Chapter 31

In the past two days, he had been missing her all the time. Lighting a cigarette, he wanted to calm himself down. But when the cigarette was burnt out, his heart was more restless.

Licking his dry lips, he put out the cigarette butt and threw it into the ashtray. He picked up his coat from the chair and put it on. While buttoning up his clothes, he walked out of the door.

In the Rose Villas.

Savanna called Leo, "Leo, the candles are almost burnt out. Bring two up."

Leo hesitated for a while and said, "Mrs. Cassel, I'll ask Debbie to bring it here."

"Ouch..." Savanna's scream cut Leo's words.

"Bang!" A loud noise popping into Leo's ears, he froze in place for a second. The nervous feeling instantly washed over him. He gripped the phone so hard, nearly causing the veins on his fingertips bumping out.

He called Mrs. Cassel several times, but she didn't respond him. Lowering his head, he found the call has been hanged out.

Considering she was pregnant, Leo was anxious and rushed upstairs immediately.

After knocking at the door several times, he got zero response. Leo hurriedly hit the door open with his body.

Savanna was sitting at the table elegantly under the faint light. She was safe and sound.

He breathed out and calmed down.

When he was about to leave the room, Savanna called him, "Leo!"

She stood up slowly and walked towards Leo. Her slim and fair hands reached up his shoulder, but Leo quickly took a step back, avoiding her touch. She found Leo was extremely respectable to her. Looking into his dark eyes, she smiled, "Leo, do you like me?"

Her sixth sense told her that Leo liked her. Her blunt question made the room even hot and dark, lingering with a weird feeling between both.

Without any emotion, Leo opened his mouth and said plainly, "Mrs. Cassel, I'm going out."

"I know you like me." Standing in front of Leo, Savanna blocked his way, black eyes flashed with a soft and bright light:

"Why don't you admit that you like me? Are you afraid of Brandon?"

Leo replied her indifferently, "No," he knew clearly that Savanna asked him this question deliberately intending to make him and Mr Cassel fiabi with each other

Knowing that Mr. Cassel would be back soon, Leo said, "Mrs. Cassel, Mr. Cassel is nice enough for you.”

“What do you know?” Savanna snorted. Finding Leo dared not to answer her question, she spat him in a low and soft voice, “You are just a dog raised by him. He is the boss. You don’t dare to go against him a little. If I tell you I like you; are you willing to take me away?”

Leo gulped. What Savanna said was a great temptation for him. After all, he had fell in love with her long time ago.

However, he understood that she was cheating him. She just wanted to seduce him and screw up his relationship with Brandon.

Swallowing his complicated feelings into his stomach, he held an emotionless face, saying, “Mrs. Cassel, please behave yourself.”

Giggling, she pulled closed to him, her breath hitting his lips. She was as charming as a depraved goblin. Her soft and boneless fingers raised up to Leo ‘s chin before getting a good grip.

Her soft smile faded when a car light radiating outside. She knew Brandon came back. Good. She smirked inside.

Leo was not stupid. He also saw the car. He immediately pushed Savanna away but he used more strength in a hurry, causing her to lose the balance. Leo had rushed to the door, about to leave, when Savanna screamed and fell down.

He looked back, finding that she was lying on the ground and couldn’t get up. She covered her forehead with her hands tightly, and the air was even filled with the smell of blood. Leo had to step back and helped her up. Her head was hit by the table. Drips of blood were splashed on her fair forehead.

Leo was annoyed.

He helped her sit down on the chair and said guiltily, “Mrs. Cassel, I didn’t mean to do that.”

Swe

Although her hurt so badly that her body was shaking, she still calmed herself down and answered with a smile, “I know you didn’t mean it. I forgive you.”

At the same time, Brandon had already come upstairs,

When Leo was about to turn around and leave, there was a clear sound of footsteps coming from outside, which seemed to step right on his heart. It was impossible to go out at this time.

Leo knew that it was useless to blame Savanna. He was so anxious that he began to look for a place to hide in the room that it was useless to blame Savanna. He was so anxious that he began to look for a place to hide in the room.

Leo knew

Before he could find a place to hide, the door was pushed open. Savanna suddenly jumped towards him and threw herself into his arms. Her slim arms tightly wrapped around his strong waist.

Leo failed to push her away. Even worse, he turned around to meet the astonished eyes of Brandon. Of course, Brandon would not expect to see them making out in his room. Brandon's dark eyes gradually narrowed, with danger and anger flashing inside. Leo pushed away Savanna. With a drip of cold sweat rolling down from his forehead to his jaw, he quickly explained to Brandon, "Mr. Cassel, Mrs. Cassel said that she couldn't find candles, so she asked me to bring up. Mrs. Cassel has made a candlelight dinner for you. ... I won't disturb you."

Leo felt that the room was so cold due to Brandon's cold aura and he felt like being frozen. He kept silent and walked out of the room, heading straight downstairs.

OON

Leo escaped, leaving Savanna and Brandon face to face. Pretending to not see his furious face, she opened a bottle of red wine and a bottle of fruit wine. After filling a glass of red wine for him, she filled her glass with fruit wine. She handed the glass to him, walked to him, slowly touched the buttons of his suit, and unbuttoned them one by one. When she took off his coat, he didn't move or say anything. He just looked at her in anger.

After hanging his coat on the hanger, she held Brandon's arm, leading him to the table and sitting down. Savanna took the glass and sat on the other side of the table. Glancing at him, she saw that his eyes were calm and expressionless. She smiled disapprovingly and said, "I fell down just now. Leo dare not to leave, so he stayed to take care of me. When he was about to bind up my wound, you came back." Her voice was coquettish. She pointed at her wounded forehead to prove that she was injured. However, Brandon could tell that she did it on purpose to make him unhappy. "Really?" Brandon looked coldly at her forehead, suppressing his anger. "Why do you think I will misunderstand?" "Of course you will."

Brandon clenched his fists under the table. He was so depressed that veins seemed to bump out on his skin.

"Savanna."

He called her seriously.

"I trust the person I use. He doesn't dare betray me."

Even though she was a beauty, Brandon believed that Leo didn't dare to screw with her.

Raising her eyebrows, she chimed in, "Wow, you are so sure. What if we really had a fancy sex just now?" Although she had sensed Brandon's fury, she continued saying loudly, "You are too confident. Everyone is only loyal to themselves."

Brandon tried his best to hold back the anger in his chest. He picked up the glass in front of him and drank it up in one gulp. The spicy taste could not dispel his restlessness.

He thought she had changed her mind. It turned out that she was waiting for playing trick on him here!

"What the hell do you want?"

He took out a pack of cigarettes from his pocket and was about to light it. When his eyes fixated on Savanna's belly, he stopped his motion immediately.

Looking at him, a mocking smile flitted across her eyes. Brandon was very handsome, one of the most handsome men in the city. She used to go crazy for him. But now, when she looked at him, she felt nothing but heartache.

m

She picked up the fruit wine in front of her and drank it up in one breath. On the other side, Brandon did not stop her, but looked at her from afar.

Until she drank up the bottle of fruit wine, her cheeks blush. There was no alcohol in the fruit wine, but she felt that she was drunk. She pulled her sweaty hair on her forehead behind and licked her wet lips. She asked the question she had hid at the bottom of her heart, "Brandon, you don't like me.

Why don't you let me go?"

Brandon did not answer. In fact, he couldn't answer that question.

He didn't understand himself either. There must be something wrong with him recently.

He always thought of the night when he pressed her on the desk in the study room.

After Winnie came back and he told Savanna to divorce, he and Savanna had never had sex.

"I've told you that it's up to you whether to keep the baby or not after you give birth." he spat out.

When she heard what Brandon said again, her heart was completely cold. There was a little anger in her words,

"I have told you many times that the baby in my belly is not yours. You don't need to be responsible for it."

If it was in the past, he would be angry and rush over to pinch her neck to warn her,

"Don't be so ungrateful, Savanna."

But this time, he sat there with a calm face and lowered his eyes. After a long time, he tried to communicate with Savanna softly. he took down the cigarette in his mouth and opened his mouth,

"don't make a fuss, Savanna. I will give you whatever you want as long as you tell me."

Hearing this, Sherry couldn't help but laugh in her heart. The man told her not to make trouble for him. It was him who made trouble for her, not willing to let her go.

Depressed and drunk, she slapped her hands on the table and pointed at Brandon, "you said you would give me what I want, but you took away everything that belonged to me. Brandon, I... hate you."

The hatred she expressed without hesitation was like a sharp knife stabbing into Brandon's heart.

He felt like blood was dropping from his chest, one or two drops...

It hurt.

"About your father, I..."

Before the four words "I'm so sorry" came out of his mouth, Savanna interrupted him.

"Don't mention my father. You are not qualified."

She couldn't help trembling and her eyes turned red.

"L..I'm not qualified."

Savanna murmured, covering her eyes with her hands, tears streaming down from her fingertips.

During this period of time, she had been living in self blame. It was her inability to save her father, and her marriage was her father's death warrant.

"Savanna..."

Seeing that she was in great pain, Brandon also felt sad.

He cut off his cigarette, stood up, and walked towards her. Reaching up, he pulled her into him, with his chin against her forehead, He closed his eyes and finally said, "I'm sorry."

Brandon never explained to others.

He made an exception.

"It's you who killed him."

Just like the financial crisis of the Thompson Group, it was not Brandon who forced his father to die, but it was Brandon who gave the weapon to her father's enemy and caused his father's death indirectly.

Send

She had to blame Brandon to some extent.

Brandon still wanted to say something, but he finally stopped when he knew that Savanna would not believe him.

After a moment of silence, she seemed to think of something and said:"You did the same thing to the Thompson Group, didn't you?"

Brandon's silence was equivalent to admitting his crime.

She was so agitated that she shouted, "It's you, Brandon! You are such a despicable man..."

Before she could finish her words, he abruptly leaned into her, smashing his lips on hers. She could no longer speak a word.

Fierce kisses, aggressive and lustful, with a strong sense of possessiveness, were slammed violently on Savanna. He had wanted to do it for a long time. When he saw that she was tightly clinging to Leo, he really wanted to beat him to death, but he knew it was Savanna playing trick on them.

Even if Leo had the guts to like his woman, he didn't have the guts to touch her.

Therefore, he suppressed his anger and allowed Leo to go downstairs.

She called him by his full name, but she always called Cain Wilson by his first name, which made him very sad. He couldn't bear it any more.

He would kick that bastard out of the city tomorrow.

"Let me go..."

It was not easy for her to get rid of the aggressive Brandon.

She raised her head and gasped for fresh air.

Her skin was very tender. Because Brandon gripped her tightly and kissed her fiercely, her skin was full of hickeys. Staring at her skin scattered with his love bites, he felt hot. The lust and desire ran through his body. He wanted her. He wanted to crash her inside him, making her moan under his body

Brandon bit her lips, which restrained her scream. His hot palm burned her skin, and her breath was fast. Moans and gasps slip pass Savanna's lips.

He pressed her against the table. She sobbed and put her hand on his chest. Her face was flushed and begged him, "No! Please no..."

Brandon took a step back and looked at her deeply for half a minute before he walked to the bathroom.

With the sound of the door closing, she gasped and looked at the closed bathroom door. Her trembling body slid down the wall.

Just now, she was a little afraid of him.

She knew that he was trying hard to suppress his anger, and she was more afraid that he would hurt the baby in her belly.

She couldn't help touching her flat belly.

Beep! Beep! Beep!

Her phone rang. She took it out and found that there was no caller ID. she turned her head and looked at the screen. It was Brandon's phone.

She didn't want to answer the phone. She just wanted to know who would call him at this late hour.

She went around the table and picked up the phone.

Winnie's name was on the screen.

It was a call from Winnie.

When she saw the name, she felt her breath surging.

She knew it was immoral to answer a phone call, but she was really curious about what Winnie wanted to say at this late hour. Somehow, she raised her finger and slid the answer button, "Brandon, I can't fall asleep again. Can you come here?"

Her sound was incredibly soft.

Both were silent for a minute. Winnie realized the one who received the phone might not be

Brandon She called tentatively, "Savanna."

After two seconds of silence, she said: "Yes, it's me."

After confirming that it was Savanna who answered the phone, she said in a bad tone, "Where is Brandon? Let him answer the phone."

Smiling, Savanna fiddled with her nails, "Oh no! He's taking a shower. When he finishes, I'll ask him to call you back."

As expected, Winnie couldn't sit still any longer. She held the phone tightly and said in a cold voice, "Savanna, he doesn't love you. What's the point of you pestering him like this?"

"Winnie Landis."

This was the first time that Savanna called Winnie by her full name.

"If he loves you enough, you should take care of your man and make him set me free.

Do you know what he did to me just now?"

Savanna stopped for a second on purpose, "his body is sexy on me..."

No matter how well-educated Winnie was, she was provoked by what she heard.

Gritting her teeth, she asked, "do you know why?"

US

Not waiting for her answer, she said, "Because my leg is injured, so he has to make you his bed toy If he liked you, he wouldn't make your Thompson Group go bankruptcy. My uncle's body hasn't been buried yet. You are such an evil daughter. If my uncle knows that the Thompson Group was destroyed by him, and you are still so slut to seduce Brandon, he will definitely become alive to scold you."

Hearing this. Savanna was so angry that she retorted loudly, "no matter he likes me or not, no matter how you distort the fact, you know, I have his baby."

"Screw you!" Winnie shouted at her, "Who knows? Whether your bastard belong to MTD, the boss of the romantic investment bank or Cain Wilson? I assume you know it best!"

Before Savanna could retorted back, Winnie hanged up the call. Lowering her head, she put the phone back. A cold smile appeared on her lips. Thinking of what Winnie said, her smile disappeared little by little.

She knew clearly what Winnie had said. "If he liked you, he wouldn't make your Thompson Group go bankruptcy."

Her heart clutched when she heard the truth.

With the door bursting open, Brandon came out of the bathroom, wrapped in a bath towel. Bright water drops slid from his chest to his six pack before stopping at his pants. While drying his hair, he asked, "did someone call me just now?"

"Yes," Savanna frowned, "It's your beloved woman."

Hearing that, Brandon stopped wiping his hair. His lips twitched and he walked to pick up the phone on the table. He clicked on the call record with Winnie, which showed the call time was 65 seconds

With knitted brows, Brandon dialed Winnie's number.

"Hello, Brandon." A soft voice immediately sounded in Brandon's ears.

"Anything wrong?" Brandon asked.

"Brandon, I couldn't fall asleep again. My belly is still painful. My period is torturing me." It seemed that she was crying and her breath shallow.

Brandon asked in concern: "Have you should wore the earrings I bought? Put it on and listen to music to relieve your fatigue. And have you taken the medicine prescribed by Dr. Green?"

"Yes, but it's useless. Brandon, can you come over?" ,

Hearing the request of Winnie, Brandon couldn't help but look at Savanna. She seemed to be focusing on cleaning up the steak on the table, but in fact, he knew that she should be listening to them.

Brandon looked down at his watch. It was twelve o'clock in the morning.

"Winnie, it's too late..."

Before he could finish his words, he heard the sound of something heavy falling from the phone. He took a deep breath and his face changed greatly. ^^

"Winnie...!"

Then, the phone hung up.

He stood up sharply, hurried to the cloakroom and changed his clothes. While buttoning up his sleeves, he said to Savanna anxiously, "Something might have happened to Winnie. I'll go there. Go to bed early,"

After saying that, he ignored Savanna and left the room in a hurry.

Soon, the sound of car motioning came from downstairs.

It was quite common for Winnie to ask him to leave just by a call. She ignored the pain in her heart and poured all the dishes into the trash can.

At that night, Brandon didn't go back.

When she got up, it was already noon. The sun was shining and she went downstairs. Debbie had prepared food for her. When she sat at the table for dinner, Leo came in. Because of what happened last night, he looked very awkward. He handed a share transfer agreement of the Thompson Group to Savanna, and his attitude was more humble than before. He said, "Mrs. Cassel, this is given to you by Mr. Cassel. He also said that he would not interfere the management of the Thompson Group in the future." While reading the share transfer agreement, she drank milk. Hearing what Leo said, she stopped reading. Savanna looked at Leo with her bright eyes. Seeing that, Leo's face became more awkward and he quickly lowered his head.

III

"Only if I agree to stay at his home and behave obediently, right?"

This was a conditional offer from Brandon.

Leo said nothing

"Okay."

After drinking up the milk, she put the empty glass on the table and picked up the share transfer agreement. When she passed it to Leo, she slowed down on purpose, "tell Mr. Cassel that I will be obedient..."

Whether intentionally or not, her breath sprayed on Leo's neck, making him feel rippling.

"As he wishes, I won't see any man." She said softly.

Hearing that, Leo's ears turned red. He immediately took a step back and lowered his head, as if he didn't dare to look at this fascinating woman.

Glancing at Leo's ruddy ears, she smiled and said, "Leo, you are so cute."

After that, she went upstairs.

With her footsteps going far, Leo didn't dare to raise his head until he couldn't hear them at all. Looking at the stairs where she had disappeared and smelling the faint perfume floating around, he felt depressed her. But she saw an astonishing picture on the phone.

A sweet couple laid on the bed. The woman's snow-white hands were tightly around the man's waist, and the loose hair fell on her blush cheeks. There were tears hanging on her eyes. Her expression was a little sad. Her soft appearance could catch the hearts of any man. The man lowered his head, and his lips were just against her flesh neck. Her sexy posture and messy bed sheet made him look so hot.

Winnie called Brandon away at last midnight. This photo was enough to prove what had happened between them last night. Crack, it seemed that Savanna heard the sound of her heart breaking into pieces.

Her phone rang again. It was a message from Winnie, 'I'm sorry to keep you waiting for Brandon for a long time last night. I couldn't fall asleep, so Brandon stayed with me for the whole night.

She bit her lips hard, as if only in this way could her heart less painful. Then she quickly edited the text and sent out, you're just his lover. You don't mind to be a slut. What can I say!

The next second, Winnie sent a video call to her, but Savanna refused to answer it. She continued to called her, and Savanna had to answered it.

In the video call, Winnie was sitting in a wheelchair with a sea of beautiful flowers behind her. Her face was cold, "Savanna, who is the lover? Don't forget that you stole him from me... if you're his true love, how can others take him away?"

Winnie sneered more and kept saying, "If it weren't for you, I wouldn't have been disabled. Don't you feel guilty at all?" Her voice was as loud as a lion's roar.

After Savanna closed her eyes and took a deep breath, she couldn't help but said, "First, I didn't force him to marry me. Second, even if he married me, no one would force him to sleep with me. Third, I have divorced him. Maybe you think he is irreplaceable, but for me, he is just a pile of shit..."

Her words were stuck in her throat, and she dared not continue, because she seemed to feel a cold gaze. Sure enough, she caught an intimidated silhouette behind Winnie. He stared at her furiously, his gaze stabbing at her coldly, as if to pierce her trembling heart.

She could feel his anger from the screen.

She didn't expect that Brandon was still accompanying with Winnie at this time.

Thinking of the photo sent by Winnie, and now seeing the two being intimate, the fear in her heart suddenly vanished, although she had told herself several times not to be angry. After Brandon had divorced her, she had no right to care about him.

However, she was still so furious. She could not control herself to talk in an angry voice, "if he loves you so much, he won't let you suffer alone. I assume that he doesn't love you as you believe so. You

Glancing at Leo, Savanna sneered, walked out of grave door and got into the car.

Leo sat on the driver's seat and drove the car. They were driving back the Rose Villas.

All of a sudden, Savanna covered her belly and screamed painfully "Leo , I'm not feeling well. Go to the hospital."

Leo looked back at her and found that her face was pale as ghost. Frightened, he stepped hard on the gas pedal, driving to the hospital quickly.

After sending Savanna to the operating room, Leo was so panic that his hand holding the cigarette was shaking. He was afraid that he couldn't bear the consequences, so he immediately called Brandon, "Mr. Cassel, Mrs. Cassel has a stomachache. I sent her to the hospital.”

“Is she serious?” Brandon asked.

“Yes, she is in the operating room now...”

Before he could finish his words, Brandon hung up the phone.

Twenty minutes later, Savanna walked out of the operating room with her hands on her belly. Her lips were as pale as her face, and she was so weak as if a gust of wind could blow her down. Leo hurried to hold her, and she shook off his hand.

The doctor followed her out, handed a bag of medicine to her and said, “You just had an operation. If you felt anything wrong, you must come to the hospital as soon as possible. Take this medicine on time, it will be helpful for the recovery of your uterus.”

Taking the medicine, she nodded to the doctor as her appreciation. Leo was frozen in place, totally ignored by Savanna. She went downstairs without giving him a glimpse.

Stunned for a moment, Leo hurried to catch up with her, asking her anxiously.

“Mrs. Cassel, what happened in the operation room?” he felt something unexpected happened during the operation because the doctor emphasized the recovery of the uterus’.

Although he didn’t know much about Gynecology, he knew that might mean Savanna had an abortion Leo suddenly felt himself go numb and his legs could not stand steadily.

Turning around, she looked at him in a trance, “yes, you are right. I just had an abortion. The baby... is gone.”

Without the baby, there was no reason for Brandon to make her stay.

Leo was stunned as if he had been hit by a thunder. He stood there, as if he had been nailed by the a spike, and his body could not move at all.

With a sneer, she said, “What a loyal dog, not even your child.”

“Mrs. Cassel, you are too... too cruel.” Leo grasped his hand into a fist. He didn’t expect that the baby was aborted under his watch. He was an idiot. When Mr. Cassel came, how could he tell him about it.

Leo was so anxious that cold sweat trickled down his back. Suddenly, he thought that Savanna might lie to him. He ran back to the doctor, asking, “did she abort her child?”

The doctor looked at him and nodded, confused, “yes, she doesn’t want a child. I did it for her.”

Leo’s face turned pale. His legs were so weak that he almost fell down.

“Are... Are you okay?” The doctor held him and asked with concern.

“Nothing.” Leo came out in a trance, and Savanna was gone.

When Brandon drove the car to the hospital, he didn’t see Leo and Savanna. He immediately called Leo.

Leo replied with a trembling voice, “Mr. Cassel, I’m going back to the Rose Villas.”

“Is she okay?”

“Sorry. I lost her, Mr. Cassel.” Leo ‘s voice was almost crying.

Brandon didn’t want to talk to him anymore, so he hung up the phone. Turing his car, he drove back to the Rose Villas like a rocket.

Standing under the eaves, Leo looked terrible and his lips were trembling.

“What happened? Tell me.”

Brandon passed him impatiently and walked into the villa.

Leo followed him silently, not knowing how to open his mouth. After hesitating for a long time, he did not say a word.

Brandon paused, turned to glance at Leo furiously, “do you want to quit?”

“Mr. Cassel, the baby is gone.”

Hearing that, Brandon stopped abruptly.

As if realizing something, he rushed forward, grabbed Leo by the collar and asked fiercely, “say it again.”

“Mrs...Mrs. Cassel did the abortion secretly.”

With a thump, Leo knelt down in front of Brandon and said, “Mr. Cassel, she said she had a stomachache. I saw her pale face, so I sent her to the hospital, into the operation room. When she came out, she said she had done the abortion. I asked the doctor, and the doctor said so...”

Anger overwhelming Brandon, and his blood seemed to be boiling. He suppressed the impulse to tear Leo up.

Although Savanna told him again and again that the child was not his, he knew that the child was his. That was why he forced her to stay with him.

His heart couldn't help trembling. He struggled to open his mouth, squeezing a sentence between his teeth:

“Get out!”

“Mr. Cassel...sorr-”

“I said, get out.”

Seeing Brandon so furious, Leo stood up and had no choice but to leave.

He stumbled into the study room and lit a cigarette with his shaking finger. When the cigarette was half burnt, he stubbed it out. He took the car key and drove to the bar.

In the bar, the lights were dim and music was loud.

Just after he got a bottle of whisky, his friend, Ben, came. He tidied up his messy clothes and muttered, “I called you thousand times, and you always say that you have something to do. But you just called me once, then I must show up for you. Unfair!”

Brandon snorted, “Which beauty are you fooling with again?”

Ben took a sip of wine and said, “a hot actress, who has slender waist and beautiful legs. I was not like you, who abandoned the whole forest for a tree, idiot.”

Displeased, Ben continued, “I was pulled here by you when we were making out. My beauty is unhappy. What's wrong? Did you have an argument with Winnie?”

In the past, as long as Brandon quarreled with Winnie, he would ask Ben out to complain.

Brandon and Ben grew up together and talked to each other all the time.

“She took the baby.”

Brandon said painfully.

Ben was shocked. He didn't expect that Winnie was pregnant.

Maybe it was because he was really drunk, or maybe it was because of something else that Brandon lost control of his emotions. He kept calling Savanna. But no matter how many times he dialed, the phone automatically hung up after ringing for sixteen seconds.

When he was driving, he didn't know where to find her. He called Debbie and asked for her, but she told him that Savanna didn't come back.

Brandon drove the car around. At last, he drove to a place unconsciously and turned off the engine. When he came to his senses, he saw the two words "Thompson's house" written on the door of the villa.

He lit another cigarette. The outline of smoke was blurred, and the smell of nicotine in his mouth was very bitter, just like his current mood.

He threw the cigarette butt out of the window, then opened the door. He walked into the villa unknowingly.

Joyce, the housekeeper, heard the car whistle and saw that it was Brandon. She looked into the hall and greeted him: "Brandon."

He was not that drunk. Hearing Joyce calls him, he lifted his eyelids and asked: "Is Savanna back?"

"Yes."

Joyce replied in a low voice and turned back to the hall in a hurry.

Brandon staggered a few steps and followed Joyce into the porch. At the first sight, he saw Savanna, who was sitting on the sofa and watching TV. When she heard Joyce greet Brandon, she froze.

Hearing the familiar footsteps, Savanna raised her head and met the deep black eyes of Brandon. But she only gave him a slight glance, then she lowered her head and pressed the remote control in her hand to switch the TV channel.

Seeing her indifferent attitude, Brandon felt very uncomfortable.

He staggered forward and called gently: "Savanna."

"What are you doing here?" Staring at the TV, she said to Brandon.

It seemed that he lost the ability to speak in an instant. He just stood in front of her motionlessly like a statue

The TV was broadcasting a TV drama adapted from a popular novel. The hero and the heroine were separated because of a misunderstanding. The heroine was pregnant and gave birth to a child. The plot on the TV was similar to theirs, and it was very fitting.

The heroine was so sad that Savanna's heart ached. After all, it was a make-up TV drama. The hero was deeply in love, but the man in front of her was just a jerk. Brandon took a look at the TV and turned to look at the pale face of Savanna. She looked much worse than yesterday. Only people who had just had an operation would look so weak.

This recognition made him clench his fists. His fingerbones bulged and blue veins appeared on his fingertips. After a long time, he finally asked: "Why did you have an abortion?"

"That's why you came here?"

"Yes."

"It's better if you don't have a child. Without a child, nothing can hold you back. You can love and have a relationship with Winnie." Savanna answered coldly.

"No matter what, it's a life. It's also your child. How could you do that to him?" Brandon asked sulkily.

"It's just an embryo. Why would I get attached to it?"

Tears welled up in Brandon's eyes and his nose turned red. He gritted his teeth and said:

"You are a heartless woman."

"You find out today?" Raising her eyebrow, Savanna asked.

"You always treat me as a terrible and bad woman. Brandon, admit it. You didn't kick me out just because you didn't want the descendants of the Cassel family to live out there like a stray dog! It doesn't matter if one child is gone. Winnie would carry your kids as many as you want!"

I only want your baby.

This sentence stuck in his throat at the last minute, and the last bit of self-esteem made him unable to speak out loud.

"You will regret it, Savanna."

"If I don't abort it, I will regret it," said Savanna.

After seeing the photo sent by Winnie, Savanna knows it well. Brandon was a scumbag. He forced her to stay in the Rose Villas, but he also slept with Winnie at the same time. What is her place in his heart?

In the beginning, she still held the hope that she could get back together with Brandon.

Even if her father was gone, and even if Brandon did something bad to her, she felt that she could endure it for Brandon asked, unwilling to give up.

"Yes! I hate you! How I wish you could die! Let's don't meet again. I will pay back the money that we owe you. Now, Mr. Cassel, I need to rest. Please leave."

She didn't want to talk to him anymore, so she stood up with a fierce look.

"Fine."

Speaking of this, it was useless to say more, and a great chunk of sadness surged in his heart.

He looked at her with cold eyes, and his face was immediately covered with frost. The tight line of his forehead indicated that he had been extremely angry. Before he could control his emotions, he smiled coldly and said: "That's it. From now on, don't expect that the Cassel Group can help the Thompson Group. Good luck, Savanna."

Joyce, who had been eavesdropping on them all the time, came out of the corner and saw the lonely figure of Brandon leaving. Her eyes were filled with sympathy: "My lady, you don't have to do that."

Joyce could tell that Brandon cared about her.

"He never loves me."

It was better to make an early plan than to be abandoned by him after giving birth to the child and she was forced to separate from her child.

Lowering her head and looking at her belly, she murmured

"Baby, from now on, it's me and you."

The black Cayenne was speeding at a high speed, like an agile black panther, galloping crazily on the road. The drivers who made way for the Cayenne were thinking whether the driver was crazy.

After the baby was gone, there seemed to be a hole in his heart, which could not be filled with anything but only vent out by driving.

It was just a child.

It was just a woman.

His life should not be decadent because of a woman, and should not be fettered by a woman, not to mention she is the woman he did not like.

Brandon called Ben, who yawned as if he had fallen asleep.

Hearing the voice of Brandon, he shivered and quickly sat up from the bed. When he took his coat

"Go and find some beautiful girls."

After entering the VIP room of the night club, Brandon put his long legs on the tea table and lit a cigarette, looking dandiacal.

Looking at him, Ben laughed and said: "It seems that the famous Mr. Cassel can't be free from vulgarity."

Ben called the manager, and soon the manager brought a row of young and beautiful "princesses in.

Each of them had its own merits. Brandon picked one randomly and went to the next room with her in his arm.

Even though holding a “princess” in his arm, all Brandon thinking about was the face of Savanna. The “Princess” had taken off her clothes and rubbed against him. Strangely, he didn’t feel anything he wanted.

When the princess licked his Adam’s apple, he even said irritably:”Turn off the light.”
“Okay.”

The lights went out, and the room was plunged into darkness.

The “Princess” slipped into the arms of Brandon again like a snake. Then, she began to unbutton his suit, and her voice was coquettish:”Mr. Cassel, I like you so much!”

He held the princess’s chin with his long fingers and exerted force on his fingertips. The princess immediately shouted: “It hurts.”

“But I love you so much.”

Although the woman’s jaw was almost broken by Brandon’s grip, she still said what the man wanted to hear, “Really?”Brandon sneered. He closed his eyes and enjoyed the woman’s flattery.

However, the pink face of Savanna came into his mind again. He shook his head hard, but still the woman on his body away.

“Mr. Cassel...”

The woman screamed and fell to the ground.

Brandon picked up his coat and rushed out of the room without hesitation. Ignoring the woman’s shout behind him, and strode out of the Night nightclub.

As soon as he got in the car and before he calmed down, he received a call from Ben.

“Brandon, what happened?”

“I have something to do. I have to go now.”

After ending the call, Brandon stepped on the gas and the car rushed out of the garage of the Night nightclub.

It was one a.m. when he drove back to the Rose Villas.

Debbie had already gone to bed, and Leo had never come back since he was driven away by Brandon.

After returning to the bedroom, Brandon rushed into the bathroom. He didn’t step out of the shower until there was no woman’s pungent perfume on him.

He changed into a clean Pajama and lay down on the bed. As soon as he closed his eyes, the scene he had slept on the bed with Savanna before came to his mind again.

He stretched out his hand to hug her, but it was empty. A gust of wind blew through the window, which made him shiver.

They had lived together for two years.

Perhaps he had been used to the life with Savanna.

Now, he had to get used to the life without her.

After lighting up a cigarette, he pinched the cigarette butt, took a pillow, and left the master bedroom which made him suffocated. Then he went to the guest room.

In the dead of night.

The phone rang abruptly and harshly.

Seeing the name "Winnie" jumping on the screen, Brandon frowned.

"Winnie, what's up?"

"Brandon, I had a nightmare. I dreamed that there was a beast with its mouth wide open and it was going to eat me!"

Her voice was always soft and sweet, which could always arouse men's desire to protect her.

Before Brandon finished his words, Winnie cried: "I know you dislike my legs. I can't serve you as you do in Savanna. But I don't want my legs like that either!"

She always knew what to do with him.

It sounded like a euphemism. "Brandon, I lost my legs. You dislike me. I can't serve you like a normal woman, but you should also be responsible for me!!!"

Seeing that there was a sudden silence on Brandon's side, Winnie took advantage of the situation and continued: "I have already felt inferior since I lost my kidney. Now..."

She sobbed, "Brandon, if you leave me, I can't live!"

Sure enough, Brandon didn't know what to say when it came to her legs. The atmosphere was so tense that it was suffocating.

"I'll be right there."

Every time when she mentioned her leg, he really didn't know what to do.

In the end, he would compromise.

After getting off pajamas and wearing a neat suit, Brandon went out. Soon, the black Cayenne arrived at the Cassel family's old house.

When Winnie saw Brandon, she was so happy that she almost screamed. She restrained her joy and pinched her legs. She pinched it so hard that tears immediately burst out. She pulled a long face, grabbed his sleeve, and said sadly: "Brandon, I'm so scared."

As she spoke, she drew back her neck on purpose.

It seemed that the beast in her dream had come to reality to look for her.

"Please don't leave, okay?"

Feeling complicated, Brandon held her in his arms. In the past, he thought that he loved her very much. Since he knew that she faked her death on purpose, his feelings for her had completely changed.

Now, she was only a responsibility to him and he own a debt of gratitude to her.

"Okay." He said softly.

"I know you are the best."

She smiled through tears.

"Go to bed. I'll watch you sleep."

Sitting on the edge of the bed, Brandon took out his mobile phone to find the game APP.

She didn't dare to ask for too much. She was afraid of scaring him away, so she lay in bed obediently. Just after closing her eyes for a while, she screamed and sat up again, which startled Brandon. He quickly turned off the game and put the phone back into his pocket.

“What’s wrong, Winnie?”

“I’m scared.” Her lips trembled, and her face turned pale, as if she had been haunted by a ghost.

Brandon had to lean forward and hold her in his arms. He rested his chin on her hair and said softly: “It’s okay. I’m here.”

The sky was slightly lit. And soon, it was sunrise.

She quietly looked at the man sleeping next to her. The man was not only handsome, but his sleeping posture was so elegant, and his exquisite outline was so smooth. She took a photo of his face with her mobile phone, and sent the photo to Savanna.

In Thompson’s house, Savanna just woke up and was about to get up. She reached out for her coat and put it on. When she heard the phone ring, she took it and had a look.

Seeing that it was a message from Winnie, she wanted to turn it off, but it was too late.

The beautiful sleeping face of Brandon fell into her sight.

The blue background made it difficult for her to breathe.

Blue seemed to be the exclusive color of Winnie. She liked to use this color for everything since she was a child.

Obviously, Brandon didn’t go back to the Rose Villas last night but spent a good night with Winnie.

She thought she was numb and couldn’t get hurt anymore, but after knowing that the two of them had had sex last night, she was heartbroken.

She blacklisted her with trembling fingers, and then, she also blacklisted Brandon.

From now on, these two people have nothing to do with me.

Savanna promised herself in mind.

There was a knock on the door, and then Joyce’s voice came in:

“Miss, Mr. Baker is here.”

“Who is Mr. Baker?” Asked Sayanna.

“The assistant of Mr. Cassel, Leo Baker.”

After hesitating for a long time, she said, “Have a nice trip.”

“Thank you,” Leo answered.

He glanced at Savanna’s belly, and his eyes were full of complication. After taking two steps, he turned back and said, “Savanna.”

He changed the way he addressed her and handed her a card,

“He is my good buddy. If you are in trouble, you can go to him.”

When she was about to reject, Leo had already put the card in her hand. When she lifted her head, she could only see the tall figure of Leo who quickly walked away.

posted a photo of Brandon's sleeping face with words:I love you, 3000.

It was known to all that it was the euphemism to I love you forever. It seems like Winnie was about to announce her relationship with Brandon.

No one dared to do this without his permission.

If people still doubted that there was a connection between them, then in the afternoon, the statement posted by Brandon on Instagram:The Thompson Group wishes my ex-wife, Savanna, a bright future!

The statement made by Brandon was like a clean breakup with Savanna. When they broke up, the man acted free and easy. He even sends her wishes generously.

Starting at the statement, Savanna sneered.

She knew that it was not easy for her to go on.

Sure enough, in a short while, the Thompson Group received many terminations of contracts from its partners. Moreover, even though Savanna and Justin had tried their best, they failed to get an order for the group.

No one in the city dared to offend the powerful Brandon.

The Thompson Group had lost the protection of the Cassel Group, and it was inevitable that it would go downhill.

When she had no other choice, Savanna took out the card given by Leo from her bag.

With slight hope, she went to Gordon Stone for help. Hearing that she was introduced by Leo, Gordon asked her excitedly, "Where is Leo?"

"He went back to Philadelphia. He said his sister was sick and needed to go back to take care of her." Savanna said honestly.

"He is a loyal man. Don't let him down."

Gordon Stone thought Savanna was the woman Leo liked, so he told her without hesitation.

But Savanna just told him the truth, "We are just... Friends."

Gordon Stone believed her words and trust her. After reading the information about Savanna, he handled the loan procedures for her in person without saying anything. After completing the loan approval process, he asked Savanna, "Do you need customers? If you need some, I can introduce you." With her heart twitching, she said excitedly, "We do. We need a lot of customers. Thank you, Mr. Stone."

With the help of Gordon Stone, the Thompson Group survived the dilemma. Meanwhile, the news that Winnie was pregnant went viral on the Internet. The comment section of her Instagram was full of blessings. Although it was not clear whose baby she was pregnant with, everyone knew that it was Brandon's.

When she read the news, her heart ached so much that she couldn't breathe. But on second thought, it might be a good idea. After she finished dealing with the affairs of the Thompson Group, she could leave New York for a short while and stay in a quiet place, expecting her child. However, just as Winnie was in joy, the news that Brandon was captured entering the Night nightclub went viral on the Internet the next day.

The public relations department of the Cassel Group refuted the rumor the first time, saying that it was just a man who looked like Brandon. Last night, their boss, Mr. Cassel, stayed up all night and worked overtime.

Ever since there was some gossip about him, it seemed more photos like this were repeatedly seen on the Internet from time to time. He always stayed in all kinds of nightclubs. Later, there was even news that he booked VIP private rooms for all year long in all nightclubs.

Brandon had nothing to do with her anymore. Deep in her heart, she told herself again and again that she didn't need to be sad. But to her surprise, Giselle Cassel and Tracy Cassel suddenly came to her office. Meeting her, Giselle Cassel cried out of breath and said, "Savanna, how heartless you are!"

Seeing that Giselle Cassel was here to argue with her about the abortion, Savanna remained silent.

"Savanna, that's also your child. How could you have the heart to..." Giselle Cassel couldn't continue and sobbed. Her eyes became redder and redder, and she sighed, "It's all my fault. I don't have the luck to let your baby call me grandma."

"Mrs. Cassel, Winnie is pregnant. I believe it won't be long before she gives birth to a fat boy for the Cassel family."

At the mention of Winnie, Giselle Cassel's face changed.

Tracy, who was standing next to her, said in a hurry, "Just now, mom has kicked that shameless woman out."

"Savanna, are you blaming me for taking her in?"

Giselle Cassel felt guilty. If she didn't pity Winnie for losing her legs, she wouldn't have kept her, nor would she have broken the marriage of her son and daughter-in-law, which ended in divorce.

At first, she was afraid that the relationship between her son and daughter-in-law would be interrupted by her.

Therefore, she decided to keep Winnie by her side. She thought that she could keep an eye on her, but she didn't know it would backfire. She regretted it now!

"No, I'm not," Savanna said calmly.

"I know you blame me for this. After reading the news on the Internet, I don't want to live under the Saine roof with her for a second, so I kick her out. She is a woman full of scheme!"

Giselle Cassel hated Winnie to the bone.

Who would be so shameless to post they were spending the night with a man on their Instagram?

Then Giselle Cassel left in a hurry.

After a while, Tracy came back and said to Savanna, "Savanna, Winnie is pregnant with my brother's child now. But you are so generous to be so calm. I admire you."

If Winnie was a pain in the ass, then Tracy was a trouble seeker.

Both of them has bad intention.

"From now on, I have nothing to do with Brandon. Don't tell me anything about him." Savanna said.

Although Tracy knew that Savanna was unhappy, she still said, "But she can't control my brother. Recently, the nightclubs were like his second home. What if he gets STD?"

Not in the mood to argue with her, Savanna threatened, "Leave. Or I'll call the security."

"Savanna, my brother treated you so well in the past. You are so heartless. I know you hate him and his fickleness. You must even wish him to die. But after all, you have been a couple before. How can Suddenly, something occurred to Tracy. She said to Savanna, "I have something else to do. I'm leaving now." Then, she left in a hurry.

After Tracy left, Savanna sighed. She called Gordon Stone and invited him to have dinner with her. Since he helped the Thompson Group survive the difficult time and get back on track, Savanna wanted to show her gratitude in this way.

"Savanna, it's Leo."

Hearing the voice of Leo, Savanna was a little stunned. She said, "right," gently and added, "Thank Savanna truly appreciated his help.

When she was in despair, Leo helped her at the risk of offending Brandon.

It was a betrayal for Leo.

Hearing that, Leo felt bitter. He hesitated for a while and said, "Don't mention it, we are...friends."

Then, Leo said, "Gordon has told me about the Thompson group. Are you with him now?"

"Yes, we are in the restaurant now."

"Savanna, Gordon just likes other men. You and he..."

Before he could finish his sentence, Savanna said immediately, "I got it, I'll go find the manager an

When Brandon came out of another private room, he saw the man holding Savanna and entered the private room, so he heard the sentence "Savanna, I have something to tell you..." loud and clear.

After taking two steps, Brandon stood outside the door of the room Savanna entered. His black eyes were as cold as blades that could pierce through the door.

After a short while, a tall, well-dressed woman came in. She greeted Gordon in a sweet voice and leaned toward him. He held the woman in his arms and she called him "Mr. Stone". The two of them held each other tightly.

Taking her coat, Savanna quietly walked out of the private room. She put on her clothes and tied her belt. When she was about to pay the bill at the front door, she tripped and fell immediately. Her head hit the wall, and she was dizzy with pain.

Finally, Gordon Stone called her. She withdrew from the shopping software and answered the phone, "Mr. Stone."

"Savanna, I have something else to do. I might be late."

She could tell that Gordon was still unsatisfied, and he was going to take the woman away with him.

She turned the steering wheel and drove back to the Thompson mansion.

What she didn't know was that the black Cayenne stopped about two hundred meters away. The car door popped open and the actress pushed out of the car. She fell to the ground and screamed loudly.

When the woman was about to get up, the car had gone far away.

The woman was

"Mr. Cassel..." The woman shouted.

She was so beautiful. Why couldn't she attract the attention of Brandon?

The black Cayenne sped all the way into the Cassel Group building like a flash.

Brandon got off the car and hurried back to his office. He took off his tie and threw it on the desk. He unbuttoned several buttons of his shirt, but he still felt breathless.

The moment he saw the man holding Savanna, he felt his territory had been violated.

He had an impulse to tear the man into pieces.

He lit a cigarette, bit it, and walked to the French window. Looking at the brilliant lights outside, he took a deep drag on the cigarette and released the smoke. Only then did he feel less stuffy in his chest.

After a while, he went back to his desk and called his new assistant, Jim Raymond.

"Mr. Cassel."

Jim came.

"Check the president of the South Mountain bank."

"Will do."

Half an hour later, Brandon was reading Gordon Stone's information.

he asked a prison officer to pass his words, "Leo, from now on, we are no longer friends."

It was obvious that what put Gordon into jail had something to do with helping Savanna.

With cold sweat on his forehead, Leo asked, "What happened last night?"

After thinking for a while, Savanna replied, "Gordon took a woman out of the restaurant last night, and I left. Nothing happened!"

All of a sudden, the cold figure of Brandon flashed through her mind.

Her heart jolted and her face turned pale.

“What’s wrong, Savanna?”

Afraid that Savanna would fall down, Leo reached out and held her.

Patting her forehead, her face turned pale. She said, “Leo, you shouldn’t have helped me.”

“Did Mr. Cassel do it?” Leo asked.

Her lips were trembling. She was not sure, but she almost guessed it.

Leo’s face darkened. After a while, he comforted her.

“Mr. Cassel is not that kind of person. I have been with him for so many years, and I know his character. Besides, even if he knows that Gordon helped you, he won’t know my relationship with him.”

“Let’s hope so.”

However, she was not optimistic. She felt guilty and said, “Leo, I’m just a trouble-maker. I’m bringing you trouble.”

If Brandon knew that Leo had betrayed him, no one knew what he would do.

Leo helped her into the car. When he saw her off, he said to her, “Don’t worry. I’ll ask around why Gordon was in jail.”

Gordon and Leo were sworn brothers. Leo would not let Gordon like that. Even if he risked his life, he would find a way to get him out.

Savanna went back to the Thompson mansion uneasily.

At the same time, Leo tried to find someone to get Gordon out of jail.

Meanwhile, the client Gordon introduced the Thompson Group called Savanna and asked to terminate the cooperation with the Thompson Group. In the world of business, people often go in an advantageous way. As soon as Gordon was in jail, people on good terms with him left. After a short pause, Savanna heard a woman with long hair walking towards the direction where Tracy left. She was wearing sunglasses, putting on heavy make-up, and a red wind coat covering her attractive figure. She quickly walked into the room where Tracy left and open the unlocked door.

The door was immediately closed.

Savanna didn’t know what was going on, but when she passed by the door, she glanced at the private room curiously. At this moment, the door of the private room opened with a bang.

Without any warning, she looked into the man's eyes.

It's Brandon

Her heart skipped a beat.

At this time, Brandon's face was flushed scarlet. Several buttons of his shirt were unbuttoned, revealing a large area of tanned skin. Half of the hem of his shirt was tucked in his trousers, the belt had already been taken off, and the waistband collapsed on his waist. He looked sexy and hot.

At the sight of Savanna, the expression on his face suddenly changed, and the lust filled his eyes.

Before Savanna could say anything, he reached out and clasped her waist, pulling her into the room desperately.

"Get out."

Brandon yelled at the woman on the bed with a fierce look.

The woman screamed when she saw him pulling Savanna in. She quickly got up, grabbed her coat, and rushed out of the door.

With a kick, the door was closed, and he had already pressed Savanna against the door. Then he pressed his whole body on her soft body.

The hot skin made Savanna realize that there was something wrong with Brandon.

She was in a panic and shouted at Brandon, "Let me go."

Of course, Brandon wouldn't listen to her. He lowered his head and captured her lips.

The hot kiss made her suffocate and breathe disorderly.

Her fist landed on Brandon,

SLOPIIIIII.

stop him

The man didn't feel pain or anything, but he realized that it couldn't go on like this, so he took the belt on the bed and tied up her hands.

Seeing Brandon nearly out of control, Savanna was scared to cry. She shouted, "I'm Savanna, not Winnie. We've divorced..."

It was the first time that she had cried in front of Brandon.

He stood up and closed his eyes hard. His chest heaved violently because of the restless blood. He gasped and said, "I know you are Savanna."

She was the woman who often appeared in his dream recently, how could he mistake her?

Suddenly, a strong pain spread all over his body. With a moan, he looked at the source of the pain. There was a circle of bloody teeth marks on the muscles of his arm.

He turned to look at the culprit, Savanna.

"It's not deep enough. Take a deeper bite."

Gasping for breath, Brandon suddenly grasped her chin with his fingertips and pressed his lips against hers. He bit her lips hard, and their breath immediately mixed. They are so close.

With her hands tied up, Savanna couldn't move but bite his lips.

The smell of blood spread in his mouth.

Brandon stood up and wiped the blood off the corner of his mouth. His eyes were blurred and rippling, and a mocking smile appeared on his blood red lips. He looked like a devil. He asked, "If it's another man, will you enjoy it?"
