior to ordinary aristocrats before the death of their father, but whether they can climb back into the ranks of aristocrats again depends on their own efforts. With talent.

Although the system of the Kingdom of Hales is a bit deformed—compared to other countries, what is unexpected is that the Kingdom of Hales has strong cohesion and centripetal force. There has never been a reactionary born. This has indeed made many people. It's hard to understand. However, as Sean from the Earth Federation, it is not difficult to understand this, because the real technology and strength are in the hands of the upper nobles. Unless the people of the lower classes leave the country, they can only do things in full accordance with the rules of the game in the Kingdom of Hales.

Because of this, when Sean saw the Hales teenager in the lounge, Sean knew that the other person must be a blood relative of a Hales nobleman. Of course, if you judge from the hair color. The young man's blood is probably so thin that it's almost indistinguishable from the common people—this is also a manifestation of the extremely cruel competition in the Kingdom of Hales. Will be exiled by the family.

In the Kingdom of Hales, being exiled by aristocratic families usually only represents one meaning.

That is an orphan.

However, the young man in front of him may be lucky. Because his hair color is not enough to make him banished.

It's just that the more so, it usually means that such people are more dangerous.

Shaun sighed helplessly.

The Marquis of Floris did give Sean some basic information about the opponent, which naturally also included a portrait. However, the sketch of the portrait is black and white, so naturally there is no information about the color of the opponent's hair. Originally, Sean thought that the distant relative of a nobleman recorded in the document was just a kind of politeness, but he did not expect it to be a kind. Very implicit and modest statement.

In the Kingdom of Hales, a country of pure blood. The young man in front of Sean might not be able to enter the sight of aristocratic families above the earl rank for a lifetime, because for the Hales aristocrats of this level, he is no different from those orphans exiled by the family.

Hearing Sean's footsteps, the teenager slowly opened his eyes and looked at Sean with an unusually cold expression: "Are you my opponent in this round?"

Shaun gave a chuckle. Nodded slightly.

"Huh." But he didn't want to, the other party let out a more contemptuous sneer, "Then I advise you to surrender earlier."

"Why?" Sean knew that Hales like this were very tricky, but he didn't expect the other party to have the courage to let him surrender as soon as he spoke. Didn't the other party see that there is still a gap between the two of them? ?

Shaun felt that the other party was also very hard.

"You are not my opponent." The opponent said in a deep voice, "I will give you three seconds to surrender when you are on the court. If you are unwilling to surrender, it's okay, but I promise you will feel terribly overwhelmed by it. Regrets."

"Oh?" Sean felt that the other party was really very arrogant, and that this arrogance was far above his strength. To be ugly, it was completely equivalent to ignorance, "Then if I don't surrender, What would you do?"

"Then you will be very painful." The young man grinned. In the first half of the sentence, he still used the common Chinese language, but the second half of the sentence was in Hales' official language, "I will interrupt your limbs in an instant, and then You get stuck in your throat, making you completely speechless and unable to struggle. Let you fully feel the pain of suffocation and the fear of imminent death. At that time, you will regret why you did not follow my advice in the first place. "

Xiao En's face kept a trace of doubt in a timely manner.

Then he saw the bloodthirsty desire in the other's eyes.

He has some pitiful encounters with each other—in fact, for the Hales orphan like this on the verge of exile, Sean is indeed so pitiful. After all, their past lives may not be much better than Cecilia in that period of escape. Similarly, Sean also knew very well how much effort and price this poor young man had put in to finally stand here today to represent the Kingdom of Hales, but these are not reasons for Sean to sympathize with each other.

The teenager did not speak again, and Sean did not talk to him again.

Soon, a sound full of unique melody sounded, and Sean and the boy knew tacitly that it was time for the duel to begin. As a result, the two turned around and walked towards the aisles on the left and right. There are two aisles in these lounges, one side is red and the other is blue, which corresponds to the color of the identity cards in their hands. So there is no need to explain them and know which channel they are going to take.

After a short dark journey, the two saw light at the end of their respective roads.

With the approach of the exit, waves of cheers resounded one after another.

"Now! The two martial arts contestants have officially appeared!" A low voice sounded from the edge of the ring. His voice did not sound particularly loud, but it was very clear. This is obviously the credit of the sound amplification magic circle, "The blue one is Zodo from the Kingdom of Hales. Although he is only the power of the upper silver, he has survived for three minutes under the hands of the golden power. Battle record!"

Hearing the host's words, Sean finally knew why the other party had such an arrogant attitude.

From a certain perspective, there is an insurmountable gap between silver masters and gold masters. Only a few so-called "strongest silver" like Sean are barely qualified to challenge the gold powerhouse, but at most they can achieve a record similar to self-protection or the ability to escape from the gold powerhouse. If it wasn't for Sean himself who was not a native of this world, and he also had a panel of attributes that could be compared with the gold powerhouse, he would not be able to compete with the gold powerhouse at all.

So, Zuo Du can support for three minutes under the attack of a golden powerhouse, which really has enough arrogant qualities.

Especially this Hales teenager has not yet reached the level of the upper silver pinnacle. At best, it is at the level of Tier 6, Tier 8, or Tier 9. Of course, it does not rule out the suspicion that the golden powerhouse has mercy and let go of the water, but in this way, it can be more proof that the young Hales boy named Zudo does have the potential to be valued.

It's just that, although the host has tried his best to promote good things, he still failed to win the favor of the Lane people.

"Shhh!"

Shorts of boos and ridicule echoed in the surrounding stands, and even a few curses were mixed in it.

Tens of people who seemed to be the Kingdom of Hales were amidst the waves of boos and ridicule. His face looked very ugly. Obviously they did not expect such a result, so naturally a small physical conflict broke out in the stands. Fortunately, the conflict was not violent-of course, it may be due to the difference in strength. Anyway, it is a disadvantage. On the contrary, it was the Lion, but the conflict was quickly stopped.

"The red square is our Duke of the Void, Sean Connery!" After briefly introducing the Hales man named Zado, the host suddenly roared in an extremely excited voice. , "Regarding the deeds of the Void Duke, do you think I need to repeat it!?"

"No need!" A more fanatical shout almost overturned the entire dome of the third ring.

The young Hales boy named Zado coldly looked at the strong and obvious front-to-back attitude of the audience in the stands. He gritted his teeth with a grim expression, and then he looked at the position about two hundred meters away. Sean. According to Zudo, he doesn't think that Sean is so powerful. After all, Sean is also a few years older than him. He very subjectively thinks that Sean is nothing but an aristocrat who grew up with the help of his ancestors. , Even he thought that the so-called "Void Duke" was just a nickname, because he had never seen such a young Duke.

Of course, I heard that there are still some. After all, in some ancient countries, if a duke suddenly died suddenly, it was naturally his eldest son to succeed him. Ryan had just been promoted to a kingdom, and he actually gave such an important dukedom to a young man. This must also be a kind of appeasement method for the emperor's mind.

"I will stun you guys for a while." Zuodu whispered with a grim look, "I will let a guy faint in front of you like this, and I will even make him incontinence!"

Nothing, it's more exciting than humiliating a duke in front of the people of the Ryan Kingdom.

Even if the duke is just an embroidered pillow.

"Regarding the judgment of victory or defeat, as long as one party surrenders, it will be deemed to be over. Once someone surrenders and the other party continues to take action, then both parties will be disqualified from continuing to compete. Of course, if one of the other parties is ruled to lose If the fighting ability is too large or the difference between each other's strength is too large, then one party will be directly judged to be disqualified." The routine is normal, the guy who is similar to the host continued to say in a deep voice. "The winner will enter the next round of competition.... Finally, I have to remind both of you that although there are no restrictions in the competition, I still try my best to hope that no one will die here.... Please prepare!"

Sean moved his hands and feet a bit, and then pulled out the long sword on his waist.

This is a black long sword—whether it's the hilt or the blade or even the blade. They are all dark and dull like an abyss, and they seem to have an unspeakable dark aura, but there is no dark aura from the entire long sword.

This is the product of Shaun's first phase of transformation of the dead bones, the Black King.

Although the entire long sword has not been completely remodeled, it is still impossible to see the specific attribute values and related special abilities, but after some tests, Sean can be sure that this long sword does bring him absolute agility. Growth advantage. And at the same time. The long sword also comes with dual special effects of breaking magic and breaking energy-the former can directly annihilate all magical reaction effects; the latter has the effect similar to "sword wound. Dark rout" that can reduce the power of all fighting spirit skills.

Only these few changes are enough to make the value of the black king far beyond the dead bones.

At the same time, it has also demonstrated that the future value and power of the black king must be above the dead bones.

Checked his own situation a bit, and after making sure that there was no problem, Sean made a gesture-this is one of the rules of the Ryan Arena. Any game must be confirmed by both sides before it can start. The young man named Zuodu made the ready gesture a few minutes before Sean: he made this gesture almost when the host said "please prepare for both parties."

After confirming that both parties are ready. The host didn't talk nonsense, he just shouted: "The game begins!"

In an instant, Sean had fully understood the fighting style of the young Hales boy Zodu.

This is also a person who relies on agility to eat, and it is still a relatively rare advanced class of fast pirates.

This teenager has excellent reflex nerves and dynamic vision, because he rushed towards Sean almost at the moment when the host announced the start of the game-even though Sean had already chosen to shoot at the same time. . However, several turns in high-speed movement in succession failed to escape Zodo's lock.

Both sides are charging each other at extremely fast speeds.

Although the field of the arena is nearly 500 meters, in fact, the two sides are only less than two hundred meters apart. Such a large range of space is just for the battle to have more room for play. But when faced with two contestants who choose to go fast, such a wide field naturally becomes a decoration, because the two sides will have a contact battle in three seconds.

Fifty meters.

30 meters.

Eleven meters.

When the distance was close to a distance long enough for Sean to shoot, Zuo Du's eyes instantly locked on Sean's right shoulder. For any action such as slashing, slashing, etc., the first reaction must be the shoulder of the hand holding the sword.

From this point of view, Zuodu's actual combat experience is obviously also very rich.

When he saw Sean's right shoulder move, his speed suddenly increased again, but he rushed towards Sean without retreating, and at the same time his eyes moved from Sean's right shoulder to On Sean's sword.

This is a special ability he has mastered in countless life and death trials, and only a special ability that he can possess with enviable dynamic vision like him: judging the enemy's attack trajectory. Of course, in the game, you also have matching skills-this is a very difficult passive skill. After mastering this skill, you can see the trajectory of almost all tangible attacks.

Zuodu was able to see a sword stabbed by Sean at this time.

My left shoulder? —Zado sneered, then turned sideways a little, he knew that he was already looking forward to victory.

So at this time, the distance between him and Sean is less than four meters, and just let him go one step further. Then he can lock all of Sean's attack distances, so that the rhythm of the battle will completely fall into his control, and then he can realize the words he said to Sean in the lounge before.

Avoid sideways, success!

Zuo Du successfully flashed through Sean's attack, and his face instantly showed the excitement of the imminent victory.

But!

In the next moment, he felt a sudden sharp pain in his limbs!

what happened! ?

Zuodu's mind became a little dazed and blank at this time, and he could not understand what was going on. But he can at least know that he has definitely been attacked. Suddenly, Zuo Du's first reaction was to immediately withdraw and retreat. He had to stretch the distance first. Then figure out how the opponent attacked him, otherwise he would never win this battle.

From this point of view, Zuodu's response and battle experience are indeed very rich and sufficient.

It's a pity that his opponent has combat experience and skills that can almost be said to be among the top group of people in this world.

The consciousness of retreating and pulling a distance had reached the body from Zudo's mind, but his body did not faithfully accept it. Instead, they disobeyed like soldiers who did not obey orders. So in the next second, all the spectators on the ring could clearly see the scene of Zuo Du falling to the ground.

Even though these people didn't figure out what happened, they didn't even catch the traces of Sean and Zado from beginning to end, but at this time they still broke out an amazing wave of cheers. Only those people from the Kingdom of Hales looked at the court with a solemn expression. With their strength, they could only barely see the two figures of Zodo and Sean, but how did Zodo get the trick? of. They also couldn't see clearly.

"No wonder you were so arrogant in the lounge before." Xiao En smiled slightly, and then retracted the sword. "It turns out that you have mastered two special abilities.... Fast capture and see through. I thought it was Jin Qiang who played against you. It's not true that you can support you for three minutes. It seems that I was wrong. There is really no problem with these two abilities to support you for three minutes."

"Are you humiliating me!" Sado roared.

"Yeah, I am really humiliating you." Sean smiled and nodded. "Let me think about it, what did you say in the lounge just now?"

Shaun took a step forward while pretending to be contemplative, and then stepped on Zuodu's throat with one foot.

This action naturally makes Zuodu feel difficult to breathe.

But. Although he wanted to reach out and pull Sean's feet off, no matter how he gave orders in his mind, his hands and feet did not move at all.

"Don't waste your effort." Sean leaned down slightly, then said with a smile.

And Zuo Du, when he heard Shaun's words, his face became harder to look.

Not only because of breathing difficulties, but also because of fear, because Shaun speaks the official language of the Kingdom of Hales. Usually when a person can speak the official language of a certain country, it also means that the other party can fully understand the official language of the country. In other words, the threat and the humiliation that Zodo had made to Sean in the lounge before, Sean naturally listened to all of them without missing a word.

"I have cut all your limbs and veins, so you can't control your body." Sean continued in Hales' official language, "And, I'm stepping on your throat again, do you feel Is it difficult to breathe?... Hey, does it look like what you said to me just now? What's interrupting your limbs, and then stuck your throat, making you completely speechless and unable to struggle, let you fully Feel the pain of suffocation and the fear of imminent death.'...Well, how do you feel?"

While talking. Sean's feet also increased their strength.

Soon, Zuo Du's face rose like pig liver.

But at this moment, Sean's right foot relaxed slightly.

Zuo Du immediately made a violent coughing sound, but after a second. He was like a drowning man finally saved, and he began to gasp desperately, breathing fresh air. Even the Hales in the stands could see Zodo's chest that undulated violently like a blow drum.

"It's better to breathe fresh air." Xiao En's right foot added gravity again, and Zuo Du immediately fell into the pain of suffocation.

After repeating this way two or three times, whether it is in the stands, the host or even the so-called referees, they have already seen that the situation is not good at this time. It was just a matter of whether he should immediately rule that Zudo was unable to fight, but he was caught in a debate, because Zudo did not seem to have been seriously injured at this time. Obviously, he was still capable of fighting, but why didn't he get up. But no one knows.

"I, I recognize..."

Without waiting for Zuo Du to say the word "lost", Xiao En stepped on it again, leaving him completely speechless.

"There are some things, don't say it too early." Sean said with a sullen face. Shen Sheng said.

"You...what the * do you want to do!"

"Tell me your skills to see through." Xiao En said in a deep voice.

"What are the techniques for seeing through?" Zuodu was a little confused.

"That's how you saw that I wanted to pierce your right shoulder." Sean continued.

See through, this is a passive skill known as melee magic skill, it can see through almost all tangible attacks. Although this passive skill can only see the general attack range at a relatively low level, once it reaches a high level, then you can see the aiming point like a quasi-center. At that time, for melee combatants, it would simply be dodge as you want, block as you want, parry as you want, and counterattack as you want.

Of course, the proficiency points required to burn skills are also extremely large.

However, in terms of the difficulty of acquiring this skill, a large number of proficiency points are not a big deal.

Sean failed to acquire this skill in the game. It's just to hear that it is powerful. Now that he has an official chance to acquire this skill, how could he possibly miss it.

"Even if I tell you, you can't learn it!" Hearing Sean's words, Zuo Du immediately refuted without hesitation. "This needs..."

Xiao En stepped on it with one foot, and soon Zuo Du let out a violent coughing sound.

"You just need to tell me, you can say it or not." Sean said coldly, "If you say it, I will let you go. But if you don't say it, I'm sure you will never live long... But you can rest assured that I will not kill you here, but you have to know that I am a duke. How much do you think I can make you disappear secretly in King Ryan?" At this point, Sean said again. Hals' official language added: "Of course, you can barely survive at the beginning, but you will happen when you are alive. Sometimes it's a terrible thing to live. But if you're willing to tell me, I'm still There is a way to heal your injury, and even to make your strength further there is no problem."

Ben still had a stubborn face, obviously not bowing his head easily, but when he heard Xiao En's last words, his face showed a trace of hope for survival.

For an exile like Zado, who is almost indistinguishable from an orphan in Hales, after being abolished by Sean, his family will definitely abandon him completely, and he will become a more orphan than an orphan. The useless people are even more useless. In order to prove himself, he kept working hard and even paid a lot of price to have today's marginal person, this kind of result is obviously more uncomfortable than killing him.

Therefore, at the beginning, he did put his life and death out of the picture, and it was meaningless to live anyway. And being able to see the appearance of Sean deflated, Zudo also thought it was a very pleasant thing, so of course he would not tell Sean the secret of "seeing through".

But I have to say that Sean is indeed worthy of the title of "God Stick".

A few simple words shook Zuodu.

"I...I can tell you." Zuo Du said in a deep voice, "But how do you guarantee?"

"I don't need to assure you, and you are not qualified to bargain." Sean removed his right foot from Zudo's throat, "You can only choose to take a gamble."

Chapter 69: .War Fight Festival-Silver Vol 3 Chapter (4)

As Sean expected, his game was in the first game, and he was also very honored to be the first winner on the Ryan Kingdom side, as well as the first participant to successfully advance to the second round of the competition.

Thirty-three martial arts competitions, the first 13 games are scheduled to start in the morning.

Ten of the twenty-six contestants were seeded players. Among them, Sean was the first contestant to confirm the promotion. The entire game took only 30 seconds, which was a full advance than the second contestant who confirmed the promotion. One minute. When Sean's record was announced, even if the seeded players in several other countries despised the Kingdom of Lane, they still had to remember the name Sean Connery in their minds, while those of other countries that accompanied them The spy personnel were already busy at this time.

Just as the Marquis of Flores could not provide Sean with accurate information about the silver contestants of other countries, the spies of these countries could not accurately collect the information of other contestants. In fact, everyone, including the Kingdom of Fascism, didn't really pay attention to the game of the silver group from the beginning. They all put their energy into the game of the gold group-until Sean turned out.

Especially a side of the Kingdom of Hales.

Zuodu's strength, they are very clear, otherwise he would not be one of the three representatives of the Hales Kingdom participating in the silver group martial arts festival.

This time, of the 17 seeded players, there are only three in the Kingdom of Lane, and the remaining 14 places are divided among the other four countries. Among them, the Kingdom of Fascism occupies the most places. There are five people; followed by the Robin Principality with four, and then the Hales Kingdom's three; and the Karosan tribe, which is stronger than the Robin Principality in terms of overall national strength and other aspects, the United Nations has There are only two places.

From this point, it can be seen. Even the Fascist Kingdom, which was almost wiped out by the Chenas Empire, is still far superior to the surrounding countries in the Southern Continent in terms of national potential and heritage.

However, when the first game was over, the people of Hales Kingdom did not find Zado.

It is like the world has evaporated, even if the Kingdom of Lane sent people to assist in the search after hearing of the accident, it still could not find the trace of Zudu. But in fact, at the end of the battle. Everyone already knows the outcome of this game: Zodo's limbs were abolished by Sean. If there is no person above the level of the High Priest of the Life Church, Zodo will not be able to recover in the future.

As a descendant of a marginal aristocrat whose hair color is not so pure and bright. Zuodu's family is obviously unlikely to spend too much money to treat him, and the greater possibility is to completely abandon it. But at this moment, the attitude of the Hales Kingdom was completely different from their usual habits, and there was an attitude of never giving up unless Zudo was found. As long as it is someone who understands the customs of Hales and has a slightly normal mind. They all know what their purpose is.

Looking at the scenery on both sides of the street constantly retreating, while the gate of Royal Capital of Ryan was close at hand, a light sigh suddenly came from inside the carriage.

"My words have always been counted. Since you have told me the secret you have seen, then I will heal your problem." Sean's voice sounded inside the carriage.

"I just don't understand." The person who replied, it was the Mr. Zudo who was looking for in the Kingdom of Hales at this time, "Even if I tell you what you call the see-through. But you can't be like me. If you can quickly capture all the movement trajectory, you still can't grasp it."

"That's not necessarily." Xiao En smiled slightly. But obviously he no longer intends to continue this topic.

And Zuo Du, after realizing that Sean did not intend to continue this topic, he also chose to remain silent. Of course, this situation also has a great relationship with his mentality at this time, because the choice he made at this time is already obviously betraying the kingdom of Hales, and as a native and accepting Hales since childhood People with elite education in the kingdom, of course, are accompanied by a very strong mentality of struggle under this mentality.

Soon, the carriage left the city gate and drove to the suburbs.

It was already mid-afternoon, and it had been two or three hours since leaving the Ryan Arena.

Looking at the scenery outside the car window began to gradually turn green, and the pedestrians were getting weaker and weaker, Zuo Du knew that they had begun to move away from the scope of the royal capital.

After about ten minutes or so, the carriage finally stopped.

"You are waiting here."

Shaun reached out and opened the door of the carriage, and then jumped to the ground in one step.

And Zuo Du, struggling to get close to the car window, cast his gaze on the flat ground outside the window, and then he saw a scene that made his heart beat faster.

About thirty riders wearing adventurer's cloaks are in the clearing not far from him, and there is a wagon that looks a little shabby next to him. But if you look closely, you can still see that this carriage is not a dilapidated carriage, but it has been deliberately modified to become like this. In fact, this carriage should be a new one that was just built in the factory. Brand new carriage.

However, it was not the carriage that really made Zado's heart beat, but the dozens of riders scattered around the carriage.

The aura exuding from these riders is unusually cold and powerful. Almost everyone has an aura that is not inferior to his own. This is enough to prove that each of these riders has at least the strength of upper-level silver. And the most commendable thing is that the aura from these riders can be perfectly harmonious, forming a more massive and terrifying aura, even the lower gold powerhouse may have a dispute.

Knights.

A special noun suddenly broke into Zudo's mind.

Seeing the appearance of Sean and others, one of the riders rolled over and got off the horse, and then walked straight towards Sean. He knelt on one knee until he was in front of Sean: "Lord Lord, the Scarlet Knights are ready and ready to go. "

"Then this person will be handed over to you." Sean said in a deep voice, "You will bring him back to the Void City. Let Hitley treat him."

"Yes." Dwight, the leader of the Scarlet Knights, replied in a deep voice, and then with a wave of his hand, the dozens of knights quickly gathered around. Protecting the carriage in the middle, two of the knights dismounted, then replaced the horses on the carriage, and then sat in the coachman's position.

The whole process was completed in silence, and the speed was exceptionally fast, without the slightest sluggishness, and seeing Zuodu's heart was shocked again.

After confirming that all work is completed. Dwight bid farewell to Rina and Sean, and then led the team quickly towards the direction of Fort Tonys. Almost after going out about a hundred meters, there was another team about to ride and Dwight to complete the rendezvous. As a result, the momentum of the entire army has become a bit heavier. According to Dwight's previous arrangements, before arriving at Tonys Fortress next, the Scarlet Knights' squads that will be sent out for investigation along the way continue to come and converge and bring all kinds of intelligence. Ensure safety on the road.

Watching this team leave. Sean returned to the carriage brought by Dwight and others. At this time, she had simply disguised herself and Rina had refitted her horse, and then sat in the driver's seat and drove the carriage back to King Ryan. All.

Compared with the situation when he came out, the speed was obviously faster when he returned to the capital, but Xiao En, who was sitting in the carriage under the control of Rena, did not feel any bumps.

In this way, it is also very convenient for Sean to think in the carriage.

Seeing through this passive skill, known as a magical skill, Sean has also started from Zodu, but after starting it, Sean is somewhat confused about the authenticity of this skill. Because the activation of this skill only requires six proficiency points. And this also means that this passive skill is just a regular fifth-order skill or a special fourth-order skill in the system's judgment, which is quite different from the so-called "magic skill". It is even more inconsistent with the so-called "skilled point consumer" in Sean's impression.

After seeing big players such as Requiem, Soul Restoration, Dance of Breaking Wind, and Snow Wind, who consume dozens of proficiency points at every turn, Sean's impression of this legendary skill has always been dozens of points. , And the current situation makes Sean feel puzzled. After all, he now has strict requirements for the allocation of proficiency points. If this skill is really the one he knows, then it is necessary to consume six proficiency points to activate it, but if it is not the one he knows Divine skills, then consume proficiency points to activate, it will naturally become a very wasteful thing.

This is the reason for Sean's contemplation in a dilemma.

I don't know how long it took, the greenery outside the car window began to disappear, but people began to increase. At this time, many people were going back to the city, and Rina drove a carriage and mixed into the flow of people entering the city. . Judging from past experience, judging by the current team situation, it may take more than 40 to 50 minutes to enter the city, and returning to the Duke's mansion will almost be in time for dinner.

No one will know that Sean had secretly left the royal capital halfway.

"Boom boom."

Outside the carriage, someone was knocking on the door.

Both Sean and Rena were surprised, because neither of them felt the human breath approaching. And being able to avoid the perception of Rena and Sean is enough to prove that this person's strength is definitely not weak, at least if the other party wants to play assassination, I am afraid it has already succeeded.

"It's me." It seemed that he had guessed what Sean and Rena were thinking at this time, and the person who knocked on the carriage door said, "Flores."

Sean was taken aback, but still opened the door of the car, Floris was not welcome, and stepped into the carriage.

After entering the carriage, Sean could see clearly that Floris looked very sloppy and messy at the moment, and he was also full of alcohol, like a tramp who would be drunk to death on the side of the road at any time, no different from what he used to be. This shrewd and capable calm temperament is completely different. It's just that when Sean saw Floris's eyes, he knew that the middle-aged man's outfit at this time was just a disguise.

"What? I really thought I was drunk?" Floris chuckled, then poured some wine in his hand, patted himself a few times, and then took another sip of the wine. Is it full of alcohol and mouth full of alcohol?...You guys are really hard to find, I knew you must have taken the young Hales away. In this royal capital, there is nothing but you. Others have such a method."

"Then how did you find me?" Sean was still a little puzzled.

"This is even simpler." Floris curled his lips. "I rushed to the city gate to wait as soon as I received the news of the boy's disappearance. Then I remembered the characteristics of every wagon that went out of town. "

"Every carriage?" Sean was a little surprised.

"Every one." Floris smiled and nodded. "Although your carriage has been replaced, the horse and the driver have not been replaced, so I guessed it was you....Of course, it doesn't matter if you guess wrong. Who would have trouble with a drunkard? In fact, it is definitely yours, or it is because of your breath that instantly changed when I knocked on the car door.... Well. I have only seen this kind of breath in you."

"Your nose is really as sensitive as the rumors." Xiao En sighed helplessly, "What if I enter through another city gate?"

"Then you will find that the king is more strict than you think." Marquis Floris smiled triumphantly. "No matter which door you enter from, you will eventually pass through the recording point I arranged in advance. There I have hired some painters to work there, so no matter what, I will be able to find you. Lord Void Lord."

"Okay." Shaun raised his hands in a somewhat helpless gesture of surrender. "Then what is the attitude of His Majesty the King now?"

"Anything that can make all potential enemy countries unpleasant, Your Majesty is very welcome." Marquis Floris showed a tacit look, "But this time I am looking for you, in fact, there are still some things I want to tell you. "

When the Marquis of Floris called himself "you", Sean's expression also became serious.

I saw the Marquis of Floris drew a document from under his shaggy coat and handed it to Sean. The latter took it with a solemn expression, and then opened it to check. The above was just a simple record of a person's walking path in the royal capital. In addition, there are some simple personal data records. It could be seen that the guy who was stared at by the Marquis of Floris was obviously not from Lane. Therefore, almost all of his past and related background resume materials are blank.

After simply flipping through the information, Sean looked up at Floris with some doubts.

"Can't you see it?" Floris asked with a smile.

Shaun looked down again, and this time he quickly discovered something unusual.

In this person's path, more than 80% of the locations are various hotels, taverns and other places in the Royal Capital of Ryan. Even other places, they are basically places where information can be exchanged or obtained.

"This is?" Sean looked up, "Spy?"

"I don't think so." The Marquis of Flores shook his head, "Intuition tells me that the other party is here for you."

"Come for me?" Sean became even more puzzled. "Is it from Darbion?"

"No." The Marquis of Floris shook his head. "Although Ryan's management is relatively lax due to the battle of sacrifices, and there are many more powerful people coming and going, Dabian's old party has basically been registered on the list. , Even if they were lucky enough to infiltrate the Tonys Fortress and enter the hinterland of Ryan, it is not easy to reach the royal capital.... And after learning about this person, I also sent the shadow to investigate, and then I found the other party It came from the north."

"North?" Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, and then reacted, "Where is the trade capital?"

The Marquis of Floris nodded.

Shaun looked down at the other party's information again, and found that the strength assessment item was filled with the uppermost gold peak, but the words extremely dangerous in scarlet were marked next to him. So Xiao En asked again: "Extremely dangerous high-level golden peak? Is this person that strong?"

"Shadow's report is usually not wrong. Since he marked extreme danger, it proves that this person is very dangerous." The Marquis of Flores said in a deep voice, as if to prevent Shaun from distrusting, he added again, " I have personally spied on the situation. The aura exuding from him is not strong, but it does give me a tingling scalp. Even if I personally kill him, the success rate will not exceed 50%."

Hearing the words of the Marquis of Floris, Sean finally had to face the middle-aged man whose portrait had been drawn.

This is a middle-aged man with a very handsome appearance. The traces of the years do not seem to leave too many traces on his body. Or it didn't ruin his appearance, but added an extraordinary mature charm to him. Even if only through the depiction of black and white sketches, Sean could feel the mature vicissitudes of life emanating from him. There is also the bohemian free and easy temperament that seems to be born, just as mellow and charming as a bottle of old wine.

Obviously, this painter is not an ordinary painter, and he is definitely attracted by the temperament of the other person, otherwise it is impossible to draw such a vivid portrait.

It can be said that it is the existence of beautiful men like this. If Sean has seen it, he will never forget it. But in fact. Even if he searched all the corners of his mind, he didn't have any impression—either in this world or in the game world at the beginning. There is no impression of this person at all.

And even the Marquis of Floris, the Dark King, said that he was an extremely dangerous person who could only assassinate at most 50%, but he came for himself. How could Sean ignore him? To know that only from the hand revealed by the Marquis Floris just now when he approached the carriage, Sean knew that if the Marquis Floris wanted to kill himself, it would definitely be a breeze. Even with Rina's protection, she absolutely can't stop it.

this moment. Sean finally knew what this "extremely dangerous" meant.

Seeing the solemn expression on Sean's face, the Marquis of Flores spoke again: "It seems that you really don't know this person."

"I really don't know." Shaun shook his head, "I don't have any impression at all."

"Then recently, during non-competitions, you'd better stay in the mansion and don't run around." Marquis Floris suggested, "After all, in the Ducal Mansion, you still have the advantage of the terrain, and I believe that your followers will also It's not a display...At least, if you want to play an assassination in the opponent's situation, it's impossible to do it."

"Why?" Sean was curious.

"The breath on his body is just like the light shining from a beacon in the dark. Anyone with a keen sense can't ignore it." Floris said. "A person like him is obviously not suitable for assassination and other means, and no matter how you look at it, he is obviously not a low-key... or a low-key person, so if he really goes to your house to trouble you, then it must be a head-to-head approach. At that time, it will surely alarm the real powerhouses in the capital."

"So you mean, even if he comes to trouble me, it will be after the martial arts festival is over?" Xiao En asked rhetorically.

"This possibility is very high." The Marquis of Floris nodded and replied, "Of course, if the other party does not know your existence, then he will definitely not trouble you. Just looking at the situation of the martial arts festival, I think it's impossible to know your situation, unless..."

"Unless I give up the martial arts festival?"

The Marquis of Floris nodded.

"What does your Majesty mean?" Sean was silent for a moment, and then asked.

"Let you make your own decision." Flores replied, "Compared to winning the silver group to show strength, His Majesty believes that a living Void Duke is more valuable. Moreover, it is more suitable to be a hole card."

"I see." Xiao En nodded, but did not answer the question of whether to continue participating in the martial arts festival.

In fact, Sean agreed to participate in this martial arts festival, mostly for the sake of Ryan's stability. After all, his current situation is still tied to the chariot of the Kingdom of Lane, so the two sides are actually in a situation where both sides are in a state of prosperity. The other reason is that Sean is still waiting for the Trade Chamber Alliance to send the things he needs. Although food and slaves will be shipped directly to the Void Neck, things like elemental gems will still be in the capital. The transaction is completed here.

But regardless of whether he continues to compete, Rena and others still have to participate in the martial arts competition of the gold group, so in the end, he still has to stay here for a while.

"Actually, I'm quite curious, why do you think this person is here for me?" Sean suddenly asked.

"It's still because of the breath."

"Breath?" Sean was a little dazed.

"I will notice this man because of his work in Yorktown."

About the Yorktown incident, Sean knows, because there are records in this information.

The middle-aged man clashed with a mercenary group in a tavern in Yorktown, and a battle broke out between the two sides.

For Ryan, who was still in the state of the duchy at that time, the mercenary group was not a weak one. At least there were two high-level gold powers and a few high-level silver pinnacle masters in the team. Such a mercenary group is already considered. Shanghai is a very powerful team.

But this team was wiped out by this middle-aged man with a record of annihilation in less than a minute.

Originally such a thing, the Principality of Ryan would not care about it. But the biggest flaw lies in the fact that because both sides are fighting at the strong level, half of the residents of Yorktown were involved in the battle, so the battle resulted in the deaths of more than two hundred civilians. As a result, this middle-aged man was naturally targeted by the Principality of Ryan. It's just that before the Principality of Ryan made a decision on how to deal with this person, news of the victory in the war against Darbion came, so he entered the preparations for the Principality to be upgraded to the kingdom. The next thing is naturally the original. With the idea that more is worse than less, coupled with the fact that this person also compensated for the damage caused to Yorktown afterwards, so the Principality of Lane changed the idea of using force against this person.

Unexpectedly, this person went all the way south from Yorktown, until recently entered the Royal Capital of Lane.

However, after entering the Royal Capital of Ryan, the opponent has always been on the safe side and has not done anything out of the ordinary. But the Marquis of Flores still felt that this person was a bit weird, so he sent people to follow up and investigate this, so naturally he also had the information in Sean's hand.

"He has an aura very similar to you."

This is the last word the Marquis of Floris said to Sean.

Chapter 70: .War Fight Festival-Silver Vol 3 Chapter (5)

A steak filled with purple and black sauce was placed on a wooden table by a waiter.

On this wooden table, there are already six empty iron plates. Looking at the remaining purple-black sauce and some minced meat on the iron plates, you can imagine what the empty plates are before. Next to the empty plate, there is a bottle of wine left over one-third of the time and some leftover food that also uses meat as the main ingredient.

These things seem ordinary, but anyone who has lived in the capital for a few years will know that this meal alone may cost an average family of three for a month.

The knives and forks covered with minced meat began to dance again under the operation of the diners.

This eater has a silky and silk-like purple and waist-long hair. This hair color is extremely rare on Miracle Land, because in many areas, purple is considered an ominous color, usually associated with demons or demons. Something related. However, in some areas with more developed civilizations, even in places such as the Emilia Empire, many people dye their hair purple because of the trend, and this trend is gradually spreading to the entire miracle continent.

No one can be sure whether this diner's hair color is congenital or acquired.

But at least, no one will pursue this issue at this moment.

In this high-end restaurant even in a place like King Ryan, many people looked at the purple hair diners, and they were a little fascinated.

Because he has an almost perfect face.

The years did not seem to leave any traces on him. No matter how you look at him, he should be considered young. At least not more than thirty-five years old. At this age, it happens to be the most attractive period for a man-a man with purple hair has a vicissitudes of maturity that ordinary people don't, like the kind of person who knows that there is a story at a glance. However, compared to crude mercenaries and adventurers, this man's behavior has the elegance of aristocracy.

The two completely opposite vocabulary, wild and elegant, have been perfectly integrated in this man.

People like this are naturally very attractive to women.

This is especially proven in this restaurant-close to two-thirds of the entire restaurant's customers are women, and these women now forget about reserved words and look at the name Zi The hair of the man's gaze is almost like a hungry beast that is staring at its prey.

but. A few people are exceptions.

In a remote corner far away from the purple-haired eater, four people are also looking at him, but their eyes are calm with a scrutiny.

"How do you feel?" Sean asked.

Cecilia at the same table shook her head first: "It's really very strange. Obviously there is no magic wave, but his body has a very strong magical aura. It's like... a pure natural magical creature, but... ..I have secretly used three methods to detect magical creatures, and there is no reaction on him. All of this fully explains. The other party is a human being."

After a pause, Cecilia's face also showed a little uncertainty for the first time: "...or is it a humanoid? Anyway, the only certainty is that the opponent is definitely not a magical creature or a summoned creature. ."

"I don't know how to evaluate." After Cecilia spoke, Rena took the call, as simple and straightforward as her style. "But he gave me the feeling of panic and despair. Very depressed mood. I really want to go up and fight each other like this.... But reason is telling me that if I really go up to trouble him. Then it must be me who is half dead."

For Rena, Sean is easier to understand.

During battle, the more people who are unable to calm down and control their emotions, the easier it is to die.

As for a man who has experienced many battles like Rena, at this time, he still has almost flustered mood, which is enough to prove how terrible the other party's aura is. In the same way, Sean finally understood why the Marquis of Flores would say that the other party was not a low-key person, because from the beginning to the end, the other party did not have the slightest idea of converging aura, so he naturally integrated his own aura into his aura. Then it radiated out, as if it was a fight against the entire world, wishing everyone would go up and find his troubles.

The more sensitive people are, the more dangerous they can feel, but because of this, they will be strongly oppressed by the opponent in their aura, and for the strong, they will naturally have a kind of eagerness to vent it. Manic feeling. In this way, it will naturally take over the battle book issued by the opponent subconsciously, and then have a lively battle with the opponent.

But anyone who is a little bit sane will subconsciously resist the temptation to fight.

Because the opponent is too dangerous.

With Rina's current strength, even the strong in the half-step Sanctuary can easily suppress it, even the strong in Sanctuary has at least full escape ability. After all, Rina has officially awakened the dragon bloodline and became a veritable dragon. . But she still said that if she rushed to trouble the other party, she would definitely be the one who died in the battle, which is enough to prove that the opponent's strength has become an incredible level.

At the very least, it can be regarded as the strongest gold level, and it is also the strongest gold at the level of a domain.

"It's almost like a demonic leader running around in the human world with a frenzy halo." Sean muttered to himself, then turned his head and looked at the third person at the same table, "Nio, what do you think? "

"I dare not initiate the detection of evil." Xuefanio looked helpless, "but the feeling on him makes me dislike it, there is a kind of uncomfortable feeling.... Although the breath is somewhat similar to you, but it is It's not as gentle as you, but it's filled with a crazy frenzy."

"I probably understand." Sean nodded, "It looks like he really has a frenzy aura."

"Frenzy Halo? What is that?" The three women and men at the table with Sean all expressed their confusion.

"Uh..." Xiao En froze for a moment, and suddenly didn't know how to explain the concept of "halo skills" to the three. "You can simply understand it as a kind of temperament. It's like leader temperament, scholar temperament... What exudes from him is a frenzied temperament."

Although this explanation is a bit far-fetched, at least Cecilia and others can understand it.

"He is leaving." Cecilia, who was just in a position to observe the purple-haired eater, suddenly said.

The other three turned their heads and happened to see the other side taking out a few gold coins from the purse to check out. At the same time, at least nearly one-third of the people in the restaurant also asked for checkout. However, the restaurant's manpower is really limited. Naturally, it is not possible to meet the checkout requests of so many customers at the same time, and many people immediately become annoyed. When I got up, the whole restaurant fell into a chaotic manic atmosphere for a while.

Shaun's eyes narrowed slightly at this time, because he smelled an unusual breath.

Just as the man finished checking out and was about to leave, there was obviously a quiet change in his breath-not converging, but suddenly increasing, which caused the already agitated atmosphere to instantly change into chaos. But it was not this that really made Sean frown. It was the moment when the opponent's aura quietly changed. Sean's eyes clearly saw an extremely faint brilliance on the opponent's body flashing away. There is also a breath of devil.

seemed to have noticed something. The middle-aged man glanced sideways at Sean and the others, and then focused on Cecilia for another second.

The meaning of has been expressed very clearly.

Just now, although Cecilia's detection technique was indeed very concealed, the other party still found it, but it did not reveal it or turned her face on the spot. But in the same way, the seemingly random glance of the other party also has a very strong warning sign, and it is obvious that the other party does not want to see Xiao En and others again.

"Are we going to follow?" Rina asked as the other party left without making any stops.

"No." Sean shook his head.

He knows very well that since the other party has given a warning, it means that their method of converging their breath and tracking the other party is no longer valid, because in the face of such a strong person, as long as the opponent sees his appearance, he will remember it simultaneously. Breath, so they can no longer continue to hide, unless they can change or completely clear their breath.

But this is obviously impossible for Sean and others who are not assassination professional specializations.

"Professional matters are still left to professional people to solve." Sean felt a devilish aura in the opponent, and instinctively told him that he seemed to have overlooked something, but the information that flashed in his mind made him unable to capture. , So he decided to ignore the opponent for the time being, or continue to leave it to Floris to deal with it, "We will go back first, tomorrow will be the second round of the competition, I will be the first round of the competition, so I should go back to sleep first. I feel better."

"It's really something that surprised me that you will prepare so seriously." Cecilia looked at Sean, and then suddenly joked, Rina and Xuefanio next to him also have a deep understanding. Nodded.

"No way." Sean shrugged, "Master Flores sent me the next round of opponent information in the evening. It is the person on the list."

"Anyone on the list?" Cecilia immediately understood that Sean was referring to one of the five people on the list of dangerous people. "Which one?"

"Hydson Lorne..... The eldest son of Prince Lorne of the Duchy of Robin."