

Chapter 82 Building A Wall

Vincent pushed the door open, not knowing that the atmosphere in the office was tense.

Jonathan glared at Vincent once he came in.

With a stoic expression, Jonathan scolded Vincent coldly, "Get out! Come in again only after you've learned about the basic skill of knocking."

"Hey, Jonathan—"

"Get out!"

Vincent initially thought Jonathan was only joking. After realizing that Jonathan wasn't in a good mood, Vincent didn't get mad. Instead, he nodded and compromised. "All right, I'll knock on the door now!"

Walter had just sat down when Vincent was chased out of the office.

Nonetheless, Vincent didn't feel embarrassed and even blinked at Walter mischievously. Then, Vincent seriously knocked on the door and entered the office only after someone let him in.

Walter couldn't help but feel sympathetic for Vincent. However, the next moment, Walter's gloomy expression became delighted and put on a smile.

Walter was impressed by Vincent's loyalty to Jonathan as a friend. After all, Vincent was willing to be Jonathan's punching bag, even though he knew Jonathan was fumed.

Meanwhile, Vincent seemed to be in a good mood, as if no one had chased him away earlier on. He rested his head on the desk and said smilingly, "Can we move to the main point? Who offended you? Tell me so that I can have fun!"

Jonathan continued with his work and didn't even glance at Vincent. Unperturbed, Vincent teased, "Did she dump you? As I said, a young woman would not fall for you. It was just your wishful thinking! Do you feel embarrassed now?"

"I will appreciate it if you can keep your mouth shut!" Jonathan looked up at Vincent and said, "Is Gale Incorporated about to go bankrupt soon? Is that why you're here to kill time?"

At that moment, Jonathan still looked aggressive, exuding an intimidating aura.

Although Jonathan was in a bad mood, he didn't hesitate to talk back.

Vincent was rendered speechless and stunned for a while. Later, he continued to say things that got on Jonathan's nerves. "Making money is certainly important, but Gale Incorporated emphasizes work-life balance!"

"Hey, stop exhausting yourself. Tell me how you're dumped! Did she disdain you for your age or seniority?"

"To be frank, I never thought you would love your nephew's ex-wife. No wonder you asked me to expose Zack's scandal!"

"Well, I guess you didn't put all the rumors to rest for Zack, right? My god! You betrayed your nephew for the sake of a woman! How pitiful it is for a nephew to have such an uncle!"

"Wait a minute. You lived abroad for five years and only returned recently. How could you fall in love with her so soon? Jonathan, could it be that you fell in love with her five years ago?"

"Nope! It was seven years ago!" Jonathan answered calmly.

Jonathan looked calmer and gentler when he mentioned Michaela.

After all, Jonathan found it hard to be mad with someone he loved!

As soon as Jonathan finished, Vincent exclaimed, "My goodness! Jonathan, you really caught me by surprise!"

"On the surface, you're a serious man who doesn't engage in a relationship, accept someone's confession, or get close with any female. Now I know that your heart belongs to someone! More importantly, she's your nephew's ex-wife! My goodness. I think I've just uncovered a big secret!"

Meanwhile, Jonathan scanned Vincent slowly without emotions. After a while, he stood up and sat on the couch next to the desk. "Be careful then, for I might silence you forever!"

"Jonathan, I've always thought you're normal. Why must you look for a lady who is a lot younger than you? I mean, do you have some kind of fetish?"

With that, Vincent turned around and sat on the couch next to Jonathan. He then shot a curious glance at Jonathan. After a while, Jonathan replied calmly, "Don't you think it's hilarious for a bachelor to discuss romance with me?"

One couldn't help but pity Vincent for having to endure so much, including being chased away from the office and retorted by his best friend.

When Vincent heard that Jonathan wasn't in a good mood, he initially hoped to listen to Jonathan's story and teased Jonathan. Given that Jonathan bullied Vincent since they were young, Vincent thought he could finally take revenge.

In the end, Vincent failed to take revenge but was irritated by Jonathan instead.

I can't live like this anymore!

"All right. I was wrong. Can we change the subject of the conversation?"

"Cut the crap!"

Jonathan placed a hand on the couch's armrest and rested his head against the other hand. Leaning back on the couch, he casually scanned Vincent.

"Hehe!" Vincent immediately put on a flattering smile and came up to Jonathan. "The lady who showed up in your house that day—"

"Lorelei?" Jonathan had been feeling disgruntled because someone snatched her beloved woman. When Vincent brought up her friend, Jonathan's expression turned grimmer. "Are you fond of her? Well, I heard that she just broke up. Now is the chance to advance!"

Lorelei will stop holding on to my woman if she has a boyfriend!

As Jonathan was deep in thought, he didn't realize that Vincent had fallen into a thoughtful silence.

At that moment, Jonathan's phone beeped a few times.

Ms. Lingard has gotten off work. She got into the car of her colleague who drunk with her last time!

Ms. Lingard has entered Oman Restaurant on Fairy Road!

Besides, two men were having dinner with her. They seemed to be eager to please her!

Photo is attached.

From the photo, Jonathan could see a tall and sturdy man gently pull out a chair for Michaela. Although Michaela thanked him out of courtesy, Jonathan couldn't help but feel that her smile rubbed salt into his wound.

Jonathan clenched his fists, and his expression turned cold. Besides, his gaze appeared to be a piercingly sharp dagger. At that moment, even Vincent, who sat beside Jonathan, could feel Jonathan's emotional changes.

"What happened to you?" Vincent was confused. "It is as if someone has snatched your wife!"

Jonathan glared at Vincent upon hearing it. Just then, his phone beeped again.

Mr. Xander, Ms. Lingard appears to be attending a blind date!

A blind date? Hehe! How bold!

Just as Vincent wanted to peek at the text messages, Jonathan suddenly stood up. Then, Jonathan grabbed his coat from the coat rack and wanted to leave the office.

With a sullen expression, Jonathan looked like he would swallow a person whole at any random time.

"Jonathan, where are you heading to?"

Feeling that something was off, Vincent immediately followed Jonathan. After a while, Jonathan responded coldly, "I have to build a wall!"

"Build a wall? What is it for?" Vincent frowned in confusion.

When they got into the elevator, Jonathan added, "Since the lady isn't obedient, I have to build a wall!"

Even though there were no cracks in the elevator, Vincent felt a shiver run down his spine.

Why do I feel like we're going to catch the cheater in the act? How exciting!