

Lord of War Vol 4-31

Chapter 31: Deduction

Shaun's face turned pale, but he was breathing heavily while holding on to the Black King.

In such a short moment, he unreservedly used six times to calm his soul, which has caused a serious overdraft for his ability. And this is because the black king has been strengthened a lot. If it was the previous black king, Xiao En felt that cold sweats had become more after thinking about it.

"Dad, are you okay?" The Black King is Sean's blood artifact, and he can feel the general situation of Sean. At this time, he doesn't have the same joking emotions as before. "Your body is overdrawn a bit seriously."

"It's okay." Sean took a few deep breaths, resisting the tingling sensation in his arms, "It's just a little overdrawn, but I haven't hurt the foundation. Just take a rest."

Although what was said, in fact, Sean's right hand was already trembling slightly at this time. This was a very obvious muscle strain, and it would never be possible to recover without adequate rest.

The sword skill of Soul Suppression may not consume as much physical energy and vindictively as Requiem, Slashing Soul, and Soul Breaking, but it has more troublesome aspects.

Under normal circumstances, Sean will subconsciously control the number of soul-suppression casts to four times, and rarely touch the limit of five times, let alone the sixth overdraft cast. It's just that the situation just now is different. The number of those bees is too much. Even if you can kill hundreds of them at one time, there are at least two or three thousand bees that are so densely packed that they can almost obscure the sky. scale.

If it is a bee like a wild animal, let alone hundreds, it is not a problem for Sean to kill thousands at a time.

But in this ruin, any creature is obviously not simple.

Shaun finally has a more obvious understanding of the strength evaluation in the ruins.

"Tier Nine..." Xiao En slowly sat down against the wall, his left hand intact picked up a mecha black bee from the ground and checked it.

The black bee pinched by Sean in his hand has completely changed shape at this time-being stabbed by the soul-suppressing point five times in a row. If it is not deformed, Sean will not be able to beat these little guys. But it feels very cold to start. It has the special luster and feel of metal, and there is no blood or smell on the ground, let alone any venom, but Sean noticed that the tail needles at the lower sections of these bees are very sharp.

He touched his finger slightly, only to feel a slight numbness coming from his finger. A drop of blood appeared on Sean's finger.

This changed his expression slightly.

To know. After Xiao En's current body has been strengthened in many ways, once it is invigorated to protect the body, it is not possible to hurt him if it is not a magic weapon above the powerful silver grade. And if you want to actually cause him injuries such as broken arms in this state, you must at least have gold-grade magic weapons, and even some legendary weapons that are not known for their sharpness. Can't cut off Sean's bones either.

This is the change after the warrior class that focuses on strengthening the body entered the middle sanctuary.

If you can become a legendary powerhouse. They can even bathe in magma.

But now, the tail needles of these bees can actually pierce his body, which makes Sean a little frightened. Even after he tested it again, he knew that only a small portion of the front end of these bees had other special effects attached, and they had extraordinary penetrating ability. They could only stab a small spot on Sean's body, and could not draw more. A big injury, but this is enough to cause Shaun's shock.

"This is the ninth-order power in the ruins..." Xiao En threw the bee out of his hand. There was a soft "ding".

"This material is similar to those werewolf breastplates." The Black King also commented. "However, the density is much higher. Even I can't directly penetrate it at once. It requires repeated blows....Of course, it's also because of the wrong use of your sword, Dad."

Sean did not respond to the previous evaluation of the Black King, because as an attacker, the correlation between werewolves and bees became clear at the moment of the shot.

These bees are called mechas rather than organs, obviously because their external structure has been modified to a considerable extent, and they are all made of that special ancient metal. Although Xiao En couldn't understand the specific internal power source, what he could know was that the engineer who made these bees had made great progress in this ancient metal purification technology.

is not just the growth in organ skills, the other party has even begun to involve the transformation and strengthening of materials.

Sean, who has a certain degree of understanding of the Second Mermaid Empire, is naturally very clear. At the beginning, the second mermaid empire was just a collective name. In fact, the internal development and research were regarded as a related project, and it was not the work of one person. It is coordinated by many aspects. Among them, there are three dominant ones, namely, the agency designer, the tactical designer, and the material constructor. As for the other parts, they belong to the subordinates of these three.

Xiao En did not know the specific operation of this ruin, but seeing that there was only one sculpture in the central hall, it was obvious that the organist had handled all aspects of it.

On this point, it is enough to make people admire it.

However, these are not the content that Sean cares about at this moment. What he really cares about is the last sentence of the words of the black king just now: "No? My sword is used incorrectly?"

"The power is too scattered." The Black King said, "Dad, your sword skill is really suitable for the large-scale scenes just now, but I always feel that you are too pursuing the coverage of the area and waste a lot. Strength. If these strengths are relatively concentrated, the strength will be more concentrated. For these little guys, it only takes two to three taps to easily solve it."

Shaun raised his brow slightly.

From fifty swords to one hundred swords, to two hundred swords in one second, Xiao En has always studied very hard, and sometimes even used his skillful devotion. But perhaps because of the short cut, Sean's use of soul-suppression did gradually feel that he had deviated from the purpose of swordsmanship. He hadn't figured out what the reason was before, but only thought it was the change caused by the rapid development of proficiency.

Until now, after hearing the words of the Black King, Xiao En really realized that his vindictive utilization rate was still wasted in the use of sword skills.

In this way, Sean also understood why the same fifty swords. He showed it but didn't have the terrifying effect that he had during the bass rehearsal. It turned out that his sword aura was still not cohesive enough, so his power was weakened a lot.

Soon, in the bloodline of Sean, a figure that was also casting the soul of the soul suddenly appeared.

But when this figure casts the soul, the action is much more than Shaun's standard. The power is naturally much greater. Xiao En could even see that after the dense sword shadows were pierced out, they formed a series of phantoms remaining in the air, like a series of spatial cracks. Immediately after the figure retracted the sword, the densely packed sword shadows resembling space cracks suddenly all erupted, and a more terrifying might suddenly swept out.

"So that's the case." Xiao En showed a look of shock on his face, "It turns out that after two hundred sword shadows, the true power of the soul is here. No wonder I always feel that there is always something wrong between two hundred swords and one hundred swords... .."

But when Sean looked at the Black King again, the look on his face became even more shocked.

【Black King. Artifact (blood type). Incidental ability "self-awareness": it has a completely independent and autonomous intellectual personality; incidental ability "memory inheritance": it can memorize the martial arts, experience and insights of all users of the past generations; the only bloodline ability "isolation": it can produce one Completely isolate the independent realm of the effect of the material world. And obliterate any enemies trying to break into the field. The only bloodline ability "deduction": Through the "memory inheritance" effect, any sword skill that has been seen or performed by the holder can be deduced, and it will be completely perfected to repair the previous flaws. 】

[Item Description: The bloodline weapon that Andrew forged for Sean, only Sean and his bloodline heirs can exert its full power.]

The original Black King didn't have the ability to "infer" this ability, but now he has suddenly developed such an ability. How can this make Xiao En not shocked.

If it is a growth artifact, then suddenly there is an additional ability. Or to become stronger, Shaun can still understand. But the Black King obviously does not belong to this type of artifact. There can only be one type of artifact, and they are all fixed, and there are even rules that cannot be broken or reversed at all. It is as if ordinary artifacts can only grow into inscription artifacts; inherited artifacts may also fall into ordinary artifacts. But it will never become an artifact of destiny; the three artifacts of growth, destiny, and bloodline will never have any intersection changes.

For blood artifacts like the Black King, if Sean's blood is completely dead, the Black King will become an inscription artifact, and no one will be able to use the Black King's bloodline abilities; the same will happen once the artifact of Destiny is irreparably damaged. It will be downgraded to an inscription artifact, losing its unique destiny ability and effect; as for the growth artifact, this is the only special case. It may become a more terrifying existence than the destiny artifact, or it may not be as good as an ordinary artifact.

Shaun thought hard for a long time, but could not reach any conclusions. In the end, he could only understand that the potential of the black king had not been fully explored.

After all, the talking artifact is unique in this world.

After a slight rest for a long time, Sean took some food to speed up his physical recovery, and then got up and continued to walk forward.

But this time, Sean didn't have any trouble again.

This makes Sean feel a little puzzled.

The defensive power of a ruin cannot be so weak.

Moreover, whether it is Ratman or Mecha Black Bee Swarm, it is obviously not the real main battle force. These two kinds of organ creatures lacked the kind of defensive and tyrannical combat power. On the contrary, they are more like guard-type forces, especially the mecha black bee colony. After Sean's careful inspection, he found that these bees still retain the most primitive. The biological form of the bee is that once the tail needle is used to attack, these bees cannot continue to live, which is equivalent to a means of consumption.

This naturally made Sean puzzled.

But soon, he found the answer.

When Shaun came to the end, a cave that was obviously dug to resemble a room appeared in front of Shaun.

This room looks a bit like a hall. There are four other openings in the cave, with curtains that have been completely decayed and dilapidated, forming a line of sight similar to a door. In this hall, chairs, tables, etc. are also excavated around the stone walls, and there are even some other decorations that have been corroded by time so that the original appearance cannot be seen.

This is a resting place.

Sean immediately had a basic judgment.

Walking into the hall, Xiao En looked at the other four caves.

As he expected, the place that this passage leads to is indeed a resting place, and it also confirmed that there is only one mechanic in this ruin. Because of the four caves excavated again, apart from one for the bedroom layout, the other three have an experimental site, one is a study room, and one is obviously used for research.

The books in the study room are neatly arranged, but when Sean stepped into it and brought a new air current, all the books were turned into dust, and there was not a single book left, which made Sean quite uncomfortable. Disappointed. As for the experimental site, it is full of countless stench, and there are even countless things similar to the cultivation chamber, but the organisms that are being cultivated in it have obviously been dead for a long time.

In addition, Sean also found dozens of honeycombs. Needless to think about it, the mecha black bees must have run out of these honeycombs.

As for the last room similar to scientific research, it was neatly cleaned, but nothing was left. However, Sean knew the function of this room because it also contained many scientific utensils for research.

After understanding this area roughly and thoroughly, Sean didn't gain anything, so he turned and left.

Soon he returned to the large cave with sculptures.

"Dad, where are we going this time?" The Black King was yelling all the way, but Sean didn't pay any attention.

"Which side do you think is the most dangerous?" Sean thought for a moment, and then asked.

"The most dangerous?" The Black King was taken aback for a moment, and then he reacted, "As expected of Dad! I understand, you must have me pick out the most dangerous place and avoid it, right? ... I feel it. ... Well, the second one on the right is the most dangerous."

"This one?" Sean already had a deep understanding of the black king's right and left, so he pointed the direction.

"Yes, that's right." The Black King quickly issued a definite reply.

Then, Sean walked along this road without hesitation.

"Huh? Huh, what are you doing!? Dad, what are you doing!? This road makes me feel very uncomfortable, it must be the most dangerous! Aren't we going to avoid it?"

"The most dangerous place is the place most likely to have good things." Xiao En ignored the black king's clamor, and walked in directly toward the most dangerous road.

Chapter 32: .Mecha Crazy Bull

This passage, the surrounding stone walls are no different from the one that Shaun passed through before.

The enemies guarding the front are still the organ rats, and these are no longer threatening to Sean.

It's just that this road that the black king perceives as the most dangerous is indeed the name of danger. There are at least ten organ rats hidden in every shadow. The strength of these organs may only be Tier 8, but every secret shot of explosive skills can shoot at least 30 poisonous arrows. If it is not for Sean's special physique, change to any sanctuary. The strong came in and died long ago.

Sean knew that he had changed a lot of history. Although he had reversed the history of the demon's invasion of the material world, under the correction of the general trend of history, it turned into an invasion of the corpse plane. In fact, the two have not changed in essence. . In the same way, this single-player copy shouldn't be discovered and set foot at this time. Xiao En advanced the opening of this ruin by a full ten years.

Ten years, enough to change many things.

is at least enough to make a copy that should be a legendary level turn into a copy of the sanctuary level.

Yes, this mysterious and weird mausoleum is a legendary copy of the twelfth tier.

Compared with the legendary dungeon of Paradise Lost level, this dungeon is naturally much simpler as a single-player dungeon, but for non-legendary powerhouses, this dungeon is already very dangerous. The previous batch of mecha black bee swarms have already proved this point. The reason why Sean was not besieged at this time was only because of some special reasons and hole cards, that's all.

Within a short distance of less than 100 meters, Xiao En was besieged by seven organ rats, in which a whole new kind of enemy even appeared.

From the appearance, this new type of enemy should be a leopard orc. And it is also a branch of Black Panther that symbolizes royal status. It appears as an individual, and its strength is the lower sanctuary. It has a series of shadow assassination methods such as shadow jumping and shadow attack. It is mainly based on agility, supplemented by strength, and its endurance is relatively weak. This can be seen from the fact that Sean can easily tear their bodies into pieces.

And the attribute of will. Sean couldn't see it, after all, he didn't have any soul attacks. As for wisdom, apart from simple combat instincts and skills, this kind of transformed creatures no longer possess any form of wisdom, at least they can't communicate with them.

When these organs, the Panthers, first appeared, they did bring a little trouble to Sean, if it wasn't for the quality of the weapons in their hands. Maybe it could really hurt Sean. But after discovering these institutions, the Panthers. Sean's next actions are also much more cautious-they can't hurt Sean in one attack, but what's more terrifying is that they can make multiple precise and fatal strikes against a single point, which can cause Sean. It must have hurt.

After solving the second mechanism, Panthers, Sean quickly came to a cave.

The cave is about 300 square meters, the dome is about 15 meters high, the surrounding stone walls are as smooth as a mirror, and there is no peculiar smell in the cave. Obviously, the ventilation system is very good.

But it's really eye-catching. It was not this cave, but the monster sitting in the middle of the cave.

The monster sits with his back to Sean. But just sitting on the ground, it has a height of 1.7 meters. It can be seen from its back that this monster is not wearing a shirt. Its black skin has the strongest muscles. Just a glance at Sean knows that this monster absolutely possesses extremely terrifying strength and endurance, an explosive sense of power almost It was the pressure that turned into substance through the skin that surged towards Xiao En.

This is the first time Sean feels a real oppressive breath after entering this ruin.

Even the Mecha Black Bee Swarm did not give Sean such a terrible feeling.

It seemed that he felt the appearance of Sean, and the monster sitting on the ground finally raised his head-at this time, Xiao En realized that he hadn't noticed that the monster in front of him had been bowing his head. His head is a bit like a triangle, with horns on both sides, but the horn on the right has been broken, and only the one on the left is still intact. The two horns are in a gilt golden color, surrounded by circles of black texture, exuding an inexplicable luster.

Then, Xiao En saw the monster stretch out his left hand and propped it to the ground, then lifted and propped his right leg, and stood up like this.

A full height of three meters, gives Sean a more terrifying deterrent.

"Dad... the situation seems... very bad." Even the Black King, who had been yelling non-stop, finally stopped nagging after entering this cave, and what he said at this time was full of a kind of words. Weird charm, "This guy...very strong! Very strong!"

"You don't need to tell me that I know." Xiao En said in a deep voice, but his eyes were fixed on the huge monster ahead.

As the monster stood up, this time Sean finally saw clearly.

The lower body of this monster is the body of a cow. The tail seems to be flicked softly, but every time it directly entrains a black air current visible to the naked eye. This is an absolute air current that is driven by an extremely terrifying force at an unparalleled speed. Almost each of this air current has a blow comparable to Sean's full swing of a sword. If it is rubbed by this air current, you will not die. A layer of skin.

Looking at the monster in front of him slowly turning around, Sean's brows jumped.

This is a three-meter-tall monster. It seems to be a member of the tauren, but its upper body has a human body. Abdominal muscles, chest muscles and mermaid lines can be clearly seen on it, just like a The same as a bodybuilder. It's just that its lower body is a corbel, and its head is also a bull's head. The whole body is covered with a layer of very fine black cow hair. It holds a double-edged axe close to three meters high in its right hand.

"Mitanos?" Sean said in a surprise.

"Dad, what is Mitanos?" The Black King asked, "Is the name of this monster?"

The real eye now showed a red luster like blood.

Name: Mecha Crazy Bull

Race: Transforming creatures

Tier: Tier 11

Skills: Absolute power (passive), war trample, ground roar, big bombardment, big shock

Shaun's facial muscles began to spasm: "Fuck!"

"Dad, what slot?" The Black King yelled, "The blood slot? Don't worry!...Hey, dad, it's here! Oh, this running posture is great!"

"Shut up!" Sean snorted, and moved quickly to the left with one step. Avoid this giant bull charging from the front.

Maybe others don't know what the passive skill "absolute power" of this mecha mad cow means, but Sean is very clear.

In the game, some special passive skills appeared on some NPCs, such as attribute names with absolute prefixes: absolute strength, absolute stamina, absolute wisdom, etc.; or attribute names with suffix nicknames: power Horn, wisdom singing, etc., in addition to some other passive skill names: frantic power, thunder and other strange abilities.

This kind of passive ability is called simple and concise. But the abilities often possessed are by no means simple.

is like "absolute power". The condition for the appearance of this passive skill is that the current NPC's power value exceeds 300 points.

This also means that the three-meter-high black bull in front of him is likely to have a crushing blow effect on Shaun in terms of strength-twice the difference value is enough to cause crushing damage. Although Sean's personal physical potential has not yet been fully developed, his strength is only one hundred and eighty points. Although the Black King has been upgraded to an artifact level, it has not brought any attribute bonuses to Sean, so His personal attributes have not improved much.

And even if the power value of the mad cow in front of him is not as high as three hundred and sixty points. But Sean would never want to compete with each other for strength.

The black battle axe made a whistling sound. It fell to the ground fiercely.

I saw a black axe wind scrolling. A deep pit appeared in the place where Xiao En stood originally, and the passage collapsed due to the impact of the battle axe. A large amount of falling rocks immediately directly brought Xiao En into the passage. Block it.

"Oh! Dad, our retreat is gone!" The Black King let out a strange cry, "What should I do? What should I do?"

"Think of a way to solve this guy, what else can I do!" Xiao En cursed, "It has a lot of power. The attack range is very wide, and if you fight with it, we will probably..."

"It was shot into a meatloaf?" The Black King took it.

"..." Shaun originally faced the pressure of this giant bull monster, but he didn't know why it disappeared all of a sudden.

"Dad, your body is so thin, I think the possibility of becoming a meat sauce is a bit higher." The Black King thought for a while, changed his words.

"...but relatively, this guy is not fast, we may have other places to use." Sean decided to ignore the words of the Black King.

"Actually, dad, I know you are nervous, so I want to talk more to lower the blood pressure." The black king sighed helplessly, "but dad, you don't need to tell me about tactics. I'm just a sword after all. That's it. Do you still expect me to create any chance for you to help you lure the enemy head-on?"

"..." Xiao En suddenly felt that his facial muscles were out of control again, and he twitched.

There was a shock in the air, and it seemed that even the space could not bear such a terrible force.

In fact, the absolute power value of 300 points should not appear in the standard of the sanctuary realm under normal circumstances. This level is usually only possible to be seen in the legendary level field of the thirteenth or the fourteenth level-of course, the legendary powerhouse of this level, compared with this mad cow, there will be no Shortcomings, they must have raised their own quality to a certain level, and even such a high power will never cause spatial fluctuations.

Just like Alexis and Kozilek, their power will never be lower than the giant in front of them, or even higher, but they have very powerful fighting skills and can concentrate their power on one point.

It is precisely because Sean understands that the monster in front of him is just a dead creature with no fighting skills, so even if its power value is high, Sean has no fear. At most, he found it tricky, of course, the more troublesome place was in the black king who was chattering around.

"Oh! It's here, it's here!" The Black King let out a sharp, excited cry, "What a powerful force!"

Sean bent over and lowered his head, and the whole person slipped directly from the strong black wind.

Under the strong wind blowing, Xiao En could feel the extremely terrifying force impact, and his whole person was even faintly disrupted. This gave him a momentary realization in his heart: this is absolute power! The power of an attribute value to the level of absolute data!

After avoiding the double sweep of the strong wind and the battle axe, Sean did not hesitate to take a single foot on the ground. The whole person stopped the sliding shovel on the ground, quickly got up and stepped, and then walked around to this huge end. Behind the monster.

If it is an intelligent creature that can communicate, Sean may try to solve the problem by another means, but Sean will never hesitate when he can only rely on force to solve the problem. Not to mention the fighting skills and experience of so many years, just to talk about the previous experience in the game, already let Xiao En discover the huge flaw of this giant cow at first sight.

Sora has power, but has the corresponding fighting skills and speed, this may be the sorrow and weakness of this monster.

Flicked his wrist slightly, and the vindictive energy belonging to the dark power in his body was poured into the Black King's sword for the first time...

"Oh oh oh! I feel the power! Dad's power is continuously rushing into my body..."

"Shut up!" Xiao En let out an angry roar, and he was almost taken aback by the voice of the Black King.

After forcibly roared, Sean jumped, and then stabs directly towards the back of the mecha mad cow.

"break....."

"Dad! Quick retreat!"

Mecha Crazy Bull suddenly raised his right leg at this moment, and then slammed on the ground!

Chapter 33: .The real flaw

The black king may talk a lot, and in many cases even the master of Sean can't stand his nonsense that he never repeats. However, Sean was convinced of the Black King's intuitive judgment, so when the Black King retreated, Sean gave up the offensive almost without even thinking about it.

But even so, his speed is still slow.

Mecha Crazy Bull's right foot was already lifted the moment Xiao En swept behind him, and it was just stepping heavily on the ground at this time.

A strong air current suddenly centered on the mecha mad cow, burst out in all directions, turning into a very strong wind and cyclone.

Unprepared, Xiao En's whole body was directly shocked and flew out, directly across a distance of hundreds of meters, and slammed into the stone wall.

The stone wall that is as smooth as a mirror can't stop Xiao En's impact at all. Even after hitting here, the powerful impact is still squeezing towards Xiao En frantically, directly embedding him in the stone wall and smashing it out. A waiting pothole. At this moment, the smooth mirror surface around it was covered with small and long cracks, countless stones fell from the cracks, and many more directly turned into dust.

"Dad, are you okay!?" The Black King exclaimed.

"It's okay." Xiao En felt chest tightness, opened his mouth and vomited a mouthful of blood, and then the feeling of tightness improved.

"Fortunately, Dad, you are quick to react. Use me as a shield to block it, otherwise you may be hurt more." The Black King looked like "praise me quickly."

"It seems that the one just now was a big shock." Xiao En rubbed his chest and said in a deep voice, "This should be a defense system skill."

"Great shock?" The Black King was a little puzzled, "What is that? Is absolute isolation like mine?"

"Although it's roughly the same, there are still some differences in essence." Sean nodded, "This monster has some special combat skills, which should be the creature's own... Consciousness residue. This big shock is one of them. To defend against the unexpected situation of being close by the enemy."

Sean's voice is a bit uncertain, after all, he is not very clear about biological transformation. However, after having been active in this ruin for so long, he had roughly figured out the research direction of the mysterious mechanic, so he guessed that the mechanic must have retained a considerable degree of combat consciousness-but Sean didn't know. Does this part belong to the soul residue of the creature itself, or is it a genetic refinement.

If it is the former. Then it proves that this organ master is definitely a knowledgeable magician. The soul field is also the research direction he once studied. And if it's the latter, then it must be a pedigree researcher-Sean has heard from Reyce that some unique talent skills and abilities are actually endowed by the power of blood.

At the moment, what Shaun can't be sure about is whether this tauren monster's fighting skills are the residue of the creature's soul itself or the result of the power of the bloodline.

"Dad, you know a lot of things." The Black King didn't know what Shaun was thinking. He simply felt that what Sean said was a little unclear and harsh.

Sean did not speak. He couldn't explain the situation shown by the real eye at all, so he just stared at the mecha mad cow who was slowly turning around. The pain that still came from his chest let him know that if he hadn't blocked the Black King in front of him, I'm afraid his injury would be heavier now-Sean himself didn't know why at that moment. This kind of behavior, but his intuition told him that he should do it, so he subconsciously blocked the Black King in front of him.

It turned out that the powerful impact force that directly affects itself. It was nearly half offset by the Black King!

Although nearly half of his power is still acting on him, it is within the range that Sean can bear.

spit out a mouthful of blood. Xiao En wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth and looked at the mecha mad cow who had completely turned around, with a cold expression. He has discovered that the reaction ability of this monster is not generally slow, and even a turn takes several seconds to complete. This reaction ability can already be said to be an unconcealed weakness.

But very helpless, but Sean has no way to get close.

The stomping just now was some of his automatic defense mechanism skills, which was a bit like the organ puppets in the mermaid ruins.

If it is said that the organ creatures encountered on the previous road were only the huge progress made by this mysterious organist in the transformation of materials, then this mecha mad cow has completely achieved a qualitative leap. .

Mecha and mechanism, these two prefixes have fully illustrated the difference in quality between the two.

The organ werewolf only retains the most primitive fighting instincts, but in fact, as long as a golden powerhouse with a little combat experience will not feel troubled, the real danger is the toxins emitted after their death; and in the organ rat, the same is true. The threat is in the toxin, but once the ability of shadow jumping is discovered, it still cannot pose any threat.

As for the mechanism Panther that Sean encountered, there is only one assassination combat skill, which is undoubtedly much stronger than the mechanism scavengers and werewolves, but this is only a powerful increase in the skill system. Once someone is close, this kind of organ creature can't exert too much combat effectiveness, but it can still clearly see the progress of the mysterious organist in the skill system.

But the mecha is different.

This is a form completely constructed from a special metal material. The density of this material is extremely small, making it exceptionally good in defense. This results in the mecha black bees possessing strong defensive capabilities, but because they are too small, they can only be threatened when they are formed to a sufficient scale. According to Sean, the group of mecha black bees just now is very Some are similar to the combat mode of the Legion.

The mecha mad cow in front of you completely combines the two technologies of mecha and mechanism!

But perhaps it is still not perfect. Although Mecha Mad Cow has strong strength and protection capabilities, and even strong combat skills, its weakness is still very obvious: lack of dexterity. Of course, as far as the current level is concerned, the fighting skills this monster possesses are basically enough to cover up its own weaknesses well-Sean can't get close, and can't hurt this monster at all.

"Dad, that big guy seems to be charging again..." The Black King interrupted Sean's analysis of the Mecha Crazy Bull.

Just when the voice of the black king fell. The Mecha Mad Bull rushed towards Xiao En again.

Almost the moment the Mecha Crazy Bull started to run, Xiao En immediately ran to the right side, and quickly went wrong with the Mecha Crazy Bull's running route.

Don't look at the speed of this monster, and there are no sprint skills, but every step it takes is great. The distance of only a hundred meters if Sean reacted a little slower. It's easy to be intercepted on the spot, and he will have to compete with each other for strength. This is something that Sean would never want to see.

Watching Sean quickly pull away from him, the Mecha Crazy Bull couldn't help but slow down, and then began to slowly turn around again.

Xiao En's eyes condensed, his speed also slowed down, and then he faced the mecha mad cow in front of him again. There is already a guess inside.

"Dad. Why did you stop?" The Black King asked in a puzzled manner.

"Don't make noise, I want to be quiet." Sean said in a deep voice.

"Who is Jingjing?" The Black King asked impatiently, his voice already showing some obvious excitement, "Is it my mother?"

"..." Sean took a deep breath, resisting the mania in his heart, "I mean...Can you be quiet for a minute?"

"No problem!" The Black King said happily.

"No counting!" Xiao En immediately added, interrupting the counting that the Black King was about to speak.

"Okay." The Black King looked a little glum, but he didn't speak any more.

at this time. The Minotaur finally turned its direction once again, facing Sean. What is different from before is. The reaction of the Mecha Mad Bull this time was obviously a few minutes faster. As soon as he adjusted his direction, he could not wait to run, and the tomahawk that was originally held with both hands was quickly raised up, obviously intending to approach once it was close. After reaching a sufficient distance, he immediately attacked with an axe.

However, Sean, who had been prepared for a long time, naturally had a very fast reaction speed. While he was running with the Mecha Mad Bull, he repeated the same trick again, and quickly ran to the right side, always with the Mecha Mad Bull. Maintain a constant distance. And just as Sean expected, when Sean began to gradually disappear from the perspective of the mecha mad cow, the monster also stopped running and turned to the right.

But the monster's turning is still very slow, and can only be adjusted slowly step by step. If Sean's speed is a little faster, he will go directly behind it.

Almost at the moment when Sean's figure completely disappeared from the mecha mad cow's sight range, the monster directly let out a roar, and then raised the battle axe in his right hand and slammed it on the ground.

In an instant, the position where the monster was standing collapsed slightly by an inch, and a spider web crack appeared. But what was really terrifying was a gray-white air wave visible to the naked eye that quickly spread in all directions. This air wave swept extremely fast, and spread faster than the impact that Sean was hit by the big shock before, and the most troublesome thing was that the air wave came like a tsunami after it was swept out. The higher it is, almost all means of evasion are isolated.

"Isolation!" Sean did not feel any terrible pressure and harm in this wave of air, but the intuition from the son of the plane told him that he must not let this wave of air hit him, otherwise there would be Very dire consequences.

The black king was thrust into the ground by Xiao En, and the luster of the sword suddenly lit up. A semi-circular shape like a bowl cover quickly spread out from the sword, forming a unique force field, protecting Xiao En. In it. The impact of the air wave quickly swept across the isolation force field. I saw that the entire coverage area of the force field suddenly shook ripples, but it did not produce any real effect on Sean. The impact of sex.

"Dad, this air wave has a strong shock wave." The Black King felt the air wave swept over him, and then said, "Although there is no harm in nature, it will produce a strong shock wave, even if If it's your dad, if you are being mopped up, I'm afraid you will also fall into a long-term stiff state."

Hearing the words of the Black King, Sean knew the effect of the impact of this air wave.

It is clear. This is a field control skill. The main purpose is to make the enemy produce a long-term stiff effect. It has a very similar effect to the previous large shock, but the coverage of this is much wider than the large shock. Of course, relative, in terms of influence, it is not as terrible as a big shock. It can even shake people out directly. Probably it was a hard and straight impact covering the entire cave.

"This should be the roar of the earth." Sean pulled out the black king, canceling the "isolation" effect asylum.

Isolation is a unique ability of the Black King. It can directly create a force field shelter completely independent of this plane space. As long as you are within the scope of this asylum circle, you can avoid any damage. It is a bit like the special ability of astral creatures to travel through the astral world, only when you break through this asylum field. In order to be able to harm the asylum object.

But the same. The target within the sanctuary cannot attack all creatures outside the sanctuary. The asylum effect of "isolation" must be cancelled to be able to attack the enemy. Moreover, isolation cannot be performed anytime and anywhere. It needs the power of the bloodliner as a medium to be triggered. This medium power draws a fixed value and is a one-time consumption product, regardless of whether Sean wants to maintain the "isolation". How long the effect is, the bloodline power that needs to be paid is the same.

And once the isolation effect starts to work. The remaining power will be maintained by the black king himself. In addition, the generation of isolation must also be on a level ground-it can be a wall, the ground, etc. Anyway, it must be produced only when there is physical contact, and it cannot be performed out of thin air.

In Shaun's current situation, he can only perform isolation three times a day at most.

This is the unique power of the blood artifact.

Taking advantage of the impact of the roar of the earth, the mecha mad cow is also constantly adjusting its direction. But it is a pity that because Sean has not been affected by the roar of the earth, the direction of this monster has not been completely adjusted at this time, and Sean is still in its blind spot.

"Probably figured out the logic of this monster." Sean said in a deep voice, "This guy has two weaknesses. The slow response caused by low agility is only the first, and it is also a specially constructed weakness."

"What do you mean? Dad?" The Black King asked in a puzzled manner.

"It means that the mechanic who created this monster is a person who knows how to layout." Sean snorted coldly. "The fighting logic of this monster is fixed, which means that once it enters the combat mode, it will fight. The method is very single, no different from the werewolves we encountered before. But its designer obviously discovered this, so it deliberately sacrificed its speed and responsiveness to give people a very cumbersome one. Feel it, and let people use it as a breakthrough point to launch an offense."

"If you fail to observe carefully and discover its real weakness, but rely on speed to try to solve this monster, then you will fall into a trap, and then be affected by its continuous shock and impact, and finally you can only drink hatred here.... Humph, What a cunning guy."

"That's it!" The Black King looked in admiration, "Dad, you are so smart!"

"It's not that I'm smart, but there are too many tactical masters around me." Shaun said lightly, not proud of the admiration of the black king, because compared with William, Hela, Neal and others, Shaun I think I know at most that I know some of the furnishings of the layout. "It's much easier to solve the real weaknesses after they know the real weaknesses."

"How to deal with it?"

"Its skill CD must be very long and cannot be consumed continuously. Except for passive skills, there are only two skills left by this monster. I guess the big bombardment should be a frontal attack skill that solves the enemy. It should be the beginning. It smashed the channel." Sean moved quickly, always keeping himself in the blind spot of the mecha mad cow, while continuing to say, "As long as his war is trampled out, this monster is just a head. It's just a stupid bull."

"Skill CD? Passive skill?" The Black King was puzzled, "What is that?"

"Don't worry about it, you just need to concentrate all your power to one point to cooperate with my attack." Sean's eyes condensed, and the moment he walked around the back of the mecha mad bull again, he suddenly launched his sprint skills, once again. He quickly rushed towards the back of the mecha mad cow.

The body of this mecha monster is made of special metal. Even if Sean has a black king who wants to break this special skin, it is not an easy task. Therefore, from the beginning to the end, Sean placed the real target of the attack on the back heart of the mecha mad cow. As long as this is destroyed, then he can take advantage of the trend to destroy the power core of this monster. And once the power core is destroyed, no matter how powerful the mechanism creation is, it will lose all combat capabilities.

As Sean expected, when Sean narrowed the distance to a certain extent, the bull-shaped monster raised his left leg again.

There is no doubt that this time it is clearly trampled by war!

Compared with the omnidirectional coverage attack of large shocks, the area of influence of war trampled is obviously limited to the ground. And ordinary people entering here, in the case of unable to view the monster's data, if after suffering a big shock, they will definitely not dare to jump and attack so hastily.

But for Sean, who had anticipated everything, he didn't hesitate at all. He leapt directly and pierced towards the back of the mecha mad bull!

Chapter 34: .strength

Shaun stood on the back of the mecha mad cow, panting heavily, his expression a little pale.

After Sean hit three swords in the core of the back of this huge monster, it was finally broken and fell away. However, this battle also allowed Sean to see how powerful and terrifying defense capabilities this mysterious ancient metal has after adjustment. Famous, but Andrew used so many methods and materials when refining, it is by no means comparable to ordinary weapons.

In this way, three consecutive swords have to pierce the same position to break this layer of armor. This makes this kind of metal that has been refined and tempered through a mysterious process extremely terrifying.

"Dad, you seem to be out of strength?" The Black King asked.

He and Sean have a blood and soul connection, but the subtle thing is that the Black King cannot have a direct soul dialogue with Sean. The dialogue can only be achieved through the most basic way of language communication, so he naturally cannot judge intuitively. Out of Sean's state.

But I don't know what Andrew had mixed in when refining the Black King. Perhaps it was because Bass and Hercules also intervened. In short, the Black King can also be regarded as a legendary powerhouse with certain martial skills. So through some basic judgments and observations, he can generally feel some of Sean's state, but he can't be sure of the accuracy.

However, as a bloodline artifact, the Black King has a very special ability, that is, he can directly perceive the condition of all bloodliners.

In other words, if the Black King is not by Sean's side, and Sean is dead, then he can perceive it for the first time. Or, if Sean's heir was born, he could also instantly perceive it.

"Well." Sean responded without saying anything.

He is indeed out of strength.

Two swords break the soul. Finally, coupled with the self-made sword "Destroy the Star", it is difficult for Sean not to let go.

Shaun created a total of three sword skills, namely Night Breaking, Star Destruction, and Annihilation. They are meant to be "even the night can be broken", "even the stars can be destroyed", and "everything in the world is annihilated", because the meaning of these three sword skills will eventually return to the void no matter which one moves. So Xiao En called this set of sword skills "Void Sword Skill". But the only pity is. He couldn't pass on this set of sword skills of Sean to others, unless the other party was also a person who mastered the laws of time and space.

But in this world, the law of time and the law of space are both the top-level laws. Not to mention that both laws are understood and controlled. As long as anyone can comprehend one of them, there is basically no suspense in the way of the demigod. If the blood is still passable, or is willing to be assimilated and retained by the laws of the world. So it's not a problem to become a super power or to ignite a sacred fire.

not to mention. The law of time and space combines the law of time with the law of space, and its difficulty is several times that of these two laws.

Therefore, Xiao En's Void Sword Skill cannot be taught to others at all.

And with Sean's current state, he still can't perform annihilation freely—the last time he dealt with the second legion commander of the Undead Legion, he used these three sword skills one after another to finally leave the soul orb, but he himself Because of this, she fainted. Of course, in the final analysis, Sean is not strong enough. Don't say let Kozilek, Alexis and others take action, if Sean has legendary strength. It won't be so troublesome and tricky anymore.

But anyway, Xiao En borrowed the power of isolation, and continuously used Soul Breaking, and then used the Destroy Star that required a lot of his power. Xiao En did not faint completely, which can be regarded as the reason for his improvement in strength.

In fact, Sean's strength has indeed improved compared to when he dealt with the Second Corps Commander of the Undead.

Although he has not formally stepped into the upper sanctuary realm, but it is not far away-Sean has begun to gradually integrate the law of time and the law of space, as long as he truly merges this law and transforms it into the law of time and space , Then even if he really stepped into the upper sanctuary.

As for the legendary road afterwards, because the black king left Hercules' reminder, Xiao En wouldn't have to explore it by himself, and he had already understood the general direction: at least two hearts were born to strengthen his body. At present, there is also a second heart forming in Sean's body: this is also the reason why Sean has not been exhausted in this battle. If he is based on his previous strength in the battle with the second undead commander, I am afraid he will not. The way to solve this mecha mad cow.

But the only thing Shaun didn't understand was the formation of his second heart.

According to the normal situation, after the sanctuary powerhouse undergoes the discipline of the law, the body will become stronger. This is to allow them to withstand the transformation carried out by the law power, and no sanctuary powerhouse can be exception. After that, they must comprehend the laws all the time when they are in the sanctuary realm. They will not be able to step into the upper sanctuary realm until they have thoroughly mastered them, and finally started to contact the other laws and have also reached the conditions for mastering them.

In other words, the hallmark of the upper sanctuary is to master two laws. Because only in this way, they can get a new opportunity to refine their bodies, so that they can become stronger in order to accumulate more strength. This process is the so-called body sublimation.

The lower sanctuary acquires a bronze body, and after sublimation from the upper silver realm body, it becomes a silver body-Sean is a special case. The reason why it is said to be a special case rather than an exception is that in ancient times, the strong of the sanctuary can basically obtain the silver body when stepping into the lower sanctuary. Get the body of silver when you are in the realm.

Sean omitted the process of body sublimation, which allowed him to accumulate strength in advance and condense the second heart-only the body of silver can withstand the power pulse of the two hearts. If it weren't for Sean's laws of time and space that he hadn't been fused yet, he would have entered the upper sanctuary. The realm of legend.

Because of the legendary symbol, two hearts are formed to generate a steady stream of powerful power.

And legendary abilities, but they are only incidental abilities generated after the power of the law is solidified, which can be regarded as an enhancement of the domain.

However, Sean didn't know what was going on with his second heart.

He only knew that after killing the second legion commander and awakening, his right chest was a little bit visibly moved, and he didn't know what it was at the time. Until just now after he gritted his teeth and forcibly used "Destroy Star" to kill the Mecha Crazy Bull, a violent tingling and dizziness suddenly occurred, but soon there was another pulsating force, calming Sean's force. The negative impact brought by the use of Destroyed Stars.

In theory, this is an absolute good thing, which means that as long as Sean integrates the laws of time and space, then he is a proper legendary powerhouse.

But here is the problem.

Sean knows very well that his own accumulation is far from enough, and it is absolutely impossible to give birth to a second heart at this time. That's why he couldn't figure out where his second heart came from?

Levy said to Sean that he had a silver body when he stepped into the lower sanctuary, which could, to a certain extent, allow him to start accumulating strength in advance to form a second heart. But generally speaking, before the upper sanctuary, it is only to accumulate power. Only after truly stepping into the upper sanctuary, the accumulated power will begin to form a new source of energy and formally begin the path of condensing the second heart.

At this point, Hercules also has related explanations and explanations for staying in the black king, which is not much different from what Levi said before.

"Huh."

In just a few breaths, Sean realized that his feeling of being relieved had basically disappeared. Although it has not yet returned to its peak state, at least 70 or 80% of its combat power has been restored. As long as it does not encounter monsters such as Mecha Mad Bull again, all other organ transformation creatures encountered so far will not cause Sean. Any threat. But if you want to regain your full strength, I am afraid that you will have to rest for four or five days.

Shaun glanced at the Black King, and then said, "Are there still dangers ahead?"

"It's gone." The Black King felt it for a while, and then replied.

Shaun frowned slightly.

After the mecha mad cow fell, a stone wall was suddenly opened in the cave that seemed to be sealed, revealing a dark passage leading to nowhere. This time, there was no magical light on the corridor, and there was still a damp and musty smell after it got close. It seemed that the corridor was closed for too long and the ventilation system was not good.

Sean knew that such a tunnel would definitely have poisonous gas, but even if the poisonous gas can't hurt Shaun now, he would still find it troublesome without oxygen, so he didn't enter it rashly. Instead, he waited until the air became slightly circulated, and after Sean repeatedly confirmed that there was no danger from the Black King, he walked inside.

However, it was beyond Sean's expectation that he originally thought that the tunnel would be very long, but he didn't expect that it would only take a few minutes before and after, that he would come to an end again.

At the end of _____, there is a small stone cave.

The space of the stone cave is very small, it is estimated that it is less than twenty square meters. And there is only one stone table in the entire cave, and there is a constant spell on it. The function is to keep things placed in the magic circle from being affected by time and decay. Probably because of Sean's arrival in time, this magic circle has just been in a state of exhaustion. If it really waits ten years before it comes, the power of this magic circle will completely disappear, and with this stone cave and Judging from the situation in the corridor, I am afraid that the scroll placed on the magic circle will also turn into rotten paper.

"This is the guard?" Sean frowned, but he still opened the scroll.

Chapter 35: .The fourth guard

The material of the reel is not good, but as an ordinary record carrier without any power, the material does not matter.

After seeing the content recorded on this scroll, Sean was truly shocked.

This is an alchemy formula scroll.

A total of seventy-one alchemy formulas are recorded above.

The first seventy are all integrated alchemy formulas for ore purification and refining. The material ores recorded on it are not rare ores. Even in today's era, these ores are considered rare except for a dozen of them. They are all ore that can be seen everywhere. However, even the more than a dozen rare ores are not impossible to purchase, at least through the trading capital, they can still be purchased, but the amount cannot be too large.

The last formula is a blending formula: 70 kinds of ores from the previous purification and quenching are finally blended and quenched into a brand-new alloy.

This kind of alloy, known as "God Alloy", is the kind of "Mecha" ore used by Mecha Crazy Bull and Mecha Black Bee.

Shawn has a very deep experience of its sturdiness, that is an alloy material that even the Black King would have to chop and chop several times in a row to be able to completely destroy it!

But what is really valuable is that this alloy is a material that can also be made at present. Seventy kinds of ores are made according to different proportions, and the total amount is about one thousand kilograms. One kilogram can be purified, and ordinary armor or pure iron weapons can be made. If it is, three or four kilograms is enough. Even a heavily armed armor weighs no more than 20 kilograms.

If this formula is applied to the army, the fourth-level army can be directly changed to the sixth level, and the army above level 7 and below can also be upgraded by one level.

The value of this formula can be imagined.

With the excitement and excitement in his eyes, Xiao En directly put the formula into the storage ring, and then carefully inspected the cave and confirmed that there was nothing else. Sean's face didn't change much. He already understood that for the mysterious organist, the value of this formula is the greatest, and nothing else is worth mentioning. That's why the most proud work organ under his command, Mad Niu, is responsible for guarding. .

Considering there are two other channels. Sean stopped staying either. Instead, he turned around and left.

However, because the road he entered when he came has been destroyed by the Mecha Crazy Bull, it took Sean a lot of effort to return to the hall.

The connection connected and closed the two passages. After returning to this hall for the third time, Sean's mentality towards the statue in front of him became different. If it was just a kind of curiosity before, then now it is completely admired, because this formula has completely changed the embarrassment of insufficient foundation and insufficient legionary combat power after the Void Principality changed to an empire. Now as long as the materials are enough. All the fourth-level legions under his command can directly become the sixth-level legions.

If the four main legions have gained in the war against the undead and successfully promoted to the seventh-level legion, then the eighth-level legion can be born directly.

Four eighth-level legions, this is definitely the level that the veteran empire can only have.

You must know that, as the most powerful millennium covenant empire on the mainland, there are only three eighth-level armies. And the Saint-Joles Empire, which has the nine-level pure white wings knights, only has a ninth-level, and it is only a six-level army under it. If the Void Empire has four eighth-level armies. Coupled with almost countless level six troops, let alone a millennium covenant empire. Even if the Zenas Empire and the Millennium Covenant Empire join forces to attack, the cost must be carefully estimated.

This is the real way to prosper, and it belongs to the foundation of the void empire!

How can Sean not admire the mechanic master who created the formula of God alloy?

As for the remaining two passages, Sean doesn't care which one has the guard anymore. Anyway, one of them must be there, so he is not in a hurry, picking one of them at will and moving forward like this.

Along the way, the enemies encountered are basically old models, which is not even a threat to Sean who has already killed the Mecha Mad Bull. So Sean was here to try his skills directly. After all, the sudden growth of the second heart made Sean a little unfamiliar with his own power control. It happened to use these organ creatures to practice his skills and let himself as soon as possible. Restore control and grasp of one's own body.

But perhaps Sean's luck was not very good. The road he chose at random did not contain any news about guarding, but a place similar to planting and saving. Xiao En guessed that this was probably a self-sufficient place set up by the mechanic to live in the cave ruins. While the mechanic was still alive, there might be some other servants or other creatures helping. However, with the disappearance of these organ teachers, this place has naturally been completely abandoned.

did not find any good things, Xiao En stopped staying, and instead walked towards the last passage.

While solving the enemy, he was proficient in his new strength and the fit of his body. Xiao En even had time to chat with the Black King occasionally.

Not long after, Sean came to the end of this last passage.

This is still a cave.

However, compared to other caves that Shaun encountered before, this cave is more like a bathhouse, and the decoration seems to be a lot of care, not as simple as other caves. But what really caught Sean's eyes was a black stone placed on a table in the middle of the cave.

This stone is no different from ordinary sand grains, except that it shows a dark luster-not black, but more like a brilliance that symbolizes uncleanness and evil, as if it is invisible. It just hovered about ten centimeters away from the middle stone pillar platform. With the area and decoration of the cave, it is impossible to see such a sand particle anyway, but it is so unique that it attracts after entering the cave. All the sight of Sean, so that Sean has completely invisible to other things.

"Guard!" Sean, who had the experience Jibril bestowed on Alexis, finally let out an exclamation.

He doesn't know who this guard is, but there is a kind of unclean power exuding from it, obviously he should also be a cruel man.

Different from the method of extracting Noro and Kozilek, the experience of extracting Alexis has made Sean aware of many other ways to obtain guards, of which the sacrifice of power is the most famous one. In this way, as long as you can obtain the power residue of a creature with soul imprint in the guard system, you can get in touch with the guard system through this power residue. Directly trace this power back to its origin and call out its existence.

At first, Alexis had obviously fallen to an unknown place, but for Jibril, who often travels to the void and outland, it is not difficult to obtain a certain power residue of Alexis. . But after Jibril obtained the remaining possessions of this power, she kept it because she couldn't understand the power inside. Until after contact with Sean. Jibril intuitively felt that this kind of thing would be helpful to Sean, so he passed it on to Sean.

Because of this, it also lets Sean know some unique situations that he has not explored clearly.

This also made Sean know what it was when he first saw this grain of sand.

"Dad, what is the guard?" The Black King asked.

"A powerful force." Sean thought for a while, and still gave an explanation, but in order to avoid long nights and dreams. He still quickly approached this stone pillar platform. Then he reached out and touched the black sand floating on the stone pillar platform.

As soon as the index finger of his right hand touched the black sand grain, the black sand grain immediately turned into a unique force of yin and evil, directly integrated into Xiao En's body. This power was a bit cold and dark, and even had a terrifying aura of destruction. Xiao En was immediately stiffened by the impact of this power.

However, Sean, who had absorbed the power of Alexis once, knew very well that this power could not be affected for long.

Sure enough!

As soon as Sean's thoughts fell, this power was inexplicably swallowed and disappeared after entering Sean's body. Instead, the system prompt sounded directly in Sean's mind.

【A special force detected. 】

【Data is being matched. 】

【Matching is complete. This force meets the criteria for the activation of the guard system. 】

【The system is testing. 】

【After detection, the power nature is 69% chaos, 17% void, and 14% shadow. The judging standard is A-level, and there are 37 digits that meet the relevant data targets. 】

【May I activate the guard lottery system? 】

"Thirty-seven?" Sean was stunned. Although he already knew that this power would activate the guard system and give birth to a guard, after all, he had only contacted Alexis, so he was still not very concerned about this system. Clear and understand, after all, there were not so many choices at the time, only Alexis was alone, and the evaluation of Alexis was S-level, and now I want to come to this A-level should be a lower-level existence.

Sean guessed that it should be the strength stage of Noro. But he had no choice anyway, so he could only agree.

【It is detected that you have a  enhancement effect, do you activate the effect? 】

Shaun originally thought that the so-called guard enhancement should be given to an enhancement after the guard was summoned, probably to strengthen the lower sanctuary to the middle sanctuary, or the upper sanctuary to the legend. As a result, I didn't expect that the so-called  enhancement did not mean this at all. This gave Sean a new guess instantly, and his breathing became much heavier.

【The guard enhancement effect has been activated, and the system is in the process of re-judgment. 】

【After the judgment is completed, the new standard is S-level, and there are three data targets in line with the nature of the relevant strength. Do you start the selection of guards? 】

Shaun heard the new system prompt, and he has basically figured out the situation.

Obviously, the power nature of this black sand grain is mainly chaotic power, and the power of the void and shadow is supplemented, so in the guard system, guards who master this type of power must also be used as the selection target.

There were a total of 37 goals for A-level before, and the potential level was probably about the same as that of Noro. The powerhouse of the sanctuary might have a chance to break through to the legend, or maybe not. Sean had already asked about this from Noro. Clear. But no matter how you say it, the guards selected by the A-level standard are the lowest in the existence of the middle sanctuary, and the birth level of the lower sanctuary is already a B-level qualification.

And S-level, that is stronger than A-level existence!

If Shaun didn't guess wrong, the lowest birth standard of the S-level is also the legendary strong, and the upper limit of its power is definitely the super strong.

To be able to reappear such a powerful helper is absolutely extremely beneficial to Sean and to the entire Void Empire-at least, as long as Sean does not fall, these guards drawn by Sean will never be possible. To hurt him, it would never be possible to do anything harmful to the void empire.

The only thing uncontrollable at the moment is that I don't know which of the three people who meet the standards is better.

But anyway, they are randomly selected, so Sean doesn't care about it. Whoever gets the draw depends on luck, so he starts to draw directly.

Chapter 36: .From Chaos

In a camp, a black-bottomed white-winged flag held high was hunting.

The scale of the camp is extremely large. Among the layers, there are three major tents, inside and outside, separated by high fences. There are also strict guards standing guard. However, if you look down from the sky, it is not difficult to find that this vast military camp is actually formed by more than a dozen camps of various sizes and scales.

The races gathered here are extremely complex. There are lion, werewolf, bear, tiger, tauren and other purest orcs, as well as half-orcs with animal ears, hands and claws, and long tails between thighs. There are gray elves with delicate appearance but grayish-brown skin, tall and elegant highland elves, of course, half-elves with sharp ears but different hair colors and weapons, short dwarves with long beards, and others. Such as blood eye goblin, dwarf and so on.

Almost all races that can be seen in the wild land are all gathered here.

However, if anyone who has studied the situation of the wild land sees the many flags that are slightly lowered around the white wing flag on the black background, they will feel a shock of horror rising from the depths of their hearts. .

Wild Winter Tribe, Great War Drum Tribe, Lionheart Tribe, Eagle Tribe, Bronzebeard Tribe, Anvil Tribe, Wall Tribe, Red Rock Tribe, Storm Eye Tribe, Luoxiluo...

can gather here, all of them are the most powerful big tribes in the entire wild land today, and they are also the special seat tribes of the former wild land, even if they are the first-class tribes at the very end. And the elite soldiers who are personally commanded by these tribes, is it possible that they are too weak?

is only the legendary tyrannical aura, there are more than ten in this camp, whether there are any strong auras to hide their identity, it is not known.

It's a little strange, but among the many tribal flags, the Hudex tribe, the magic hammer tribe, and the black gold tribe cannot be seen as super tribes that are equivalent to the elder seats of the Wild Council.

at this time. At the horizon outside the camp, a figure was walking slowly.

This figure walked very slowly, and Yuanwang was only a dark shadow that was slightly obscured by the rising heat.

It is obviously still far from the camp, and it is even impossible to see the person's pace at all, but everyone who looks at this figure knows it. The other party took a step forward. It's just such a step. The distance between the figure and the camp has been shortened a lot: if it was a few kilometers away before, then there is probably only about one kilometer left at this time, but on the contrary, no one has counted this figure in one step. Km and felt abrupt and surprised.

And when this figure took the second step, there was a sound of drums and horns in the camp, and the huge camp in the middle of the camp, countless people of all shapes and sizes came out one after another. Quickly ran towards the camp gate. Several guards responsible for guarding the security of the main account. He also moved at this moment, protecting these people and moving forward quickly.

At the next moment, the entire camp seemed to come alive, and as if gears were turning, countless soldiers walked out of their respective camps, and then quickly lined up and assembled, and began to gather into square formations one after another.

An astonishing momentum soaring to the sky is slowly rising from the camp.

It was a terrible killing.

But not waiting for the crowd in the camp to gather. The figure walking towards the camp has already taken the fourth step.

Only this step, the figure came to the gate of the camp.

Then. Just standing in front of the door without moving, with his hands behind him, just looking up at the operation of the entire camp.

Several lizardmen who stood guard at the gate of the camp, when they looked at the person standing in front of the gate, the scales of their skin actually began to gradually turn blue. This is an expression of fear of the lizard people who are courageous and extremely shocked. In fact, it is not just the lizard people guarding the gates, no matter it is any race in the camp, as long as they see the woman standing in front of them, they will be completely bloody. Fading, showing a panic.

Yes, there is a woman standing in front of the gate.

The woman is wearing a light armor, a silver strapless breastplate, and three diamond-shaped pieces of armor stand on her chest. It looks like a lotus flower. The edge of the piece of gold is gilded and the middle is the same piece. Diamond-shaped piece of armor, but this piece of armor is slightly longer than the vertical three pieces of rhombus, and it hangs straight to the base of the thigh. It is also gilded with hot stamping, but the piece of armor is not pure silver, but glazed with golden light.

The white skin of women's scented shoulders is clearly visible, and even the hemisphere of the chest is equally clear, but no one has ever dared to look here.

Her upper arm is wrapped around the arm armor formed by three layers of lotus armor, the same color, the same hot stamping, the only difference is that the bottom is painted red.

The skirt armor is made up of pieces of silver nail leaf, but it only protects the left and right sides and the back, but the side of the thigh is blocked by the drop of the breastplate. But if you look up, you can clearly see the roots of the woman's thighs. If it weren't for her wearing black underpants, I'm afraid that even the privacy is clearly visible.

There is no cloak, no hand armor, no wrist wrapping, except for a pair of silver boots covering the calf, the other parts of this woman are naked.

This kind of light armor is not so much worn on the body, but rather attached to the body, adding a bit of seductive charm.

Especially this woman has a beautiful appearance and long legs. In addition to her seductive charm, she also has a vitality that is almost unforgettable.

However, no one dared to pay attention to this woman. All the soldiers who saw this woman bowed their heads and closed their eyes, wishing that the other party was transparent, not even the thought of leaving a trace in their minds.

Nothing else, just because this woman slaughtered the entire Black Gold tribe on the first day she appeared. After three days, thirty-three tribes in the Wild Federation were completely annihilated, and several of them were even first-class tribes comparable in size to the magic gold tribe. After that, the remaining tribes of other savage lands that did not want to join the savage federation were completely slaughtered within a week, and now the entire savage land is west of the oasis holy land, and the land is completely ashes.

The corpse was burned, leaving only ashes and ashes.

Even souls don't exist.

If you don't enter the kingdom of God, you will die if you don't enter the land of the underworld.

And then. No one in the Wild Federation dared to oppose this woman, at least not on the face.

So, headed by Hudex and Magic Hammer, the many tribes of the Wild Federation secretly combined, and even colluded with foreign enemies. Among them, there are many powerful and powerful people who sneak in secretly. Help out the Wild Federation. After all, Sean's integration of the power of the entire wilderness, no one will not covet and covet it, but there has been no opportunity and excuse to insert before, but this woman has given all careerists an excuse.

As a result, a civil unrest broke out completely behind Sean's unknown.

But it's a pity.

It took less than a week for this woman to completely shatter the conspiracy that these careerists had planned for a long time.

Three months ago. No one in the Southern Continent knew the name Alexis.

Three months later. The name Alexis resounded throughout the southern continent.

Some people call her the butcher, some call her the executioner, and some call her the devil.

Alexis just laughed, she said: I am killing Wu Ji.

Of course, Alexis did not say the second half: Butcher, there is someone else.

It didn't take long for all the commanders in the camp to gather at the gate of the camp, among these people. A Terran woman stepped forward slowly. If you look closely, it is not difficult to find. Although the formation of these commanders may seem scattered, they actually surround and protect this woman.

She seems very ordinary and ordinary, and she has no momentum fluctuations, but no one dares to ignore her.

Because of her status, she is no lower than Alexis.

This woman is naturally one of the four giants of the void today, strategic commander Hela.

"Resolved?" Hela looked at Alexis and asked.

"Run one." Alexis shrugged.

"Anyone can escape from your hands?" Hela was shocked, and even the other commanders were shocked.

"Fortunately, several armies and the strong fight to stop him, and he ran into the kingdom of Fascism." Alexis said indifferently, "You said you can't cause a national war, so you let him go."

"This guy is really fate." Hela frowned and sighed helplessly. "But there is no way. With the momentum of your hands, if you enter the kingdom of fascism, the strong people of the kingdom of fascism will definitely take action. Time is in trouble."

"It's already done." Alexis said flatly.

Hela's pupils suddenly shrank: "The result?"

"Tear one of his hands and spare him his life." Alexis chuckled, his tone calm as if he was slobbering, "but their actions also let us figure out, secretly inciting and funding These tribes belong to the fascist kingdom.... Although it feels a pity, as you said, I didn't kill them, but I left a little souvenir for each of them."

"Only one fascist kingdom can't do this step, and there must be people from other countries intervening." Hela frowned.

"It's okay." Alexis shrugged, "Anyway, only the little guy in the Wildlands escaped, and everyone else has solved it. As for the unidentified people who helped, although I didn't kill, everyone I left a souvenir for them."

While saying this, Alexis raised his hand, and the seven broken arms were thrown out by her.

This means that Alexis has broken the arms of at least seven legendary powerhouses!

And this is just the arms of those secretly assisting the strong in the Fascist Kingdom, and one of them is the arm of the strong in the Fascist Kingdom! If you count the powerful tribes killed by Alexis in the past few months, there are probably no less than twenty legendary powerhouses who died in the hands of Alexis!

The tribal leaders standing next to Hela took a breath of air.

Then they looked at Alexis again, and saw that the silver armor on Alexis was as clean as ever. Not only did they not leave a battle mark, but there was not even a trace of blood, which made everyone feel even more inside. Horrified.

However, at this moment, Alexis suddenly turned her head and looked south, her brows were slightly raised, and a look of interest appeared on her face.

"What's wrong?" Hela asked. She knew that a super power like Alexis definitely had some special feelings.

"Hehe, I guess it won't be long before someone will come to take my place." Alexis's eyes flashed brightly. This time she came back to help Sean sit in the back, and this fight was a good one. But she also knew that there would be no unopened people to provoke the Void Principality in the future, so she was probably going to be bored, but she did not expect that Sean would actually summon a third breath of destiny!

is located in the wild fortress, Kozilek sits on the edge of the city wall every day. Dangling both calves. A day that seems to have not woken up.

The exaggerated giant sword is placed next to him like this, as long as he stretches out his hand, he can easily hold it.

Sitting on the wall, Kozilek really missed the days when he ran around with Sean, because at least he would be able to eat a full meal. But now, he sits here and can't eat anything, which makes him feel very hungry. But it is a pity that there is not much food in the entire wild fortress. Even the soldiers stationed here don't have enough food. Not to mention making Kozilek full.

Listening to the footsteps coming from behind, Kozilek sighed listlessly.

As a super strong person, recognizing breath is their specialty, not to mention that after sitting here for so many days, the other person will come to him every day. The sound of footsteps makes him remember deeply, how can he not know this time? Who is the person walking towards me.

"I don't know how Sean is doing now." It was Cecilia who came.

Listening that she was the beginning of this sentence every day, Kozilek rolled his eyes helplessly.

He just didn't bother to talk. But it doesn't mean he is stupid.

But at this moment, Kozilek's expression suddenly changed. The lazy state that seemed to be awake, suddenly became solemn, and stared to the south. In the face that Cecilia couldn't see, Kozilek's expression was a bit of excitement and joy. This is a face that can only appear when he gets a full meal!

.....

A wise old man dressed in luxurious white clothes and a short black cloak on his shoulders is slowly walking out of the ever-distorting void.

He held a golden scepter studded with red gems in his right hand, and his gray hair was meticulously combed towards the back of his head, and the whole person looked abnormally energetic. But what is truly unforgettable is that he has an extremely unique temperament in his body, as if he has an insight into everything in this world.

The old man took a deep breath, but the scary thing was that the space in front of the old man seemed to produce some powerful suction. The elements and colors visible to the naked eye were all turned into two airflows and were sucked in by his nostrils.

Soon, a piece of space within a hundred miles ahead completely turned into black and white.

After the old man stopped the inhalation, he heard only a crisp sound, as if something was disconnected from the world. The area a hundred miles in front of the old man suddenly turned into a dead place. The vitality has been completely cut off. The earth showed a lonely black color, and even the aura belonging to the dark side could not survive in it, let alone the power belonging to the light side.

The only thing left in this space is chaos.

The outsiders couldn't detect it, but the black virtual thunder that kept shining in the eyes of the old man was repeating the cycle of birth and death in it.

The black earth and the green grass drew a clear dividing line at the toe of the old man's shoe.

One step forward is chaos.

Where stands is order.

"The material world, what a nostalgic existence." The old man stretched out the golden scepter in his right hand, and gently tapped into the chaotic area in front, a ripple rippling from the air.

In a flash, countless black virtual thunders madly gathered towards the black gems in front of the golden scepter, and then merged into the gems one by one. As the virtual thunders converged, the red gems gradually became black, until all the virtual thunders in the chaotic area disappeared completely, and the original rubies were as black as ink. He didn't see any new moves by the old man, he just stood there and waited for a while, and the black gems, like the ink and the abyss, turned into rubies again.

And at this time, the dead zone, which was originally full of chaos and chaos, began to gradually become alive. After about one or two hundred years, this area will return to its natural normal state, and there will be green grass and flowers again. aromatic. Of course, the most important thing is that in the eyes of the old man, he sees countless lines that ordinary people can't see, once again entwined with this area, pulling this previously abandoned independent enclave back to the world. Among.

"You can eat and you can eat it again later." The old man was like a kind old man, smiling and saying, "Okay, it's time to see my little master. This time I can return to material things. Jie, thanks to him."

While saying this, the old man lightly paused the golden scepter in his right hand to the ground. The red gem on the top of the scepter flashed a black light, and then the air behind the old man suddenly produced a twisted vortex, chaotic aura. Suddenly gush out.

Not long after, a vigorous black lion jumped out of the whirlpool.

The lion's breath is very hideous, the whole body is black, and the skin has very fine scales, but the neck hair and four feet are snow white. But what is peculiar is its tail-not so much a tail, as a python that is more than one meter long and covered with hard armor.

Chaos snake lion.

Looking at the chaotic snake-lion, which was like a kitten, rubbing against the old man a few times, the old man also smiled and patted its head, then turned over and jumped behind the lion. Without any command from the old man, this chaotic snake and lion began to run quickly, rushing towards the front.

Chapter 37: . Unexpected situation

Sean climbed out of the Daxue Lake with some difficulty.

The body has never been soaked. He just didn't expect that there are so many organ creatures hidden in the ruins, which is a huge army of organs. Even Sean is a little softer in his kills-it is a real soft hand, as if those monsters are always inexhaustible and impossible to kill. When one died, two came out again, and when two were killed, they came out again. Here are four.

Shaun could only tear out a road in a rather embarrassing manner, dived back into the lake and ran out.

I don't know why, the mechanism monsters stopped chasing after seeing Sean escape back into the lake. As for what they plan to do next, Sean is too lazy to care. The purpose of his trip has been achieved, and he plans to return to the wild fortress.

Calculating the time, he has left the Wild Fortress for at least three months. Although the grand strategy of the Void Principality will not change in the slightest regardless of his presence or absence, Sean still wants to go back and take a look. This is not because of anything else, but simply because I have been away from home for too long, so I want to go home and have a look.

When landed ashore, Xiao En looked around and found no one, so he moved forward.

In his soul, there was already a fourth light that was lit up, and that was the soul light from a new guard.

For this new guard, Sean is very satisfied, and even thinks this trip is worthwhile.

【Name: Wu Lamo】

【Sex: Male】

[Race: Unknown]

【Realm: Super Power】

【Strengths: Chaos Summoning; Endless Will; Chaos Absorption; Chaos Creation, Chaos Magic】

【Title: Endless Reincarnation】

[Special note: Ulamog comes from chaos, shuttles one plane after another, always in the cycle of the world, just to create chaos and destruction.]

At the moment of the contract with the soul, Sean roughly knew something about Ulamog.

Ulamour, Kozilek's brother-although Sean doesn't know why Ulamour looks like an old man. But what he is certain is that in terms of combat effectiveness, he is much stronger than Kozilek. The reason is simple, because Ulamog is able to communicate with people, unlike Kozilek, who cannot communicate normally at all. Although in this way Ulama's autonomy is much higher. It is not easy to accept orders, but in this environment, Ulamor's value is indeed much higher than that of Kozilek.

Even with the Chaos Summoning, Ulamog alone can defend a wild fortress.

Unlike Noro, Kozilek, and Alexis, the moment Ulamog arrives in this world and establishes a soul connection with Sean, he tells Sean all of his abilities, so that Sean has a rough idea. Know.

From this point on. It can be seen that Ulama's wisdom is much higher than that of others-of course. Alexis is disdain to introduce her abilities in detail, she thinks this is too low-grade.

In addition to Ulamog's wisdom, which is what Shaun looks at, as a powerful magician, it is also another point that Shaun cares most about.

Currently under the command of Void Principality, only Cecilia is truly a mage. Although with the strength of the priest battle group, it is possible to intervene in battle in the face of a magician, but when a magician needs to be used, it is still not as good as a real magician. This is also the shortcoming of the Void Principality.

Ulamor's appearance, although it cannot directly supplement this shortcoming of the Void Duchy. But a super-powerful magician is already equivalent to a powerful magician battle group. As long as Ulamog is willing to cooperate, the tactics of the Void Principality can also become diversified, no longer relying on purely physical combat teams for deadly battles-long-range magic strikes are currently researched by the countries surrounding the Void Principality War tactics against the Void Duchy.

"Sean!" The voice from Alexis echoed in Sean's mind.

"What's the matter?" Sean asked curiously.

In his impression, after sending Alexis out for so long, the other party did not report or communicate with him at all. Even the few times that Sean took the initiative to contact Alexis, the other party said it. Very perfunctory. So at this moment, Alexis actually took the initiative to contact Sean, which made Sean really curious.

"I want to switch." Alexis's voice sounded again.

"Swap?" Shaun didn't quite understand.

"Who is the third breath of destiny?" Alexis said, "I don't have anyone who doesn't open eyes anymore, at least the other party will definitely not come to die again, so let the third breath of destiny come and I'll switch, I'm going to the front line."

"Heh." In the soul, Ulamog's voice suddenly sounded, and it was obvious that he heard what Alexis said, "It's good to be young, always so energetic.... But, little guy, the front line is not you. It's as easy as you imagined. The little master arranged for you to stay behind, it must be for your good."

Ulamor's voice has a very unique charm, like an elegant nobleman with ancient heritage, every word and word has a clear pronunciation, and even full of an amazing meaning. However, no matter how elegant and polite Ulamog's words were, the disdain and arrogance expressed in the subtext in the words were clearly revealed.

"Haha." Alexis suddenly smiled.

Sean suddenly didn't know how to end the scene.

The soul contract restricted these guards from harming Sean, and even not allowed Sean to die before them, but there were no restrictions on the guards themselves. In other words, these guards themselves can kill each other. If Alexis is really annoyed, she can kill Kozilek, Ulama, and Noro all, as long as Sean is okay. it is good.

"Brother!" Kozilek said suddenly.

Although Kozilek only speaks one word, it does not mean to call his brother. Through the connection between the souls, everyone can know that Kozilek is calling his brother when he shouts this word.

"Brother Kozilek? He speaks so emphatic, isn't it Ulamog?" Alexis whispered, "Sean, that's not bad, he actually summoned another powerful guard....His Chaos Summon is still good, it just happens to be able to come to the logistics guard. Okay. Come here quickly, I can't wait."

"I have never seen such an arrogant young man." Ulamog's tone was relaxed, with the taste of a young man who didn't know the heights of the sky.

This time, Kozilek was in a hurry.

But Sean found out that he couldn't put his mouth in. The smell of gunpowder between Ulamog and Alexis gradually became stronger.

"Don't worry. My brother." Ulamog said with a light smile, "I will let this little girl understand in a moment that being young and vigorous is not a bad thing, but..."

"I am Alexis." Alexis said calmly.

The next moment, Xiao En found a silence in his soul, and it seemed that all the voices stopped communicating at this moment.

This feeling of utter silence made Xiao En almost think that all the soul contracts between him and these guards have been cancelled.

"Cough." Ulamog's voice was silent for a long time. Finally it sounded again. "Master, I already know your current situation roughly. If I take charge of the rear, then you can rest assured, and you can continue to concentrate all your power on the front line.... Just the current situation. In terms of above, I think Miss Alexis's proposal is very good."

Are you persuaded? —Sean wanted to spit out this sentence, but finally thinking about it, he still didn't say it.

For a long time, Sean has known that Alexis is a very typical fanatical fighter. According to the official introduction of the game, the fame of Killing Wu Ji was extremely loud. It can almost be said that it resounds through the entire Outland and the Void. Although the original setting of the game did not throw out the concept of the dark side, after coming to this world, Sean knew that there was the dark side, a chaos dimension that was completely opposed to order, but Sean did not think of it anyway, Ally Xis's fame is so big that even the dark side has her legend.

Like Kozilek and Ulamur, they are representatives of the dark side of chaos and are completely opposed to the world order, just like the front and back of a coin.

Kozilek and Ulamog's only goal in order to enter the order is to destroy and swallow, but I don't know why the brothers were sealed and fell asleep. If Sean hadn't activated the guard system to summon them, it would be impossible for them to be at this time. wake. Of course, after waking up, it is impossible to discuss with Sean, or even help Sean fight, they will definitely eat the world they are in the first time.

But Alexis was able to stun Ulamog only by giving his name, which clearly showed that Ulamog had suffered a loss in the hands of Alexis.

"Sean, you see Ulama has agreed, so you can quickly hand over it." Alexis said, "I am going to be moldy when I am idle here. Hela refused to let me go to the Fascist Kingdom. It's so boring."

"The Kingdom of Fascism?" Sean frowned, "What's the matter?"

"Huh? Don't you know?" Alexis was taken aback, "Are you not in the Wild Fortress now?"

"If I'm in the Wild Fortress, do you think I can summon Ulamog?" Sean curled his lips. He knew what Alexis meant. Hela, as the current strategic commander of the Void Principality, must be It is necessary to communicate and discuss with William. After all, William's current name is the military commander of the Void Principality. Therefore, it is impossible for William to know something that Sean does not know, "What did William say over there?"

"I don't know." Sean can imagine that when Alexis said this, he must have shrugged his shoulders indifferently, "When will you enter the legend?"

"Do you think the legend is so easy to enter?" Xiao En said helplessly.

"You have already given birth to a second heart. It is not difficult to enter the legend." Alexis's voice was a bit disdainful, obviously desperate for Sean's talent.

"How do you..."

"How do I know?" Alexis smiled.

"Because our strength is suppressed by your own strength, the little master. Although you have not officially entered the realm of legend, the birth of the second heart also allows you to have the power of a legendary powerhouse. Our strength is natural. It's also improved." Or Ulamog explained, "But there is actually some difference between this and the little master, you completely enter the realm of legend. Only when you step into the realm of legend, we can play our strongest battle. force."

"But I haven't even entered the upper sanctuary..."

"Impossible!" This time, the voices of all the guards except Kozilek sounded at the same time, and even Noro, who had been watching the show nearby, exclaimed.

At this moment, Xiao En felt a sudden wave of strong air currents behind him.

turned around, but saw a whirlpool-like black air current circling continuously, and then an old man stepped out of it.

At the first moment when Sean saw the old man, he had an inexplicable awareness in his heart: this person is endless reincarnation. Ulama.

Originally Ulamog came to find Sean sitting in the Chaos Snake Lion, but when he heard that Sean had actually given birth to a second heart, he was not even in the upper sanctuary realm. This fact was too shocking, so he directly locked in. After finishing the soul coordinates, he opened a chaotic portal and rushed over.

And after seeing Xiao En himself and looking up and down for a while, Ulamog had to admit that Shaun's current realm is indeed only a middle sanctuary. But he happened to give birth to a second heart, which gave Sean a terrible increase in strength. But Ulamog was really shocked, but it was not this, but that there was still power in Xiao En at the moment that continued to condense, and this was what surprised him.

But looking at Sean's expression, it was obvious that Sean didn't know such a thing.

"How?" Alexis asked.

"It is indeed not a high-level sanctuary, but the second source of power was born." Ulamog said, "and...there is also the performance of condensing the third source of power."

"The third source of strength!?" Alexis said in a deep voice, "Are you kidding?"

"No!" Ulamo replied in a deep voice, "Little Master's situation... is somewhat special."

"What are you talking about? What third source of power?" Sean was a little inexplicable, "I don't understand why."

"It's normal that you don't understand." Alexis said irritably, "You are obviously not in the legendary realm, but you have already embarked on the road of legend...The legendary realm is just the beginning of the road to the strong. , After every step forward, a source of strength must be gathered. It can be any body organ, or even an invisible existence. But as humans, we are generally condensed into a heart... Of course, the same is true for demons and demons. "

Speaking of this, Alexis's tone has become a lot heavier: "It means...you are gathering the third heart."

"Isn't this a good thing?" Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, and then he said, "I condense a new source of strength, and your strength can also be improved..."

"As long as you have not stepped into the legend, our strength will not be completely improved, so even if you condense the third source of strength, we still have the same combat strength as it is now, and there is not much change." Sith is rarely in the mood to answer Sean's question, but her tone is not good anyway, "But you are different."

"What's the difference?" Sean didn't understand.

"Your body has not been completely adjusted and strengthened. You are still only a middle sanctuary." This time it was not Ulamog or Alexis who spoke, but Noro, and he finally couldn't help but interject. Said, "The upper sanctuary fully comprehends the power of the law, and thus blesses itself. This is a physical strengthening, and it is also a preparation for the upcoming legendary realm. Only when you control such power can you be able to attack the legend. Realm, let your body get a new strengthening, and master this new power."

"So, what do you mean by saying so much?" Sean was even more inexplicable.

"If you give birth to a third heart before the legend..." Noro said eagerly, "You will die."

Chapter 38: .Prepare

"I... will die?" Sean was taken aback.

In the soul, there was a moment of silence, and no one spoke.

"It's still a bit early to say this." Ulamog broke the silence, "As long as you pay a little attention, it's okay.... I think the most important thing for the little master now is to control the power of the law as soon as possible, and strive to step down. Enter the realm of the upper sanctuary."

Hearing this, Xiao En couldn't help showing a helpless wry smile: "How easy is it. I need to combine the laws of time and space to form the laws of time and space before I can officially step into the realm of the upper sanctuary."

"Time and space?" Ulamog frowned, "If it's space, I can still help a little bit. In terms of time, there is really nothing I can do."

The realm of the upper sanctuary is the formation and stability of derivative laws, thereby enhancing one's domain power. Only after the strength has been improved, can more strength be accumulated in one's own body, thus giving birth to the second source of strength, allowing one to formally step into the legendary road.

But it does not mean that if you can become a high-level sanctuary powerhouse, you will definitely be able to become a legendary powerhouse.

The comprehension of the law of is not deep enough, so even if one's own domain can be strengthened and improved in strength, the domain is not complete after all. Rather than a complete field, it is impossible to form a perfect closed field, so naturally, there is no way to accumulate power. Before becoming a legend, anyone will save power forever. Only when the field is completely closed can they be able to accumulate. Power forms the second source of power.

Judging the potential of a high-level sanctuary powerhouse depends on their domain perfection.

The more perfect and firm the field is, the less the power accumulated in it will be lost, or there will be no loss at all. In this way, they will naturally improve their strength realm quickly. Only these high-ranking sanctuary powerhouses who have accumulated more than current are qualified to attack the legendary realm, but if it is not to the extent that the realm is completely perfected and completely closed. The legend of Tier 12 is their end.

So the general sanctuary powerhouse, after contacting and mastering a rule, usually choose a derivative rule to improve their domain power.

Like the law of gravity to derive the law of the earth, or the law of iron to derive the law of metal, or the law of time to derive the law of time. The water element deduces the ice element and so on. Only those geniuses with great ambition and great talent. Only then can we choose parallel or opposite laws, such as the law of fire and wind, the law of life and the law of death, or the law of metal and the law of earth, the law of gravity and the law of wind.

Among them, the parallel laws such as the law of time and the law of space are the rarest.

Regardless of opposition or parallelism, the most important thing is balance. Only when the two laws are in a perfect balance can the real birth of the related fields and strengths belonging to the juxtaposition or to the legislative laws be born, otherwise everything is illusory-precisely because this balance is extremely difficult to grasp. That's why many geniuses finally stopped here. Not to mention hitting the legendary realm, even the upper sanctuary realm can't reach it.

Shaun gave birth to two hearts before this, which can be said to be a great fortune, even he didn't even know that he had come.

But if that's the case, then it doesn't matter, but unfortunately, Sean's energy accumulation speed in his body at this time is also much faster than ordinary people, and his third heart is rapidly condensing. It's just this. But it was something that Xiao En couldn't feel himself, and only Ulamog, a super powerhouse with the rank of magician, could discover this. Even if Kozilek and Alexis came over, they couldn't find this.

Others may not know what this means. Just like Sean, he naturally thinks that the birth of a third heart is a good thing, but those who really walk from the sanctuary to the legendary state are very clear. what does that mean.

In the final analysis, the reason is simple.

That means that Sean's body cannot support such a strong blessing.

The two hearts are okay, they are within the range that the body of silver can bear, even if they don't get the sublimation bonus of legendary power. However, if a third heart is born before the legend, then Sean's current situation is absolutely unbearable, and his entire body will be completely disintegrated.

And once Shaun is dead, then Noro, Kozilek, Ulamur, and Alexis will all die.

This is the reason for the panic of the guards—of course, only Noro is panicking, but Alexis and Ulamog are quite calm.

"Don't talk so much nonsense, hurry up and open a portal to hand it over." Alexis said, "I have nothing to do on my side. It's useless to be anxious in this regard, first think of a way to get Xiao En can understand the law of time and space as soon as possible, so that this law of parallelism can find a balance. As long as he can merge and successfully step into the upper sanctuary, it will not take long before he can step into the realm of legend. After all, two hearts have been born. NS."

Ulamog sighed helplessly, but he really didn't dare to entangle with Alexis, because the other party was a famous lunatic, and he had to join the three brothers to make a tie with Alexis. , Now only Kozilek and himself, Ulamog didn't want to provoke Alexis.

So, without thinking about it, Ulamog raised the golden scepter in his hand a little forward.

A black wind blows.

The wind is not violent, but there is a whistling magic sound, disturbing people.

Soon, a black vortex revolved in mid-air, and countless purple thunders made up for it.

Chaos portal.

Different from the general teleportation of tearing space, the chaotic portal directly communicates with the dark side of the world. This kind of portal is different from requiring the positioning of the space anchor to open the space. The chaotic portal can be opened directly only through the soul mark.

Like the current situation, Ulamog can directly open the portal to and from Kozilek, Alexis, Sean, and Noro at any time, and can even limit whether the portal is a two-way channel or a one-way channel. Of course, unlike ordinary portals, there is a protective barrier after opening to avoid the danger of the void. The shuttle of chaotic portals is extremely dangerous, because such portals have no protection and can only rely on their own strength to counter the power of the void. .

After opening the portal, Ulamog stepped in. The entire portal suddenly disappeared completely.

Not long, another black whirlpool hovered around Sean, this time it was Alexis stepping out.

Looking at the gorgeous silver armor on Alexis, Sean was taken aback: "How did you change the armor?"

"I thought it was pretty, so I changed it." Alexis smiled back. "Alright. Ulama is sitting behind your house, basically there will be no accidents."

"Sounds like Ulamog is very strong, even you have such a high evaluation." Sean said, "How does it compare to you and Kozilek?"

"It's different, it's not comparable." Alexis shook his head, her voice calm. "Kozilek is the representative of power. If Ulama is close, he will be abused, and even if he faces me, Kozilek is also a warrior. But if Ulamog is allowed to set up his position, let alone Kozilek, even me. I can't ask for it... If you have to compare it, Ulamog is a bit like Reck."

"Legion?" Sean understood the meaning of Alexis' words immediately.

"En." Alexis nodded, "Ulamog alone can be equivalent to a legion.... It's just that the cost of his Chaos Summoning is not small. But if you can give him enough For more time, he can really make you an army that is invincible in the world. That's..."

"A threat to the origin of the world?" Sean took the words of Alexis.

is different from calling Kozilek.

Kozilek is not a fool though. But there are also some muddled and unclear things, so it is quite troublesome in communication. But when Sean summoned Ulamog out, he knew what kind of guy the Eldrazi brothers were. To put it bluntly, they were no different from demons, demons, and Lich King. They just destroyed the world and swallowed the plane. The origin guy.

If we have to say something different, it is the so-called destruction of demons and demons, which is to assimilate the world into the abyss or * and become a part of it. The Lich King from the Bone Plane completely turned the entire world plane into a dead place, a floating block floating in the void.

The destruction of the three Eldrazi brothers simply dragged the world plane into the dark side of chaos, completely out of the control of order, just like the black soil that exists in this world. It's just that it's different from the dead land where the black earth can be restored by the fire of order. The plane drawn into the dark side by the three Eldrazi brothers will truly become a place of chaos, from which it is only unique to chaos. Species.

"More or less there will be some impact." Alexis did not hide it. "But if it is not completely squeezed and cleaned, but used sparingly, then it will not hurt the core of the root of the world. In a paragraph In the recuperation of time, it can still be restored as before.... It's just this time, it may take hundreds of years."

Sean was silent and did not speak, Alexis did not speak any more, just stood on the side and waited.

As the master of the symbiotic soul contract for all of them, some decisions can only be made by Sean, and others can only obey. What's more, Sean is still the son of this world. If Kozilek and Ulama are not Sean's contract guards, I'm afraid that the moment they appear in this world, Sean will be immortal with them.

"Ulamor." Shaun opened his mouth and called in the soul contract.

"What's the matter, little master?" Ulamog was very kind to Sean.

"I allow you to create a Chaos Legion without hurting the roots and cores of the world's origin." As if he had made some determination, Sean finally gave an order, "I have only one request, and that is to take all the enemies. Give me a solution. On this basis, you must obey Hela and William's instructions, and once the Chaos Legion has a certain scale of foundation, you must stop manufacturing."

"As you wish, my master." Ulamo replied politely.

Breathing out gently, Sean rubbed his face.

"Where shall we go next?" Alexis asked, eyes shining with excitement.

She was sent by Sean to sit in the town of Hela, just to help Hela solve the problems that need to be solved with strong force. Of course, Alexis would not refuse this kind of fighting work, so she quickly rushed to Hela's side and began to help Hela solve those troubles.

It's just that everyone didn't expect that Alexis's solution to the problem was too simple—just one word: kill.

Whoever refuses to accept, kill whoever accepts.

So those loyal wild tribes didn't feel much, anyway, they were firm Shaun faction. However, those tribes with ambitions and strength seemed to be worried, and it was not their style to bow their heads so simply, so there was a later rebellion-with the support of the secret party led by the Fascist Kingdom, countless The careerists stretched out their hands to the Wild Federation and the Void Duchy.

As a result, it was natural that Alexis cut off all the hands reaching her.

Despite the  methods, the result was surprisingly good: those who stayed became purer.

This kind of handling method is not very powerful. Basically, even if anyone knows how Sean solves this hidden danger, there is no way to imitate it. The reason is very simple. Alexis's force value is too high. No one in the country can resist. Instead, the super-powerful and Alexis are dispatched to fight each other. Those enemies of Sean don't say whether there are any. Even if a master of the super power level sits in town, even if he is reluctant to send it out, it is still a problem, so Alexis can put out all the unstable flames in such a short period of time.

"Back to the wild fortress." Looking at Alexis so excited, Sean said, "Next, if there are no accidents, I believe you will have a chance to shoot soon. I just hope you won't complain. You just don't have time to fight."

"Hey, as long as the opponent is really interesting, I will definitely not run out of time." Alexis said nonchalantly, "But if it's still just some incompetent guy like before, then I really am No interest."

"Others may be able to wait, but the Millennium Covenant Empire certainly can't wait." Sean said, "It has been three months, and the Mayan Fortress must have been taken back. This means that the war with the undead army is about to begin. As far as the current situation is concerned, the Thousand-Year Covenant Empire will not come to trouble us for the time being, but Rick will definitely come at me. This is also the reason why I did not refuse the exchange between you and Ulamog."

"Rake...?" In Alexis's eyes, the flames formed by the intent to fight burned more vigorously.

Chapter 39: .Void Background

Sean believes that three months is enough time for the millennium covenant empire to gain a foothold and prepare to start a counterattack. After all, he did his best to protect the safety of the Golden Left Road and successfully survived the Zoanton family. Therefore, the situation on the southern side should be based on Fort Mei'an as the front line and start to develop outward.

But Sean completely ignored the most important point.

That is his interference.

Lake has a very strong desire for Cecilia for some reason, but if Sean is not dead, he will not be able to take Cecilia away. What's more, there is also the addition of Lucas and Bigger, and they want to kill Shaun if they want to seize the origin of the world plane.

If we say that they wanted to get high-quality material before, they didn't make such crazy shots, but after knowing of Andrew's departure and Sean's forcible intervention, they could no longer keep their hands. Therefore, since the fall of the Second Undead Army, the three big figures from the plane of the bones, Lake and Lucas, have taken full action without reservation, but in just three months, the entire Nugget Road area has been completely comprehensive. Occupied.

The Duke of Nandern, Purhus Zoranton, was able to take back the Mayan Fortress. He really did his best—just to recapture the fortress, he sacrificed four legions, and the organization of the other two legions was broken up. . It took six legions with casualties before and after they finally regained the fortress. Although they also got in touch with the rebels, and the rebels in the three southern provinces were willing to truly surrender and obey the orders of Puhuus, this battle is for the Millennium Covenant Empire. In terms of it, it is still a heavy loss.

Under this kind of loss, the Duke of Nandern did not even dare to order the two provinces of the Golden Left Road to be retaken, and to get in touch with Shaun's wild fortress.

At the same time, the Duke of East Deen was also restricted by the fact that the southern part of the empire fell close to one-third of the territory, and had to give up a large amount of the eastern region—all the territories east of the Destiny River of the empire, all of which were completely abandoned.

Losing the Golden Thirteen Provinces led by the Golden Twenty One. The eastern border of the Millennium Covenant Empire is like a prominent edge. In the middle of this corner is the Empire River of Destiny that flows from north to south. In the second nationwide war of the Millennium Covenant Empire, it was this river that the Millennium Covenant Empire defeated the barbarians, thus expanding the entire eastern border of the empire. It also laid the foundation for the prosperity of the entire millennium covenant empire.

The Destiny River of the Empire is a big river with fast flowing water. The flow of water in only three areas of the entire river is slightly smoother. But two of them are not suitable for the army to cross the river, so the Millennium Covenant Empire only set up a fortress camp in these two places, and established a majestic fortress in a place that is really suitable for the army to cross the river: the fortress of destiny. Even if the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire continues to expand eastward, the Fortress of Destiny has not been abandoned, and has even been continuously strengthened and strengthened, except because this fortress has extremely important symbolic significance for the Millennium Covenant Empire. , Or because this fortress is the garrison headquarters of the Duke of East Deen.

Rely on land insurance. Even if the army of the undead wants to climb the mountains and ridges to invade the eastern part of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Only a small number of troops can be dispatched. But when the entire millennium covenant empire is prepared, these small units can only be regarded as harassment, not even the surprise tactics. If you really want to break in, you can only take down the Fortress of Destiny—this fortress is the last line of defense in the eastern part of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Once the fortress falls, the result can be imagined.

It can be said that the Duke of East Deen has directly abandoned the first and second lines of defense in the eastern part of the empire. Straight back to the last line of defense. This move was naturally slandered by the Imperial Army, but it was completely defeated on the southern front. The Duke of East Deen did not dare to continue to take risks, because once the army of the undead marched northward to cut off the central part of the Millennium Covenant Empire, the River of Destiny, which happened to be the central axis of the Millennium Covenant Empire, then the loss of the Millennium Covenant Empire would be even greater by then. heavy.

Sean didn't know that the Millennium Covenant Empire had suffered heavy losses. He thought that the Millennium Covenant Empire and Lake had been unable to deal with each other, so he chose to return to the wild fortress at this time. He still had some thoughts about taking advantage of it.

But he didn't know that, after quickly taking over the vast southern territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire, seeing that the Millennium Covenant Empire could not shrink, Lake directly swung his army south to find Sean's trouble.

As soon as Sean, Kozilek and the others had completed their exchanges, and while pulling Alexis back to the Wild Fortress, a large army of skeletons had arrived in the Wild Fortress.

Standing on the wall, William's expression was calm.

There is neither a charming red smile when excited, nor a solemn and indifferent face when angry, and some are just calm.

Standing next to him are a group of fierce generals who have been following Shaun since the establishment of the Void Principality.

The person on the left of William is a middle-aged man.

He was wearing a silver-white armor, with a layer of sheen flowing and shining on the armor, occasionally reflecting the light golden brilliance, no matter who it was, he could see the extraordinariness of this armor. But only the master wearing this armor knows that these miracles and extraordinary things have nothing to do with him. He can only wear this armor and barely let the armor close to himself to generate strong defensive capabilities, but he cannot command this armor, even just Even the attached weapons of the armor itself cannot be used.

There is only one reason: the degree of affinity is too low.

This middle-aged man is Alfred, the first strong general under Sean in the past, and the first strong general. And now, although the name of the fierce general is still the same, his strength is not the strongest under Sean, and even the strongest general in all the army of the Void Principality-he only has the strength of the upper gold, and he is relying on it. Only under the special effect of the magical armor can it possess the strength of the lower sanctuary.

This silver-white armor with pale gold and silver is one of the two angel outfits that Sean captured from the Empire of St. Joles, representing Raguire, the guardian of the power.

This armor does not recognize Alfred. Alfred was allowed to wear it under the force of Sean, but he can only provide Alfred with the most basic guardian domain, which he can barely reach. The strength of the lower sanctuary. In addition to this, Alfred could not borrow other wonderful abilities possessed by Raguire, let alone the most representative ability of angels: awakening.

But even so. It also provided Alfred with extremely powerful combat capabilities, and made the Thunder Lions more invincible.

Standing to the left of Alfred, is the commander of the Cecilia Guards, Clover.

This commander who once truly made the name of a butcher in the wild land is now a powerful man in the lower sanctuary. But it is different from the realm that Alfred relied on external force to step into. His strength was really brought out in the * wind—not to say that Alfred did not fight as many times as Clover. It's just that Alfred, under the squeeze and persecution without huge pressure, the upper level gold is indeed the limit of his potential.

Of course, Clover's personal potential also stopped in the lower sanctuary. This was because he was promoted under the pressure of countless death battles, * battles, and even huge beliefs to allow Cecilia to return to the Duchy of Lumber. It can be said that among the many generals in the same industry, Clover's personal strength can be regarded as the top ones, even in the entire military. It can also be ranked third—it was originally second.

Standing beside Clover. It was Dwight, the captain of the Scarlet Knights.

As the most powerful knight under Rena, Dwight's promotion path is much easier than others: whether it is personal strength or military rank promotion.

Although the scale of the Scarlet Knights is now very small—compared to the other regiments of the Void Principality that have tens of thousands or even tens of thousands at every turn, the Scarlet Knights with a number of only five hundred are indeed extremely small. But in terms of combat power alone, the Scarlet Knights are now ranked as the knights in the entire Southern Continent. If you don't count the church knights in the Southern Continent, which are never ranked, the Scarlet Knights' combat power is even Can be ranked in the top five.

The team members are all knights of the upper silver realm, and some of the captain-level ones have the lower gold realm. And Dwight himself is also a strong man who stepped into the lower sanctuary.

Standing next to Dwight was the commander of the Steel Wing Corps today. Abaza.

This void barbarian is only twenty years old now. He should be a young and energetic age, but standing here shows a calm temperament like a mountain. His strength is not high, only the upper rank silver, not even the golden realm, but among all the commanders present, no one will underestimate him, nor dare to underestimate him. Not because of his identity, but because of his achievements.

Once, Anno gambled on his own life to spell out the reputation of a "Void Barbarian" for those Northland Barbarians who were bought by Sean, and made "Iron Wings" one of the three ace groups under Sean's command. .

Today, Abaza, who has taken over as the commander of Anno, not only retains the ace of "Steel Wings", but also allows "Steel Wings" to completely get rid of the previous combat style that only knew how to deal with it. Appears more agile, cunning, and cruel. In the same way, Abaza also made the "Void Barbarians" a more popular race on the entire Marvel Continent than the Jingu Barbarians: their entire clan is a soldier, and the entire clan is good at fighting and daring to fight, regardless of men, women, young or old.

To this day, the Iron Wings have become an army that only accepts Void Barbarians, and has become the pride of the Void Barbarians' race.

The left column is the current high-level generals of the Void Principality.

On the right, it represents the peak force of the Void Principality.

Rena, in this column.

It's just that she is not standing on William's right, but the fourth on the right. She has an emerald-like green armor shining with red flames, and the whole person looks unusually magical.

The one standing to the right of William is Cecilia.

Although her strength is not as good as Rina, or even as Kozilek, who is standing in the second from the right, no one will deny that Cecilia is in this position. In other words, Cecilia should be regarded as the central axis of everyone standing on the wall at the moment. Her left is William and her right is Kozilek.

As early as two months ago, the Priest Combat Team of Steel Wings, Jet Black Wings, Scarlet Knights, Thunder Lions, Cecilia Guards, 1st Cavalry Regiment, Conviction Wings, Ice and Winter Church arrived one after another. Wild fortress, and quickly completed the battle defense layout under William's arrangement. Not only took over the fortifications of the entire wild fortress, but also used it as a base to arrange a series of defensive measures, and under the surveillance of the floating Gulu, several small-scale undead trying to invade the wild fortress were simply and neatly removed. The solution did not cause any crisis issues.

But the situation is different now.

The white tide line gradually emerging from the distant horizon, dozens of times the size of the undead army that occasionally strikes these days.

This is no longer a group of small-scale wandering teams, but arranged in a square array. An army of undead marching in an orderly pace. Even if this undead army is still a skeleton army, and no more advanced undead creatures have been seen, the pressure it brings is still enough to make anyone desperate.

"It is the vanguard of the plane of bones." A voice spoke.

This voice is very crisp, obviously belongs to the voice of young people, for everyone under the Void Principality. Can be regarded as a strange voice.

But if Sean is there. He could recognize that the owner of this voice was an old friend he had known from the Northern Duchy Federation.

Levy from Floating Island.

It has been more than a month since he led the team of 100 people who had been named by Jibril and stayed here to reach the Wild Fortress.

Levy's commanding ability is not supernatural, it can only be regarded as excellent, probably about the same level as Abaza, and not as good as Dwight, Alfred, Clover and others. But with the assistance of Alyssa, Levi's commanding ability can be regarded as excellent, better than that of Alfred and others-only Levi and Alyssa teamed up. Only to be able to do this step.

Because Levi trusts Alisa 100%. Therefore, in the eyes of Alfred and others, it was quite dangerous and even had the concept of death. Levi was able to complete it brilliantly, so that Alisha's tactical arrangement was extremely perfect. It can be said that the tacit understanding between the two has reached the point where they cannot be separated from each other. Even if they are replaced by Clove and Alfred, who are not afraid of death, it is difficult to figure out the core of Alisha's tactics, and thus cannot achieve this extreme. Perfect.

Because of this, Levi is arriving at the Wild Fortress. After explaining his relationship with Sean and his intentions, and showing his tacit cooperation with Alissa, William did not hesitate to hand over the command of Conviction Wings to Levi and Alisa-Levi was the commander. Alyssa is the chief of staff responsible for assisting Levi. With this, Levi became the number one general in the military department of the Void Principality: his and Alyssa's strengths are both legendary.

The second place is Dwight, which is why Clover fell from second to third.

However, although Levi and Alyssa are the generals of the Void Principality, they are standing on the fifth and sixth from the right-representing the pinnacle of the Void Principality.

"This scale is just a vanguard?" It was Angel who exclaimed. She was standing on the right side of Kozilek, separated from Cecilia.

Now, the command of the Frost Legion has been transferred back to the Valkyrie. And she did show how tough she can be called a Valkyrie. Although she is not a member of the Void Principality, the Wild Fortress is after all the fortress of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Fundamentally speaking, the Void Principality's reinforcements are the real ones. Of the assisted defense forces.

Looking at the Void Principality generals standing in a whole row on the wall at this moment and the powerhouse representing the pinnacle of force, Angel had extremely complicated thoughts in her heart.

She has overestimated Sean as much as possible, and even overestimated the entire Void Principality, but she did not expect that whether it was Sean or his Void Principality, she would surprise her again and again. Not to mention Alexis and Kozilek, even William and a group of vanity heroes are enough to make the Void Principality get rid of the word "Principality" and become a real kingdom, but I did not expect that there would be Levi and Ai. A legendary powerhouse like Lisa came to vote.

Is this the hidden secrets of the Void Principality? -Angel's heart is not only complicated, but also very tangled, and of course she is also a little bit ashamed.

After all, she went to the Void Principality to marry Sean, and the reason is that she has a strong enough personal strength and identity background, and even has a proud fifth-level legion: Frost Legion. And because of this, she has always believed that Sean is taking advantage of her marriage with Sean.

But now looking at the power of the Void Principality completely on the stage, she knew she was too naive.

Where does the Void Principality need to look at the face of the Millennium Covenant Empire?

If this skeletal invasion happened not so close to the Void Principality, once the Millennium Covenant Empire and the Void Principality quarreled, without knowing the details of the Void Principality, I am afraid it would be a big loss. And through the contact between Angel and Sean, Cecilia, William and others during this period, this big loss may really hurt the Millennium Covenant Empire.

The most important thing is that Angel knows who Sean is, so she knows better. Shaun's strength and the background of the Void Principality are definitely far more than just on the table.

"No matter how large the undead army is, as long as there is no undead sequence above the black warrior, it is just the vanguard." It was Levi who interrupted Angel's random thoughts. "Or. You can call them cannon fodder, after all, this is just a method used by the undead army to test the enemy's strength."

"The size of the enemy must be at least 300,000." William glanced at the white tide line that stretched for more than two kilometers, and his voice seemed a little low.

"Almost." After all, Alfred and Klov are the generals who often lead the way. Based on experience, a little estimation can come to the conclusion, "No more than three hundred and fifty thousand, and no less than two hundred and eighty thousand."

"Let Kozilek go out. Just one blow to solve it." Levi and Alisha looked at each other. Alisha spoke.

Dwight frowned, and then he said, "It's impossible for the enemy to stop Kozilek without arranging manpower?"

"No, Alyssa was right." Angel recovered, and then said, but she didn't expect that she and Cecilia would say in unison again. The women who disliked each other immediately snorted, who He didn't speak anymore.

William grinned helplessly, and then said: "The hidden superpower is the most terrifying. Kozilek can force the opponent out. If he has been hidden in the enemy's army, wait until the contact war breaks out between us. Then, even if Kozilek reacted quickly, it was still us who was unlucky at such a close distance. After all... it was a battle of super powers."

Levy and Alyssa obviously remembered the battle of fate in the city of Adroan, the Federation of the Northern Duchy, and both of them didn't look pretty.

"What if the other party ignores Kozilek?" It was Abaza.

"No." Cecilia and Angel collided again, and the two looked at each other with cold eyebrows.

"Ah... With Kozilek's shot, the opponent's cannon fodder can't move forward at all, so it's definitely not an ordinary person who can continue to move forward under Kozilek's attack, and then free Kozilek to deal with it." William gave a light cough before speaking. Said, "I just didn't want to understand why these undead army chose to attack us. No matter from which aspect, if the intelligence said, the undead army completely won the golden thirteen provinces of the Millennium Covenant, then They should continue to go north is a good time to expand their results."

For William's doubts, Cecilia had a guess in her heart, but she did not speak out.

"Forget it, I can only trouble Kozilek for your help." William shook his head and decided not to think about it, but turned his head and smiled at Kozilek.

"Hungry." Kozilek did not say good or bad, just a simple word.

"Don't worry, you will be full." The smile on William's face stiffened, but he gritted his teeth and said this sentence.

The dealings with Kozilek are not too few, and in general he can guess what Kozilek wants to express.

Of course, so everyone naturally knows Kozilek's appetite.

I'm afraid that this meal will be able to eat the food for everyone in the entire fortress for one year. But if Kozilek is not fed, no one except Sean can command, so let alone William, whoever faces Kozilek's request for food must smile and agree.

And watching this scene before her, Angel's inner envy became even stronger.

If just a simple feeding can guarantee the joining of a super strong, I am afraid that no matter who it is, it will be delicious and delicious.

This is the foundation of the Void Principality.

Chapter 40: Attack

"It feels like a sacrifice." Xuefanio looked at the food in the empty warehouse, and then said.

"Super strong people are more or less privileged." Cecilia said, her voice a little relaxed, "We just have a bigger appetite. I heard Angel say that the deep man in their empire The super powers in the palace, the king would not be able to take action until he was surrounded by the army, even if the entire empire was destroyed."

The relationship between Cecilia and Angel is really weird. Although the two are not so friendly, it is only for Sean's problem. In fact, after experiencing the same life and death in the forest of sighs, the relationship between the two of them has undergone very subtle development and changes. Sometimes there are still some topics that can be discussed together, for example, on the issue of super power: A super strong man who is willing to obediently behave when he's full, everyone would be very envious.

"I don't know where Sean got these super powers." Xuefanio said.

Cecilia was silent for a moment, and then said: "It doesn't matter where you find it, it's all good for us." At this point, Cecilia gave a sweet smile: "Isn't it? "

Xuefanio glanced at Cecilia. She knew what the girl was thinking in her heart. Naturally, she would not spoil this mood at this time, so she did not reply. But her heart silently said: As long as Sean can control it, then it is naturally indifferent and a good thing, but once Sean can't control these people, then it is not a good thing, even for the whole world. disaster.

As a direct descendant of the native gods, and even Xuefanio, who has the blood of the true gods, how could it not be possible that these super powers have a soul connection with Sean. In Xuefanio's view, these strong men should be sealed up terrifying existences, perhaps Cthulhu. Or maybe something else is unknown, and one of the benchmarks for them to reawaken in this world is to sign a soul contract with Sean, and they must help Sean solve some problems.

Ke also because of this, so Xuefanio knows better than anyone. The aura of chaos in Kozilek. There was also the black murderous aura on Alexis that couldn't be concealed in her eyes.

"Don't worry, although Kozilek occasionally makes a little awkwardness and doesn't listen to instructions very much, but as long as he is full, he will still work very hard." Cecilia can see the worry hidden in her eyes. , It's just that she doesn't know what the worry in Xuefanio's eyes is for, "Speaking of which, this is a bit like a Void Barbarian.... Anno is a great leader."

"Yes." mention Anno. There was finally a smile in Xuefanio's eyes.

.....

Others may not have a deep understanding of the undead army. But Levi, who was born on a floating island, has a wide range of knowledge. Therefore, he knows better than anyone the division of the three arms of the undead army: as long as there is no regular army, even if there are millions of skeletons, it is just cannon fodder. However, in general marching battles, the offensive army that first appeared on the battlefield was commonly known as the vanguard, which is why Levi called the undead army that appeared before as the vanguard.

When the skeleton army that stretches for two kilometers along the line, the front side advances, and the back starts to appear continuously. That is a terrifying white sea.

The ranks of Skeleton Department are generally not too high, and the main combat power is generally the third and fourth ranks. It is equivalent to the level of the Bronze Realm, and the strongest individual strength is only the sixth-order skeletal demons-bone dragons and wise skeleton commanders and the like, are not included in this list.

But even the undead army with a very clear class system is usually used as cannon fodder, basically some of the first-order skeleton soldiers or the second-order skeleton warriors.

But at this time, this mighty undead vanguard army actually had a large number of Tier 3 and Tier 4 skeletal warriors and skeletal warriors as the main force, but the lower-tier skeleton warriors were only subordinates. In addition, there are even many skeleton mages and skeleton cavalry in the army. Although these two are both skeleton creatures, they generally do not appear in the cannon fodder army, but as subordinate forces. Appeared with the undead regular army.

Before, I only saw the front line of skeleton soldiers emerge from the remote horizontal line, so the look of Levi, William and others did not change much. At this moment, with the advancement of the skeleton army officially entering everyone's field of vision, the expressions of Levi and others changed in an instant, and William's expression also seemed difficult to look after hearing the reports of other powerful men.

As everyone knows, the weakness of the wizard system is the weakness of the Void Principality.

Fortunately, in the entanglement and war with many lords in general, there has never been a wizard group. Even in the previous blood-flag revenge war and bad blood plan, those lords are at most a few wizards around to follow, but under the powerful magical suppression of Sean's unique priests and Cecilia, these people are also It's hard to make a difference.

But the situation is different now.

On the battlefield, once one party joins the battle of the wizard group, and the other party has no corresponding restrictions, then the party without the wizard group will definitely suffer heavy losses.

"Can you stop it?" William said, his voice a little hoarse for the first time.

William's military talent is indeed amazing, and it is not a fluke to be able to be among the ten generals. Not to mention the unpredictable use of military skills, but definitely worthy of the words "various", especially William likes to use tactics: like the lion of thunder, which is the best at fighting tough battles, it is used by William in different occasions and places. Obviously the combat style remains the same, but it is able to play an extremely amazing tactical style.

In this regard, it is completely different from Hella's "dignified upright". However, the two styles of positive and odd are indeed the fundamental reason why the Void Principality is so strong in military capabilities today. As for the other generals, to put it bluntly, it is an extension of the two men's military skills, which is for both of them. The perfect complement and combination of human tactics and strategies.

However, no matter how can you turn the decay into a magical general, if there is no decay in your hands, it will be useless after all.

Void Principality, lack is the "corruption" of "Mage Group".

No one asked what William was asking, but everyone knew who he was asking, so Cecilia said, "Within a thousand. It's not a concern." After that, he was silent for a moment. , And then said: "There is no dead thing that derives soul wisdom. Five thousand is the limit. If there is, one below the seventh level can be worth one hundred. One above the seventh level can be worth one thousand."

"Skeleton Vanguard. There are few undead who truly possess soul wisdom." Levi said. "But...the scale of this one in front of me, I don't dare to say that it is a pioneer."

is a pioneer and cannon fodder.

Levy dare not say anything, which means that this undead army has almost the level of combat effectiveness of the undead regular army. That being the case, who can guarantee that there will be no undead creatures that truly give birth to soul wisdom in the opponent's army? If it is other types of undead creatures, it is better to say, if it is a skeleton mage or a bone mage. That would be a disaster for the wild fortress.

But even if there is no skeleton mage or bone mage who really possesses soul wisdom. Looking at the dense army of skeletons, the number of skeleton mages is more than five thousand?

Kozilek doesn't care so much, he stares at the front line, looking up at Cecilia.

Cecilia said, "Fell into the enemy's line as much as possible and kill his tens of thousands of skeletons."

If there are not so many skeleton mages in the enemy formation, Cecilia and others may not really put these skeleton cannon fodder in their eyes. With the strength of the wild fortress today, all the ace powers of the Void Principality are concentrated here. According to the castle, it is really not an easy task to let the wild fortress fall again. Especially Cecilia, as a magician. Once she takes the shot, destroying thousands of skeletons is not difficult at all.

But now, the enemy has so many skeleton mages, and a single fire-like missile projectile is enough to cause a lot of damage to the soldiers defending the city.

That's why Cecilia gave Kozilek's order to cause as many casualties as possible to the enemy.

The next moment, Kozilek rushed out and flew out towards the enemy.

Kozilek's speed is not particularly fast, at least those with a little strength on the scene can clearly see the traces of Kozilek's flight, it is a flow of air that seems to be completely torn apart the air. However, this path does not seem to be a fast air current trace, but in the blink of an eye, it has fallen into the enemy's formation, exploding an extremely terrible impact air current, and directly tore thousands of front-line skeleton soldiers to powder. .

The purest impact shock airflow, generally even if it has terrible destructive power on the skeleton soldiers, it will not cause such a scale of destructive power.

This is a restriction imposed by the laws of the world.

But what Kozilek is best at is that the laws are twisted.

Through the direct distortion of the laws of the world, the destructive force formed by the impact airflow generated by Kozilek's landing is extremely astonishing. And even if it spreads to hundreds of meters away, its power and destructive power are still the same, and there is no sign of weakening at all. And all the skeletons swept by this airflow will be cut directly at the waist. The strong impact will even drive the terrible cyclone to twist, and then the upper and lower bones will begin to peel off, shatter, and finally transform. Make a turbulent powder.

Wild fortress, there was a burst of loud cheers soon.

Although the impact damage caused by Kozilek's landing could not radiate to affect the two-kilometer line of troops, it could only destroy the middle part, but the morale impact it brought was still extremely shocking.

At this moment, a black brilliance lit up.

A black long knife with a height of more than ten meters suddenly rose from the army formation of the Skeleton Sea, and then slashed towards Kozilek fiercely.

As the long knife fell, the whistling wind sounded immediately, like the harsh howling of a banshee at that time.

Even if the place where the long sword suddenly appeared was ten miles away from the wild fortress, the people on the wall could still feel a nausea, dizziness, and headache.

When is almost the sound transmission, everyone's complexion changes one after another, especially the powerful ones. Because they know very well that such a distance can have such an effect. If the distance is closer, even when the sound erupts under the city wall, how terrible will it be? I am afraid that the weaker people will be shocked to death by the howling of the banshee!

"Fortunately there is Kozilek."

"Fortunately, Kozilek attacked."

This is the voice of all the generals and strong men present, because you don't need to guess that they also know that there is a super strong man who can be compared with Kozilek hidden in the enemy.

For this tide of death, the Void Principality knew far more than the Millennium Covenant Empire or even other people, so they naturally knew that there were three extremely terrifying bone kings among the enemy forces. Among them, the Lich King Lake is the most terrifying, because these undead army is almost created by him alone. If this Lich King cannot be stopped, not only Sean will die, but Cecilia will be captured by him. I am afraid that the entire world plane will fall completely.

"That should be the death knight." Cecilia is a magician. She is more resistant to this kind of spirit, so she is the first person to return to normal.

At this time, in the enemy's formation, Kozilek had blocked this shocking blow from the Death Knight. But because it is very far away from the wild fortress, except for the two legendary powerhouses Levi and Alyssa, and Cecilia using some of the more special abilities to barely see the situation, everyone else can't see the front at all. The specific environment of the battlefield, the only thing they can know is that the enemy's central part suddenly stopped completely, while the troops on the left and right wings continued to advance, and soon the enemy's formation became a concave formation.

"Kozilek alone is enough to block an army of at least 100,000." William could only see the change in the formation, but he could not see the specific situation, "We still have to experience another real baptism of war."

"It can't stop one hundred thousand." Levi's strength is stronger, and he sees it more thoroughly, "Kozilek has already fought the death knight... Even if the undead commander doesn't care about cannon fodder, he won't let these cannon fodder. All meaningless died in the battle of the strong, the cannon fodder in the middle has begun to scatter left and right, and merge with the two wings.... There must be a relatively high level of undead commanders among the enemy forces."

"After all, we didn't expect Kozilek to solve the undead army. We just hoped that he could hold down the terrifying super power." William took a deep breath, not disappointed or depressed, "Although the enemy There are more mages in the army, which may increase our casualties, but isn't such a battlefield also what we desire?"

"That's what I said." Alfred and others laughed.

"Procedure." William slowly raised his right hand, and everyone's expressions instantly became very solemn and serious. "From now on, I will take over the command of the entire city, the army of the Void Principality, and prepare to fight!"
