Chapter 41

Chapter 41 Where Is Hallcester's Most Expensive Villa Area?

"Damn bastard!" Blaine really got angry.

Although he cherished his disciple, Aliana repeatedly humiliated Robin today.

Even just now, due to her stubborn ignorance, she almost missed the best opportunity to save Donovan. He had the idea of expelling her from the school at that time.

Now, after much effort, he finally wanted to ask Robin to be his apprentice. However, Aliana unexpectedly humiliated Robin in person, calling him a fraud.

It is tolerable, who cannot tolerate it!

In the medical field, those with advanced skills are respected.

Just based on Robin's astonishing and extraordinary Soul—Retrieving Skill he just displayed.

Blaine spent his whole life, but still struggled to reach the pinnacle of this traditional medicine!

Even though he is the president of the Traditional Medicine Association, he cannot help but admire Robin's extraordinary skills. Even if kneeling beside him now and honoring him as a teacher, I would never be ashamed of it.

Blaine stared blankly at Robin's slender figure, his eyes shimmering with unwavering devotion.

A young man in his twenties, surprisingly achieved such remarkable accomplishments that were highly admired.

And at the age of over eighty, having studied medicine since the age four, he was apprenticed to the leader of Panacea Valley, Homer Holt.

At the age of twelve, | traveled the world with my master and dealt with countless difficult and complicated cases. At the age of eighteen, he had become a master in medicine.

The Holt Treatment, which inherited Homer's lifelong efforts, was formed.

At the age of twenty-eight, he left Panacea Valley and ventured out into the world alone.

For twelve whole years, Blaine traveled far and wide with the Holt Treatment.

He has earned the title of the top expert in the traditional medicine industry of Londraland.

He was elected as the chairman of the Londraland Traditional Medicine Association at the age of fifty.

This is also the highest honor he achieved in his medical career.

From then on, the name Blaine has become synonymous with Londraland doctor of traditional medicine. Became a legendary figure in the medical field.

| didn't expect that today | would be completely defeated by this young man in his twenties.

However, he accepted it wholeheartedly.

"Master!" Aliana looked at Blaine kneeling in front of Robin with humiliation, unwillingly saying, "What does he think he is? Master, please get up quickly!"

"| didn't want to see you worship him as a teacher! He was just playing with tricks, and he didn't have any real talent or knowledge..."

"You scoundrel! From today onwards, | sever our master—disciple relationship!"

“From then on, I never had such an ignorant and disrespectful scoundrel like you again! Get lost!”

Aliana wanted to continue dissuading, but Blaine raised his hand and slapped her away.

“You have completely embarrassed me!”

“Mr. Bruce, I was a disrespectful disciple and offended you. Please accept me as your apprentice, Master.” “I was willing to follow Mr. Bruce for my whole life and learn medical skills.”

Robin waved his hand and said, “Get up, I won’t take you as my apprentice!”

Watching Robin’s departing figure, Blaine sincerely said, “Mr. Bruce, whether you agree or not, I, Blaine, will always respect you as my teacher.”

Robin stopped in his tracks and sighed, “Why is this old man so stubborn? He’s driving me crazy.”

Chapter 41 Where is Hallcester’s Most Expensive Villa Area?

“Ah, so be it.”

Suddenly, he opened his palm and pulled out the special tools from Blaine’s toolkit, and casually threw them away. Ninety-nine special tools were all nailed onto Blaine’s clothes in the toolkit.

Blaine was shocked and looked down to see that each of the special tools had pierced into various vital body parts on his body. These ninety-nine needles were just suspended on the clothes, without touching the skin at all.

Blaine would probably consider himself accomplished if he could learn thirty percent of such techniques.

Blaine, filled with excitement, knocked his head three times against Robin’s back as he watched him walk away. “Thank you, Master, for teaching me the Soul-Retrieving Skill! Blaine will always hold you in high regard!”

Karina witnessed the whole scene, and she never expected that Robin would have such supernatural abilities.

The patient, whom the world's top cardiovascular team and the Master of Traditional Medicine in Londraland were unable to revive, was miraculously saved by him.

Moreover, such technique was stunning and breathtaking.

At this moment, even Blaine, a legendary figure in the traditional medicine industry, bowed down before him. Chapter 41 Where Is Hallcester's Most Expensive Villa Area?

Robin, how much magic do you have that I don't know about!

Karina watched Robin's figure, her eyes sparkling with surprise.

"Robin. wait for me."

Karina opened her fair, long legs and, at this moment, she didn't care about Ms. Huber's reserve, chasing after him amidst the envious gazes of the crowd.

In the Finley's house. Donovan has now regained some strength and is sitting on the sofa with the support of his two sons. "Ethen, Devin, today this young man saved me from the hands of death and granted me another ten years of life."

"This is an opportunity for the Finley family! Find out as soon as possible the background, origin, and current residence of Mr. Bruce!"

"You all remember this, never dare to offend such a superior person!" "If one had the fortune to make acquaintance with him, it would be a blessing for the Finley family."

Ethen and Devin both nodded respectfully, "Father, rest assured, Mr. Bruce has been kind to the Finley family. Whatever requests he may have in the future, the Finley family will do their utmost to fulfill them!"

"That's good. You should know that with me around, those old folks wouldn't dare to have any ill intentions towards the Finley family."

11- those wolf cubs wouldn't be at peace." Chapter 41 Where is Hallcester's Most Expensive Villa Area?

“So, you guys need to make more connections with people like Mr. Bruce, in order to ensure that the Finley family thrives in any situation!”

Donovan looked up and saw his granddaughter Nia standing by his side, a look of contentment on his face. “Nia, I see that Mr. Bruce is around your age. You young people should move around more.”

“If it’s appropriate, you can also consider considering him...”

Nia’s cheeks immediately turned red. “Grandpa, you’re confused. That Mr. Bruce is Karina’s boyfriend.”

“In the future, never mention this matter in front of Mr. Bruce, it’s so embarrassing.”

“Hahaha...” Donovan laughed.

“Grandfather was not confused, wasn’t he still unmarried to the girl from the Huber family?”

“If he is not married, does it mean that Mr. Bruce is still single?”

“Since she was single, anyone had the opportunity to get in touch with Mr. Bruce.”

“Grandpa! What are you saying? You have just recovered from a serious illness, so please speak less.”

“Didn’t Mr. Bruce say it? Although you are awake now, you are still in a critical condition.”

“You must be careful. Three days later, I will go and find Mr. Bruce to continue treating my grandfather.” Chapter 41 Where Is Hallchester’s Most Expensive Villa Area?

“Good.” Donovan burst into laughter, “It’s such a joy to be alive and see all of you. Hahaha...”

I left the Municipal Government Compound.

Karina sat in the car, staring at Robin the whole time, which made Robin feel uneasy.

“Ms. Huber, I wanted to discuss something with you. Could you please stop staring at me like this?”

“I knew I was handsome, but you can’t just keep staring at me like that.”

“I always have a sense of insecurity like this,” Robin subconsciously tightened his collar and said.

“Go to hell!” Karina glared at him. “Robin, I’m starting to think you’re too mysterious. You even know how to give special treatment.”

“Where did you learn?”

Robin said earnestly, “I learned from my master. I started learning medicine and the art of killing from him when I was three years old.”

Karina angrily glared at him and asked, “So, what do you do?”

Robin thought for a moment, “There wasn’t a specific profession. I used to work as a mercenary, helping some friends of the presidents with their security. That’s it.”

“President? You say those presidents were your friends?”

“Yeah, they used to invite me for tea often. Is that strange?”

Chapter 41 Where Is Hallchester’s Most Expensive Villa Area?

Karina and Karsyn looked at Robin’s serious expression and burst into laughter.

“You had tea with the president, and I even mentioned that I often play golf with the Secretary—General of the United Nations.” Robin shook his head and said, “If you don’t believe it, forget it.”

“If that’s the case, since you often hang out with these people, you must be very wealthy,” Karina asked with a smile. Robin nodded, “Well, not exactly rich, but anyway, I have at least trillions in my card.”

Mark almost burst out laughing, and the steering wheel shook slightly.

Karina and Karsyn couldn’t hold back their laughter anymore.

Robin looked at their expressions and said helplessly, “If you don’t believe it, then forget it.”

“Stop in front, I’ll get off. I won’t go back to the Huber’s villa with you today. I’ll visit your father’s condition another day.” Karina originally wanted to try to keep him, but then she decided against it.

After getting off the car, Robin wanted to call a taxi to go to Enzo’s villa in Hallcester, after Karina and her left.

A Porsche parked in front of him.

“Robin, what a coincidence! Get in the car, where are you going? I’ll give you a ride.”

The car window slowly rolled down, revealing Crystal’s beautiful face.

Sitting in the car, Robin asked, “Where is Hallcester’s most expensive villa district?”

Crystal paused for a moment and smiled, “What do you mean?”

“The most expensive villa in Hallcester is my house,” Robin said casually.

Chapter 42

Chapter 42 Robin, Don’t Kill Me

Crystal looked at Robin’s serious expression and burst into laughter, “Hahaha, the most expensive villa in Hallcester, Mauveglow Villa 1, next to Crescent Lake.”

“Okay, I will take you home!”

Crystal revved the engine of the sports car, but it didn’t start.

Seeing Robin still sitting in the passenger seat, as calm and composed as ever, it felt as if he truly belonged to Mauveglow Villas. “Hahaha... Robin, I’m really impressed!”

“Are you kidding me? The most expensive one in Zone 1 of Mauveglow Villas, is it really yours?”

“Yeah, what's up? Driving!” Robin looked at Crystal, who was laughing uncontrollably, with a puzzled expression and asked, “Is this really that funny?”

Crystal's tears were all smiles.

“Robin, you were so funny! If you became a comedian, you would definitely become the next comedy master! Hahaha...” Robin furrowed his brow and glanced at himself in the rearview mirror. He looked quite handsome.

He glanced at Crystal, who was still laughing uncontrollably, and said seriously, “Ah, stop laughing!”

“I wanted to ask you, do I really look poor? Actually, I am very wealthy. I have at least tens of billions in my bank account...”

Chapter 42 Robin, Don't Kill Me

“Ahahaha... Your mom, Robin, can you please stop teasing me? I'm going to die laughing, hehehe...”

Oh my god!

What happened to these women?

Do you have to wear a big gold chain around your neck, wear a big gold watch, and drive a luxury car to be considered wealthy? No more explanations!

Think whatever you want, as long as you are all happy.

Crystal laughed for a while before catching her breath.

Robin glanced at Crystal and pouted, “Take it easy, don't laugh so hard that you pass out. Drive properly, I'm still in the car!” Crystal abruptly stopped.

At that moment, I realized that I had been so focused on laughing that I had actually forgotten that I had acted inappropriately. Her cheeks turned red, and she quickly straightened her collar.

“You bad guy! Okay, enough joking around.”

“Tell me, where did you live?”

“If you don’t have a place to stay right now, I will take you to the nearest hotel and you can book a room yourself.” “Mauveglow Villas, it was still far away from here.”

“If I really took you there and you told me it’s not your home, I would think you’re just joking.”

Robin sighed and said, “You, woman, who is joking with you?”

“If you don’t want to drive me there, I’ll just take a taxi myself.”

Saying that, Robin was about to open the door and get out of the car.

“Alright, I believe you. Let’s go.” Crystal stepped on the accelerator, and the Porsche shot out like an arrow.

She wanted to see if this man was real or fake.

Could it be true, as Miranda said, that this guy is just pretending?

“Mauveglow Villas was located in the eastern suburbs of the city.”

The villa area there was divided into three levels. Zone 1 had a starting price of one billion.

“The first-tier region is at the top.”

“There are only five villas in this area, and houses number two to five have been occupied. Only the top-tier Mauveglow Villa 1, since its completion, has remained unoccupied until now.”

“It is said that Mauveglow Villa 1 was purchased by an extremely mysterious individual.”

“No one had ever seen his true face, turns out it was you! Hahaha...”

Robin nodded in agreement, "To be precise, the past was not mine, but now and in the future, they are all mine." Crystal looked at Robin's serious expression and smiled even brighter.

Was this man a graduate of the performing arts department?

This kind of acting is absolutely top-notch.

Seeing that it was still early, Crystal suddenly remembered an exciting and fun place.

"Robin, there was a fun place on the way to Mauveglow Villas."

"It's still early now, shall I take you there to have a look?"

"Fun places? What to play?" Robin lazily yawned and asked.

"A place to play thrilling car races," Crystal exclaimed excitedly.

"Hanrock Peak in Mount Mauveglow had a circular mountain road leading directly to the summit."

"Many people used to enjoy playing racing cars, often gathering there to race, with various thrilling racing styles." "The most exciting and thrilling gameplay is the life-or-death speed challenge."

"Each bet was equivalent to a sports car worth anywhere from five to ten million dollars."

"Although accidents resulting in car wreckage and fatalities frequently occurred there in the past, these individuals who enjoy racing cars still remained tirelessly enthusiastic."

"Robin, did you want to go?"

"No way!" Robin replied without even thinking.

"I was in awe of life, but I wasn't interested in that boring and reckless stuff."

"Pfft! Coward!" Crystal snorted, disdainfully glancing at Robin. "No.

wonder Miranda doesn't like you!"

Robin's mouth twitched for a moment, wanting to say that Miranda was blind.

Suddenly, they saw two Hummer SUVs following their car at a steady pace through the rearview mirror. Not far behind the Hummer, there were two thirty-ton dumpers.

Two Hummers and two dump trucks were obviously together.

Watching their posture, it seemed like they were following the Porsche driven by Crystal.

Are these people Crystal's enemies?

Or, did he come for another reason?

It couldn't be determined at the moment.

In the past, I was still in the city, surrounded by many vehicles and pedestrians coming and going.

It was not convenient to probe them.

Let the Death Mongers investigate the true intentions of these guys and then decide how to deal with them.

Soon, Porsche drove out of the bustling city and entered the Eastern Suburban Ring Road.

This road was the necessary passage to Mauveglow Villas.

The view was broad, and there were relatively few vehicles and pedestrians on the road.

The eastern suburbs, is a high—end residential area planned by the Hallcester government.

The navigation system displayed the road conditions ahead.

Mauveglow Villas was less than twenty kilometers away from here.

The entire road was almost a straight line.

There were two intersections along the way, one being a crossroads and the other being a T-junction. Robin looked in the rearview mirror.

Two Hummer SUVs were tracking them all the way, still following them at a leisurely pace, less than a hundred meters behind. But the two dump trucks were already out of sight.

This tracking method, although too low-end.

However, from this familiar atmosphere, it can be inferred that this is a group of assassins.

However, for the time being, they couldn't determine who their target was that they had killed.

Was it the Thompson family's enemy, or was it Robin seeking revenge on him?

If these people were targeting him, there would be no need to be concerned at all.

The assassins of the Death Mongers, who were lurking around to protect him, would alert him immediately. Then, they received instructions to carry out an assassination operation or capture the opponent.

One minute later, Robin received a message.

Two Hummer SUVs were under Nathan, from World Real Estate, and were hired by a man named Brandon, who employed four assassins.

Three hours ago, these assassins had already started tracking him.

Five minutes ago, they were confirming that Robin was heading to Mauveglow Villas. Four assassins decided to create a car accident on this road and killed Robin.

The assassins of Death Mongers requested instructions for disposal.

Robin didn't let them take action and chose to solve it himself.

This mountain road leading to Mauveglow Villas had a total of three intersections.

Brandon, the person, was most likely to choose to strike at the intersection in the middle.

Chapter 43

Chapter 43 With Me Here, You Won't Die!

"Slow down a bit and stop ahead," Robin glanced at the rearview mirror and said to Crystal.

Crystal looked at Robin's expressionless face and laughed, "What do you mean, turning back? You're amazing!" "Didn't I say so? How could that Mauveglow Villa 1, worth thirty billion, be yours?"

"You were such a boring guy!"

"Get out of the car!" Robin ignored Crystal's playful laughter and said coldly.

Crystal looked at Robin's serious expression and didn't move her body. Instead, she smiled and said, "What do you mean? Robbery? Hahaha..."

Robin opened the car door directly and held Crystal in the passenger seat, "Buckle up!"

Crystal was instantly confused. Could it be true that Robin was really going to rob?

Was it preparing to hijack a car, or hijack a person?

Suddenly, Crystal had a very bad premonition!

No wonder Miranda dislikes him so much, it turns out that his behavior towards Robin was all an act. "Robin, please don't kill me... How much money do you want? I can ask my dad to give it to me... Also, I'm still a virgin..."

"Boom..." Robin stepped on the accelerator, and the Porsche roared as it shot forward.

“Ah! Robin, what are you going to do? I’ve done everything for you, please don’t kill me...” Crystal was startled, she didn’t know what Robin wanted to do.

“Shut up!” Robin said coldly, “Don’t worry, I don’t want anything.”

“Why are you driving so fast?” Crystal tightly crossed her arms, trying to cover up her slightly exposed chest. “Don’t you want to go for a joyride?” Robin chuckled lightly. “I’ll give you a thrill!”

Crystal sat in the almost flying Porsche, gripping the handle tightly and screaming in fear.

“Robin, are you crazy? Driving so fast on this road, are you trying to get yourself killed? Slow down quickly...” Robin coldly said, “Don’t speak, sit tight!”

Crystal looked at Robin in this moment and suddenly froze.

This man, unlike his previous laziness, was exuding an undeniable dominance from head to toe.

That cold and stern face, that skillful and handsome driving posture, it was simply perfect!

At that moment, Crystal was captivated by Robin’s persistent and focused demeanor!

Robin looked at the time.

At this speed, it only took two minutes to reach the intersection ahead.

The Death Mongers sent a message, stating that Nathen’s killer chose to confront them at the intersection. At this moment, it was possible to start taking the initiative.

He glanced at the rearview mirror and the two Hummer SUVs that were following him remained unhurried. Always keeping a certain distance, I followed behind them.

Robin's lips curled up in a playful smirk.

“Sit down! I’m changing gears!” Robin scolded.

Originally, Crystal, who had been staring at him all the time, was startled by a sudden movement!

The next moment, Robin suddenly stepped on the brake, and the Porsche abruptly decelerated from a speed of nearly 400 yards to 250 yards.

Crystal was startled: "What are you doing? Is it fun? You scared me to death..."

After suddenly decelerating, Robin stepped on the brake again, and the speed of the car dropped abruptly from 250 miles per hour to 100 miles per hour.

"Robin, what are you doing! Stop messing around, okay..." Crystal shouted loudly.

"Don't scream, sit tight! There's an assassin!" Robin glanced at the rearview mirror and said. Crystal was surprised, covering her mouth, tightly gripping the handle, her eyes catching a glimpse of the Hummer SUV that was already approaching them in the rearview mirror. "Assassin? Robin, don't scare me, okay? Who wants to kill us? I'm scared!"

Chapter 43 With Me Here, You Won't Die!

She was on the verge of crying.

I have never experienced such a scene before in my life.

At that moment, she had a sense of fear of impending death.

Robin chuckled, "Grab the handle, close your eyes, and shut your mouth! With me here, you won't die!" Crystal looked pitifully at Robin, her whole body tense, her heart already in her throat.

She secretly glanced at the two Hummer SUVs in the rearview mirror.

Suddenly, two cars suddenly accelerated as if they wanted to overtake them.

Robin glanced at the rearview mirror.

Suddenly, there was an acceleration.

The Hummer SUV behind immediately accelerated.

Robin's lips curled up in a faint smile.

“Are you still in the mood to laugh?” Crystal was dumbfounded, is this guy for real?

It had not yet been exported.

Robin suddenly turned the steering wheel.

Chapter 43 With Me Flore, You Won't bel

The Porsche, which used to dominate the middle of the road, suddenly veered to one side. Immediately after, Robin slammed on the brakes again.

Crystal's body suddenly tilted.

Fortunately, the seatbelt tightly bound her to the seat.

So as not to let everything in the body fly away all at once.

The Hummer SUV, which was following closely behind, zoomed past like a whirlwind.

During the process, this Hummer SUV surpassed Porsche.

Abald man in the back seat of the Hummer SUV made a gun gesture towards Robin and Crystal. There was an extremely arrogant smile on his face.

The terrifying grimace was less than twenty centimeters away from Crystal.

Crystal was startled.

The Hummer SUV cut in front of the Porsche.

They crazily zigzagged, forcefully suppressing the speed of the Porsche, blocking it in front of them. The other Hummer SUV, on the other hand, followed closely behind the Porsche, maintaining a shorter distance. “Robin, what do they want?” Crystal almost cried out.

Robin smiled indifferently and said, “They wanted to die.”

“Ah?” Crystal exclaimed.

Robin spoke about life and death at this moment, as calmly as if he were talking about a trivial matter. Two Hummer SUVs sandwiched the Porsche in between and forcefully pushed forward.

Robin could see through their thoughts.

This posture clearly indicated preparation for the collision at the T-junction ahead.

If driving in the current order, it would be impossible for the Porsche to move forward or backward! As long as Robin drove the Porsche in this order, he forced it to the middle of the T-junction.

At the same time, the two dumpers that had already been waiting at the T-junction could directly and accurately crush the Porsche into a pile of scrap metal.

At this moment, it was less than ten seconds away from the T-junction.

Robin looked at the navigator, a cold smile appeared on his face, and he muttered the numbers quietly, “Five, four, three, two, one!”

Crystal didn’t know what he was doing and hadn’t yet asked for the reason.

Suddenly, Robin accelerated directly to the highest gear!

This Porsche, starting from zero, can directly accelerate to a speed of 400 kilometers per hour within two seconds! Meanwhile, Robin made a sudden change in direction.

The Hummer SUV veered to the left for one thousandth of a second.

Porsche rubbed against the right side of the Hummer SUV in front of it. and managed to squeeze in front of it. Dashed through the intersection like lightning.

Just at the moment when Robin was driving his Porsche through the intersection.

From the right T-junction, the thirty—ton dumper appeared on time and was rushing towards the intersection at full speed! A thirty-ton dumper scraped the rear of a Porsche!

Porsche suddenly performed a spin in place.

When rotated to the 180-degree position, the front of the car rubbed against one side of the dumper.

Fortunately, the rotation direction of the Porsche was consistent with the direction of the dumper's forward movement. As a result, Porsche continued to spin after the collision.

When the front of the car rotated 360 degrees.

Robin stepped on the accelerator, and the Porsche roared back onto its original track, resuming normal driving. Crystal tightly closed her eyes and screamed loudly, experiencing a terrifying two seconds that almost drove her to the brink of collapse.

After Porsche rushed out for five hundred meters, it slowly stopped by the roadside.

“Ah, ah, ah...” Crystal was still shouting and screaming.

“Enough! Stop screaming, everything is fine now,” Robin grabbed Crystal's flailing arms and scolded.

“Huh?” Crystal opened her eyes and looked around. “I'm not dead?”

Robin nodded, “Hmm, still alive...”

“Bang!” A loud noise rang out, and a cloud of dust rose up at the intersection behind.

Immediately after, a raging fire burst out from the dust.

In an instant, flames shot up into the sky!

The first Hummer SUV that was overtaken by Porsche, was crushed under the dumper, resulting in the destruction of the car and the death of the driver, with the fuel tank exploding!

Originally, there was another Hummer SUV following behind.

It rammed into the bottom of the dumper and was crushed into a pile of scrap metal by this thirty-ton heavy dumper. Several men who had previously been acting arrogantly towards Robin in the Hummer, all turned into minced meat.

The dumper did not collide with the Porsche driven by Robin, immediately turned towards the Porsche, and rushed at full speed. Robin immediately started the Porsche and rushed forward.

However, in the middle of the last intersection ahead, there was another dumper parked!

Block the entire intersection!

The front intersection was blocked, and there was a dumper

Chapter 43 WITH ME FITE, TUU VUITEUR

relentlessly chasing from behind.

There was no escape route within a distance of less than three miles.

Moreover, the dumper parked at the intersection suddenly started and rushed towards Robin and the others at full speed! The mountain road leading to Mauveglow Villas was not very wide.

A dumper was driving across the middle lane.

The width on both sides, Porsche's width simply cannot pass through.

Looking at the dumper chasing rapidly behind, and the dumper roaring towards us like a tank from the opposite direction, Crystal screamed in despair, "What should we do? We have nowhere to go!"

Robin ignored her, a cold smile playing at the corner of his mouth.

Suddenly, the Porsche sped forward at full speed, facing the oncoming dumper ahead!

"Ah! Robin, what... what are you doing? Stop it... quickly..." Crystal was almost going crazy! At that moment, the Porsche was like an angry bull, roaring as it charged towards the dumper! Ten meters, eight meters, five meters...

The driver of the dumper was also stunned.

This guy is just a lunatic, does he still want to crash into me with a Porsche?

In the blink of an eye, Porsche rushed to the front of the dumper, less than a meter away!

In the brief moment that was about to collide, Crystal looked at the dumper in front of her as if a towering mountain came crashing down!

She closed her eyes in despair, it was over, everything had come to an end!

In that moment, she regretted so much!

If it weren't for curious Robin, who took him home, he wouldn't have suffered this disaster!

In an instant, everything turned pitch black before my eyes...

Chapter 44

Chapter 44 Racing on Hanrock Peak

Crystal tightly held onto the handle and dared not open her eyes. Suddenly, the body started tilting to the right, completely losing control, as if plunging into an abyss, sinking deeper and deeper... Is this what death feels like?

He died, so be it!

Since some things have already happened, just accept fate!

Fear, it is also useless!

In an instant, Crystal suddenly realized.

She suddenly opened her eyes.

In an instant, I was shocked by the scene in front of my eyes!

Is this true?

The Porsche, which was speeding, was now tilting to the left in mid- air.

The right front wheel directly hit the body of the dumper, while the left side wheels occupied the narrow space on the left side of the dumper.

The entire Porsche body raced forward diagonally at high speed, like a phantom, rushing through this deadly distance!

Due to the low chassis of the Porsche, the left side of the car body was completely scraping the ground as it moved forward. The left side of the car scraped violently against the surface of the road, instantly raising clouds of dust and sparks!

A thousandth of a second of life and death time.

Porsche, unexpectedly escaped the disaster in such an unpredictable manner!

Is this... Is this true?

Crystal had long forgotten her fear at this point and exclaimed excitedly, "Robin, Robin, we actually made it through!" However, Robin paid no attention to her screams and continued to drive the Porsche recklessly forward with full concentration! Just at that moment in Porsche, while crossing the line between life and death in an extremely eerie way.

The drivers of the two dumpers were also shocked by this stunning moment!

At this moment, they had already forgotten about each other's presence and the colossal objects of the same weight, which were approaching each other at a speed of nearly 300 kilometers per hour.

In less than a second of distraction, two thirty-ton dumpers completed the most intense collision!

"Bang!"

Such tonnage, such speed, a collision at full force!

The shock brought about by this was nothing short of the destructive power of detonating several tons of explosives! With a series of terrifying crashes, the sound of an explosion suddenly rang out.

On this silent mountain road, just one minute later, a horrific scene of a car crash and fatalities unfolded again!

In an instant, the raging fire illuminated this mountain road, making it as bright as daylight.

After Porsche dashed past the death line, it swiftly disappeared into the thick darkness of the mountains.

Porsche ran for dozens of kilometers in one breath and finally stopped on an open mountain road on the north side of Mount Mauveglow.

Robin turned off the headlights.

Looking around, making sure no one had noticed, | finally breathed a sigh of relief.

Crystal sat silently in the car, not saying a word.

A few minutes of dream-like experience made her feel extremely unreal!

Was that just an illusion?

Taking advantage of the dim light inside the car, Crystal cautiously glanced at Robin sitting in the driver's seat. After hesitating for a while, | finally mustered up the courage to look up at the rearview mirror in front of the car. Lowering the mirror, | looked at myself in it,

His hair was like a bird's nest.

Crystal burst into tears with a loud "Wow!"

In the empty valley, only her crying could be heard, echoing like the wailing of ghosts and howling of wolves. After crying for a while, Crystal suddenly stopped crying.

The crying sound in the deep night of the empty mountain was so terrifying that even I, myself, was frightened. The silence around her made her panic.

“Feeling better now?” Robin glanced sideways and chuckled, asking.

“Ah!” Suddenly, I saw Robin's smile under the dim yellow light.

Crystal was scared to death.

The hands and legs were waving non-stop.

“Alright! Stop scaring yourself!” Robin grabbed Crystal's hands that were continuously patting and shaking. “Everything has already passed. It's okay now!”

Crystal finally quieted down and felt the warmth of Robin's palm, slowly opening her eyes.

In the TV movies I watched in the past, I saw them determine whether they were dead or alive by biting themselves. “Ah! Why did you bite me, woman? Are you a dog?” Robin said, looking at the row of bloodstains on his arm.

Crystal looked apologetically at Robin and said, “I'm sorry, I just wanted to see, to bite a little, if it hurts. I can't believe I don't feel anything, am I... am I dead?”

“You didn't die! You bit me, of course you don't feel any pain yourself. I really can't believe you!” Robin shook his head helplessly. It took a while for Crystal to recover.

Looking at myself in the mirror, my hair was a mess, resembling a bird's nest, and exhaustion filled my eyes.

Take another look at the Porsche's exterior condition displayed on the screen.

Except for the four tires that didn't burst, there wasn't a single part that was intact.

The back of the car was gone, the front of the car was gone, and the car doors were basically scratched through. Judging from the situation, it was probably a panoramic convertible Porsche that would be kicked.

Crystal suddenly covered her face and burst into loud sobs.

“Boohoo... Today was really unlucky!”

“In the morning, the first time | saw you, | lost fifty million!”

“At night, | kindly drove you home, and my newly bought Porsche worth over ten million was also scrapped!” “And, | almost lost my life!”

“Robin, you are such a jinx!”

“Why am | so unlucky to meet you? Boohoo...”

Robin watched Crystal crying loudly.

Knowing that she had been strongly affected by the scene of the car accident, she displayed signs of a mental breakdown for a while.

You could cry, but you would be fine in a while.

However, listening to Crystal’s complaints, | felt a slight sense of guilt in my heart. They did indeed kindly send him home, only to suffer this disaster.

Of course, one bears an undeniable responsibility oneself.

“Okay, | will buy you a brand new Porsche tomorrow, the top—of-the- line one.”

Robin looked at Crystal, who was crying miserably, and said, “Stop crying. Look at yourself now, your hair is a mess like a bird’s nest, and your makeup is all smudged. It’s making me nervous just looking at you.”

Crystal stopped crying and asked, “Is it true?”

Robin nodded, “Yes, it’s just a Porsche. I’ll give it to you tomorrow.”

Crystal stared at Robin for a while and didn’t feel that this man was lying.

She thought for a moment, and suddenly a complex light flickered in her eyes.

“Robin, | don’t want you to buy it for me tomorrow, | want it tonight.”

Chapter 45

Chapter 45 He's a Jerk "Tonight? Why would any car company not close so late?"

Crystal quickly tidied her hair and, while applying makeup in front of the mirror, said, "I'll take you to Hanrock Peak, it's just a few minutes away from here."

"With your skills, it only took five minutes."

Robin looked at Crystal in astonishment. Just a moment ago, she was completely terrified, and now she was fine again? "Do you mean you want me to go street racing with someone?"

"Yes, winning two Porsches with your driving skills is not a problem," Crystal exclaimed excitedly.

"I didn't go, that kind of thing was too boring!" Robin shook his head. "I will still buy one for you tomorrow."

"Boohoo..." Crystal cried miserably again.

Looking at Crystal's sad crying face, Robin sighed and said, "Alright, I'll accompany you to take a look."

"Really? Okay, let's go!" Crystal quickly touched up her makeup and said happily.

Robin looked at Crystal's quick transformation and muttered, "Women are so troublesome! I won't let you take me home again next time."

Five minutes later, Robin drove Crystal in a drafty Porsche to the halfway point of Hanrock Peak.

From a distance, the roaring sound of motorcycles at the top of Hanrock Peak could be heard, along with the screams of a group of men and women

Robin saw a hint of complexity in Crystal's eyes at that moment.

He suddenly understood that this woman might have lost here before. She came to seek revenge on me! "Did you, as a woman, have a premeditated plan?"

Crystal smiled and said, "I won't hide it from you anymore, I had planned it."

"I once came to play with my friends and lost a car. I felt unwilling, not because I couldn't afford a car, but because I couldn't swallow this anger."

"Robin, you are so skilled at driving. Help me win back my dignity by taking a gamble, and I'll be willing to do anything for you in the future."

Robin sneered, "Stop it, I wouldn't engage in such idiotic behavior to save your face!"

With that, Robin pushed open the car door and was about to leave.

"Wait a minute!" Crystal looked at Robin and hesitated for a moment. before speaking.

"I brought you here not only to win and regain face, but also to ask for your help in teaching someone a lesson." Robin waved his hand and said, "I will not be a tool for you to use, you can play by yourself!"

"I wanted you to know that the guy I bet against was a scumbag!"

"Half a year ago, he was speeding in the downtown area and killed a pregnant woman, a child, and a couple. Now, he still remains at large."

Robin stopped in his tracks upon hearing the words, looking at Crystal with a puzzled expression. He didn't expect that Crystal would come speeding over for this matter.

Crystal saw Robin turn towards her and quickly got out of the car to run up to him.

"Robin, if you don't believe me, I can show you the news video from that time!"

"And then that bastard deliberately ran over someone, refusing to apologize or show any remorse, acting arrogantly and brazenly."

Crystal opened the video saved in her phone and showed it to Robin.

Several crazy racing cars were weaving through the bustling crowd in the video.

The time displayed on the screen was 7:40 in the evening.

The location is Hallcester, Rosefinch District, South Street.

This area was a densely populated area of Hallcester city's southern commercial and residential district. Several racing cars passed through this street and drove out of the city.

While driving at high speed, a Lamborghini suddenly lost control and crashed onto the sidewalk.

The next scene, as one can imagine, was predictable.

Several innocent pedestrians were severely injured in the accident, including a pregnant woman, a child of about ten years old, and a young couple who died on the spot. Robin looked at the scene of the horrific car accident and initially felt only anger.

Angry are these bastards, for they disregard life to such an extent just for some money.

Just one second of time, and several families were instantly destroyed.

However, in the next scene, Robin was not just angry, there was already a strong sense of murderous intent in his eyes! After Lamborghini crashed into the crowd, initially it only caused severe injuries to pedestrians, without any fatalities. After the car accident, the racing car came to a halt, and a man in his mid-twenties stepped out of the car. Aman was accompanied by a woman wearing sunglasses.

They looked at the scene of the car accident.

They discovered a pregnant woman lying in a pool of blood, waving for help.

A child of about ten years old had his leg broken by a collision.

A couple was severely injured and on the verge of death.

After examining the situation, the man returned to the car.

Immediately after, the frenzy began.

Lamborghini ruthlessly ran over the pregnant woman, child, and the couple!

And, it rolled over three times back and forth!

During the process, the man also stuck his head out of the car and glanced at the four victims who were being crushed by him repeatedly.

To be precise, it was five!

In the video, the pregnant woman had a big belly, indicating that the baby inside her was at least eight or nine months old! This action angered everyone present.

They surrounded these people and waited for the police to arrive.

These bastards not only did not stop their crazy actions.

Moreover, he took out an iron rod from the car and started hitting and smashing pedestrians.

After scattering the pedestrians, Lamborghini and several racing cars sped away.

Crystal turned off her phone and looked at Robin, who had no expression on his face.

“The owner of this Lamborghini was named Dewey Cox.”

His brother was Chester Cox from Hashville Martial Arts Union, who was said to hold a high position within the union as the leader of the Hallcester Division.

“The Cox family had only recently emerged in Hallcester in the past two years.” “The Cox Group’s nightlife business was backed by Demon’s Lair and Hallcester Division.”

Robin frowned and interrupted Crystal, “Why are you telling me all this? | am not the savior. There are laws to punish such people.”

Crystal was slightly taken aback, and immediately became excited.

The reality is, later on, the department of law said that Dewey and others’ malicious actions were actually just a regular car accident!

“And each fatality in every car accident can only be compensated up to a maximum of one hundred thousand.”

“This kind of situation was determined as a regular car accident, and moreover, they only compensated a hundred thousand! Tell me, isn’t this a joke?”

“What's even more ridiculous is that those scumbags, Dewey and his gang, didn’t even fulfill the ten thousand dollars compensation in the end!”

Robin shrugged, “From what you've described, Dewey and his gang are indeed scumbags. Alright, tell me what to do?” “Are you suggesting that I killed them?”

Crystal smiled bitterly and remained silent.

Robin looked at the time and realized it was already midnight, twelve o’clock.

He opened the car door and greeted Crystal, who was still staring blankly at the bend ahead.

“Alright, stop fantasizing about saving the world. Leave these great things to the superheroes. You better go back and get some rest.”

Crystal sighed and nodded, “Okay, wait for me for a moment.” “I went to pay my respects to my brother and sister-in-law up ahead, as well as my unborn nephew.”

After saying that, Crystal opened the deformed trunk and took out three bunches of flowers, a bottle of wine, and some offerings...

“What... What do you mean by mourning your brother and sister—in- law, as well as an unborn nephew?” Robin was confused by Crystal’s actions.

Crystal hesitated for a moment and said, “The pregnant woman in that car accident was my sister-in-law!” Robin hesitated for a moment.

No wonder Crystal was so haunted by this car accident.

After that car accident, my brother was in extreme pain and he was not satisfied with the final conclusion. “Helplessly, I worked hard for several months, but with no results.”

“Finally, the Cox family warned my brother that if he dared to cause trouble again, they would even wipe out the Thompson family!”

“My dad and his mistress were worried that this matter would affect the entire Thompson family, so they strictly ordered my brother not to cause any more trouble.”

“My brother was almost going crazy during that period of time.” “Later, Dewey was found and it was decided to gamble with him for life and death!”

Speaking of which, Crystal pointed to the bend thirty meters ahead.

“My brother was pushed down by several vehicles from Dewey right at this bend...”

Looking at the hatred in Crystal's eyes, Robin nodded and said,

“Alright, go and pay your respects to your brother and sister—in—law. I'll wait for you.” Watching Crystal's slender figure swaying in the chilly night breeze, Robin shook his head. The smile on this woman's face in her daily life, it turned out to be fake.

| didn't expect that there was still this sad and hateful past hidden in my heart.

Half an hour later, Crystal walked back from the bend.

| brushed through my wind-blown hair and smiled, saying, “Let's go, you've been with me for so long...” “Rumble rumble rumble...” A piercing sound of engines roared and echoed.

In no time, more than a dozen luxury sports cars surrounded Robin and Crystal.

Robin leaned against the car and glanced at the luxury cars rushing towards him- Lamborghini, Aston Martin, Bugatti, Porsche... “Shh!” A piercing provocative whistle sounded, and the car door of the race car opened.

A dozen young men and women walked out of the car.

“Hahaha... Crystal, | brought delicious food for you, hahaha...”

Aman stepped out of the Lamborghini, and it was Dewey. He kicked all the offerings placed by the bend of the road down the cliff.

Crystal's eyes shot with anger, but her body instinctively moved slightly towards Robin.

"Get in, let's go back," Robin opened the car door and pulled Crystal.

Crystal knew that Robin was unwilling to get involved in this matter, so she could only sigh inwardly and get into the car. "Hahaha... Crystal, today you brought a duck as well. How about performing it live for your brother to see? Ahahaha..." Robin had already stepped into the car, but then he stepped back out.

"Snap!"

Robin slapped Dewey in the face, leaving him dazed.

A group of laughing men and women suddenly froze.

"What the hell! He actually hit Dewey?"

"Are you out of your mind?"

Robin took out a tissue and wiped his palms. He smirked and said, "Keep your mouth clean. Do you remember?" "What the fuck! How dare you hit me..." Dewey snapped back to reality and threw a punch.

"Slap!" Robin delivered a slap to this guy.

"Still have a good memory, huh? Scum!" Robin pulled out another wet wipe and disdainfully wiped his palm.

"So dirty, remember to wash your face properly in the future!"

After saying that, he threw the wet towel directly onto Dewey's face and turned around to walk towards the car.

Crystal, sitting in the car, opened her mouth wide in astonishment!

So handsome!

Several female drivers at the scene also had a gleam in their eyes.

| just realized that the guy in front of me had an extraordinary charm. like a male god!

At this moment, the look in their eyes as they gazed at Robin's back was filled with a gleam of infatuation.

“Fuck, you dare to hit me? Do you know who | am?” Dewey reached into the car and pulled out a short knife, then charged towards Robin

Chapter 46

Chapter 46 Let's Have a Car Race!

Without even turning his head, Robin directly disarmed the opponent and took the knife with his bare hands. Grabbing Dewey by the hair, “You want to kill me, huh? Fine!”

| carried Dewey by his hair to the edge of the bend cliff.

Dewey's entire body was suspended in mid-air over the cliff, with a bottomless abyss below!

“Ah!”

Dewey was so scared that he peed himself.

The scene was silent.

Crystal also covered her mouth and watched Robin's fierce actions.

As long as Robin let go of his hand, or Dewey's hair broke off, this scam would instantly turn into a meat patty! Dewey only realized at that moment that the person in front of him was a tough character.

Looking at the calm expression on Robin's face.

He absolutely believed that as long as he said one more sentence.

Robin would definitely send him straight to hell.

“Brother, I... | was wrong, | will never dare to do it again...”

Robin ignored him.

Chapter 46 Let's Have a Car Race!

The palm suddenly loosened, and Dewey's body sank instantly.

There came a cry of surprise from behind.

A dozen riders, including Dewey, were holding machetes and none of them dared to take another step forward. At that moment, Robin's palm was only gripping Dewey's hair, which was less than two centimeters long.

The hair between the fingers was still slowly sliding down.

According to this trend, in another half a minute, Dewey could basically be declared dead.

Dewey tightly closed his mouth, tears streaming down his face, pleadingly looking at Robin.

"Brother, as long as you let me go, you can be my ancestor!"

Robin ignored him and looked towards the dark night in the distant valley, with his hair slipping slowly through his fingers. The entire Hanrock Peak bend was as quiet as the surrounding area.

Only the cold night wind, whooshing like a ghost, hurriedly passed by from the ear.

Finally!

Robin released his palm, and the hair between his fingers slipped away.

Dewey shouted loudly, "No! Big brother, | beg you..."

Everyone on the mountain path looked in horror at the scene before them!

Chapter 46 Let's Have a Car Race!

Crystal widened her eyes and rushed out of the car, waiting for the moment when Dewey would fall off the cliff and die. "Bang!"

Just at the moment when Robin let go, a foot swept across Dewey's shoulder, forcefully slamming his arms against the edge of the cliff.

Dewey's upper body was tightly pressed against the edge of the cliff, with two-thirds of his body hanging below the cliff. If not, Robin would still have one foot on his shoulder. Dewey should be on his way to hitting rock bottom now.

At this moment, he couldn't care about the pain in his body anymore, desperately pleading, "Big brother..., father, grandfather..., ancestors! It's all because of my big mouth, I won't dare anymore, please, please let me go!"

"Gotcha!" Robin lifted his right foot off Dewey and then picked up the short knife from the ground.

Just as Dewey was about to slip off the cliff, a dagger stabbed into the rock beside his palm.

Losing balance, Dewey instinctively grabbed the short knife standing in front of him as he slid downwards.

The sharp blade was grasped in the palm, and blood flowed out.

Robin ignored him and turned to Crystal.

It took a while for several drivers to recover from the shock before quickly running over to pull Dewey up.

After surviving the ordeal, Dewey lay paralyzed on the ground,

Chapter 46 Let's Have a Car Race!

gasping for breath heavily.

Gradually, the pleading and fear in the eyes transformed into a cold and deadly intent in an instant!

"Dewey, do you need to call Chester?" a driver whispered, leaning closer to Dewey.

Dewey nodded, indicating for them to grab their weapons.

Dozens of drivers immediately realized and drew out their short knives.

Crystal watched as a dozen people waved their knives and charged towards Robin. She exclaimed, "Get in the car quickly!" Robin shook his head and turned around, saying, "I gave you a chance to leave, why did you insist on risking your own lives?" In an instant, in the desolate midnight mountain road, there came a howl of ghosts and wolves.

Dozens of riders wielding machetes were beaten up and scattered.

Robin walked towards Dewey step by step!

"Ancestors... ancestors... I was wrong, I was wrong!" Dewey knelt on the ground, continuously kowtowing and begging for forgiveness.

Robin's phone received a message. The Hashville Martial Arts Union learned that Deandre has been declared a traitor and has issued a bounty for his life.

Hashville Martial Arts Union's deputy law enforcement officer, Lamar Young, will arrive in Hallcester tomorrow to supervise the leader of the Hallcester Division, Chester.

Chapter 46 Let's Have a Car Raced

Looking at this intelligence, Robin sneered and a cold light flashed in his eyes.

"Get up. I changed my mind."

Dewey immediately stopped bowing and looked at Robin in horror, "An...ancestors, what do you want..."

"We raced at the casino!" Robin turned around and walked towards Crystal's car.

"What? Gambling..... racing, and you want to gamble on racing with me?"

Dewey looked at Robin's back and then glanced at the dilapidated Porsche. "Are you suggesting that we race with this car?" "Yes, it's this car!" Robin nodded and opened the hood, making a few simple adjustments to the engine.

A trace of cunning and ecstasy quickly flashed in Dewey's eyes.

He exchanged a glance with a few companions, understanding each other.

Playing car racing with them on this mountain road in the past would have been suicidal!

Crystal saw through Dewey and the others' thoughts and reminded, "Robin, don't be impulsive, don't gamble with them!"

Robin put down the hood before getting in the car, "Isn't this what you've been looking forward to? Are you reluctant to part with your car?"

"I didn't mean that! This car is no different from being scrapped now, there's nothing to be attached to." Chapter ein Have a Cai

"They have been racing on this mountain road for nearly ten years, and no one knows how many people have died on Hanrock Peak!"

"Moreover, our car was falling apart. The power system, braking system, and coordination were all unable to guarantee safety, let alone speed."

"How can you compare with them with such a condition of the car?" Robin wiped his hands and revealed a set of sparkling white teeth, "Isn't it just a low-level race?"

Crystal had not yet had time to dissuade, Robin turned around and leaned against the car, beckoning to Dewey with a wave of his hand.

Dewey was thinking about where to ambush Robin at which bend, and as soon as he saw him, he ran up to him. "Since we are gambling on racing, we should have some stakes!" Robin said indifferently, "Get some paper and a pen!" "Yes, yes, yes!" Dewey immediately ordered someone to bring it, "How should it be written?"

"I said you write!" Robin pointed to the ground.

Dewey immediately lay on the ground, gripping the pen nervously.

"IOU!" Robin exclaimed.

"Huh?" Everyone was stunned.

Wasn't it a car racing agreement? How did it become a promissory note?

"Write!" Robin said coldly.

Chapter 46 Let's Have a Car Race!

"Okay, okay, okay!" Dewey broke out in a cold sweat, fearing that this gentleman might change his mind and drag him to the cliff again.

"OU! Dewey voluntarily raced against Crystal and lost! Owes one Porsche 918 Spyder, as well as all of his shares in the Cox Group!"

"Sign your name and place your fingerprint!"

Dewey was dumbfounded, "Wasn't there still a game? How did we lose? And, it's even a debt note?" "How | tell you to write, that's how you write! Don't agree?" Robin said coldly.

"Yes, yes, yes!" Dewey immediately wrote down according to Robin's instructions.

In my heart, | pondered what to write when the competition came, but if your car was destroyed and someone died, everything would be bullshit!

"Keep writing!" Robin kicked Dewey, "This car race is a gambling match among the underworld, life and death are determined by fate!"

After Dewey finished writing these, he handed the IOU note to Robin.

"Alright, let's gamble according to your rules!" Robin said indifferently.

Dewey nodded and got up, turning towards the Lamborghini, his eyes. filled with a burning flame of hatred.

Wait a moment, and you will die!

He actually hit me, | will definitely make sure you die in a spectacular way!

Chapter 46 Let's Have a Car Race!

Several companions had long been accustomed to annihilating their opponents in this kind of competition.

In general, they would drive to the bend, squeezing the opponent's vehicle from both sides and forcing it into the cliff. Crystal's older brother died by falling off a cliff like this.

Robin returned to the car and threw the IOU to Crystal.

“get out of the car, tomorrow you can take this IOU and go to the Cox Group to reclaim what you are owed!”

“I won't go down!” Crystal firmly said, tightly gripping the IOU.

“Okay.”

Robin slammed on the gas pedal of the Porsche.

The high-speed motor roared fiercely in the open valley as the Porsche shot like an arrow towards the mountaintop. Following closely behind, Lamborghini, Aston Martin, Bugatti... chased after Robin as he sped away.

In an instant, the motorcycle roared in the late night at Hanrock Peak, with the constant sound of screeching tires and the friction of rocks.

In the third bend, Robin's car suddenly shook and the rear hood flew off, almost losing half of its body. Immediately after, the car door next to Crystal fell off, causing Crystal to scream in fright.

The cold mountain wind blew away all the clutter inside the car.

Looking at the dilapidated Porsche from a distance, it seemed like it could fall apart at any moment.

Crystal tightly gripped the seatbelt, almost on the verge of crying.

“Robin, the car was falling apart, we were going to die!”

“Shut up! Can't get away!” Robin shouted, giving a thumbs-up to the Lamborghini that had just passed him. The worn-out Porsche gently brushed against the side of the cliff- hugging track.

Dewey looked at Robin's low-level operation and burst into laughter, shouting loudly through the headset, “I'll kill him in the next turn!”

Chapter 47

Chapter 47 What a Psycho!

After Dewey transmitted the information, three racing cars quickly followed.

The Lamborghini he was driving slowed down to make way for a lane.

A Bugatti, like a lightning bolt, raced ahead and crossed the intersection in front of Robin's poised Porsche. After letting Bugatti pass, Dewey charged forward again, almost neck and neck with Robin.

On the narrow mountain road, two high-speed racing cars were driving side by side, almost sticking together, occasionally sparking as they brushed against each other.

At this moment, Dewey and the others had already squeezed Robin's Porsche to the edge of the cliff. The Porsche driven by Robin was unable to accelerate forward or change lanes by slowing down.

On the right side was Dewey's Lamborghini, speeding along while constantly attempting to ram Robin's vehicle towards the cliff on the left.

There were several times when the left wheels of the Porsche were almost hanging in the air, with the danger of falling off the cliff at any moment. Crystal, sitting in the car, looked at the situation and realized that she was clearly in a desperate situation. Chapter 47 What a Psychol

As long as Dewey kept crashing, the Porsche that she and Robin were riding in would soon fall off the cliff and be destroyed, resulting in fatalities.

At this moment, she truly regretted letting Robin come to Hanrock Peak.

He was simply a lunatic!

Knowing full well the condition and situation of the car, I still chose to race with Dewey. Suddenly, the Aston Martin behind fiercely collided with the Porsche.

The body of the Porsche shook violently.

After the left front wheel had been suspended in mid-air for one thousandth of a second, it landed again on the road surface at the edge of the cliff.

Crystal was scared to death. She held onto the seatbelt tightly, the right car door was already gone. She almost leaned her entire body towards Robin's side.

However, she found that in this high-speed situation, her body slightly leaning to the left would increase the possibility of the Porsche tilting towards the left cliff.

She had to tilt her body's center of gravity to the right side.

On the right, Dewey drove the Lamborghini, repeatedly crashing into the Porsche.

Crystal felt that every time could be a deadly impact.

Thap 47 W

She dared not scream, fearing that it would disturb Robin who was driving the Porsche.

In this situation, as long as Robin's wrist trembled slightly, everything could be over.

At this moment, Dewey unexpectedly opened the car window and arrogantly collided with the Porsche.

Laughing hysterically at Robin and Crystal, he said, "Dare to hit me, I'll crash you to death!"

Robin ignored him and glanced at the navigation, entering the next bend two seconds later.

He looked ahead and saw his Bugatti blocking the way, a hint of amusement flashed in his eyes.

Suddenly, the steering wheel was sharply turned to the right, and the Porsche's body violently collided with the Lamborghini. After the collision, Porsche forcefully squeezed to the right, creating a distance of ten centimeters.

At the same time, Robin accelerated the speed of the Porsche to its maximum.

The impact directly hit the rear of the Bugatti in front, with the force of the impact slightly leaning towards the right rear.

At the moment when Porsche collided with the Bugatti, Robin slightly turned the steering wheel to the left.

During the high-speed journey, Bugatti suddenly lost control and flipped off the cliff due to a force impacting from the left front. Meanwhile, the left front and rear wheels of the Porsche were completely suspended in mid-air, with a bottomless abyss beneath one- third of the car's body.

Chapter 47 What a Psychot

Only the right double wheels still tightly grasped the road surface, supporting the entire body's center of gravity as it moved forward.

Dewey was shocked by Robin's crazy actions; he had never seen such a terrifying scene before.

In a brief moment, Porsche maneuvered around the bend and the four wheels once again traveled on the mountain road. "Bang!" At the moment when the Porsche's left front and rear wheels touched the ground, the left side door also fell off. Crystal cried.

Is this still a car? It's like running on wheels!

She believed that if she continued driving for another five minutes, the wheels would run off.

After Bugatti plunged into the abyss, Dewey and his group, slightly shocked, once again launched an attack on Robin's Porsche. He shouted wildly in the earphone, "Keep hitting him! His car is going to fall apart!"

Immediately after, several racing cars squeezed past Porsche at the same time.

Robin drove the Porsche, speeding along the mountain road that ran alongside the cliff.

Porsche was in a precarious situation.

Dewey almost drove the Porsche off the cliff, as he navigated through

Chapter 47 What a Psychot

three sharp turns.

He believed that he could definitely defeat Robin tonight.

Robin looked at the navigation and saw that there were only the last two bends left to reach the top of the mountain.

He glanced sideways at Dewey, who was continuously bumping into him, and said, "Let's just finish at the next turn!"

Crystal was already numb at this point. She looked at the confident expression on Robin's face, not knowing what he was saying.

One second later, Porsche was about to reach the most dangerous bend at Hanrock Peak. Robin kept the speed of the Porsche above four hundred yards and forcefully collided with the Lamborghini. In an instant, it suddenly rushed diagonally towards the cliff.

As Crystal watched, half of the Porsche's body had already lifted off the ground and dashed out of the road, leaving her in despair.

Here is the Hanrock Peak Valley, which is nearly a kilometer long!

It ended, everything ended today!

Crystal tightly closed her eyes, and before her eyes were all the scenes of her brother's tragic death six months ago. At the same time, Dewey also cheered.

"Kid, race with me if you dare, you're asking for trouble!"

However, just as he thought Porsche would plunge off the cliff at this bend, with the car destroyed and the person dead. Chapter 4 What a Paychaf

Porsche mysteriously drew an arc in mid-air and landed once again on the ground of the mountain road,

For a moment, he actually forgot that this was the deadly curve of Hanrock Peak, with an extremely steep curvature. Before he had a chance to turn the steering wheel, the Lamborghini rushed towards the cliff like an arrow.

Dewey fiercely turned the steering wheel and shouted frantically, “No!”

Following closely behind him were Aston Martin, Ferrari, BMW... like a procession, they followed Lamborghini as it raced straight towards the cliff.

All eight race cars fell into the valley. In an instant, the valley of Hanrock Peak was engulfed in flames!

Several racing cars that followed immediately stopped urgently, looking at the horrifying scene in front of them, and everyone was scared stiff.

When they were searching for the Porsche vehicle driven by Robin, Robin was driving this Porsche with only four wheels and a steering wheel, and had already reached the bottom of the mountain on the other side of Hanrock Peak.

“Hey, wake up!” Robin shook Crystal, “The game is over!”

Crystal kept her eyes tightly shut and didn’t dare to make a sound for a while.

“You didn’t die!” Robin took out a wet wipe and cleaned his cheeks and palms.
Chapter 47 What a Psycho!

Crystal slowly opened her eyes and looked at the dim street lamp ahead, “Where am I?” “We arrived at the foot of Hanrock Peak. Do you still need your car?”

Robin looked at Crystal, who was still lost in her dream, and asked.

“Where is my car?” Crystal looked around but didn’t see anything.

Robin pointed to the Porsche, which was now just a frame. “This is it.”

Crystal looked around at the place she was sitting.

Except for four wheels, two seats, and a steering wheel, everything else was gone. Moreover, the engine in front of the car was squeaking and emitting smoke.

“Are we really still alive?”

Robin nodded and said, “I was alive, and not only that, I was alive and well. Except for my messy hair and disheveled appearance, everything was fine.”

“So... where was that scumbag Dewey?”

“Dead! Fell off the cliff and died!” Robin pushed open the car door. “Get out, this car is about to explode.”

Crystal immediately jumped off the car and, after confirming that she was indeed alive, threw herself into Robin’s arms. “Boohoo...” He burst into loud sobs.

“Bang!” A loud explosion came from behind, and the Porsche instantly burst into flames.

Taps“. That U1SY6TH

“Let’s go, it’s already past three in the morning, it’s time to go back and get some rest,” Robin walked towards a Land Rover parked by the roadside.

Crystal sat in the modified Land Rover and was even more puzzled, “Whose car is this?”

“Mine. What happened?”

Robin glanced at Crystal, who was still in shock, and gave a faint smile. “So, tell me, where do you want me to take you?” Crystal looked at Robin and said, “It’s so late, where can I go? Of course, I’ll go home with you.”

“Didn’t you say that your home is in Mauveglow Villa 1? This place is the closest to Mauveglow Villas.”

“Fine! Suit yourself!” Robin stepped on the accelerator and drove the Land Rover towards Mauveglow Villas.

Crystal looked at Robin at that moment, with a calm and carefree expression.

It seems that the two car accidents mentioned earlier on Mount Mauveglow, as well as the intense racing on the life—or—death curves of Hanrock Peak, had nothing to do with him.

She became more and more interested in this mysterious man.

If Hallcester's most expensive Mauveglow Villa 1 really belonged to Robin.

This man was definitely a hidden boss!

Ten minutes later, Robin arrived at Mauveglow Villas driving a Land Rover.

Chapter 47 What a Psychot

Take a look at this Mauveglow Villas, surrounded by green waters and beautiful scenery. It was the best area of Hallcester for feng shui.

Robin drove the car to the front gate of the villa area.

The security personnel of Zone 1 of Mauveglow Villas immediately approached him and asked him to show the access card for the villa.

When the security guard saw the Leopard Card handed to him by Robin, he was quite puzzled. "Sir, are you sure you lived in our villa area?"

The security guard glanced at the pictures and text on the Leopard Card, then looked inside the car. The two individuals appeared somewhat disheveled and hesitant.

"Sir, are you sure you haven't taken the wrong place? This is Hallcester's most expensive villa area, Zone 1 of Mauveglow Villas! Not just anyone can live here."

"Moreover, our access card for Zone 1 of Mauveglow Villas had a design on it depicting Crescent Lake surrounding Mount Mauveglow."

"But, this is just a scattered leopard print?" "If you went to the wrong place, please go back." The security guard handed the Leopard Card to Robin, indicating that they should leave as soon as possible.

Crystal glanced at the Leopard Card upon hearing the words, and noticed that the pattern on it was designed just like women's lingerie.

She had already suspected that Robin was lying to her, and now, looking at the security guard's posture, she was even more nervous.

If Robin was pretending, then it would be a big embarrassment.

She quietly tugged at Robin's sleeve, "Hey, is it true?"

Robin ignored Crystal and impatiently said, "Is it true? Just try it and you'll know!" The security guard hesitated for a moment and couldn't insist any longer.

After all, the residents living here are all the most powerful bosses in Hallchester. "Okay, sir, please wait a moment."

The security guard held the Leopard Card and placed it in the card reader area at the entrance of the villa.

Chapter 48 The Owner of King of Mount Mauveglow

Sure enough, the card reader emitted an electronic voice.

"Dear owner of Mauveglow Villa 1, hello and welcome back home."

The security guard immediately broke out in a cold sweat.

It turned out to be the owner of Mauveglow Villa 1!

Are all the big shots so low-key now?

Living in such a top-notch mansion, he even drove a Land Rover worth hundreds of thousands! Since its construction, the owner of Mauveglow Villa 1 has never appeared in Zone 1 of Mauveglow Villas for so many years. Legend has it that the owner of Mauveglow Villa 1 was a mysterious and unpredictable figure. Today, he unexpectedly appeared in front of the security guard.

He almost said the wrong thing just now, which made him break out in a cold sweat instantly.

The security guard calmed himself down a little from the shock and hurriedly ran back to the car. With respectful hands, he handed the Leopard Card to Robin.

“Sorry, sir. You have been waiting for a long time. Please take your access card.”

Seeing such a scene, Crystal was even more shocked.

Mauveglow Villas, and it was in Zone 1!

This was Hallcester’s most exclusive wealthy district.

Only the top billionaires and top tycoons can afford to live here.

In Zone 1, there were only five villas!

The Mauveglow Villa 1, located at the peak of Mount Mauveglow, was renowned as the King of Mount Mauveglow. The owner of this villa, like a puzzle, had been speculated by the people of Hallcester for many years. And Robin was actually the owner of King of Mount Mauveglow!

What happened?

Wasn't he the man who was torn apart by Miranda and left homeless without a marriage proposal? How could a man who was considered a joke by the people of Hallcester live in such a top-notch villa? That’s just how reality is.

Robin didn’t deceive me, his home was indeed in Mauveglow Villas!

“What's with that expression on your face?” Robin looked at Crystal’s shocked expression and pouted. Crystal awkwardly smiled and apologized, “So, your home is actually here.”

“When did | ever deceive you?” Robin chuckled lightly.

Then, | looked at Crystal, who was disheveled, and asked, “Are you sure you want to come in with me?” Chapter 48 The Owner of King of Mount Mauveglow

Crystal was taken aback, “Are you suggesting that | go back alone. now?”

"In the desolate wilderness, at three o'clock in the morning, I drove your car back alone? It's amazing that you can even say that!"

"Exactly!" Robin nodded, "Living here is also possible."

"However, let me make it clear first, don't have any inappropriate thoughts about me, I am not a casual person." "Ah?" Crystal looked at Robin, who said this with a serious expression, and it completely overturned her worldview! Damn it, I was worried that you had inappropriate thoughts about me!

Robin drove the Land Rover to the front of Mauveglow Villa 1 and opened the mansion gate with the Leopard Card. The private smart voice system in the villa greeted immediately, "Master Robin, verification passed."

"We respectfully welcomed the owner to Mauveglow Villa 1."

Crystal was completely certain at this moment that Robin was indeed the owner of Mauveglow Villa 1.

Lost in these messy thoughts, the intelligent voice system spoke again, "Master, please pay attention to the woman beside you. She seems to have a lot of thoughts about you. Danger level: B!"

Robin and Crystal both froze.

Looking at the electronic eye of the access card, I looked at the other person.

Crystal blurted out without thinking, "This can actually be recognized?"

Robin was instantly stunned, "Did you start having ulterior motives since last night when you offered me a ride?" Crystal angrily kicked Robin and said, "You believe in this nonsense too?"

"I was just unsettled by the race car that happened earlier."

"It measured my accelerated heartbeat, which made it suspect me."

"Damn it, what thoughts could I have about you when I am a stunning beauty? You wish!"

“Alright, that explanation seems reasonable,” Robin ignored Crystal and walked straight towards the villa.

Walking into the living room, Robin pointed to several rooms on the first floor and said, “I am not familiar with the arrangement of these rooms here, you can take a look yourself.”

“You lived on the first floor, it didn’t matter. You could live in whichever room you liked.”

Robin glanced at Crystal and said, “However, there may not be any clothes here for you to change into.” Crystal hesitated, “Can I go out tomorrow with these tattered clothes on me?”

“Ah, in a high-end villa area like this, there should be clothing stores nearby, right?”

Robin frowned, “I’m not sure. Let’s wait until it’s daylight to discuss it.”

“But how can I change now? I can’t just take a bath and stay naked in bed all the time!”

“If that were the case, I would be afraid of what you would do to me...”

“Stop!” Robin said in a deep voice. “It didn’t happen!”

Looking at Crystal’s appearance, he shook his head and said, “You are such a troublesome woman.” Afterwards, a message was sent to Cecilia.

At the same time, Crystal was also captured in the camera and sent together.

“Alright, half an hour later, someone will bring two sets of clothes to you.”

“Oh, then thanks.” Crystal replied absentmindedly.

However, the gaze was strongly attracted by the luxurious facilities inside the villa!

This is the real rich person!

Just the interior decoration and facilities alone were worth over ten billion!

The overall value of this villa was estimated to be at least four billion.

Four billion!

Even if she had three times all the assets of her family, she still couldn't afford such a sky-high mansion!

"You can see for yourself, I'm going to bed after washing up," Robin ignored Crystal standing in the first-floor lobby, and went straight upstairs.

In the midst of shock, Crystal looked at Robin's back and sighed deeply.

Miranda, it seems like you were really blind.

You actually said that the fiancé of such a super genius is a low-level loser?

You kept saying over and over again that Robin and you were not on the same level!

Did they say he could never compare to Jacob? Did they say he was just a brute?

You actually despised him, mocked him, and even called off the wedding, the super diamond man who came to your door. Your mother, Miranda, you are really blind!

Now, I fully understand why Karina didn't discount his words at all.

Even Conway's changes, now that I think about it, were because of Robin!

You said Robin and you were not on the same level, and that's true!

Even if the Brown family had struggled for generations, they couldn't catch up with Robin, who was worth a fortune. Crystal was amazed by the luxury in front of her.

Thinking that if one day.

Miranda would see that Robin lived in this villa!

The Mauveglow Villa 1, which made the people of Hallcester look up in awe!

What kind of idea would that be?

Robin took a few steps and felt Crystal staring blankly at his back.

“What are you looking at? Don’t worry, someone will deliver your freshly washed clothes soon.”

“Wait a moment, just have them put the clothes in the storage cabinet outside the door, and you can retrieve them yourself.”

Watching Robin’s casual appearance, Crystal suddenly felt a bit ashamed and embarrassed, shyly avoiding his gaze.

Robin looked at Crystal’s strange expression and furrowed his brows slightly. “Don’t have any concerns, I didn’t have any thoughts about you.”

Crystal was instantly confused!

No matter what, I was still a beauty with a great figure and a pretty face!

This man actually said that he had no feelings for me?!

This is fucking hurtful to my self-esteem!

However, thinking about the experience of spending a day with this guy, it was just this straightforward and direct. Forget it, considering he was the owner of Mauveglow Villa 1, I won’t argue with him!

“Can I visit this villa?”

Looking around at the unfamiliar decoration and arrangement, Crystal’s eyes sparkled.

It is impossible not to be curious about the extremely mysterious Mauveglow Villa 1

Since it was such an honor to come here, it would be a pity not to wander around and take a look.

Robin seemed puzzled by Crystal's question: "Just a villa, what's there to visit?"

"Just a villa? Fuck your mother!" Crystal exploded with foul language as soon as she heard these words.

Avilla worth three to four billion!

Mauveglow Villa 1, which was regarded as a myth by the people of Hallcester!

Is it just a villa in your mouth?

Looking at Crystal still in a daze, Robin shook his head and said, "Alright, if you're not tired, go ahead and enjoy the visit!" After Robin went upstairs.

Crystal opened every room in the villa and looked through them one by one, feeling amazed and envious. Looking at the luxurious decoration of Mauveglow Villa 1, | suddenly felt that the past twenty years had been in vain.

Although being in a quasi-first-class family like the Thompsons, they considered themselves to be a relatively wealthy family in Hallcester.

However, compared to the Mauveglow Villas where Robin was, the living conditions | used to live in were just a slum. | was marveling at the wealth and luxury inside Mauveglow Villa 1.

At this moment, the doorbell of the villa rang.

"It must be the person who came to deliver clean clothes for her," Crystal muttered to herself.

Looking at the time, it was almost 4 o'clock in the morning.

Robin told her that there was no need to open the door to take the clothes.

The person who delivers the clothes will put it directly in the storage cabinet outside the front door.

The storage cabinet had an automatic transportation setting, which could be used to open and retrieve items from inside the villa. So late, who would be so dedicated to deliver two sets of clothes to the peak of Mount Mauveglow?

Curiosity drove her to run to the monitor and look outside.

She was instantly shocked when she saw two people standing at the door.

How could it be Cecilia and Livia?

How did they come to Robin's villa?

Chapter 49

Chapter 49 Impossible

In an instant, the chaotic and tangled information overwhelmed Crystal's mind. She couldn't figure out the connection between them no matter how hard she tried! Livia rang the doorbell but there was no response for a while.

"Mr. Bruce, the two sets of ladies' clothes you requested have been delivered in their entirety. Please open the door, or if it is inconvenient, we can wait outside."

Huh?

The person who sent clothes to her, Crystal, turned out to be Purpeak Queen, Cecilia! Was this an illusion?

Crystal was trembling nervously!

The arrogant and glamorous Purpeak Queen, the enchanting goddess that Hallcester, the young master of the upper-class aristocratic family, admired and pursued.

Would actually drive to the peak of Mount Mauveglow at four in the morning because of a message from Robin, to deliver clothes to Crystal?

No one would believe it if you told anyone about such a thing!

Crystal suppressed her almost insane emotions, held her breath, and dared not make any sound.

Looking at the devout Cecilia in front of the villa, her heart was about to burst!

Half a minute later, the smart butler voice system in the villa replied, "Put the things in the storage cabinet, you can leave!" Cecilia was disappointed upon hearing the response from the intelligent system.

Livia had no choice but to gesture to put the clothes into the storage cabinet and open the voice message system. With an extremely humble and respectful expression, he said, "Mr. Bruce, we won't disturb you."

With that, Cecilia bowed and bid farewell to Livia, leaving in front of the villa.

Crystal was completely shocked as she looked at Cecilia and Livia outside the door, who were both extremely respectful from beginning to end.

If Miranda saw such a scene, | wonder how she would react!

After chasing the queen for five years, she surprisingly allowed Robin to command her like a maid.

Miranda and the entire Brown family, however, completely squandered the great opportunity that was presented to them. Crystal thought of this and smiled bitterly.

God played a huge joke!

At this moment, she seemed to be able to see the miserable and

Chapter 49 impossible

regretful expressions of Miranda and the Brown family.

Many people, when they despise and humiliate others, do not realize that the true clown is actually themselves. Crystal was feeling restless and had no interest in visiting the villa at the moment.

Took out the clothes from the locker.

The clothes Cecilia brought were very complete, ranging from underwear to outerwear, jackets, and pajamas, everything was there.

Looking at these neatly folded clothes, Crystal chuckled self- deprecatingly.

| quickly entered the bathroom, took a hot shower, changed into pajamas, and lay down on the comfortable big bed. Despite being exhausted from the fright, | couldn't fall asleep no matter what.

Finally, | managed to make it to 6 o'clock in the morning.

She couldn't resist taking a few photos of the bedroom she was staying in.

Outside the window, there was the picturesque view of the peak of Mount Mauveglow, which could be faintly seen in the distance, with the blue mist enveloping Crescent Lake.

A few days ago, there were several heavy snowfalls, and the white snow on the mountaintop had not completely melted yet. | couldn't sleep, so | decided to do something on a whim.

Crystal took many photos of the scenery outside the villa.

Chapter 4 possible

Miranda, it's time to wake up now. Send her a few pictures to stimulate her.

Crystal immediately opened Line and picked a few to send to her.

"Miranda, guess where | am? You will never guess, hahaha..."

After a while, Miranda's reply was received.

"Crystal, you pulled another prank early in the morning, didn't you?"

Didn't | realize that all these photos of Mauveglow Villas were downloaded from the internet? That was the life | longed for.

The biggest dream of my life was to become a woman like Cecilia.

Living in Mauveglow Villa 1, she lived a queen-like life.

Several years later, standing at the King of Mount Mauveglow, overlooking the scenery by Crescent Lake, it would be such a wonderful thing.

To be able to live to this extent is what truly counts as living! Crystal looked at the Line message sent by Miranda and felt a sense of melancholy in her heart. Miranda, the dream you may have pursued for a lifetime.

When Robin approached you with the engagement ring, you could easily fulfill it.

But you, unfortunately, turned a blind eye and tore apart the happiness that was right in front of you.

“Miranda, I told you, perhaps you really don’t believe it, but I was inside Mauveglow Villa 1 right now.”

Chapter 49 Impossible

And, just two hours ago, this set of pajamas on me was given to me by Cecilia.

Miranda sent a laughing emoji.

You haven't even woken up yet, you woman!

“Miranda, I was telling the truth. If you don’t believe me, let’s video chat and you will see that I am not deceiving you.”

With that, Crystal immediately flipped out of bed, opened the floor—to- ceiling window, and live—streamed herself with Mount Mauveglow and Crescent Lake in the background.

“Miranda, can you see this? I am currently at a place, streaming a video to you from Mauveglow Villa 1.”

“Wait a moment, I will livestream videos to you from the villa’s living room and outside the villa’s door.”

Crystal opened the bedroom door and walked all the way from the living room to the outside of the villa.

A private swimming pool, four large flower beds, and a gazebo...

“Did Miranda see it? This is part of the scenery inside Mauveglow Villa 1. I’m not lying to you, I am right here in this villa.” What will surprise you even more is, guess who the owner of this Mauveglow Villa 1 is?

It was Robin, from your ex-fiancé’s family.

Miranda sent a hilarious set of emojis.

Chapter 49 Impossible

“Crystal, did you take the wrong medication this morning? Why are you so excited and sending me these boring things?” “What were you doing?”

At this moment, Robin walked out of the villa and saw Crystal making exaggerated expressions and striking poses. Crystal was taken aback and quickly turned the camera towards Robin.

“Miranda, did you see? Who is this man?”

Chapter 50

Chapter 50 How Dare You! Miranda saw Robin’s figure walking in from a distance and she sneered.

“Crystal, tell that disgusting man that he thinks showing me a prop in the film city would make me think highly of him. How boring!”

Was he the owner of Mauveglow Villa 1? Impossible in the next life!

“I’m not chatting with you anymore. I will be visiting Nathen with Mr. Walsh later, so you guys can play by yourselves!”

Crystal stared blankly at the Line video chat page.

She couldn't figure it out no matter how hard she tried.

| have already live-streamed the scenery inside and outside Mauveglow Villa 1 to Miranda.

However, Miranda just didn't believe it. Go ahead, if you want.

Maybe you two really didn't have any fate.

"Let's go, hurry up and get ready to go out for breakfast. There's no one here to cook for you." Robin urged.

Crystal angrily gave Robin a glare and said, "Hmph, | thought you would have prepared breakfast and waited for me to wake up."

"It would be nice enough for me to let you stay here for one night. Hurry up and pack your things, I'll go get the car and return it to you! There's nothing between us anymore."

Crystal exclaimed, "What do you mean? Am | that annoying?"

Chapter 50 How Dare You!

Robin looked at Crystal and said, "Are you still clinging onto me?"

Hurry up and leave! If you don't leave now, you'll have to run down the mountain yourself."

Speaking, Robin had already opened the car door and started the Land Rover.

Crystal panicked and hurriedly grabbed her clothes, chasing after him. She scrambled onto the car, rolling and crawling. "How come you, as a man, didn't know how to cherish and appreciate women?"

"Is the IOU still in your possession?" Robin ignored her and asked.

"I'm here, I've been keeping well. What do you want?" Crystal exclaimed in astonishment.

"Are you really going to ask Dewey's brother for a Porsche?"

"Did Dewey still own all the shares in the Cox Group?"

Robin nodded, "Yeah, why wouldn't | risk my life for something | gambled on?"

“Moreover, I still owed you a Porsche.”

“Robin, I know you did this because of my brother,” Crystal said gratefully, her voice choked with emotion. “I am really touched by the way you did this for me.”

Robin glanced at the excited Crystal and said, “You’re overthinking it, I just wanted to save some money.” “You!” Crystal glared at Robin angrily. “Can’t you say something to cheer me up?”

Chapter 50 How Dare You

Robin snorted lightly, “Why should I have to cheer you up?”

Crystal was completely speechless in the face of such emotionally unintelligent man.

Fuck your mother! I’m so pissed off!

“Phew!” Crystal let out a long sigh of relief.

I didn’t care. I was used to this kind of man.

Hoping that he would say a pleasing word, I was overjoyed.

Crystal comforted herself in her mind and felt much better.

“Robin, I was actually feeling a bit hungry now.”

“I remember there was a Royalty Café downhill, and there was also a buffet not far from it.”

“Which place are you taking me to for breakfast?”

Robin thought for a moment, “Royalty Café.”

“The youtiao stall across from Royalty Café is good. Have a bowl of douhua, eat two youtiao, and dip them in some sauce.” “You have been living in this place, and you still take me to eat fried dough sticks from street vendors?” Crystal exclaimed angrily. Robin had no expression and said, “What’s wrong with street food? If you don’t want to eat it, that’s fine!” “Bang!” Just as I stepped out of the Mauveglow Villas’ gate, a red Pagani crashed into me from behind. Crystal was startled and looked in the rearview mirror, exclaiming angrily.

“That Pagani forcefully overtook and rear—ended us, it seems like the bumper of our Land Rover at the back got knocked off? Let's make her compensate!”

Robin glanced at the monitoring screen of the car and said, “It's a minor issue, let's not waste any more time.” He pulled the car to one side, waved his hand, and wanted Pagani to pass by from the side.

Pagani roared from behind and stood in front of the Land Rover.

A woman's face emerged from the red Pagani.

Robin waved his hand and said, “It's okay, you can go!”

The woman walked out of Pagani and pointed at Robin, cursing, “How the hell did you drive, you idiot?”

“There was a broken Land Rover blocking my way in this area, how is it possible? Do you know how much my newly bought Pagani cost? Can you afford to compensate?”

The woman looked at her beloved car and gritted her teeth in anguish.

“Damn it, we encountered a scammer. It was clearly her who rear- ended our car from behind, and yet you still tried to reason with her?”

Crystal pushed open the car door and angrily exclaimed at the woman. “Hmph! Just by looking at you, I can tell that you are here for a visit. Don't even bother to reflect on your own behavior!”

The woman disdainfully glanced at Crystal and said, “Driving this crappy Land Rover, and still daring to wander around Mauveglow Villas!”

“Is this kind of place also accessible to people like you?”

After saying that, he pointed at several security guards and shouted, “I want to complain about your property management! How can you allow this broken car to drive around at the entrance of our villa area!”

“Do you know that letting them wander around, taking pictures, even the owners in our villa area felt embarrassed!” The security guard in front of the villa area knew that this woman lived in Zone 3 of the villa.

Although they cannot compare to the status of the owners in Zone 1 and Zone 2, at least those who can live in this villa area are not to be trifled with.

Robin sat in the car, watching the woman’s arrogant demeanor from beginning to end, too lazy to bother with her.

A three million dollars broken Pagani is showing off like this. If I were to drive a five million dollars car, damn, I would walk sideways!

He stuck his head out of the car window and said indifferently, “Alright, it’s just a broken car. So, how much money do you need for compensation?”

Crystal was unwilling, “How come we have to pay? It was clearly her who crashed into us...”

Robin interrupted her directly and impatiently said, “Alright, what’s the point of wasting time with someone like this? We won’t be able to have youtiao if we delay any longer.”

Oh my god! Just for the sake of eating a youtiao, I have to pay her hundreds of thousands in repair fees? What a wasteful thing! The woman who owns the Pagani heard Robin’s impatient words and shouted, “You will compensate me for the car? Do you know how much my car is worth? I just bought it two days ago for 3.8 million! Even a small collision, you cannot afford the repair costs! You poor people, yet you still have such an attitude!” Crystal heard this and was unwilling: “Clearly it’s your fault, yet you still have the nerve to argue. You seem to have a lot of money, but why do you act like a shrew?”

“Did you dare to call me a shrew?” The woman raised her hand and slapped Crystal across the face.

But he was caught by Robin, who got out of the car.

“Call you a shrew, I even elevated you, speaking a few words of reason to you, and you fucking started barking like a dog!” Robin coldly said, “Don’t want to settle with money, huh? Fine, we’ll settle it your way!”

As the words fell, Robin slapped the woman across the face.

The rude and unreasonable woman was instantly stunned.

She never expected that Robin, who seemed kind and friendly, would suddenly start hitting her.

“You, how dare you hit a woman? You fucking dare to hit me! Today...”

“Smack!” Robin coldly slapped again, “What’s wrong with hitting you? What do you want to do today? You're delaying my breakfast of fried dough sticks, and you're still getting excited!”

Crystal was instantly stunned.

He was really rude!

The woman stared at Robin like she was going crazy, “Alright, you have guts, just you wait!”

After saying that, he took out his phone and said, “Dad, I was beaten by a loser at the entrance of the villa area! Hurry up and come!”

The security guard in the villa area saw this scene and knew that things had escalated.

They were well aware that those who could live in Mauveglow Villas, whether in Zone 1, Zone 2, or Zone 3, were wealthy and influential individuals.

If they couldn’t coordinate well, several security guards on duty might also have been fired.

Several security guards immediately reported to the headquarters of Mauveglow Security.

Security was maintained at Mauveglow Villas.

It has always been managed by a security company under Cecilia’s Purpeak International Group.

Mauveglow Security was created solely by Leonel.

Terrence Boyd, the manager of a security company, was a foreign mercenary by origin and was thirty-eight years old.

There has never been a violent incident in the villa area under his jurisdiction.

While the security guard was reporting to headquarters, the woman who was driving the Pagani also finished her phone call.

She glared at Robin and Crystal with hatred, "You will pay for this! Do you know who my father is? My father is acquainted with Mr.

Boyd and Mr. Horne from Mauveglow Security..."

Robin took out a wet wipe and wiped his hands. "I don't want to argue with you. It would be best if you moved your car, otherwise..."

The woman almost shouted angrily, "Are you implying that I didn't give way? Do you dare to hit my car?"
