Chapter 21 A Stunning Smile “Ms. Decker wants to see me?” Robin looked at Livia and the group of respectful bodyguards behind her. He got interested and smiled. In the mercenary world, Robin sought pleasure in vengeance, and his blade was always soaked in blood. He despised it when people spoke to him in this tone. “Why should I go? “Who does Ms. Decker think she is that I must go?” The hall of the Riding and Shooting Recreation Center fell silent. Livia was astonished. The bodyguards behind her and the surrounding guests were all stunned. Was Robin joking? Cecilia, a rising star in the business world in Hallcester, was beautiful and ruthless. But Robin didn’t know her. Miranda, who had just taken a few steps, suddenly stopped in her tracks and thought, “Robin, you are digging your own grave!” If Robin offended Cecilia, he would be done for. Crystal then covered her mouth and chuckled. She stole a glance at Robin. 0.00% 15:24 Chapter 21 A Stunning Smile 288 Vouchers His attractive face wore a nonchalant expression. Robin always said extremely shocking things. What an interesting man! “Ha...” Crystal couldn’t hold back anymore and burst into laughter. Livia glared at Crystal. Crystal immediately stopped laughing, but she was full of joy as she fixed her burning eyes on Robin. Karina’s eyes twinkled, where she was trying to hide a faint smile. What Robin did always made her feel fresh and interesting. However, provoking Cecilia like this was indeed improper. After all, Robin came to Purpeak Club as Karina’s friend. Although Karina wasn’t afraid of Cecilia, she didn’t want to have a conflict with Cecilia over such a trivial matter. “Robin, Ms. Decker might have something important to discuss with you. Could you go meet her with Ms. Colon?” Robin was reluctant. Karina continued softly, “Just do me a favor. Go and meet Ms. Decker first. I’ll wait for you at Purpeak Bar, alright?” Karina’s voice was so tender. Livia thought, “Just wait until you meet Ms. Decker. Let’s see if you still dare to act tough!” But Livia respectfully gestured. “Mr. Bruce, this way, please!” Robin followed Livia onto the sightseeing bus and headed towards Purpeak Hotel. Miranda instinctively touched her hot and swollen cheek, her eyes filled with resentment as she stared at Robin’s back.

"I thought you had the guts not to go! "Robin, even if you pretend to be so noble in front of me, I won't have a good impression of you!"

Crystal shook her head helplessly and said, "Miranda, are you overthinking? Robin has already broken off the engagement with you. Does he still need to act in front of you? It's of no good for him."

Miranda sneered, "Crystal, you're giving Robin too much credit!

"Humph! Isn't he trying to prove to me and make me accept him?"

"Robin has no ambition. How can he know what I want?"

In Purpeak Fitness Center...

Amaid approached Cecilia, who had just finished bathing.

"Ms. Decker, Livia has picked Robin up. They are on their way to the reception room at Purpeak Hotel." A hint of coquetry flashed in Cecilia's eyes.

She lazily stood up and threw off her thin towel, revealing her fair and smooth skin. Her full breasts were so attractive... The maid draped a bright red windbreaker over her.

Cecilia opened the private training room and entered the public hall of the fitness center. Half-opened red windbreaker showcased her hot figure, fair and slender legs shimmering subtly. Such a wild and hot scene attracted the passionate attention of all the men in the hall.

Like a bewitching enchantress, Cecilia instantly captured the hearts of all the men.

The men who were working out couldn't believe their eyes.

Their mouths felt completely dry, and blood gushed out from their noses.

They just stared at the revealing opening of Cecilia's seductive windbreaker.

Those men wished to pluck out their eyeballs and stuff them into that despicable windbreaker so as to indulge in the charming scene inside.

Cecilia had long grown accustomed to this kind of lustful and wicked gaze. She was full of disdain.

These vulgar men could only keep their distance and dare not approach Cecilia, a gorgeous but dangerous woman. However, driven by the desire for beautiful women, some men would rather risk their lives.

Soon, Moran Walton, a presumptuous young man who thought he was handsome stood in front of Cecilia.

Moran displayed an extremely gentlemanly demeanor and slightly bowed.

“Miss, it’s an honor to meet you.

“I have booked the top presidential suite at the Purpeak Hotel. The environment there is most suitable for a deep conversation with someone like you.

As Moran spoke, there was a lecherous glint in his eyes.

Cecilia smiled playfully, gesturing for Moran to come closer.

Moran immediately became ecstatic and rushed towards Cecilia.

“Miss, you are so wise. Whatever you want, just tell me. There’s nothing I can’t do in Hallcester!”

Cecilia then responded with a smile on her face, but a cold light flashed in her beautiful eyes. “Do you know that your lack of respect will cost your life?”

Moran stared at Cecilia's cold eyes and trembled involuntarily. But thinking about his powerful background, Moran relaxed, and his eyes were filled with filth. “I like hot-tempered women!” After speaking, Moran took a step forward and lightly stroked Cecilia’s flowing hair.

In an instant, his mind went blank, and he got horny.

Moran wished he could immediately pick up enchanting Cecilia and roam freely in her world.

With a bang, a beautiful figure flashed before Moran's eyes, and a female bodyguard behind Cecilia kicked his leg. Her high heel stabbed into Moran's calf like a knife.

With a crack, Moran fell to the ground.

"F_ How dare you hit me?" Moran howled in agony, and his dozen or so black-clad bodyguards rushed forward. There was a rush of footsteps as dozens of guards from the center surrounded Moran and his subordinates.

The female bodyguard grabbed Moran's hair and threw a heavy punch to his face.

"You dare to offend Ms. Decker. Do you want to die?"

Moran was almost driven mad, and he snapped, "F you, Ms. Decker. You're doomed!"

Suddenly, he thought of Cecilia!

"You are Ms. Decker?"

In Hallcester, all people knew the mysterious and incomprehensible Cecilia, who was even more terrifying than Conway! In the past five years, anyone who dared to offend Cecilia had been killed.

Even the ruthless Underground Demon King, Conway, feared her.

Cecilia was truly a vicious and ruthless woman!

Thinking about his previous silly actions, Moran was so scared that he knelt on the ground.

“Ms. Decker, I ... didn't know it was you. Please spare me and forgive my ignorance...”

Cecilia looked expressionless at Robin outside the window, who was approaching. A playful smile hung on her lips. “Okay, I'm in a good mood right now. I don't want to spoil the joy! You can live, but I'll break your tendons.* Moran begged loudly, “Ms. Decker, please spare me. I won't do it “Noisy! Drag him out and break his tendons! If he keeps making a scene, throw him into the river!” A group of bodyguards dragged Moran towards the basement.

After a short while, cries of misery echoed from the basement.

Cecilia looked outside the window and fixed her eyes on Robin, a man with a tall and straight figure.

She smiled charmingly.

It was so stunning.

This smile was enough to captivate all the men around her.

“Let's go and prepare. I'm going to meet an important guest!”

After that, Cecilia swung her slender legs and headed towards Purpeak Hotel.

Array of sunlight shone through the French window of Purpeak Tower's flyover passage. The sunlight slanted on Cecilia's charming and cold face.

She was surrounded by a team of female bodyguards. They all had a perfect body. Cecilia's dignified and elegant air made her look like a queen.

She looked out the window and saw Robin at Purpeak Plaza. He was on the way. There was a smirk on her lips.

It came to Cecilia that her master had warned her. There was no turning back once Cecilia stepped into this mortal world. Dangers lurked around every corner.

If Cecilia wanted to find the royal road to success, she must work hard.

There was no turning back!

To survive this trek, Cecilia had to learn to be more ruthless and unscrupulous.

Her pretty face wouldn't help.

Cecilia aspired to stand alone, rise to fame, and make a mark.

In this world, kindness and indulgence were for the weak.

People would fear and respect Cecilia only when she was at the top of the pyramid. Then she could rule the world the way she wanted.

And then Cecilia could hold her fate in her hands.

Bearing that in mind, Cecilia killed her way out.

She was bloodthirsty.

The more intimidating her enemy was, the more she enjoyed the fight.

The handsome Robin came all the way here.

Cecilia was impressed by him.

It was because he was strong and exceptional.

And he was proud and defiant.

He wouldn't give a damn even if he was alone against the whole world."

Cecilia looked at men with a critical eye. Only talents like Robin could get her attention. She gazed at Robin's rugged face under the sun.

An untamed soul was hiding beneath the defiant look in his deep eyes.

Cecilia thought, "Robin is like some kind of mellow wine.

He must be an interesting man.

And he must have many good stories!

Robin followed Livia to the foyer of Purpeak Hotel.

He sneezed.

At this moment...

Robin sensed that from a 15—degree angle above, a pair of seductive and sharp eyes were studying him. That made him uncomfortable and feel like he was walking in the wild, being watched by a monster. Robin glanced in that direction.

The strong sunlight, reflected by the glass, helped to disguise all the furtive movements. Livia kept a close eye on him.

She was seizing him up and wondering why Cecilia took a shine to him.

In Livia’s eyes, Robin was just a handsome man, nothing special.

If she looked at his riding and shooting skills, he was still average.

What distinguished Robin from other men was his arrogance.

Livia didn’t understand.

Cecilia was a lofty and perfect lady.

Cecilia was totally out of Robin's league!

Back then, Livia chose to serve Cecilia in this mortal world.

She had been there for Cecilia all the time when Cecilia fought and defeated one tough enemy after another to get where she was today.

No man had ever had such a privilege to be liked by Cecilia.

However, Cecilia fell in love with Robin at first sight.

There must be something special about Robin.

Livia stared at him, trying to figure it out.

Yet again, she failed to see anything special.

It had been years.

Robin was the first man who had received such special treatment.

This had become countless men's dreams even since Cecilia entered this world. They all dreamt of sitting and drinking tea with Cecilia.

These men were loaded and came from powerful families.

But Cecilia refused them.

Why was Robin so lucky?

Cecilia made him an exception.

Livia was curious, looking down and moving ahead.

Robin suddenly stopped, and Livia collided with him.

“You... Why did you stop?” Livia asked angrily, fixing her hair.

“I feel you are staring at me from behind. It makes me uncomfortable!”

Livia blushed and tried to hide the guilty look on her face.

“Don't flatter yourself. Why would I stare at you? I would rather stare at a dog!” With that, Livia nervously shifted her gaze at a maid next to her.

The maid whispered, “Ms. Colon, don't look at me like that. I... I'm not a dog...” “Shut up!” Livia pursed her lips and shot her a cold glance.

Robin shook his head. “Alright, you lead the way. I don't like people watching me like a wolf watching its prey.” Livia rolled her eyes and walked into the elevator first.

She cursed in her heart, “Damn you. I'm not a wolf.

I will make you pay a price when I get the chance.”

Livia put on a stern face and was silent. She didn't look back at Robin again.

Livia did an about-face on Robin. She used to be very nice to Robin when they were at the Riding and Shooting Recreation Center.

Robin shook his head.

He felt that he couldn't stand this hypocritical woman.

Robin thought Livia was interested in him. Now she was pretending to Look at yourself! You're a lecher like them.

Is Ms. Decker mad or something? Why did she insist on inviting you?"

Soon they arrived on the top floor.

Two female bodyguards stopped them right after they were out of the elevator. "Wait! You're not allowed to take weapons of any kind. We'll keep it for you." Robin paused and was displeased.

"Ms. Decker invited me. This is not the way to treat a guest."

Livia said coldly, "This is one of the rules here. Guests are not allowed to take weapons inside her private meeting room, no matter how distinguished they are.

"This has been the way for a long time." Robin shrugged and questioned indifferently, "Seriously? "I'll do it my own way. | won't cave into others' rules."

Livia and the bodyguards were stunned.

Robin didn’t hesitate at all.

He reached the elevator and pushed the button.

His behavior seemed to suggest that he didn’t want to waste one second here.

Livia was confused.

She cursed in her heart, “Scumbag!

Such an opportunity was worthy of a fortune and years of waiting. Even tough requirements wouldn't discourage them. But Robin just walked away!

Livia thought, "F! What's wrong with this Robin?"

How could he let the chance slip through his fingers?"

After traveling with Cecilia for so many years, Livia had met a lot of people.

But none of them was like Robin.

Robin was too arrogant!

Livia cursed in her heart, "You piece of shit! Who do you think you are?"

You are just like one of Karina's bodyguards!

As Livia watched Robin leave, she was ready to explode with anger!

“Let's go and see him.” Cecilia walked to the elevator sulkily.

Looking at her back, Livia was confused.

Livia thought Robin was only an average fighter.

Why did Cecilia want to see him in person?

The moment Robin arrived at Purpeak Bar, he got a message from Karsyn.

“Mr. Bruce, Conway asked to meet Ms. Huber and sign the project transfer agreement of the Eastern Business District project in the opposite reception area.

Karsyn.

At the same time, Miranda and some friends were having their meals on the second floor. They saw Robin.

A hint of anger crossed Miranda's eyes.

Earlier today, she lost 8 million dollars because of Robin and was slapped by Livia.

That really embarrassed Miranda at the Riding and Shooting Recreation Center.

"Didn't Livia take Robin to see Ms. Decker?"

Crystal looked at Robin with interest and murmured, "Why is he here?"

Miranda snorted and said, "Did Ms. Decker kick him out after roasting him?"

Krish stared at Robin for a while. "Maybe there is something special about him. Ms. Huber seems to treat him well."

Jacob said coldly, "I wonder how Robin lied his way to get Ms. Huber's trust.

"But he's a bumpkin by nature. He comes from nowhere. He's a cheater who causes trouble and relies on the Huber family. "He may mess with the wrong people one day and die."

Miranda nodded. "Soon, he will offend all the top guns in the city, and Ms. Huber will regret keeping him as her bodyguard."

Jacob also nodded and said, "Miranda, fortunately, you decided not to marry him, or he will drag you and your family down sooner or later."

“Over the past year, Owen has gathered his momentum, and he is about to be stronger than the Huber Group and Conway. “Today, Robin beat Owen's nephew. Even if Karina shows up to back Robin up, she may not be able to make it.”

Jacob excitedly drank the wine in his glass. “We should take a good look at this good. Miranda, Krish, come on, let's go down and enjoy the show.”

Melvin wiped the blood stains on his face.

Seeing Crystal pull Robin to walk outside the bar, Melvin struggled and yelled, “You motherfucker beat me! Do you want to run away? Stop there!”

At this moment, the hall on the first floor of the bar was in a mess.

Several of Melvin's bodyguards quickly ran in from outside the bar when they heard about it.

“Mr. Reynell, what's going on?”

“Which motherfucker did it?”

Melvin, whose face was covered with blood, was picked up from the ground by two bodyguards. He pointed to Robin's back and roared, “Stop them!

Miranda, Jacob, and Krish went down from the second floor.

They met Robin, who was blocked in front of the bar by a crowd.

Crystal suddenly remembered that Jacob often had parties with Melvin and the other rich young men.

She hurriedly said, “Mr. Walsh, tell Melvin that it was a misunderstanding.....’

Jacob looked at Crystal and then at Robin and sneered, “Melvin and are best friends, so it’s okay if | say something for you. “But Crystal, | can only keep you out of it. As for Robin, well, | don’t care.”

Robin was also surprised, “Does the Reynell family have connections with Hondry Sect?”

Seeing Robin's expression, Melvin coughed and spit out two cigarette butts from his throat. He laughed proudly. His bodyguards and supporters laughed too.

World Real Estate had been one of the four powerful groups in Hallcester.

Now, Hondry Sect, one of the top sects in the world, became its backer, so the Reynell family was invincible. Even though Robin had the Huber family back him up, it was useless.

At that moment, the way Miranda looked at Melvin showed how shocked she was!

Jacob grabbed Miranda's hand proudly, whispering, "Miranda, Melvin told me about it when he drank with me. "Well, Robin is done this time. Even though the Huber family came here, they wouldn't be able to protect him!" Melvin saw the look of surprise on Robin's face.

He thought that Robin was frightened by the fame of the Reynell family and Hondry Sect.

What they didn't know was that Hondry Sect didn't surprise Robin at all.

Robin just didn't expect that, Hondry Sect, which regarded Robin as a demon, actually had an agent in Londraland, and it was the Reynell family in Hallcester.

It was so ridiculous.

Back then, Robin almost destroyed the headquarters of Hondry Sect on his own. The leader of Hondry Sect, Matthew Deshawn...

He once kneeled before Robin, begged for mercy, and promised...

Matthew swore that all the members of Hondry Sect would never offend Robin and that they would regard Robin as their forever master.

As long as Robin called...

All the members of Hondry Sect around the world would come and risk their lives for Robin.

Seeing the arrogant Melvin, Robin only felt ridiculous.

He had no interest in wasting his time with such a loser.

If those clowns of the Reynell family still stroke an attitude before Robin...

He would ask Hondry Sect to kill them all.

“Are you afraid now?” Seeing that Robin remained silent, Melvin sneered.

Robin shrugged, “What do you want?”

Melvin said ferociously, “If you want to leave alive, drink my urine in front of all the people!”

One of Melvin’s subordinates immediately brought over a glass.

“Mr. Reynell said that the big bed in the VIP room upstairs is very comfortable. He wants you to have an in-depth chat with him for a while...”

Crystal's face turned pale out of fear. She didn't expect that things would come to this end.

Anxious, Crystal turned to Jacob for help, "Mr. Walsh, you... Please tell Mr. Reynell that we... We're willing to compensate him and apologize. Is that okay?"

Jacob hesitated and didn't reply immediately.

Miranda echoed, "Jacob, you'd better persuade Melvin. After all, you two are familiar. Tell him to let Crystal go. "As for the troublemaker Robin, it's time for him to suffer.

"Then he will know that as a bumpkin, he can't afford to offend any of us in the upper class!"

Crystal hurriedly said, "Miranda, Mr. Walsh, you'd better help Robin ask for mercy. After all, he used to be the man who was engaged to you."

Jacob hesitated and could only nod.

After all, Crystal was Miranda's best friend.

Now, Melvin was so angry that Crystal got involved. If Jacob didn't help Crystal, it was unreasonable.

After all, Jacob had bragged to them that he and Melvin were good friends and that he often went to parties with them. In fact, only he knew that...

He was the one who tried his best to fawn over Melvin to be Melvin's friend.

Every time Jacob came to the party held by Melvin, he was just a joker who had no dignity at all.

Jacob thought that it was all Robin's fault. Otherwise, he would be so embarrassed.

Melvin's bodyguard handed the urine and a knife to Robin. "Son, do you want to solve it yourself, or shall I help you?"

Crystal panicked and didn't care so much. She stepped forward and said, "Mr. Reynell, what happened today is really a misunderstanding."

"Your urine, right?" Robin did not wait for Crystal to finish. He directly grabbed the bodyguard's wrist. "Well, since Mr. Reynell wants to drink his own urine. He can perform to everyone in public."

He was Leonel Horne.

Leonel was in charge of Purpeak Bar and Purpeak Boxing.

He was one of the strongest subordinates of Cecilia and an excellent boxer. He was a top 10 boxer in Hallcester.

“Good evening, Mr. Horne!” The customers in the bar hurriedly got up and bowed. No one dared to joke, laugh, and talk nonsense.

Even Melvin, who fell on the ground after being slapped by Robin, endured the pain and got up to greet Leonel, “Good evening, Mr. Horne!

“Mr. Horne, I didn’t mean to make trouble in your place. That bastard made a move first.

“He poured red wine full of sputum and cigarette butts into my mouth and slammed my face against the table. And then... And then he poured urine into my mouth... And slapped me again!

“Mr. Horne, that bastard has gone too far!” At this moment, the onlookers looked at Robin sympathetically. “That man is so presumptuous. He dared to make trouble in the Purpeak Bar. Mr. Horne won't let him go.”

The other customers in Purpeak Bar could guess how miserably Robin would end up.

In their eyes, Robin was just a bumpkin who came from another city and had no special background. However, he actually hit the son of the Reynell family, one of the four most influential families in Hallcester. Moreover, he did it in a bar under the name of Cecilia.

Therefore, Robin could be considered to have provoked the two major forces in Hallcester at the same time!

He would not survive today.

The onlookers were all excited and couldn't wait to watch the good show. Robin might be forced to drink urine, cripple his hands, and kneel to beg for mercy.

And Crystal might be brought to the second floor and raped by Melvin.

Hearing Melvin's complaints, Leonel turned to look at Robin gloomily.

Unexpectedly, Robin took a towel from the waiter and was wiping his palms casually.

It was as if he cared little about Melvin's narration.

And he completely ignored Melvin.

Others gasped in horror.

Someone even felt his legs weak and fell to the ground when hearing Robin's provocative remarks. "Is that guy fucking crazy?"

"How dare he talk to Mr. Horne in that way? Isn't he courting death?"

"No one has the guts to be so unscrupulous in the bar under the charge of Ms. Decker before!" "I think that guy is just tired of living and can't wait to kill himself!"

Crystal was utterly speechless.

She complained in her heart, “Damn it! Can't you stop talking nonsense?”

She had never thought that he would be so overbearing.

In a blink, Cecilia reached the door of Room No. 1.

Robin was still standing about eight meters away. Cecilia waved.

Immediately, several dark light balls shot out from her dainty hand.

The dark light balls aimed at the middle of Robin’s brows, his chest, his shoulder, his stomach, and his knees.

Livia and Leonel were standing on the side. They were pushed out of the way by the strong energy wave of the light balls. They merely found their footing after they were dozens of meters away.

The queen of Purpeak Club was as dangerous as the rumor said.

Beneath her beautiful appearance and sweet smile, Cecilia was a cold-hearted killer.

Cecilia waved again.

Her thin silk shawl danced with her movement.

The sharp weapons made cracking sounds as they dashed forward.

Cecilia's movement was a mix of beauty and death. Robin had faced Cecilia’s second attack.

Robin smiled calmly, though the weapons had weaved a tight net to block his possible escape directions.

“Does the Hart family have a death wish?” Robin pressed a dagger against Cecilia’s neck.

Cecilia glared at Robin. “Don’t forget that you’re in my Purpeak Club...”

“So what? Purpeak Club doesn’t scare me.

“Your family doesn’t scare me.

“I’m having a break in Londraland. If you have a problem with it, I’m happy to visit Valluynn and drop by the Hart’s house.” Robin sneered. Cecilia gasped at the arrogance in his gaze.

In the back of her head, Cecilia knew Robin wasn’t bluffing.

The Purpeak Club and the Hart family were nothing to Robin.

“Who...who are you?” Cecilia asked through gritted teeth. With her strong will, she managed to stay sober.

“It doesn’t matter who I am.” Robin scoffed. “What matters is I know you’re the Underground Queen of Dallig.” Cecilia looked at the dangerous handsome man and started freaking out.

She wondered how Robin knew her secret identity.

Suddenly, Cecilia noticed the plain Dragon Dagger on Robin's waist.

The Golden Dragon on the Golden Dragon glowed brightly and was puffing out smoke fiercely.

It was merely a glimpse.

Yet, it shook Cecilia's world.

She jumped violently, her face drained of color.

"The Dragon Dagger!"

Cecilia rolled over and fell to the ground.

She bowed as low as she could despite her limp limbs.

At that moment, she looked nothing like the pride queen earlier.

Cecilia said in a trembling voice, "Lord Dragon, I didn't know it was you. I'm sorry for not recognizing you. Please spare me. I'll devote everything to you.

"From now on, I'll be your most faithful servant."

Without a word, Robin yanked Cecilia's head up by her hair. His cold gaze fixed on her beautiful face. Cecilia was confused.

Suddenly, Robin released Cecilia and tore her dress open.

The ripping sound was loud in the room.

The white dress dropped from Cecilia's body immediately. She was only clad in flimsy underwear. Before Cecilia could recover from Robin's sudden move...

Robin took out a special tool and pinned it into the middle of Cecilia's chest.

The strong pain brought Cecilia to the floor. She rolled around and was covered in sweat. With her loud cries, a thick dark smoke left Cecilia's body through the wound on her chest. The dark smoke gradually formed into a fierce black python.

"What...what's going on?" Cecilia sat on the floor weakly and panted.

Trenched with sweat, Cecilia's beautiful face was as pale as a dead person.

Robin slapped the black python harshly. The black python blasted.

Cecilia's underwear was torn into pieces by the powerful wave too.

The pieces of the black python flew into the air and slowly fell to the ground.

Cecilia was completely naked, leaving nothing to the imagination.

She automatically raised her arms to cover herself.

Yet, her arms were too weak.

Cecilia thought, "Does Lord Dragon want to have S with me now?"

I don't mind.

It's an honor.

However, the situation is kind of awkward..."

Robin picked up the red coat on the couch and covered Cecilia up.

“I’ll leave it to you to fix the poison in you. It’s your family’s secret poison.”

Cecilia looked at Robin’s slander back weakly, a glint of sadness in her eyes.

She was shocked when she saw the dark blood on the floor.

“What... Why...”

“Someone put a Soul-Devouring Curse on you.” Robin slowly turned around.

“It only works when it’s placed on a woman with a special constitution before she’s three years old. “The black python in your body was the shard of a lost soul.

“It was regaining its body as it rested in your body.

“If I didn’t take it out, soon, it would be able to escape your body and drain your soul and blood. “By then, you’ll be useless. And you’ll wither rapidly and die eventually.”

“What?!” Cecilia started trembling at the shocking news. “How come?”

In her memories, her grandpa and her mom had a big fight when she was little.

Cecilia didn't know what the argument was about.

But her mom died the next day.

For years, Cecilia couldn't rest well as she would feel cold suddenly at night.

During her period, Cecilia would suffer unbearable pain as if she were eaten alive by thousands of ants. Every period was torture to Cecilia.

She had sought out many famous doctors over the years.

Yet./none of them knew what Cecilia's illness was.

"You often feel cold and upset. And during your period, you'll have a thirst for blood and violence. "All of these are because of the Soul-Devouring Curse.

Cecilia's gaze was filled with surprise she heard Robin's diagnosis.

She would turn 21 years old in six months.

If she didn't meet Robin, she would still be in the dark.

And she wouldn't know why until the day she died.

Cecilia shivered uncontrollably.

The wrath in her caused her blood and energy to run wild in her body.

At that moment, Cecilia felt the anger pounding at her ribcage, asking to be let out.

Robin noticed Cecilia's pale face and unbuttoned the coat.

Cecilia couldn't lift a finger and only wanted to lie down.

Robin took out three special tools.

With three flashes of white light, the special tools were shot into both sides of Cecilia's shoulder and her nape, Cecilia started shaking violently,

Soon, a scream broke out in the room.

Cecilia pulled a string of white smoke and let out a long sigh. She sat boneless on the couch. The pink returned to her cheek after a long time.

Cecilia opened her heavy eyelids and murmured weakly, "Mr. Bruce, what happened to me?" Robin retreated the special tools. Seeing that Cecilia was recovering, he used a napkin to wipe his hands. "In this world, there's a wraith—like being called the evil spirit.

commander can only feed the evil spirit through the host.

"In the folks of Londraland, the host is someone whose soul is replaced by a ghost." Cecilia nearly/broke down as Robin explained.

Although she heard similar tales...

She never believed the evil spirit's existence.

Yet, she had seen the black python clearly.

She had watched Robin force it out of her body.

Cecilia had been so relaxed and at ease, both physically and mentally. At that moment, she felt a warm surge of power pouring into her body. She felt alive.

mn

Yet, Cecilia also remembered that the person who put her under the Soul-Devouring Curse was the head of the Hart family, the person she respected the most.

Her faith and her sense of responsibility crumbled at that moment. Cecilia reminisced about her past in detail. The more she thought about it, the more firmly she believed that she was merely a sacrifice for the Hart family.

They said she was the underworld queen of Dallig, the pride and joy of the Hart family, and the upcoming star of the family. They asked her to shoulder the responsibility to revive the family's former glory.

All of them were lies. She was in a great scheme.

The members management of the Hart family all knew the truth. Cecilia was the only fool who was kept in the dark. Cecilia was still shaking. She looked at the aloof man in front of her and bowed faithfully again.

“Lord Dragon, I swear that I'll serve you with my life from now on.”

As Carly, she had reluctantly bowed to Robin out of fear.

But she meant it this time.

Cecilia understood that she needed Robin's protection to stay alive and seek vengeance against her family. She believed there was a connection between her mom's death and her miserable fate.

Once the management of the Hart family found out the Soul—Devouring Curse was invalidated, they would send out the top assassins to go after her.

Cecilia believed that her family wouldn't be a threat as long as she stayed by Robin's side.

The Hart family may be the No.1 family in Valluynn. And they could bring half the people of the earth to their knees. But they were no match for Robin at all.

Robin smiled aloofly, “You made the right choice.

“Today's treatment is over. I'll treat you again later.

“Unsurprisingly, you can regain 30% of your soul in three months.”

Cecilia knelt on the ground and said, “Yes, Lord Dragon.”

“You can get up now.” Robin threw the napkin at the table.

“I didn’t know why the Hart family sent you to Londraland. I assume you are the same. “The Soul-Devouring Curse is a deliberate trap they set up 20 years ago. The management must notice that it was lifted soon. “Maybe, the assassins will come to Hallcester soon.”

Cecilia gradually regained her strength.

She blushed fiercely at her nudity.

Cecilia immediately put on the coat and stood up gingerly before fixing her disheveled hair.

Robin glanced at her indifferently. Cecilia had lowered her head in shame. “What happened today never happened. Understand?”

“Yes, Lord Dragon.”

Robin turned to exit the room.

Livia and Leonel were standing guard outside. They bowed as Robin walked out. They also noticed Cecilia’s pink cheeks and the torn clothes on the floor. The black underwear stood out. 72.13%

Livia’s eyes grew as wide as saucers.

“Shut up!” Cecilia snorted. “This is none of your business. Just remember that Mr. Bruce is an important guest. You must obey his every order.

“See Mr. Bruce out.”

“Yes, Ms. Decker.” Livia had so many questions.

She snicked a peek at the room and cringed at the chaotic scene.

No matter how reluctant Livia was, she had to follow Cecilia’s order.

She secretly shot Robin a glare. “This way please, Mr. Bruce.”

Robin smiled and spanked Livia’s firm ass.

The sound echoed in the hallway.

Livia froze in place.

She thought, “How dare this jerk spank me?”

This was Livia’s first physical contact with a grown man. She was angry and shy. “You!” Livia raised her hand but stopped as she noticed Cecilia’s calm gaze.

Livia pushed her anger down forcefully.

She thought bitterly, “What a bastard. Sooner or later, I’ll make him regret spanking me.” Robin left the Purpeak Bar.

“What do you want?” Robin glanced at Crystal.

He opened his phone and saw a message from Karsyn. “Mr. Bruce, the Purpeak wine party is about to begin.

“Ms. Huber asked me to inform you that she would be expecting you in the banquet hall on the 28th floor of the Purpeak Convention Center in half an hour.”

Crystal looked at Livia, who was visibly angry. Seeing Robin typing a reply to the message, Crystal whispered, "Robin, did Ms. Decker really not do anything to you?"

Robin looked over at Miranda, Jacob, and the others not far away.

Then he looked back at the puzzled Crystal and chuckled, "What can she do to me? Are you disappointed that I came out unscathed?"

Crystal glared at Robin in annoyance. "You..." 161 "With how arrogant you were at the bar, how come Leonel and the others didn't teach you a lesson?"

"Perhaps, Cecilia and Livia have developed a liking for me," Robin said, looking at Livia with interest and heading toward the Purpeak Convention Center.

Livia shot Robin a fierce look.

Crystal trembled slightly and quickly took a few steps, following after them.

Miranda, Jacob, and the others who liked to meddle in others' business were sitting in the outdoor seating area near the bar. They all wanted to see what kind of sorry state Robin would be in when he came out of the bar.

However, seeing that Robin came out in an unexpected manner, they were puzzled.

In the upper class of Hallcester, everyone knew the rules of Cecilia's Purpeak Bar.

Given Robin's actions today, he was surely going to have a hard time.

"I didn't expect this bastard to come out alive. What happened?" Jacob muttered with discontent, touching his swollen mouth. Miranda sneered, "I guess he must have begged Ms. Decker on his knees for mercy, and that's why he made it out of the bar."

Jacob shook his head and said, "It's really strange! Could it be that he called Karina, and the Huber family intervened, leading Ms. Decker to let him go?"

“That might be the reason.” Miranda nodded. Jacob looked at Robin’s back and chuckled coldly. Jacob thought, “Robin was so arrogant today!

Not only did he offend Melvin, but he also openly confronted Leonel, Ms. Decker’s top helper, and even beat up Mr. Lambert’s man.

In this short amount of time, Robin has managed to offend almost all the big shots in Purpeak Club. He’s done for! Multiple parties might spare him temporarily for the Huber family’s

But no one can guarantee what will happen to him next time.

The Huber family’s reputation and favors are like a diminishing resource. They’ll run out eventually. By then, | really want to see how Robin continues to act cocky.”

Thinking about all this, Jacob became excited and forgot all his previous grievances.

“Crystal, why are you following Robin?” Miranda and Jacob caught up with Crystal and mocked her.

“| advise you to stay away from people like him. Otherwise, you’ll be in trouble if you get entangled,” Miranda said, pulling Crystal.

Miranda continued, “There was almost an incident at the bar just now. If it weren’t for Mr. Walsh stepping in, | can’t imagine what would happen.”

Crystal had intended to explain that her safety had nothing to do with Jacob and that she could escape because of Robin.

However, Miranda went on, “Crystal, next time, don’t get close to Robin out of curiosity. Those who don’t understand the rules are bound to cause trouble sooner or later...”

“Well, Livia...” As Miranda was speaking ill of Robin, Livia passed by them.

She hurriedly greeted, “Someone like Robin, who comes from a lower class, really doesn’t understand the etiquette of our class. I think he should be kicked out of the Purpeak investment event.”

Jacob joined in to please her. “Miranda is right. In our upper class, Livia stopped in her tracks and looked at Miranda and Jacob with cold eyes. “Robin is a troublemaker in your upper class? “Are you saying that in your eyes, Robin is just a troublemaker among you?” Livia questioned.

Miranda and Jacob chorused, “Yes, Ms. Colon. We should definitely remove him!”

Livia gave a chilly smile. “So, in your view, you are the trouble made by Robin?”

Both Miranda and Jacob immediately responded, not even thinking, “That's right.”

“Oh my!” Krish and Crystal couldn’t help but cover their faces in unison.

Livia didn’t say anything.

She sneered, disdainfully glancing at them before turning and walking into the bar.

Miranda looked at Livia's retreating figure, puzzled. "Crystal, did I say something wrong? What does she mean?" "Shit! Miranda, are you for real?" Crystal shook her head.

"You guys admitted that you are the trouble! Livia doesn't want to talk to you anymore because she finds you stupid!" Miranda finally came to her senses. "Dear! It's all because of that asshole Robin!"

Jacob held onto Miranda, who was still sulking. "Miranda, once my dad signs the investment deal for the Eastern Business District today, I'll deal with Robin! He won't be arrogant for long!"

On the 28th-floor banquet hall in the Purpeak Convention Center.

Karina and Karsyn were waiting in the business lounge area of the hall.

Robin found them in the area indicated by the location.

Karina observed him and said, "Are you OK?"

Robin shrugged. "I'm fine. Why?"

"I heard from Karsyn that you had a conflict with Melvin from World Real Estate at the bar. Did you resolve it?" "Just a minor issue." Robin lifted a cup of coffee brought by a waiter.

Karina looked at him, unfazed. "Did Leonel cause you any trouble?"

"No, everything went smoothly." Robin set down his coffee. "What's up?"

"Nothing. That's good then." Karina had wanted to inquire about Cecilia's invitation to meet with him.

Seeing that Robin wasn't inclined to share more, Karina hesitated for a moment and decided not to press further. After all, Robin was at most a benefactor and guest of the Huber family.

He had no obligation to share every detail of his actions with her.

However, after this morning's events, Karina was more and more curious about Robin.

Initially, she had thought he was just skilled physically, perhaps with a background in special forces or something similar. But Robin could escape from Conway's and Cecilia's tricks.

And he could leave unscathed after engaging in a brawl at Purpeak Bar.

These abnormal things had intensified Karina's interest in Robin.

Considering Robin's engagement with Miranda, Karina wondered if she had thought too much.

Maybe Conway had taken the Huber family's influence into account, leading to significant concessions in the Eastern Business District project.

Perhaps Cecilia was merely intrigued by Robin's exceptional archery skills and let him off the hook after the Purpeak Bar incident.

Robin noticed Karina gazing at him with a distant expression and shrugged. "Are you staring at me like this because you find me handsome?"

Karina's cheeks reddened, and she retorted, "Shameless!"

"Do you know who Melvin Reynell is?"

Robin pursed his lips and said, "Yeah, he's Owen's nephew from World Real Estate, right? What's up? Is there more trouble?" Karina nodded and said, "Melvin, a playboy like him, isn't worth

"But Owen's eldest son, Nathen Reynell, is not a good guy at all!

"About four or five years ago, the Reynell family was just average among the top families in Hallcester, almost at the bottom of the rankings.

"However, since Nathen returned from studying abroad four years ago, the Reynell family quickly rose to prominence. "And Owen and Nathen became notable figures in Hallcester. "Under their management, World Real Estate has thrived.

"In these past couple of years, with my father's serious illness, Owen seems poised to take over my grandfather's position as the head of the Hallcester Chamber of Commerce.

“For over a year now, Nathen has been trying to propose to me. “I know he’s after all the connections and assets of the Huber family.

“Recently, he stirred up trouble with the Eastern Business District project, targeting the specific investment areas, forcing me and the Huber family to comply...”

Karina stood up as a formality, gesturing, “Mr. Reynell, how do you do?”

Nathen’s appearance instantly caused a commotion in the reception hall.

The guests who had previously been gathered in groups now turned their attention to the lounge area.

Karina stood in front of Nathen.

Adorned in a sea—blue gown, she looked graceful.

With her tall and slender figure, unparalleled beauty, and aloof demeanor, she attracted countless admiring gazes. It was rare that Nathen and Karina, both strikingly attractive, would appear at the same time.

Recently, rumors had been circulating among Hallcester’s upper class that Nathen had been passionately pursuing Karina, the heiress of the Huber family.

However, they had never been seen standing so close together before. The onlookers were full of admiration and envy for this perfect couple.

But there was strong jealousy and resentment.

It seemed like all the world's beauty had converged upon these two people! Nathen possessed all the qualities of a perfect man.

He was an economics PhD returned from abroad, had a towering handsome appearance, and was the manager of World Real Estate. Besides, he had exceptional business talents.

Karina's perfection was beyond words.

The Huber family's deep roots in Hallcester, her position as the city's premier beauty, and her title as a businesswoman returning from a prestigious international school were sufficient to make her unparalleled.

While speaking, Karina noticed two other individuals. They were her uncle Justin Huber, and his wife Alondra Dalton. Harold had two sons, the elder Camdyn Huber, and the younger Justin.

Harold had stepped back from the forefront five years ago, allowing his elder son Camdyn to take over the reins of the Huber Group.

Under Camdyn's leadership, the Huber Group had flourished.

Camdyn almost successfully took over the company.

However, three years ago, he fell seriously ill and was bedridden.

Despite the Huber family's efforts to find the best medical care, Camdyn's condition remained incurable. Following Camdyn's fall, it should have been Justin's turn to take over the Huber Group.

However, Harold didn't believe that Camdyn was noble and able enough to bear the heavy responsibility of the Huber Group. Thus, Harold had to step in again to support his granddaughter Karina in taking over the Huber Group's legacy. 11.81%

This decision had left Justin resentful.

Over these years, the couple had cultivated close ties with the Reynell family.

Their objective was to secure the Reynell family's assistance in gaining control of the Huber Group.—

Upon learning of Nathen's desire to marry Karina, they became even more diligent in their efforts.

"Karina, you're here early. I thought you were at the company."

Justin said as he saw Karina, visibly relieved and excitedly approaching her.

"Today's event has nothing to do with you. Why are you here?" Karina's voice turned icy as she swept a glance at Justin and Alondra.

"Karina, we come here at Mr. Reynell's invitation."

Justin smiled ingratiatingly at Nathen and said, "Mr. Reynell really admires you. You two are such a good match..." "Enough!" Karina interrupted coldly, "When did it become your place, Uncle, to meddle in my affairs?"

"Karina, listen to me..." Camdyn wanted to continue.

"Uncle, why don't you go in first? I need to have a word with Karina," Nathen interrupted, extending a courteous hand towards Karina while smiling.

“Karina, Justin is right. I really love you. Everyone in Hallcester knows that in my heart, there is only you. You are the only one who I want to walk down the aisle with.”

Nathen gazed deeply into Karina’s eyes, his tone gentle and heartwarming, causing the young ladies watching to be deeply moved.

“Karina, if you are willing to be with me, I will never abandon you! “It’s my luck if I can spend the rest of my life with you. Can you marry me?”

As soon as Nathen finished speaking, some of the women who were already infatuated with him burst into tears, sobbing, “Mr. Reynell, it’s so touching...”

Karina’s face turned cold, and she looked annoyed, saying, “Mr. Reynell, this is a business wine party, not a place for you to show off your acting skills.”

However, Nathen smiled indifferently and said, “Karina, isn’t life itself a play? If I could become the leading man in your script, I would gladly showcase my acting skills!”

The scene in front of the hall erupted with applause and excited sobbing.

The onlooking young men and women rushed forward, shouting with emotion, “Say yes! Say yes!” Karina frowned.

In her moment of panic, she retreated to Robin's side, taking hold of his arm and smiling, "Mr. Reynell, please stop joking. Let me introduce you. This is my boyfriend, Robin."

Robin gave a slight start.

Seeing Karina's pleading eyes, he understood.

Robin pulled Karina closer into his embrace, his cold gaze sweeping the scene, and he nodded slightly. Then, he turned his mocking gaze towards Nathen.

"Who do you think you are? How dare you say such nauseating things to Karina in my presence? Do you think I'm going to tolerate this? Get lost!"

Karina's cheeks reddened, and she leaned into Robin's strong shoulder.

At that moment, everyone truly noticed Robin's presence.

Though they were surprised, there was no denying that Robin and Karina were even better matched in looks and demeanor. Among the onlookers were some who had come from the Riding and Shooting Recreation Center and Purpeak Bar.

They recognized Robin as the audacious man who had bet 48 million dollars at the Riding and Shooting Recreation Center and dared to brawl with Melvin and confront Leonel at Purpeak Bar.

Nathen also noticed Robin by Karina's side at this moment.

Since entering the lounge on the 28th floor of the exhibition center, he hadn't paid attention to anyone else. He was accustomed to being the center of attention wherever he went.

But Nathen never thought Karina had a boyfriend!

As Hallcester's number one heartthrob, Nathen never expected that, after confessing his feelings in front of so many people, he would be humiliated by Robin.

Four years ago, Nathen had returned from overseas and quickly secured his position as the top bachelor in Hallcester. Whether in terms of family background, ability, or looks, he and Karina were a good match.

Yet, Robin dared to display affection with Karina right in front of him, publicly humiliating Nathen! Nathen was infuriated.

The first to recover from the shock was Karina's uncle Justin.

“And you!” Justin pointed at Robin, his voice cold. “She’s being capricious, and you, a mere bodyguard, dare to talk nonsense. Aren't you afraid the Huber family will throw you out?”

Robin, without waiting for Karina to respond, sneered, “What are you? What I do is none of your business! Get lost!”

“You... You punk! You're asking for it! With just those words, both the Huber family and the Reynell family could kill you on the spot!” Justin trembled with anger as he pointed at Robin.

“Mr. Reynell, I’m sorry. This guy is just insane! Please... Just ignore him.”

Nathen once again put on a warm smile, displaying great magnanimity. “It’s alright. Karina is just joking with me. “No matter how capricious she is, I'll forgive her...”

“Karina, give me a kiss!” Robin, ignoring Nathen’s pompous speech, pointed at his cheek and spoke loudly. The scene fell completely silent. Even Nathen was taken aback, looking at Karina and Robin.
