Chapter 391 Graceful and Charming

The Huber family's convoy slowly drove out of the seaside resort.

Karina needed to return to Eastern District Development Corporation immediately to handle the follow-up issues of fifty cooperative investors. terminating their contracts.

Harold did not ride in a car with Robin and Karina, but instead, he took a car home with interest.

At that moment, Karina was still completely immersed in a sense of unreality.

200 billion capital was suddenly invested in the ecosystem project of Eastern District Development Corporation.

The crisis brought about by the collective breach of contract by fifty cooperative developers was instantly resolved.

This collective blackmail event, shrouded in dark clouds, was perfectly resolved by Robin, turning a crisis into an opportunity!

Think back to before the banquet, Robin had firmly told her about the words of terminating the contract with Gerardo and others.

Karina truly understood the meaning behind it.

Robin had actually known the inside story behind the termination of contracts with fifty partners long ago.

And they had dug a pit for them, waiting for Nathen and his group to fall into it themselves.

This pit not only buried the Reynell family and the Elliott family, but also sent all the top ten wealthy families in Hashville back to the pre- liberation era.

Gerardo, like other snobs, also went bankrupt because of this.

The small clans, previously with a scale of a few million or even tens of millions, were suddenly heavily in debt.

Nathen took over the position of the boss in Hallcester in order to destroy the Huber family.

They had spent five years meticulously planning to deal with the Huber family, which could be described as a painstaking effort.

This time, he actually wanted to rely on the power of the Hondry Sect.

In collaboration with several bigwigs from Hashville and fifty partners including Gerardo, they launched an attack on the Huber family.

Unexpectedly, he completely destroyed the foundation that his father had painstakingly built over several decades.

If it weren't for Robin, the current situation of the Huber family would be the same as the present outcome of the Reynell family.

Karina was secretly observing Robin, who was leaning back in his seat.

That handsome face, that gentle expression.

who was decisive and ruthless, capable of achieving great things with

However, in the face of disasters that she thought were insurmountable, Robin always turned despair into miracles like a game.

Recalling the unforgettable moments experienced with Robin since our first acquaintance.

A touch of happiness spread across Karina's face.

She felt fortunate to have met a man as solid as a mountain!

She instinctively leaned her head on Robin's shoulder, closing her beautiful eyes, and intently feeling the captivating scent coming from this man.

Robin paused slightly, smelling the fresh scent of the hair that was close to his breath, his lips curling up slightly.

A delicate face, a fair neck, and the tantalizing glimpse of youthful charm beneath the fragrant, crispy tenderness.

Truly, she was the epitome of beauty and elegance, capturing all the charm!

Looking again at the intoxicated blush on Karina's face, her fluttering eyelashes, her crimson lips.

Where was that aloof and proud Hallcester goddess who kept idlers at bay?

The vibration of the phone drew Robin's gaze back.

Death Mongers sent a message-

The accounts of Southern District Development Corporation showed irregularities.

Death Mongers learned that large sums of money from the Southern District Development Corporation were transferred in batches to an overseas account named Grandeur Company within three months.

The man behind Grandeur Company was a guy named Terry.

The guards of Death Mongers sent Terry's photo at the same time.

Robin laughed.

Sure enough, there was something fishy!

This Terry, he was the man who was with Freddie's wife, Stella.

Robin shook his head, Freddie's fate was so unfortunate!

Just as the business was starting to prosper, a traitor emerged from within.

This traitor turned out to be a pillow talker.

Freddie battled against all odds, risking his life to provide shelter for his family.

"What are you looking at?" Karina leaned over, trying to see what information was being displayed on Robin's phone.

"Ding—a—ling, ding—a—ling..." Just then, Nia's phone rang.

Karina blinked her beautiful eyes and said with a smile, "Nia seemed to be acting strange around you today. My intuition tells me, she likes you!"

"Really?" Robin said with a laugh, "It's normal for a beauty to love a hero!"

“You beauty!” Karina pinched the soft flesh on Robin’s waist, laughing. “Answer the phone quickly, or Nia will get angry soon.”

Robin opened his phone and pressed the speakerphone button.

“Robin, a friend of my uncle bought two purebred mastiffs from abroad. did you like them?”

“If you needed it, I had my uncle’s friend contact you, okay?”

Robin looked at Karina, “Do you want a mastiff“?”

Karina jumped in fright, “I don’t want that thing, it eats people like a tiger!”

After hanging up the phone, according to the phone number Nia gave, the address of Mauveglow Villa 1 was directly sent.

At that moment, it was remembered that the key card for Mauveglow. Villa 1 was with Crystal.

It seemed that Crystal had to make another trip to bring the mastiff and two trainers into the villa.

“Robin, I’ll finish up the company matters in the afternoon and head home early.” Karina said seriously, holding onto Robin’s arm.

“Tonight, I cooked a lavish dinner for you to taste, alright?”

Robin glanced at the longing look in Karina’s eyes, “Let’s just order takeout.”

Karina slightly furrowed her brows, understanding Robin’s meaning.

The last time I cooked at home, it caused a huge commotion, and I even ended up boiling a pot of chicken feces.

“Don’t worry, it won’t be like last time. I’ve been practicing my skills a lot recently.”

“Last time it was because the app I downloaded was not good, so that’s why I didn’t do very well.”

“Ms. Croft helped me choose several reliable food apps this time. I experimented a few times, and the results turned out very well.”

“Basically, I arranged to go back early two nights a week to practice, and now, I have already practiced very well.”

Robin nodded, “I know this, Ms. Croft told me.”

“Did this guy Karsyn tell you everything?” Karina looked at Karsyn, who was driving.

“I had developed a great interest in gourmet food, and it was also through rigorous training.”

“If you had tasted the food I cooked, you would have definitely wanted to eat it a second time.”

Robin shook his head. “No! I don’t want to eat a pot of chicken shit.”

Karsyn couldn’t help but laugh out loud, “Hahaha...”

“Karsyn, drive properly and don’t you dare make fun of me!” Karina glared at Karsyn in annoyance.

Then, with a smile, he said, “I’m improving too, Robin. How would you know my cooking isn’t good now if you don’t try it?”

“You must come home for dinner tonight!” Karina bit her lip, whispering, “If you agree, I... I will give you...”

Robin instinctively looked at the glimpse of spring light on Karina, “Are you giving it to me tonight?”

Karsyn’s hand, gripping the steering wheel, suddenly shook.

Karina understood Robin’s meaning, and her cheeks instantly turned red.

Robin pointed at the office building of Eastern District Development Corporation ahead. “Alright, you guys go ahead, I need to use the car for a bit.”

After Karina and Karsyn got out of the car, he drove off towards the seaside in the southern suburbs of Hallcester.

Three minutes ago, he received a message from Death Mongers –

Four Valluynnian assassins had been trailing Cecilia’s vehicle along the coastal road on the west side of the seaside villa.

Cecilia did not go to Purpeak International Group, instead, she turned around and headed towards the west suburban farm.

Upon seeing this message, Robin understood Cecilia’s intention.

This was to lure four Valluynnian assassins there to deal with them.

A few days ago, Cecilia told him..

To this day, she still couldn't figure out why the Hart family wanted her to establish power in Hallcester of Londraland.

As for what purpose, the Hart family did not tell her.

They simply let her develop in Hallcester, waiting for their instructions

And, tell her that this plan concerns the future fate of the Hart family and the Agility Sect.

Cecilia's words greatly piqued Robin's interest.

Over the years, the Hart family and the Agility Sect had rarely taken action in the martial arts world.

It seemed to be lying low, waiting for a significant action.

What exactly this action was, was unknowable.

Enzo also had him come to Halleester to wait for someone.

Who to wait for, what to do, was all unknown.

Was the matter of the Hart family related to the person who, according to Enzo, had come to find him?

It remained a mystery in Robin's heart.

The coastal highway in the southern suburbs of Hallcester.

A black BMW SUV was closely following Cecilia's car towards the western suburban farm.

Inside the car, Livia and Leonel spoke in a low voice, "Miss, it has now been confirmed that the four men trailing us are assassins sent by the Hart family."

"I declared war against the Hart family!"

"Leonel, lead them to the woods in the western suburb farm and kill them!"

"Yes, Miss!" Leonel immediately changed direction and headed straight for the farm in the western suburbs.

Livia said gravely, "Miss, according to our intelligence, the four assassins sent by the Hart family and Agility Sect this time are all high- class assassins."

"Their skills were definitely top-notch among the assassins. If the three of us wanted to take down these four assassins, we would likely have to go through a lot of trouble, and there was even a possibility that we might die at their hands."

"The young lady's health has just recovered, it might be difficult for her to handle intense confrontations. Should we seek help from Mr. Bruce?"

Cecilia was frowning.

A few days ago, after Robin's care, her body had already returned to its original state, and her strength had also reached more than eighty percent.

The three of them drove to the farm in the western suburbs and stopped. the car in front of the woods, slowly walking into the forest.

Four Valluynnian assassins were also following them at a safe distance.

The forest was quiet and deeply shaded in the afternoon.

The light deep in the forest grew increasingly dim.

Reaching deep into the forest, a ghostly smile flashed across Cecilia's face.

Leonel and Livia understood immediately.

The three suddenly stopped in their tracks, taking the initiative against four masked shadow assassins.

In an instant, hundreds of silver needles flashed like twinkling the dark forest, raining down on the four assassins!

After a brief silence, the leaves in the forest began to shake instantly.

Dozens of throwing knives rained down, enveloping Cecilia, Leonel, and Livia.

Four assassins appeared before them like ghosts, brandishing their Valluynnian Sabers, and attacked Leonel, Livia, and Cecilia, who were busy setting up their hand swords.

“I’ll distract them!” Leonel growled.

Before Cecilia could stop him, he quickly darted behind the four assassins and began a frenzied onslaught on their backs.

Four assassins instantly dodged Leonel’s attack.

Leonel turned around and sprinted towards the other side of the forest.

Four assassins exchanged a knowing glance.

The two assassins immediately pursued Leonel.

They decided to kill the three people named Cecilia one by one.

The two first killed Leonel, then, they planned to combine their forces to kill Cecilia and Livia.

Cecilia knew that Leonel was no match for the two upper-class assassins, but she was powerless to help.

The skills of the two assassins in front of them surpassed theirs.

She and Livia had been tightly entangled,

There was nothing left to do but leave it to fate!

He only hoped that he could quickly deal with the two assassins in front of him and go to help Leonel with Livia.

After a fierce struggle, Livia was gradually defeated due to her injuries.

Cecilia, facing the full onslaught of two assassins, was also physically exhausted.

Meanwhile. Leonel had been running all the way.

Led two Valluynnian assassins to the northwest corner of the forest and stopped.

He pointed the dagger in his hand at them, then, like a whirlwind sweeping the ground, he lunged towards the lower bodies of the two Valluynnian assassins.

Although Leonel was fast, the skills of the two upper-class assassins surpassed him.

They vanished without a trace under Leonel's dagger, like ghosts.

Before Leonel could find their tracks, dozens of throwing knives were hurled at him from all directions.

Leonel spun the dagger in his hand, knocking out the swords in his hand one by one.

Just a moment later, two Valluynnian Sabers were already thrusting towards his throat.

utterly unable to withdraw and block the Valluynnian Sabers of the two assassins.

He understood, according to the speed of these two killers.

Such a short distance, it would only take a millisecond, and he would have died at the hands of these two assassins.

At that moment. Leonel had already given up the idea of continuing to live.

He only wanted to hold back the two assassins at the last moment, to buy more time for Cecilia and Livia.

Thus, he charged head-on at the two assassins wielding Valluynnian Sabers with all his might.

The two assassins hesitated slightly, their Valluynnian Sabers lagging a beat in their hands.

It was just too close.

Even if it was slightly slower, it was enough to kill Leonel!

Leonel laughed wildly, charging even more determinedly towards the two assassins with his Valluynnian Saber.

Everything was over!

A cold light flashed by, and this space instantly became as silent as a ghost.

Leonel looked in astonishment at the Valluynnian Saber, which had miraculously stopped just a hair's breadth from his throat.

"Mr. Bruce!" Leonel exclaimed in surprise, looking at the indifferent Robin in front of him.

The two Valluynnian assassins never understood how they were killed, even unto death..

Leonel pointed in Cecilia's direction, "The lady and Livia were over there."

Robin and Leonel quickly ran towards the middle of the forest.

Cecilia and Livia were struggling in their final battle with two Valluynnian assassins.

Livia was injured and could no longer take care of herself.

Cecilia was gradually losing her strength, fighting two against one.

The two Valluynnian men, seeing that they had already taken control of the situation, slowed down and pointed at Cecilia, "Carly, you have betrayed the Hart family and Mr. Cunningham, you must die!"

Cecilia sneered, "I've made countless contributions for the Hart family and the Agility Sect, yet this is how I end up! Tell me, why do they want to kill me?"

Cecilia sneered, "I killed myself, for what reason! I'm not your tool!"

The next moment, thousands of silver needles were flying towards the two assassins, covering the sky and the earth...

Chapter 394 Ancient Magic Weapon

The two black-clad assassins watched the silver needles shot out by Cecilia, scoffing.

At the same time, he shot all the shurikens in his hand towards Cecilia's direction.

In an instant, hundreds of silver needles fell to the ground, all due to the violent collision in the hands of the sword madman.

The number of throwing knives in the hands of the two high-class assassins increased more and more, like magicians, seemingly endless.

The upper-class assassins trained by the Agility Sect were definitely the elites among assassins!

Cecilia was not their match at all.

She had already launched all the silver needles in her hand at this moment.

But the swords in the hands of the two assassins were like snowflakes covering the sky, enveloping him within.

Among the thousands of flying hand swords, the two Valluynnian Sabers of the two assassins were also hidden, both stabbing towards Cecilia.

"Sir!" Cecilia exclaimed in delight, nestling into Robin's arms, tears instantly streaming down her face.

She hadn't expected that Robin would miraculously appear at this time!

Robin swung out a short stab, knocking all the swords in Wanqian's hands to the ground.

The two assassins were instantly stunned, they hadn't noticed a person suddenly appearing!

If the other party had wanted to kill them, they would have already been dead!

"Who... who are you?" the assassin demanded harshly.

Robin gave a cold laugh, "You're not worthy to know!"

A cold light flashed past, and the Achilles tendons of the two assassins instantly snapped, causing them to kneel on the ground.

"You...dare..." an assassin yelled in shock.

"What's there to fear? I could kill you right now!" Robin laughed, revealing a set of white teeth in the dim light.

A despicable thought popped out of my mind.

Everything Crystal had today, all originated from Robin!

The Huber family was able to level up, and it was also Robin who presided over the Eastern District Development Corporation!

Robin was able to help Karina, help her Crystal, why couldn't he help me?

To some extent, this was normal competition. Although Nathen used some underhanded tactics, it was, after all, a business competition and thus. not entirely unjustifiable.

Crystal gave a mysterious smile. “Rebecca, do you know who it was that saved the Huber family from this almost irreversible situation?”

Chapter 396 My Crush Is an Unparalleled Hero

“Who was it Could it have been Robin?” Rebecca’s eyes sparkled as she asked eagerly

Crystal took a sip of water. “Don’t rush, let me explain it slowly ”

“Rebecca, from today’s incident, I’ve understood one thing!”

“Understood why the Huber family was able to go from nothing to becoming the number one family in Halleester in just a few decades!”

Rebecca said with a smile, “Oh, Crystal, you’ve learned to think now, let’s hear it.”

“That’s because this old man Harold was not simple!”

“An individual, a family, or even a corporation, must have a principle and a bottom line in dealing with the world!”

“Mr. Harold and Karina were honorable and loyal individuals, they would never betray trust or abandon righteousness.”

“Even if I gambled away all my possessions, I had no regrets.”

“The fact proved that the Huber family had made the right bet!”

Rebecca was completely confused. “Crystal, stop beating around the bush, just tell me. how exactly did the Huber family manage not to be trampled on by them?”

“Right, right! I remember now!” Rebecca screamed, not waiting for Crystal to speak.

“All of Halleester was buzzing with the rumor that Nathen had been pursuing Karina.”

“Crystal, was it because Karina finally accepted Nathen’s pursuit that Mr. Reynell didn’t take drastic measures??”

At this point, a bright light sparkled in Rebecca’s eyes, “I must say, Mr.

man.” Reynell was indeed a charming and talented young

“Not only was he a top graduate from a prestigious foreign university, but he also possessed extraordinary abilities and was strikingly handsome.”

“After he returned, within a few short years, the Reynell family under his leadership leapt from being a second–rate family to one of the top four wealthy families in Hallcester.”

“If I were Karina, I would have accepted him a long time ago!”

Crystal shook her head and said, “Rebecca, the reason you can’t become Karina is because your vision is far inferior to hers.”

“Karina didn’t submit to Nathen at all like you thought!”

“Even under the pressure of Nathen and the top ten wealthy families in Hashville, she and Mr. Harold never succumbed. The performance of this grandfather and granddaughter at that time really impressed me!”

Rebecca asked in confusion, “If Karina didn’t agree to Nathen, then who took action?”

“Was it Miss Nia from the Finley family?”

“She was Karina’s best friend, so she should have helped.”

“If Nia had gone through with the military’s hardline approach, Nathen might have temporarily spared the Huber family.”

Crystal shook her head with a smile, “Using military means is too despicable. Besides, it wasn’t the doing of the Finley family.”

“It was Robin who saved the Huber family again!”

“Robin was the hero who emerged out of nowhere, arriving on a rainbow cloud!”

Speaking of this. Crystal’s eyes were full of little stars of admiration.

Rebecca had figured out long ago that Crystal was talking about Robin.

However, she didn’t know how Robin had managed to create such a masterpiece.

“Did Robin have such capability? Nathen held a capital of 200 billion. had the support of the top ten wealthy families in Hashville, and the power of fifty cooperative investors to suppress the Huber family.”

“How capable was Robin of turning the tide?”

Crystal took a sip of water, her face full of pride, “The man I like is absolutely outstanding, the things that everyone thinks are impossible to accomplish, are as easy as pie for him.”

Rebecca gave a cold smile, “Robin has always treated you like a brother. hasn’t he?”

Rebecca looked at Crystal’s reluctant expression, “Did you say it yourself?”

“Really? You might have remembered it wrong then.” Crystal glanced at her, her eyes filled with a longing smile.

“He was the one I had in mind!”

“I believed, my dream man was a world–class hero. One day, he would come to marry me. wearing golden armor and riding on a rainbow cloud!”

Rebecca looked at Crystal’s dreamy expression and laughed, “Are you daydreaming?”

Crystal pulled herself back from her endless daydreaming and continued. “Do you know what happened afterwards?”

“Robin was actually able to magically transfer the 200 billion that had already entered Nathen’s account into the Huber family’s account.”

“Moreover, Elliott Realty was wiped out in two and a half minutes!”

“That scene was really exhilarating!”

“What?” Rebecca also opened her mouth in astonishment. “This is too incredible!”

“Rebecca, I was really worried for the Huber family and Robin at that time, but I was powerless!”

“Who would have known that this disaster would be turned into a lavish

“The Huber family’s Eastern Business District project raised 200 billion. the Elliott family and the Reynell family were wiped out, the assets of the top ten wealthy families in Hashville were reduced by more than half, and fifty developers including Gerardo were saddled with debts they could never repay.”

“Rebecca, did you see my crush in action? Wasn’t it spectacular?”

Rebecca looked at Crystal’s full of pride appearance, a flash of jealousy quickly passed through her eyes.

I had to find a way to get close to Robin!

I had to get this man!

“Crystal, it’s getting late, you should go to Miranda’s now, don’t delay her big event.” Rebecca said, worried that Robin might come at any moment.

Crystal stood up and put on her shoes, “Rebecca. I’m leaving first. Finish up some miscellaneous tasks of the company and then go home to rest early.”

“Alright, you better hurry up,” Rebecca said, watching Crystal’s hurried figure and letting out a cold laugh.

Five minutes later, a rhythmic sound of footsteps echoed through the corridor outside the office.

Rebecca's heart was pounding with excitement.

She could tell, it was Robin's footsteps.

“Bang! Bang! Bang!”

“Come in!” Rebecca, suppressing her excitement, immediately pretended to be looking down at a report, revealing a vast expanse of white scenery on her chest.

Robin pushed the door and entered the office.

In the office, only Rebecca was seen sitting at her desk, reviewing reports with her head down.

He looked around and asked, "Where is Ms. Thompson?"

"Ms. Thompson... Oh, she just left." Rebecca stood up immediately, "Mr. Bruce, is that you?"

"Gone out? Where to?" Robin asked indifferently.

Rebecca tidied up the reports and replied, "It seems... it seems she went down to the finance department and will be back soon."

"Mr. Bruce, did...did you need something from Ms. Thompson?"

"Just a minor issue," Robin said, glancing at the time.

Rebecca hurried over to Robin, "Mr. Bruce, please have a seat and wait for a moment. Ms. Thompson will be back in a few minutes."

"Alright." Robin went along and sat down in front of the sofa.

Rebecca closed the office door and secretly pressed the electronic lock.

Robin noticed this detail, slightly furrowed his brow but didn't point it out.

"Mr. Bruce. I'll make you a cup of tea," Rebecca said warmly as she took out the tea leaves.

Robin waved his hand, "No need, I'll just say a word to Crystal and leave. Has she been here all afternoon?"

Rebecca stood slightly bent over opposite Robin, deliberately making the low V on her chest appear and disappear.

"Yes, after attending the banquet at noon, she has been here ever since."

"That's the one who just went down to the finance department. Please wait a moment, she should be back soon."

However, Robin's gaze was not on her, but he was looking down, opening his mobile phone and playing games on his own.

Rebecca was quite anxious, subconsciously touching the water glass.

The water cup was knocked over onto the ground.

Only then did Robin lift his head.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Bruce, I... I was careless." Rebecca quickly pulled out a tissue, intending to wipe the tea that had splashed onto Robin's leg.

"It's okay. I'll do it myself." Robin took the tissue and wiped it twice by himself.

He glanced up at Rebecca's brimming eyes and the white object on her chest.

This woman actually didn't even wear a bra?!

Rebecca paused slightly, pretending to cover her chest, her cheeks flushing. "I'm sorry, Mr. Bruce, I stayed in the office over the weekend and forgot after I got up..."

Robin waved his hand, "Oh, it's nothing."

Rebecca watched as Robin continued to look down at his phone, a flash of annoyance flickering in her eyes.

Robin flicked his eyelids. "Inviting me to dinner, is there something up?"

"No..." Rebecca took the opportunity to sit next to Robin.

She deliberately lifted her dress, revealing her fair thighs.

Robin presented herself in a gentle and ladylike manner.

"I...I was nearly ruined by those bastards last time, Mr. Bruce. If it weren't for your intervention, I really don't know what my situation would be now."

While speaking, she lowered her head, took out a tissue, covered her nose, and sobbed for a while.

"Mr. Bruce, you saved me, you are my lifesaver. I really don't know how to repay you."

As she spoke. Rebecca moved closer to Robin.

Robin slightly furrowed his brow, glanced at the time and stood up. "Where on earth did Crystal go?"

Rebecca was extremely furious inside.

“Why didn’t you tell me before you came?”

Otherwise, I would just wait for you in the office, no matter how big the issue was, I wouldn’t come out.

“Robin, go sit in the office for a bit, Rebecca should still be there. I’ll turn around and head back immediately.”

“Since you’ve already left, let it be.” Robin pressed the elevator button, “I’m leaving.”

“Crystal, didn’t you receive my Line message?”

Decided to make a thorough preparation.

Just bought a few semi–finished dishes on the food street.

If Karina’s food turned out to be inedible, there would be no need to go hungry anymore.

That night, Karina really gave him another surprise.

Robin sat dumbfounded in the living room of the villa, watching Ms. Huber chase a rooster with a kitchen knife for nearly two hours.

Finally slumped on the ground, he still hadn't killed the chicken.

Robin just couldn't figure it out.

Why was it so difficult for the extremely intelligent Ms. Huber to make an edible meal!

The semi-prepared food that Robin bought indeed came in handy.

After finishing dinner, Karina had already fallen asleep on the sofa, exhausted.

Robin cleaned the villa and then helped Karina clean herself before carrying her into the bedroom.

It finally calmed down.

Watching Karina asleep, Robin shook his head with a smile and walked out of the bedroom.

Last night, Karina cooked by herself, messing around all night until she was exhausted. She hasn't gotten up yet.

Half an hour later, upon arriving at the base of Mount Mauveglow. I made a phone call to Crystal: “Crystal, have you arrived?”

“Robin, I just came out from Mauveglow Villas to buy some stuff. So, you go ahead, I’ve already opened the door to Mauveglow Villa 1.”

“I would be back soon.”

After speaking, Crystal hastily hung up the phone.

Robin only then noticed that the road to Mount Mauveglow, from the foot to the peak, was lined with baskets of flowers.

Was there a celebration at Mauveglow Villas today?

Chapter 399 How Did You Get in?

Terrence happened to arrive at the gate of Mauveglow Villas.

“Mr. Bruce, you’re back.” Terrence immediately ran to the front of Robin’s car and respectfully said.

“What event was happening in the villa area today?” Robin pointed to the flower baskets and colored lights on the road.

“Mr. Bruce, you didn’t know?” Terrence was quite surprised.

“I know, does it concern me?” Robin, noticing Terrence’s confusion, asked.

Terrence immediately replied, “Didn’t you know? A friend of Ms. Thompson’s. Jacob and Miranda, held their engagement ceremony today in Zone 1 of Mauveglow Villas.”

“Was that the case?” Robin only understood then, the meaning behind Crystal borrowing the villa a few days ago.

So it was for Jacob and Miranda’s engagement, “Did Crystal ask you to do this?”

“Yes, Mr. Bruce. Ms. Thompson had your access card, so I just... Did I do something wrong? If so, I will have them removed immediately!”

Robin shook his head, laughing with interest.

Indeed, this woman Crystal had lent Mauveglow Villa 1 to Miranda.

“Oh, right, a friend will be delivering two mastiffs to me later. Contact me then.”

“Alright.” Terrence quickly brought the universal entrance card for the villa’s main gate and opened the gate.

Robin drove towards Mauveglow Villa 1.

The road leading to Mauveglow Villa 1 was adorned with flowers and filled with pictures of Miranda and Jacob.

He secretly chuckled.

Miranda had always dreamed of living in such a luxurious villa.

Unexpectedly, she could have easily obtained it originally.

She was just blind, convinced that he, Robin, was a loser.

The Brown family was snobbish, blinded by greed, and missed all the glory that should have belonged to her in her lifetime.

Along the way, it was filled with numerous luxury cars, truly a gathering of the grand and opulent.

The engagement ceremony had not yet begun, but major online platforms had already started heated discussions.

Mauveglow Villa I was open to the public for the first time since its construction.

Everyone wanted to see what this mysterious Mauveglow Villa 1 actually looked like.

Wanted to know even more. who exactly was the mastermind behind this Mauveglow Villa 1.

Many of the elite guests today attended the engagement ceremony specifically for Mauveglow Villa 1.

Robin drove all the way to Mauveglow Villa 1.

In front of the villa's main gate, there was hardly any place to park a car.

Robin parked the car directly at the front gate of the villa.

Bradshaw, who was standing at the front door to welcome guests, suddenly saw Robin getting out of the car and was immediately stunned.

"Robin, how did you get in?"

"Could someone of your status enter a place like this?"

"I told you, today was Miranda's engagement ceremony, you must not make trouble!"

"Miranda has already divorced you you have nothing to do with the Chapter 399 How Did You Get in?

"Leave here quickly, it's for your own good! Otherwise, it will be embarrassing if you are kicked out by others."

Bradshaw's words quickly attracted the attention of the Brown family's relatives and friends, some second-rate families in Hallcester, and media reporters.

They started discussing as they pointed at Robin's retreating figure.

"Everyone, look over there, that's the man who was jilted by the Brown family. It's said that his family has fallen on hard times, and now he's just a lowly loser!"

"Given the current status of the Brown family, Ms. Brown certainly wouldn't have continued with the engagement."

"This guy actually showed up at Miranda's engagement ceremony today."

"What does that mean? Are you looking for trouble?"

"Judging by the way he parked his car across the entrance, he clearly came with a menacing air."

"If this man were to make a fuss at Miranda's wedding today, there would be quite a show to watch."

"Impossible, do you think the security at Mauveglow Villas is a pushover?"

"That was under the jurisdiction of Cecilia's security company. If he dared to cause trouble, Cecilia would definitely have Terrence throw him down the mountain!"

"This was not a place where any poor lad could come and act tough as he pleased!"

"Besides," Ms. Brown said, "she and the owner of the villa were close friends."

"The owner of this villa, it was said, was a super low-key tycoon."

"If that guy dared to cause trouble, he might really have been thrown to the bottom of Hanrock Valley!"

Hearing the discussions of the crowd, Robin chuckled lightly.

Ignoring Bradshaw, he headed straight for the villa courtyard.

"Stay right there! Who gave you permission to enter? My granddaughter didn't give you an invitation, Robin, get out!" Bradshaw shouted as he grabbed Robin.

Robin pried open his hand: “Get your dirty hands off! This is my home, why can’t I go in?”

“Your home? Hahaha...”

Upon hearing Robin’s words, everyone, along with Bradshaw, burst into laughter.

“Robin, were you out of your mind, or were you just trying to cause trouble on purpose?”

Bradshaw saw the young ladies from a bunch of second–rate families, pointing and whispering about Robin, and he sneered disdainfully.

“Robin, you saw it too, this is reality.

“There were still cliques in this world, and with your status, trying to fit into the circle of the rich would be very painful.”

“So many media reporters were present today.”

“Moreover, some of the major families of Hallcester might be coming to attend Miranda’s engagement ceremony in a while.”

“If you caused trouble here, the security of the villa area would definitely not let you off!”

“You should leave. For the sake of your grandfather’s past kindness, I won’t hold this against you.”

The discussion in front of the villa attracted Miranda, Jacob, and others. who were inside the villa.

“It was estimated that with the backing of this big shot from Mauveglow Villa 1. Ms. Brown would definitely surpass Ms. Huber.”

Listening to the discussions of the crowd, Miranda looked smugly at Robin in the crowd.

Her eyes lit up instantly, she covered her mouth and put on a coy expression, starting to laugh.

“Robin, didn’t you say you weren’t coming to my engagement party?”

“My engagement ceremony was held at the most luxurious villa in Hallcester, what do you think?”

At this point, Miranda covered her stomach and started laughing.

The crowd of guests in front of the villa also burst into uproarious laughter.

Robin looked at Miranda’s disgusting demeanor and shook his head with a smile.

He sighed heavily, “Robin, I know seeing a scene like today’s must be very upsetting for you.”

“As a man, I could understand how much pain you were feeling right now.”

“However, it’s a bit too obsessive to claim my daughter Miranda as your fiancée, just based on a piece of marriage contract.”

“It was just a marriage contract, nothing more.”

“Get a grip, the Brown family never really acknowledged that engagement.”

“Even though your grandfather lent a hand to the Brown family with a million dollars back in the day, it doesn’t justify me sacrificing my granddaughter’s happiness!”

“That one million was indeed very important to the Brown family back then.”

“Just, did your grandfather have to offer money to help me, only to

“If your grandfather gave me a million with that kind of intention, it would be a bit too vulgar.”

“The Brown family had always pursued a lofty spiritual realm, despising those worldly and superficial benefits.”

“So, I didn’t want Miranda to continue fulfilling the engagement from that year, for fear of tarnishing that one million!”
