

Lord of War Vol 4-51

Chapter 51: .Extremely overbearing

The black death abruptly turned into a thick black mist, like a black shield, blocking the front of little Lucas.

A black light exploded in the air.

Immediately afterwards, the roar rang through the sky.

Light is faster than sound!

As if to set off the black light to explode the current magnificence, the bone fragments in the sky were also exploded one after another after the loud roar. Like the explosion of firecrackers in the New Year, a brilliant dark gold exploded in the entire sky, like a bright galaxy hanging across the sky.

dumbfounded.

Not only the defenders in the wild fortress were stunned, even the Black Death Army also stopped attacking.

Everyone was shocked.

"It's nothing to do with you, go back to your kingdom of God."

Domineering and arrogant remarks once again resounded from the sky, really like thunder on a sunny day.

filled the sky above the fortress, the original intention was to stop the ice fog of the bone fragments emitted by the little Lucas, and instantly disappeared without a trace, as if there had never been any smoke in the sky.

As for Xuefanio, her pupils quickly recovered their clear look. The awe-inspiring aura of high above, that kind of nobility and coldness like a god-like dignity and coldness, was also accompanied by the dispersion of the ice mist. Disappeared from Xuefanio. Perhaps it was because the speed of the descent of the gods was very short this time, so it did not cause any substantial damage or impact on Xuefanio, and her mental state and body were still intact.

But it is obvious that she just finished her surrender state, she is a little confused about the current situation, and she looks around blankly.

In the sky, the dark golden Milky Way has slowly receded.

The flame of the explosion was only a moment.

Then everyone saw Rena who was also stopped in mid-air.

She still maintains a forward and desperate posture, but this posture seems to be a hold-in technique. She steadily settled in mid-air. What everyone saw at this time was a faint flame that was only millimeters away from Rena's mask-that was the flame that gradually dissipated after the explosion of the bone fragments. But these flames, even if they were close to Rina, couldn't hurt Rina the slightest, as if there was a protective layer on Rina's body that helped her block all the damage.

next moment. An anger resounded through the sky for the third time.

The black light and thick black fog completely exploded in the sky. It turned into a plume of black smoke and quickly dissipated in the sky.

A beautiful shadow stood upright in the middle of the exploding black mist.

The only thing missing is the undead scholar who exuded that incredible domineering aura a few seconds ago. Little Lucas.

"Alexis!" An angry roar suddenly sounded from the sky.

This sound came from a farther position, so it was also a sound resounding in the sky, but it was not as clear, obvious, and deafening as Alexis's voice. Of course, it is more of the fear that is suppressed in this roar, as long as it has a little bit of vision and emotional intelligence. You can hear other emotional fluctuations, such as unwillingness, anger, hysteria, etc., hidden in this roar.

"I still have the strength to yell. It seems that I didn't shoot that hard enough just now." Alexis sneered with disdain, and the contempt in his tone was not at all concealed, "I really look down on you, little Lucas, you can only bully the kids here. Do you think I'm not here, you and your trash brother will definitely be able to win if you join forces? Trash and trash are combined together, or trash."

"Kill Wu Ji!" Another roar sounded from a distance of more than ten kilometers, which seemed to be the roar of Death Knight Great Lucas. "I tell you....."

But soon, there was another louder roar. The roar of Great Lucas was suppressed, and even the voice of Great Lucas was completely lost for a while. Obviously, the great Lucas was extremely dissatisfied with Kozilek because he was distracted in the battle, so Kozilek seized the opportunity to chase him, and was forced to even have no chance to speak.

Alexis made the act of listening attentively, regardless of whether Lucas could see it or not. After a while, she said, "What are you going to tell me? I'm listening, but you are talking....Why? I was beaten by Kozilek so I couldn't speak? Even at your level, I am embarrassed to be arrogant in front of me? Your sister When I was arrogant in the Outland, you and your brother didn't know where to drink milk. If it wasn't for you to run fast last time, you thought you could still fight Kozilek today? Both brothers were rubbish."

"Ah!" Little Lucas roared again.

The black aura turned into a pillar of light soaring to the sky, but the pillar of light was at least ten kilometers away from the wild fortress. The situation that Aswinter was worried that the battle of the super strong would destroy the wild fortress, this would obviously be impossible.

And this ancient * who was observing everything in this world through Xuefanio's eyes, at this moment, also sighed helplessly in his own kingdom.

An Andrew just left, but an Alexis came.

On Alexis's body, Eswinter felt a very obvious breath of slaughter. Obviously there was definitely more than one * who died in the hands of this woman, and the so-so domineering aura that emanated from her body was exactly the same as Andrew. Perhaps it was a reminder of the shadow of the demolition of the kingdom of God back then, so in Eric Only in the unceremonious voice of Ciss would she silently choose to return to the kingdom of God and cancel Xuefanio's state of surrender, instead of fighting with Alexis based on reason.

Be reasonable with such arrogant and domineering people?

Es Wentel is not so stupid, she won't do such a stupid thing.

Alexis ignored the little Lucas who was going crazy ten kilometers away. She just turned her head and glanced at Rena, and then smiled: "You are very good.... This kind of disregarding me, disregarding me. All the domineering aura suits my appetite. If nothing happens in a while, you come to me, I can save you from making detours."

When Rena was named and praised by Alexis, she was a little startled at first. But immediately after hearing the latter words, a happy smile appeared on her face.

Maybe others are not clear, but Rina knows her own situation very well.

After she stepped into the legendary realm. We encountered a bottleneck. It seems that her luck has been exhausted. No matter how hard she tries, how desperately she fights, but her bottleneck is still not loosened at all, which makes her unable to move forward at all. At this moment Alexis said he would like to point her. This also means that Rina will soon be able to enter the explosive period of strength improvement again-she knows very well. I have a very rare bloodline power like the dragon bloodline, so I just need to find the right direction and want to step into the ranks of the super powers is not a dream.

But the real problem is: finding the right direction.

After stepping into the legendary realm, countless strong people need to spend a lot of time to find the next direction for their breakthrough. If you can get some guidance and avoid the pain of finding your own direction, then with enough diligence and talent and blood, your strength will increase very quickly.

Looking at the color of joy on Rina's face. Alexis nodded slightly. It also seemed somewhat satisfied.

Because she feels that Rena's character and style are too similar to her own.

For Rina, Alexis is not the first time I have met, but I haven't seen her fight before, so I don't understand Rina's style. However, in the previous meeting, Rena's straightforward and straightforward character did leave some impressions on Alexis. So this will see Rina again, especially when she knows she is going to die, she dared to attack the little Lucas. The kind of fearless and domineering attitude that seems to show the last brilliance of life, never bows, never fears, is naturally that Alexis appreciates it very much.

"Okay, next..." Alexis turned his head, glanced at the black tornado ten kilometers away, and then moved his neck a little, and suddenly there was a crackling popping sound, "I'm going Find little Lucas to settle the old accounts. As for those scum who can't even count as waste, can you solve it?"

Rena nodded.

Edroso's Black Death Legion is huge, but after all, this Legion can't be regarded as a real seventh-level army. Facing the upper sanctuary powerhouse is only one battle, it can't be regarded as the upper sanctuary powerhouse. By. What's more, there is more than one high-level sanctuary strong in the wild fortress-Cecilia's magic power is used to counteract the acid rain array of the skeleton mage group, so at this time there is also a high-level sanctuary strong with the power of the first battle. Only Angel was left. Levi and Alyssa, although they are only legendary powerhouses of the twelfth order, their combat effectiveness is unparalleled, and then there are Rina of the legendary pinnacle of the fifteenth order and Xuefanio of the fourteenth order, and there are ten in the fortress. Wan Shoujun.

Defensive forces of this size want to solve a 130,000-scale black death army, there is no suspense at all.

Furthermore, if Edroso can be forcibly killed, this black army will collapse in an instant, and there is no need for war.

If the wild fortress can't solve this black army with such a big advantage, then fighting against Rek's army of undead is simply a joke.

Without Alexis continuing to say anything, Rena turned around and killed herself in the Black Death Army.

At the same time, the city gate that had been confined was finally opened again-this city gate was urgently repaired after William and others arrived, and a lot of resources were invested. For this reason, some damages were made to the city wall. There are not enough resources to repair the leaks. At this moment, the gate that had not been opened since the rebuilding was completed, finally opened slowly again, and then a legion wearing silver and blue armor rushed out from behind the gate.

This legion is indeed Angel's Frost Legion!

Even Rina was a little bit stunned. She didn't expect that the first army to counter and charge would be the Frost Legion. She originally thought that the leader of the charge should be the Alfred Thunder Lion or Clover's Se Celia's Guards.

The army that took the lead in this kind of counterattack was not arranged randomly.

Usually, only as the most powerful force in the whole army can it be qualified as a sharp knife. And this sort of qualifications is naturally formed through military exercises and battles all the way with real strength. It is impossible to make such an arrangement by simply relying on face. After all, the commander must be responsible to the officers and soldiers under his command. If a poorly supported force serves as a sharp knife, once the tip of the knife is blocked, it will cause harm to the entire army.

Obviously, the Frost Legion led by Angel personally is indeed far better than the Thunder Lion and the Cecilia Guards in combat power.

Rena quickly understood this.

Alexis ignored the farce behind her-for her, whether it was the Black Death Army, the White Skeleton Stairs, or the skeleton wizards who were fleeing, they were just clowns in a farce. If she takes action, all of this will be completely annihilated in a short time. Of course, this ability to solve hundreds of thousands of troops in a short time will also cause Alexis's physical energy to be rapidly consumed, which is not conducive to receiving After she fought with little Lucas, she didn't take action to solve these clowns personally.

In the eyes of many people, Alexis is very overbearing, arrogant, and even so-called.

However, under such a domineering, arrogant, and so-so-only character, it is Alexis who goes all out in every battle. She was very contemptuous of little Lucas, even extremely disdainful, but if she really played against little Lucas, she would not underestimate the enemy, but would deal with it in her complete state.

Others may not understand, but Alexis himself knows it very well.

She has a very unique intuition: intuition in battle.

Faced with all the enemies standing opposite her, she can clearly judge the gap between herself and the other party, and what kind of state she should face against the enemy. In particular, there are very few survivors under her — all the enemies that conflicted with Alexis, ninety-nine percent are dead, and the one percent that survived is naturally connected. Alexis had to admit the extraordinary strength, like Kozilek, Ulamog, Little Lucas and so on.

Alexis hovered in mid-air, and then took a step forward, as if he was really standing on the ground and taking a step forward.

Her chest rises slightly, she is inhaling.

The next moment, Alexis appeared several kilometers away, and then she came down.

Immediately after that, Alexis's chest fell down, which was exhaling.

In one breath, Alexis stepped five kilometers away and fell among all the people in the wild fortress, leaving only a very vague little black spot.

And in the second breath, this horrible woman who has completely spread her reputation in the southern continent is already standing in front of the black tornado.

Then, she seemed to wave the sword spear in her hand at will: Xu, and slashed towards the black tornado.

Another black light shone on the entire sky, and it was a thunderous muffled sound after a second.

The whole black tornado was smashed to pieces by Alexis!

Chapter 52: .Super Power (1)

"Damn! Damn! Damn!"

Little Lucas' state is completely in total hysteria. The soul fire in his eyes sometimes burns extremely violently, and sometimes swings like a candle in the wind. This is an obvious symbol of the great mood swings of intelligent undead creatures. It also means irrationality.

Undead creatures, known for their indifference and selfishness.

Even if a very small number of lucky aliens transform into intelligent undead creatures, or restore their own soul memory, their personalities will still change. Basically, they won't have any more impulses. The only thing left is absolute rationality and absolute calmness. Spells like chaos, fear, etc., can't be applied to them at all. Magic has a natural immunity.

Not to mention, Lich, the wizard among the undead creatures.

Want to provoke a lich, which is more difficult than slaughtering a dragon.

But now, little Lucas, the undead pedagogy of one of the Seven Lich Kings on the Bone Plane, has actually become hysterical.

It's almost like the sun rising from the west.

The black bone spear burst out of the air, lashing towards Alexis indiscriminately.

Facing the densely packed bone spears, Alexis didn't even wave his hand to counterattack. He just kept on moving forward, occasionally leaning down slightly, or moving left and right to avoid them. Shot at his own bone spear.

Little Lucas's momentum has been messed up, he can't even lock the spirit, and can only carry out a large-scale coverage attack.

But for Alexis, there is no threat at all. She has an extremely amazing fighting intuition, and once she is stuck on it, she can only rely on her own ability to fight. Little Lucas may have the power to fight against other superpowers, even if it is close. Hand-to-hand combat. It is nothing unusual to reach their level, but when facing Alexis alone, he can only show 30-40% of his strength.

Seeing that the bone spear lasing was ineffective, little Lucas roared out like crazy again, and the earth trembled suddenly. Then came the hands of countless bones. Or maybe the palm with rotten flesh came out of the ground. These dead hands fumbled wildly, seeming to want to grasp something. Looking at the dense palms on the ground, anyone would only feel a panic and fear.

But Alexis just lifted his foot, and stomped suddenly.

There was a burst of cracks in the earth in an instant, and then the entire geological structure was completely changed. Actually collapsed layer by layer.

Ten li with Alexis as the core. It's just over a foot!

Those skeleton claws and rotten corpse hands protruding from the ground, under the stomping of Alexis, all burst to pieces. However, no matter whether it was bone meal or blood fog, the splash of the explosion could not get close to Alexis. It seems that there is a constant blocking force field on Alexis, and everything that splashes on her is blocked.

And it happens to be at this moment!

After smashing the black tornado of little Lucas, Alexis, who had always been slowly approaching little Lucas, turned into a black and red light and shadow at this moment. Little Lucas.

Her speed is too fast. Although it is not as shocking as the previous step across five kilometers, the visual impact brought by this dash of light and shadow like a teleportation. But it is stronger than before. It's a pity that the two superpowers are fighting on the battlefield at this time, but there is no spectator—it's not that no one wants to watch the superpowers fight, but unless they are people of the same level of strength, if they are Involved in the battlefield of two super powers, that is a real self-seeking dead end.

In an instant, he really approached the little Lucas, and all the little Lucas' attacks against Alexis fell in the empty space.

Immediately afterwards, the tip of the blade gun pierced the little Lucas's breastbone.

was just a shot, but the place where the sword tip pierced was shining with countless lights, and the bursts of blasting sound continued.

Obviously, the protective field and abilities that little Lucas blessed him were all shattered under the shot of Alexis.

Then, when the tip of the sword was on Little Lucas's breastbone, a strong storm suddenly erupted, and Little Lucas' body was directly knocked out hundreds of meters away, and then fell to the ground. Along with the landing of little Lucas, the whole earth roared like a whine and roar. When the skeleton frame of a normal person fell on the ground, it fell like a giant mountain, and the whole earth trembled.

Countless smoke and dust are rising!

A real cover for the sky.

With just one blow, Alexis was obviously not satisfied with it.

She knows the little Lucas's abilities very well, so she naturally knows the actual damage to the little Lucas from her stabbing. Although it defeated the protection spells of little Lucas, it did not actually cause any serious damage to him. If it was so easy and simple to solve the little Lucas, then Alexis would not let him Little Lucas successfully escaped back to the plane of bones.

One step, Alexis broke out again and chased after little Lucas.

In the head-on charge, Alexis tilted her face slightly, and a white bone spear almost wiped her face and flew past.

The whistling sound of breaking through the air seemed ferocious.

This kind of attack that swirls the airflow, even if it is just rubbing the edges, is enough to tear anyone's skin through a terrible wound.

Even Alexis, facing this bone gun, she can only choose to resist. Because the timing of Lucas's shot was so exquisite that even Alexis' reaction speed could not be avoided instantly—but even if it could be avoided, Alexis would not necessarily choose Stopped and charged.

The white bone gun swept across her left cheek. Although it didn't really touch Alexis's face, the sharp airflow had already touched it.

But in the eyes of outsiders, it is just a whistling wind, but in fact, what I heard in Alexis's ears was the scream of countless resentful souls.

A sharp howling sound like a banshee wailing, as if to shatter the soul of anyone who heard it.

Perhaps others are facing this double-damage attack of soul and body. Will inevitably die of one of them. But as far as Alexis is concerned, it just made her snorted, not to mention that there were no terrible wounds on her face, and even her soul and will had no influence—perhaps there was a certain influence. However, this level of damage was not taken seriously by Alexis.

"Is it finally a bone?" Alexis's face. Rarely showed the color of excitement and joy. The look in her eyes brightened.

Maybe others don't know the abilities of little Lucas, but as Alexis, who used to fight little Lucas, he does. Undead pedagogy. Lucas's real most threatening attack is the Banshee's Bone Spear.

The Bone Gun was originally just a very low-level undead magic. The reason why it is popular with many necromancers is that this magic is low in consumption and powerful, and the required spelling materials are also very easy to obtain. And the improved bone gun magic. The restrictions on casting materials are removed-as long as the mental power and magic power are sufficient. It can be used without casting materials, and in the case of insufficient mental power and magic power, the casting materials can also assist in the successful casting.

As for the stronger version, the power of the bone gun can be increased by casting materials. This magic is one of the few undead magic that can be used by undead magicians to the golden realm.

But little Lucas has developed this magic to the extreme.

The bone gun that was entwined with death before is his original death bone gun-with two changes, namely the bone gun throwing that everyone saw before and the subsequent attack that broke into countless bone fragments. Even if it can block the throwing damage of the bone gun. But the subsequent spattering of bone fragments is not an injury that ordinary people can withstand.

It's just this trick, but it's not the real stunt of Little Lucas.

The real stunt is the bone gun shot at Alexis at this moment.

Bone Gun of the Banshee.

On the surface, it looks like just a very ordinary bone gun. But in fact, it was the undead magic that the little Lucas combined the bone spear and the howling of the banshee. When many people thought it was just an ordinary bone gun throwing and neglected to take precautions, their souls were also completely torn apart by this blow. And if you simply think that the most terrifying part of this gun is the shredding of the banshee's howling soul, then the penetrating destructive power from the bone gun part will also tear the body of all people who despise the blow on the spot.

This is a terrible magic trick that meets the legendary damage standard for soul, body, and body!

Alexis's figure does not advance or retreat, and the speed is much faster than before.

But just as Alexis rushed into the dust that filled the sky, she stopped abruptly.

The right foot directly stepped on the ground and plunged into the ground.

The strong force impact directly poured into the ground, the boundless cracks spread out quickly, the earth began to split, and then collapsed and shattered piece by piece-it can be clearly seen that Alexis stopped too suddenly this time. Therefore, the power has not been adjusted and concentrated, so that there has been a vast area of destruction with such scattered power.

Immediately afterwards, the sword-blade gun she was holding tightly in her right hand also swept up suddenly.

As soon as the sword and spear came out, I saw the ink-like cold light shining.

There is no whistling wind, and no harsh screams.

The only thing is a dull loud noise and the splashing firelight.

At the moment of the collision, the surrounding dust and smoke spread over several kilometers like a school of frightened fish, madly spreading towards the surroundings.

Reaper Knight. Big Lucas riding a black war horse, intercepted in front of Alexis with a solemn expression. The shape of the black epee in his hand is not necessarily inferior to the blade of Kozilek's black epee, but it just blocks the tip of the bladed gun of Alexis.

The huge shock force is produced when the tip of the sword collides with the edge of the sword.

Alexis's face remained unchanged, but the brilliance of his eyes was brighter.

Her wrist turned slightly, and the sword-blade spear in her hand stabbed towards the front door of Lucas once again.

Facing such a sharp attack, Lucas's expression remained unchanged, and he didn't even need to urge and issue orders. The black horse under his hips would automatically retreat for a few steps, giving Lucas a more suitable battle. The depth of the space: I saw the heavy sword sweeping, originally the sword on the left was blocking the ruins of Alexis, but now it became the use of the sword on the right to block the tip of Alexis.

Another terrible impact is transmitted by the shock ripples visible to the naked eye.

In the air, a crack about ten meters long suddenly appeared-this time, the crack did not appear on the ground, but it really affected the plane barrier!

Alexis didn't speak, and didn't seem to be surprised that his attack was blocked again.

She suddenly lifted her right foot and kicked the whole ground directly at Lucas. At the same time, the blade gun in her right hand was not idle, but took advantage of a huge stone slab to lift and hit Lucas. The moment Si blocked his view, he suddenly pierced forward.

The black crescent light burst out of the air, chopped the entire slate ground into two pieces, and then slammed into Alexis-when Alexis overturned the ground, his The attack was also swayed at the same time, without the slightest hesitation or stay. It's just that Alexis is also not a fuel-efficient lamp, her rich combat experience is simply appalling, so even in the face of this attack of the air-breaking sword, she has fallen into the wind, but she is still abruptly relying on it. With extraordinary strength, a single shot at the weak point of this Crescent Sword Qi smashed this Crescent Sword Qi.

In the air, there are a few more cracks in the plane barrier!

However, taking advantage of this confrontation, the big Lucas successfully escaped from the air lock of Alexis and retreated to the little Lucas.

There is no trace of the Lich King on this undead scholar. The robe of the Lich King, which is made of high concentration and high quality, is already in tatters at this moment. But perhaps it was the appearance of the great Lucas that finally refreshed the Lich King, or perhaps it was the time when Alexis hit him and fell to the ground that he finally broke his mind again. At that time, he was no longer as hysterical as before.

The confluence of the two brothers created an extremely heavy sense of oppression within a radius of ten kilometers.

However, this sense of oppression did not last long, and was destroyed by a burst of air and an astonishing aura.

Kozilek, with a small face and evil, dragged the huge silver-white epee directly into this battlefield.

The situation, once again returned to two-on-two!

Chapter 53: .Super Power (2)

Grand Lucas has a solemn face, his gaze first looked at Kozilek, and then turned to Alexis.

Kozilek's eyes were blood red, and a strange black texture appeared on his neck, and it seemed to be trying to spread to his face. But for some reason, Kozilek's face seemed to be blocked by some strange power or barrier. No matter how the black texture was distorted and grown, it could not spread to Kozilek's face, but only on his neck. Struggling constantly around the neck.

Alexis glanced at Kozilek, then reached out and patted his shoulder, shook his head slightly.

The latter was taken for a moment, then took a deep breath, and gradually calmed down the strong emotions in his heart.

"In order to get rid of Kozilek's interception, you are doing your best." Alexis knew that Kozilek was not willing to talk, and even if he did, he would only pronounce a single word, except for Sean. Only his two void brothers knew what he wanted to express, "Should the injury be serious, right? Then he fought with me a few times, I think you are about to lose strength, too."

"Don't bother." The big Lucas's voice appeared cold, "If you and that kid are in peak state, I am afraid there will be nothing for us. But unfortunately, you will beat me by half a point, but That kid is not necessarily better than me, but the cooperation between me and my brother can definitely be regarded as a tacit understanding. How much tacit understanding do you and that kid have?"

Alexis tilted her head, then suddenly smiled at Kozilek: "He is looking down on you."

Kozilek did not speak, but snorted heavily, but there was a burst of thunder in the sky.

The ground within a radius of nearly 20 kilometers has been severely damaged, especially the short and rapid confrontation between Lucas and Alexis, which caused the surrounding ground to collapse more than ten meters. It is deep, and there is a huge gully that is invisible-that is the destruction formed when the big Lucas's sword energy burst out of the air. With a width of 30 meters and a length of nearly three kilometers, it can be regarded as a natural rift valley.

And this is the result of Alexis canceling nearly two-thirds of the power, if the big Lucas is allowed to slash this sword without hesitation. I am afraid that the destructive power is far more than that.

This. It is the destructive power of the super strong!

No one on both sides spoke. After Kozilek snorted coldly, there was nothing else to do, and Alexis returned his gaze to Lucas. Her face was calm, but her eyes were astonishingly bright. The last battle with Grand Lucas didn't result in any results, and instead was escaped by Grand Lucas. However, the strength of Alexis was also limited to a certain extent. Far less powerful than today.

Although there is still a long way to go before her heyday, it is not comparable to the state of the confrontation with Grand Lucas that day.

The eighteenth-order critical point!

Only a little bit will be able to officially step into the nineteenth step, thus truly awakening the sleeping ruins.

But at this point, it has also become a sky that can never be crossed.

But the change in momentum is equally obvious.

The red undead fire in the big Lucas' eyes suddenly converged. The flame seemed to shrink like a flame, but in fact it was highly concentrated, and the flame of the soul burned far beyond normal. If Grand Lucas can show his expression and look. Then he must appear very solemn and serious at this moment.

"I'll stop Alexis and the kid, you support me from a distance." The big Lucas said to the little Lucas in a deep voice. "As far as possible, the better."

"If you intercept two people, it will be very difficult..." Little Lucas seemed to have returned to normal, and he felt the problem when he heard the big Lucas.

"You have already fought Alexis, you shouldn't know her domain of law."

Great Lucas' voice appeared very low, his strength at this time was only the eighteenth peak, slightly inferior to Alexis. But as he said, he is indeed stronger than Kozilek. It is a very polite statement that Kozilek is not necessarily better than him. Even if Sean has given birth to two hearts, it is certain for all his guards. The strength of Kozilek has improved, but Kozilek has only increased from the strength of the sixteenth order to the critical point of the seventeenth order, and it is only a little bit before he can break through to the eighteenth order.

After the super strong, every level upgrade will directly produce a qualitative change.

This is also the reason why Kozilek could not stop him if he was determined to get out of the war. However, even if it is Lucas, it is impossible to get rid of Kozilek's entanglement unharmed, but there is no heavy price to pay. With Lucas's ability, he was attacked by Kozilek for a few times. It's within a completely tolerable range.

Alexis still had a smile on his face, and did not stop the communication between the big Lucas and the little Lucas brothers. Perhaps in her opinion, no matter what the two brothers communicated, they could not change the result.

"Killing Domain..." Little Lucas said gritted his teeth.

Those who have not played against Alexis have no idea how terrible Alexis is.

Generally speaking, the legendary ability is a main characteristic of the strong. This type of ability is divided into two types: active and passive. Active types are generally abilities that require legendary powerhouses to release through their own will. They are generally formed after realizing the realm. Such abilities are closely related to the sanctuary powerhouse's perception of their own laws and attributes; while passive types are all the time. Both exist and take effect. It is usually not as powerful as the active legendary ability, but the influence and increase it brings is often more critical than the active legendary ability.

Passive abilities that increase personal attributes like legendary physique, legendary power, legendary agility, etc., are all the legendary powerhouses of the warrior system rank will choose in the first time. Others, such as spell penetration, legendary wisdom, power increase, etc., are the first choice of the legendary powerhouse of the mage system rank.

The reason why super powerhouses are stronger than legendary powerhouses is that their legendary abilities can once again get a new increase and sublimation. There will even be many incredible special abilities. It is difficult to distinguish between active and passive such abilities, but the only thing that can be confirmed is that these special abilities have extremely powerful effects.

For example, Kozilek's law is twisted.

The same is true of Alexis's killing field.

And her ability is to forcibly drag her enemies into the * quagmire of hand-to-hand combat-any active legendary abilities, super abilities, domains, realizing laws, etc., are all unable to be used. The only thing you can rely on. Only one's own physical fitness, combat awareness, martial skills, and all other abilities will be completely nullified.

So, before Alexis's name resounded throughout the void and Outland, she was usually referred to as the "Mage Nemesis" before being dubbed "Killing Wu Ji". Because it is well known. The weak physique of the mages is well known. Once they fall into the killing field of Alexis, the only thing waiting for them is death: Imagine that when the magic ability is completely unusable, they can only hold the wand in their hand and go up to fight in hand-to-hand combat. Can a person be called a wizard?

No one knows where Alexis obtained this ability. Maybe it is related to her bloodline ability, but in any case. The existence of the "killing realm" ensures the invincible legend of Alexis.

Perhaps. Only the dragon can tie Alexis or defeat her in this field.

"Are the discussions finished?" Alexis asked with a smile.

Great Lucas swung his wrist, and preemptively swung a black sword aura towards Alexis and Kozilek. And little Lucas also took this opportunity to retreat immediately, without doing any entanglement at all. Alexis and Kozilek both immediately grabbed and attacked at the moment when Grand Lucas moved, but Alexis ran from the side, bypassing the black sword energy, and Kozilek He carried the heavy sword and rushed towards the black sword aura.

The silver-white sword light burst out of the sky. The epee in Kozilek's hand slashed fiercely on the black sword aura.

The whole sword aura was split into pieces immediately, but it was different from the situation where Alexis smashed the sword aura before. This sword qi that was smashed by Kozilek was broken into more small black sword qi, scattered indiscriminately in all directions, and ditched ravines on the ground. However, these gullies are not as terrible as the one that appeared before, and they directly formed a rift valley-but this is only in terms of scale, in fact there are dozens of more roads about tens of meters long and wide. A gully of one or two meters.

Although the gullies are small, but there are many, the criss-crossing appearance is even more obvious.

When Kozilek broke through the black sword aura, Grand Lucas had already stopped in front of Alexis, and the epee in his hand slashed towards Alexis's neck.

is obviously an exaggerated and heavy epee, but in the hands of Lucas, the sword seems to be as light as a stick. If it were not for the faint tremor of the air when the epee was swung, absolutely no one would really believe that this sword was an epee, and would only be regarded as a counterfeit and shoddy product.

Faced with the chopping of this sword, Alexis's blade spear lifted slightly, and the blade just blocked the edge of the epee.

A spark splashed out.

There is no shock, no whistling.

It seemed as if two ordinary people were fighting—if there were no more cracks in the air.

This kind of space barrier is shattered and broken, and it is not so easy to repair. Although it has not really caused serious damage to the entire plane, it is an extremely slow process to recover, because this means that the plane barrier has reached a considerable height for the power that escapes when the two are fighting. The standard of tolerance, at this moment, this cracked location is the weakest place on the entire plane.

If there are any void creatures nearby, they can use this weak point to break through the barrier and forcibly enter the material plane.

Kozilek, after smashing the black sword energy, also rushed over from one side.

His cognition is very simple. Since Grand Lucas escaped from his hands, it is very reasonable to let him continue to deal with it. So he didn't even think about the little Lucas who was far away from this battlefield. Of course, he wouldn't feel that there was something wrong with the sneak attack method of attacking the big Lucas from behind.

However, just when Kozilek slammed into the Great Lucas's side, a white gleam shone on the Great Lucas, and a piece of armor made up of countless bones appeared abruptly on the Great Lucas. Si's body.

Bone Armor!

One of the few defensive magics in undead magic.

The silver-white sword light slashed on the bone armor, and the strong light burst out for an instant, and then the silver-white heavy sword seemed to be cut in the water, and it penetrated through the body of Lucas. Did not cause any substantial harm to it.

And the armor of bones. After blocking Kozilek's blow, it was completely shattered and turned into a piece of sand-like white powder that poured out from the body of Lucas.

This is obviously not an ordinary bone armor, but another proud work developed by Little Lucas.

After all, as a fourth-level undead magic, the bone armor is almost equivalent to the increase in the defense power of the plate armor. Can only exempt magical damage of level two and below once. If it is a third-level magic, only one-third of its power can be reduced. And Kozilek's one blow was enough to destroy the eighth-level magic element shield, but at this moment it did no harm to Grand Lucas, fools would know the speciality of this bone armor.

On the contrary, it was Alexis, who seemed not surprised by such a result.

She took advantage of the moment Kozilek swung her sword and cut through the air, her hands shook. A unique vibrating force bounced off the epee of Lucas. After that, Alexis's right hand suddenly exerted force, and Hui immediately pierced towards the body of Lucas in a spiral.

As long as it is hit by Alexis, even if it is a powerhouse of the level of Lucas, he can definitely make a hole.

Seeing that Alexis was about to stab the Great Lucas, there was another white light shining on the Great Lucas, and several bone spurs were born from his body. These bone spurs are extremely strong and grow irregularly, so they emerge suddenly. Then expand from all directions, if Alexis must stab the big Lucas with this blow. Then her eyebrows, neck, body and right limbs will be pierced by these growing bone spurs.

Injury-for-injury style of play is not unfamiliar to Alexis.

But that is limited to the moment if necessary, as in the current situation, Alexis basically stabilizes Lucas in all aspects, and she naturally does not want to replace her with an injury.

The wrist flicked, and the offensive changed drastically.

was originally the sword and spear that pierced the Great Lucas, and the spiral force on the gun burst into pieces, creating a powerful vacuum between the two of Lucas and Alexis. All the sharp bone spurs that stabbed Alexis were all shattered in an instant, and could not hurt Alexis at all, and the great Lucas also took this opportunity to quickly break away from Alexis and Kozilek. People's strike circle.

But in nature, Lucas is also an extremely offensive person, and defense is not what he is good at.

So after he escaped from the encirclement of the two men, he swung his sword towards Kozilek without hesitation.

The black sword edge draws a half-moon sword arc, the sword power is extremely heavy, different from the previous big Lucas's sword slashing, the sword energy broke through the air, he completely compressed all the fighting energy and restrained it to the sword edge. In terms of sharpness, he can be called the best of all his attacks.

Even Kozilek, his face looked unusually solemn at this moment, because he knew that he could not dodge this sword, he had to catch it!

His left hand was holding the hilt, and the right wrist was slightly swinging, and the silver-white giant sword suddenly changed from horizontal to vertical.

I saw Kozilek swinging his sword upward, and a white sword light condensed by extreme energy also waved.

The attacks of the two were obviously different, but in the end they completed the confrontation in a very subtle state-the tip of Kozilek's epee was accurately pointed on the tip of the Great Lucas epee. . It was not that the speed of Grand Lucas was slow, but Kozilek's speed suddenly accelerated a few points at this moment, so the two swords of black and white directly collided together.

The energy exploded by the powerful force field hedging directly turned the ground within one kilometer of the three parties' standing area into a piece of sand crystals, and the ground even collapsed to a depth of tens of meters due to this. However, the confrontation between the two swords energy is only half-dissolved. The confrontation between the two sides does not end. The impact on the surrounding earth still exists, but it is not as fierce as it was at the beginning, but it is a bit more intense. Signs of slow expansion.

Such a powerful impact collision force field, only the super strong can still stand on the spot, even the legendary strong can only retreat quickly at this moment.

Alexis frowned slightly.

She suddenly discovered that what Lucas said just now was not entirely unreasonable.

There really is no tacit understanding between her and Kozilek.

Whether it is she or Kozilek, the shot must be done with all his strength. Launching the strongest attack from the most suitable state and angle to oneself will never hold back at all. Just like now, under Kozilek's full-scale attack, there was a very fierce force field collision with Lucas, in this state. Alexis couldn't intervene in the offense at all. If she had to intervene forcibly, then let alone whether it could cause enough damage to Grand Lucas, but it would definitely cause a certain degree of damage to Kozilek.

As a bystander, Alexis can see very clearly.

Just now Kozilek swung his sword at an extremely fast attack speed. It was not that his strength was better than Lucas, but Lucas deliberately slowed down his attack speed. It's just that his mastery of the rhythm is extremely precise, that's why this kind of collision with Kozilek's attack happens to happen at the same time. In this way, he only needs to face Kozilek alone. And there is no need to let yourself fall into the attack of Alexis at the same time.

but!

Great Lucas is not fighting alone.

Behind him, several pure white bone spears that were crystal clear and like jade suddenly appeared. Above each bone spear, there is a very light light halo flowing. If you look carefully, you can even see that there are still human faces struggling in these halos, as if they are trying to escape from the bone spear.

Soul Bone Gun!

Necromancers are the existence that God spurns and hates, because the field they involve is already the field that God does not allow offense: almost every necromancer. They are all masters who play with souls, not to mention the Lich King on the plane of bones.

Even little Lucas is the least good at undead magic among the seven Lich Kings. But he still has the habit of harvesting and collecting souls. Many of the souls that were not made into powerful undead by him for various reasons will be sealed in vessels by him, and can be transformed into this kind of soul bone gun to kill the enemy when necessary.

Looking at the Soul Bone Gun that suddenly appeared, and feeling the mighty power inside, Kozilek's pupils revealed a trace of hideousness.

Because the fighting between the two sides is still going on, Kozilek cannot withdraw his hands and give up first at this time, because this will cause him to be severely injured because of Kozilek's attack. . So there was almost no suspense. As soon as these soul bone guns appeared, they immediately shot at Kozilek, and all eight soul bone guns shot into Kozilek's body without any omission.

This kind of magic is an attack that directly affects the soul and does not cause any injuries to the body.

But everyone knows that soul damage is the most terrifying.

Anyone who is stabbed by a soul spear must endure the bite of the soul by the evil spirit. If you can't defeat these evil spirits on the soul level, your own soul will even be seriously injured, or the soul will simply be swallowed up and become an empty corpse. Often in battle, a soul bone gun is enough to cause heavy damage to the enemy, especially for those enemies who have strong strength but no firm will and strong soul, it is more than enough to kill them.

Little Lucas displayed eight soul bone spears to attack Kozilek, which is enough to prove that the little Lucas attaches great importance to Kozilek.

They really wanted to kill Kozilek completely here, and for this reason they even used extremely precious soul vessels to make soul bone guns.

Alexis, the moment Kozilek was stabbed by the soul bone gun, he shot.

The force collision of the hedging has lost its balance: Kozilek's energy was concentrated in the battle at the soul level because of being stabbed by the soul bone spear, and he was unable to control his body to fight against Lucas, so Tianping immediately tilt.

The silver-white sword light was instantly shattered by the black sword light!

However, the great Lucas' epee did not strike Kozilek, because the spear of the market in Alexis's hand accurately cut the black epee on the edge of the black epee, knocking the epee one inch away. As a result, all the subsequent offensives of Grand Lucas were completely destroyed.

Perhaps Alexis and Kozilek do not have any tacit understanding of combat cooperation at all, and the joint attack between each other will always have a bad effect on the other. But the rich and extreme fighting consciousness of these two people still exists. They can always find the perfect time to cut into the battle: maybe they can't cooperate, but at least they won't hurt the other person, just in this state. Under the circumstances, Lucas and Lucas have a cooperative fighting tendency, which is equivalent to one enemy two.

Intense light and shadow are shining.

The three colors of black, red and gold burst out continuously.

And with every ray of light shine. The rumbling of thunder also continued one after another. Not only did the earth suffer more severe damage, even countless cracks appeared in the air. Some of these cracks were even slightly broken, exposing the void blocked by the plane barrier. The purple electric current was shining outside the void. The breath of void air that occasionally flows in through these cracks is also accelerating the destruction and destruction of the surrounding environment.

Even if the power from the origin of the plane is constantly repairing this space battlefield, it still can't keep up with the destruction caused by the power impact erupted by the battle between the three superpowers.

If it weren't for the powerful and terrifying aura that the three of them had burst out, the void creatures that had searched for the weak spots in the crevices of the plane barrier would have broken into the wall long ago. It is precisely because of the terrifying aura of Alexis and Grand Lucas that some void creatures who smelled the sweet smell of the material world did not dare to enter the material world at all, but flee away from this piece of right and wrong. place.

Suddenly, an angry shout sounded again.

A clash between Alexis and Lucas the Great. Suddenly they stopped very tacitly. Then he withdrew quickly, pulling a little distance away.

Both eyes fell on Kozilek who was aside.

However, compared to Alexis's calm face, the aura of Lucas is much more solemn.

Kozilek panted heavily, the scarlet in his eyes was gradually fading, returning to the original pupil color. However, the tyrannical and hideous aura on his body has not decreased but increased, and the naked-eye aura is constantly emanating from Kozilek's body, and these auras are like octopus turned into strange tentacles. It rose and slapped in the air, with a muffled crackling sound every time.

But this weird situation did not last long. Soon it began to gradually converge and was repressed by Kozilek.

The Grand Lucas already knew that the eight soul bone guns not only failed to kill Kozilek as they should have been, but instead restored all the previously consumed power of Kozilek like a tonic, and once again restored him to it. Peak state. Under the circumstances, he lost a lot of strength due to the battle with Alexis. Now if he confronts Kozilek again, he will probably only win a half point.

However, in fact, although Kozilek's aura seems extraordinarily strong, he is actually not unharmed.

It's just this kind of injury. It's probably like a person who is too full after eating too much, so it seems a little uncomfortable.

So in a short while, the four of the two sides did not break out a new round of battle.

"Aren't you drunk?" Alexis stared at Grand Lucas, but what he said was addressed to Kozilek.

Alexis, who had fought with the three brothers in the void, knew very well that an attack from the soul level would never hurt Kozilek. This guy really feeds on the soul. Of course, a high-quality soul attack like the Soul Bone Gun is a bit like a sweet wine to Kozilek. One or two is better. If you swallow eight directly in one breath, Kozilek is really supportive. .

It's like being drunk.

Kozilek hesitated for a while, then shook his head slightly without saying a word, but his meaning was expressed: It's okay.

The Grand Lucas glanced at Kozilek, and at this moment he also understood that this kind of attack from the soul level may be effective for others, but it will obviously not have any effect for Kozilek and Alexis. Yes-when little Lucas was rushed to run by Alexis, he had already tried it. At most, he could only let Alexis be lost for a moment, and if she was lost at the stall where she was lost If it attacks, then Alexis will be awakened immediately.

Unless Alexis can be killed at the moment she loses her mind, the Soul Bone Gun will not pose any threat to Alexis at all.

It is precisely because of this clearly that the two brothers, Lucas and Lucas, will target Kozilek's Soul Bone Gun. As a result, he did not expect that the master's method of dealing with the Soul Bone Gun was even more terrifying than Alexis: Alexis would still show mental exhaustion and soul hurt pain, but Kozilek directly dealt with these The evil spirits are eaten as a tonic.

Great Lucas really started to wonder what kind of monster this kid is.

"Let's stop the war temporarily." The Grand Lucas took his gaze away from Kozilek, then fell to Alexis, "As you can see. Your cooperation has no tacit agreement, and it is impossible for me to form an effective. Hurt. But the strength of the two of you is also not to be underestimated, so my brother and I are not sure that we will win. If we continue to fight, it will be meaningless.... At least, here today. It is meaningless... "

Alexis did not speak. Just let out a sneer.

But Grand Lucas didn't feel annoyed, but continued to speak, "Here, it's too close to your fortress. If we continue to fight, the scope will become wider and wider, and if my brother and I are determined If you want to rush forward, you will not be able to completely resist it.... As long as you move the battlefield two kilometers ahead, the impact of our battle will endanger the fortress behind you."

Alexis' brow. Wrinkled tightly.

Battle between super strong. It is common to spend a few days and nights. In this kind of long battle, the shift of the battlefield is also a very normal thing, especially the two-kilometer propulsion range, which is really nothing to the super strong, even Alexis can't guarantee it. The big Lucas was able to block the battlefield again two kilometers. If Grand Lucas really pushes the battlefield two kilometers, the destruction and impact of their battles will inevitably spread to the wild fortress, which is unacceptable by Alexis.

She glanced around: because of the fierce fighting. All the anger within a radius of 20 kilometers was completely destroyed, not to mention that the earth turned into a ruin-like appearance. There is even the result of crystallization of sand, and even the cracks in the air indicate that this battlefield is already at the limit of collapse. If you continue to fight, not to mention the advancement of the battlefield, the plane barrier of this space area alone will not be able to stop their destruction. If the void creatures are allowed to break in at that time, the trouble will only be in the end. It was Alexis, Kozilek and others.

And at this moment, Kozilek is obviously in a state of drunkenness, and it is not known how long it will take to return to normal.

After weighing the pros and cons, Alexis finally had to nod his head: "I hope that next time, you and your brother will have such good luck."

"I also hope that next time, your soul contractor will still be alive." Great Lucas replied unwillingly.

After all, the great Lucas drove the horse and began to slowly retreat-he did not expose his back to Alexis, this master is notoriously unreasonable. He could not imagine whether Alexis would take the opportunity to attack if he exposed his back. In order to avoid this situation, he would rather take the trouble to step back slowly until he left the lock of Alexis. Willing to expose any flaws.

When the big Lucas and the young Lucas rejoined, they didn't say anything to each other, but quickly turned and left.

The reason why they are willing to give up staying entangled here is partly because they really can't see through Kozilek and that Alexis's strength has recovered much faster than they imagined. Another more important reason is that they Received a message from Lake and asked them to return immediately.

They didn't know the reason why Raike wanted them to return immediately, but from Raike's short and rushing information, they knew Raike was in a state of combat at this time. According to the original combat plan, Edroso led the Black Death Army to attack, and Lucas was responsible for intercepting the super-powerful of the wild fortress, and the young Lucas made a sneak attack and tried to win the wild fortress, even if Sean was to prevent it. In the unlikely event that two super powers were prepared in the wild fortress, they were not worried.

Because the third link of the plan is that Lake will personally lead a main force to arrive for reinforcements, and at that time it will be able to form an advantage of more fights.

But now, Rick not only did not appear according to the original plan, but instead asked Lucas and Lucas to abandon the offensive plan. Obviously, something happened in the rear.

And as soon as these two superpowers from the bone plane retreated, it was tantamount to completely giving up this vanguard force. The sacrifice of the Black Death Legion is not something worthy of their attention at all. What really makes little Lucas feel the pain is the tens of thousands of skeleton mages under his command, who are destined to be unable to return-this belongs to His strength was so ruined here, he naturally felt distressed.

Chapter 54: .Bone Enemy

Kozilek's arrogance gradually dissipated, returning to the harmless appearance of humans and animals under normal conditions.

He just looked at Alexis a little puzzled, and didn't understand why the truce was necessary.

Alexis glanced at Kozilek, his face looked rather helpless.

Kozilek is good at everything, but once he gets crazy, his thinking ability will decline and he will become the kind of reckless man who only knows to do the front, especially now that Kozilek is still in a situation similar to being drunk and wants him to be drunk. Normal thinking is obviously more difficult. So after hesitating a little bit, Alexis still said, "The timing is wrong.... People and the right place are not on our side. If you continue to fight, you should be very clear... The Wild Fortress will end. "

Kozilek tilted his head, as if he was thinking seriously about the reason between the end of the wild fortress and the fact that they had to end the war. After a long time, he still didn't quite understand. He only felt a rush of confusion in his head, his body reaction was obviously slower, and often he didn't know what he was doing and why he did it. However, after receiving a message from Sean, he still chose to comply with the contract's restrictions and let himself completely calm down.

With the departure of the big and small Lucas brothers, the complete destruction of the undead army remaining in the wild fortress is a matter of course.

Although Edroso was unwilling to die here, and under the desperate protection of a small group of elite Black Death Cavalry guards, he escaped the interception of Levi and others, but unfortunately, his escape route was just right. It was the path line where Alexis and Kozilek sprinted back at full speed, and their fate can be imagined.

"What did I seem to hit just now?" Alexis asked Kozilek.

"Oh." Kozilek replied lazily.

"Forget it." Alexis shrugged indifferently, obviously not caring about it.

She may have seen Edroso, or she may have not seen it, but these are not important things to her. After all, the gap between the two sides is too big. When it comes to the realm of super power, the number of people is meaningless. For them, they are real ants. Only the super power can compete with the super power, and you must also pay attention to not having a large crowd. Fighting within the region.

But with Edroso's death. The large-scale Black Death Army also quickly let out a scream. Puffs of black smoke rose from their bodies. These are the souls of the members of the Black Death Army. It was only because they were demonized and contaminated by Edroso before that they became his subordinates. However, their souls were completely imprisoned in these bodies because of this, and they would never be allowed to live forever. peaceful.

But now with Edroso being killed by Alexis, these souls will naturally be able to find peace.

The only remaining problem now is the other undead still running around the wild fortress. As for the solidified bone ladder. It's easy to solve. Even without Alexis and Kozilek taking action, Rena, Xuefanio and even Cecilia can easily clean up these undead products.

It's just that, even if the battle was won without risk, Sean's face became more and more ugly.

When Alexis entered the battlefield and knocked Lucas into the air, Sean quickly entered the battlefield with the sword in his hand. He entered directly from the back of the enemy, and the frost rushed out from the front. The Legion, the Lion of Thunder, and the Cecilia's Guards merged, and then coordinated with their army to open the situation step by step. Under the command of William. Sean is also very happy to be a big soldier, just rush to kill and ignore the others.

But after Alfred, Clough and others converged. Sean also heard more about the current void duchy from their mouths-after all, Alexis is only good at fighting and killing, and he doesn't know much about this kind of conspiracy secrets, so even if there is Eric Sith is narrating, but many key points are still unclear, which also makes Shaun have to speed up and rush back to the wild fortress.

It's just that I didn't expect that the news from Alfred and other people made his face look even more ugly.

His enemies actually want to take advantage of the fire to rob-others may not know the contradiction between him and Lake, but they don't need to know, because only from the geographical location of the Void Principality, it is destined to once the undead army goes south. The Void Principality and the Wildlands are definitely the first to bear the brunt. So no matter what the circumstances are, Sean and his Void Principality must stand on the front line.

However, there were some people who, while the Void Principality was blocking the front line to resist the undead army, actually fanned the flames and caused destruction in the rear.

If Alexis hadn't been there before, and let's not say that the wild fortress would have been lost, the wild tribes would riot, and the situation in the Void Principality at that time would definitely not be able to suppress it. The power possessed by the waiting tribe is not just a joke. And if it were not for him to summon Ulamor again, Alexis would have to continue to sit in the rear to prevent the enemy from continuing to take advantage of it. Then in the case of the big and small Lukasqi, the wild fortress All of the 100,000 defenders and Sean's closest followers will be buried here.

When he thinks of this, Sean's face is hard to see the extreme.

Although he is not sure why Lucas and Grande will retreat at such a critical moment-even he can see that if the brothers are really determined to fight to the death, even if in the end Alexis and Kozilek can defeat these two, and the wild fortress will be completely destroyed. But in any case, the retreat of the big and small Lucas brothers is at least a great thing for the wild fortress right now.

.....

The reason for the retreat of Lucas and Lucas is very simple.

Rake in the rear has a problem.

At this time, on a wasteland hundreds of kilometers away from the wild fortress, three figures were floating in the sky.

Before the invasion of the bones, this wasteland had a nice name called "The Land of Abundance".

Because this is a very critical place, going north can pass through the entire Golden Thirteen Provinces and reach the Imperial Destiny River, going west is going to the Golden Left Road, and going south is going straight to the Wild Fortress. If you go eastward, you can go to the Forest of Sighs, so this is also the first line to resist the invasion of death tide over the years. Although this place is the most dangerous place when the death wave erupts, but the death wave does not erupt every year, so people have become accustomed to this way of life over time, and this province has gradually become the most prosperous province in the entire golden thirteen provinces. One of the provinces. There are only eight cities with a scale of up to 100,000 people. Not to mention the construction of villages and towns along the road to serve as supply places.

However, the death wave this time was completely different from the past.

Since the invasion of the bones, but in just one month, this most prosperous province has become a real dead place.

Not only cities, villages and towns have become ruins, but all residents in this province have become materials and food for the undead army. Even the land has been contaminated with bones and completely lost its vitality and vitality. And as Lake used this as a frontline base, the lifelessness on the whole land began to increase day by day. Although it has not completely become a land of black soil. But I'm afraid it's not far away.

Like, nicknamed "Undead Scourge", as the Lich King who is best at fighting, Rick's commanding ability is naturally not weak. Although most of the time, he directly ordered the undead army to push it up, and did not care about casualties at all, but this does not mean that his tactical and strategic capabilities are poor, but his opponent is not worth his exhaustion. Think carefully.

Rake is able to allow Edroso to lead the lead, and also arrange for Lucas and Lucas. He led the army to support the rear, which is already regarded as attaching great importance to the actions of Sean and his members.

But. What makes Rick quite helpless is that even after he has calculated all the possible accidents and situations, there are still circumstances that he did not anticipate. Moreover, this expected situation happened to hit his culprit, and it really made his teeth itchy.

Of the three figures floating in the sky, one of them is naturally Rick.

The other two are quite weird, weird and...ridiculous.

The reason why is said to be weird is that, logically speaking, Lake and the other party should belong to an ally.

and grotesque, it is because the other two people besides Rick should be in a completely opposed situation.

As for the absurdity, it is because the three people who were supposed to be allies are in a hostile state, especially the two who are least likely to have an alliance between camps, but instead formed an alliance to deal with Reck together.

This is really a headache for Lake.

If it were an ordinary enemy, then Rick wouldn't feel anything, but on the contrary, these two guys were not ordinary people.

A dark red fully enclosed heavy armor, with dark flames flowing slowly on the armor, like magma; a giant tower shield with a thickness of more than one meter and a height of nearly two meters surrounds you, these three thick shields. It is more reasonable to say that it is a huge stone rather than a shield; what is more terrifying is the huge sword that this man is holding in his right hand—it is more than two meters and five meters in length and taller than himself. A huge epee, the two-edged sword has a dark red flame burning, and the body of the sword has a flame-like luster similar to magma consistent with the armor.

This person is naturally the Demon Devotee Diane who made the angel costume Uriel enter the awakening state.

After the battle of destiny, Di An's strength has been significantly improved. Although a large part of the credit is attributed to the angel outfit, in any case, Di An is also a real 18th-order powerhouse at the moment, and still at a completely critical point, he was only a little short of being able to step into the nineteenth step.

Can be considered by Lake to be a natural ally, but they are in the opposite camp with Diane, but they did not fight. There is also only one in this world, the seventh demon born on the plane of miracle, repentance By. Edward.

I don't know why he considered and speculated. Although Edward was demonized at this time, he was not rejected by the will of the world as before. In other words, his current state is not much inferior to that of Di An. Although he tried his best to restrain and maintain his peak state at the 18th-order critical point, he did not dare to step into the 19th-order, but he relied on the cooperation with Dian. , But also able to exert a strong combat effectiveness.

Of course, it is different from Diane's borrowing of angel outfits.

Edward's strength is completely his own, especially his unique talent ability-Purification Flame, which makes Rek complain endlessly.

There is no other reason. Purifying Flame is one of the few flames that can restrain Rick's almost all abilities.

"Are you crazy!" Rek roared angrily.

He is very strong now, even facing Alexis alone will not necessarily lose. But the strength is strong, but it also has weaknesses: being restrained by the flame of purification is one of them, and the other is that Rick's strength at this time is actually worse at the 20th rank, and it is barely considered as the peak of the 19th rank. Edward borrows to purify. The restraint of the inflammation. Teaming up with Di An can also suppress Lake.

After all, whether it is Diane or Edward. They are all super powers who are very good at close combat.

However, Lake is a magician, and among the Seven Lich Kings on the Bone Plane, the Lich King is not very good at personal combat. Little Lucas is just a little better.

If it is fighting on the ground, Rek can summon the Touch of Cruise to assist in the battle, so that even if Rek is not good at fighting fortified battles, at least he will not be suppressed by Edward and Diane. But these two freaks. Seems to have known the same ability of Reck a long time ago. From the beginning of the attack, he has been firmly holding the advantage of high-altitude operations, and he did not fight against Lake on the ground at all.

Rake deliberately ignored these two monsters and just controlled his army to advance.

As a result, after being "purged" a whole army of Black Knights by Diane and Edward, Lake became furious and ordered the army to stop advancing, and he fought with Diane and Edward. As a result, when the fight really started, Rek discovered the trouble of Purifying Flame, and the two of them weren't the kind of rookies without combat experience, if it wasn't for Rek to have equal-level suppression. The same is only the state of the eighteenth rank, whether it is Diane or Edward can beat Lake.

Listening to Rek's angry roar. Diane's voice came from under the helmet: "He said you are crazy."

"I'm talking about you." Edward snorted without looking back.

"That should be talking about you and me." Diane said arguably, "Did you not hear that he used'men'?"

"No." Edward's attitude and temper were extremely cold, "I only heard him say you are crazy."

"One of you is a believer in the Demon King, and the other is a Demon God, why do you have to help humans!" Reck really couldn't figure out. "The Abyss Plane and my Bone Plane should be regarded as natural allies, and the Demon God and his ilk can also be summarized into the Abyss Chaos. In. No matter what, you and I shouldn't have disputes....Destroying the world and killing the son of the plane Sean, wouldn't it be better for us to share the power of the plane's origin together?"

Dyan blinked under the mask, then glanced at Edward, and said, "Are the Abyssal Plane and the Bone Plane natural allies?"

"It's just a similar position, not a natural ally." Edward said faintly, "You abyss demons like chaos the most, and their bones like death the most. They are similar in nature.... They are all rule-breaking guys. At one point, the demons of * are a bit cute."

"Uh...I know, I just asked so casually." Diane said helplessly. Before he became a believer in the Demon King, he was a member of the Paladin who really crusades against darkness and heresy. The understanding of the plane of * may not be exhaustive and clear, but at least it will not be ignorant.

"I just said that casually." Edward replied, which made Dian even more helpless.

Of course, Lake is the most angry.

"Okay." Diane shrugged. "Old man, let's be honest. Although I am a believer in the Demon King, I only follow the truth. In front of the truth, it is wrong for you to destroy the world. After all, I But we still have to survive in this world."

Hearing what Diane said, Lake knew that he and Diane had no common language, so he turned his gaze to Edward.

The demon gods are all existences independent of the system and planes. None of the six major demon gods before Edward is a good guy to get along with. Although in an essential sense, the Demon Gods can be classified into the Abyss Plane, in fact, their relationship with the Abyss Plane is not deep, and the existence of the Abyss Plane generally does not provoke these Demon Gods. Naturally, after the birth of every demon god, their voice and aspirations will spread across the three dark planes in an instant.

So Lake knew that Edward was a demon who had declared war on the two planes of the abyss and hell.

"I am the seventh demon, confessor." Edward said lightly.

"I know." Rek nodded, "You voluntarily abandoned your wish when you became a demon god. We have all heard.... The abyss and the plane of * are your enemies, but our bone plane is not yours. The hostile list, right? If you are willing to cooperate with me, I can call the master of the original power of the plane and let you get half of it."

"It sounds good." Edward stroked his chin, showing a thoughtful look.

"So what's your opinion?" Lake asked.

"I refuse." Edward said without hesitation.

"Why?" Lake was puzzled.

"Because the Xiao En you are dealing with is his nephew." Di An on the side explained it kindly, "You are going to kill the nephew, how can the generation of uncles agree to it."

Reck was so depressed that he was about to vomit blood. At this moment, he finally understood the meaning of the phrase "the son of the plane is favored by the will of the world plane". It was Andrew before, and now it is Edward. These guys who didn't know where they were hiding before came out to destroy his plan. No matter how good his temper is, he can't stand it anymore, not to mention that Lake's temper has never been so good. it is good.

"Since this is the case, then we have nothing to say!" The flame burned more intensely in Lake's eye sockets, which was obviously a real anger.

"At first there is nothing to say." Edward attacked mercilessly. "Only you would think that there is still a possibility of communication between us. The guys who came out of the plane of bones are really a bunch of brainless guys. ."

"Their brains have long been decayed and turned into water, no brains are there." Di An was obviously keen to make up for the knife next to him.

"That's right." Edward actually nodded.

This made Lake more angry, but despite the extreme anger in his heart, he did not make a blind move. Because he has received information from Lucas and Lucas, the two are trying their best to rush back. As long as they will be able to form a situation of three against two, before that, Lake All he had to do was to hold both Diane and Edward as much as possible. He decided to teach these two unforgettable lessons.

"That's right." Edward said suddenly, "Did you just say that when I made my wish, I only said that the abyss and * are both enemies?"

Lake did not quite understand the meaning of Edward's sudden opening.

But Edward obviously didn't really ask Lake either, because after he finished speaking, he spoke again: "If that's the case... then I'll explain it again."

"My name is Edward! My name is the confessor! I, returned from the abyss, born in the world! I am a person who despises the rules, I am a person who breaks the rules, I am the enemy of the gods and the abyss Enemy, enemy of hell, enemy of bones, I am the demon * who controls ice!... I am the seventh demon god, Edward the Confessor!"

Chapter 55: .anger

"You betrayed the agreement."

In the dimly lit room, there was a slightly angry voice.

This is a fairly clean room. From the layout point of view, it is not difficult to see that the predecessor of this room was a study room. Although many things in the study have now been moved, some of the inherent patterns of the study have not changed-for example, rows of bookcases against the wall, comfortable soft sofas and so on.

At this time, only one oil lamp was lit in the room. It was the most common oil lamp, not a magic lamp, plus it was already night, so the light in the room was not enough.

There was a figure sitting on a soft sofa, and a cup of steaming milk was placed on the short table in front of him.

The sullen sound just now was made by this person.

He said this to the other two slightly dim shadows on the soft sofa.

These two phantoms are not entities, but projections formed by a unique audio magic. Except for being inaccessible, they are no different from real people in other aspects, and they can communicate perfectly in real time. This is a new product developed by the guys in the Heerson Institute using the teleportation magic circle and magic technology. This product is currently in the testing stage, but once it is officially put into use, the impact can be imagined. Not weaker than teleporting magic array.

"I don't think we have violated the agreement." The phantom on the left said in a deep voice, "According to the content of the agreement, what we have to solve is all unfavorable actions against you. Moreover, in order to solve the bone invasion. Under the premise, we will not pull your hind legs."

In the Forest of Sighs, the soul agreement signed by Sean and the Dark Monument was: Before the invasion of the Bone Plane was fully resolved, Deaththorn was not allowed to pull the hind legs of the Void Principality behind his back, and he had to help Sean. Solve all the troubles that are not conducive to Sean.

Literally understood, Deaththorn will not attack the Void Principality, nor will it trouble Sean. But it does not contain other content.

But that being said, the people who signed the contract at the time were very clear about what it meant. But now, Deaththorn did not act according to the hidden rules, but only fulfilled the agreement in the literal sense. This is a typical game with words.

"I have never seen such a brazen person."

In the room. It was Sean who made sullen and dissatisfied voices.

He was rushing back to the wild fortress and assisting in solving the Black Death Army and repelling Lucas and Big Lucas. He summoned William for the first time and learned about everything that happened during his absence. These things made him clearly understand that the Void Empire plan had obviously leaked out, so there must be many people who did not want to see the Void Principality dominate.

The mockery of Sean. The figure on the left obviously didn't care. He still said to himself: "There are three related assassination plans and actions against you, and we have all helped you solve them. Moreover, we have all evacuated the Deaththorn Agents that were previously distributed in the Void Principality. This is completely acting in accordance with the rules of the contract agreement. I don't know what your dissatisfaction is."

"Haha." Xiao En let out a chuckle, but stopped talking. Instead, he turned his head and looked at the phantom on the right, "Are you the same attitude?"

The phantom sitting on the right is naturally a contact person from the Peace Association.

This is a tall woman. Long wavy hair fell on his shoulders, and he wore a pair of gold-rimmed glasses. The whole person exudes an intellectual, mature and elegant temperament. Since she appeared, she has kept a smile and did not speak, basically listening. Judging from her various performances, Sean knew that the person in front of him must be an arbitrator-like role, which is exactly the opposite of Christina's previous executive status.

"Master Sean, according to the agreement that Lord Christina reported to above, the content of our Peace Council contract seems to be the same as that of Deaththorn." The mature and elegant woman smiled and said, her voice was very soft. With a subtle temptation, it is easy to make people willing to listen to her words, and then unconsciously stand in her position, "In this matter, instead, we think that Lord Shaun, you have done a little After that, we have slaughtered so many tribes in the Wildlands. If it were not for agreement, we would have sent executive officers and peace envoys."

"It's no wonder that your Peace Council and Deaththorn have always been enemies. Both of you can compete for No. 1 in the world with this shameless effort." Sean sneered, "Since you all said so, then I also feel like you There really isn't much to talk about between."

"Your Excellency Shaun, don't you think your request is a bit greedy?" the agent from Deaththorn on the left said.

"I'm really curious, why am I greedy?" Sean grinned furiously.

"I think the dead thorn means that, Lord Sean, you tried to annex the wild land." The arbitrator on the right intervened in the topic, "The wild land is a game of its own, and we have never had a peaceful parliament. Intervene more because this is a matter of rules. The existence of this place can ensure the stability and prosperity of many countries. Although the slave trade seems too cruel, the foundation of the barren land has not been lost. On the contrary, it is this. Once... Master Shaun, in your anger, you slaughtered more than thirty tribes in the Wildlands..."

Speaking of this, the arbitrator still smiled. Although she did not finish her words, the hidden meaning was clear and unmistakable.

To put it simply, the Peace Council does not want to see Sean form a void empire. Of course, in the absence of sufficient actual proof, the Peace Council will of course not blindly point out that Sean is trying to establish an empire. After all, once some words are made plain, then it will be truly and completely turned over. But now, the Peace Council cannot turn against Sean, because they are afraid that Sean will simply turn the chessboard and talk about it.

Based on the in-depth investigation of various signs of Sean in the past, they are convinced that Sean is not a person who follows the rules. He will only borrow those rules that are beneficial to him. Once the rules are not good for him or useless, he most often uses the method. It just flips over the board and rewrites the rules.

"The Peace Council will actually make an excuse for the death thorn. This is the first time I have seen it." Xiao En glanced at the two phantoms in front of him. After a moment of silence, he finally said again, "Since you want to play word games with me, then yes, I accept your gameplay."

When I said this. A clean, bright, and cheerful smile appeared on Sean's face.

But this kind of smile made the two liaison staff from the Deaththorn and Peace Council suddenly choked in their hearts.

"Okay. I still have a lot of things to deal with, so let's stop here for today's contact." Xiao En clearly stated what he meant to see off the guests.

"Your Excellency Sean, I think it's better for you to be more cautious." The deadly spine liaison officer said in a bad tone.

"Are you threatening me?" Sean's tone was suddenly gloomy, his eyes sharpened, and he stared at the deadly spine liaison officer, even if they were not in physical contact with each other, but the liaison officer was at this moment. But there is still a strong illusion that life is threatened. As if he would die at any time.

Watching Sean clash with Deaththorn. The liaison officer of the Peace Council next to him felt a bright light.

The hostile relationship between Deaththorn and the Peace Council is a well-known thing in the entire Marvel Continent. Even if because of the sigh of the forest before, the Peace Council and the Deaththorn had to have the same approach on certain things, but in essence, the two power organizations are still entangled in private. The only pity is that Deaththorn is so hidden. Even if the Peace Council has an intelligence network all over the Marvel Continent, it is difficult to find the foundation and secret base of Deaththorn. This allows the assassination intelligence organization of Deaththorn to continue to develop. Grow stronger. Otherwise, if the Peace Council does its utmost to attack, the death thorn will be a thing of the past.

"Huh." The strong momentum facing Sean. The Deaththorn member didn't say anything more, just snorted and disconnected, and the phantom sitting on the chair quickly disappeared completely in front of Xiao En.

"Why haven't you left?" Watching the deaththorn liaison officer leave, Sean turned his head and looked at the arbitrator of the Peace Council.

"I think there may be some misunderstandings between us and Lord Sean." The female arbitrator smiled and said, "If the misunderstanding continues to be allowed to deepen, then this is not the situation that our Peace Council wants, so I think I should stay to clarify these misunderstandings."

"I don't think there is any misunderstanding." Xiao En said faintly, "From the moment you started playing the word game, the covenant agreement between us has existed in name only.... It's just that the person who signed the contract with me was K. Christina, if you really violate the content of the contract, Christina will die. In order not to sacrifice Christina as a genius, but you don't want to see me grow stronger, so you will make some clear faces and There is no violation of the agreement."

"I don't understand what you mean, Lord Shaun."

"The Void Principality, and even the savage land, are filled with the most elite intelligence organizations under my command: In the Void Realm, with their existence, any conspiracy and turmoil cannot be concealed." Sean looked at the arbitrator with a calm voice. , But the more calm he is, the more upset this arbitrator is, "But now, there are more than 30 tribes in the Barren Lands. Even if the Fascist Kingdom takes the lead in contacting other countries and nobles for secret support, they also have one The problem that must be solved is how to get around the Void Realm under my command?"

The female arbitrator's eyes narrowed slightly.

"On the entire Marvel Continent, there are no more than five organizations and forces that have the ability and qualifications to bypass my intelligence department." Xiao En continued to speak, "God Eye is one of them, but it is not necessary to invite this organization. It's easy, and the cost is great. In addition, they have already started a secret war with the Chenas Empire, and now they don't have much energy to come to the Southern Continent to mess around."

"There are four more."

"Although the Assassin League and the Priory are both assassination organizations, they also work part-time in intelligence collection and sales, but they are not as proficient as the God Eye. Moreover, the two organizations have one thing in common, or tacit understanding, that is. Where the Assassin Alliance has marked the area, people from the Priory will not enter, and vice versa....Unfortunately, or fortunately, that is, the Void Duchy and the entire wild land are all marked areas of the Assassin Alliance, and I happen to I have some friendship with the Assassin League liaison officer in this area."

The female arbitrator's eyes became awe-inspiring: "So what about the last two remaining?"

"You peace council and Deaththorn." Xiao En said faintly, "Deaththorn has already admitted personally just now that they have evacuated all the intelligence personnel from my territory, so the only remaining possibility is your peace. Parliament."

"Maybe the dead thorns are deliberately provoking."

"Do you believe it?" Sean smiled.

"Of course I believe it." The female arbitrator said.

"Okay, let's just consider it." Shaun did not refute, but nodded, "But, you are the first to break the rules."

Hearing Sean's words, the female arbitrator finally realized that the matter might be more difficult than the result evaluated by the Tianping House. However, the natural status of the arbitrator of the Peace Parliament made it impossible for this female arbitrator to be so indifferent, so she could only speak; "Master Xiao En, there should be some misunderstandings in this, please trust our sincerity. "

"I also believe that there may be some misunderstandings." Sean nodded.

Hearing Sean's tone a little soft, the female arbitrator felt a little grateful.

"But."

The female arbitrator's heart suddenly jumped. If there is any word in this world that she least wants to hear, then it must be the word "but". Usually this is a vocabulary that represents a very strong turning point, and it tends to make things rush in unpredictable directions.

"Someone must pay for this." Sean said calmly, "The Fascist Kingdom took the lead in trying to assassinate the commander of my Principality, William Yale. I have always kept this account, but because there is no evidence, so I haven't sent troops to seek justice for the time being. But this time, the Kingdom of Fascism is still taking the lead. I actually want to take advantage of the scourge of the corpse invasion to create civil strife behind me... I think you should know that once civil strife really broke out. If so, what will end up here in the Wild Fortress, right?"

The female arbitrator was silent and did not speak because she had no idea how to speak.

"So, this time, the Kingdom of Fascism must pay a price." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "No one can still rest assured after provoking my Void Principality."

There is one more sentence, Xiao En did not say it, but silently added one sentence in his heart: including any organizational forces!

Chapter 56: .Confusion and revenge

The sky is dim, and the two liaison officers from the Peace Council and Deadthorn have also left.

Sean's attitude is very clear. Since they want to play word games, they must be prepared to bear his anger. Although there is still a threat from Lake at this moment, Sean does not want to step back. If the foundation of his previous strength is not yet solid, Sean may choose to dormant. But the situation is different now. All the instability factors of the wild tribe have been eliminated, so we should integrate the whole tribe now.

The easiest and rude way is to take everyone to fight.

In this way, it can not only integrate the centripetal force of all tribes, improve cohesion and sense of belonging, but also consume the vital power of these tribes. Judging from the current situation, the strength of the alliance of the wild tribes is still much stronger than that of the Void Principality. This is always a potential instability factor and must be resolved as soon as possible.

A gentle knock on the door sounded.

"Come in." Sean said in a deep voice.

The door was quickly opened, and the people who came in were old friends of Sean, Levi and Alisha.

Seeing the arrival of these two people, Sean is certainly a little happy. After all, Levi and Alyssa are not weak in strength, and now both have the legendary strength of the twelfth level. Moreover, the arrival of these two people also brought to Sean a group of middle-level generals with very solid basic skills. Even at this time, it is not a problem for Sean to open an academy and run a tactical class, and the teachers are not weak.

"We came by Master Jibril's order." Levi said, looking serious.

"I know." Sean nodded, "I'm glad you joined."

"We will do our best to assist you in your great cause, Sir Sean." Levi still looked serious.

This actually made Xiao En a little helpless: "Well, you are not such serious people, let's not make it so serious."

"You must be more serious in business." Levi replied in a deep voice. However, after saying this, he returned to the original state, no longer serious, "I didn't have a chance to meet and chat with you on the floating island before, and show you around. It's a pity."

"I think it's okay. It's nothing to be a pity." Xiao En smiled, "The matter about your floating island is too messy. How can I say that I am also an outsider. It is not appropriate to stay there all the time. So the matter is resolved. Just come back, I think it's good.... After all, you have seen it, here on the ground. I have a lot of things to deal with."

"I heard Lord William say. Do you want to form a void empire?" Levi asked.

The Void Duchy wants to establish an empire, but now it's no longer a secret.

Basically, people who have spent a little more investment in intelligence will know the ambitions of the Void Principality. It is precisely because of this that the Peace Council will choose to violate the content of the agreement and secretly support people from other countries or organizations to create for Sean. Some troubles-Sean is not sure if it was a member of the Peace Council, but he can be sure that it is either a Peace Council or a deadly thorn. There is no third party besides this.

So facing Levi's question at this moment. Sean nodded very simply: "Yes, that's right."

"If an empire is really to be established. In terms of the current Void Principality's aura, it is not enough." Levi frowned slightly.

"Qi Yun? What is that?" Xiao En was puzzled.

"It's the pattern, the general trend, the background, or the luck?... I don't know how the people in your realm understand and interpret, but it is almost this kind of thing." Levi explained, "After the fall of the gods In the chaotic years, the power structure of the Miracle Continent was extremely chaotic, but it was all in the form of tribes. It was not until later that the concept of a country was gradually formed and used as a development.... It can be said that every country on the Miracle Continent now has a It belongs to its own background and aura. Before this aura is completely exhausted, even if this country encounters a major disaster such as an invasion by a foreign enemy, it will not destroy the country, and there will always be a turning point."

Hearing Levi's explanation, Shaun understood it roughly, which was very similar to an ancient doctrine in the world where he was originally: imperial air.

"But isn't there a war between countries?" But although he knew a little bit, Sean still had a lot of things he didn't understand.

"But how many countries have you seen because of the war between the two countries, one of them was destroyed?" Levi said, "Not to mention, in the last millennium, only the Principality of Lane has annexed the Kingdom of Dabian and became second-rate. This is an example of the Kingdom. And this is actually caused by external forces. If it is a normal war process, it is not that I am not polite, so that the Kingdom of Lane at that time will not be able to annex the Kingdom of Darbion for another ten years. ."

Levy doesn't know the direction of world history. He simply compares the fortunes of the two countries, so he can't understand many things.

However, Sean has spent so many years in the Marvel Continent, and he already knows clearly that many major events in the game were caused by player intervention. Nowadays, without the intervention of a sufficient number of players, the development of many historical trajectories has long been completely different. If he really wants to make the development of things coincide with the progress of the game in the past, then the effort and price he needs to pay is also geometrically multiplied. promote.

But even if this is the case, all he can do is to guide it, and there must also be a story about the ending in the game before he can guide success. Otherwise, other butterfly effect mutations caused by many things will be Caught him off guard.

To this day, the world pattern of Miracle Continent is completely different from the game history of that year.

"Lane Kingdom, the power is expanding rapidly now." Sean said thoughtfully, "What's this related to that?"

"Yes." Levi glanced at Alissa. In this kind of basic theoretical discipline, Levi is actually inferior to Alisa, so the work of answering is naturally handled by Alisa, "Except for the oldest five In addition to empires, the other two empires were formed by defeating other empires to seize the foundation.... This kind of foundation is difficult to describe, but it does exist, and it is a concrete manifestation of the will of the world. "

Sean nodded thoughtfully and motioned Alisa to continue.

"The Principality of Lane was also a kingdom back then. However, after being invaded by the Millennium Covenant Empire and seized part of its heritage, it was naturally weakened. This also led to the reason why Lane could only be attached to the Millennium Covenant Empire and claimed to be a principality. Here it is. Under such circumstances, the Principality of Ryan naturally cannot give birth to any real strong, because the country's aura cannot support the existence of the strong." Alisha continued to explain. "But it was different after the Kingdom of Darbion was annexed. The whole of Darbion's kingdom was swallowed by the Kingdom of Lion. This will naturally cause the Kingdom of Lion to become a kingdom of outstanding people, and many powerful ones will follow. Born."

"The formation process of this birth is an inevitable result, but he may have a lot of accidents or coincidences.... Just like the third prince Arlan of the Kingdom of Lane, according to the information we have heard, the wizard sword dancer next to him He did not follow him from the beginning, but two years after the Kingdom of Darbion was swallowed. He appeared next to Arlan. Responsible for his safety."

"Besides, there is also the eldest prince Adams. The Oath Legion and the Oath Knights around him, many people thought he had owned it after he went to the north of the kingdom, but it was actually annexed in the Kingdom of Darbion. Three months later, it was caused by an accident.... But it was indeed with this force and the never-dead vow knight that he obtained the magnificent military exploits in the northern border of the kingdom."

"These are... inevitable results?" Sean asked.

"Yes." Alyssa nodded, "After the Kingdom of Darbion is destroyed, the luck will naturally be transferred to the destroyer's side. That is, the Kingdom of Lane. This luck is one-third of the country. It will be consumed by the imperial royal bloodline, and there are many ways to express it. For example, blood awakening, fortune enhancement, gaining a strong follower, etc. In addition to Adams and Arlan, who are shown in terms of followers, the four princesses Vrches It is manifested in the fortune, and we guessed that the fifth prince Grain should be the talent of the bloodline ability."

Four princesses, Sean met once, she has more than half of the noble support rate of the entire Kingdom of Ryan, this is indeed not to be underestimated. And before Darbion was wiped out, Sean had not heard of these princes and princesses, but a few years after Darbion was wiped out, these princes and princesses sprung up like bamboo shoots after a rain, and they also showed extreme Outstanding various abilities-or military, or internal affairs, or diplomacy, etc.

Combining these factors that Sean has seen, he has a higher degree of understanding of Alisha's words.

"But...why are there only so few who have emerged?"

"I don't know this." Alyssa obviously doesn't know everything. "It is very likely that these people have some talents themselves, so after gaining fortune, it is easier to grow up. And some people may also They have certain natural abilities, but because of the problems developed by their previous life habits, such as cowardice, lack of self-confidence, etc., they are unlikely to grow up even if they have the fortune to strengthen."

"So, if you want to be strong, do you have to understand the principle of self-improvement?" Sean said thoughtfully, "Like, opportunities are only for those who are prepared."

"Well, Sir Sean, your words are very appropriate." Alyssa nodded, "The opportunity is only for those who are prepared."

"So what about two thirds?"

"The other third will be allocated to the entire kingdom. This is the part that represents the present. The last third will be transformed into the future of the kingdom." Alyssa continued to explain, "The present Part of it refers to the armies, generals, strong men, etc. of the Ryan Kingdom. They will easily break through the shackles and limits. It is a bit like a state of epiphany. The problems that have always plagued them will be coincidental. A breakthrough is made below. As for the future part, it is equivalent to potential. No one knows what will become of this part."

After listening to Alisha's explanation, Sean nodded clearly. These contents finally made Sean thoroughly understand his confusion.

"So, what do you mean by saying that the foundation of my empire is not enough?" Sean asked, "According to this statement, isn't the limit of a country always limited? If the foundation of a country is not enough, then no matter how you develop, isn't it always impossible to grow? It can only be limited to one state."

"That's why it has the potential for the future.... In the future, no one can predict what it will be like. It may be exhausted, or it may go further."

"I probably understand what you mean." Sean frowned. "That is to say, in my current situation, even if I have annexed all the tribes in the entire wilderness, it still does not reach the strength of the empire, right?"

"On the part of the present and the future. You have reached it. And it is obvious that changes are beginning to take place." Alisha said, "A large number of powerful people gather under your command, and there are several extremely powerful legions, even there are also generals, commanders, etc. In terms of strength alone, the current Void Principality does have the reality of an empire, but...the potential for the future is still not enough. If you become an emperor on this basis, then you must leave within ten years. Downhill."

"What about your suggestion?" Sean knew. Since Alisha said so, she would definitely have relevant suggestions.

"Predation." Alisha bluntly said, "Just like you helped Ryan defeat Darbion, we can also rob other countries to strengthen ourselves and form our future potential.... But how do we do it? I am not very clear, but successive victories may have a positive effect."

"So in the final analysis, we still have to fight." Sean smiled. "Okay, I see. You can let William come over."

"Yes." Levi and Alisha nodded, then turned and left.

Not long after, William walked in from outside the door.

"Cecilia and the others?" Sean asked after seeing William.

"Cecilia is resting and her magic is overdrawn. I am afraid I need to stay in bed for a few days." William replied, "Alfred and Angel are in charge of cleaning up and reorganizing. There are still many problems in the Wild Fortress that have not been completely resolved. After all, this fortress is something of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Even if we want to occupy it, it will take some time. Clover took over the security and defense of Cecilia, and Xuefanio returned to the camp of the priests."

Shaun nodded, expressing understanding: "Thanks for your hard work."

"It's not the first time." William is not at all polite. He is also one of the few people who can maintain this relaxed attitude in front of Sean.

Sean smiled, his kind words are just casual, but William's kind of rudeness is true.

"Let's talk, there must be something important to find me in such a hurry." William poured himself a glass of wine, and then sat on the sofa with Erlang's legs tilted, his face relaxed.

"You are responsible for something very important indeed." Sean smiled, "I decided to fight."

"Fighting? Haven't we been fighting all the time?" William was puzzled.

"The Kingdom of Fascism actually incited the rebellion of the wild tribes this time. We can't just leave it alone?" Sean smiled. "Besides, our only survivor was taken in by the Kingdom of Fascism. We always are you going to get people back?"

Hearing this, William's eyes lit up and he looked unusually excited: "Hey! This is a good thing! I'm going to prepare..." At this point, William thought of something again and asked; "That's it. What should I do here in the Wild Fortress?"

"The command here is temporarily handed over to Levi and Alyssa. I will mobilize a few more legions from the wild tribe to assist in the defense, and Noro will also arrange it. As for the steel wings, I will set off with you at that time. , After all, I still have to avenge Anno. There has been news from the ghost boy. It can be confirmed that the assassination of you was ordered by the Wiles family of the fascist kingdom. I can't not avenge this grudge, so Kozilek will return it by then. Ulamog will also set off with you."

"Ulamur?" William was a little puzzled.

"Another super strong, currently he succeeds Alexis and is responsible for security in the rear." Shaun said, "The kingdom of fascism may not even have a super strong, even if there is, we have two super The strong should be enough. I really can't wait for Alexis to deal with the matter, and I will let Alexis come with him."

"This handwriting is a bit big." William licked his lips, his face was red, which was a sign of his excitement, "But... the Peace Council will not let it go, will it?"

"Oh, they broke the rules first, so you can't blame me." Sean said coldly, "Anyway, you can just march and defeat the fascist kingdom."

"Take down the entire kingdom?" William was taken aback for a moment, and his eyes were so bright that he was scary.

Soon, William got up and left, to prepare for his next action.

Until now, Sean was finally able to relax slightly.

According to Alyssa, he finally knew the reason for his current strength growth so fast, that is the increase in the foundation. At this time, he did not have any blood heirs at all, and the power that should have been allocated to the entire royal blood was concentrated. In his body, can his strength increase not fast? The birth of the second heart was somewhat inexplicable, and even the third heart was still growing rapidly, so Sean had to be cautious.

"Ellie, I have something for you to deal with." Through the soul contract, Sean directly gave an order to Alexis.

"What's the matter?" Alexis is not as easy to talk as other people, if it is not something she is interested in, she will not give Sean face.

"Fight, kill." Sean said lightly.

"Oh?" Just as William is very emotional about what he is interested in, so does Alexis, who has a nearly pathological desire for battle, "Who offended you this time?...Tsk, it looks like they It's bad luck, it's worth letting me take it."

"Because no one can solve this matter except you." Xiao En said.

"Let's talk, who to beat?"

"Deaththorn is located in the core base of the Southern Continent, the death nest." Shaun said coldly, "Deaththorn's entire organization has not many superpowers, maybe only three or four, much less than the Peace Council. However, the person in charge of the Dead Nest, the Immortal Emperor, one of the Five Deaththorns, is a super strong, possibly with a 17th-order combat power, and the number of legendary strong should be between three and five."

Naturally, all these information materials came from the ghost boy.

Since the ghost boy secretly took refuge in Sean, he has not gone to the dead nest since he settled on the Southern Continent. As a member of the thirteen coffins, many secrets of the Dead Nest are naturally not secrets to the ghost boy, so he can naturally inquire a lot of useful information.

"what do you want me to do?"

"Don't leave one." Shaun's voice was full of murderous intent.

"This will completely tear the face with the organization called Deathspin, right?"

"Anyway, if they want to play word games, I will play with them." Sean shrugged indifferently. "Before the bone invasion is over, they can't do anything to me, nor can they take revenge on the Void Duchy. But... I didn't say anything. I can't do anything to them, right?"

"Haha, you are really unreasonable."

"When will you be reasonable too?"

"Yes." Alexis smiled very happily, "However, I'm going to take away the little guy named Rena. She walks like me."

"Yes." As for Rena's ability to be improved and sublimated again, Sean certainly has no objection.

Chapter 57: .threat

Following Sean's decision, a series of transfer orders were quickly and accurately issued.

But there was a small accident in the middle.

Hearing about a war with the Kingdom of Fascism, all the legions in the wild fortress stationed unanimously demanded to go back, including Clover, who was relatively indifferent among many generals, and expressed their hope to return with the army to participate in the battle against the Kingdom of Fascism. Basically, everyone hopes to be able to participate in this crusade. After all, it is to avenge Anno, and no one wants to miss it.

If you change the usual time, Sean will definitely not refuse, after all, this is the best opportunity to improve the cohesion of the whole.

But this time, it didn't work.

If all the legions are taken away, and only the legions from the wild land are arranged to garrison here, there may be some accidents. The matter of the Void Principality wants to become the eighth empire. At this time, if there is no accident, it should have been notified to the whole continent through various channels, so it is even more impossible for Sean to consume the Void Principality's elite combat power here, anyway. There are many tribes in the Barren Lands, and the source of troops is sufficient-even if many tribes have been lost due to the two splits, the overall strength is still comparable to the average first-rate kingdom.

William is in charge, and there are two super powers Kozilek and Ulamog, and the strength that can be exerted may not be weaker than the super-class kingdom.

However, it is impossible for Sean to dispatch all tribal forces in the Wildlands.

The Wild Land has six entrances, which are the six areas marked by the earliest Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance.

At present, the Great Rift Valley area that originally belonged to the Kingdom of Darbion and the Millennium Covenant Area that belonged to the Millennium Covenant Empire have all been under the control of Sean. Especially the Great Rift Valley. Because it borders the territory of the Void Duchy, Sean built a fortress in the Great Rift Valley. In addition, it is Sean's homeland, so the control is undoubtedly the strongest; and the Millennium Covenant The wild fortress in the district, although it has just fallen into the hands of Sean not long ago. But because this is the front line to resist the undead army, the defense strength is better than that of the Great Rift Valley. On the contrary, it is the place that Sean does not need to worry about.

In addition, the remaining four area entrances are still not under the control of Sean.

No one wants his neighbor to become a huge giant, so Sean also has to worry about once he mobilizes a large number of troops in the Wildlands. Will these guys take advantage of the void? To know. Except for the Birmingham area, which is firmly controlled by the Kingdom of Birmingham, of the remaining four major areas, the remaining three areas can be regarded as public areas, which means that there are several countries bordering these three areas.

Once these countries attack together, the power generated will be inferior to the empire, or at least comparable to the super-class kingdom.

"Strictly speaking, there are only three areas we need to worry about." William is on the unfolding map of the Wildlands. Reached out and tapped the Robert District in the northwest of the Wildlands, the Nadalaf District in the south, and the Birmingham District in the southwest. Then he said, "Among these three areas, Birmingham is controlled by the Kingdom of Birmingham. This is an ancient kingdom with a first-rate kingdom level. It is also the main target we need to worry about. Next, the Robert area is controlled by the Kingdom of Rhodes and Birmingham. The Knights State and Wright Duchy assisted in the defense. We can ignore the Knights of Burne and Wright Kingdom. The Rhodes Kingdom is only a third-rate kingdom. The forces that can be deployed in this area are extremely limited. Unless it is other kingdoms. Trying to send troops to borrow, but in this way these three countries will also be completely passive. The savvy authorities will certainly not allow this situation, so whether they will send troops or not will have to say."

"But the Knights of Burne and the Duchy of Wright have suzerain states. If their suzerain states are to send troops, the nature is different." Sean frowned.

"Yes, so what we need to consider is actually the suzerain state behind these two principalities. However, their scale is not strong, and they are only at a level between second-rate and first-rate." William obviously has done enough intelligence collection. At work, there is not much trouble on his face at this time. "Besides, these two countries dare not send too strong troops to participate in the battle. They have a lot of problems that they can take care of. Once they are found to be weak in national power... "

William didn't say what happened later, but anyone with a more normal mind knew what would happen.

"So even if these two areas want to take advantage of the fire, the troops that can be deployed are relatively limited. The only trouble is the Nadalaf area, which is a real public area." When William said this, his brows were frowned. "This is the area with the most mercenaries and mercenaries in the entire Southern Continent. Many countries here are used to recruiting mercenaries or mercenaries from outside during wars.... If those mercenaries have little strength, it's fine, but the water inside. It is very deep, even in the Void Realm, there is no way to collect too much information. Many empires and super-class kingdoms like to train their troops secretly here."

"This is indeed a trouble." Sean sighed helplessly, "So... our marching route is decided to be the Ellison area?"

"That's how I decided." William nodded. "The Ellison District is in charge of the Principality of Ekili. Although it is in charge of the Principality, it is actually a public area that borders the Rios Forest. Countries, including the Kingdom of Fascism, entered the wilderness through this place.... And the most important thing is that the Principality of Ekiri has never built any decent fortifications in this place. Once our army arrives, it is really necessary. They will definitely not be able to stop the war."

"This time, the Principality of Urquili participated in the rebellion of the wild tribes, right?" Sean asked in a deep voice.

"Basically, those countries that can enter the wilds through the Ellison zone can be regarded as accomplices." William said indifferently, "the entrance area of the wilds like this, especially those close to our border area, is still It's better to hold it firmly in our hands."

"According to the official language, let the Principality of Ekiri hand over the Ellison area, and then let them make some compensation, we can forgive them for their role in this operation." Sean thought for a while, then He opened his mouth and said, "Don't ask for compensation too high, as long as the Principality of Ekiri feels pain."

As soon as I heard this. William knew what Sean was thinking: "You are more vicious than me, at least I am giving people a pain."

"We can avoid war as much as possible, why not avoid it?" Sean also laughed, his voice was light and calm, "Since we want to guard against the possibility of enemies in the other three areas being able to take advantage of the fire. Then the force we can bring out is unlikely to be too great. Many. At least half of them should be left in order to deal with possible attacks. In this case, we naturally have to reduce casualties as much as possible, especially if we can obtain a batch of resources to supplement. Why not?"

"Of course, the most important thing is that the Principality of Urquili didn't really do anything stupid. It was just low in strength and was inevitably coerced." Sean shrugged and continued. "But even so. They must pay for their actions. Our real goal is the Kingdom of Fascism, and the other guys will let them go for a while, and we will come to them to settle accounts after we finish cleaning up the Kingdom of Fascism."

"That's not bad." William nodded, agreeing with Sean's approach, "However, are you so sure that the soldiers of the wild tribes have such high combat effectiveness and consciousness?"

"It's not that I am sure, but the facts." Sean said. "A man's backyard has been invaded for countless years, but he can only defend himself and defend himself. He was almost sold by the conspiracy and tricks of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce. Now we tell them that we can take them out to find those who have always been After the enemies who invaded them settle the accounts, let them also taste the taste of being invaded and looted by others, and finally it's time to retaliate, do you see if these people will explode with 300% power."

"It's not that I don't know this, but... the combat power of these wild tribes is too weak." William sighed helplessly, "You haven't seen a military exercise that was arranged when Hela and I were there before. , Alfred, Clough, Abaza, any army led by any person can easily abuse an army several times the size of theirs, even according to your classification method, even the level of the sixth army. Not their opponent."

"In addition to equipment, the problem of the Wildlands is more important, and that is the lack of tactical means." Although Sean does not have a deep understanding of the Wildlands, at least he has very little contact in the game, but on the forums. He didn't read those articles less, so he could more or less sum up some content, "They don't have any strategic awareness, and their tactics are only the simplest ambushes and raids. Although they dare to fight, they face In terms of conspiracy and tricks, they are very helpless, and they don't even understand the concept of arms coordination.... But this time, don't we have you. Your level and ability can definitely lead them to glory, and we are just right. This action is regarded as a troop training. As long as one can survive the last battle in this battle, there will be a terrible leap in strength."

William thought about it for a while, and found that their tactical methods were indeed very rough and simple in the military exercises that competed against the wild land, so he also acquiesced to Shaun's statement, of course, he acquiesced to Xiao more. En admired him and looked at Sean with a look of "Oh, you have a good eye".

"But, take away all the super strong, is it okay?" William has no worries about going to fight fascism. What he really worries about is the wild land and wild fortress.

"I have left behind, there is no problem." Shaun nodded, "Alexis and the others, can rush to the dangerous place for rescue at the first time at any time."

Of course, Sean had to leave enough back players to dare to send Kozilek, Ulamog, and Alexis out.

Anyway, as long as Ulamog is there, he can perform precise coordinate positioning at any time and then open the Chaos Portal. This is also the reason why Sean recalled Noro to the Wild Fortress. But on the contrary, Hella, who is responsible for sitting in the Wildlands, may not have time to provide support in the first time. However, compared with the enemy situation that the Wild Fortress needs to face, the enemies that the Wildlands have to face are only humans, which is dangerous. It is a lot lower-at least these big countries will never send superpowers to fight.

As for the legendary powerhouses, those wild and first-class tribes have more or less one, two, two or three people sitting in town. Sean did not intend to bring all the legendary powerhouses with him, so naturally Enough manpower will be left to protect Hella. Moreover, Alexis, after solving the dead nest, will also arrive at Hella and sit next to him. Unless it is a big problem that cannot be solved when attacking the fascist kingdom, Sean did not intend to let Alexis also come over.

When all the matters were properly arranged, and the corresponding backup plans and countermeasures were prepared, the Void Principality finally began to mobilize the whole country.

With the size and strength of the Void Principality today, once the nationwide mobilization begins, this move will be impossible to hide from anyone. Especially when the grain and grass of the Void Principality began to concentrate in the Oasis City in the Barren Land-with the joining and settlement of the Barren Tribe Federation, the first giant city state built in the Great Rift Valley-afterwards, the surrounding area The movement of the country also began to appear a little flustered.

The three armies have not moved, food and grass go first. This is already the basic cognition of warfare.

Especially the mobilization and assembly of so many tribes in the wild land, this is even more impossible to hide from others' prying eyes. What's more, from the very beginning, Xiao En didn't intend to hide anyone from him. All he wanted was to declare to everyone in an upright manner: I'm done for this battle!

and almost immediately when the Void Principality was officially mobilized throughout the country, two letters carried by the Void Principality's messenger also rushed to two places.

The first place is the base camp where Florence Wiles is now-the Florence Palace, which is the original Louvreland Palace.

Since Ryan annexed the Kingdom of Darbion, Florence has occupied the territory of the former Prince Cazes of Darbion, including the Louvreland Palace. However, with the arrival of Florence, the palace was officially renamed the Palace of Florence, and the territory that Florence ruled was also called the Roman Territory.

Florence Wiles, is now one of the core members of the noble faction outside the Great Wall of the Kingdom of Ryan, and one of the few powerful marquis in the entire kingdom. There are two most powerful legions under his command, namely the Holy Roman Knights and the Roman Fanatics.

This time, Sean wants to make a break with the Kingdom of Fascism. Among them is the Wiles family who was kicked out of the house after Florence failed to fight for inheritance.

Sean believes that Florence must be happy to join this war.

The place where the second letter was sent was the Principality of Ekiri.

In the letter, Sean clearly listed all the evidence collected about the Ekili Principality's attempt to destroy the peace of the Void Principality in this joint instigation of the wild tribes. Such a straightforward way of accusation is nothing like the diplomatic rhetoric used by aristocrats or the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of a Principality, so when receiving this letter of condemnation, the senior officials of the Principality of Ekili were taken aback.

But what surprised them even more was the request for compensation after this letter.

It was a compensation bill filled with fifteen letter papers densely packed, and just from the content of the letter, everyone would think whether there was a  in the Principality, otherwise, how could the current inventory and resource reserves of the Principality be so clear? ?

Sean's request is too much and indeed too much, but there is room for it, and there is indeed room for it: He directly asked for nearly one-third of the resources of the Principality of Ekiri, which is something that the Principality of Ekiri can pay. But it also feels the price of abnormal pain. Because once they pay these indemnity resources, the development of the entire Ekiri Principality is likely to lag behind for more than 30 years.

Of course, Sean also made it very clearly: It doesn't matter if you don't want to give it, we will get it ourselves when the time comes. But if we take it ourselves, I am afraid it will be more than that, so please consider it carefully.

Naked threat of war!

Chapter 58: Attack

"Everyone, what do you think?" A middle-aged man wearing a crown, with a tired face, handed a letter to everyone present.

This letter contains a lot of paper, at least more than 20 pages, but the content of more than 10 pages can be ignored because it is a claim. Only after deciding the result of compensation, the content of these more than ten pages is meaningful, otherwise the content of these papers is just nonsense.

What is really important is the detailed listing of the crime facts of the principality.

Of course, for the Principality of Ekiri, the so-called criminal facts are all nonsense. These so-called facts are only describing the cooperation between the Principality and other countries. Although these matters are extremely beneficial to the future development of the Principality of Ekiri, they do damage the rights and interests of the Principality of Void. Now it is understandable that the Principality of Void is asking for trouble.

After all, no one would have thought that the secret alliance of so many countries would fail in the end.

At least, before this conspiracy to incite many tribal rebellions in the wild, no one thought that the Void Duchy could stop it. In their assessment plan, it is inevitable that the Void Principality will be devastated, and they will even provide them with extremely favorable conditions for invasion.

But what about the result?

Void Principality wiped out all the insurgents with clean and extremely rapid means.

All people who saw the content of this letter all thought of the previous horrible news from the front, and everyone was silent for a while.

"Everyone, please tell me any comments."

"I don't think we should just agree to the party's compensation." A young man got up and saluted the king who was sitting on the main seat before speaking, "The Void Principality's claim is too rude! If we just agree, then if they ask us to pay tribute every year in the future, how should we deal with it?"

"I think Agqing's words are very reasonable." A middle-aged man wearing single-ring glasses also got up and said. The young man named expressed his gratitude to the middle-aged man. The middle-aged man also replied, and then continued, "This condition is a temptation. If we behave too weakly. Then what is waiting for us is Demands like a bottomless pit. And one day if we can't satisfy it, we can imagine our fate."

As the middle-aged man's voice fell, a commotion broke out in the court.

Many people agree and approve of what the middle-aged man said.

"The letter also said that if we don't give it, then the other party will pick it up." A gray-haired old man asked. Although he did not stand up, no one accused him of being rude. "We. What to resist?"

"We still have our army!" the middle-aged man replied in a deep voice, "It is their duty to defend the home and the country!"

"You're right, their duty is indeed to defend their homes and the country, but if they are sent to die, I don't think it makes any sense." The old man shook his head and said, "You are still too young." The expression, this made the middle-aged man's face look unhappy, "If we only talk about the military power of our principality. I believe it is much better than the barbarians in the barren land. But... the intelligence collection department feedback You should read the information returned? This time the leader is one of the Big Four of the Void Principality. Back then, the Void Principality was just a group of sheep that no one looked at, but under his command it has grown into one. A group of lions. Now... he is leading a group of tigers, so what do you think these already ferocious tigers will become under his command?"

"No one knows the result if I haven't beaten it!" The middle-aged man said in a deep voice, "Marquis Du Boer, what you are saying now can be regarded as treason!"

"Treason?" The old man sneered, with a clear expression of contempt, "You and the people of the Fascist Kingdom are closer? The previous time that assisted the Fascist Kingdom in launching a plan to destroy the savage land of the Void Principality. The main person in charge is also you, right? Even now, you still want to excuse yourself from the crime. If I were you, I would have been ashamed to death."

"Marquis du Boer! You!"

"Don't you, you, me or mine. Now it is clear that the fact before us is that we are incapable of fighting against the Void Principality." The old man glanced around at everyone present, and then said in a cold tone, "Although it is the same. It is the name of the duchy, but the situation of the void duchy is already clear to all of us. This is basically a country with the reality of an empire. They want to become the eighth empire because they already have this strength. The last time Earl Royce When I proposed that battle plan, I had already opposed it, but you were blinded by your immediate interests. You must go to provoke the Void Principality. Now that people come to you, are you planning to make another mistake now?"

In the conference room, there was a moment of silence.

"I just ask, even at the military level, we can win the void Principality that is not the main force this time. Even if we have ten generals in command, what about the super strong?" The old man said in a deep voice, "Do we have the power to block the super strong? Let alone the super strong, is there a legendary strong in our country? Our town strong is just a middle-ranked sanctuary. The powerhouse!"

The atmosphere in the conference room is almost suffocating.

"If the Void Principality is really at war with us, our overlord can't ignore our situation." The gentle middle-aged man with single ring glasses, Earl Royce, is still fighting hard at this moment, "We... ..We only need to block the first wave of offensive. When the reinforcements from the overlord arrive and unite with the reinforcements of the Fascist Kingdom, we cannot lose. And...At the same time, so many countries are fighting at the same time. Divided!"

"I really don't know how you became the Deputy Minister of the Military Affairs Department." The old man sneered again with disdain. Of course, his words were indeed a naked mocking face, because everyone present knew that Royce The earl relied on his sister who was the current king's favorite concubine, so he was able to get into such a position of power, "Do you really think the Void Principality is heading for us with 300,000 troops this time? Did not put us in the eyes.... Weak countries have no diplomatic truth. Don't you understand?"

"Grand Duke Shaun, the outsiders have mixed reviews, but overall he is a person who keeps his promises." Another man spoke. He was very young, but he exuded a cold temperament. Obviously specializing in some dark work. "He said that as long as we compensate for these things, let this matter go, I believe it should be true."

"But there is also the Ellison area in the list of claims he wants. If this gate is also handed over, we will all be in the shadow of war in the wild in the future, and we will always be passive!" Royce It is rare for the earl to have a more sober moment, at least to say a more crucial point. "Other compensation materials. We can ask the countries involved in this matter to help out part of it, and in addition..."

"You better shut up." The old man said, "I said so much before, you idiot still didn't understand a word? Why did William of the Void Principality lead a 300,000 army? The goal is obviously aimed at. The kingdom of fascism came, and the kingdom of fascism is too busy to take care of itself now, how can there be time to pay attention to us? Your calculations in the previous years have been completely ruined, and because of you, we and the fascist kingdom have also come closer in recent years If the suzerain country uses this as an excuse to make trouble, we will also find ways to solve the problems on the suzerain country's side."

"As for the area of Ellison. The attitude of the Void Principality is obviously aimed at this area. They will never let the entrance and exit of the wild land fall into the hands of others. If you don't believe it, wait and see, if others If the three areas do not take advantage of the emptiness of this savage land to send an invasion but adopt defensive tactics, the Void Principality may not be able to do anything, but if you dare to invade, then after the invasion fails, these three areas will definitely fall into the Void Principality. Hands."

As people get older, they will be more knowledgeable.

The Marquis of Dybur, is one of the three marquis of the entire Duchy of Ekiri, and is also an old man of the generation of the father of the current Grand Duke of Ekiri.

At this moment, Grand Duke Ekili just regretted being blinded by a little profit at the beginning and did not obey the old man's words. So after a while of helplessness, the Grand Duke sighed, and then said: "If you have no other opinions, then we will negotiate with the envoy of the Void Principality about compensation.... We will try to make this today. The matter is resolved."

.....

Just after the Principality of Ekili decided to pay compensation, somewhere in a forest, several mysterious people in different robes also gathered together.

"The Void Principality really sent troops." A silver-robed executive sighed, "It seems that Arbitrator Fanny's negotiations have failed."

"That's not a negotiation at all." An executive wearing a golden robe said coldly, "Sean has no intention to negotiate at all. He is trying to disrupt the world structure! This time, we must impose sanctions. !"

"What is the sanction?" Another Jinpao executive also asked, "At best, we can only provide some intelligence information. If we intervene personally, then we will be punished for breach of contract. The life of Lord Christina is not allowed to be used for jokes and temptations."

"Maybe, this battle can't be fought?" another silver-robed executive said, and it was clear from the voice that she was a woman. "Perhaps, the Void Principality is just acting and venting. A bit of inner dissatisfaction. I heard that they sent a letter of compensation to the Principality of Ekili. The 300,000 army may only be used to cooperate with the threat, and even if the claim fails, if the fight really starts, we can do it appropriately. Intervene, as long as we don't take the shot directly, there should be no problem, right?...I mean, the content of the agreement is not violated."

"This is an adventurous temptation!" The golden robe executive who had a tough attitude before said again. "As I said, the life of Lord Christina is very important, and we must not use it for any temptation. "

The female silver-robed executive did not speak, but turned her head and looked at the only person in the court who also wore a golden robe, but the robe was embroidered with a brighter golden texture to show that she was more valuable. Facing the person with the highest status, the female silver-robed executive bowed and saluted humbly. It was truly convincing and respectful, rather than acting: "My Lord Christina, your What about opinions?"

"I have been in contact with Sean many times. I know what kind of person he is better than you." This extremely high status member of the Peace Council is naturally Chris who has now been promoted to the status of Peace Envoy. Tina, her voice is low, but there is also a bewilderment in her tone. It's just that this kind of confusion is except for herself. No one can hear, "Since he has let William lead his troops out, it is obvious that he really has a plan for war.... His thinking is different from ours, or different from many people. In It seems to us that there is no hope at all, but he can just seize the glimmer of hope that turns the impossible into possible."

Two golden-robed executive officers and two silver-robed executive officers. They looked at each other. Don't know what to say.

"This time, only the seven empires of the same imperial level can stop the army of William." Christina said in a deep voice, "The Kingdom of Fascism is absolutely unstoppable. The only problem is, I think. I don't understand Sean's determination... Is he going to destroy the Kingdom of Fascism or is it just for a revenge action."

"Retaliation?" The female silver-robed executive asked suspiciously, "Retaliation?"

"Many." Christina said in a deep voice, "Fanny Arbitrator's negotiation failed. It was long before my expectation that since our Peace Council violated the agreement first. Then Sean will never give up. He has always been. He is such a person... But this time if it wasn't for the fascist kingdom, Sean might take another method to claim compensation, but it is a pity that the fascist kingdom led the way...no, it should be said that whether or not the fascist kingdom takes the lead, As long as the Kingdom of Fascism participates, Sean will send troops to attack the Kingdom of Fascism."

"Why?"

"Because one of Sean's men died in a conspiracy trap in the Kingdom of Fascism.... This is just a follow-up to the previous blood-flag revenge."

"Then why are we gathering here now?"

"Ensure the stability of the power structure. If Sean really intends to destroy the Kingdom of Fascism, then we must take action. Even if I pay the price of my life, we must terminate this ambition plan of Sean. But if the royal family of the Kingdom of Fascism If the blood is not severed, then there is no need for us to take action."

"Everything is in accordance with your instructions, Lord Christina." The four executive officers bowed and saluted.

"But, is it only our Peace Council who has to bear revenge?" The female silver-robed executive keenly noticed the key words mentioned by Christina, "Doesn't the death thorn also violate the content of the contract? Could it be that they What secret agreement did you reach with Sean again?"

"According to what Arbitrator Fanny heard at the time, there should be none." Christina shook her head. "If there are no omissions in the repetition of Arbitrator Fanny, then based on what I know about Sean, it's deadly thorny. The liaison officer offended Sean again at the time.... Not only did not calm Sean's anger, he even set it on fire again. If I hadn't reminded the Arbitrator Fanny before, Sean's this I'm afraid it's not simply sending troops to attack the Fascist Kingdom once."

"What could it be?"

"I don't know, that lunatic Shaun can do anything theoretically.... But I guess, now Deaththorn must also be in a great panic."

.....

A young woman wearing a highly exposed light armor and holding a sword-bladed gun walked out of a torn open void.

Behind her, there was a dragon knight wearing a red armor like emerald.

The black Emperor Dragon shook his head, and the direct shuttle through the void obviously made it feel a little uncomfortable.

Looking at the sudden two people and an earth walking dragon, several people who had already put on guard were holding weapons against the group of enemies that appeared directly from the void. The leader said in a deep voice: "Who are you? This is a private domain, you..."

Before this person finished speaking, the young woman who had walked out of the void in the first place had already spoken: "This is the dead nest, right?"

The face of the leader changed: "Who are you!?"

"Me?" The young woman smiled softly, "I am Alexis. My current identity is the messenger from the Void Principality. In view of the great gift you sent to the Void Principality, this time it is my turn to die for you. Ji sent a warm greeting from the Void Principality, Grand Duke Shaun."

After all, the sword-blade gun in Alexis's hand was swept away, and the few guards who were on alert didn't even know anything, and found that their perspective had completely changed. The head flying in the air could only see. Until his headless corpse slowly knelt to the ground.

Immediately afterwards, the entire base was suddenly alarmed.

The thick black smoke spread quickly, spreading out as if covering the sky and the sun.

"You are on the side, first take a good look at how I shot." Alexis said to Rena without looking back, "A fog barrier that doesn't flow like this should not stop us from moving forward. s things."

The sword-blade gun in his hand stabs forward again, only to hear a stern and miserable howl, and then all the smoke is completely broken away.

A tower with a height of more than ten meters and a diameter of more than thirty meters was exposed in front of Alexis and Rena.

Chapter 59: .Accident

The royal capital has always been a symbol of the pinnacle power of a country.

It may not be an economic center, nor a cultural center. After all, it is not the capital of any country, and it can be a typical representative in many aspects, but the capital of a country is definitely the center of power of a country and the center of the entire country. Spiritual symbol.

The royal capital of the Kingdom of Ryan was finally completed by several generations of talents. It was once the economic, cultural, and power center of the entire Kingdom of Ryan. It was not until the first time that the kingdom was defeated and became a vassal state. King Ryan lost these laurels. However, after the war against Darbion was over and the kingdom's status was regained, even though the city of Ledesne is still not the economic center of the entire Kingdom of Lane, it has indeed regained the two crowns of culture and power.

However, since the death of the sixth king of Ryan, the seventh king has not been elected. Now, this city with a history of hundreds of years is now plunged into a haze.

It's just this kind of haze, and it's mostly unfounded worry.

A group of aristocrats who were fed and had nothing to do gathered together, and then they thought they knew very well about the throne inheritance; and the servants who served in order to show their own special status, they also regarded these specious contents as talks. Said it out; then, just like a plague, false news and so-called inside stories spread out in the entire capital city.

Only the real high-level people who can now be regarded as the mainstay of the Ryan Kingdom or the nobles with unique abilities that people cannot ignore can they know the truth of the facts.

Unlike the chaos circulated in the outside world, the current competition gap for the throne candidates is actually not messy at all, and some clues can even be seen faintly.

Different from what many people expected, the candidate with the highest administrative score was not Arlan, Frcis, Adams, etc., but the five prince Grenn who joined the contenders halfway through.

The political talent shown by the youngest prince is far higher than that of the third prince Arlan and the fourth princess Frcis. Although the handling and arrangement of some things were not smooth enough because of their young age, they were still a little bit inadequate in the decision-making of many major events. Often it can hit the core sharply, and the proposed countermeasures can also solve the urgent need and properly ensure the smooth operation of the affairs.

However, even though the administrative score is extremely high, he can only be ranked third in the ranking of candidates.

Ranked second is [Lane's Heart] Vulhis. The reason why her comprehensive score can be ranked second. All thanks to her incredible approval rating. Up to now, in the case of having to stand in line, Vulhis almost has the terrible approval rate of more than two-thirds of the nobles of Ryan. If it were not for the civilians who did not have the right to vote, I am afraid the current Vulhis It should be the well-deserved seventh king of Ryan-or the queen.

Ranked first is the third prince Arlan.

His administrative score is inferior to Grain, and his military score is inferior to Adams. The approval rating is also not as good as that of Forchys. But the most rare thing is that he does not have any obvious shortcomings, so his overall score is naturally the highest.

Although Grain has a high administrative score, he is like an idiot in terms of military affairs. He doesn't even understand the most basic way of deployment. Although Fulches has a very high approval rate, it is also because she is more effective in dealing with people. Neutralization is not radical and can take into account the interests of many people, but she is not excellent in terms of political or military capabilities. Even saying "Mediocre" is a bit reluctant.

As for the eldest prince Adams, this guy is a completely typical contrast with Grain-except for military capabilities. He is useless. As a commander, general, he is the best candidate, but if he is allowed to govern a country, no one is willing to support him except his supporters of the northern aristocracy. Even the few banquets he held in the king's capital were few participants, and many nobles didn't want to get involved with this moody and reckless tyrant.

.....

"If there is no accident, your Highness, you should be able to become the seventh king of Lane."

Arlan stood in front of a huge floor-to-ceiling window, looking up at the scenery outside.

Compared with what Sean had seen before, Arlan now has a calm, confident and indifferent temperament. If Sean sees His Royal Highness Arlan again at this time, then he will find him and the previous old king. There are many very similar overlaps.

This kind of concealed high-ranking aura has become more and more like a real kingdom ruler.

At this moment, the place where Arlan is located is also the study room that the old king liked the most.

What said, it was not Arlan's personal attendant, the elf swordsman, Fannie.

But the Marquis of Floris, who has been serving as the personal faithful minister of the former His Majesty the King.

He wore a well-tailored black dress, which was not the style loved by the nobles, but the dress style more like a housekeeper. For a marquis of real power behind his back, wearing this kind of clothes is not a symbol of properness, but more like a servant, which is almost a kind of humiliation. Just looking at the expression of the Marquis of Floris, it is obvious that he has no resistance to this kind of dress.

"So, my sister has given up the competition?" Arlan did not reply immediately, but continued to stare at the busy traffic outside the window, and then said after a long time, "She is now my most powerful contender. If we continue to fight, It's really hard to tell who will kill you.... She must have some other thoughts when she gives up at this time? Let's talk about her conditions."

"You know, there is a feast between Grand Duke Asuna and His Royal Highness Adams..." When the Marquis of Flores said this, he carefully observed Arlan. After seeing his expression as usual, he didn't seem to dislike it. After the expression, he continued: "Therefore, it is necessary to ensure that His Royal Highness Adams will not take any coercive actions against Grand Duke Asuna. This is the first point."

"Continue." Arlan nodded slightly, indicating that he had heard it.

"Princess Fulcis will move out of the royal capital and go to the territory of Grand Duke Asuna. I hope you will allow this." The Marquis of Flores continued.

According to traditional rules, after the struggle for succession to the throne fails, unless they are those who sacrificed in the competition, they will usually leave the capital. However, only a very small number of people have the power to choose where to go. The vast majority of people will be placed in a territory directly under the management of the royal family under centralized and unified management. In addition to still retaining the status of nobility, these people are basically equivalent to losing their freedom, and their descendants want to return again. The power center of the royal capital requires several times more effort than others.

However, there is one key point in this tradition. That is all female royals. Both must abide by an ancient contract: to become victims of a political marriage, they must unconditionally obey the husband chosen for them by the current king. Of course, it's okay to refuse. The Kingdom of Lane is not so inhuman, but since it refuses the obligation, then the result will be deprived of the status of the royal family and nobles, and also need to pay a "compensation fee" to compensate the royal family for so many years of nurturing.

Her Royal Highness Princess Fulhis. Has a high reputation. Moreover, she is the best choice in terms of appearance and figure. If she fails to compete for heirs, she will become a very valuable political bargaining chip.

"Yes." This time, Arlan was silent for a while before nodding and agreeing, "Anything else?"

"There is one more requirement." The Marquis of Flores said, "His Royal Highness hopes that after you become the king, you can open some trading policies that restrict the development of the duchy...including import and export restrictions on some products. . And the right to purchase rare products."

"This requires further negotiation." Arlan did not immediately agree this time, but instead chose a reserved response.

For Arlan's choice. Floris also expressed understanding.

"Master Flores, if my sister leaves, what choice will you make?" Arlan said suddenly.

"I think His Royal Highness Arlan should not be assured that I will continue to stay, so I have basically arranged the related transfer procedures and work, and I can definitely let your designated heirs regain control of everything within a month." Lorris seemed to have known this for a long time, so he replied simply, "But before that, I want to remind His Royal Highness.... Regarding the assassination of His Majesty the King, and the previous series of conspiracy and assassination incidents in the capital, so far There is still no clues or clues. The other party doesn't seem to act personally, but implements the plan by buying murder, so..."

"I see." Arlan nodded slightly, and a haze flashed in his eyes with his back facing Floris, his face gloomy as if dripping water.

Not long ago, he had encountered an assassination. If it wasn't for Vannie's keen sense of smell, coupled with the hidden strength, he had made the opponent's estimation wrong and faced that perfect to extreme siege. He estimated that there was no hope of surviving. But even so, he still suffered some injuries, and he gradually got better after he was raised for a while, and Vannie was injured in order to protect him, which kept Arlan suffocating anger.

In that assassination, all the evidence directly or indirectly pointed to Vulhis.

But Arlan is not a fool. His political sense of smell is far superior to that of his younger brother Grenn, who has a unique talent in politics, so he didn't directly tear his face with Folhis. Obviously, some people hope that the most direct conflict between Arlan and Fulhis will break out, and if you guess according to the thinking of this kind of third-party profiteer, the layout person is likely to be Grain.

However, Arlan was not inferior to Vulhis as to the degree of understanding of this younger brother, so he knew that this was also impossible. Even based on this matter, he was able to draw a conclusion: assassinating the old king, trying to raise the level of internal fighting among the four heirs, so as to provoke the entire Kingdom of Lane, the conspirator who would not be one of the four heirs. one.

"Marquis Floris, you should be very clear, right?"

"I know." Marquis Floris nodded.

"Isn't my sister planning to intercede for you?" Arlan finally turned his head and looked directly at the Marquis of Floris.

At this moment, the Marquis of Flores smiled: "The mercy of Her Royal Highness Princess Evrches, of course, is to intercede for me. In fact, my life can be regarded as an exchange content. But... I don't think there is any. Meaning, because you cannot agree to such a request, Your Highness Arlan, after all, I know too many secrets."

"If you stay and help me, then this is not undiscussed."

"His Royal Highness Arlan, thank you for your kindness, but the object of my loyalty is not the Kingdom of Lane. It is the last King of Lane." Floris smiled very contentedly.

"I understand." Arlan nodded slightly, "But before you officially leave, Marquis Floris, I have one thing I want to ask you."

"Your Majesty, you are polite." The Marquis of Floris was a little frightened.

"You should know the latest thing about Grand Duke Shaun, right?"

The face of the Marquis of Floris became a little weird.

As the intelligence chief of the Kingdom of Lane who has not officially left. He is also a great figure who controls one-third of the underground dark forces in the entire kingdom. Naturally, Floris knew a lot of news. Even when the tribes of the Barren Lands that had already taken refuge in the Void Principality suddenly rioted, he already knew that this incident was a conspiracy led by the Fascist Kingdom, but because the news came too late, plus The riot had already begun, so he didn't have time to remind the Void Principality.

But what everyone did not expect, the Void Duchy's response was not only exceptionally timely. Moreover, the methods are extremely simple and neat.

Until then. Only then did the Marquis of Floris know that the Void Duchy has always hidden a hole card: a super strong!

It was precisely because of the opening of this hole card that no one thought it was incredible that the Void Principality would form an empire afterwards. In fact, in the eyes of everyone, the most incredible thing is to have a Void Duchy with a superpower if it does not want to get rid of its status as a vassal state and upgrade to an empire. But facing this is a matter of normal choice in everyone's eyes. But it also made countless people feel unusually worried and helpless.

Void Principality, when did it start? Become so powerful?

Nobody knows.

In the eyes of many people, the mystery of the Void Principality has not disappeared with the passage of time and people's understanding of this principality and that Grand Duke, but has become deeper and deeper.

"I know." The Marquis of Floris nodded, "According to the information I have heard, there may be more than one super power in the Void Principality.... Just about half a month ago, Grand Duke Sean had been completely thorough. Occupying the wild fortress of the Millennium Covenant Empire, almost all of the main force of the Void Principality are now stationed here, and successfully resisted an invasion by an undead army. After that...they declared war on the Kingdom of Fascism."

Arlan's pupils shrank slightly, but the sudden loss of consciousness was quickly calmed down by him: "What was the size of the undead army that time?"

As for the Void Duchy's declaration of war on the Kingdom of Fascism, Arlan naturally also knows, this matter is not a secret at all, after all, Sean is directly and honestly preaching. Of course, the outside world guessed that this was because Sean could not perform surprise attacks on the Fascist Kingdom. After all, this time it was a mighty 300,000 army set off. There was no way to hide the movement so great, so it was better to declare war directly.

As the Kingdom of Ryan, Arlan, who is almost the default next king, knows better than others. At present, the kingdom of Ryan is close to the border of the Fascist kingdom, and the lord and nobles are also a little ready to move. Especially the Lord of Rome, Florence was once the second pioneering knight under Asuna. The Marquis of Wiles personally led the Holy Roman Knights and the Roman Fanatic Legion to move toward the border.

Furthermore, the Boulder family from the agave collar and the Hobson family with the black mandola collar located on the border of the Fascist kingdom and with skirmish wars all year round have extremely obvious signs of war mobilization. The other is Florence in Rome. After the Marquis of Wiles took action, the private army of the lord from the Baidi family also began to take action. Large-scale strategic resources were constantly mobilized in these four territories, forming a large-scale logistics supply line.

It was also at this time that the Marquis of Flores suddenly expressed his willingness to withdraw from this election for the throne on behalf of Vulhis.

Arlan naturally smelled a very unusual smell.

"Three hundred thousand." Floris replied, "I don't know the specific situation of the war, and I don't know the casualty rate, but I can be sure that Grand Duke Sean successfully resisted the invasion of the undead army. And killed a fallen one."

"It seems that there is indeed more than one super strong." Arlan nodded, "Then how much do you know about Grand Duke Shaun's declaration of war on the fascist kingdom? ... His Royal Highness, in It's a coincidental time to propose a peace talk at this time."

"Grand Duke Sean once sent a secret letter to the Marquis of Florence, although the content is not clear, but I guess it should be related to the life experience of the Marquis of Florence." The Marquis of Flores knew Arlan's expression. The prince must know many things. "After all, Lord Florence was born in the Wiles family of the Kingdom of Fascism, and he was chased by his eldest brother after failing to participate in the Patriarchal Competition. This time it is likely to be his. The battle for revenge."

"So what about the other people's movements?" Arlan asked with a smile.

"In fact, the others were not in the invitation of Grand Duke Sean, but were invited by Lord Florence." Marquis Floris said, "Master Asuna is actually not in the invitation, but Princess Fulcis His Royal Highness feels that the internal friction caused by such competition is not conducive to the future development of the kingdom, so he intends to take this matter to abandon the competition and return to the Principality of Garrod with Grand Duke Asuna for a long stay."

"Should the boat go smoothly?" Arlan's eyes narrowed slightly.

But at this moment, Fannie suddenly appeared in this study room.

Her appearance is obviously very abrupt, but it did not give people any sense of disobedience, as if she had been in this study from the beginning, but everyone had subconsciously ignored her existence until now her sense of existence suddenly increased. At that time, everyone realized that there was another person in the room.

"What's the matter?" Arlan knew that Vannie would not appear in front of him if there was nothing urgent for Vannie. There must be something important to appear suddenly at this moment.

"About one kilometer from the north gate of the royal capital, a black cavalry unit appeared." Fannie said with a weird face. "Before this, no one had noticed this unit at all, as if they appeared out of thin air. It's the same. I believe this time, if this troop hadn't taken the initiative to expose its trail, I'm afraid we would only find out when they appeared under the city gate."

"What's the matter?" Arlan's face changed slightly, "Mysterious troops? Are there any marks?"

"There is a flag, it is the church flag, but the mark on the flag is a mark I haven't seen before."

"What kind of?" asked the Marquis of Floris.

"Red shading, the top of the square flag is a black meniscus, and the bottom is a black spear inserted into the ground."

"It's the Gun of Darkmoon." Floris's intelligence reserve is indeed much wider than that of Vannie. "It was originally a reserve force of the Twilight Church, but it is now the symbol of the strongest Knight Order of the Twilight Church. ...They should have come for this bone invasion. It's just that... Didn't all the church troops as a support force go directly to the Millennium Covenant Empire? Why did the Twilight Church troops reach us?"

Chapter 60: .arrange

Shaun did not set off with William for the time being, but he did not stay in the wild fortress either.

Although he doesn't know the specific reason, he can be sure that Rick obviously also encountered a lot of trouble, otherwise he would not be able to give up the possibility of personal trouble. And since that's the case, then Sean is of course happy to take advantage of this precious time to solve some troubles.

The hatred between the image and the fascist kingdom, there is also the problem of death thorns.

After all, he had pitted Deadthorn once, so it's normal for Deadthorn to come to him for trouble, but Sean didn't expect that the other party would actually play word games with him. At least in Sean's view, playing with word games is really a bit of an infamous trick, and I am very sorry that Deadthorn is a powerful organization.

At least in a different place, Xiao En felt that once he promised someone or something, then he would definitely not play these boring word games.

It's just that Sean doesn't know. In recent years, his behavioral logic, which has no rules at all, has given him a private name of "Mad King". So in fact, Sean really has a lot of organizational influences. Forced to a dead end. Although he himself still doesn't know exactly what happened, the fact is that in the entire Southern Continent, Sean has prevented many people from making money.

If it hadn't been for the Void Principality to become more and more powerful, and the number of powerful people under Xiao En's command would increase, he would have never known that he had been assassinated many times.

William and Hela never told Sean that the assassination force in the Voidland has grown extremely rapidly in recent years-this special operation force responsible for assassination and anti-assassination can only truly grow in battle. Although Luke, the strongest member among the members, has not officially entered the realm of the sanctuary, the number of powerhouses in the golden realm alone is enough to make many small and medium-scale assassination organizations dumbfounded.

However, assassins and assassins are still weaker than fighters of the same rank in the battle of confrontation, so it is not an amazing development. What's more, the members of the special force of Void Blade are all grown up in a quick way, which makes them even in the battle of peers. Unless it is in a pre-prepared trap ambush, it is often at a disadvantage.

The thing that Sean is dealing with at this time is to browse what happened in the entire void duchy during the time he left.

As the Grand Duke of a principality, a future emperor, Sean can delegate power. But he absolutely cannot fail to know the development trend of the whole country. Neil, Hella, William. Even Diana expressed gratitude for Sean's decentralization and trust, but it is precisely because of this gratitude that they are so loyal to Sean, and they have compiled all the movements of the entire country in recent years into a book. Then it will be read by Sean at this moment.

At the very least, he must know what the whole country is doing now and what he is going to do. What are you going to do in the future?

If it is a faint and incompetent emperor. So naturally it doesn't matter, but everyone knows that Sean is not such a person.

The location where Xiao En is now is in the office study of the City Lord's Mansion in Lake City.

It is about ten days apart from the Oasis City. It is one of the many cities planned to be built in the third phase after the completion of the Oasis City. The main purpose is to replace the Great Rift Valley and the Oasis City. The population of the wild tribes is divided. At the same time, starting with Lake Heart City, the Void Duchy will gradually begin to build various cities, towns, and villages in the old areas of the wild land. At the same time, the abandoned land will be greened and restored until the entire public road network is paved.

nature. Some suitable and important places will also be selected for the construction of brand new fortresses and fortifications. As for where this expenditure was obtained, it was naturally through the occupation and plundering of the Fascist kingdom and compensation for those enemy countries that had participated in the plan to cause civil strife in the wild tribes.

The surrender of the tribes of the Barren Land has also made the entire Barren Land completely fall into the hands of Sean. Although it has not been officially disclosed at present, the senior officials of the Void Principality know that this territory is already part of the territory of the entire Void Empire. .

Therefore, Neal directly divided the entire wild land into 31 areas, including the Great Rift Valley area, a total of 32 territories. The Void Empire can award thirty-five field grand dukes-Neil's area is divided according to the area of the standard grand duchess.

The so-called grand duke is a grand duke who is one level higher than the duke and one level lower than the prince, and has not declared the establishment of a duchy. Their territory is larger than the regular duchy, and the standard area is often equivalent to the size of two standard duchy.

Of course, even if the void empire is established in the future, it is impossible to really reward thirty-five field princes. There must be other titles, and of course the other titles can only be divided from the existing territory. However, considering that sooner or later all the entrances to the other four areas of the Wildlands will be recovered, plus the utopia that Sean has already revealed, the maximum number of the Void Empire can be nearly forty grand dukes with real land.

In other words, it is the scale of at least eighty dukes.

According to the higher-level standard collar equivalent to two lower-level standard collars, even after the establishment of the void empire, there will never be a lack of territories that can be used as rewards. However, compared with the five empires that have been famous for a long time and have not fallen from the names of the seven empires, the territory of the void empire is still a little smaller.

Don't say anything else, the Emelian Empire, which has the widest territory, now has nearly a hundred dukes who own the land. And even if it pays the most attention to the inheritance and strength of the nobility, there is no arbitrarily rewarding the Chenas Empire on the ground. The number of dukes alone has more than 70. If you count the other nobles on the ground, the territory is definitely about to become an emperor. Above the void empire.

This is the true empire's heritage and strength.

is also the place where Shaun can intuitively feel the gap in the various information that Sean has browsed in the past few days.

It has to be said that Neil, the most weird existence among the forest elves, does possess a very powerful administrative ability. The viewer intuitively understands which information is the most important and which information is of secondary importance. at the same time. Neal will also list the reference guidelines, pros and cons, and possible consequences in some administrative handling and arrangements, and even give corresponding countermeasures around these consequences and disadvantages.

It can be said. The knight collar and baron collar that Shaun first managed. To the Void Nation, to the Void Principality, and even the future Void Empire, it is all because of Neil's arrangement that it can be so easy and not chaotic. Without Neil's help from the beginning, it would be impossible for Sean to have a void principality with such perfect mechanisms today, and even the so-called void empire in his mind may have been delayed for decades. May reach.

Gently put down a document in his hand. This is the last document that Sean has read these days. Then he rubbed his eyebrows. The slightly tired face finally became somewhat relaxed: "Finally I'm finished."

A knock on the door sounded.

"Come in." Sean's voice seemed a little brisk, he knew who the person was. "I said Hela, how did you learn Neal's fault, you have to knock every time... Didn't you say it's over! Why are there so many files!"

Originally, Sean wanted to say hello to Hela easily, but he didn't expect to see Hela walking into the room holding a lot of documents. And behind Hela is Harding, the master of the demon descendant, of course, he also holds many documents in his hand. Obviously it was to hit Hela.

"You used to read old documents from a few years ago, and now these are from this year. Some of them are old files that have been backlogged all the time. Even Neil and us have not processed them. They have been waiting for you to be free. Arrangement later." Hela looked calm and slightly indifferent, but judging from the smile hidden in her eyes, it was obvious that she was deliberate. Take care of all these things. Because you are not like a lord at all, but like an adventurer, you can only solve these things at once when you remember that you are a lord."

"Oh, I knew it was not that easy for Neil to let me come here." Sean said in a bit of pain and helplessness, "You know I'm here this time to meet with the people in the Heerson Institute and have a discussion..."

Before Shaun finished speaking, Hela spoke: "Magic Technology has been successfully developed, but it is not enough if you want to meet your miniaturization requirements. The Heerson Institute said that you have a lot of strangeness. Thoughts and theoretical knowledge have given them a lot of room for improvement, so they will do their best to help you solve these things, just as the cost of buying your knowledge."

"If there is no way to miniaturize, there is no way to use it in the new generation of impact shield technology." Sean frowned and said, "Now every time the impact shield is turned on and off, it is a consumption of life. If the battle is fierce, there is no way to use an impact shield several times. This will always be a bottomless pit for military expenditure....and..."

"The research work on the Magic Cannon has come to an end." Hela knew what Shaun wanted to say, so he simply told the result.

"Really?" Xiao En's eyes suddenly lit up, "This is good news!... Then there is..."

"The development of the Magic Charger has also been completed. It is currently in the testing phase, but it is not stable enough." Hela continued, "But... if you want to force open the underground passage of the Gorge Fortress, there is no problem. However, according to the energy evaluation, the safest and most stable channel can only enter two people, after which the power components need to be replaced and recharged."

"Where is the time?"

"The slowest ten years, the fastest... temporarily unable to evaluate." Hela put down the documents in hand, and then pulled out one of the documents, checked it before answering.

This time, Sean did not go to the trouble of the Fascist Kingdom with William, but ran to the Wildlands. It was because I heard that several main factions of the Helson Institute had come here and were studying the previous Sean. The magic technology topics mentioned. Although from the current situation, the first-generation Magic Technology power machine is still in a relatively large-scale structure and cannot be directly applied to some small devices, it is no problem to develop the magic gun and use it as some power machine.

In Sean's concept, the newly built defensive functional fortresses in the Wildlands must basically be equipped with magic cannons, and the defense mechanism of the fortress should also use magic power machines as the source of power, which can greatly reduce too much Troops, so as to implement a real sharpening.

certainly. Magic cannons can still be used to threaten the army, but for the powerhouses above the legend, the threat is not high, and even worse than the seventh or eighth level army.

As for the development of the underground world channel left over from the underground research room that was established during the cooperation between the Millennium Covenant Empire and the Kingdom of Darbion, it was because of Harding and Rorty Kabas. Sean had promised them. One day they will return to the underground world dignifiedly. So now that he has this opportunity, of course he will not break his promise.

It's just that Harding, the Lord of the Demons, is the only one who is still in the Void Duchy.

Rotti Kabas has not returned since he went out to find the remains of the riding  a few years ago, and even the information connection has been completely interrupted. No one knows whether he is alive or dead. Harding thought that Rorty Kabas was dead, but the Void Duchy still acquiesced that he was still alive. He did not cancel his status in the Void Principality.

"Can the magic gun be used in actual combat?" Sean asked.

"Five doors have been developed. It is now handed over to Lord William, who is responsible for the actual test this time." Hela said.

"Hey, the Kingdom of Fascism has given us so many gifts one after another. This time it is time for us to give back and give them some surprises." Sean chuckled softly, "By the way... Alyssa, take it. She has a very special weapon called the Magic Gun. It is very close to the technology principle of the Magic Gun that I designed before. It can even be said that it surpasses it at some levels. It should be given to Haier. The Mori Research Institute is very helpful to the miniaturization of Magic Technology."

"I see." Hela nodded, "In addition, I have received information about the Void Realm. As Lord William had expected before, the countries in the other three regions of the Wildlands are a little bit ready to move, and seem to intend to take advantage of it. When Lord William left, he invaded the savage land."

"So how are you preparing?" Xiao En has already begun to look through the batch of documents that Hella just brought out. It is probably different from the previous batch, which is just a look and understand. There are indeed many files in the new batch. All need him to review and give instructions, which will undoubtedly increase the workload of Sean, "When William left, he said that all the defenses and arrangements here are left to you."

"Basically prepared, but if there are too many powerful players, then my arrangements will not help."

"Don't worry." Sean nodded slightly, "After Alexis finishes the matter on the side of Deaththorn, I will come to support you."

"Actually, speaking of this, I don't understand." Hela frowned. "It doesn't matter if you go to war with the Kingdom of Fascism. Why do you want to provoke death at the same time? I think we can wait until the Kingdom of Fascism is defeated. Trouble with death thorns."

"It doesn't make sense." Sean shook his head, "Deaththorn those guys, once they find out that we are at war with the Fascist Kingdom, they will definitely know that I am revenge on the Peace Council... But I want to establish an empire, and there is indeed a problem with the Peace Council. The contradiction of the negotiation, anyway, the result is that Deaththorn will definitely turn into a more hidden state, and it will be even harder for me to find their troubles. It is better to let Alexis destroy the Deaththorn branch now, directly Completely remove the dead thorn force from the southern continent."

"Then if this is the case..."

Shaun knew what Hella wanted to say, so he took the words: "Clean up the dead thorns first, and then go to clean up the fascist kingdom?"

Hella nodded.

"The same is true. There are some evidences that expired and cannot be used to speak." Xiao En said lightly, "You should see this more clearly than William."

Hella thought for a while, and immediately understood: "I know... Those guys from the Peace Council, this time because they really owe us, and they don't want to make trouble with us, so they will let us appropriately. Only by taking this opportunity to send troops can we completely eliminate the Fascist Kingdom in one fell swoop. When the Peace Council discovers our intentions, they will basically be unable to prevent the Fascist Kingdom from destroying the country."

"It's not that I don't want to die with us, but..." Sean thought for a while, but he couldn't find a good word to explain the obvious division in the Peace Parliament. "Forget it, it's good for us anyway. And you can also test the power of the magic cannon, there is nothing wrong with it."

Hella nodded, although she didn't understand why Sean didn't say half of it, but she didn't want to find the truth, so she turned and left. But when he was about to leave the house, he turned his head and said to Xiao En, "By the way, I almost forgot one thing, it was a subpoena that I just received today."

"What's up?"

"The Darkmoon Spear Knights of the Twilight Church have left the royal capital of the Kingdom of Line and are now coming to the Void Duchy. They have contacted Neil and will arrive at the fortress in the Gorge in one month at the latest." Ra spoke again, "Neil meant that after you have settled this matter quickly, go back and receive it."

"Twilight Church?" Sean was taken aback for a moment, "Is it Elsie?... Hey, this guy is a little bit interesting, it really made him come out."

"Is it your old friend again?" Hela asked when Sean was so happy.

"Well, a friend who has known each other for a long time." Xiao En smiled.
