Chapter 461 You Have to Help Me

Hugo quickly pulled Marlene towards the exit, not daring to delay even for a moment.

Alice's clamor gave him a headache.

He needed to leave this source of trouble as soon as possible, the faster the better.

What kind of big shot did this couple, Alice, offend!

The other party had already revealed their identity, yet she still recklessly continued to cause trouble!

Not knowing fear, not knowing when to advance or retreat, was inviting a major disaster!

Listening to Alice's insane-like screams in the hotel lobby, Hugo just shook his head.

This woman from the Howell family, she was so arrogant, willful and capricious!

No matter what channel you used, you have already become a professor now

Why is there still no scholarly cultivation at all?

This was all because the old man from the Howell family had spoiled him since he was a child!

Chapter 461 You Have to Help Me

She thought she was the boss of this world, and everything had to revolve according to her will.

Little did you know, there are plenty of impressive people in this world, they can't all tolerate your capricious behavior.

Even if the Howell family was wealthier, they were still just a nearly top-tier family in Hashville.

Even if it was the top family in the country, so what?

Within the three realms, there was ultimately a limit after all.

Alice saw Hugo and Marlene run out of the hotel like they were avoiding the plague, grinding her teeth in anger: "You bunch of snobs, once the Howell family has dealt with this matter, I will expose all your deeds!"

"If I don't ruin you completely, then I'm not Ms. Howell!"

Hugo was taken aback. "This old woman must be crazy! She's in her forties or fifties, she can't possibly still think she's the Ms. Howell from back then, can she?"

"You just keep acting tough, refusing to bow to authority, it's a sure way to get yourself killed!"

Alice made a fuss for a while, but no one paid attention to her.

Only then did I notice that there were hardly any people left in the hotel lobby.

Besides Robin and others, there were only Warren, Clay, and Mack, along with over a hundred other henchmen.

She quickly ran up to the expressionless Mack, "Mack, Mack, why haven't you started yet!"

A fierce struggle was taking place in Mack's mind.

The actions of Warren, Clay, and Hugo had clearly told him that the person in room 403 was absolutely untouchable.

People of Hugo's status were so revered by that young man.

What the hell was he, Mack?

Even if he was extremely wealthy and well-connected, at most he could only be considered a thug who mingled in the underworld and society.

Despite having many brothers in hand.

However, if the military were to eradicate them under the guise of counter-terrorism and crackdown on crime, it would be a justifiable, open and aboveboard, and lawful military action.

Once labeled as a terrorist and gangster, Mack would be beyond redemption.

Alice noticed Mack was constantly lost in thought, she grabbed his arm and shook it vigorously, "Mack, what are you hesitating about?"

"They didn't stand up for us, we handled it ourselves!"

"What's the big deal? They're just a few greenhorns from Hallcester. With so many of you, are you really afraid of them?"

Mack pulled Alice's hand away, "Sister-in-law, you're confused! Can't you see the situation in front of you?"

"People of Hugo's status had to listen to that guy called Robin, which really shows that he was a big shot in the military!"

"Did you think the Tran family could stand up against the state machinery?"

"I had self-awareness. No matter how rich I, Mack, was, in the end, I was just a bottom-rung person in society."

"I went to confront them, if things escalated, we were the ones to be beheaded!"

"Sister-in-law, we should keep our heads down. There are some people we simply cannot afford to provoke!"

Alice was stunned.

She hadn't realized that Mr. Mack, the boss of the black zone in Mapleford, had always been lawless.

He actually said such a cowardly thing today!

"Mack, what do you mean? You want me to bow down to that scum? The Howell family can't afford to lose that person!"

Mack sighed, "Sister-in-law, it's not just about losing face, it's about losing our lives!"

Before Mack could finish, Alice snorted coldly, "The Howell family could make the whole Hashville shake with just a stomp of their foot.

He's nothing but a dog of the Huber family from Hallcester. What can he do to me?!"

"Mack, were you going to make a move or not?"

Mack looked at the eerily quiet hotel lobby, a pang of fear gripping his heart, "Sister-in-law, I... I don't want to die."

"Fine! None of you are willing to stand up for me, I'll find someone myself!"

Suddenly, Alice's first love, Luther Erickson, popped into her mind.

A chief director of the Legal Department at Hashville TV Station.

After graduating from university, there had been no contact for over a decade.

Reunited at the alumni meeting last year.

The two were like tinder and flame, reigniting their past passion as soon as they met.

Over the past year, almost every week has been tumultuous for him.

The thought of Luther's affectionate demeanor towards her made her heart pound.

Luther had once thumped his chest in assurance.

As long as Alice suffered any grievances, he would definitely use his status as the uncrowned king to settle them for her!

Alice gave a cold laugh, “I don’t believe that I can’t deal with you guys through the power of media and public opinion!”

Thinking of this, she immediately dialed Luther’s number: “Luther, sob sob sob, I miss you...”

“You...where were you? I...I was being bullied at the Hashville Hotel.”

“You had many expert friends in the news media industry, you had to help me.”

A comforting male voice came from the other end of the phone, “Darling, don’t cry. I’ll be there soon. Rest assured, if anyone bullies you, I will use the power of public opinion to blast him to death!”

Chapter 462 It’s a Misunderstanding

Mack glanced at Alice’s flirtatious demeanor, full of spring-like charm in her eyes, and curled his lip.

Was it that first love, Luther, from the TV station again?

Damn it!

These cultured people really disgusted me!

Haven’t seen each other for a decade or two, and you became inseparable just from a reunion?

Decades ago, during our first love, why didn’t we stay faithful and walk together till the end!

After many years apart, did our feelings return just from sharing a drink?

Who would believe that!

They were just using the banner of nostalgia to satisfy each other’s animalistic pleasure and stimulation.

Mack sneered as he watched Alice continue her reckless behavior.

Damn it! Go ahead, do whatever you want, I didn’t want to die!

He quickly ran up to Robin, “Mr. Bruce, today’s incident was a complete misunderstanding, I didn’t know you were...”

“Back off!” Timothy immediately pushed him away,

Grady and the others coldly blocked his way.

Mack understood that today’s anti–terrorism operation was aimed at his over a hundred armed henchmen.

Looking back at Clay and Warren behind Robin, filled with extreme regret.

Why didn’t I listen to their advice back then!

The situation has escalated to this point and it’s really impossible to end it now.

At that moment, Alice rushed over, saying coldly, “Kid, let me tell you, even if you brought heavenly soldiers and generals today, I wouldn’t be afraid of you!”

“My classmate Luther, who is now the chief director of the legal program at the provincial television station, knew many celebrities in the media industry.”

“He would be bringing the TV station’s reporter over in a moment.”

Robin gave a cold laugh, “Oh, your classmate is so impressive?”

“A media person with questionable character, still wanted to uphold justice for society?”

“Could this kind of person actually be a director of law enforcement?”

“I bet he absolutely wouldn’t stand up for you.”

Chapter 462 It’s a Misunderstanding

“Even if he dared to stand up for you, he didn’t have the ability to defeat. me!”

Alice chuckled, "A frog at the bottom of the well!"

"Do you know what the most terrifying thing in a society with people is?"

"Before you were crucified by public opinion, I, as a university professor, used my advanced intellectual thinking to enlighten you.

"The most terrifying thing was not fists or power, but public opinion!"

"My classmate was an elite figure in the media industry, he could literally blast you to death with public opinion!"

"You little thing, not even fully grown, today I will show you the power of knowledge!"

"I don't care who you are," my classmate had said, "I will use all the power of public opinion to help me vent this anger!"

"Hehe, you want to bully me, Alice? Open your eyes and see, just how much weight do you carry!"

Ted, lying on the ground, had already figured out what was going on and suddenly exploded in anger, "Alice, you bitch, you're hooking up with that Luther again!"

"I warned you long ago, not to associate with him anymore, you... you're still messing around with him!"

Alice raged, "Shut your damn mouth, Ted! You're out there messing around and you dare to criticize me!"

"I played with whoever I liked, it's none of your damn business!"

"You came from a poor background, without the support of the Howell family, you were nothing..."

Warren hastily interrupted, "Don't mention the Howell family, the Howell family doesn't have someone like you!"

"You still can't represent the Howell family now!" Alice chuckled.

Warren angrily rebuked, "The old man is already dead. I am now the head of the Howell family! The Howell family has no place for a disgrace like you!"

Alice's face turned ashen. "Alright, alright, all of you just wait, my dear classmate will be here soon!"

"Ted, I was going to expose your ugly appearance along with him!"

"After this incident, I divorced you immediately!"

"Ugh!" Grady and the others almost threw up.

Women in their forties, constantly talking about their first loves and calling them 'darling', it disgusts me to death!

Rebecca was awakened by the noise in the room.

She looked at the scene before her, a wave of dizziness washing over her.

Wasn't this crazy woman Ted's wife, Alice?

Chapter 462 It's a Misunderstanding

Ms. Howell, the once fashionable belle of Hashville State in those years.

Why was her face swollen like a pig's head?

Was it also hit by Robin?

"Wait for it!" Alice pointed at Robin..

"Today, when my first love classmate arrives, you all will be begging for mercy!"

In the midst of speaking. Alice suddenly caught sight of Rebecca, who had just woken up. "You wretched woman, if it weren't for you, how could such a trashy thing have happened today?"

She grabbed Rebecca's hair and started to beat her face mercilessly.

Rebecca was hit until she was dizzy: "Ms. Howell, you....you...you listen to me, this was all Crystal's idea..."

"What the hell are you talking about!" Alice exploded in anger, "You and that old bastard Ted are both up to no good!"

"You little wretch, just wait! Once I'm done with this matter today, if I don't make your life miserable, then I'm not Ms. Howell!"

Rebecca defended herself vehemently, “Ms. Howell, it was Crystal who asked me to contact your husband. Mr. Tran was just doing business, it was Crystal who seduced him!”

Crystal gave a bitter laugh, “Rebecca, you’re really shameless!”

At that moment, there was a commotion outside.

Chapter 462 It’s a Misunderstanding

“Let me in, I was the chief director of the legal program at the provincial television station!”

A man in his forties, accompanied by several journalists carrying photography equipment, rushed in.

Chapter 463 First Love

The provincial police officers stationed outside the hotel, after checking Luther’s press pass, let him through.

Luther rushed into the hotel lobby, impatiently shouting, “Alice, Alice! Where are you?”

Upon hearing Luther’s affectionate call, a youthful, blissful smile suddenly spread across Alice’s old face, covered in thick foundation.

Flew out like a little bird: “Darling, darling. I’m here!”

In the process of hurriedly running, the high heels on my feet twisted a bit.

“This damn shoe!” She angrily kicked off a high-heeled shoe, and barefoot, she stormed up to Luther.

After a slight hesitation, she threw herself into his arms and began to sob.

“Darling, I’ve finally waited for you! Sob sob sob...”

“Those villains bullied me, you must avenge me today! Crush them with public opinion!”

Luther held Alice, tenderly stroking her trembling shoulders, “It’s okay, Alice. I’m here now, leave everything to me. No one dares to bully you with me around!”

“Which villain bullied you, I would make them an enemy of the people immediately.”

“They would never settle down in their lifetime!”

Alice nodded happily in Luther’s arms.

“Um, Luther, you’ve been the best to me! I really wish I could be with you forever.

Luther pointed at several photographers and an anchor, “You guys go quickly, capture all the videos! Both the scene and the report!”

“I was determined to expose the despicable acts of these evil forces bullying a senior intellectual to the world!”

“Let the whole society condemn them together!”

“I didn’t care about this person’s identity, his despicable behavior had to be exposed!”

A proud smile spread across Alice’s face.

“Processes, it’s them!” She pointed at Robin and Crystal, “You...you just wait to be blasted by public opinion!”

Before Luther had a chance to speak, an assistant rushed up to him, “Mr. Erickson, a call from Mr. Reyes.”

“Mr. Reyes on the phone? Why is Mr. Reyes calling me now?” Luther asked his assistant, glancing at him.

The assistant director of the TV station whispered, “Mr. Erickson, our station just received a notice from the provincial government’s

Chapter 463

Department of Justice. The entire province’s judicial, police, industrial and commercial, tax, and education departments carried out joint law enforcement overnight.”

“The target of this law enforcement action was the Tran family from Mapleford.”

“Several departments had already obtained the criminal evidence against the Tran family and were going to seal off all the Tran family’s businesses within and outside the province!”

Luther was taken aback, “What happened to the Tran family?”

The assistant whispered, “The Tran family was involved in organized crime, bribed department leaders, manipulated the stock market, and illegally defrauded public capital, among other illegal activities.”

“Ted, the president of Tran Pharmaceuticals, was accused over the years of heinous crimes such as deception, rape, and harm against female college students, female celebrities, female entrepreneurs, and others.”

“And helped his wife Alice to fake her education, forge her thesis, and through various bribes, she entered the school to teach, and obtained the position of a professor.”

Luther looked at Alice’s retreating figure and immediately broke out in a cold sweat.

The scale of the provincial government’s action was so large.

It could be inferred that the Tran family must have offended some extremely prestigious figure!

“They were going to conduct an anti–terrorism military operation here tonight.”

“What I meant was, it would be best if we avoided this, just in case...”

Luther’s heart skipped a beat!

His eyes were rolling wildly in their sockets as he nodded solemnly.

“Assistant Fang, you’re right! You’re absolutely right!”

“Mr. Reyes’ call came just in time! This is no small matter, if I had chosen the wrong side, my efforts of over twenty years would have been completely wasted!”

Luther took a deep breath and said coldly. “You guys, step back immediately!”

The journalist who was about to go and interview Robin and others immediately stopped in his tracks.

Returned to Luther with the photography equipment on my shoulder.

“Mr. Erickson, aren’t we going to have the interview?”

Luther nodded, “Return to the designated safe zone at the police station immediately!”

“Mr. Reyes just personally called to inform that an anti–terrorism military operation is about to take place here, we have other tasks as well.”

“Uh... Now reporting the topic, immediately switch to exposing the illegal and criminal activities of the Tran family involved in the underworld!”

Upon hearing this, Alice was taken aback and slowly turned around.

“Luther, you...what do you mean? I didn’t hear wrong, did you say you’re going to report on the Tran family?”

“Weren’t you here to help me deal with those scumbags, Robin and Crystal?”

Luther said solemnly, “Prof. Howell, I’m sorry, but I have other important reporting tasks right now and need to leave immediately. I don’t have time to help you with your matter.”

Alice was immediately confused, “Luther, what do you mean? Didn’t you just tell me that you would definitely deal with those who bullied me? Now you’re telling me that you don’t have time to help me?”

“Moreover, you even reported the illegal activities of the Tran family. Who exactly are you helping?”

Luther said coldly, “Alice, when did I ever say that I would help you deal with someone?”

“I was a media professional, I had the professional ethics of a media person.”

“The duty of media professionals was to stand on the side of the most just and fair in society, to serve our citizens and contribute to our socialOriginal development. Punishing evil and promoting good was the most basic professional quality of us media professionals.”

“I wasn’t your personal bodyguard or thug, how could our TV station possibly take action against those you claimed were bullying you, just for you?”

“Your matter will be explained by the relevant department!”

Alice was completely confused!

The first love, Luther, who was in front of me.

He was all over her at the class reunion last year.

Why did it suddenly become so unfamiliar today?

Chapter 464 You’re a Hypocrite!

Still remember the class reunion last year.

Upon seeing her, Luther, who had not been able to contact her for many years, was like a parched firewood, yearning for her as if he had been starved for a century.

At the reunion, the two people were practically glued together from start to finish.

Later, they simply checked into a hotel and stayed together for three days and three nights.

The two recounted their separation of nearly two decades as if the sky. had darkened and the earth had dimmed.

Luther told her while holding her in bed.

In the years since he parted from her, he had loved no one but Alice, including his current wife.

Luther’s sweet talk moved Alice, who had been numb for many years, as if she were a sixteen or seventeen-year-old girl.

They were grateful that after their separation, fate had given them another chance to reunite and continue their previous relationship.

They made a pact, in order not to harm their current families and social images, they agreed to only interact privately and never separate until death.

Chapter 464 You're a Hypochle

But, the look on Luther's face at that moment was so terrifying, so chilling!

Every week when he was making love with her, he wished he could run away with her to the ends of the earth, abandon his wife at home, and rekindle the beautiful love they had when they were young.

What happened now?

If that was the case, who could I, paralyzed in this world, still believe in?

Alice said irritably, "Luther, are you joking with me?"

"Two nights ago, when we were in the hotel room, you kept telling me that you would always treat me well and never leave me."

"What do you mean? Were y mean? Were you going to fall out with me over your professional ethics?"

Luther became agitated immediately, "Alice, stop talking nonsense, when did I ever book a hotel room with you?"

"I never told you either, that I would make a solemn pledge of love with you to travel to the ends of the earth?"

"That was all in your imagination, wasn't it?"

"Look at how old you are now, still talking about love, aren't you afraid of embarrassing yourself by saying it out loud!"

"As a married woman, how could you say such things? Don't you. feel ashamed?"

Alice finally understood that Luther had been playing games with her from the very beginning!

“I have no shame? Luther, you are nothing but a sanctimonious hypocrite!”

“How did you speak to me at the reunion last year?”

“You said that missing me that year was equivalent to missing the most beautiful love in this life.”

“They said that meeting again after more than a decade was fate given to us by God.”

“I was moved then, I believed, and I gave you thirty million to put on a show!”

“I actually believed you, Luther, I believed your damn lies!”

“Luther, you bastard, you’re nothing but a liar, a scoundrel!”

At that moment, a cameraman from the television station forgot to turn off his live broadcast equipment.

All of Luther and Alice’s words were broadcast live.

At that moment, Mr. Reyes, who was directing the correspondents from various fronts at the TV station, saw such a scene and immediately roared, “This Luther, he has completely disgraced our TV station!”

At that moment, the phone in the TV station director’s office was ringing incessantly.

The leaders of the relevant administrative departments of the provincial government were furious.

preparing to hold him legally accountable!

Mr. Reyes desperately dialed Luther’s assistant’s phone number, but he just couldn’t get through.

He had no choice but to drive to the Hashville Hotel himself, he was going to fire Luther on the spot!

At that moment, Luther in the hotel sneered, “Alice, don’t flatter yourself!”

“Back then, I left you because I despised women like you!”

“That was you, bossing me around under the guise of Ms. Howell!”

“It was because I had had enough of you that I left you.”

“Years later, when I had status, being with you was just for fun, you idiot, you actually took it seriously!”

Alice’s face turned purple with rage, “Luther, you bastard! Just you wait, both the Tran family and the Howell family won’t let you off easily!”

“You thought, just because you’re now a chief director at the provincial station, you could ride roughshod over me, insult and torment me at will?”

“The Tran family and the Howell family could kill you with a flick of their fingers!”

“Luther, don’t forget, this world always serves capital, I could crush you with my money!”

Chapter 454 You’re a Hypocrite!

“I gave you my true feelings, only to be met with such an ugly face from you.”

“After tonight, I will definitely use all the power of the Tran family and the Howell family to destroy you!”

Luther sneered, “Alice, do you think you still have a tomorrow?”

“Do you know who you have offended?”

He looked up. general!”

Robin in the room and trembled, “You have offended a

“Even if the Tran family and the Howell family had the audacity, daring to insult the general was a capital offense!”

“Get lost!” He shoved Alice aside and quickly stepped in front of Robin.

“Hello, General Bruce, I... I was the chief director of the legal program at the provincial broadcasting station, Luther.”

“I didn’t know you were here just now, sir, I... I bowed to you.”

“I was deceived by this wretch, who claimed that a gang of villains had bullied her, which is why I came here...”

Robin tossed the wet wipe in his hand, raising an eyebrow, “Didn’t you just say, no matter who it is, you would use your power to have the whole society’s public opinion condemn me to death?”

“General!” Luther’s legs went weak, “General, it’s not... not what you think, it’s all a misunderstanding!”

“Just now... just now I didn’t know your identity.”

Chapter 464 You’re a Hypocrite!

Robin said indifferently, “What would you have done if it wasn’t a general standing here today? Wouldn’t you have used the power of public opinion to blast him to death?”.

You abused your power, bullied the weak, who gave you the audacity to carry the banner of the provincial television station and commit wrongdoings?!”

“Choke me to death? Do you have that energy?”

“General!”

With a crisp “smack“, Robin slapped Luther across the face.

Luther was instantly thrown back.

“Like a bug, you dare to make a fuss! Your existence is just a waste of air!”

Chapter 465 Smash This Hotel!

A roar of engines came howling from the sky.

Ten military helicopters quickly landed on the top of the buildings near the Hashville Hotel.

60 members of the Warwolf Special Forces burst out of the helicopter, sliding down from various rooftops with the help of ropes.

A minute later, 60 special forces members divided into six teams, ran neatly towards the Hashville Hotel.

On the street where the Hashville Hotel was located, there came a sound of combat boots hitting the ground in neat steps.

Leading the team were Rafael and Nia from the Warwolf Special Forces.

“Report to Mr. Bruce, all sixty elite members of the Warwolf Special Forces have arrived!”

“From receiving the order to full assembly, it took nine and a half minutes to reach the destination. Please give the order, Mr. Bruce!”

At that moment, everyone in the Hashville Hotel gasped.

Such a formidable momentum, they had never seen before.

Mack's over a hundred henchmen waiting in the hall were stunned by such a scene.

0.00%

Despite these people having committed murder and theft, and having served time in jail.

However, witnessing such a scene, their legs went weak.

These thugs never expected that they would be facing these special forces today.

Robin left them behind, clearly intending for them to engage with the special forces!

At that moment, Clay and Warren were extremely shocked.

Robin truly was the chief drillmaster of Warwolf Special Forces.

Ted, paralyzed on the ground, was filled with regret.

I actually offended such a terrifying big shot today.

He had confirmed, the Tran family was really finished this time!

It was already a great fortune to be able to save my own life.

Rebecca was completely confused.

She looked at Robin's tall silhouette under the light, unable to understand no matter how hard she tried.

How did Robin suddenly become the chief drillmaster of Warwolf Special Forces?

Moreover, he was at the rank of a general.

Watching Robin standing in front of sixty formidable soldiers with an intimidating aura, my mind went blank.

Chapter 485 Smash This Hotel

Could this have been an illusion?

At that moment, Mack crawled up to Robin outside the hall, "General Bruce, I was blind and failed to recognize your greatness. Please forgive me, I was wrong..."

Robin ignored Mack's pleas for mercy and sternly commanded, "All warriors of WSF, heed my command!"

"Smash all the facilities within the five floors of the hotel within five minutes!"

"Yes!" The voices of sixty Warwolf Special Forces soldiers shook the heavens.

Mack was instantly stunned.

The facilities in this hotel were renovated at a cost of over a hundred million for him.

Robin actually had these sixty special forces soldiers smash them all within five minutes.

He crawled up to Robin, "General Bruce... General Bruce, please show mercy! My hotel..."

Timothy had the barrel of the assault rifle pressed against his head.

"Step back immediately! If you dare to threaten the officer again, you will be subjected to battlefield discipline!"

Mack was so scared that he peed himself.

Chapter 465 Smash This Hotell

Although I had killed a few people myself.

However, Timothy, these trained killing machines, merely the terrifying aura emanating from them, was enough to kill.

Rafael, Nia, Timothy, and others each led a dozen or so team members, and began to carry out the orders.

Inside the resplendent Hashville Hotel, a cacophony of destructive noises sent shivers down everyone's spine.

Four comrades from the Warwolf Special Forces had just sacrificed their lives today.

The soldiers were harboring a surge of indignation with nowhere to vent.

After receiving the order for Robin's anti-terrorism operation, they fully vented their emotions within the hotel.

In less than five minutes, the once magnificent Hashville Hotel was smashed to smithereens, resembling a pile of ruins.

Mack's over a hundred henchmen, looking at this group of special forces soldiers, were trembling in their legs.

He thought to himself, these special forces soldiers are more ruthless than them!

After wrecking the hotel facilities, all the soldiers gathered again in the hall, "Report to the chief drillmaster, all teams have completed their tasks! Awaiting further instructions!"

Chapter 465 Smash This Hotel!

Robin pointed at those thugs holding knives, guns, and clubs: "These are the cancer of society. According to the information I've obtained, each of them has several murder cases on their hands."

"This criminal gang in the Mapleford area committed murder, arson, bullied the market, trafficked women and children, and even engaged in the illegal sale of firearms and drugs!"

"Now, I command, engage in hand-to-hand combat with these evil forces that are twice your number!"

"This was for the project assessment, if defeated by the opponent, one would be eliminated from the Warwolf Special Forces!"

"Starting now, solve the problem within five minutes!"

In an instant, sixty members of the Warwolf Special Forces, like wolves among sheep, unleashed a storm of punches and kicks against these nefarious forces of darkness!

Chapter 466 How Envious!

A wave of ferocious beating sounds echoed terrifyingly throughout the vast hotel lobby.

Mack's over a hundred gang thugs stood powerless in front of the WSF team members.

These bullies, who usually oppressed the people and were arrogantly cruel, were beaten to a pulp.

Such a gruesome scene had Mack, who was kneeling on the ground, trembling in fear.

Looking at the Hashville Hotel, which had been smashed into ruins.

Take another look at the subordinates lying all over the ground.

At that moment, he wished he could have cut Ted with a knife.

Of all the women in the world, you just had to mess with this big shot's beloved woman!

Wasn't this just asking for trouble?!

I really wanted to cry at that moment!

The foundation that I had risked my life and dignity to build over more than twenty years, just vanished into thin air like this.

I really couldn't accept it!

Chapter 466 How Envious!

Mack was terrified, looking fearfully at the cold-faced Robin under the hotel's light.

This was not a human at all, it was simply a terrifying devil!

I admitted that over the years, I had been ruthless and brutal, licking the blood off my own blade.

However, compared to the devil in front of him, he, Mack, was just a bug.

Oh my God, Ted you bastard, how could you have provoked this plague!

If the wrath of this plague god could not be appeased next, the Tran family was utterly doomed!

In over twenty years of his career, Mack had never felt as desperate as he did today.

Alice was completely numb.

In her view, an utterly ordinary trivial matter had somehow turned into such a catastrophic disaster today!

Over the years, Ted had harmed numerous young female college students, female celebrities, and his female subordinates.

Some of those with fiery temperaments, finding no one to turn to, committed suicide by jumping off buildings, and instances of wrist-slitting suicides were numerous.

Alice could easily handle it.

Some didn't even have to spend any money.

Chapter 466 How Envious!

Stirred up a bit of public opinion.

Or let Mack send some thugs to intimidate those women who dared to sue the Tran family.

He could reduce the other party to ruin and escape unscathed.

However, today, when I contacted all the influential people I could reach in the province one by one, as soon as they heard it was about the Hashville Hotel, they either turned off their phones or were on business trips abroad.

A deputy director from the police station, Hugo, arrived and immediately wanted to set boundaries with Robin after seeing her.

The first love, Luther, who had sworn solemnly, surprisingly turned his face halfway and his character changed drastically.

These once unbreakable relationships and connections, at this moment, were surprisingly fragile.

Fake!

Damn it!

Those so-called connections and sentiments were all fake!

Several young reporters from Hashville TV Station were utterly stunned by the shocking scene before them!

Besides fear, there was more of a thrill!

As journalists for the provincial television station, they had long been aware of Mr. Mack and the Tran family.

Chapter 466 How Envious

Who in Mapleford didn't know that they were the local bullies!

For over a decade, the Tran family had established many high–level connections in Mapleford.

They bullied and dominated the market, forced themselves on innocent women, operated illegal online loans, and even sold exclusive products in nightclubs, acting lawlessly and outrageously.

Even the provincial police department was helpless against them.

Today, however, I was unexpectedly disciplined by this young general!

What a satisfying anti–terrorism and anti–crime military operation it was!

They were so shocked and excited that they actually forgot to turn off a device that was broadcasting live.

For a moment, the panoramic scene of the Hashville Hotel was broadcasted live.

The people of Mapleford initially thought it was a TV show, or a program being put on by the television station.

Later on, they finally confirmed that this was a real scene!

The people of Mapleford cheered and jumped for joy.

People who had once suffered greatly and lost their families due to the evil deeds of the Tran family, spread the word.

They all praised the provincial government’s thunderous action.

This piece of information quickly topped the trending list on all major mobile network platforms.

This cancer of Mapleford finally got its deserved retribution!

For four and a half minutes, the lobby of the Hashville Hotel became as eerily quiet as hell.

“Report! Mr. Bruce, the 60 soldiers of Warwolf Special Forces have completed the mission! All team members have passed this assessment! Report completed, awaiting your instructions!”

Rafael, the captain of the Warwolf Special Forces, led 60 soldiers of the Warwolf Special Forces, standing neatly in front of Robin.

At that moment, two military jeeps sped up to the driveway in front of the hotel lobby.

General Allen, Major General Arturo, and Major General Vargas, under the escort of four colonels and two lieutenant colonels, quickly walked into the reception hall of the Hashville Hotel.

Accompanying them was the director of the provincial police department, Laurence Robbins, the head of the provincial television station, Samuel Reyes, and leaders from relevant departments of the provincial government.

Randall, Arturo, Ignacio, and others walked up to Robin and bowed to each other.

Major Arturo stepped forward and shook Robin's hand, saying, "General Bruce, Lieutenant General Swanson from the military command highly commends this anti-terrorism emergency military operation!"

Chapter 466 How Envious!

"The rescue mission at Witcord Peak and the counter-terrorism military operation at Hashville Hotel made the cohesion of the entire Warwolf Special Forces unprecedentedly strong!"

"Helped the people of Mapelford remove a cancerous tumor that was harming society!"

"The provincial government and people from all walks of life highly praised this action!"

At this point, Arturo turned around and pointed to Laurence, "Laurence, let me introduce you. This is our Warwolf Special Forces' Chief Drillmaster, General Bruce."

Laurence immediately stepped forward and stood at attention, saluting Robin, "General Bruce is so young. it's really enviable!"

"I also come from the special forces. Seeing your performance today, it's as if I've been taken back to thirty years ago!"

"For the evil forces in our province, the Provincial Police Department had already established a series of plans to combat them."

"This time, you really did us a great favor."

"On behalf of the Provincial Police Department, I expressed my deepest respect to General Bruce and all the brothers of WSF!"

After speaking, Laurence solemnly saluted Robin and the sixty soldiers of WSF in a standard military manner.

Chapter 467 You’re Fired

Laurence had just finished his ceremony when he received a call from the head office.

Informed, many citizens spontaneously organized and came to the front of the police station building.

Waving banners in gratitude to the police and military for benefiting the public, they beat drums and danced, singing songs.

Laurence immediately understood that it was the credit of the television station, presenting the scene here to the people of Mapleford.

He walked up to the director of the provincial TV station. Samuel, and shook his hand, "Mr. Reyes, your station is doing a great job! You should produce more programs like this in the future!"

Provincial Culture Bureau Director Joey Mullins also understood what had happened. He patted Samuel on the shoulder, "Samuel, you did a great job! The Bureau will commend this live interview as a model Please check at case."

"Do a good job, the Provincial Department of Culture really needs capable leaders like you!"

Samuel nodded excitedly, "Thank you for the affirmation, leader. I will definitely redouble my efforts!"

Only he knew in his heart that he had not arranged this live broadcast.

They were rushing over now, just wanting to stop the live broadcast.

Unexpectedly, a blessing came out of a misfortune.

He looked at the young reporters on the live broadcast position, walked up and asked, "Who broadcasted tonight's live show?"

A photographer in his thirties just realized that his live streaming equipment had been working all along.

He immediately turned it off.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Reyes, L. I was so stunned by the scene that I became nervous and completely forgot to turn off the equipment, I... I was. Wrong."

Samuel started laughing. "You are that... that..."

The man hurriedly tried to alleviate the awkwardness, saying, "Mr. Reyes, I am Orville Copeland, a photojournalist from the legal department. I have been working at the television station for ten years and have never made a mistake. I hope you can forgive me this time, please don't fire me."

"I have two children at home, and my wife is currently pregnant with our third. I... I can't lose my job. My children's tuition fees are high, costing three to four thousand every week for extra classes."

"I still had a mortgage to pay, and there were four elderly people to take care of in both families."

"If I had been fired from the station, our family would have lost all income. Please forgive this mistake of mine, I'll do whatever you ask!"

At this point, tears were almost streaming down Orville's face.

It was just Samuel's complex smile that completely broke him, causing him to collapse and kneel on the ground with a "thud".

Samuel hastily pulled him up, "Ah, how could I have fired you?"

"Today, you did something very successful!"

"You broadcasted this satisfying counter-terrorism operation live, the station will give you a big reward!"

"You did very well! My station needs a journalist like you who knows how to judge the situation and uphold social justice!"

"I remember you were the one with the highest education and strongest abilities. For the past ten years, you should have been given a new position. But there has been no vacant position."

"Starting from today, you were the chief director of my station's legal program."

"The income from this position was enough to cover your household expenses!"

"What? Me, the chief director?" Orville was stunned.

After entering the TV station, I toiled at this filming location for a solid ten years.

Those who originally came in with him had long since become directors of various departments.

Yet he never had any opportunity for promotion.

Samuel patted his shoulder, "This is true, I will immediately have the office issue you a transfer order. From this month on, all your salary and benefits will be implemented according to the standard of my station's general director."

Then, pointing at Luther who was still slumped on the ground, "Luther, you're fired."

"The inspection team of the Provincial Department of Culture was sorting out your relevant materials. You were to report to the inspection team at the provincial department tonight and clarify your issues of violating laws and disciplines!"

Luther hastily said, "Mr. Reyes, everything that happened today was that despicable woman framing me, I was wronged."

"Stop embarrassing yourself! Guilty or not, you explain it to the supervision team."

Luther knew he had completely messed up this time.

He pointed at Alice and yelled, "You cheap woman, it's all your fault!"

"Shut up!" Two policemen immediately escorted Luther out.

Arturo pointed to the chaotic scene: "Mr. Robbins, it's over to you now."

Laurence saluted and said, "Thank you to the warriors of the WSF, I will definitely deal with these evil forces and give the people of Mapleford a satisfactory explanation."

Several police officers escorted Ted, Alice, Rebecca and others out.

Passing by Robin, Ted roared, "Robin Bruce, although the Tran family has been ruined, I have been operating in Mapleford and Draccastle for over twenty years, and I still have a lot of connections!"

"Even if I went in for a few days, I would still come out!"

"After I get out, I, Ted, will definitely seek revenge!"

After going through Hugo and Luther. Alice had already shared a common enemy with Ted. She cried out, "Ted, I was wrong, we are still a family!"

"After this incident. I would definitely use all of my father's connections from back then to ruin Robin!"

The lobby of the Hashville Hotel suddenly fell into a chilling silence.

Robin slowly turned around, picked up the towel Grady handed over and wiped his hands, "You think you can ruin me?"

Alice was taken aback for a moment, then burst into laughter, "A greenhorn kid, who knows what connections he used to get this outfit, there's plenty you don't know!"

"The connections run by the Howell family and Ted were all high- powered individuals. Crushing you would be as easy as squashing a bug!"

"I really don't understand, where do you get the audacity to provoke me again and again?" Robin threw away the towel and gave a cold smile.

"Like a mere ant!"

"If that's the case, then die!"

As the words fell, they were followed by a tremor beneath Robin's feet.

Ted and Alice immediately started bleeding from all their orifices!

"Huh? What happened?" A wave of exclamation came from around.

Clay was ecstatic.

He never imagined that Robin would entrust him with the management of the Tran family's billions of assets.

This was simply a fortune that fell from the sky.

"General Bruce!" Tears were almost falling from Clay's eyes, Bruce, how can I ever thank you?"

“Mr.

“Clay, remember, if you dare to play any tricks, I could destroy the Sims family at any time!”

Clay shuddered violently. “Mr. Bruce, I, Clay, am your dog in this life and forever. I swear to the heavens, I will never betray you!”

Speaking of this, something suddenly came to mind.

He glanced sideways at Crystal, who was standing next to Robin, “Ms. Thompson, Ms. Thompson, from this day forward, all the medical equipment products of the Thompson Group will be sold through the original sales network of the Tran family. I will personally handle this matter.”

“Even if I had to stop all the operations of the Sims family, I would push your product to Estya, to the whole world!”

Crystal never imagined that the medical equipment company business left by her mother would be conducted in such a way.

She held onto Robin’s arm, whispering, “Robin, thank you!”

Warren looked at the deceased Ted and Alice, his legs trembling. He stepped forward and said, “Mr. Bruce, I... I have severed the sibling relationship with that Alice... It’s true!”

“I know.” Robin glanced indifferently at Warren, then pointed at Clay. “Wait a bit, safely escort Ms. Thompson back to Hallcester!”

Clay immediately said, “Mr. Bruce, rest assured, all the bodyguards of the Sims family will be mobilized to escort Ms. Thompson!”

“Tonight, I will personally lead the team, until Ms. Thompson is safely delivered to Hallcester!”

“If Ms. Thompson had the slightest dissatisfaction, I would be the first to know!”

Robin removed Crystal's hand. "Hurry back to Hallcester. Don't handle such matters personally in the future. Even if you do, bring a confidant or a bodyguard with you. I'm leaving!"

Crystal had wanted to tell Robin that she really wanted to go back with him.

She just knew that a big man like Robin could not possibly stay in Hallcester forever.

Watching Robin, surrounded by a group of soldiers and several high-ranking officials from the provincial government, walk out of the hotel lobby.

Tears of happiness shimmered in her eyes.

Chapter 469 Her Hero

She was certain that this man, as majestic as a mountain, was the world-conquering hero from her dreams!

Robin, one day, you would come to pick me up on a rainbow cloud!

Imagining that day, under the clear and bright sun.

Robin, clad in golden armor, stepped on the colorful auspicious clouds, laying down a ten-mile red carpet for her...

"Hahaha..." As she was thinking, Crystal suddenly burst out laughing..

The sudden scare made Clay, who was standing next to me, almost collapse to the ground.

"M-Ms. Thompson, what's wrong?"

Crystal then realized that she had lost her composure for a moment, immersed in her imagination.

Glancing up at Clay's servile appearance. I said coldly, "Robin told me to go back immediately, let's get ready to leave!"

"Yes, Ms. Thompson! I immediately summoned all the security of the Sims Group. After General Bruce and his team left, I personally led the team to escort you to Hallcester."

"Ms. Thompson, I arranged for immediate staffing to handle the medical equipment of the Thompson Group tomorrow, and it was put up for sale on the original Tran family network as soon as possible."

Crystal nodded coldly, "Alright! Mr. Sims, remember what Robin said!"

"If you dare to pull any tricks, the Elliott family, the Reynell family, and the Tran family, will be your downfall!"

Clay's legs trembled with fear, "Understood, Ms. Thompson, I will definitely remember Mr. Bruce's words! I understand, everything that originally belonged to the Tran family is now yours, Ms. Thompson. I am just responsible for operating and managing it for you."

Crystal gave a cold laugh, "As long as you know!"

Robin and his group walked out of the hotel.

Hugo and Marlene immediately stepped forward, "Hello, General Bruce."

Robin paused, a playful smile on his face, "Mrs. Lowe, Alice's best friend?"

Hugo and Marlene both shuddered suddenly.

Marlene shook her head awkwardly, "It's not like that, General Bruce, I don't know her."

"Hehe!" Robin chuckled lightly, ignoring Marlene thereafter.

Hugo, sweating profusely with fear, said, "General Bruce, this woman is too stupid, too ignorant, please don't take it to heart."

Robin gave a nonchalant smile, "I never took it to heart from beginning to end."

Hugo paused, hastily reaching out his hand to shake hands with Robin.

Robin paused for quite a while.

Chapter 469 Her Hero

Hugo's hands, awkwardly suspended in mid-air, were caught in a dilemma – it wasn't right to take them back, yet it wasn't right to keep them up either,

It was extremely embarrassing for a moment.

Robin chuckled lightly, slowly extending his hand.

Hugo was greatly delighted.

Robin shook hands with him, which meant he had forgiven him.

Suddenly, he felt a sharp pain in his palm.

“Ouch!” Hugo’s face turned pale with pain.

“Oh!” Robin chuckled lightly.

“Sorry, Mr. Lowe. I didn’t notice, my grip was a bit too strong.”

“Did it hurt you?”

Hugo hastily said, “No, no, General Bruce.”

“That’s better!” Robin nodded with a smile, patted Hugo’s shoulder, and turned to walk away.

This slap almost knocked Hugo down onto the ground.

Mr. Robbins, who came over afterwards, said coldly, “Hugo, I just received a call from the Inspectorate of the Police Headquarters. They want you to drop all your work tomorrow and go to the Inspectorate to accept their accountability!”

Chapter 469 Her Hero

Hugo was scared out of his wits.

He understood what Laurence’s words meant.

At that moment, watching Robin’s receding figure, Hugo’s heart was filled with mixed feelings....

Exited the square in front of the hotel.

Robin was to return to Mount Ammo Training Base by helicopter with the Warwolf Special Forces.

“Mr. Bruce, Mr. Bruce!” A voice came from the crowd.

Robin glanced sideways, Freddie was waving at him through the crowd.

“Oh, it’s you. What brings you to Mapleford today?” He halted, signaling the police station’s officer to let Freddie pass.

Freddie excitedly said, “Mr. Bruce, I originally graduated from Mapleford University. The school anniversary is tomorrow, and the school leaders have sent people to invite me several times, insisting that I must attend this anniversary celebration at the school.”

“Over the past six months, thanks to your support on the Southern Business District project, I have made a comeback. The school now considers me a successful entrepreneur and insists that I attend and give a few speeches to the juniors. They also asked me to make a donation.”

“This charitable act was quite meaningful, so I came.”

“Years ago, when I was down and out, I wanted to attend the alumni reunion, but I was too embarrassed to come.”

“The leaders of my alma mater said that they wanted to establish a few new youth classes and set up a scholarship fund for these outstanding students, asking me to make a donation.”

“I thought to myself, I’ve made quite a lot of money this year, I should give back to my alma mater. It would be a contribution to the cultivation of talents for the next generation of our country.”

“Mr. Bruce, what is this...” Freddie looked at Robin with the soldiers, not knowing what was going on.

“Oh, Mr. Strickland, go ahead with your business.” Robin didn’t respond to him, just pointed at the helicopter ahead.

“Uh, Mr. Bruce,” Freddie knew there were some things Robin found difficult to discuss with him.

“Were you in Mapleford these past few days? If so, I would have contacted you and we could have had a meal together.”

Robin glanced at the time. “I should be here. Contact me when you’re done with your work.”

“Good! Mr. Bruce, we’ll be in touch again.”

After shaking hands and saying goodbye to Freddie. Robin was whisked away by the Warwolf Special Forces' helicopter towards Mount Ammo Training Base. Original silence all around.

Randall and Ignacio sat in the car, both of them with serious expressions and remaining silent.

A black figure swiftly darted into the car, "Reporting to the general, we have received a message from Bronia."

Randall immediately opened his eyes, "Tell me, what were the results of your investigation?"

The black-clad guard said solemnly, "That man indeed resembles the Annihilator rumored on the Bronia battlefield for the past three years."

"In the dark world, they bestowed upon him a terrifying title, Lord Dragon!"

"However, the short dagger he held in his hand, on the battlefield of Bronia mercenaries, there had never been any talk of bloodlust and roaming dragons."

"Besides this point, the other characteristics basically matched."

Accompanying him was a character named Enzo, whose age was unknown.

"This person had never met Lord Dragon. No one had ever seen them."

"However, the legends about Enzo and Lord Dragon never ceased."

"All the information currently available was here, there was no more data to follow."

"A saying circulated on that battlefield, anyone who saw Lord Dragon would become a wandering ghost.”

Randall and Ignacio suddenly froze.

“Indeed, it was an Annihilator!”

He waved his hand, and the black-clad guard quickly left the car, disappearing into the vast darkness of the night.

The interior of the off-road vehicle fell silent once again.

“General Allen, what’s your take on this matter?” Ignacio broke the silence and asked after about ten minutes.

Randall slowly opened his eyes, looking out at the eerily dark lake.

“Robin’s movements were too peculiar, and moreover, he always seemed somewhat elusive to me. His behavior was too much like someone else’s!”

“However, it could basically be confirmed at that time. Robin might just be that Lord Dragon!”

“However, whether he was involved in the Lord Wyvern’s Mansion massacre more than twenty years ago still needs further verification.”

“Whether he was Lord Wyvern Jr. or not, could not yet be confirmed.”

“Just now, did you or did you not hear a very important piece of information, about a character who was with him, named Enzo!”

“Was this Enzo that person?”

Ignacio’s eyes lit up!
