Chapter 3

At two o'clock in the morning, her mother-in-law, Giselle Cassel, woke her up, "Savanna, is Brandon with you?"

"Yes."

As a well-behaved daughter-in-law, she never lied to her mother-in-law. But in order not to increase the conflict between them, she lied to Giselle for the first time.

"Let him answer the phone."

"Mom... "Holding her phone tightly, she immediately sat up from the bed and said, "Brandon has been very tired recently. He is sleeping soundly. How about tomorrow?"

Giselle Cassel interrupted her before she could finish her words. The woman was furious: "How long are you going to hide it for him? I knew it."

"Mom, the news is fake. Those gossip reporters also need to earn a living."

"Winnie will get the operation tonight. As long as the operation is successful, you will lose your husband. Savanna, should I feel lucky to have a sensible daughter-in-law like you, or should I be angry? You are too soft-hearted."

Savanna fell into silence.

She was not kind. She just couldn't win his love.

No matter how hard she tried, she couldn't get that man's heart. The sense of helplessness had already torn her heart apart.

She bit her lips tightly, and blood flowed from the corner of her mouth, stained her snow-white pajamas with red spots.

As Savanna didn't say anything, Giselle sighed, "I'm really sorry for Krissa."

She hung up the phone

The beep of the phone hit heavily on her heart.

The rain outside the window didn't stop, and it was getting heavier and heavier. The muffled thunder rolled over from the sky. When it approached the window, it exploded with a loud bang. The rain poured in She got up from the bed and wanted to close the window.

In the lightning, she seemed to see the tall and straight figure of Brandon, who was rushing towards the hospital.

It must be her illusion.

It must be her illusion.

After closing the window, she turned around and went back on the bed.

All of a sudden, the door of the ward opened. The cold wind flowed into the room along with the air. She looked at the door.

Brandon was drenched all over. His hair stuck together on his forehead, and the rain drops down along his hair. His red eyes and handsome face were full of cruelty. He walked towards her step! step:”You let mom force me back. Are you satisfied?” She was still in a daze.

The coldness of the air proved that Brandon was alive in front of her.

She pinched her thigh. The pain was so clear that she almost cried. She was sure that it was not a dream or an illusion.

It was true that Brandon had come back.

She glanced out of the window at the rain. Her face turned pale. He overcame the danger of losing life and came back to see her.

She grasped the his cold hand and spoke incoherently:”Your hands are so cold.”

”Fortunately, you are fine...”

She wanted to take off his coat, but was pushed away by him. Her body was about to fall to the ground, but Brandon reached out his hand to hold her slender waist.

Their eyes met.

His eyes were cold and indifferent. When she stood firm, he took his hand off her waist. Brandon walked out without looking back.

But she didn’t utter a word.

She had to maintain her last dignity in this relationship.

Looking at the empty door, a gust of cold wind blew in. The cold air blew over her face, but she was unconscious

She slumped into the bed, her face as cold as death,

After a while, the sound of footsteps came from outside the room. The sound of Brandon’s footsteps was very familiar to her. It was steady and powerful.

When his face appeared in front of her again, she still maintained her original posture.

He glanced at her and lifted his lips: ”The doctor said you can leave the hospital now.”

When his face appeared in front of her again, she still maintained her original posture.

He glanced at her and lifted his lips: ”The doctor said you can leave the hospital now.”

After saying that, he took off his wet clothes, took the clean clothes handed over by Leo , quickly changed, and reached out to pick up Savanna. then he left the ward.

As soon as they walked out of the hospital, they saw Leo waiting at the gate of the hospital. Seeing them coming out, Leo rushed over with an umbrella. The black umbrella couldn't stop the heavy rain. The corner of her pajamas was wet by the rain. After taking her into the car, Brandon took off his overcoat and put it on her. The car rushed into the street and soon arrived at the villa. After getting off the car, Brandon directly took her back to the living room. He turned on the heat and changed her wet pajamas before he went into the bathroom to clean himself.

He was always gentle to her.

But she felt that behind the man's gentleness was an indescribable indifference. The room was warm enough, and her heart was like falling into an ice cellar. When he came out of the bathroom, he took out the hair dryer to dry his hair. When he was about to help him, he moved a step, which made his hand freeze in the air. The man was so close to her, but she felt that there were thousands of rivers and mountains between them.

The sound of hair dryer finally stopped. He turned around and looked at her coldly, "Savanna, if something happens to Winnie tonight, you will be the sinner."
