

Lord of War Vol 4-81

Chapter 81: .Visitors

Greyen is the only prince that Shaun has never seen.

He is not the youngest son of the predecessor King Rhine, but he can definitely be regarded as the most talented son. Because as early as when Adams, Arlan and others had not returned to the royal capital, and Vulcis was only a royal lady in the royal capital, he had already begun to participate in some domestic politics.

I don't care how many projects I participated in, but the bad blood project is really impressive.

Perhaps it was in this state that Grain developed the idea that he believed that the throne was none other than him.

So the sudden emergence of Adams, Arlan, and Frheis all came to compete for the heir to the throne, which really made Grain angry. It's just that he did not express this anger, but began to plan the timing of his rise, and in the process, his performance also appeared very mediocre. This move did make his sense of existence become thinner. , So that neither Arlan, Adams, nor even Vulhis really regarded Grain as a competitor.

So, in this case, many details are not paid attention to.

For example, Adams was dispatched on behalf of the Kingdom of Lane to assist in the crusade against the undead army. Many people think that it is the result of the first cooperation between Arlan and Frcis. But in fact, it is Grain that really fuels the flames behind the scenes-it is impossible to find this trace with Arlan's shrewdness, but Arlan is blinded by his own arrogance, thinking that Grain is only standing by choice. Reduce the interests of competitors.

Grain is indeed reducing competitors, but Adams is just his first goal.

After , the contradiction between Arlan and Frches intensified, and Grain's handwriting was indispensable. It was only what made Grenn unexpected, but it was Fulhes who was subdued and was willing to support Arlan, which really disrupted Grenn's plan. It's just that with Grain's character, he didn't give up directly, but chose to continue to forbear.

At this time, Sean sent troops to the Kingdom of Fascism, and also invited the Kingdom of Lane to send troops to fight together.

So this opportunity once again became Grain's conspiracy plan: He promoted the determination of the Kingdom of Lane to send troops. Originally, I wanted to make trouble on the battlefield and defeat the army of the Kingdom of Ryan. As a result, Arlan, who advocates sending troops, must bear a large part of the responsibility, as well as Frcis, who is an ally of Arlan, also be implicated. It is undoubtedly a good use point for Grain's rise.

It's just that no one thought that the Peace Council had actually stepped in, and it was still before Grain's defeat plan was implemented.

So, as the main person in charge of the war, Arlan, who has also been appointed as the next king of the Kingdom of Ryan, naturally wanted to attend the Libra Conference. As for Grain, from the beginning, he did not intend to let Arlan come back alive, otherwise he would find Arlan's return route without being so precise, and executed the assassination plan perfectly-all of Arlan's response fell into Grain. This is obviously not a temporary intention, but a plan that has been considered for a long time.

So the result is that Arlan died, and Adams probably couldn't escape death. The only remaining Vulhis basically has no resistance. Her Royal Highness is not known for military and political abilities, if it weren't for Asuna and others. Support, she doesn't even have the ability to compete for the throne. Therefore, for Grain, it is not Fulcis that is really threatening, but the Marquis of Floris and Grand Duchess Asuna G. Evans, who have the nickname "King's Hidden Dagger".

Once the assassination plan for Arlan is executed, Grenn must also control Floris and Asuna.

Originally, in Grain's plan, all the links and omissions have been calculated. It is a certainty that he will become the new King of Lane.

But no one thought that something would happen to the Tianping Council!

In the common knowledge of all the people in the entire Marvel Continent, once the Tianping Conference is held, the result will inevitably be that the countries are softened, and any war will end. Moreover, according to the unspoken rules of conventions, countries that have been ordered to cease the war by the Tianping Conference will not be allowed to send troops again within three years, and even domestic military development will be restrained. This aspect will be monitored by the Peace Parliament.

So in Grain's view, the end of the Void Principality must be the honest tortoise retracting into the wilderness.

But the result?

Shaun flipped the chessboard, and the Peace Council was destroyed.

This was not in Grein's expectations at all—in fact, even the crazy people would not have predicted this, and the collapse of the Peace Council would not even dare to imagine. At least, before this incident, no one had ever thought about destroying the Peace Parliament: it's not that no one has done it in history, but no one has ever succeeded. The worst loss to the Peace Parliament was probably seven. The Great Empire took the lead in a joint attack.

But the result only greatly hurt the peace council's vitality, and did not shake its foundation.

Because of this, many people have no idea how the Void Lord defeated the Peace Council.

And when Grain received the news, his actions had already begun, and it was impossible to stop at this time, because Arlan was already dead, and the encirclement nets besieging Frches, Rena, and others. Has been unfolded. Unless he is willing to abandon the throne that is already at his fingertips, he can only go one way to the black, so he has to bite the bullet and continue the siege without turning back.

is just a strategy, with a slight change.

It is precisely because of this that Asuna was able to survive—in the original plan, the Principality of Garrod was not a territory that should be independent.

Greyen, indeed, as Shaun expected, was testing the response of the Void Duchy.

.....

"The Void Principality has taken action." In the study where Arlan often stays, Black Hawk kneels in the middle with a respectful look. "The four giants of the Void have all started to move. The whereabouts of Diana, the diplomat, is unknown, but There are at least six Void Dark Blade guards around him, and the move that can be guessed is to go to the territory of the Duke of Tequila or the Marquis of Rome; Neil, the interior officer, has also begun to mobilize materials. The transfer of materials in the Void Duchy has been very frequent in the past seven days. On the surface, it appears to be transporting supplies to the three front lines, but in fact, according to our analysis, it should be preparing for the opening of the fourth battlefield."

"Fourth battlefield, huh." The young man sitting behind the desk is obviously very young in age, at least he will never be more than twenty years old. No one would have thought that he would be in this series. The initiator of the conspiracy, "Does the Void Principality really dare to open up a fourth battlefield?"

"Grand Duke Shaun has at least two super powers." Black Hawk was silent for a moment, and finally sighed helplessly.

Grain's face was gloomy and ugly: "But isn't he now at war with the Kingdom of Fascism? Can he mobilize these super powers to leave? And, the two battlefields in the Wildlands, I'm afraid it's not easy, right? Those  army of undead, why didn't they launch an attack at this time!"

"The battlefield on the side of the Millennium Covenant Empire is now too chaotic. I guess there is no chance to go south at this time." Black Hawk thought for a while, and then said, "But at the moment I am not without hope. On the fascist battlefield, the void is empty. The army of the Principality was dragged down, and the superpowers of Grand Duke Sean did not dare to leave the battlefield at will, otherwise they would certainly not be able to stop the counterattack of the Thorus Fortress of the Fascist Kingdom. Only from the current military situation, our Ryan Kingdom is still relatively good. Dominant."

Grain tapped the desk table top with his right hand, and frowned: "The battlefield on the side of the Fascist Kingdom is in charge of the famous general William?... Then what about the other famous general of the Void Duchy, Hela Garcia?"

"We are fighting against the Allied Forces of the Six Nations that invaded the Wildlands, but she changed her defensive posture and took the initiative to attack. Obviously, she wanted to stabilize the battlefield behind the Wildlands." Black Hawk glanced at the intelligence record in her hand, and then He opened his mouth and replied, "At present, there should not be many troops that the Void Principality can mobilize. According to the information I have received, the mobile infantry regiment of the Void Principality is the first to be launched. It is now close to the Tonis Fortress; the follow-up troops are of the Void Principality. The Second Infantry Regiment, it is said that the wild fortress that has been occupied by the Void Principality also has traces of troop mobilization, but I guess it should not be the main force."

"Are there any more real information?"

"Then wait a few more days. Since the outbreak of the war, the Void Realm has already begun operations. Almost all the intelligence personnel arranged by the Marquis of Floris in the Void Duchy have been eliminated." Black Hawk said helplessly. , "The remaining people who have not been purged should be the direct line of the hidden dagger. I can't control it, so there will be some trouble in the transmission of intelligence."

"If it weren't for the destruction of the Peace Council..." Grain's expression became more and more ugly, "Is there anyone in this world that Sean's mad dog dare not bite? This  mad dog! And Yass. Na, that idiot! If it weren't that idiot, how could we, Ryan, cultivated a wolf by ourselves? I knew that this mad dog had no sense of awe at all, and we should try our best to stop him from growing! Damn! Damn! Damn!"

"Master Grain, please calm down." Black Hawk said in a deep voice, "Now we have not lost. As long as the battlefield on the fascist kingdom side is not defeated at once, then we still have hope of fighting. And most importantly. Yes, Grand Duke Sean must be here for Grand Duke Asuna. As long as Grand Duke Asuna is still in our hands, we are eligible to negotiate with Grand Duke Sean, at least he dare not make a single bet."

Hostage, this is also an important reason why Grenn captures Asuna alive.

In fact, if it hadn't been for Vivian's death, Grain would have much more chips now. But it's a pity that Vivienne is obviously not a person who is easy to surrender. She would rather die than be a prisoner, so in the face of such a tricky enemy, even Grenn dare not keep the slightest hand. . The only thing that made Grain upset was that the Marquis of Floris, Elizabeth, and Frches all escaped.

"Continue to increase our efforts, and we must find Vulchys, Elizabeth, and Vulchys!" Grain said coldly, "How is the connection with the surrounding kingdoms?"

"Currently only the Principality of Robin has responded."

"Try to talk again." Grain did not ask what the content of the response was, but he believed that the Black Hawk would definitely be able to handle these things, "So, what is the Void Lord doing now?"

"I don't know..." Black Hawk smiled helplessly. "I thought he was still on the fascist battlefield, but... after sacrificing a lot of manpower to investigate, I discovered that Sean had already left the fascist battlefield at all. I know where I've been, and I haven't even leaked any news.... I guess this should be the top secret of the Void Principality, and only those high-level core personnel know it."

"You mean, there is no way to detect it, right?"

"Yes." Black Hawk nodded.

"How is Asuna now?" Grain asked.

"Grand Duke Asuna's injury has been stabilized, but in order to prevent her from being troubled, some special methods have been adopted." Black Hawk said, "However, the doctor has already said that this tranquilizer seems to be somewhat special. Side effects, if you use them too much... there are likely to be some side effects."

"As long as she doesn't die, it's fine." Grain said coldly, "As for whether she becomes a fool or disabled, it doesn't matter to us."

Black Hawk opened his mouth, as if he was going to say something, but in the end he still didn't say anything.

As Grain waved his hand, Black Hawk knew that this time the conversation was over.

After turning around and leaving the study, Grain thought for a while, but gave up his plan to see Asuna. He knew that at the moment Asuna was being held in the dungeon of the castle, where the royal escape was secreted. Although it was possible to pass through as he was unimpeded, he did not think of a reason to see Asuna. And most importantly, he still has a lot of work to complete, and the most urgent thing is to find out where the Void Grand Duke Sean Connery is at this time.

Judging from the intelligence detected by the sacrificed manpower, the mysterious Grand Duke seems to have disappeared for almost ten days.

How far can you go in ten days?

Others may not know it, but Sean has already penetrated into the kingdom of Lane at this moment, and his position at this moment is not outside the Great Wall, but in Sené-St. Drone, who is also known as the Horn of Lane along with the Fortress of Tonys. Fortress.

Chapter 82: .Meet Roald

St. Drones Fortress is a military fort built when the Kingdom of Lane was founded.

At the very beginning, the scale of this fortress was not that big, it was just the most conventional standard fortress, and its defense strength has always been a defect of this fortress. This defect was used by the Millennium Covenant Empire in the war in which the Millennium Covenant Empire invaded the Kingdom of Lane, and became the most direct and straightforward breach.

So when the Shield of Lion, known as the "Holy Wall", Roald settled in this fortress and became the highest commander of the fortress, the expansion, repair and improvement of the fortress became a top priority. These secret work continued for nearly ten years before finally transforming the Fortress of St. Drones into a real empire-level fortress. Although it is still the lowest standard of the empire-level fortress, it is better than the original in terms of defense strength. When it is much stronger.

Asuna's childhood was spent in the ten years of fortress expansion, repair, and improvement, and she finally developed her current character and abilities.

It can be said that Saint Wallold G. Evans is the real enlightenment of Asuna.

If there is no later story, then Asuna will inevitably become the next master of this fortress-the entire Evans family has moved away from the extravagant capital and moved to this bitter cold land. Although there is no public statement in Lane, in fact, all the nobles secretly know that the authority of the frontier duke is extremely heavy, and no one can challenge the status of the frontier duke except the sword of Lane, let alone hold Iraq. Vance forced to leave the fortress.

Therefore, anyone who takes over the position of the head of the Evans family is the consciousness of the new owner of this fortress and takes root in the minds of all Lane nobles.

But destiny always likes to make jokes with people.

So Asuna left here when she was an adult, relying on her own efforts to lay a foundation larger than Evans-the first Grand Duke in the history of the Evans family to obtain the right to establish an independent nation. Continue to develop according to this route, as long as the descendants of Asuna work hard enough, plus a little luck and timing, then the Evans family can also become a new royal family on the Marvel Continent.

Since Asuna became Grand Duke Garrod, she has always been the object of worship by countless women in the entire Ryan aristocratic circle, and the object of countless men's admiration, and of course the envy of many aristocratic families. Even since Asuna established the Tonis Fortress, the disagreement between the Evans family and Asuna has finally loosened slightly. For Asuna, she finally doesn't need to sneak up on her own. Father contacted.

can be just like that old saying.

"Fate always likes to make jokes".

Now, Asuna has become a prisoner of the Kingdom of Lane, and has even been accused of "poisoning the prince, murdering His Royal Highness Adams, assassinating Prince Arlan, manipulating Princess Fulhis, taking the royal family of Lane, conspiring to seize the Kingdom of Lane" and many other crimes.

As a result, the former female grandfather has now become a humble person who is scorned by everyone. The people of the Ryan Kingdom even made a very high call for conquest of the Principality of Garrod. Of course, there are some nobles who fan the flames. Under this situation, the Evans family naturally dismissed their relationship for the first time and announced that they had no relationship with Asuna G. Evans.

If it weren't for Sean to act immediately after receiving the news of Asuna's accident, plus the news that the Peace Council is now destroyed is no longer an April Fool's rumors, otherwise, I'm afraid Ryan's army has been stationed in Canada at this moment. Simi from the Principality of Rhodes started a confrontation.

.....

Roald G. Evans, now the patriarch of the Evans family, is also the riser of the Evans family.

For the entire Evans family, Roald's hard work is beyond anyone's imagination. Many people only know that he was already a real earl when he became the patriarch of the Evans family. How big is the gap between nobles and powerful nobles, not to mention how difficult it is to climb from earl to marquis. If Roald hadn't shown his amazing talent and hard work when he was young, he would not have been deployed to the Fortress of St. Drones, and he would have been unable to become a powerful marquis of high authority.

As for the duke nowadays, in fact, it has little meaning.

Because the Kingdom of Lane had not been upgraded at that time, it was still the duchy under the Millennium Covenant Empire, so the title could only reach the Marquis. But in terms of actual performance, the Lion's Shield has actually been able to become a Duke long ago-his performance can never be lower than his own daughter, but it is only because of some special reasons that he has achieved it. The reputation of Grand Duke Asuna.

Roald is now over fifty years old, but in fact he does not appear to be very old at all. On the contrary, perhaps because of better maintenance, he looks more like a 30-something. Mature man to forty years old. Of course, the powerful vitality fluctuations exuding in his body is another strong proof that he can maintain his youth-this is a person who has stepped into the realm of the sanctuary.

As long as there are no accidents, it is not a problem to protect the entire Evans family for hundreds of years.

But only a few people found out that since Asuna was arrested, Roald's temples have turned pale, and his brows have been frowned.

At this time in the corridor on the second floor of the mansion, Roald was walking side by side with a middle-aged man who looked approximately seventy-seven similar.

It is guessed from the appearance that this middle-aged man should be Roald's heir.

The two seemed to be discussing something, and from time to time they could see the face of the middle-aged man next to Roald showing dissatisfaction. But the difference is that even if the middle-aged man faced Roald, he didn't show respect. On the contrary, he had been fighting for reasons, which made Roald's expression quickly reveal his dissatisfaction.

Some of the maids cleaning up next to them, when they saw the father and son from a distance, they had already retreated.

Although they don't hear clearly, they also know that these words are not what they can hear.

In the home of the Evans family, all servants will undergo pre-training and get qualified evaluation before admission. Therefore, they all know what their first priority needs to be dealt with in what kind of situation, and there will never be any people with many tongues and ears. However, it is precisely because of this that, to a large extent, the Evans family has cultivated the atmosphere of discussion and argument no matter when and where, even whether these topics are classified or not.

Soon, the father and son came to the door of a room. The discussion between the two remained the same, but when Roald reached out to touch the doorknob, his voice stopped suddenly.

The son standing by, immediately realized the problem, but he did not stop his voice, as if he was still talking.

But Roald shook his head: "It's useless, the other party has found us."

After that, the door has been opened.

The layout of the room is very simple. Except for the bookshelves and the books filled with bookshelves, there is almost nothing superfluous. There are even a few tables and chairs. Obviously this is a relatively private study. . Because all the books in the study have obvious signs of use, many of them are even manuscripts and dilapidated ancient books, and it can be seen that people who read the books obviously cherish these books.

In the round table in the room, sitting a young black-haired young man, who looked at a manuscript with no one else, seemed to be attracted by the story inside, and did not notice the entry of Roald and his son. From time to time, he could see the young man reaching out and picking up the tea cup next to him, and then taking a sip. Roald could tell at a glance that the tea cup was filled with his private collection of dragon head fruit tea.

This person is naturally Sean who sneaked into the Fortress of St. Drones secretly.

"Who are you!" Roald's son took a step forward, his eyes sharp as an eagle.

Roald glanced at his son, did not speak, but his gaze at Sean also became serious. He does not dare to say that his fortress defense layout is indestructible, but at least he is worthy of the word "strict", especially in the area where his mansion is located. In addition to the multi-line cross patrol covering the whole area, almost every A monitoring point has at least three dark whistles to form a cross-monitoring perspective.

But even so, he was invaded so quietly, which made Roald feel a chill in his back.

He has recognized the identity of the other party.

The Grand Duke of the Void Duchy, Sean Connery.

Roald also knew that his son had actually recognized the identity of the other party, just as the other party had found them standing outside the door when sitting in the room. But his own son still wants to ask about the identity of the other party, as if this will allow him to gain momentum.

Thinking of this, Roald shook his head helplessly: After all, his son is still not as grand and courageous as his daughter. He stretched out his hand to prevent his son from further questioning. In the current situation, this kind of action had no other effect besides appearing naive.

"If I had known that Lord Void was visiting, I would definitely be out of the city to greet him." Roald said with an angry smile.

At this moment, although the Kingdom of Lane and the Void Principality are at odds with each other-even if Sean unscrupulously allows the army to approach Tonis Fortress, at least the two sides have not officially teared their faces on diplomatic occasions, so the two sides can still be regarded as "Oneself". Especially with Sean's status as the Grand Duke, which is half a level higher than that of Roald's Duke, so it is natural for Roald to speak politely first.

"It's okay." Sean closed the book, then looked up at Roald, with a deep smile on his face, "This is the eldest son of the Duke, right? He is young and promising."

"Haha, you are still not as good as the Grand Duke." Roald smiled modestly, "You must know that you are a few years younger than my son, but you are already a grand prince of a country. He is just a viscount with a false title now. That's it."

"Well, the spirit is there, but the courage is still lacking." Sean glanced at Roald's eldest son, that is, Asuna's brother, and smiled, "If you polish it well, the Evans family will count. Can't go further in his hands, at least it's not going to decline."

"What did you say!" Hearing such straightforward criticism from Sean, Roald's eldest son immediately became angry.

"What is your attitude!" Roald yelled angrily.

"My father, now the Void Principality sends troops to invade. This is already a kind of betrayal. You don't need to be so polite." Roald's eldest son didn't have the slightest fear, but retorted, "What's more, this person is sneaking in. Come to our mansion, who knows if the other party is the Void Lord. We don't even know the other party's intention..."

"I'm here because of Asuna G. Evans." Sean glanced at the young man, but only swiped his gaze back to Roald, and interrupted him.

And Roald, as understood from Sean's eyes, Sean did not put his son in his eyes. It can even be said that in the eyes of Xiao En at this moment, his son is no longer a concern. Apart from his youthful spirit, he does not know how to be flexible at all, let alone understand the rules of communication in the aristocratic circle, just keep it simple. In other words, he can only be an aristocrat who guards the border. Once he goes to a place like the capital, he will probably be eaten so much that there is no scum left.

"Asuna? She is no longer a member of our Evans family, she..."

"Retreat." Roald finally revealed the majesty of the patriarch of the Evans family.

"My father..."

"I told you to retreat." Roald said in a deep voice, his attitude has become obviously tough, "I am now commanding you as the head of the Evans family, not your father.... Before you officially became Before the patriarch of the Evans family, don't forget what you should do now."

gritted his teeth, this middle-aged man, who was seven-point similar to Roald, finally nodded in silence, then turned and left.

"Just made you laugh, Grand Duke Sean."

"Is this the next patriarch who is going to replace Asuna to take over the Evans family?" Xiao En laughed, but the content of the words was not polite. Is the Vance family buried completely?"

Roald fell into silence and did not answer Sean's question.

However, Sean didn't seem to really want to ask for the result. After seeing Roald's silence, Sean said again: "He doesn't seem to convince you."

"Atos, he won't convince anyone but himself." Roald shook his head, "I know his flaws, but he is the most suitable person to inherit the Evans family besides Asuna. Only by him can the Evans family continue to live here on the border and grow without any worries.... If I must answer, then the next generation of the Evans family will completely abandon the royal aristocratic circle."

Xiao En glanced at the closed door, and said softly: "He doesn't seem to be a good obedient person."

"Indeed." Roald nodded.

"Don't you worry that this will compromise your fortress military strength?" Xiao En laughed.

Roald did not speak to answer this question, but looked at Sean with a smile, which let Sean know that Roald obviously wanted to test his own strength. If you want to go deeper, of course, Sean can also understand the other party's approach. After all, after directly sneaking into the other party's base camp, like entering the back garden of no man's land, if he changes his nest to be invaded in this way, Shaun might not be able to sit and chat so quietly.

"Ulamog, trouble you." Shaun said, "Just a little bit of a lesson, don't go too far."

"Follow your instructions, sir." Ulamog bowed and saluted to Sean.

At this time, Roald discovered that there was a person standing behind Sean, but neither he nor his son Athos actually noticed it! What's even more incredible is that with Ulamog's departure, a giant black and silver wolf suddenly stood up, which gave Roald a little illusion: Is this really in his study?

"Okay, let's talk about business now." Sean said with a smile, and brought Roald's attention back.

"Cough."

Roald coughed slightly to conceal his awkwardness. He glanced at the old man who had left with the giant wolf. His eyes were extremely complicated. Just now, he could not feel the strength of the opponent at all. It was obvious. Prove that the strength of the opponent is absolutely above oneself.

However, this embarrassment quickly disappeared. After condensing his mind, he looked at Xiao En and said, "I know what you are here."

Chapter 83: . People with good heart

"Oh?" Sean smiled unabated, "Then Lord Roald, please tell me what I'm here for."

"You are here to ask about Grand Duke Asuna, my attitude is correct?" Roald looked at Sean, and said calmly.

Sean is noncommittal.

"My attitude is very simple. I will always stand in the position of the royal family." Roald said, ignoring the changes in Sean's face. "I am a guardian who is crowned by the ancestor and has the mission of guarding the stability of the Kingdom of Ryan. Facts. It's not just me, including Duke Devon and many others, with this attitude."

Xiao En's brows frowned involuntarily: "Even if it is said to be foolish and loyal?"

"Yes." Roald nodded, then laughed, "I once swore an oath before the throne, then I would still be a knight."

The oath of the knight is an unbreakable ancient power. This power is as stable as a soul contract, and it is a content that every knight must abide by throughout his life. Just as Sean was at ease with Rina, it was precisely because Rina had made a knight oath to Sean that belonged to her: never betrayed Sean and the descendants of Sean's blood.

Once such a knight's oath is violated, the knight who swears will be suppressed by the will of the world, not to mention whether he can break through the realm smoothly in the future, even his own power will begin to show a state of attenuation. Therefore, once the oath is taken, no knight will be willing to break his oath—this is also the reason why all the lords and emperors of the Marvel Continent will trust the knight so much.

Whether it is the violent Devon hidden in his temperament, or the other line talents who were once called pillars by King Ryan VI, they are all people who have taken the knightly oath before the king. Precisely because of this, even if they have any defects, that Ryan VI will reuse them without any scruples. Similarly, it is precisely because these people have never violated their vows that their strength has been able to rise steadily.

Especially after annexing the Kingdom of Darbion and seizing the power of this country, the growth rate of these people became more obvious.

"But Asuna is your daughter..." Sean said, still trying to reverse Roald's position.

Roald shook his head: "She is my daughter, but I am more than one daughter."

This time, it was Sean's turn to be silent.

He had heard what Roald meant: Between the family and Asuna, the father undoubtedly chose the former. Although Sean can understand this approach, after being the patriarch of a large family, many times he must consider the interests of the entire family group; but being able to understand does not mean that Sean can accept it. Perhaps it is a different thinking. , Xiao En felt that if his daughter had this situation, then he would definitely declare war at all costs.

At this moment, Sean suddenly understood why Asuna was so determined to make Fulhis king.

Because she really knows her father too well, if the royal family has an order to pass, then she and her father must meet each other. This is very cruel to Asuna. After all, Roald is not only Asuna's biological father, but also her enlightenment teacher. It can be said that the relationship between their father and daughter is deeper than outsiders imagined. .

Sean believed that if Roald were not the patriarch of the Evans family now, he would definitely not allow Asuna to become a prisoner.

Thinking of this, Sean couldn't help but look at Roald seriously, and then quickly discovered the whiteness of Roald's temples. As a powerful sanctuary strong man, and also a strong man who has also begun to attack the legendary realm, it is impossible for Roald to have this kind of aging phenomenon, but now there is actually a aging of white temples. Phenomenon, this can only prove that Roald is really in a state of exhaustion.

"I understand." Sean nodded, expressing understanding.

"His Royal Highness, it is more cunning and difficult than it seems to be." Roald looked at Sean, and then suddenly laughed. "The assassination of His Royal Highness Arlan, I am afraid that no one can except find Miss Vannie. I know the truth. Because the battlefield has been cleaned up very clean, no clues can be found at all, but what is certain is that there are definitely many legendary powerhouses fighting out there."

Shaun's pupils shrank suddenly, and his face showed a little surprise: "Many legendary powerhouses?... Fannie, Elizabeth, Lauren, aren't there only these three in the Ryan Kingdom? If you don't count Elizabeth, you can really be The only legendary powerhouses known as the pillars of the Kingdom of Lane are Lauren, the vow knight who is next to His Royal Highness Adams, and Fannie, the elven Swordsman who is next to His Royal Highness Arlan."

"Didn't I just say it? His Royal Highness Grain is very cunning." Roald smiled slightly, "Knowing that his brothers and sisters have the support of legendary powerhouses, what gave him so With great confidence to participate in this dangerous game for the throne?... In the bad blood plan that year, he gathered a large number of people. How can you ensure that there are no people with outstanding talents and potential among these people?"

Hearing Roald's words, Sean's first reaction was impossible.

If he does not know the concept of the so-called "national spirit", then he might believe it. But since he got the idea about this concept from Levy, Sean knew one thing very clearly: Even if a country is annexed, it is impossible to fully acquire the country's heritage in a short period of time, but needs A relatively slow development period can then gradually reflect the foundation and standards of the corresponding major powers.

After Ryan annexed Darbion, it took a full eight years to develop before he has the current power and strength.

But Darbion's aura was not completely captured by Ryan, but divided into three parts, which were captured by the Void Duchy, the Kingdom of Ryan, and the Duchy of Garrod. Although it is said that Qi Yun is vague, it is very difficult to define and accurately calculate, but the Ryan Kingdom has almost reached a relative development limit because of the direct possession of two legendary powerhouses, not to mention the royal remnants of Dabian. wipe out.

unless...

"Greyen subdued the remnants of the Darbion royal family?" Sean asked tentatively.

Roald smiled and did not speak.

"In that case, there are at least two of Grain's...no, they are three legendary powerhouses." Xiao En suddenly found that his thinking began to become clearer, and many areas that were slightly vague before became clearer. Get up, "Since the Black Hawk is not dead, he must also be a legendary powerhouse now, so he can accept all the underground industries of the Marquis of Floris, because those guys are a group of unruly people, they only believe in And follow the strong."

"The other thing is the remnants of the Kingdom of Darbion... They surrendered to Grain, so they also gave Grain the last bit of royal aura that belonged to them. This is the reason why Grain can grow faster than other members of the royal family. , Combined with the growth and development of the Lion Kingdom over the years, there must be a legendary strong under Grenn, and there must be a legendary strong on the remnant party of the Darbion Kingdom. Otherwise, there is no way to even talk to Grenn. I don't have any confidence."

"So... Simi is very dangerous now!"

Roald was stunned for a moment, and a glimmer of light flashed in his eyes. He didn't expect that he could make Sean think of so many things just by mentioning a sentence, and even said some things he hadn't considered before. . Originally, Roald was more inclined to comment on Shaun, the Void Archduke, saying that "Shaun can only develop by relying on his followers and that * luck", but Now after the actual contact, Roald discovered that this was not a good luck at all.

"Then I have one last question." Sean said.

"Speaking."

"Why tell me this?" Sean asked, "Since you are a royalist, then you should know what I am going to do next."

"I'm just loyal to the royal family of Ryan." Roald replied with a smile, "Aren't we still allies now?"

Sean was taken aback for a moment, and then he realized what Roald meant in his words. He stood up, then bowed and saluted, not as the Void Lord, but as Sean Connery: "I understand.... I thought that if this conversation failed, I would probably I want to borrow something from the Lord Duke. It seems that I don't need it anymore. I know how to deal with it."

Roald smiled and stroked his head: "It seems that my head seems to be saved."

"Then, I will leave first." Xiao En smiled and stood up straight.

Ulama also appeared next to Sean, as if he hadn't left since, even Roald didn't know when Ulama came back. Only this time, the exaggerated giant wolf didn't follow Ulamog's side, and the two quickly left the room.

Roald got up and walked to the window, staring at the scenery outside.

The whole mansion still looks calm, there is not the slightest disturbance, let alone the sound of the alarm. Not to mention that Sean and Ulama came in and out like no one else, but Ulama just had trouble finding his son just now without the slightest alarm sounded, Roald felt a sense of powerlessness in his heart.

However, after this sense of powerlessness, it is the fire of struggle that has reignited. Roald has never been so eager to hit the legend for a moment like now: "This old man is not simple, I am afraid it is not the pinnacle of the legend or the super strong. ...That is to say, not counting the goddess officer who can be surrendered and the powerful Valkyrie, the Void Principality now has three super powers. No wonder it dares to challenge the system of the noble code and want to establish an eighth empire. ."

Just when Roald finished feeling, the door of the house was suddenly knocked open, and then the whole mansion also sounded a sirens. Therefore, like a gear in motion, the operation driven by the mansion also made the entire fortress quickly enter a state of martial law. A patrol team immediately rushed to the long-established positions on standby, and some ordinary merchants and civilians in the fortress , Return to their homes in order, and close the door.

The entire Saint Drones Fortress completely showed a scene of steel fangs at this moment.

Roald G. Evans' eldest son, Athos G. Evans rushed in with several guards.

But at this moment, there is no one else in the room except Roald.

"My Father!" Atos said.

"Turn off the alarm." Roald did not turn his head, but judging from the breath radiating from Atos, he knew that his son had indeed been taught a lesson, but the other party did show mercy and did not hurt Athos. The foundation of Si.

"Where is that traitor?" Atos seemed a little reluctant.

"You can't even fight a guard of Lord Void, do you still want to deal with Lord Void?" Roald finally became a little angry. When he turned around, the dual majesty of the superior and the strong on him completely broke out. "I want to start thinking about whether it is appropriate for you to take over as the head of the Evans family."

"My Father!" Atos's face changed slightly.

Roald ignored Atos, and instead waved his hand to signal the guards to leave and turn off the alarm. At this time, these guards finally knew what was going on here, but they could only silently accept this fact—the Evans family's military governance was equally good, and these guards knew that they had seriously neglected their duties, and they even the enemy. I haven't seen it, if this is an assassination...

All the guards dare not continue to imagine, a sense of shame surrounds them.

Of course more, and a sense of powerlessness.

After all the guards had left, Roald looked at his eldest son and said in a deep voice, "You have always felt that you are very talented, so today after seeing this Void Lord who is not even older than you, you still have What do you think?"

Atos may be a little proud, but it does not mean that he is really a stupid person. After calming down at this moment, he naturally discovered a lot of things quickly-if he hadn't observed it as an adversary, even Atos would have to admit that Sean was much better than him. Not to mention the issue of followers, there is a huge gap between the personal strengths of the two sides—now he is still attacking the sanctuary, but Sean is already half-footed into the upper sanctuary.

"Very strong."

"It's not just about personal strength." Roald shook his head. "He doesn't want to be the one who broke the rules."

"Break the rules?" Athos didn't understand, "hasn't he broken a lot of rules?"

"It's the rule of the new era." Roald looked at Atos with a bit of disappointment in his eyes. "In the previous era, there was the suppression of the peaceful parliament. No country dared to launch wars at will. Only after a just posture can a war be launched. Even this war must be announced to give the enemy country sufficient preparation and buffer, especially the more powerful the country is subject to more restrictions."

"But now... the Peace Council has been destroyed, and there is no longer anything in the head of the seven empires that can make them worry about, and even those that are stronger and qualified to attack the empire sequence will no longer have any fear. Mentality. So, what do you think the situation on the entire continent will become under such circumstances?"

"Chaos." Athos suddenly woke up, "The era of chaos is coming again..."

"Yes, the era of chaos is here again." Roald shook his head, "Which country has enough power, then which country has more power to speak. In this case, the seven empires, even those who can The big kingdoms that are on par with the seven empires are very dominant. Nothing else, just because they have superpowers, they are already enough to surpass other countries."

"In the era when the Peace Council was still in existence, the super-powerful could not act at will. They were more of a deterrent force." Atos murmured, "but now... the country with the super-powerful side is facing A country without a superpower has an overwhelming advantage that is absolutely invincible. It only needs to dispatch the superpower, so there is no need to fight even war... This completely changes the current form of warfare!"

"Yes, so Sean is also called the person who pioneered a new era in many countries." Roald nodded, "And we all know that Grand Duke Sean has at least two followers of superpowers. As long as he Send out the super strong, then do you think the Kingdom of Lane can still be blocked?"

Atos was silent.

The answer does not need to be answered by him. As long as the super power is allowed to directly take action, no one can stop it at all. And fundamentally eliminate the causes of war, and a war will not be fought. Especially in a world where the Peace Council upholds justice and justice has been lost, the war has even become so straightforward that there is no need for excuses. As long as there are enough benefits, then there is completely the value of launching a war.

"But, why..."

"Because he doesn't want to be the first person to break the rules." Roald knew what his son wanted to ask, "Once this precedent is set, then the whole world will once again return to the chaotic era. This is for the entire wonderland. The original damage is very serious... I think you should know that the shots of the legendary strong and even the super strong will fundamentally destroy the terrain and resources, right? So even if it is Grand Duke Sean, he does not want to do it when it is not necessary. To break this rule."

"Perhaps, in his view, war is just a means to achieve an end. In order to achieve an end, he will use the means of war, but he will never be unscrupulous and unscrupulous, so if it is not necessary, he It won't let the super-powerful enter the battlefield....Similarly, in the conversation just now, I also discovered that he essentially wants to maintain the country's internal independence."

"Isn't this self-contradictory..." Athos couldn't understand Sean's approach.

In fact, not only Atos, no one in this world can understand Sean's approach and meaning.

Because of the nature of facts, it is completely different from what these people imagined.

Sean, is the son of the plane.

War is indeed only one of his means, but it is not the ultimate goal. His real ultimate goal is to protect the origin of this world from being overly plundered and destroyed. For this, he needs a position and background that allows him to have a large enough right to speak.

Of course, if necessary, Sean doesn't mind using the super power.

He is not that kind of pedantic and ignorant person.

Only right now, he really can't tune out the super strong, and Asuna is still in Grain's hands. Shaun can't guarantee that Grain won't die, so Shaun doesn't mind spending more time solving the problem until Asuna is safe.

"Ulamog, you go back and tell William that there is a big problem in Garrod Principality, and then take my token to Garrod Principality to find Simi to help her resolve the civil strife in Garrod Principality." After leaving the fortress of St. Drones, Sean said to Ulamog, "Then maintain the military action state of confrontation with the Kingdom of Lane, do not attack for the time being, and at the same time immediately support the Duchy of Garrod."

"Then what about you?" Ulamog took the token from Sean and said hesitantly, "If I'm not by your side..."

"It's okay." Xiao En said softly, "You are too strong, you are like lights wherever you go, and you can't hide your intentions from investigating. Now I don't want to reveal your identity and strength, so if I act alone, it will be even better. It's more convenient. Especially... I have to find Elizabeth and the others before the guys in the Lane Kingdom. Besides, if I have anything urgent, I will definitely contact you. Your portal is not a display."

Hearing Sean say this, Ulamog hesitated for a while, and then nodded: "Okay....Then, I will leave the Void Tooth to you."

As Ulamog's words fell, the black and silver wolf that Roald had seen before stepped out of the air.

This giant wolf stands up to a height of almost two meters, with a pure body length of more than three meters, and its tail is also nearly a meter long. The whole body of the giant wolf is silvery white, but the back is black, and the head cover is also black, but it presents a hard structure similar to a crystal. In addition, there is a ring of black mane on the four legs. It seems to be walking on a black flame. The eyes are purple-red, with two exposed white saber teeth, and the tail is dyed with black and silver. It looks hairy but in fact it is all sharp needle-like hairs.

This special beast possesses a combat power that is not weaker than that of the legendary powerhouse. It can freely shuttle through the shadow plane, the chaos plane and the normal material plane.

In the process of shuttle, it is immune to all forms of attack methods, and at the same time, it can avoid the detection of perception ability below the legend. The reason why Sean and Ulamog entered the Fortress of St. Drones as if they were in the land of no one was that the shadow barrier created by the Fang of Void protected the direct shuttle entry. Of course, this was also because the Fortress of St. Drones did not Strong enough to discover the structure of the Void Tooth or the reason for the existence of special props.

Sean stretched out his hand and patted the head of Void Tooth, and smiled: "Please give me more advice during this time."

Tooth of Void nudged Shaun with his head.

"It looks like this guy likes you quite a bit." Ulamog smiled, "This way, I'm relieved."

Chapter 84: . Alone action

After Shaun and Ulamog separated, he set foot on the road to Tonys Fortress alone.

The straight-line distance between Fort St. Drones and Fort Tonys is not too far. After all, they are two fortresses called "Lane's Portal" that are horns to each other. But in fact, if the passage between the two fortresses does not take the military route, it will need to bypass several aristocratic territories, which will take about three months longer on the itinerary. Of course, this refers to the regular travel time. If a strong man like Xiao En rushes, it will naturally not take so long.

While taking the military road, the distance between the two fortresses only needs to pass through an empty mountain tunnel, which can be reached within a month. This was originally for the purpose of facilitating the formation of rapid support to each other when the two fortresses were attacked. Therefore, this military road has always been subject to very strict military monitoring and will not be easily used by outsiders. In particular, the owners of these two fortresses belonged to more disciplined people, so it was even less likely that the guards would accept bribes and then let them go.

Sean, of course, will not throw himself into the trap to walk this military channel.

He knew very well that now the spies of the entire Kingdom of Lane were looking for him, and it was precisely because of his disappearance that many decisions of the Kingdom of Lane could not be made. If he suddenly appeared in the kingdom of Lane now, it would be a disadvantage for him. And he also knew that now Elizabeth and the Marquis of Floris could not stay in Tonys Fortress, but they should not be too far away from Tonys Fortress, but even so, I am afraid it is not one to find these two people. Simple things.

Shaun reached out and patted in the air.

This action looks quite neurotic, but only Sean knows that he was patted on the body of Void Fang- this wolf-like guy is quite affectionate to Sean, compared to the one Ulamog summoned before. Chaos Snake and Lion is much better: the combination of lion and python is full of inexplicable hostility towards Sean. If it weren't for the forced suppression by Ulamog, I am afraid that Sean would have been torn into Chaos Snake and Lion long ago. Fragmented.

It was also at that time that Sean knew the true ability of Ulamog.

Ulamog is just like the outfit that Sean has seen, he is a real magician type powerhouse. However, to say that he is a pure magician is also a bit biased. He is just not good at melee combat. Of course, this is compared with the super powers such as Kozilek and Alexis who specialize in melee combat. If it was just a legendary powerhouse of ordinary thirteenth and fourteenth ranks, Ulamog could still be suppressed.

Of course, this refers to a one-to-one situation.

If Ulamog is given ample preparation time, he alone can be equivalent to an extremely powerful and terrifying army. In the words of Alexis, once Ulama is fully prepared, even she will find it very tricky, so she will not confront Ulama who is ready, and once they really have to start a confrontation If so, she would never give Ulama any preparation time.

Not to mention summoning the entire Chaos Legion, even the Seven Thrones would not let him summon it.

The so-called Seven Kings of Thrones are the seven extremely powerful chaotic monsters captured by Ulamog's will: such as chaotic snakes and lions, and fangs of nothingness. The weakest of these seven powerful monsters have the power of a legendary power-under normal circumstances, a magician who specializes in summoning magic can only have one or two legendary powers when he becomes a super power. Contract monsters, even after becoming a super powerhouse, the number of contracts will not exceed three, and even the geniuses among them will mostly only have five.

In addition to the powerful monsters that are difficult to find, the separation of willpower and spirit is also a limiting reason.

Ulamog is able to become a super strong on par with Kozilek, not without reason-his endless will is the most fundamental core, and it is also the source of his power to become a super strong. This is also the real reason why Ulamog can exceed the specifications with seven powerful monsters, while at the same time be able to summon an entire chaos army-and don't forget, Ulamog is not the kind of weak magician itself.

However, there are still weaknesses, at least he can't fight head-on like Kozilek and Ulamog.

The individual combat effectiveness of the Void Fang is not strong. Its real strength lies in hiding its traces, especially once it escapes into the area of the non-material world, no one can perceive its aura. It is very suitable for surprise attacks and ambushes. Considering that Sean's frontal combat ability is not weak, the only thing lacking is this hidden action ability, so Ulamog will leave the Void Fang to Sean.

It's just that even Sean, who has two hearts now, can't stay in the Shadow Plane and Chaos Plane for a long time. One of these two planes has the property of corroding the mind and the other has the property of distorting the body. Once staying in it for a long time, it will be affected by the special abilities of the plane and be completely assimilated into alien creatures, especially Shaun. As the son of the plane of the miracle continent, the erosion of this kind of external force is even more obvious.

In a day, he can probably only hide in one plane for two hours.

So if the two planes alternate, they can only hide for four hours at most.

Considering that the reason for hiding will only happen when his whereabouts are exposed, four hours is enough for Sean to move his position.

In the next few days, Sean was basically on his way, except for necessary rest, he didn't even enter any town.

However, Sean did not find any signs of war in the small towns that he occasionally passed through. It seems that the entire Kingdom of Lane is still immersed in the atmosphere of a peaceful and prosperous age, and he does not know that the armies of the Kingdom of Lane and the Void Principality are in a state of confrontation. As for the civil strife that occurred in the Royal Family of Ryan, it was obvious that these people didn't seem to be clear about it, which made Shaun a little unclear about the current situation of the Kingdom of Ryan.

Sean knew that the basic information circulation in this world relied on the transmission of information from bards and merchants. Unless it was a nobleman, there would be special spy personnel. If it is in a relatively remote area and the merchants have not visited several times a year, then the news is blocked, but these cities close to the two major fortresses of the Kingdom of Lane are all transit points of the supply route, and it is impossible for this to happen. condition.

Unless these merchants are obviously unwilling to disclose anything, so Sean's first reaction is that the upper layers of the Kingdom of Lane are deliberately controlling the transmission of these messages.

But this kind of thing is not without benefits to these business people. After all, in non-war time, supplies generally maintain a relatively average expenditure level. These merchants who have received the news can take this opportunity to buy these wartime emergency supplies: such as food, wine, dried meat, etc. After a relatively difficult period of material poverty during wartime, these materials can be resold at high prices.

"It seems that Ryan has really begun to fall." Sitting in the tavern, Sean showed a disdainful sneer.

A few years ago, when Ryan had not been upgraded and returned to his current state of the kingdom, the entire Principality was in a prosperous state. Even if a war broke out, the mood of the domestic people was very stable, and it could even be said to be agitated. At that time, there was no wartime chaos or escalation of materials. Although public opinion was also controlled to a certain extent, at least the whole The principality still exudes a kind of vitality.

But now, what Shaun saw and heard along the way was completely filled with a decadent, decadent, and depraved aura.

This kind of breath is very similar to the scene that Sean saw when he went to the underground world in his previous life.

It is a false prosperity, and hidden despair and fear.

"Boy, what are you talking about?" A big guy who was a little drunk was unexpectedly sharp, "Ryan is much stronger now than before! What is depravity? Huh, a body as thin as you is. Can you afford a sword? People who don't know anything dare to say these things here."

Sean smiled and did not speak.

But this drunkard still seems to be a little reluctant.

But soon, he was pulled away by his companion. The companion nodded to Sean politely, and said something, which seemed to be explaining something, but because the tavern was too noisy, he didn't hear it clearly.

Shaun glanced at the atmosphere in the tavern. The residents here still maintain a high enthusiasm for life, especially many people are extremely excited about selling the food they have hoarded for a period of time for a good price. , And even encouraged other residents to hurriedly sell food and bacon before the caravan had left.

Of course, it's not someone who doesn't doubt this, after all, it's obviously something wrong to buy such a large amount of food suddenly. However, there are still some people who are skeptical about this. It is just that these people who have already sold things have begun to make up in order to show their intelligence circulation. Some people say that there are nobles who want to hold large banquets, or what they say. There is a carnival in the royal capital.

The words made up by these ignorant people because of their ignorance almost perfectly compensated for the confusion that the entire Kingdom of Lane had faintly begun to produce.

Sean sighed, then raised his head and drank the ale in the glass, then walked to the bar, threw the glass heavily on the bar, and shouted to the boss who was standing behind wiping the glass: "Boss, Another glass of ale mixed with water!"

"Nonsense!" the boss roared furiously, "My old Mike's ale is never mixed with water!"

"Haha." Xiao En laughed, "Then come to the bar with a glass of wine in the water."

The boss raised his brows, but his expression changed very quickly, and his face soon showed a smile: "Haha, kid, you said that well. Dwarves like to listen to this kind of thing, but I am not here. Dwarf Tavern."

murmured, and poured Sean a glass of new ale.

And Sean also smiled and put down a few copper coins, raised his head and drank the ale in one breath, and then left the tavern.

After stepping out of the tavern, Sean spit out what was in his mouth. It was a gray coin, which looked a bit like a silver coin.

Black market admission ticket.

In Shawn's territory, the black market of Gray Shadows still exists today, and it is more prosperous than before. After all, Shawn is now backing him. And maybe, in the future, it will become an imperial emperor backing up. Who would dare to make trouble in the black market of Gray Shadow? And this time, Sean had made a lot of preparations for traveling alone, so he knew the location of several black markets in the Kingdom of Lane.

This Belo Village is one of the entrances to the black market, but it is different from the general black market area. The black market here requires an admission ticket—that is, the coin in Sean's hand. The way to get coins is to match the secret code with the old Mike in the tavern, which shows that someone else recommended Sean to come here. He belongs to a safe guest who has already verified his identity and can pass with confidence.

Of course, if there is no one to monitor this, then Sean feels that the black market has long been wiped out.

From the moment he stepped out of the tavern and spit out coins, Sean felt that at least five people were watching him.

But he didn't care much.

This Bello Village is one of the closest supply points to Tonys Fortress. Basically, whether you want to leave Tonys Fortress or enter Tonys Fortress, you will choose these transit stations for rest and refurbishment. The black market is just here. When the Marquis of Floris was in charge of the entire underground world of the Kingdom of Lane, this black market was one of his most important sources of income and one of his most important core bases.

At this moment, Sean cannot guarantee whether this place is occupied by Black Hawk, but it is much better to get some information here than to search without a clue.

Similarly, this also means that Sean is likely to expose his whereabouts. However, he has delayed enough time. Now Nok's 2nd Infantry Corps has camped outside the Tonis Fortress, and Elsie's Darkmoon Gun is also rushing here to assist, and then Hela temporarily mobilized arrangements. Two army of orcs and elves. As for Aldolf's mobile infantry regiment, they rushed directly to the Principality of Garrod, and the follow-up units were the First Cavalry Regiment and the Scarlet Knights.

It can be said that, unlike the peaceful situation inside the Senegal, the situation outside the Senegal has reached a state of complete war that is on the verge of breaking out.

The only thing missing now is a fuse.

The three of the Marquis of Floris, Elizabeth, and Frches are the fuse of the war between the Void Duchy and the Kingdom of Lane-the difference is that who finds each other first.

Chapter 85: .Noire Black Market

In the east corner of Beiluo Village, it is a place where gangsters and gangsters gather. Generally, no villagers are willing to approach here. Because this is a real area where the weak and the strong eat the strong, only those powerful adventurers and mercenaries will come here. In addition, only the less popular professions such as thieves will appear here.

Even the village chief who manages the village of Beiluo acquiesces in the peculiarities of this place—as for whether he acquiesces in accepting bribes or acquiesces in acquiescence because of his strong background, it is unclear. The only thing that can be determined is that no matter who has an accident here in East Point, he can only rely on his own abilities to get back face. If you want to rely on official capabilities, it will undoubtedly not work.

Therefore, the east corner of Beiluo Village is also called "Black Horn" by Beiluo villagers.

This is also one of the five black markets in the Kingdom of Lane, the black market in Pointe Noire.

However, the scale of this black market is obviously not high.

The third-level black market uses a referral system, and the fourth-level black market uses an evaluation system.

Those like Sean who need to get access to the secret signal are usually the first-level black market. Because only the first-level black market for new students will desperately want to have a huge passenger flow, but in order to prevent people with ulterior motives from making troubles, a little detour will be set up; unlike the third or fourth-level black market The black market already has a certain degree of popularity and confidence, so you can start to refuse some incompetent guys to enter.

As for the secondary black market, because it has been basically developed, it can be easily entered as long as you know the place, but usually the secondary black market is also the most chaotic place, so some secondary black markets that have ambitions to grow will still retain this The way to screen guests through admission tickets.

As for the level five black market, it is said that it is only for the real big men and elites, and not everyone can enter.

Walking on the streets of East Point, a stronger and more obvious rancid smell permeated the air. For Sean, who is accustomed to being clean and tidy, this smell is very pungent, but it also makes Xiao En recalled many things from many, many years ago.

At that time, he was just an incompetent little mercenary, and could only barely support himself with Cecilia. Even if you want to find a stronger mercenary group to join, no one wants to take him in—yes, no one wants to take him in, but there are still many people who welcome Cecilia. It's just that Cecilia didn't want to leave Sean, so he didn't join those mercenary groups that seemed more reliable and powerful than Sean.

Perhaps, no one could have imagined that the little mercenary who was nothing more than ten years ago is now about to become the emperor of an empire.

Although Sean's consciousness is a bit lax, as a sanctuary strong, he is equally sensitive to his surroundings.

On this journey to find the entrance, Sean has slapped the hands of seven little thieves with little eyesight. These little guys are not more than fifteen years old and have a vicious vigor. Of course, they are not reckless people who do not know how to advance and retreat. After being slapped by Sean, these little guys know that Sean is not them. Those who can provoke, so naturally choose to give up.

For these little guys, Sean also retains a kind of kindness.

He just let these thieves' hands swell for a few days, and didn't directly snap their hands off. He knows that this kind of stealing is the way of survival for these little guys. After all, in this world where the weak can eat, no matter who is, everyone must find a way to support themselves, especially these people who came from the slums.

Although Sean hates such people, he also knows very well that he cannot completely change the world and stop the appearance of such people. The only thing he can do is to try to ensure that there are no such people in his country. And the most important thing is that Sean doesn't want to make any commotion here. If he really abolishes the hands of these little guys, then some higher-level guys will definitely be drawn to trouble him. This is not Sean. The desired result.

It seems that after seeing Sean's strength, some wading stones were sunk, so no one came to ask for trouble.

And Sean quickly found the entrance to the black market.

Several people dressed as gangsters squatted at the door, seeming to be playing cards for amusement. There was a small barrel of ale and two empty wooden barrels beside them. Seeing Sean's approach, several people raised their gazes, with a bit of fierce in their eyes, but after seeing the black market entry coin that Sean casually threw out, the few people relaxed slightly. One of them even got up and walked towards the backyard, and then opened a door similar to a warehouse.

As Sean had expected, this black market was also built underground, and the warehouse was a mess, but there were a few other people guarding it.

Seeing Sean entering, one of them stepped forward, and then stretched out his hand: "One hundred gold coins."

"Hundred gold coins?" Sean raised his eyebrows, "When will the black market have such rules? Why don't I know?"

"Hey, the new rules are normal if you don't know." The man showed visually striking muscles, his face was full of disdain, "You don't have to go in, but since you are here, at least you have to. Pay an insight fee of fifty gold coins.... Oh, by the way, this is also a new rule. If you don't follow it, you should know the consequences, hehe."

The person who stopped in front of Xiao En was a master of the silver realm, while the others guarding the entrance were high-ranking bronzes. The strength is naturally not worth mentioning, but compared to the few punks outside the doorway who were not even the lower bronze, the strength of the people in this warehouse is naturally much stronger. As a second-level black market, it is quite good to have such a door guard force, but for people like Sean who is already attacking the realm of legend, it is still not enough.

"Are you sure it's a hundred gold coins?" A small smile appeared on Xiao En's face, "How do I feel that you are deliberately blackmailing? You should be clear. After I go in, just ask someone to ask and you can know the situation. It's time to make things big, you guys don't look good, right?"

"Tsk." The fierce-looking guy cast his lips, "Really an old hand. Don't fool you anymore. The new rule is to charge an extra door fee, ten gold coins per person. Four of them are for tribute. , The other five are private servants of our five people, and one is for the brothers outside. It is impossible for us to stand here for nothing, right? The above also tacitly agrees with this rule."

This time, the other party is telling the truth.

The low-level black market usually acquiesces to such a fee level. Unlike the black market above the third level, the transaction commissions of the black market alone can pay for the thugs' expenses. Of course, the black market that charges entrance fees is generally a more ambitious second-level black market, because the first-level black market is eager for someone to come over, and there is no threshold at all, and those second-level black markets that are too chaotic have completely lost management. ability.

Shaun didn't care too much, took out ten gold coins and handed them to the other party, and then the other party gave way.

This time, Sean really entered the black market in Pointe Noire.

It is not much different from the gray and shadow black market that Shaun has been to before. The black market in Pointe Noire is also built underground, but it is not as wealthy as the gray and shadow black market, so the underground lighting can only use ordinary oil lamps, which makes the light appear slightly slightly Dim.

After passing a long staircase, Sean's vision suddenly became clear: The entire underground was dug out of a huge cave-like space. Except for the poor exhaust system, which caused the space to be filled with some peculiar smells, the whole was dark. The black market in Jiaohe is still very lively. Basically, there are densely packed shops, and the flow of people is not small at all, I am afraid that it is more than the entire village of Beiluo.

This made Shaun be sure that the entrance to the black market in Pointe-Noire is definitely not the only one in Belo Village.

For these relatively low-level black markets, Sean is fairly familiar. He is used to walking towards the bulletin board closest to the entrance. Usually, the low-level black market is due to a mixture of fish and dragons, so a bulletin board is usually placed at the entrance to list the black market in detail. Some of the projects and services provided within it, as well as some bounty tasks and so on.

It only made Sean a little surprised, but he actually saw the reward order for the Marquis of Floris and others on the notice board.

At this moment, Sean knew that the Black Point black market was no longer under Floris's control, but had completely become the product of Black Hawk. Because only this kind of complete seizure of power can dare to post a reward order for Floris on the black market. Otherwise, as the true owner of this black market, no one dares to post a reward order so blatantly.

On the reward order, only two people's news was disclosed.

One is the Marquis of Floris and the other is Princess Frches, but the latter did not disclose his identity, but briefly described and described his appearance and the last-discovered costume. Obviously, even Grenn had some scruples about the popularity and popular sentiment of Princess Fulhis. He was afraid that publicly offering a reward for arresting a princess would arouse dissatisfaction with the people at the bottom, so he switched to this method.

Moreover, on the reward order, the description of Princess Fulcis was also very vague. To the effect, this woman was probably the mistress of the Marquis of Flores. They poisoned the ancestor together, and now the deeds are revealed, so she absconded. So now a reward order is issued. As long as you can provide specific clues for reporting, you don't even need to catch people, you can get a very generous bounty reward, but if you can catch a living person, then the bounty you can get is only Will be more.

Of course, the reward order also deliberately concealed the news of the legendary powerhouse Elizabeth. It was just a little mention at the end of the reward order that there might be other external support and assistance regarding the escape of Floris and the mysterious woman, and then it also pretended to remind bounty hunters not to act rashly and to pay attention to their own safety.

Sean slightly assessed the situation in his heart, and quickly came to a conclusion: "It seems that Elizabeth is not hurt as badly as she imagined."

Originally, Sean was worried that Elizabeth's situation was critical, so he hurried over. But now after seeing this reward order, Sean is convinced that Elizabeth's injury is not severe enough to be able to fight, and to a large extent it also makes the enemy vigilant, otherwise he will not announce Elizabeth's in the reward order. Circumstances, this is obviously worried that those bounty hunters who see the money are stunned by Elizabeth's strength and do not want to make a move.

Being able to continue searching for Elizabeth and Floris without revealing his identity, Sean certainly would not be stupid enough to reveal his identity.

"Hey, my friend."

Just as Xiao En just turned around, he met a barbarian in bear skin and said hello: "I saw you have been paying attention to that bounty order for a long time, are you also a bounty hunter? ... I see your aura Yes, obviously it's not a weak one. Would you like to consider teaming up with us? I will tell you a secret privately. That bounty task is not something you can solve alone."

"Oh?" Sean was a little curious, "How did you know?"

"The seven members of the White Wolf team are all dead." The barbarian said in a low voice, "They are one of the strongest bounty hunter teams here. Although they are not the best in terms of personal strength, their tactics The cooperation is very powerful, even the blade of the ghost eye is very difficult to face them."

Although Sean didn't know what the concept of "White Wolf Team is great" was, it didn't prevent him from making an "unknown and powerful" expression: "What? Even the white wolf is dead? Are they called the most cunning wolves? How could they..."

"Yes, the corpses are turned into coke, and I don't know what happened." The barbarian continued to sigh, "Now Ghost Eye Blade and Thunder Dragon team are discussing joint matters, the other bounty hunters The team and the Demon Hunter are also beginning to try to join forces. I think you look pretty good, so I tried to ask, there is no way for one to act."

"The body was burned to charcoal?" Sean's eyes lit up. He knew that this must be Elizabeth's method, "Then can we find their whereabouts now?"

"It's not very clear." This barbarian really retains the characteristics of being a barbarian, basically asking what to answer, "but it is said that the black market in other places has also begun to act. Because of geographical advantages, it is relatively close to the bounty targets. If you wait for the bounty hunters and demon hunters from other black markets to come over, I am afraid it will be a lot of trouble."

"That's true." Sean really felt the same this time.

If the situation becomes more chaotic, then it is not the result he wants. In particular, the strength of the black market in Pointe Noire is relatively weak among the five black markets in the Kingdom of Lane, and two of the other four black markets are third-level black markets. Considering that the overall standards of the Kingdom of Lane are now generally improved, then once there is If other black market demon hunters intervene, it is very likely that a strong man from the sanctuary will intervene, which will undoubtedly expand the scope of the battle.

only.....

Shaun glanced at the barbarian in front of him. His strength was only inferior silver. To "team up" with such a person, Shaun had some doubts that it was really okay?

"Hey, what do you mean by the look in your eyes?" The barbarian seemed to be hurt by the look in Sean's eyes, "I'm amazing!"

Inferior silver, where can it go? ——Sean really wants to say this. After all, as their opponent, there is such a legendary powerhouse as Elizabeth, not to mention that Floris can take Fulthis and Elizabeth all the way to escape close to the Fortress of Tonys. Here, how can there be no other people around? Sean was very curious about the average strength of the so-called White Wolf team, but he had already shown that he knew how good the team was before, and now he really couldn't ask what he said.

"Your teammates...are all the same as you?" Sean thought for a while, and said.

"How is it possible." The barbarian said exaggeratedly.

Just when Sean thought this guy was going to say that his teammates were not as good as him, he did not expect the barbarian to say proudly: "My teammates are much better than me!"

Why are your teammates better than you, and you can still be so proud?

What about the pride of the barbarian?

What about the pride of the barbarian?

What about the dignity of barbarians?

Sean looked at this barbarian, he was full of slots!

Chapter 86: .Wacky Bounty Squad

Shaun finally decided to go with the big man to meet his team of bounty hunters.

The big man is the name of this barbarian.

This is a barbarian from Waixi from the northern continent.

Although the barbarians have many distinctions between ethnic groups and tribes, they can be divided into two types as a whole, one is the fishing and hunting group, and the other is the reclamation group. The former uses looting of other people's resources or fishing and hunting as the main survival mode of ethnic tribes. The most typical representative is the Jingu barbarians of the Western Continent. They almost fully display the survival method of fishing and hunting, basically as long as they are not of the same ethnic group. They are all their hunting targets.

The reclaiming group is a relatively milder barbarian group, mainly by collecting and reclaiming wasteland to feed, of course, it is also supplemented by hunting, grazing and other conventional barbarian lifestyles. This type of barbarians is represented by the snail barbarians of the Eastern Continent. However, although they lived a lifestyle of reclaiming wasteland and grazing, the fighting mania that belonged to the savages did not flow from their bodies.

The northern barbarians who were subdued by Sean before, the void barbarians are now a branch of the barbarians belonging to the fishing and hunting tribe.

The Waixi barbarians belong to the branch of the reclaiming group.

This is also one of the reasons that the big man's personality is relatively mild. If you change to other barbarians, let alone talk to Sean, even if it is a frontal contact, it will not necessarily give Sean a good face. Barbarians always feel very arrogant and unreasonable, but in fact this is derived from the pride of their ancient ancestors, and they still respect and admire the strong.

Following the big man, Sean quickly came to a hotel room.

Because of the underground black market, hotels are generally single-family buildings, but the entrances and exits will be fixed in one direction. This is to facilitate centralized management. Of course, it is a single-family building. In fact, it is three wooden walls and a top cover. The area usually does not exceed ten square meters. There is a bed and a small table in the room, not even a chair or anything else. have.

Then, in such a small room not even ten square meters, Sean met the big man's so-called teammate.

A total of five people, including the big Waixi Barbarian, there are six in total. If Sean were to be added, it would be seven people.

Sean couldn't imagine how this room was packed with so many people, especially the big guy with a standard savage figure. However, in this kind of place, the characteristics of each person are very obvious, so the related occupations involved are also very easy to guess.

In the room, there is a thin wire tied to both ends of the room.

This kind of steel wire is almost transparent, but it has strong toughness, especially the thin steel wires that have been specially tempered and modified, and even have the terrifying lethality that can cut the flesh of the strong in the sanctuary. Of course, this root in the room definitely has no such effect, at least this kind of tempering is not affordable for ordinary people.

But the person who can play this kind of fine wire must be an assassin.

The assassin, who can be said to be a teenager, was lying on the thin wire like this. When the big man and Sean opened the door, he glanced down slightly.

This is the first person in the room Shaun saw.

After , his gaze shifted slightly, and a girl who was kneeling on the little table was blinking her big curious eyes, carefully examining Sean. Judging from the black and white lace dress, this girl is probably a profession such as a maid or a waiter, but this kind of profession is impossible to get on the battlefield, let alone a bounty hunter, so for Sean still has some suspicions about her profession.

But her race is clear at a glance-this girl has a pair of triangular cat ears, and a maroon cat tail is flung behind her.

This is a cat tribe half-orc.

In addition, there are two people sitting in tandem on the small aisle between the bed and the room divider, playing cards.

The man is about 30 years old. He has the vicissitudes of life of a man who knows a story at a glance. The completely uncut appearance exacerbates this imagination. He didn't carry any weapons or armor, but the muscle lines on his body were very obvious, and the palms of both hands had calluses. This was obviously a senior warrior who used two-handed epee.

The one playing cards with him is a thin girl.

Compared with the situation of this vicissitudes of life, the image of this girl is not much better: a black corset, a pair of brown shorts, barefoot, a tobacco in her mouth, and a head comparable to a chicken coop. Like hair. However, although this girl's figure is slim, she has a rather proud upper circumference. Perhaps it is precisely because of this proud place that it largely hinders her ability to move, so she will be * with a corset. , But I don't know that such a move makes her appear more hot and seductive.

But Shaun's focus is not here, but on her hands and legs. Judging from the muscles of the hands and legs, this woman should also be a career using swords as weapons, and she should be very powerful in both explosive power and speed.

Of course, this girl, like the other two women in the room, is a beautiful woman without any scars.

This is relatively rare in the circle of bounty hunters.

I just don't know why, this girl with a cigarette and playing cards reminded Sean of the four words "bad girl".

The fifth person in the room is also a woman.

This is a Zenas.

She has flowing black hair like a waterfall, her eyes are also deep and charming dark black, she looks good, has a fair complexion, and wears a neat black leather jacket. Her existence is not only incompatible with the dirty environment in the room, but completely incompatible with the entire underground black market-wherever she is, it seems that she will be the core and highlight of the entire place.

The woman knelt on the bed and watched with interest the man and woman playing cards.

However, the appearance of Sean seemed to be an unexpected guest who broke the tranquility and beauty of this room, attracting everyone's eyes.-Sean keenly noticed the moment when this girl saw Sean appear. , My brows can't help but frowned, but they smoothed out quickly. She didn't hate Sean, but just didn't like the tranquil atmosphere of being broken.

So Sean knew very clearly that this young woman was a very controlling person. If you guessed correctly, she should be the core of the entire team and the captain of this improvised bounty team.

"Head, I'm back." The big man shouted to the * the bed.

"Sure enough." As Sean expected, this guy with an obvious and very strong desire for control is the captain of this small team.

Indeed, as the big man said, his teammates are indeed much better than him in terms of strength. Except for the maid serving as a half-orc who made Sean unable to see his career, the other four people have the strength of the golden realm, especially the assassin boy, as a high-ranking golden powerhouse, if the time is right, he can even hurt The ability of the low-level sanctuary powerhouse-if it were not for the poor quality of his fine steel wire, perhaps he could really assassinate the low-level or middle-level sanctuary powerhouse.

"This is the person you recruited?" the black-haired woman asked.

The sound is not pleasing to the ear, with a little hoarseness, as if the vocal cords have been damaged.

"Yeah, I think he is very powerful, so I brought it back." The big man chuckled, "Didn't you tell me the boss, let me find someone who is very good?"

The black-haired woman nodded, expressing understanding and approval, while the others began to look at Sean with great interest.

The black-haired woman nodded clearly, then turned to look at Sean and smiled: "Then, my friend, are you interested in joining our team?"

Shaun looked at the people in the room. This improvised team of bounty hunters made him feel very weird. The general bounty hunters are lone rangers. Even if they are forced to join forces, they will be wary of each other, because it is so common in the bounty hunter's circle that you can't tell when you He died in the hands of the so-called "teammate".

But the bounty hunter team in front of them, the atmosphere in the team is full of harmony, and they all seem to be very familiar with and trust each other.

This is very different from Sean's perception.

"I know what you are worrying about." The black-haired woman still kept smiling, "but you can rest assured that we will not ruin our reputation. And if we get along well, to be honest, we do have plans to form. The long-term team, after all, the outside environment is getting more and more difficult to mix.... But at present, there is no plan to recruit too many people, just because the big man feels that the strength of the few of us is not enough to deal with those goals, so Only then did I plan to find another foreign aid."

"Oh?" Sean raised his eyebrows, then looked at the big barbarian, "Do you believe him that way?"

"The big man is a bit different." The black-haired woman explained with a smile, "He is the darling of the world."

"The darling of the world?" Sean was truly taken aback.

The so-called darlings of the world refer to people with very special abilities. Some of these abilities are born and some are formed, but the process of formation is said to have no reproducibility at all. Of course, not all abilities are powerful, or related to combat: some people have their taste buds become very good, and they are very suitable to be chefs; some people can perceive changes in the weather through the wind; some people The sense of smell becomes very sensitive, and you can easily find the source of water or other things.

For this kind of people, the residents of Miracle Continent will call them the darling of the world.

Of course, this statement is actually quite exaggerated.

Because there is always only one person who has been favored by the will of the world since ancient times, and the only person who can be called the darling of the world in this era is the son of the plane, Sean.

"Beast perception?" Sean looked at the big man, and then asked tentatively.

"I think it should be more world intuition." The black-haired woman thought for a while, and then replied, "His intuition is very powerful....Because of his intuition before, we were lucky enough to escape, otherwise I'm afraid we will all end up just like those of the White Wolf squad."

"You... met the bounty target?" Sean almost blurted out Elizabeth's name, but fortunately he closed his mouth in time, only acting a little surprised.

"There was no positive encounter." The black-haired woman shook her head. "At the time, because the big man was in a bad condition and he was very panicked, we did not rush to explore. But before long, we originally planned to go to the place to explore. There was a violent explosion. We also saw a huge thunder and lightning falling from the sky about the size of this room. Then when we rushed past, we saw that the seven members of the White Wolf team had turned into coke, and there was fighting everywhere. trace."

After listening to the description of the black-haired woman, Sean's eyes on the big man immediately changed this time.

This kind of beast intuition for danger perception can be regarded as a very rare talent ability. As long as there is no accident or premature fall, future achievements will usually not be too low. When in the game that year, some players paid sky-high prices in order to receive such an NPC with beast intuition. Later, it was said that they encountered a liar, and the real people lost money.

"It's because the big guy brought you back, so we trust his judgment." The black-haired woman saw that Sean's eyes had changed significantly, so she continued, "How about this blond boy? Would you like to join us? The team?...The bounty rewards will be evenly distributed at that time, and we will never be greedy for your share. If we don't believe it, we can sign a contract."

Sign a contract, which is also a guarantee when the bounty hunters form a team.

Just signing a contract means that you must reveal your real name.

Shaun was hiding his identity at the moment, even his hair color was dyed golden, if it weren't for being too rushed to let Eli Kate help disguise, he could even modify his pupil color and face. But at the moment, as long as Sean doesn't expose himself, it's difficult for anyone to distinguish Sean's, except for people like Black Hawk who have dealt with Sean, or someone who knows Sean's information very well. real identity.

"No, with the big beast intuition, I can trust you." Sean said, and then patted the Black King who was tied around his waist. "I am Zorro. As you can see, I am a man. Swordsman."

"You can call me Yun." The black-haired woman laughed, "The profession is an alchemist. The unique ability of our Zenus is about the same as that of a magician.... The catwoman is Lily, here we are. Logistics management in the team."

"Hello Meow, I'm Lily Meow." The catwoman in the maid's suit waved to Sean and said hello, "I'm still the chef Meow."

"Luo, assassin." The boy lying on the thin wire said coldly.

"Hey, I don't need to introduce it, you know it anyway." The big bear hugged Sean, "You are welcome to join."

"Thank you." Sean said helplessly, even now he still can't stand the enthusiasm of the savages.

"Phil." The middle-aged man sitting on the ground raised his hand and said hello, "Reload the soldier."

"Anna." The voice of the slender woman with an astonishing upper circumference was also slightly cold, "Same as you, a swordsman.... But what I learn is Swift Sword Swordsmanship, if I have the opportunity, let's discuss it together? "

"Yes." Xiao En smiled and nodded. For those who will act together for the time being, the superficial etiquette still has to be maintained.

Moreover, Sean did have some interest in this special bounty team in front of him. Of course, more importantly, if the big barbarian in front of him really has such a keen intuition ability, then it will be much easier for him to find Elizabeth and others. This time-saving approach is impossible for Sean to use. What's more, besides this, there is another thing that makes Xiao En quite concerned: his instinct tells him that the Zenas who calls himself Yun in front of him are by no means as simple as she has shown.

Chapter 87: .test

The black figure flashed quickly under the sunlight.

Obviously it is just a forward movement, but it can easily pull out several interlaced figures, making it difficult to distinguish the position of the real body.

Anna has almost exerted her advantage to an extreme level, which has exceeded the strength of the general low-level golden powerhouse. If it were not for the lack of accumulation of vindictive energy, Anna could now start to try to contact the power of the law and carry out the preliminary body. Strengthened to prepare for the impact of the lower sanctuary realm.

But even so, she also has a very good fighting ability.

The long knife was swung, and the whistling sound was harsh, like a magician's air-breaking wind blade.

Sean waved his sword to block, seemingly hurriedly, but easily clicked on the tip of Anna's long knife, using extremely clever dark power to shake off more than 80% of the power. Afterwards, she moved slightly, and took a step back. The sword in her hand was out of Anna's attack circle. This way, she was forced to enter the dilemma. If you want to pursue it, you must follow along. Only then can Sean be included in the attack circle again, but Sean is obviously ready to counterattack, and is waiting for Anna to start the pursuit; and if he gives up the pursuit, the initiative of the offensive and defensive rhythm will change, so Sean will do the same. The prepared counterattack can be fully launched.

In other words, no matter what choice Anna makes, she has completely lost the initiative at this moment.

If it is a general competition, it is basically over here.

Reluctantly, the two sides can also be considered a tie.

It's just that Anna's character is obviously a relatively strong person. After this moment of judgment, she clenched her teeth and clenched the hilt again, and then took a sudden step forward to bring Sean into her attack circle again.

The weapon used by Anna is a single-sided blade with a slight curvature. This type of weapon is commonly known as a chopper. It's just that this one of hers is longer than the regular blade size. The blade part alone is more than 1.5 meters long, and the handle is 20 cm long. The whole blade is almost the same height as Anna. It is called a large blade. Special custom-made weapons of Taito and Nagatato. Known for its sharpness, weight, and destructive power, it is usually the usual weapon of the power swordsman of the fast sword and fast sword genre.

Faced with Anna's aggressive desire to attack, Sean seemed to have expected it, and there was no tension on his face.

"Countercurrent!"

Anna snorted, and the wrists of both hands holding the sword paused, and the sword power of the right cut suddenly stopped-the air flow that was cut right by the long knife and curled up, after the long knife, all the air flow surrounds the blade. On the upper side, the whirl brought out a white cyclone visible to the naked eye; immediately after turning the wrists and raising the arms, the long knife suddenly slashed against the sword, and all the airflow immediately rose along the blade of the sword, turning into a whistling sharp wind blade. Broke through.

The action of lifting the sword is very slow, as if trying to pick up tens of thousands of things.

The wind blade that can break through the air is fast and dense, endless.

Shaun took a step back, swiping the long sword in his right hand lightly from side to side, and the power of each blow was used just right: it was enough to knock off or smash these wind-blade air currents without putting any load on himself, resulting in I am stuck in a state of inflexibility to make moves. Moreover, at the moment of every shot, Sean would also take the opportunity to hit Anna's Nakata Sword. Although the strength of each impact was very small, Anna couldn't help accumulating the number of hits.

A wave of tiny vibrations were fed back from the sword, and Anna's palms of both hands were numb, and there was a faint feeling of letting off the weapon.

"Break through the air!"

Unwilling to admit defeat, Anna screamed again, her sword-raising movement accelerated, and the surrounding cyclones broke out and revolved fast.

When the blade lifted up and aimed at Xiao En's chest, Anna stepped forward again, and the power of both hands burst out, and the long knife immediately pierced towards Xiao En like a sharp sword.

In an instant, all the cyclones surrounding the sword immediately turned into a thick white glow, as if the blade of a long sword suddenly became longer. Its speed was completely beyond imagination, and it did not give the opponent any reaction time at all, especially At such a close distance. More importantly, this suddenly longer Qi sword is thicker than the long sword originally held in his hand, and it is definitely more than enough to swallow Xiao En's entire upper body directly.

"Anna!"

Several screams suddenly sounded, and Phil and Luo rushed over directly.

But because of the distance, even if two people came quickly, the eruption of sword energy still couldn't be stopped!

Seeing that Xiao En was about to be buried under the sword's breath, the blinding white light that broke out, but Xiao En's still calm and calm voice sounded: "Broken night."

Among the white light, countless sword auras suddenly erupted.

Every black sword aura is like a real sword-even if everyone who has witnessed these black swords knows that it is a condensed sword aura, they will still marvel at the fidelity and condensed form of these sword auras. Countless sharp swords pierced out of the white light, completely cutting this thick white sword energy into countless pieces. After that, the collision of the two sword energy forces began to neutralize and dissolve each other, until they completely disappeared.

Then, when the white sword aura disappeared completely, Xiao En finally appeared intact in front of everyone, which made everyone a little relieved-even though Xiao En's face was extremely pale at this time, and there were many clothes on him. It is damaged and embarrassed, but at least it is still alive that is indeed worthy of joy.

Especially those who have teamed up with Anna for a while, and they know what Anna's thick white sword light means just now.

The black-haired woman, the captain of this weird bounty team, Yun, looked at Sean at this time like a hungry wolf who had been hungry for a long time, her eyes glistened.

"Are you okay?" It was Anna who ran to Sean first. The nervous look on her face was not a fake, "Really...I'm really sorry, I was so excited that I couldn't control myself. Fortunately... Good you can break my waterfall. Really...I'm really sorry!"

"It's okay, it's okay." Xiao En pretended to be generous and gave up. The expression on his face was very cooperative and showed an extremely weak state, "It seems that I lost."

"No, I was the one who lost." Anna said with a serious face, "You are holding a test mentality, but I couldn't control myself in the middle, and moved the truth. So if you also moved the truth, I'm afraid now It's me who died.... The trick just now was called "Smashing Night", right? It's really amazing. This is the first time I have seen such a solid sword aura. Your swordsmanship is what I currently do. The strongest of the people I met."

Shawn rolled his eyes silently: Without this level, he would not have the title of Juggernaut.

But for Anna's ability to force herself to resort to "Broken Night", Sean's heart was still very shocked. This is one of the three major swords he created, possessing extremely powerful lethality, even if he deliberately weakened the power of Broken Night in order to match his identity at the moment, and even allowed himself to show exhaustion after performing his stunts. And debilitating, but none of this can conceal the fact that Anna's combat effectiveness is extremely strong.

Of course, as Anna said, if it was really a fighting battle, Anna would never have the opportunity to use countercurrents, break air, and waterfalls. Sean would definitely kill her in the first sword. However, when he suppressed his own strength to the corresponding level of high-ranking gold, he was forced to use special sword skills because of his carelessness and underestimation of the enemy, which really made Xiao En feel incredible.

Just in this way, Sean couldn't help but think of a question.

Why has Sean never heard of someone with potential and talent like Anna?

The special intelligence agency belonging to the Void Principality: The Void Realm, in addition to the related tasks such as espionage collection, anti-intelligence work, assassinations, secret guards, etc., also includes the collection of outstanding talents from all over the country and persuade them to join the Void Principality . Similarly, there will be some talents who cannot be determined in the Void Realm. They will make a form for these talents, and then submit it to Sean, Neil, Cecilia, William, Hella and others to decide whether to recruit.

In the past, when Sean handled affairs in the Fortresses and Oasis City, he included the decision to screen for talents. But he can be sure that he did not see any names of Anna, Yun, Big Man, etc. on that screening list—and only these three words are worthy of Sean’s attention, like the assassin Luo He Phil, another uncle of vicissitudes of life, although his strength is good, but in fact the potential has been basically exhausted, and it is not worth investing and training.

"It's really amazing." Yun also walked over at this time, and at the same time he clapped excitedly, "It's really a wonderful competition."

Shaun gave the other party angrily.

Yesterday Anna said that she had the opportunity to learn about swordsmanship with Sean. Sean said that she was just a courtesy, but she didn't expect that the woman Yun would directly arrange today's competition. She also said that she was going to test Sean. Personal strength. So in desperation, Sean had to follow the bounty team to the wild to carry out this test that was completely uninteresting for him.

Of course, at the beginning, Sean really couldn't be interested. After all, this gave him the feeling that he was bullying the trumpet.

However, as the discussion deepened, Sean gradually began to discover that Anna's potential was very good, and she was indeed good at swordsmanship. This attracted the real attention of Sean, and he took a bit more seriously. He was no longer just a simple perfunctory, but he didn't expect to be so big because of it, and he almost made himself unable to get off the stage.

But in this way, it makes Sean more suitable for his forged identity.

——Zorro, a high-ranking golden powerhouse, a regular swordsman who walks the path of balance. There are no obvious shortcomings and shortcomings, the only shortcoming is that the attack range is quite small, and it is more suitable for a single combat environment rather than a chaotic combat environment.

"Hey, I'll just say he's great." The big man ran over and patted Sean on the shoulder. Although this action didn't hurt Sean, Sean still appeared to be very weak and was beaten by the big man. It looks very hurt in such a shot.

"I said big man, if you continue to shoot like this, Lily will be busy in a while." Phil touched his chin, looked at Sean's painful grin, smiled and joked, "I'm glad you are Join, Zorro.... But why don't you use your saber?"

"This one?" Xiao En patted the Black King on his waist. "This one is not easy to use. He will only get out of the sheath when dealing with enemies. Because it was an accident when he got this sword, so he just pulled it out. If the sword is out of its sheath, then it must drink blood and devour the soul, so I will not use this sword just for a test."

"Magic weapon?" Luo said suddenly, taciturn, as if he would always be someone who owed him millions of gold coins.

"Maybe, I haven't checked it carefully, and the weapon is good, right?" Sean smiled, and did not continue to dwell on this topic.

Most people can't see the true origin of the black king, but the qualities of the black king that are not extraordinary can still be felt, especially the sharpness, as long as the sword is drawn, it can be clearly known. And a weapon like this is naturally impossible to appear in the identity that Sean is now disguising. This is why Sean will set himself an extra "only good at fighting alone, not good at melee".

"Okay, OK. Regarding the strength, I think everyone has already confirmed it." Yun smiled and clapped his hands, pulling back everyone's attraction, "Next, we only have a tacit understanding with each other and we need to break in. ... I have a suggestion here. Why don't we go find some small tasks nearby to do something, and then get acquainted with each other?"

"This proposal is good." Phil nodded in agreement.

Only Xiao En, frowned slightly.

"What?" Yun keenly noticed Xiao En's face.

"I'm not very good at melee, after all, I've always been used to walking alone before." Sean said with a grimace, "It's okay for you to let me fight each other, but when it comes to cooperation..."

"That's why I said I need to run in." Yun said with a smile, "There are some things that you won't know if you don't try them.... If you really don't want to pull out your sword, of course we won't force you. Yes, who doesn't have any privacy. Don't worry, each of us has his own secret."

"Then... okay." Xiao En knew that Yun was talking about himself, but he didn't mind, just pretending that he didn't know anything, and reluctantly agreed.

"Where shall we go for running-in training?" Anna asked.

"Just that place." Yun thought for a while, and said, "I'm still a little curious about that place. If it wasn't for the big man who said it was dangerous that day..."

"That place?" Sean was taken aback for a moment.

"That's the place where we found that the seven members of the White Wolf team turned into coke." The big man said, "There is a catacomb in that place. We originally planned to go and explore it. But that day brought me a strong feeling. A sense of danger, so at that time we were hesitating whether to go to the catacombs, but before we could discuss the result, the White Wolf squad was completely destroyed."

"Oh?" Sean raised his brow.

He knew that this bounty hunter squad had a problem, at least it was definitely not a bounty hunter born and raised in the Kingdom of Lane, it should belong to an "outside house". Then the next question is worth thinking about. An outsider found a catacomb and explored it, which is worth thinking about.

Perhaps, they came for this catacomb?

It's just that Elizabeth and others went into exile accidentally.

In that case, Elizabeth, the Marquis of Floris, Frches and others are likely to hide in this catacomb?

"Isn't this catacomb very dangerous?" Sean asked tentatively, "Have you explored it before?"

"This catacomb is very unusual. We only entered the second floor after exploring for a few days. We suspect that this should be a hidden royal tomb of Ryan. From this point of view, it is likely to be a five-story crypt. "The answer is Luo, it is hard to imagine that this cold assassin would have such a high level of enthusiasm when mentioning such dark things. "There are not many institutions, so in fact, the danger is not particularly high. It's just... ...There are some undead creatures in the tomb, but the ones we have encountered so far are relatively low-level undead creatures, but we do not rule out the presence of high-level undead creatures."

"Undead creatures?" Sean's brows tightened. "Could it be that the death wave on the side of the Millennium Covenant Empire has awakened these burialists?"

"No matter what the reason is, undead creatures are something that is relatively easy to deal with. I think it is the best place for our tacit training."

Chapter 88: .fuse

It's not just Sean who is acting alone.

In other words, it's not just the Void Duchy in action.

The entire southern continent has been almost completely dragged into the quagmire of the vortex of war. And the center of this vortex of war is the Void Principality. The closer you get to the Void Principality, the more intense the situation of the war, especially after the rumor that Void Principality officially had a war with the overlord Kingdom of Line, the situation became more chaotic.

Of course, this chaos was controlled in the area outside the Great Wall of the Kingdom of Lane.

Because of the barrier of Tonis fortress, and the First Corps of the Void Principality set up camp outside Tonis fortress. Nowadays, the inner and outer parts of the Lion Kingdom have basically formed a trend of isolation. If things go on like this, the division and independence of the noble factions outside the Great Wall will inevitably be an inevitable trend. In this way, all his plans will be in vain-no matter how perfect his plan is, the people who support him hear that they are going to fight the Void Lord. , Everyone is embarrassed.

There is no other reason.

was all scared by Sean.

The Bad Blood Project not only eliminated those cancerous tumors that did not obey the king's order for the Kingdom of Lane, but also established Sean's reputation. Especially those members of the Sené noble faction who had targeted Sean back then were beaten to shame by Sean. No matter how fanatical the revenge heart is now, they have to face up to the fact that their private soldiers can't beat Sean at all. The army, as for the high-end combat power, is even more incomparable.

If it weren't for the previous bad blood plan that allowed the royal power of the Kingdom of Ryan to gain a firm foothold outside the Great Wall, coupled with the presence and suppression of a grand duke, I'm afraid that the old leader of the Kingdom of Darbion would have fallen into a state of complete chaos. .

Because, the mobile infantry regiment has officially entered the territory of other nobles, one of the five most intrepid legions in the Void Principality.

For the Sené noble faction, I have only heard of the differences in the reputations of the three legions of Iron Wings, Thunder Lion, and Cecilia's Guards. The members of the noble faction outside of Senegal know that in addition to these three legions, the Void Principality also There are two combat powers that may not be as good as these three legions, but in terms of fighting against death, they are definitely not under these three legions, especially the mobile infantry regiment led by Adolf Hitler.

This extremely special horseback infantry regiment is the only regiment among the many regiments of the Void Principality whose battle damage rate is not lower than that of the Cecilia Guards.

In the rumors, the mobile infantry regiment's enlistment training has only one sentence.

——"Welcome to the back garden of the  of death, where you have only two choices, either to die heroically or die in a vain way."

And the pre-war incentives are also only one sentence.

——"Either get rich military exploits and leave, or die on the battlefield, you choose."

Such a high-mortality force is actually also Klov's favorite source of troops for selecting talents. So over time, in the military headquarters of the Void Principality, the mobile infantry regiment also had the idea of the reserve force of the Cecilia Guards. But for this statement, whether it was Aldolf or Klov, the two did not deny it, and it seemed that the two had reached some tacit understanding.

Aldolf Hitler, nearly thirty years old, rides on a white war horse.

He was wearing a silver-gray armor, which matched the white horse very well. The helmet was clamped under his left armpit, and his eyes stared sharply forward like a falcon. Behind him, there are all riders riding on white war horses. Most of the armor is light armor, but there are also a lot of riders wearing leather armor. This part of the riders wearing leather armor is not like the others. Holding a long sword or spear like that, but carrying a war bow, there are a total of five quiveres on the war horse.

An army of fifty thousand people lined up in a huge black square, just behind Aldolf Hitler.

"In front, whose territory is it?" Aldorf asked suddenly.

"It should be the territory of Earl Ingle." A young man who looked like an adjutant stepped out, controlled the horse to approach Aldorf, and then replied.

"Should?" Aldolf turned his head with cold eyes. "Our mobile infantry regiment has always been known for precision strikes and lightning speed. The accuracy of the marching route is our best advantage even in the entire Void Duchy. Now you are actually. Tell me, this 'should' be the territory of Earl Ingle?"

"Sorry, sir." The adjutant was taken aback, hurriedly turned over and fell to his knees, "Because according to the march plan, we should arrive at Pillai Ingle Castle an hour ago. But now... we haven't. Can see that castle..."

Aldolf's face also became a little ugly.

The Mobile Infantry Regiment is best known for its lightning tactics. They are known for their fast rest and recovery speed, fast armament preparation speed, and accurate marching routes. Often after the previous battle is over, the next war can be launched immediately after a lapse of two to three hours. Through this kind of wheel-like tactics launched in a short period of time, the enemy can be completely destroyed. This is the most terrible mobile infantry regiment. The place.

It is precisely because of this wheel tactics that the casualty rate of the mobile infantry regiment is so high.

But in the final analysis, the core of the tactics that can support the mobile infantry regiment is that the soldiers themselves are of high enough quality: not only are they strong-willed, but they are also well-trained, and their combat effectiveness is extremely strong. Few people know the training of the mobile infantry regiment. The camp is also known as the death training camp. In the end, less than ten people out of every one hundred people can complete one training session. Of the remaining ninety people, nearly 70 people died of overwork or suffered various disabilities. .

"It seems that our tactics have been targeted." Aldorf sneered.

Because of the relationship of war horses, the mobile infantry regiment led by Aldolf can maintain a relatively high combat ability even if it enters a state of intense consumption of rapid marching. However, there is a completely irreversible defect in this way of traveling, that is, fear of being harassed-after all, the mobile infantry regiment is not a true cavalry unit. Although it can travel on horseback, its horse warfare ability is relatively weaker than that of the cavalry. , Once it is harassed, it will seriously slow down the speed of travel, and even increase unnecessary physical energy consumption.

William discovered this flaw very early, but he himself could not propose too many improvements. After all, if the mobile infantry corps is to strengthen its training capabilities in horse warfare, then this corps is a real knight corps, not a sequence of infantry or cavalry. This is too high in terms of standard requirements, and it is completely impossible. The mission, after all, this is a defect in the capabilities of the arms itself.

However, according to William and Hella's assessment, there are not many enemies that can harass the mobile infantry regiment.

At least there is no such level of force in the Kingdom of Lane.

The fact is that Aldorf's mobile infantry regiment was indeed slowed down. The enemy did not engage them in battle. Obviously, the ability to fight frontally did not have the possibility of winning, but from a certain aspect, it did make Aldolf feel angry.

He has become accustomed to the high-frequency combat rhythm, and now the rhythm is suddenly disrupted, which makes him a little manic.

But after a few deep breaths, Aldolf calmed down.

Being angry is a battlefield taboo.

"In the Kingdom of Ryan, there are not many troops that can delay our actions. At least among the many noble private soldiers in this old land of Darbion, I don't have this part of the information." Aldolf Hitler said in a deep voice, "The intelligence of the Void Realm can't be wrong, so the only explanation is...that the army in front is not the private soldier of the Ryan noble. So, these guys can't help it finally."

The reason why Aldolf stopped was not because of the fatigue of the mobile infantry regiment's march. According to their standards, even if they were delayed for an hour, or even mentally exhausted, it was not a problem to complete the previous strategic forecast within today.

What really made him order to stop the march was because an army appeared in front of him.

This is a unit wearing all black light armor and riding a war horse.

The light armor is engraved with weird animal head patterns, and the horse is also a matching black vest. The riders on the battle horses also have a uniform standard configuration. Their left hand is a diamond-shaped shield, and their right hand is a strange machete with a hook blade on the front. The blade is slightly curved. This weapon is obviously very suitable for Slashing and swinging during the riding war.

The size of this cavalry unit is not large, at least it does not seem to be as large as the mobile infantry regiment.

But the killing pressure brought by the entire cavalry force seemed particularly solemn, and there was even a faint black breath in the air.

"Seda, you pick a team and return immediately." Aldolf said in a deep voice, "You must take this information back to Lord Neal."

"What information?" The adjutant also realized the seriousness of the problem, and said solemnly.

"Just say that Robin's Black Wolf Knights and Cheetah Knights have already participated in the battle." Aldolf chuckled. "It's just a constant interference if we can delay us for an hour without fighting with us... Should have thought of it."

The Principality of Robin, also known as the Knight State of Robin, the country's most famous combat power is the four major knights, all of which have the combat effectiveness of the fifth-level legions, and because they are from the orthodox knights who are good at riding and foot combat, they actually play out. The combat effectiveness is much higher than that of the general fifth-level legion, and even reaches the level of the sixth-level legion.

Among them, the Fierce Dragon Knights, the head of the four major knights, has only 5,000 people in full force, but it is known for its ability to fight on the battlefield without fear of death. The next Raging Lion Knights, the full staff is also five thousand people. Although the combat power is not as strong as the Fierce Dragon Knights, it has extremely powerful battlefield charge and breakthrough capabilities. The armed configuration is between the heavy and light knights. Long spear and epee weapons are the benchmarks.

However, in contrast to the two knights of the fierce dragon and the angry lion, Robin's most famous duchy is the black wolf knight with 20,000 people.

This knight group is good at attacking, attacking, and fighting to the death. It is known for its astonishing tenacity and undaunted fighting style. Its prestige spreads not only in the Southern Continent, but even in the Eastern Continent. Sen also said that this was a knight order that he cared a lot about. However, this knight group is not so much a knight, as it is a cavalry, because the weapons they are equipped with are not suitable for infantry combat, and only on horses can they exert their greatest combat advantage.

Compared with the famous Robin's first three of the four great knights, the cheetah knights of the fourth knights can be said to be unknown.

Not to mention the relationship between their strengths and weaknesses, only a full set of only a thousand people, less than 20 years since its establishment, the battlefield fighting ability is not as good as the fierce dragon, the charge ability is not as good as the angry lion, and the attack ability is not as good as the black wolf. It can be said that this is a unique knight group. But on the contrary, this knight group has received a very high degree of attention in the information of the Void Principality, because of the combat characteristics of this knight group: come without a shadow, and go without a trace.

What they are best at is not frontal combat, but through constant harassment to create all kinds of interference, attack the enemy's psychological defense, and keep the enemy in a state of exhaustion. Rather than saying that this is a knight order, it is better to say that this is a group of assassins and assassins, whose combat work is completely inconsistent with the spirit of chivalry.

But on the contrary, except for a few powerful legions active in the front line, most other legions of the Void Principality will be restrained by this knight order.

In particular, Aldorf's mobile infantry regiment.

Once the precision strikes and lightning tactics he relied on were restrained, the mobile infantry regiment might not be any better than the average infantry regiment, let alone the infantry regiment commanded by Stalin and Nok.

But these are not very important now.

What is really important is that the news that the Robin Knight State has intervened in the War of the Kingdom of Line must be passed back.

Because of Sean's actions that led to the simultaneous opening of four battlefields, the manpower of the Void Realm has been in a state of shortage, and the current intelligence collection work is concentrated in the Tonis Fortress and the Millennium Covenant Empire. The former is to help Sean find the whereabouts of Elizabeth and others, and to inquire about the location of Asuna and other evidence and intelligence collection, the latter is to monitor the movement of the undead army, and despite the high-level contact with the Millennium Covenant Empire.

In addition, there are also many intelligence personnel in the Void Realm who are active on William and Hela. They must find a way that can be easily excavated or can sneak into the Fortress of Torus.

The latter is for Cooperate with Hella's military mobilization to investigate the enemy's base camp and the distribution and deployment of troops.

Only to go to Garrod Fortress to support Simi in this direction, and did not deploy any intelligence personnel in the void to investigate.

Because in the eyes of William, Sean and others, troops in this direction should be the safest.

Aldolf is in the lead, followed by the Scarlet Knights and the First Corps troops. As long as the three legions temporarily transferred by Hela arrive outside the Tonys Fortress, Nok's Second Infantry Regiment can also immediately rush to help. Garrod Fortress. To put it simply, the distribution and arrangement of forces alone is already very powerful, and there is no need to fear the private soldiers of the nobles along the way, not to mention whether these private soldiers dare to attack the troops of the Void Principality.

But in this situation that no one had expected, Robin's troops of the Knight Nation were actually penetrated into this situation-no, it can't be said to be deep. Aldolf is not a newcomer who knows nothing, look at the black wolf. The formation of the Knights and the harassment of the Cheetah Knights along the way should be guessed that Robin Knight Nation may have been on the line with the nobles here long ago. This time it was entirely due to the blockade of Tonis Fortress. Dare to appear in fanfare.

Now that this piece of information has just been exposed, the Void Principality has not been prepared for it at all. If it is raided by Robin Knights' troops, the Void Principality's territory outside the Xardi Fortress will suffer an extremely fatal blow and destroy. This is the reason why Aldolf immediately ordered people to return, and this clue must be brought back to Neil.

"You led ten thousand people back along the road. If the number is too small, you will not be the opponent of the Cheetah Knights."

"Then your lord..."

"I still have forty thousand troops, can I still defeat this Black Wolf Knights?" Aldolf laughed boldly, "What's more, I am not fighting alone. Behind us, Dwight and the others We have also rushed over. Even if we are forced to use tactics that we are not good at this time, we will never fall so easily. Because we are the void citizens who came out of that death training camp."

"I see." Without arguing or saying what to die together, the adjutant nodded calmly, then nodded a troop to quickly return along the road, "We will pass Lord Nok's camp before tomorrow night. " seemed to faintly wanted to attack, but in the end he was stopped by the enemy's commander.

Watching the adjutant leave with 10,000 soldiers, the Black Wolf Knights had a commotion.

The opponent had heard of Aldolf's greatness. Although he did not think that his Black Wolf Knights would lose to the opponent in a frontal battle, the new commander above gave a detailed strategic plan. Therefore, No matter how unwilling he is, he must follow this plan. At this moment, their task is to delay as much as possible to rescue the Void Principality army in the Duchy of Garrod, so if Aldolf's mobile infantry regiment does not attack, they do not need to take the lead in attacking.

"There is only one thing I want to say to you." Aldorf chuckled, his expression free and natural, without the tension of the coming war, he put his helmet on his head, and then drew his sword." Although I have said it many times, I still want to say it again now. Either you will get rich military service and get promoted and leave my command, or you will die in this battlefield. You choose."

As the saber swung down, Aldorf was the first to ride out.

Behind him, there were 20,000 soldiers shouting excitedly!

The war that has been restrained between the Void Principality and the Kingdom of Lane finally broke out at this moment due to the fuse of Robin's intervention by the Knight Kingdom!

Chapter 89: .Muddy water

The sky was faint, the setting sun was sinking, and the gradual night breeze brought a slight chill.

Four tents have been erected on a high  on a flat ground with a leeward wind. In the middle of the tent is a ignited fire with a small pot on it. Lily is pouring the prepared ingredients into it one by one, stirring with a spoon from time to time, or adding some condiments, quickly There will be a strong fragrance floating.

"Lily, don't put Roman herbs in the soup." Phil changed his clothes, then walked out of a tent and shouted to Lily who was cooking.

"What did you say?" Lily threw the chopped romain vanilla into the pot, and then evenly mixed the chopped romain vanilla with a spoon.

Phil looked at the pot of fragrant thick soup, his face was tangled and painful: "No... nothing more."

"Oh." Lily nodded, and then continued to cook her own cooking, "As long as Zorro can successfully get the meat back, you're done.... By the way, Luo?"

"He's sleeping, and the night is his first watch." Phil said with a sigh. He doesn't like the smell of Roman coriander, so this pot of delicious soup that smells scent is probably insulated from him. He only I can hope that Zorro and Anna can bring back enough meat, "If Zorro and Anna cooperate... they should be able to bring back a lot of meat."

"The two of them will definitely be fine." As the leader of this bounty team, Yun also walked out of a tent at this time.

After Sean joined the bounty hunter team, they did not waste time. After that simple and fierce competition, the next day everyone set off to the underground ruins mentioned before Yun. However, because of the relationship on the road, they had to stop temporarily to rest, and therefore set up such a temporary camp. Except for the one used by Yun as the captain of the four tents, the other six people all use one tent in pairs.

But in this way, I also see everyone's survivability in the wild.

Although Lily has almost no combat skills, she is born with a talent for finding suitable resting spots, and she also has unique abilities in finding water sources. The only thing that can be compared with Lily in this respect is Sean, but Sean does not have the powerful cooking talents of Lily-Lily's housekeeping ability is already beyond the level of the plane.

In addition to Lily and Sean, the big man and Anna also have good survivability, and they are all at a level that can make them at least not hungry. Immediately there was Phil, who was barely able to find something to eat, of course, don't demand anything like the taste. On the contrary, it is Yun and Luo who seem to be powerful, savvy, and strong in hands-on ability, but unexpectedly they have no ability to survive in the wild. Once the dry food and drinking water they carry are used up, they will basically be hungry.

In this way, Sean also understood why Yun had to take Lily with him on the road.

Without Lily, the cat race half-orc, the combat effectiveness of this bounty hunter squad might have dropped by two levels.

At this time, in the woods not far from the camp, Sean and Anna had just finished a hunt, and the trophy was a huge steel-toothed wild boar.

Steeltooth boar, although it is a monster, it is not aggressive, and it also has a hard skin to protect itself. People who are not strong in the Bronze realm cannot cope with this kind of wild boar, not to mention that the steeltooth boar is usually a family unit. If it weren't for the good meat quality of this wild boar, it is the food that many taverns and hotels like to buy, and generally not many people are willing to provoke these monsters.

Sean and Anna captured this steel-toothed wild boar, which is already the top level of the third level, and the steel-toothed wild boar like this has been at least more than ten years old. Relatively speaking, the meat quality is not suitable for pubs and hotels and meat steak production, because this wild boar belongs to the old pig, the meat is harder and tough, but if it matches the broth that Lily cooked tonight, it would be perfect Match. Moreover, the steel teeth wild boar that is thoroughly boiled will have a chewy texture.

"Ah, that's right." Shaun, who was walking with the steel-toothed boar, said suddenly.

"What's wrong?" asked Anna who was next to Sean.

"Anna, you can drag the steeltooth boar back first." Xiao En laughed, "I suddenly remembered that with Lily's broth, if you can add blackberry snake fruit, the taste will be even better. The kind is slightly more subtle. It has a slightly spicy taste, and it has a sweet and sour sensation when it enters the throat. It is as delicious as drinking fruit wine!...I'm going to look for blackberry snake fruit nearby."

Just listening to Sean's description, Anna's eyes lit up: "Okay, then you go look for it....Be careful."

"Got it." Xiao En smiled and waved his hand, then turned back and walked towards the forest queen who had just walked out.

And Anna dragged this steel-toothed wild boar, which weighs at least several hundred kilograms, towards the camp.

After Anna completely walked out of the woods, Sean, who was standing in the shadow of the forest, slowly walked out of the shadow, but the look on his face was no longer as relaxed and casual as before, but revealed a solemn look.

"Find Asuna?" Sean asked in a deep voice.

"I'm sorry, Lord Sean, I haven't been able to find out the specific whereabouts of Grand Duke Asuna." In the shadow that Sean was facing back, a vague figure gradually emerged. "But at least it is certain that Grand Duke Asuna is being held. The specific location of the capital city is still uncertain, but there are already several places that have been listed as key suspects, and the scope is gradually narrowing."

"What about the underground ruins I asked you to investigate?" Xiao En frowned, but still suppressed a slight anxiety in his heart.

As early as Yun revealed the news about the underground ruins, Xiao En had already used special contact information to let the intelligence personnel of the Void Realm go first to investigate the relevant news about the underground ruins. To put it bluntly, he doesn't trust Yun, because this Zenas woman feels very strange to him, at least her own strength is definitely not just as simple as it appears on the surface, but even she is very interested in this one. The underground ruins, if Sean doesn't pay attention to it, he might be sold by someone at that time.

A grand prince of the void, if he was sold like this, it would be really a shame.

For this, Sean temporarily issued an order to send some people to investigate the relevant information of the underground ruins in the Void Realm in the Senai area. One of the most important tasks is to determine whether Elizabeth and others are still hiding in this underground ruin, or other clues about Elizabeth and others.

"I'm sorry, Lord Sean." The intelligence officer was a little embarrassed, but he also had a lot of helplessness, because it was only three days since Sean gave this order, even if they were empty in three days. Zhijing couldn't collect much information, not to mention that this is still an underground tomb remains. "This underground tomb is bigger than expected, and the survey is very time-consuming. Judging from the current known situation...this underground tomb is one of them. There are too many traces of people's activities on the first and second floors, and it is impossible to make accurate judgments. The third layer has started to say that although the traces of activities are much less, the danger has also increased a lot, so..."

"I see." Xiao En nodded, "Let others pay attention to safety. There is no need to take risks. I will be able to arrive in four days at most. I suspect that it is the mausoleum of King Ryan. If it is confirmed to be this If you have any clues, you must evacuate the tomb as soon as possible, and you are not allowed to enter the fifth floor without authorization."

The spy agent of the void realm was taken aback. He had never directly contacted Shaun. This was the first time he had faced the legendary Void Lord, Shaun. Hearing Sean's very caring tone at this time made him feel a little unbelievable, because he had seen too many spies who were just used as tools or abandoned, let alone like them. People of orphan origin.

"We will pay attention." The spy agent calmed down his emotions, and then said in a deep voice.

"Okay, then you can leave first."

"Master Shaun, this time I came here, the main purpose is not to report these two things." Seeing that Shaun was going to leave, the spy said, "I came here rashly to meet, it was Master Neal who sent the order. Let me report a message to you and ask you to make a decision as soon as possible."

"Decision?" Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, then his face was solemn, "What happened?"

A wind rang, and a note shot at Sean from the shadows.

Reached out, Xiao En quickly unfolded the note.

just glanced at it, and the look on his face suddenly changed.

The sound of insects that could have been heard occasionally, suddenly disappeared without a trace, leaving only the rustle of wind blowing through the woods. As the breath exuding from Sean gradually increased, the entire forest became more and more quiet, and even faintly felt a daunting feeling.

"Robu enters the war in the Knight Kingdom?" Sean turned around and looked at the shadow, "Why didn't there have been news about this before!?"

"Because of the opening of the fourth battlefield, all the spy personnel in charge of the northwest area outside the Great Wall were temporarily transferred back, resulting in a sharp drop in the monitoring of the northwest area outside the Ryan Great Wall." This spy staff was obviously also somewhat helpless, "plus Robin. The Knight Nation has long colluded with the people in the northwest aristocratic circle outside the Great Wall. Therefore, the opposing knights have received the cooperation and cover of the nobles from all over the way, so we could not find it in the first time."

"The Northwest aristocratic party...have it rebelled?"

"As far as the current situation is concerned, this is obviously the case." The spy replied, "According to the feedback received by the investigators urgently dispatched by Lord Neal, this time it is the Robin Knights and the Karosha tribe. The United Nations invasion of the northwest aristocratic circle of the Kingdom of Lane. The two countries have formed an alliance. According to earlier news, it was a conspiracy negotiated between Prince Grenn of the Kingdom of Lane and the other party, and the opponent sent troops to support the attack on the Principality of Garrod. Because of the sudden confrontation between our Void Principality and the Kingdom of Line, the other party broke the agreement with the Kingdom of Line and directly launched an invasion war against the Kingdom of Line."

"The current situation is that the northwestern area outside the Ryan Fortress has become a chaotic battlefield. The main force of the United Nations of the Karosha tribe is launching an attack on the Garrod Fortress. The advance force of the Robin Knights is the four major knights, the angry lion knights. The regiment is suppressing the Ryan nobles who refused to surrender. Originally was responsible for the suppression of the Dragon Knights. It was only because of the battle between the Black Wolf Knights and Lord Aldolf's mobile infantry group, so now the Dragon Knights had to move. Front to prevent our counterattack and revenge... But as the battle progresses, it is only a matter of time before the northwestern circle outside the Great Wall is annexed, because more and more Lane nobles have surrendered."

Sean squeezed the sticky note in his hand, and the look on his face was so ugly and ugly.

The content on the note is only a short message.

"Fight broke out between the mobile infantry regiment and the Robin Black Wolf Knights. The Black Wolf Knights suffered about 8,000 casualties. Only more than 7,000 people from the mobile infantry regiment managed to escape, and more than 42,000 died. The third and fourth lieutenants were killed on the spot. , The fifth lieutenant died due to ineffective treatment, the second lieutenant was slightly injured, and the commander Aldolf was severely injured and unconscious, and he was not out of danger."

The battle between 20,000 and 40,000 resulted in Aldolf's almost annihilated.

More than one to eight battle loss ratio!

The Black Wolf Knights said that there were 8,000 casualties, but the death toll was definitely less than 5,000.

Only in a battle, the mobile infantry regiment was directly beaten to the verge of retreat, so you can see how powerful the Black Wolf Knights are. Of course, Sean did not know the actual situation of the war at that time, but no matter what the process was, as far as the current results were concerned, Sean could not be angry.

"Well, Robin and Carlos, they dare to take advantage of the fire at this time." Sean's face was furious.

The spy took a cautious look at Sean, gritted his teeth, and still bit his scalp and said, "Master Sean, please calm down. Lord Neal said that our national strength cannot support the opening of the fifth battlefield. Whether it is the military, the generals, or the logistics, it is already in a state of extreme operation. So he wants you to make a decision. At the moment, continue to open the battle and start the war with the Kingdom of Lane, or first withdraw from the Tonis Fortress and fully deal with the northwest. Intruder?"

"Where's Dianna!" Sean's inner anger almost turned into substance, "Is there no result of her mission? How does the foreign ministry work?"

"There is no news about Lord Diana..." The spy had just spoken halfway, and his eyes changed slightly, "Offend, Lord Sean."

After that, with a shake of his right hand, he slid a dagger from his sleeve, and stabbed it towards Sean.

Shaun hit back with a backhand, and the long sword in his hand was spotted on the stabbed dagger.

Taking advantage of the impact of this blow, the spy agent retreated into the shadows at a faster rate since then. After that, before Sean pursued it, he shot dozens of daggers from the darkness to take out Sean's whole body. . As a result, Sean naturally couldn't pursue it, so he had to draw his sword and turn around to defend, and then removed all the daggers that were shot at him.

Chapter 90: .doubt

The sound of wind swept across quickly.

Before the person arrived, Anna's voice already came: "Zorro, are you okay!"

Shaun turned around and saw Anna running quickly with a sword. Behind Anna, there are still a few figures, obviously not as fast and explosive as Anna's big man and Phil, but the cloud did not come. It is estimated that he should be in the camp to protect the maid Lily.

"It's okay." Sean shook his head slightly.

"Luo has gone after it." Anna saw that Sean didn't have any injuries, so she was slightly relieved, "Who is the other party?"

"I don't know either." Xiao En shook his head, "But the opponent's strength is not weak, Luo chases it alone...is it okay?"

"No problem, no problem." Anna patted her chest, as if she was packing a ticket, "Don't underestimate Luo, he is amazing."

Sean smiled, did not say anything.

The strength of the members of the Void Realm, he is very clear, especially for this kind of person who can serve as the person in charge of a region, the strength must stand up, otherwise he will not be able to convince the crowd at all. So don't look at that spy officer, like Luo, who only has the strength of the golden realm, but the combat experience and vision are absolutely superior to Luo. If Luo can kill the opponent, then Sean will really doubt Luo's true identity. .

Soon, the big man and Phil rushed over, and they were relieved after confirming that Sean had no problems.

"Did you offend someone?" Sean hadn't paid much attention to it. He was only worried about himself because he and them are now in a small team, but from the current situation, it is obvious that Anna Waiting for people to react too much, this had to arouse Sean's curiosity.

Phil gave up, did not say anything, did not know whether to say disdain or not to take things seriously.

On the contrary, the big man showed a tangled appearance, and Anna's face also showed a little apologetic: "Well, we really can't say that. After going back for a while, you can ask Yun. She knows more and knows better. , The explanation is much clearer than those of us who are half-knowledgeable."

Shaun nodded, without saying anything.

"Then let's go back." Phil glanced at the direction that the spy had evacuated, and didn't see anything, he could only turn around and said.

"Aren't you waiting for Luo?" Sean asked.

"Let's go, let's say that Luo is very good, don't worry about him." Anna took over and said, "Don't look at Luo as if there is no way to confront us head-on, what he is really good at is not this kind of head-on fight at all. , Anyway, the person he is looking at has no good end.... This guy is not like a human being, and I don't know where Yun got the ruthless character."

"I heard that they were from the North Continent before?" Phil touched his shaggy beard, thought for a while, and said, "It seems that he still has some fame.... Only later offended Deaththorn, and then left the North Continent. Before, I heard that the Deaththorn Lair on the northern continent was destroyed by the Peace Council. I wanted to go back to the northern continent, but I was persuaded by Yun not knowing what was going on."

"You know so much." The big man said with some envy.

"It was all heard in the black market bar, who knows whether it is true or false." Anna pierced Phil's pride, "It's not bad that this kind of statement is 30% credible. But one thing that is certain is that Luo and Yun do know each other. It's been a long time, and then Luo is indeed from the North Continent....Others, it's hard to say."

Sean just listened quietly to what Anna and others said, and did not interrupt to make any remarks.

He used to be a mercenary, so he is naturally aware of such things as asking for information in a tavern. In particular, he knows more than more people the secrets that many people in this world don't know—for example, how Deaththorn deals with the enemies they have targeted. If Luo really offends Deaththorn, unless he has a strong hole card and power like him, it is impossible to run across the entire continent to the southern continent, because Deaththorn has long been buried in the yellow sand.

The four quickly returned to the camp.

As Sean had expected before, Lily obviously didn't care about this kind of battle. She handled the steel-tooth wild boar on her own, and there were already many fist-sized cubes of meat in the soup pot. Originally, it was just a vegetable soup with a delicate fragrance. At this time, there was also a strong meaty fragrance. The two fragrances seemed to be separated from each other when they first smelled, but after a deep breath, they had a strong smell that stimulated the appetite.

Cloud's cooking ability is completely zero, but he can still help out.

When Xiao En and others entered the camp, they happened to see her spread thin slices of meat on an iron plate. This was probably the part that was going to be used as a barbecue for a while. In addition, beside these prepared barbecue ingredients, there are more than 30 skewers that have been skewered. The meat quality of each skewers is the same. The combination of fat and lean makes people mouth-watering at first glance, Lily. Shi is adding seasonings to these skewers and barbecues.

"Are you back?" Yun raised his head and looked at Xiao En and others, and then said, "Is it all right?"

"It's okay." Xiao En repeated what he had just dealt with Anna and the others.

But looking at the appearance of the cloud, she didn't seem to have any plans to delve into it, so she just continued to help Lily while nodding her head. And when I asked about Sean's situation just now, the questioning attitude was quite casual. Obviously, I didn't really think that Sean would be harmed. Of course, I didn't ask about Luo's situation. If it's not very certain that Sean and Luo are the two In terms of strength, then what she knows.

"Do you know something?" Sean asked.

Yun raised his head and glanced at Sean, hesitated for a moment, but still put down the work at hand, and Anna soon came over to take over. And after Yun wiped his hands a little, he greeted Xiao En, signaled Xiao En to follow, and took Xiao En out of the camp to find a slightly clean and quiet place.

"If I guessed correctly, it should be the people from Ghost Eye and Thunder Dragon." Yun sighed, and then said helplessly, "In fact, I didn't find the underground tomb alone. It was discovered inadvertently by people with ghost eyes. It's just that the tomb is so full of institutions that they and the group couldn't eat it, but a few people were damaged, so they went to find Thunder Dragon to cooperate.... You should be able to guess the process. Thunder Dragon definitely doesn't believe in Ghost Eye, so he took someone to try it out. After suffering a big loss, he had to discuss cooperation with Ghost Eye."

Ghost Eye Blade and Thunder Dragon Squad, both are the top five powerful teams in the black market of Pointe-Noire. Unlike general bounty hunters or demon hunters who like to be alone, these teams that were formerly mercenaries or mercenaries tend to be more powerful in combat effectiveness, and they are also more adept at group combat, even though they are forced by the environment As a result, they became bounty hunters or demon hunters, but the essence of that set has not changed.

Even though Sean appeared to be listening quietly, he had been observing the cloud's performance in secret all the time.

Intuition tells her that even in this so-called "fact", Yun also hides a lot of things.

Distinguishing the correctness and truthfulness of information is the first lesson for mercenaries.

Unfortunately, Sean can definitely be regarded as a top student in this course.

"It was a very coincidental situation that I learned about this news.... In fact, not only me, but also people from the White Wolf team and the Hurricane team have heard of this secret, but we refuse to take orders from Ghost Eye and Thunder Dragon. Instead, she chose to do her own things." Yun said, and she turned her head to look at Xiao En, revealing a rather pitiful appearance, "But after this, we were suppressed by Ghost Eye and Thunder Dragon. It wasn't until the hurricane team threatened that if they continued to suppress it, they would publicize the underground mausoleum and let the entire underground world of Lane Kingdom know, and then Ghost Eye and Thunder Dragon slightly converged."

"Let me guess, the Hurricane Squad is the first team to be killed afterwards, and all of them died?" Sean said. Although he was "guessing", his tone was very positive. The accident was caused by the people of Ghost Eye and Thunder Dragon? It has nothing to do with the bounty mission. You just used this as an excuse to win others to join your team, and then use the test as an excuse to see the strength of the joiner. Throw out the news of this underground mausoleum treasure again?"

"Almost." Yun smiled bitterly. "The Hurricanes and the White Wolf squad did happen after this. I can also be sure that it is definitely the handwriting of the ghost eye and the thunder dragon. Because the ghost eye is best at this kind of assassination, and Thunder Dragon... You should know by the name. These people control the power of the Thunder system far beyond your imagination. It is not surprising that the White Wolf squad died in their hands.... So if there is no self-protection ability, even Our invitation to join the team is nothing more than sacrifice."

Shaun nodded thoughtfully.

What's going on with the Hurricane team, Sean doesn't know. But listening to the description of the big man before, Sean was absolutely certain that the deaths of the seven members of the White Wolf team had nothing to do with the Thunder Dragon team. It was 100% Elizabeth's thunder bombardment.

Although he has a feeling of being used as a gun at this moment, but for the time being, he and Yun's purpose is still consistent, so there is no need to turn his face. It's just that he didn't expect that the temporary act of his subordinates actually led to such a hidden fact—Sean was certain that Yun knew nothing about the underground tomb. She said it so simple.

A woman with a mysterious origin and unknown strength.

Sean finds this event more and more interesting. Now he is rejoicing that there are clues from Elizabeth and others at the tomb, so he must go on this trip, otherwise he can only regret to give up participating in this event. .

"I'm sorry I concealed something from you before." Yun apologized to Xiao En, "So now... after knowing the danger, how do you plan?"

"Do I still have a choice?" Xiao En laughed, "I left the black market in Pointe Noire with you. Many people have seen it, and now I have been assassinated. If I break away at this time, even if I am with the ghost Yan and Thunder Dragon said that I don't know anything, do you think they will believe it?"

Yun showed a smile: "That's right, the other party will definitely reduce one opponent before speaking."

Afterwards, both Xiao En and Yun did not mention this matter tacitly, but chose to return to the camp together.

Before entering the camp, she already smelled the rich smell of meat, and it was obvious that Lily had already prepared dinner. And in the camp, Luo had already returned, but his face looked unusually ugly, and Anna, Phil and others beside him also frowned.

"What's the matter?" Yun realized that something was wrong and asked.

"Luo failed to kill the opponent." Phil said from the side.

"No solution?" This time, even Yun was a little surprised, "Did you fail?"

Hearing this, Luo's face became even more ugly: "It's not as simple as a miss. I fought the opponent twice, but obviously didn't want to get entangled with me, so I just pushed back and left. In the second clash, I fought back. After me, the opponent made a charge and assassination action, but I didn't expect it to be a dangling attack. When I reacted, I was pulled away by the opponent, and then... I lost it."

"Is it lost?" Yun frowned, "You lost it..."

"I guess that someone else has joined." Luo frowned. "From the strength of the opponent, he doesn't look like a ghost eye. At least, as far as I know, there is no strong role for ghost eye. ."

Shaun's eyes narrowed slightly: It's interesting.

"Well, no matter who is here, our plan will remain the same." Yun thought for a while, and said, "Anyway, it's too late for us to return, so let's continue to move towards the tomb...at night. At that time, Luo you worked harder. Since you can escape from your hands, the other party is obviously not an ordinary person."

"I see." Luo nodded, saying nothing.

Of course, the others did not continue to say anything at this moment, and the atmosphere in the camp seemed a bit depressed.

But Sean knew that, except for Yun and Lily, everyone else was secretly looking at him. Anna said before that Luo is not as weak as it seems. In fact, this is referring to Luo's assassination skills. Even Anna can't resist it, but Sean is facing that Biro is even more powerful. After the assassin's assassination, he left unharmed, which is naturally very suspicious.

At least, it's not as strong as Shaun's disguised "Zorro" should have.

"Okay, let's eat first, I'm almost starving to death." Yun said to break the silence, "Whoever doesn't have a secret trick or the like, is a member of his team, so don't have this kind of emotion. ...Let's think about it first, how to enter the third floor of the tomb."