Love Change Of Heart Chapter 571-At the press conference, Jonathan appeared after all the reporters had arrived.

He smiled and said, "Sorry for keeping you all waiting. The reason why we're having the press conference today is to announce three things."

The previous noisy scene fell silent immediately.

Jonathan said, "The rumors on the internet these past two days are all false. Mrs. Pearson has indeed passed away, but she wasn't murdered; she had committed suicide. The reason Old Mr. Pearson became paralyzed was that he witnessed Mrs. Pearson's suicide with his own eyes, which caused him to be traumatized and immediately triggered a cerebral infarction."

As soon as he said this, there was a lot of discussion below the stage.

Most of them asked, "Why did she commit suicide?"

Jonathan replied, "The reason for the suicide will not be disclosed to the public for the time being. There were many people present when Mrs. Pearson committed suicide, and I also have a forensic report, so the authenticity of Mrs. Pearson's suicide can be confirmed."

Before the reporters could ask any further, he continued, "The second thing is that I have seen many ridiculous comments claiming that President Pearson planned the car accident that caused the paralysis of Young Master Pearson twenty years ago. Ladies and gentlemen, President Pearson was not even ten years old at that time, and anyone who claims that he planned the car accident is either maliciously slandering him or has serious mental issues."

Regarding this rumor, if it had been circulated in the past, most people would not believe it. However, this time, with Sienna's death and Gordon Pearson's paralysis happening together, the rumor did not seem as implausible, and it appeared to be something Aidan might've done.

However, it was only after Jonathan's reminder that everyone realized Aidan was just a child twenty years ago and could not have planned the car accident. Needless to say, it was ridiculous.

At this moment, someone in the crowd asked, "Why isn't President Pearson here at today's press conference?"

Someone else chimed in immediately, "Yeah. If he's not guilty, then why is he hiding?"

Jonathan remained calm and replied, "This brings me to the third thing I want to address. President Pearson was attacked at the Pearson Family Estate a few days ago. He is now severely injured and unable to move in the hospital. I know that everyone is curious about what's going on in the Pearson Family, but it is not something I can explain in just a few words. The deceased has passed on, and out of respect for the living, President Pearson has decided not to pursue the matter further. However, this is not a reason for anyone to attack him."

He was clearly beating around the bush, and all the reporters knew it.

After the press conference, everyone left.

Only a few people who had caused the most trouble earlier were stopped and asked, "What do you want to do?"

Jonathan approached them and smiled slightly. "We have already found out that you guys wrote those rumors online."

They looked at each other and Jonathan returned to the hospital and explained, "President Pearson, we've handled everything. We didn't get any other information, though. They were probably just paid to do it, and the people have been sent to the police station."

Aidan nodded lightly and responded, "This is before her death is far from over. Keep watching."

"Okay," Jonathan replied.

Just then, Keaton walked in and said, "President Pearson, the discharge procedures have been completed."

Aidan stood up and said, "Let's go."

As they were on their way back to the Pearson Group, a group of reporters and curious onlookers were discussing the insider information about this wealthy family's grievances. At that moment, an anonymous account posted an online article that detailed the events of the incident.

The most important thing mentioned in the article was that Sienna had deliberately caused the car accident that Leanna was in during her pregnancy. She wanted to kill both Leanna and the child, and even after that, she remained unrepentant and continued to mock and attack them.

The article also mentioned the incident that happened a few days ago at the Pearson Family Estate, where the Pearson Family took the child away, and Sienna tried to suffocate the child in front of everyone with Polyn. After her plan was exposed, she chose to commit suicide.

Together with this explosive revelation, the whistleblower attached some information about Leanna's car accident and the investigation results from the police, proving that the brakes had been tampered with, and the car belonged to Pearson Family.

In addition, there was also Polyn's testimony and transcript.

'What a plot twist. I am speechless.'

'To be honest, if this exposé is true, hands. It's hard for me not to support him.'

'To intentionally cause a car accident when the mother is pregnant in hopes to kill her and the child is cruel enough. They even made someone suffocate the child in front of President Pearson. My goodness, it gives me the chills.'

'This feud between such a wealthy family is terrifying. They're they act like they have deep-seated hatred toward each other.'

'Come on, they're not really family. I heard that President Pearson is their illegitimate child, which Sienna leaked to the media. There are also rumors that President Pearson caused the car accident that paralyzed her son. I think this is where her hatred comes from. I feel like she's mentally unstable.'

'But an illegitimate child is still a child. You can't change that.'

'I think a person can't choose their own background. President Pearson's abilities are evident to everyone. Even if he wasn't taken back to the Pearson Family, he would still be outstanding.'

'I agree. After this incident, I realized that we shouldn't jump to conclusions too soon. Who knows? There might be another twist regarding the illegitimate child in the future.'

After scanning through the comments

Jonathan shook his head. Aidan gave Justin a last to the public, so he wouldn't do something sneaky like that.

Aidan's thin lips curved into a slight smile.

As Jonathan had said before that Aidan couldn't leave the hospital until his wound was healed, he asked, "What's so funny?"

"What is Leanna doing these days?"

"Madam just found a house and moved in today."

"Where does she live?"

"Next door to Zoe since it's more convenient to have someone look after her."

"What about the child?"

"The Young Master is doing well." Jonathan hesitated before asking, "President Pearson, should we go back to the company?"

Aidan replied, "If we don't go back to the company, where do you want to go?"

Jonathan coughed and pretended nothing was ever said.

After a while, Aidan spoke again. "Check if the house next to Leanna is still available and buy it."

Remembering what Leanna had said, Jonathan reminded him in a low voice, "President Pearson, Madam will be angry if you do this."

"If I don't do this, will she not be angry?"

Jonathan was silent, knowing that Aidan was right.

At that moment, Oscar called. He had personally sent Naomi to a safe place and had just settled things there. Now, he was getting ready to return.

Aidan said, "Just go to Jamesdon."

Oscar asked in surprise, "Jamesdon?"

Aidan responded calmly, "Check what's going on over there and let me know if there's any news."

Jonathan asked, "President Pearson, didn't you already send people to Jamesdon a while ago? Why —"

Aidan replied calmly, "Perhaps we'd get two different answers."

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 572-On the other side, Leanna had finished tidying up and placed the baby, who had been playing in the crib, onto the crawling mat.

The little one started crawling everywhere and pushed any toys that were blocking his path to the side. Leanna sat nearby, watching him with a slight smile on her lips.

Louis returned after taking out the trash. "It's almost dinner time, so should we go out to eat?"

She looked away and replied, "Can you watch him for me? I'll make something."

"I'll go," he offered. "I'll pick up some groceries and fruit while I'm out as well."

"Hey." Leanna called after him, "When are you going back to school?"

"Today's Saturday," he answered.

She was speechless for a moment.

Shortly after Louis left, the doorbell rang. Leanna opened the door and saw Zoe leaning against the door frame. She blinked in surprise before saying, "Hey, can I join you for dinner?"

Leanna smiled and welcomed her inside and mentioned, "Come in. Louis just went out to buy groceries."

Zoe's eyes lit up at the news. "Well, I'm in luck then!"

Daniel arrived shortly after with a freshly brewed pot of soup. He placed the pot on the table and said, "Leanna, I've taken care of everything you asked me to."

Leanna hesitated for a moment before replying, "Thank you."

"Not at all. After Pearson Family's press conference, public opinion did change. However, some people still have doubts. However, ever since I posted the evidence you gave me, those voices have disappeared completely," he explained.

Zoe was snacking on some treats and commented, "I never thought I'd see the day when Aidan, who can be pretty ruthless, would show mercy on this matter."

Leanna replied calmly, "He didn't want to embarrass Justin."

If it was in the past, she might have taken Justin and Aidan's feelings into account, but ever since Sienna and Polyn suffocated their child in front of everyone, she didn't have the patience for it. It didn't matter what they did; as long as someone hurt her child, she would retaliate.

Daniel poured Zoe a glass of hot water and added, "It seems like Sienna had planned this in advance. She probably knew she was going to die."

Zoe snorted. "Even in death, she won't leave us alone. Wait a minute... Do you think she'll pull a fake death like that b*stard, Jethro?"

Leanna shook her head and said, "Many people saw her die."

Zoe patted her chest and said, "That's good. I have some after-effects from that time."

After a while, Leanna looked at Daniel and asked, "When did you find out?"

He chuckled dryly and said, "I only found out recently. I had suspected it before, but I didn't have any evidence."

She asked, "Was it when you and Louis left the private room together?"

Daniel didn't deny it and nodded lightly.

It was Louis who had proposed it and made a deal with him.

Zoe spoke up again. "Nana, what about you and President Pearson..."

Before she could finish her sentence, Daniel coughed.

Leanna was busy preparing milk powder for the little one and said, "Let's talk about it later."

Zoe thought it couldn't be left hanging like this. Aidan had not appeared for several days, and they didn't know what he was thinking. He might just end up falling deeper into the darkness, Zoe thought.

Soon, Louis bought some groceries and came back.

Leanna went into the kitchen and said, "Let me do it. You can wash the fruit."

He replied, "Okay."

Zoe, who was outside, shouted, "Nana, Daphne just told me that she's filming nearby. Should we invite her to dinner tonight?"

Leanna glanced at Louis and smiled. "Sure, let's invite her."

Louis washed the fruit in silence.

She noticed and asked, "How are things on your side?"

"What's up?"

"Studying? Working? Love life?"

Louis was speechless.

He hesitated before saying, "Nothing much has happened lately. I've been mostly at school, and I'll probably participate in a program during the summer."

Leanna asked, "Is it a talent show?"

She added, "I heard from Daphne that your company is going to do a talent show, and it's mainly going to feature you."

He replied, "It's not that one."

"Why not?"

"I don't like it, so I turned it down."

Leanna thought for a moment and realized Louis was not the type to jump around on stage.

She asked again, "So, what program are you going to participate in?"

Louis paused for a few seconds before saying, "An escape room program."

She was confused. "What's the main focus of the program?"

"Just solving puzzles."

Leanna was speechless again.

How typical of him, she thought to herself.

Daphne finished work late, but dinner was ready when she arrived.

She assumed that it was Zoe's house and looked around. Seeing that everyone was present, she asked, "Is President Pearson not here?"

Zoe cleared her throat and said, "Um..."

"Oh, by the way." Daphne looked at Leanna. "I saw the news today that President Pearson was injured and cannot get out of bed. Is that true?"

Leanna replied, "It's fake."

Daphne breathed a sigh of relief. "I knew it. That evil capitalist can't be seriously injured. It's usually someone else who gets hurt in front of him."

Hearing this, Leanna was thinking about something and paused for a moment.

Beside her, Zoe had been tugging on Daphne's sleeve the whole time.

Daphne asked in confusion, "What's wrong?"

"Haha, it's nothing... Do you want to eat an orange? Louis just bought some this afternoon, and they're pretty fresh."

Daphne replied, "No, thanks. I ate a lot of oranges while filming this afternoon."

Then, she saw the little guy waving his toy in the air and immediately looked at Zoe's tummy. She asked in shock, "Is it true?"

Realizing what she was thinking, Zoe patted her shoulder and whispered, "That's Nana and President Pearson's child. Also, they're having some conflict, so please don't mention him again."

Daphne immediately shut her mouth. Oops, did I say something I shouldn't have earlier?

At this point, Louis placed a box of yogurt in front of her.

Zoe looked over and protested, "Why didn't I get one?"

He remained unfazed and said, "Yogurt helps with digestion, and I think your appetite is pretty good, so you probably don't need it."

She was stunned upon hearing his words.

Daphne was also surprised. She had eaten a lot of oranges in the afternoon, but she hadn't reached the point where she couldn't digest them.

Before she could speak, Louis had already moved on to something else.

She looked at the yogurt in front of her, which was her favorite flavor of yellow peach. She grabbed a spoonful before suddenly meeting Zoe's curious gaze.

After locking eyes for a few seconds, Zoe suddenly leaned in and asked, "Have you started taking action?"

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 573

Daphne was stunned. "What actions?"

Zoe gestured with her eyes. “The thing we talked about last time—you know, during President Pearson’s birthday.”

Daphne was speechless as she recalled everything.

Wasn’t that just a joke? Why is she taking it seriously? Louis is six years younger than me. How dare I even consider it?

Before Zoe could ask more questions, Leanna and Louis came out of the kitchen.

The meal was quite pleasant.

Zoe asked Daphne, “I watched your last movie, and your acting is amazing. What genre is your next movie?”

Daphne replied, “It’s about a sports competition, but I won’t start shooting until the second half of the year. I have other jobs to do in between.”

“What kind of jobs? You seem very busy this year.”

She twitched her mouth and replied, “It’s about the evil capital... capitalism. This is life. I have to shoot two commercials next as well as two variety shows—one about flying, and one as a regular cast member.”

“Ah, I want to visit a filming location to see what it’s like. Unfortunately, I don’t think I have the chance anymore.”

“You can come to the studio when I film the variety show. It’s about a real-life escape room, which will be thrilling and exciting,” answered Daphne.

Leanna choked on her food and couldn’t help coughing. She was dumbfounded.

Daphne handed her a glass of water. “What’s up?”

She waved her hand. “When are you recording that variety show?”

“In two months during the summer. I heard the quizzes are insane this time, and it’s only a matter of time before they bring out advanced mathematics questions. I’ve already planned to just sleep in there. Whoever wants to solve the problems can go ahead since I don’t have that kind of intelligence.”

Leanna raised her eyebrows and looked at Louis. He avoided her gaze by picking up his glass to take a sip.

Zoe asked again, “Sounds interesting. Who is invited to the show?”

Daphne shook her head. “I don’t know yet. I heard the list hasn’t been finalized yet. I’ll get the full list before we start recording.”

“Then, I’ll come to visit you on set. Perhaps I’ll even meet some handsome guys and ask for their autographs.”

Daniel spoke slowly. “By then, your belly should be quite big. They might even give you a seat, let alone autographs.”

Zoe was speechless. How can he say something like that? she thought.

Meanwhile, Leanna hadn’t thought too much about Louis’ participation in at all. She couldn’t tell that he was that crafty.

At this moment, she suddenly felt something soft on her leg.

She lowered her head and saw that the little guy had crawled over at some point, holding onto her leg. His eyes were curved as he revealed two small milk teeth. He was making a muffled sound. “Ma. Ma.”

She was stunned for a moment. Then, she heard the little guy continue, “Pa. Pa.”

Leanna smiled gently and carried him up.

Zoe and Daphne’s hearts were completely melted by this scene. Daphne couldn’t help but whisper, “Are you sure this is President Pearson’s son? How could he have such a cute baby?”

Zoe whispered in response, “In theory, he provided the sperm, so he is the biological father.”

Louis and Daniel didn’t know what to say.

The little guy seemed to be interested and kept calling out ‘Mama’ and ‘Papa’ all night, his eyes gleaming with happiness.

When everyone left after dinner, Leanna took the little one to the bathroom and bathed him. She then put him to bed before coming out of the room.

In the living room, Louis had already washed the dishes and was disinfecting the toys on the carpet.

“Let me do it. Why don’t you rest?”

He replied, “I’ll finish in a moment.”

She then asked, “Why didn’t you send Daphne off?”

“Her driver is downstairs.”

Leanna’s lips curled up. “Okay. You should go rest.”

Louis put down what he was holding and said, “I’ve decided to take half a month off.”

She was puzzled. “Why?”

“I’ll watch the child. You can do your things.”

These past few days, Louis had not left the little guy’s side for even a moment. He had not even gone to the studio and Crossley Group.

He knew that she was too afraid to leave the child alone. She never dared to let her the child, never allowing the kid out of her sight.

She remained silent for a few seconds before saying, “I will think of another way. You have to study.”

“What other ways can you think of?”

Zoe was pregnant and couldn’t even take care of herself, plus Daniel had never taken care of a child. She couldn’t find anyone whom she could trust right now.

Leanna then said, “There’s always a solution. Let’s go to sleep and talk about it tomorrow.”

Back in her room, she lay on the bed looking at the little guy next to her and gently touched his nose. She pictured him hugging her leg and calling her 'Mama'. It would melt one's heart.

After a while, she turned on her phone and sent a message to Maya, asking her to meet up tomorrow afternoon.

When Maya received her message, she trembled in fear. She looked at her husband and said, "I knew it! She's coming to get even with me!"

Ever since Maya saw the news about Raymond being arrested for homicide, she had been haunted by guilt for introducing him to Leanna. On one hand, she regretted it deeply, and on the other hand, she was afraid that Leanna would seek revenge.

Richard comforted her, "I don't think Mrs. Pearson is that kind of person. You don't have to worry. There must be some other reason."

"What other reason? I'm getting goosebumps just thinking about it. Should we flee overnight?"

"If she wanted to hold you accountable for what you did before, she would have done it already. You don't need to worry now."

Although he had a point, Maya still muttered under her breath, "I'll see what she wants tomorrow. If it's no good, we'll run away."

When Maya arrived at the coffee shop the next afternoon, Leanna was already there waiting for her.

Maya took off her sunglasses, cleared her throat, and sat across from Leanna. "What do you want from me?"

Leanna sipped her coffee and queried, "Don't you think you owe me an explanation?"

Maya instantly felt like she was facing a great enemy. "You can't blame it on me! I didn't know he was that terrible back then. And I did it alone, so don't drag my husband into this!"

Leanna smiled. "You two have a great relationship. Although Richard is always busy, he still treats you well."

“Well, of course. He is my husband.”

Leanna continued, “Last time, you mentioned that you were looking for a job, right?”

Maya immediately sat up straight with elegance. “Don’t you already have enough people in your studio? Are you planning to open a new branch and hire me as a manager?”

“Help me take care of my child. You can come over in the morning before I leave and get off work when I come back in the evening,” Leanna replied.

Maya’s face turned pale in an instant. “Who do you think I am, a nanny? How dare you look down on me like that?!”

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 574-Leanna leaned back against the chair and smiled faintly. “You’re not a nanny because I’m not going to pay you.”

Maya was speechless and she said unwillingly, “Is this something a human would do?”

Leanna continued speaking slowly. “To be honest, when you first wanted to introduce Raymond to me, we both knew what you were after. I’ve never been a generous person, and people always describe me as cunning and vengeful.”

Maya hesitated. “Well... It’s been so long since that happened. If it’s not okay, I can apologize to you again, but please don’t take it out on my husband. I will take responsibility for what I’ve done.”

“Alright, but you have to agree to my condition.”

“What condition?”

“As I said earlier, help me take care of the child. But I’ll be upfront with you; if you agree to this, the safety of that child will be directly linked to the safety of your daughter,” Leanna said.

Maya’s expression changed. “What do you mean by that?”

Leanna’s lips curled slightly. “What I mean is that I will use your daughter as leverage. So, you should think carefully before giving me an answer.”

Maya frowned. "You're confusing me. What child? Where did the child come from?"

"Mine. I gave birth to it."

"With whom?"

Leanna just looked at her and didn't say anything.

Maya cleared her throat and took a sip of coffee. "How old is the child?"

"Around seven to eight months."

"I've had experience taking care of children, but I've never done it alone. There was always a nanny with me, so I can't guarantee that I can handle it by myself. If something goes wrong, and you blame me for it, who am I going to reason with?"

"Don't worry, there will be others. The child is well-behaved; you just need to take care of stuff like feeding and changing diapers. I'll be back at night."

Maya asked again, "Are you really not going to pay me?"

"Okay, how much do you want?" Leanna replied.

She stated a number. "This much?"

"Okay, we'll deduct it from your husband's salary."

Maya didn't know what to say. She berated,

Leanna was about to speak when a face suddenly flashed appeared on her lips.

Maya continued, "Okay, I'll take care of your child, but we need to set some ground rules. First, we'll forget about all the past grudges, and I admit that my jealousy was the reason. Second, you can't dislike me and take it out on my husband just because of your personal feelings. Third..." She paused. "How long do you want me to take care of your child?"

Leanna thought for a moment and said, "Not too long."

"That's fine. I can manage for a month

“What do you mean by that?”

Maya then said, “Raising a child is like raising a pet. After spending time together, you develop a bond. You don’t even pay me a salary, and if you want me to leave, I’ll have to leave. Won’t I be wronged?”

Leanna curled her lips again. “Okay, I understand.”

When they left the coffee shop together, Maya couldn’t help but She’s just a child.”

“I’m not joking,” Leanna replied softly. “I don’t have anyone suitable around me who can take care of my child. Besides, I don’t trust you, so I have to have some leverage.”

Maya clicked her tongue. “I don’t know what you’re doing. Aidan is your husband, whereas Zayn Elijah have both pursued you. Are you saying there’s no one around you suitable and trustworthy?”

Leanna turned to look at her. “Can they take care of a child?”

Maya was dumbfounded. After a while, she muttered again, “Don’t worry, as long as I’m alive, your son will be alive too. Don’t bring my daughter into this matter.”

“Let’s go.” Leanna raised her eyebrows.

Maya was not a bad person by nature. She had been jealous of Leanna since they were in school and enjoyed her failures. After graduating, she married Richard and became a housewife with a cute and obedient daughter. She had a happy and fulfilling family without having to worry about basic necessities and could get whatever she wanted, which gave her a sense of superiority.

However, after the events that had occurred, she

Most importantly, Leanna knew that she loved could trust and use, so that was why she sought after Maya.

Daniel had also lent her a hand.

Even if Maya took her child out, there shouldn’t be any problem.

On the way back, Leanna saw that the weather was starting to heat up, so she went to the mall and bought some lightweight clothes and baby powder for the little guy.

After getting into her car once she was done with shopping, she saw the towering Pearson Building in the distance.

She sighed at the coincidence of her coming here.

She heard that Aidan was discharged from the hospital yesterday, but she didn't know how that b*stard was doing or whether his injuries had improved or not.

Leanna thought for a moment, then went to a nearby restaurant to pick up some food and soup that would aid with wound healing. After that, she wore a mask and went into the Pearson Building.

She placed the items at the front desk and said, "Hello, please pass this on to Jonathan."

The front desk didn't recognize her. "Who are you?"

"I'm no one special. I'm just bringing him some food."

"But Mr. Stoll and President Pearson went out this afternoon. I don't know if they'll come back tonight. Do you want to give him a call?"

Hearing this, Leanna was stunned for a moment. "Where did they go?"

The front desk receptionist responded, "I don't know."

Leanna took the items back. "Forget it, then. Thanks."

That b*stard can really run. He's not even afraid of prolonging his recovery. Back in her car, she placed the food on the passenger seat. Perfect, there's no need to cook tonight. I just need to reheat it, she thought.

She parked the car downstairs, took out all the items she bought, and walked to the elevator with the items.

Just as she was about to free up one hand to press the elevator button, a hand reached over her and pressed the button.

She turned around and met a man's dark and quiet eyes.

After a few seconds, he turned his head expressionlessly.

Aidan didn't say anything and merely followed her into the elevator.

It was just the two of them in the elevator.

He asked in a low and magnetic voice, "Which floor?"

"Don't you know?"

"It was just a polite question."

After speaking, he selected the 17th floor.

Leanna was speechless. Polite, my *ss, she thought.

The bags in Leanna's hand were heavy. As she moved her arms, her hands were suddenly empty. Aidan had taken all the items from her.

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 575-Leanna stared at his injured arm. In less than two seconds, she took the bag of stuff back. "Never mind, thanks."

Aidan pursed his thin lips as he asked quietly, "Are you still mad?"

She said expressionlessly, "It's in my nature to stay mad for as long as I can."

He was speechless.

At least she was still willing to talk to him.

Just then, the elevator doors opened. Leanna walked out with everything in her hand. She placed the bag of stuff at the door so that she could free her hands to key in the password.

When the door opened, she took the bag of stuff inside.

She didn't close the door.

When Aidan saw that, he discreetly licked his lips.

Was she leaving it open for him? Wasn't this too good to be true?

After Leanna went in, she placed the bag of stuff on the table, then asked Louis, "How was he? Did he cry?"

Louis replied, "No, he's behaving quite well."

She raised the corners of her lips. She walked up to the little guy who was playing with his toys, then sat down in front of him. "Go and get some rest. I bought some food, so you can reheat them if you're hungry."

Louis said, "I'm going to wash some fruits."

He had just gotten up when he noticed the person pushing the door open and walking in. He said, "Now that I think of it, we seem to be running out of fruits. I'll buy more downstairs."

With that, he left in a hurry.

Aidan closed the door and walked up to Leanna, then sat leisurely on the couch.

When the little guy saw Aidan, he revealed two tiny teeth as he giggled.

Aidan curved his thin lips, then beckoned toward the child. The little guy immediately put down his toys and crawled over to Aidan.

Leanna was speechless. Weren't the two at odds with each other before? It seemed like they had bonded quite well recently.

She took a deep breath, then got up and boiled some water to make milk for the little guy.

When the water was at an appropriate temperature, Leanna poured it into the milk bottle and shook it. She was about to turn around and walk back when a figure leaned into her.

Aidan supported himself with both hands on the table, trapping her in his arms as he asked, "Are you still mad?"

Leanna raised her head and met his gaze. "Enough to power an entire building."

Aidan fell silent.

He chuckled in a deep voice, then leaned in closer to her, the tip of sorry. Please stop being mad at me, okay? Forgive me.”

She was unaffected, her expression calm as she responded, “I’ve given you so many chances before, but you don’t seem to care about what I think at all. Do you know that when I look back on how I behaved, I feel like I’m a fool being toyed with by you? Some time ago, I even suspected that I was sick and wanted to see the doctor. Even under those circumstances, you didn’t tell me the truth. Tell me, what am I forgiving you for? For treating me like a fool and deceiving me?”

Aidan said, “I didn’t stop you from seeing the doctor, did I?”

“Yes, but after talking to the doctor, I was even more convinced that I was crazy.”

She smoothed out her hair by her ear. “Even if you’re crazy, you’re still beautiful.”

Leanna looked at him expressionlessly, thinking that she should get some dish soap.

Aidan’s tone was low as he said, “I was originally thinking that I’d tell you everything when I brought him out of the Pearson Family, but I didn’t expect something to go wrong. I didn’t intend to hide it from you for so long, but I didn’t know how to approach the subject. I’m scared that you’d ignore me if you knew—just like what you’re doing right now.”

His voice was a little low with hints of desolation mixed in.

Leanna sneered. “Must be hard for you.”

He said, “As a man, carrying responsibilities like this shouldn’t be a big deal.”

She couldn’t be bothered with him as she reached out and pushed him. “Get off.”

Aidan was unmoving as he gazed intently at her with his dark eyes. “Honey, give me one more chance, alright?”

“So, you’re not moving, are you?”

Leanna stepped on his foot, and before he could react, she bent down and tunneled out of his embrace.

She sat next to the little guy, then poured some milk on the back of her hand. The temperature was just right. So, she carried the little guy in her arms and began feeding him.

The little guy sat in her embrace, holding the milk bottle with both hands. He quickly finished the milk, then looked up at Leanna as he waved the milk bottle in his little hands, saying happily, "Mama..."

Leanna curved her lips into a smile, then placed him next to the pile of toys. "Go and play."

Aidan walked over to them, then kneeled on one knee in front of the little guy. He scratched the child's chin as he said, "Come on, say 'Daddy'."

The little guy glanced at Aidan. There was no reaction from him as he mumbled continuously, "Mama..."

Aidan felt his veins pop. Since when had the child learned to call 'Mama' and nothing else?

When Aidan saw that the little guy was focusing all his attention on his intention of responding, he grabbed the toy from the child's hands as he repeated patiently, "Say 'Daddy'."

Noticing that his favorite toy was gone, the little guy pursed his lips, then turned around to hug Leanna's leg. Tears welled in his eyes as he sobbed, "Mama..."

Leanna looked at Aidan. "What's wrong with you? Why are you bothering him?"

"He's not calling me 'Daddy'."

"Isn't that normal?"

Aidan frowned, upset. "How is that normal?"

She carried the pitiful child in her arms. "Children can tell if you're good or not. If he's not calling you 'Daddy', it can only mean that you're not a good person in his eyes."

“Didn’t you see how happy he was when I came in just now?”

“He was just being polite.”

Aidan fell silent.

She was quick to pick up the skill of making things up on the spot.

Leanna gave the little guy another toy, and he instantly forgot about what just happened as he grinned.

Aidan looked at her, then said in a low voice, “I want to hold him too.”

Leanna was speechless because he sounded like a spoiled brat.

Unwilling to witness that again, she was about to pass him the little guy when he pulled her into his embrace. A familiar smell invaded her senses.

Before Leanna could say anything, Aidan’s voice sounded. “You promised that you wouldn’t ever leave me while I was in the hospital, but after I woke up, I never saw you.”

Leanna was quiet for a while. “Can you stop talking to me in that tone?”

She was getting goosebumps already.

“Can’t you see that I’m trying to appease you?”

“I think you’re trying to kill me.”

Aidan harrumphed. “Where did your conscience go?”

Leanna replied, “I have none for you.”

The little guy seemed uncomfortable getting squeezed between them, so he started making noises and trying to get out.

Leanna pushed Aidan away, then held the little guy as she moved aside, putting more distance between herself and Aidan.

Aidan took off his jacket and got up, then rolled his sleeves as he walked toward the kitchen.

She asked, "What are you doing?"

He said, "Just testing out how much longer you can be mad at me."

"Don't touch my—"

Crash!

It was the sound of plates breaking.

After all this while, Leanna had learned to stay calm as she listened to him breaking her tableware.

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 576-Aidan didn't get to spend even two minutes in the kitchen before Leanna chased him out.

As he listened to the movements in the kitchen, he had a small smile on his lips as he sat in front of the couch, saying to the child in an extremely patient voice, "Say 'Daddy'."

But the child acted like he hadn't heard anything as he played on his own and ignored Aidan.

When Louis came back with the fruits, Leanna had also plated the food she heated up, then placed it on the table.

Leanna said, "Louis, get Zoe to come over and eat."

Louis put down the fruits. "Okay."

Leanna turned to look at Aidan at the side. "Why are you still here?"

Aidan looked at her in bewilderment.

Leanna said calmly, "You can come whenever you want to see the child. This is your right as his father, but don't even dream about doing anything else."

Aidan's eyebrow twitched a little. "In that case, when can I exercise my rights as a boyfriend?"

Leanna gave him a perfunctory smile, then turned around and entered the kitchen.

Aidan looked at her receding figure, then licked his lips discreetly.

Never mind, we have all the time in the world, he thought.

When Aidan was about to leave, Zoe walked in at the same time. When she saw him, she was both shocked and surprised.

After watching Aidan leave, Zoe briskly walked up to Leanna. "Why is he here? And why is he leaving again?"

Leanna said, "He came to see his son, and he left once he was done."

"Huh?"

Was she entirely sure that he came to see the child and not her?

Zoe said, "It's almost time to eat, but you chased him out just like that. Isn't that too pitiful?"

Leanna didn't reply to that as she said, "The food's ready. Let's eat."

Zoe looked at the food on the table, her attention instantly drawn to the when you went out in the afternoon?" she asked.

Leanna fell silent.

It took a long while for her to say, "I just felt like it."

Downstairs, as soon as Aidan's figure appeared, Jonathan quickly rushed over to him. "President Pearson, there's something you should know."

"Speak."

"Just now, the receptionist called and told me that someone went to the company to deliver food for us. From their description, I think it must be Madam. However, the receptionist told Madam that we were not at the company, so she took the things with her and left."

Aidan paused for a moment as he remembered the takeaway boxes in Leanna's hand while they were in the elevator.

His eyebrows were slightly raised as he said slowly, "It's her."

Jonathan sighed in relief. There was still hope.

Aidan asked, "Is everything packed?"

"More or less. They can be moved in tonight."

Aidan opened the car door. "Let's go to the apartment first."

In the afternoon, the person in charge of the apartment called him and said that those floors required another renovation.

Some of Leanna's belongings were still there, so he could go over and retrieve them right now.

In the car, Jonathan received a call. "President Pearson, I just received news that Jimmy has bailed Raymond out."

Aidan's expression remained the same as if he weren't surprised by this.

He said, "Raymond knows quite a lot of Jimmy's weaknesses, so it's not a surprise that Jimmy would bail him out."

Jonathan frowned. "But this time, when we investigated the Pearson Family, the person who helped Raymond forge an alibi and threw off our tracking wasn't one of Old Master Pearson's men. There must be someone else behind him."

Aidan said, "The men under Old Master Pearson aren't capable enough. He's also unable to find out any information about the child being alive, including their whereabouts."

"President Pearson, do you mean that it was the force behind Mrs. who got that information? Did they work with Raymond to set this up?"

"Both Old Master Pearson and Sienna are within control.

Jonathan asked tentatively, "Is it a new party from outside, then?"

Aidan narrowed his dark eyes. "Where's the person who delivered the share transfer agreement to Old Master Pearson?"

"After arriving at Highside, he only went to the Pearson Family Estate once. There haven't been any abnormal activities from him."

“Don’t you think it was too much of a coincidence? Not long after Pearsons set up a trap and seized the child.”

“But he came back to Chiojan only recently. How would he know—”

Aidan tapped lightly on his knee. “Even until now, his history abroad is a mystery and no one knows where he came from. A man like him could actually escape the treacherous Lachstein and come back, then go into hiding in Highside. Do you think he’s an innocent bystander who was just on an errand to deliver documents?”

Jonathan was stunned. If John had told the Pearsons about Madam Fletcher and the young master’s whereabouts, where had he gotten the information from? More importantly, what role did he play in all this?

“President Pearson, we should—”

“Just wait. He will make another appearance.”

Jonathan nodded. “Understood.”

When they arrived at the apartment, the servant was packing the things in the closet.

Aidan stood in front of the French windows, gazing outside. No one knew what he was pondering.

Half an hour later, Jonathan went up to him and said, “President Pearson, everything is packed. Shall we move them right now?”

Aidan nodded calmly. “Ask them to make it as discreet as possible.”

“Understood.”

Aidan turned around and noticed the suitcase still in the living room.

It was the one Leanna brought back when she got discharged from the hospital.

Aidan said, “Take this too.”

In an instant, the apartment turned cold and lifeless again. There wasn’t even the slightest hint that anyone had lived here before.

Aidan went next door and looked at the house filled with things for children.

Jonathan asked, "President Pearson, shall we move these too?"

Aidan's expression didn't change. "What else should we do? Throw them away?"

Jonathan immediately understood what he meant. He got some people to disinfect and pack up all the things, then sent the box of things right up to Leanna's doorstep.

Looking at the huge box in front of her, Leanna didn't even have the chance to speak when the delivery people ran away swiftly.

Zoe came out upon hearing the noise. "Nana, what's going on... Goodness, what's with this huge box? Don't tell me someone hid a corpse in there!"

Leanna raised her brows. She didn't even have to think to figure out who was behind this.

Louis came over and moved the box inside. Then, he opened it with a small knife and took out a small toy.

When the little guy saw that, he immediately crawled over and reached out his tiny hand to grab it, mumbling something as if he were trying to speak.

Louis bent down and placed the toy in the little guy's hand. At the same time, he said, "They've been disinfected."

Leanna fell silent.

Zoe closed the door and walked in, clicking her tongue as she said, "Looks like that b*stard came prepared. He's even targeting this little kid."

Leanna let out a sigh. "I'm going out to buy something."

There were too many toys. She couldn't leave them in the cardboard box, nor could she just empty everything out onto the floor. She had to buy a few storage boxes.

Zoe said, "I'll go with you. It's about time I get in some exercise; I'm getting tired of just lying down for the past few days."

Leanna nodded. "Let's go."

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 577-In a grocery market of a shopping mall, Zoe couldn't resist putting children's items into the shopping cart whenever she saw one.

Meanwhile, Leanna took them out one by one and said with a smile, "These are all for two to three- year-old children. He isn't old enough yet."

"He's already so big, but as his godmother, I haven't bought him anything decent. It's such a shame. Well, he will be two in the blink of an eye." Zoe sighed.

"Yeah."

Then, she continued, "By the way, Louis told me that you took the little guy to the hospital for a checkup this morning. What did the doctor say?"

"The doctor said everything is good. Although he was born prematurely, we took great care of him after that, so he's only slightly slower in development than other children his age now. Other than that, everything else is normal," replied Leanna.

"I have to say, that b*stard really takes good care of the baby."

Leanna corrected her softly, saying, "It was Ms. Fletcher who took care of him." Other than when he was in the Pearson Group, Aidan spent most of his time with Leanna. Also, with his temperament, if she let him take care of the child, not making the little guy cry was already his last shred of kindness.

"Where is she now? In my opinion, since the child has already gotten used to Ms. Fletcher taking care of him, why don't you—"

Suddenly, Leanna shook her head. "She's no longer in Highside."

Surprised, Zoe asked, "Why isn't she here anymore? Why did she leave all of a sudden?"

"Louis told me that Aidan had already sent someone to send her away a few days ago."

"Why?"

“Although Sienna has died, the Pearson Family’s issue hasn’t ended. The target of Aidan’s father is the child, but Sienna’s target is...”

Ms. Fletcher.

In this situation, if Naomi stayed in Highside, she would face even more danger. With her and the little guy together, they would be too big of a target. If anything happened, they could be controlled at the same time, just like what happened last time. Thus, Aidan probably sent Naomi away to avoid this happening again.

At that, Zoe sighed. “How is the Pearson Family now?”

“Sienna is dead, and Aidan’s father is paralyzed. He a moment, then continued, “Now, the only one who can make decisions in the Pearson Family is Justin.”

“Will he hold a grudge against Aidan for this? After all, the one who died was his biological mother.”

At her words, Leanna recalled the malicious curses that Sienna had uttered before her death, and she couldn’t help but space out for a moment.

Seeing her silence, Zoe waved her hand in front of her. “Nana?”

Only then did Leanna snap back to reality and smile faintly. “Yes. We’ve bought everything we need. Let’s go.”

When they reached downstairs, Zoe noticed several large trucks parked there and asked curiously, “Who’s moving in?”

Likewise, Leanna glanced over. “With that much stuff, will it fit into the unit?”

The units in this area were all small; they were mostly one or two rooms, so they were not very spacious. By looking at the number of items on the trucks, it looked like they wouldn’t even fit in two double-room units.

Just then, Zoe sighed. “There are so many rich people in this world. Why can’t I be one of them?”

When they reached their floor, the elevator door next out and moved into their neighboring units.

There were four units on this floor. Zoe and Leanna each rented one unit. Meanwhile, the other two were also for rent. Now, it seemed that they had both been bought by the same person.

When Zoe saw the scene, she said meaningfully, "Looks like that rich person is someone I know."

Meanwhile, Leanna was speechless.

After a yawn, Zoe said, "I'm not going over, Nana. I'm a bit tired."

Leanna replied with a nod, "Daniel is not here today. If something happens in the middle of the night, just give me a call."

"Okay, good night."

"Good night."

Only after Zoe entered her unit did Leanna turn around to press the password for her door. The moment she opened the door, an unexpected visitor came into her sight.

"Why are you here again?" she asked.

Aidan was sitting on the couch, looking calm as he replied, "Didn't you say I could drop by anytime?" After saying that, he slowly added, "I'm exercising my rights as a father."

Ignoring him, she took the storage boxes she bought and went to the and disinfect them before organizing the little guy's toys into the boxes.

By the time she finished cleaning, it was already 11.00PM. Usually, the little guy would have been sound asleep at this time, but he kept whining and wouldn't drink his milk tonight.

She took a deep breath and looked at Aidan with an indifferent gaze.

When he met her eyes, he raised his eyebrows as if waiting for her to say something.

Then, she asked, "Are you leaving or not?"

"If I have the choice, I'd certainly not."

At once, she didn't know what to say. This man's audacity is beyond belief.

Seeing the situation, Louis cleared his throat and found an excuse to go into his bedroom, wanting to stay out of their argument.

At the same time, Aidan placed the little guy on his lap and looked at Leanna with ease. "I am exercising my rights as a father."

She clenched her teeth and thought, I have never seen such an overbearing person before.

At this moment, he seemed to sense that she was on the verge of exploding. After two seconds of silence, he stood up and put the little guy in her arms. "I'll come back tomorrow. If you miss me, I can always come earlier."

A few minutes after he left, the little guy started to get sleepy, rubbing his eyes and yawning.

As such, Leanna made him another bottle of milk, but he only had a few sips before falling asleep with the bottle in his arms. Looks like he's very tired. How was he so energetic just now?

She gently took the bottle away and put the little guy back in bed. After she covered him with a blanket, she went to clean up the living room.

At the same time, Louis came out of his bedroom as well.

"I have found someone to take care of the baby. She will be here tomorrow. You should go back to school," she said.

Aidan hummed in acknowledgment and replied, "I'll go back tomorrow morning."

After finishing cleaning, he asked, "Did Aidan move here?"

At his question, Leanna remained silent for a few seconds before replying, "Who knows?"

With a smirk, he said, "I'll come over again next weekend. Be careful, though. I don't think things will end that easily."

“I know.” After a pause, she continued, “Louis, I’ve been wanting to ask you something. Did Daniel tell you...” Previously, Daniel said it was Louis who told him about the child being alive, but she felt it wasn’t that simple and that they must have talked about more than just that.

Louis didn’t react much and simply asked, “What is it?”

When she looked at him, the words were on the tip of her tongue, but she didn’t say them in the end. “Never mind, it’s nothing. Rest early.”

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 578-At 8.00AM the next day, Maya appeared on time at Leanna’s doorstep. She crossed her arms and looked around, saying, “Why did you come to live in this small place? Did Aidan dump you?”

As soon as she finished speaking, a tall and slender figure appeared in the house. Immediately, she quieted down and found an inconspicuous corner to stand in, lowering her presence.

Aidan looked at Leanna and asked, “Did you ask for me?”

At this moment, she was speechless. Has he been waiting at the door for this opportunity? Expressionless, she answered, “Go find the person who asked for you.”

As he raised his eyebrows, he looked at the breakfast on the table. “Is there breakfast for me?”

“No.”

As soon as she replied, he turned to Louis and said, “The driver is waiting for you downstairs. Hurry up.”

Louis was speechless for a moment before handing the bottle of milk to Leanna. “I’ll leave now.”

With the little guy in her arms, she took the milk bottle from him. “Have your breakfast before you leave.”

However, he cleared his throat and quickly picked up his things to leave. “I have class in the morning. I’m in a rush right now.”

After he left, Aidan sat down at the dining table. "You've made so much food. It's a waste if we can't finish it. I happen to have some free time, so I can help you out."

Hearing that, Leanna scoffed and was about to say something when the little guy in her arms nudged her, his face turning red. It seemed like he had just pooped. Immediately, she looked at Aidan and smirked. Okay. You want to eat, right?

She put the little guy on the couch and changed his diaper. Then, she took a few steps to throw it in the trash can next to the dining table.

This left Aidan, who had just picked up his utensils, speechless.

When she met his eyes, she put on an extremely gentle smile. "Why aren't you eating? Is it not to your taste?"

He suddenly felt that women were really scary, especially when they were angry. Yet, he remained calm and stood up. "I suddenly remembered there's still some work at the company. Enjoy your breakfast."

"Didn't you just say it'd be a waste if we can't finish it?" she asked slowly.

"You can save it and eat it for lunch." After finishing his sentence, Aidan turned around and left in big strides.

As she watched him from his back, Leanna's mood improved significantly, and her lips curled into a smile.

On the other hand, Maya had already changed the little guy's diaper. Seeing Aidan she moved over to Leanna and looked a bit serious. "Did he go bankrupt?"

At once, her good mood came to an abrupt end. She turned around and looked at Maya expressionlessly.

Maya quickly made a quiet gesture. "Don't worry. I will definitely keep this secret for you. We are already on the same boat, right?"

However, Leanna was too lazy to deal with her. After she told her about the little guy's daily habits, she said, "I usually come back around 6.30PM or 7.00PM, if there's a delay. If something happens in between, you can call me directly. If you want to go out, there will be people following. They will be downstairs. You may not see them, but they will know your every movement.”

At that, Maya muttered, “Why does it sound like a spy movie? Is it dangerous?”

“Didn’t you say that the child will be alive as long as you’re alive?”

“That’s just... a metaphor.”

“I’ll tell you the same thing. No matter what danger you face, as long as the child is safe, you will be fine,” Leanna said.

“Okay, I got it. How dangerous can it be during the day? It’s not like people are wielding knives and guns in the streets.”

As Leanna looked at the little guy playing on the cushion, she walked over to pinch his little face, saying gently, “Mommy is going out. Be a good boy at home, okay?”

She was not sure if the little guy understood that, but he waved his toy a few times at her and muttered something.

Then, she smiled before standing up and saying to Maya, “I’ll be leaving now.” However, her gaze was fixed on the little guy, and she couldn’t bear to move her legs.

At this moment, Maya said softly beside her, “You’ll get used to it. When my daughter was in kindergarten, I was just like you. Children change every day. If you don’t look at them for a day, it feels like they’ve changed in some way.”

Hearing that, Leanna pressed her lips together and didn’t say anything. Not only have I not looked at him for a day, but I’ve only seen him a few times as he grew up. In my memory, he seems to have always been that little.

When she was in Underwood Lane, if she had observed more carefully, she might have noticed that the little guy was actually sickly, but she just assumed it was because he was a newborn baby.

Compared to back then, he was completely different now. His whole body radiated health and vitality.

These past few days, she had been thinking a lot while watching the little guy. She could understand why Aidan had initially kept the fact that her child was still alive from her.

During that time, she was emotionally unstable. Not only did she not have the ability to seek revenge, but she couldn't even protect herself. Even if she knew her child was still alive, what could she have done? Give them another chance to hurt him?

Aidan hid the little guy, keeping it a secret from her, the Pearson Family, and everyone else. To a certain extent, it provided the little guy with enough protection to grow up healthy and safe, but... she just couldn't accept it. Every time she was about to find out the truth, Aidan would always casually dismiss her guesses with various excuses. She had even asked him more than once, allowing him to tell her the truth.

After putting her thoughts aside, she took a deep breath and left.

Just as she reached the elevator, Zoe came out of her unit and whispered, "Nana, are you really going to leave the child with her?"

"Don't worry. Everything will be fine." Leanna nodded.

However, Zoe shook her head. "I'm not so sure about that. Since there's not much going on at the studio these days, I'll keep an eye on her. You go ahead and do your thing. I'll take care of things here."

"Okay. Thanks," Leanna replied with a smile.

After she got into the elevator, Zoe entered the adjacent unit. Inside, Maya was using toys to cheer up the little guy, who was pouting and feeling sad because Leanna had left.

As soon as she saw Zoe, she put down the toys and cleared her throat. "What brings you here?"

"I don't think you're reliable," Zoe answered.

Just as Maya snorted and was about to retort, the little guy started crying again. So, she quickly started to comfort him. After struggling for a while, she finally managed to divert his attention.

Seeing that, Zoe arched an eyebrow. “Not bad. You do know how to take care of a child.”

“I’m just afraid some people might say I can’t even handle such a small matter. Don’t tell me that you’re here to see me fail. Don’t underestimate me.”

Following that, Zoe and Maya spent their time glaring at each other.

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 579-He Is Quite the Sneaker

At the Crossley Group, Freddie had been helping Leanna to look through the documents. However, there were still many documents left waiting for her signature.

The moment Leanna sat down, Richard rushed into the room and said, “I just got the news that someone bailed Raymond out of jail, Miss McKinney.”

When Leanna heard his words, she stopped what she was doing. “Out of jail? I thought he was proven guilty of murder. Why is he still able to get out on bail?”

“The evidence has been verified, and he is indeed proven guilty. However, things changed after Mr. Ollander visited him. After Mr. Ollander came back, the police suddenly said that there wasn’t enough evidence and needed to investigate the case again. “

“When did Jimmy visit him?” asked Leanna while frowning.

“It was the day when the Pearson Group had a press conference.”

After hearing his words, she pursed her lips and said nothing. The evidence for Raymond’s case is clear, yet Jimmy still withstands the pressure and finds a way to bail him out. Judging by their relationship, Jimmy is in a sticky situation himself, so there is no way he will risk saving Raymond. That is, Raymond must have promised Jimmy something that the latter couldn’t resist, she thought.

“Raymond was bailed out last night. Up until now, he is still under the watch of the police. After he left the police station, he stayed in his house all day and did nothing, not even meeting up with Mr. Ollander. It seems that nothing is going on,” Richard said.

Leanna thought momentarily and said, "Jimmy is in a hurry to leave this place. That's why he's trying to create a stir to get himself out of trouble. Still, he is different from Raymond. He has not killed anyone and is just in the process of being investigated. Hence, there is no way he will risk getting arrested by escaping. Raymond, though..."

"Are you saying that Raymond might secretly leave, Miss McKinney?"

"Definitely." After all, it was true that Raymond had blood on his hands. Although Jimmy had bailed him out, Raymond knew the police would soon arrest him again. Hence, he would leave this place as soon as possible.

Suddenly, Leanna thought of something. "Have you seen Raymond's children before?" she asked.

"Yes." Richard nodded.

"I need you to go to his house on behalf of the company and ask him to explain this matter. Also, tell him how the company will deal with this and see if his children are there or not. After that, call me immediately."

"Okay."

After he had left, she was still frowning. She wondered how Raymond would escape if he was constantly being watched.

Just as she was deep in thought, Freddie entered the he asked while waving his hand in front of her.

Leanna returned to her senses and said, "Jimmy has bailed Raymond out of jail."

When Freddie heard that, he was not surprised. He clicked his tongue and commented, "That man is quite the sneaker."

"They must have been on to something, but I can't figure it out. I don't understand what temptation Raymond gave to Jimmy for him to risk himself getting caught."

"Oh, yeah. There is something you might not know about Raymond. Except Pearson Family, someone else is also helping him."

“Someone else?” Leanna was startled.

He nodded and explained, “When it happened, Raymond took them away. Moreover, before this, he had been trying to get close to Celia. These days, he is acting normal, and there is no proof that he has directly come in contact with the Pearsons. Plus, he used to escape from the guards and went to the Pearson Family twice.”

As Leanna heard his words, she furrowed her eyebrows deeply. “I have investigated him, but there is nothing suspicious about him.”

“That’s the problem.” Freddie snapped his fingers. “There is nothing wrong with his lifestyle. However, before that, a group of people had contacted him. They even told the Pearsons about this, which means there is a high possibility that they are Raymond’s last resort.”

“Who are they?”

“I’m not sure. However, they aren’t as simple as they look since they it’s best to leave it as it is for your safety.”

Leanna was silent. After some time, she asked, “Aidan asked you to tell me about this, didn’t he?” Although Freddie didn’t mention anything about him and was subtle with his words, Leanna managed to figure it out.

Damn it. How did she know? Freddie was in utter shock.

“Give me your account,” said Leanna.

“Why do you want it?” Freddie was confused.

“You are working for the Crossley Group. Don’t you want your payment?”

At that, Freddie chuckled dryly and said, “Come on... It’s not a big deal. You guys are only fighting, that’s all.” Aidan is always the one paying me. Judging by Leanna’s words, is she trying to cut ties with him?

“Give it to me later,” said Leanna.

Looking at her, he was suddenly interested in her business. “Do you want to go through a divorce? I can help you for free.”

When she heard his words, she raised her head and looked at him stoically. "Thanks, but no. I'm not married."

"What about the custody of your child? I can do that too, and I'll make sure you win the rights."

Leanna was speechless.

Just as she raised her hand, Freddie backed away quickly and said, "I'm just joking."

Leanna ignored him and went back to dealing with the documents. After some time, Richard called her and told her that Raymond's mother had taken his children away before Raymond was out of jail.

"I have sent someone to check on Raymond's hometown. Besides, everything in his house looked neat as though he hadn't touched them. Although he tried to look calm, I could tell he wanted me to leave as soon as possible. I guess you are right, Miss McKinney. He'll be leaving Highside soon."

"He will leave tonight at the latest," replied Leanna.

After she hung up the phone, Freddie asked her, "What do you have in mind?"

"What are you talking about?" As she spoke, she stared at her phone thoughtfully.

"I have a feeling that you will do what Aidan doesn't want you to. That's why I want to know what you are planning to do about this matter," replied Freddie as he cocked an eyebrow.

"Are you trying to sell me out?" Leanna looked at him.

"No way!" Freddie said exaggeratedly. "I'm not a kid. Why would I still snitch on you? I'm just curious. Come on, tell me."

Leanna lowered her head and said, "Nothing. I'm not planning anything."

Freddie didn't believe her, though. However, he knew that she would not tell him anything. It looks like I have to put on some effort and keep an eye on her. Once this matter is done, I'm going to ask Aidan for a raise, he thought.

Love Change Of Heart Chapter 580-No One Can Save You Now

At 6.00PM, Raymond opened the window and frowned when he saw a few cars parked by his house.

He knew that besides the police, Aidan's men were keeping their eyes on him. Moreover, he also knew that Leanna had told Richard to come and visit him, even though Richard didn't say anything. Luckily, he had a plan prepared for this.

After some time, his takeout delivery arrived. After Raymond took the takeout, he closed the door and curtains. Then, he took out all the food and picked up the new ID card and the boat ticket to Zumbae at 11.00PM from underneath.

When Jimmy visited him at the prison, Raymond told him he would give the latter the contact number of those guys in exchange for Jimmy's help. Jimmy couldn't leave because of Aidan, and those people could help him. Thus, Jimmy accepted his proposal and bailed him out of jail.

The route to leave Highside that Jimmy gave him was the smuggling chain he had. Hence, it was easy to get him out of there.

When the sky turned dark, Raymond changed his clothes and went downstairs to buy a packet of cigarettes. Then, he went to a restaurant to dine in. During the process, he could sense that more than a person was following him. Thus, he went to a crowded supermarket and headed toward the children's playground. At that moment, he took the opportunity to get into the emergency exit. Immediately, he took off his jacket and wore a hat as he quickly rushed into the basement and left from another exit. After that, he escaped from those people.

Then, he took a cab and told the driver to head to the outskirts. After he exited the car, he followed the crowd into the train station. He took the train to the dock by Cestryia. In this case, when they discovered that Raymond had gotten in a cab, it would be too late for them to catch him.

When Raymond arrived at the dock, it was 10.30PM.

He pressed his hat down and looked around. There was nothing wrong.

Jimmy had always cared about this smuggling chain. If anything were to happen, even the slightest, this place would immediately be on high alert.

Raymond took the ticket and got on the ship successfully. However, when he opened the door of his room and saw a person inside, he couldn't help but stare at her in horror.

"If you were to arrive any later, the ship would leave without you." Leanna sat in the room with a smile on her face.

Looking at her, Raymond took a step back. At that moment, empty corridor was suddenly filled with people. All of them surrounded him.

Raymond frowned and asked, "How did you..."

"Why am I here? Is that what you are asking?" Leanna's tone was calm. "Technically speaking, it's all thanks to you. If it weren't for you, I wouldn't have known that Jimmy has been using the Crossley Group's cargo ship to do illegal dealings."

When Raymond heard her words, he recalled the documents he had put on Richard's desk. In that split second, his face turned grim, and he clenched his fists.

"I have been thinking the whole day as to how you will escape. However, since you have asked for Jimmy's help, it wouldn't be that simple as to bail you out. So, I tried my luck, and it worked. You are here," explained Leanna.

After a few seconds, Raymond smirked coldly and said, "Although this is the Crossley Group's ship, Jimmy isn't the only one benefiting from it. Nothing will come good if you cause a stir. Moreover, the Crossley Group might be accused of smuggling drugs."

"You're right. That's why I immediately reported this to the police and cooperated with them."

Raymond's expression changed drastically when he saw the police.

"Oh yeah," Leanna continued, "I have given the police all the information that you had. Everyone that is connected to this will be taken away, including Jimmy. This time, he is in a sticky situation himself, and no one can save you anymore."

Raymond was devastated when he was taken away by the police. Never would he have expected that he would dig his own grave.

As Leanna watched him leave, she suddenly thought about Celia, whom she had met just a few times. Now that Raymond was guilty of murder and deliberately helped Jimmy to smuggle drugs, he would be charged with a death sentence. However, Celia would never come back to life.

At this moment, Richard said, "Miss McKinney, Mr. Ollander has been arrested."

Leanna nodded and said, "Let's go."

At noon, she looked through the documents someone had put on Richard's desk. At that moment, she suddenly realized that only a few people would know so much about Jimmy's dirt and could put the documents on Richard's desk while avoiding the surveillance camera. Hence, she had suspicions about Raymond, who wanted to escape from Jimmy's control.

Immediately, she took the documents and went to the police station. Then, she discussed the plan for that night's actions with them.

As Leanna stood by the dock, she turned around and looked at the cargo ship. On their way here, Richard had told her that this ship had existed for twenty years. This was the first boat of the Crossley

Group after Lloyd was in charge of the company. However, Leroy had used this ship as a means of trading illegally.

Thinking about it, Leanna turned to Richard. "Get rid of the things inside and demolish felt that it was time for the ship to say goodbye to the world.

"Yes."

Just as Leanna took a few steps forward, she saw a Rolls-Royce Freddie, Aidan knew she had been to the police station.

At this moment, Aidan got out of the car. When Richard saw him, he stepped back and went to deal with the ship.

"I'll give you a ride home," said Aidan as he stood before Leanna.

"No thanks. I have my own car," replied Leanna faintly.

Hearing her words, Aidan looked at her car and said slowly, "If I guessed correctly, your car has a breakdown."

Leanna was confused.

As soon as his words fell, the driver approached Leanna and said, "There is something wrong with the car, Miss McKinney. I can't start it." Then, he mumbled to himself. "That's strange. It was perfectly fine just a moment ago."

Listening to his words, Leanna looked at Aidan, and the latter cocked an eyebrow.

You are f*cking right, then. I bet you are the one behind this. Thinking about it, she took a deep breath and said to the driver, "Call a tow truck."

The driver hummed in response and left.

On the other hand, Aidan smiled and opened his car door as he tilted his head, signaling her to get on. However, Leanna ignored him and turned around. Just as she was about to call a cab, a police car stopped before them, and a police officer put his head out of the window. "I heard something wrong with your car, Miss McKinney. How about I give you a ride home?"

"That'll be great. Thank you." Leanna shoved her phone in her pocket and smiled.

Looking at the outcome, Aidan was utterly speechless.

After Leanna got into the car, Aidan followed suit. When Leanna looked at him, he looked back with a stoic expression. "What? Can't I sit here? I haven't experienced sitting in a police car before."

Leanna was speechless and thought, This is getting unbearable.
