Chapter 491 Flora Is Not His Biological Child

Stella was also taken aback by this sudden question, not knowing how to respond for a moment.

She looked terrified at Freddie's bloodshot eyes, which were filled entirely with a murderous glint.

Over the years, Freddie had pampered Flora and her like a pair of princesses.

She had long since gotten used to the idea that Flora was Freddie's biological daughter.

Just didn't understand why Freddie suddenly asked about this matter?

She rolled her eyes. "Freddie, let go!"

"Flora has been calling you 'Dad' for so many years, do you still need to ask me if she is your daughter?"

Freddie threw Stella on the ground and suddenly burst into laughter.

"Only today did I, Freddie, truly understand that I am the biggest fool in the world!"

"Stella, even I'm not that stupid, I know that parents with type A blood can't possibly have a child with type B blood!"

"If Flora was my biological daughter, and both of us were type A blood, how could Flora possibly be type B?"

"You didn't tell me, you're not like normal humans, did you?"

Freddie's words shocked everyone in the private room!

This compassionate and righteous man had been running his own business up until now.

After a struggle of life and death, he gave all his love to his wife and daughter.

Every day, battling out in the world, every cell in my body was filled with infinite strength.

Running all the way, what he was most proud of was not how much wealth he had acquired.

Instead, it was the mother and daughter at home who constantly preoccupied his thoughts.

Now, the wounds of reality were being torn apart raw.

Beneath the beautiful exterior, there wasn't a heart that shared a deep, unspoken understanding and was willing to live or die together.

Instead, a pile of ugly, rotten meat stinking of maggots.

The beloved wife, whom I had always cherished, had long been living in the same bed with different dreams, cheating with someone else.

Even the daughter I had raised for over a decade was not my own!

Freddie broke down!

The home that was once cherished with life, completely fell apart!

He couldn't figure out what exactly he had done wrong.

If you didn't love in the first place, why did you have to step into someone else's world to cause harm!

Your selfish desires and shamelessness destroyed more than just a complete home.

It was even more a man's pride, a child's flower-like prime!

Freddie rubbed his hair in agony.

He didn't know how to face everything tomorrow would bring.

The thought of his daughter's adorable smiling face and her affectionate call of "Daddy" came to mind.

This strong man had tears in his eyes!

All this beauty was ruined by this detestable woman, Stella!

The private room was suffocatingly silent, with only Freddie's cries of grief and anger!

Suddenly, Terry struggled to shout, "Stella. I'm type B blood!"

"Did you spend the night at my place the day before your wedding, carrying my child? Is Flora my daughter?"

Stella nodded, "Yes, by the time I found out, I had already been married for a few months."

"Later on, I didn't mention it. Bringing it up might have done more harm than good, I was afraid Freddie would abandon me and Flora. At that time, I desperately needed a home, a man who could earn money to support me and Flora."

Freddie took a deep breath, forcing a bitter smile, "Stella, are you even human? You've deceived me for so many years, don't you feel the slightest bit of guilt?"

Stella shook her head in disdain, "Freddie, do you really need to be upset about this?"

"Correct, Flora was Terry's child."

"After graduating from university, Terry and I planned to work hard together in Hallcester, waiting until we had earned enough money to buy own house and get married."

"But, we struggled for several months, and we didn't even have enough money to pay the rent."

“Terry told me that making money this way would never afford a house in a lifetime. There must be some other way.”

“Let me find a job too, and then, find someone who can support me to marry.”

Fortunately, I met you, and you gave me everything I wanted.

“Freddie, I was really a bit happy during that time!”

“But, many times, I couldn’t forget Terry, because he was more romantic than you. You only knew how to make money for me, but couldn’t provide me with spiritual enjoyment.”

“But Terry was different. Although he didn’t have money, he could give me romance!”

“Damn! I can’t stand to watch this anymore!” Enrique stepped forward and said.

“When you initially couldn’t even afford the rent with that guy, why didn’t you go be romantic then?”

“Damn it! Even I, a cultured and refined person, am compelled to curse at you, a woman worse than a beast!”

“Freddie, we can’t let this shameless woman go!”

“Don’t worry, if necessary, I would immediately organize the alumni association to mobilize the whole society to deal with this beast!”

Stella chuckled coldly, “It’s the era of feminism now! If you dare to rant at me, I will mobilize all women’s protection groups to rant you to death!”

Enrique immediately shut up, he understood the weight of Stella’s words.

If she really had the opportunity to operate like this.

It was really uncertain, who could spray whom to death.

Once he, Enrique, was labeled as a man who insulted women seeking love and freedom, he became a pariah, universally condemned.

Stella took a deep breath and continued, "Later, after the child was born, I looked at the child's blood type and didn't tell you. I knew then, Flora was Terry's child."

"However, did it matter?"

"Freddie, all you need to—know is that you have a child to raise. Does it really matter who the child is?"

"Flora has been calling you dad for so many years, you should feel comforted!"

"Did you find it interesting to argue with me about who Flora's parent was?"

"As a man, couldn't you be a bit more magnanimous? Always dwelling on these trivial matters, don't you think it's too petty?"

In the end, Enrique couldn't hold back and said angrily, "Freddie, back then, in order to get into a structured unit, I told myself countless times. To be a bit shameless, a bit disgraceful, only then could I survive."

I thought I had been shameless enough over the years, but today I realized there's always someone better, there's always a higher sky!"

“Whose money it was didn’t matter, what mattered was that if you could trick it into your hands, you could use it.”

“A woman could take her man’s money for granted, and go have a good time with another man, that was called romance.”

“Could these words really be spoken by a human?”

“Alright, I, Freddie, admit defeat. Take your child and go!”

“Ding–a–ling!” Freddie’s phone went off like crazy.

He instinctively picked up the phone, “Lola, what are you up to, I’m busy right now!”

“Mr. Strickland, Flora... Flora jumped off a building and killed herself!”

Chapter 492 Flora Has Committed Suicide

“What? Lola, what are you talking about!” Freddie was instantly stunned, “How could Flora have committed suicide?!”

Lola took a deep breath, “Mr. Strickland, calm down...”

“Can I be calm?!” Freddie was almost roaring.

On the other end of the phone, Lola persuaded, “Mr. Strickland, you must stay calm.”

“My daughter is in the same grade as Flora, she just called to tell me about this.”

The school was advocating that they should not spread this news, and also, checking if anyone had released any videos.

“The school authorities have now sealed off the news about this matter, you better come back and check it out.”

Freddie sat on the ground, stunned. He never thought that something like this would happen.

Despite already knowing that Flora was not his biological daughter.

However, having raised their daughter for so many years, they cherished her like a pearl in the palm of their hand.

This kind of inseparable father–daughter affection, it couldn’t just disappear when said so.

Now hearing that the daughter had actually jumped off a building to commit suicide.

Such a blow, even the strongest man could not accept.

But, Flora was fine, how could she have committed suicide?

“Lola, why did my daughter commit suicide?”

“Ah! Mr. Strickland, I heard from the children that your daughter was often bullied by a few female classmates, so...”

“Oh, right. Before Flora committed suicide, she sent an email to your CEO mailbox. Your assistant, while handling these emails, asked me if I should inform you?”

“Go check your mailbox and see what Flora has said,”

Freddie shuddered abruptly and immediately opened the mailbox.

Seeing Freddie’s distraught appearance, Stella asked, “Freddie, what happened to Flora? I thought I heard Lola say that Flora jumped off a building to commit suicide?”

Freddie slapped Stella across the face. “Why are you asking me about this now? Flora is already dead! You damn woman! Get lost!”

Stella’s mind went blank, “Flora is dead? Impossible! Impossible!”

Freddie opened the email.

This was a farewell letter from Flora to Freddie.

and I will finally be free.

Just, I really hated to let you go.

Dad, don't be sad, in the next life I will still be your daughter, your biological daughter!

I knew quite early on, I was not your biological child.

However, you treated me better than your own.

I knew how much you spoiled me, and I also knew how much you cared about our home.

Even though we are not related by blood, I have decided in this life that you are my dearest father!

Every day, I was reminiscing about the memories of you supporting me from childhood until now.

Your career was busy, you needed to make money for me and mom.

I understood your hardships, just like you knew the struggle for our home..

How I wished that one day you would stop and take a break.

Dad, I was really worried that one day you would leave mom.

The reason I left was because I had had enough of school over the years, but I didn't dare to tell you.

I was worried that once I spoke about my situation, it would expose my mother's unfaithfulness to you.

Dad, I really didn't want to keep you in the dark anymore, being deceived by mom and that bad uncle.

Since last year, mom had often been with a strange uncle.

At that time, I wanted to tell you, but, I didn't dare.

My mom never usually took me to school, I always walked there by myself.

She warned me not to tell you.

After that, I was bullied by a few classmates at school.

They hit me, made me kneel, and took away all my pocket money.

They even forced me to eat feces, clamped my genitals with iron tongs, I was tortured by them like an animal.

They also stripped me naked and took pictures.

I didn't dare to tell you.

I was worried that you knew about mom being with another man.

She always used the excuse of taking me to school to go out and meet that man secretly.

Sometimes, when she wasn't at home, I didn't dare to go home either, so I had to wait in an outside corner.

There were several times when we ended up talking until the late night.

Later, I really couldn't stand it anymore.

However, she beat me up.

Criticized me for not getting along well with other classmates at school.

She said it was all my fault.

I showed her the scars on my body, but she said I had brought it upon myself.

How many times I couldn't help but want to tell you.

However, I was worried that once you knew about this matter.

You would be separated from your mom.

Dad, I was living in great pain.

I really didn't want to live anymore.

If I had told you about this matter, would you still have stayed with mom?

Dad, I was too tired of living.

I lived every day in a world of torment, beatings, and humiliation, yet I couldn't confide in you.

This world was too terrifying.

What upset me more was that, while mom appeared to be gentle and virtuous in front of

Dad, I only felt safe when I was with you,

But you were very busy...

Dad, I'm gone, I only wish to be your biological daughter in the next life, Dad, I really don't want to leave you...

Freddie, overwhelmed with emotion, burst into loud tears upon seeing this.

The cry of this man moved everyone in the private room.

“Flora, you are my daughter, how could you be so confused?”

“How old were you, yet you endured so much pain. Why didn’t you tell your father!”

“Flora, don’t worry. If anyone bullies you, Dad will wipe out their entire family!”

“Mr. Strickland, is this your daughter Flora?” Rhonda suddenly saw a trending video pop up on her phone.

This was about a school in Hallcester, where four girls in uniforms were bullying a girl named Flora.

Flora was covered in bruises all over her body.

After brutally beating Flora, the four girls even took photos as ‘a memento, the video was filled with their sickening laughter...

Freddie watched the video on Rhonda’s phone, slamming his fist into the ground.

“I. Freddie, swore not to rest until I had killed these bastards!”

“Mr. Bruce, I’m truly sorry for today, I must return to Hallcester to deal with this matter!”

Robin said coldly, “It should be dealt with! Heaven cannot tolerate not punishing the wicked!”

“Even if it’s a child, it’s a damned devil!”

“Clay, send two people to drive Freddie back to Hallcester!”

“Yes! Mr. Bruce!” Clay immediately stepped forward, “I will use all the connections of the Sims family to kill for Mr. Strickland at any time!”

Robin patted Freddie on the shoulder. “Wait for me in Hallcester, I’ll be there soon!”

Terry struggled painfully, “I also wanted to see my daughter...”

Freddie stepped on Terry’s face, “You beast, you’re not worthy!”

Robin said coldly, “Clay, take this trash out and bury it!”

“Yes!. Mr. Bruce!” Clay rejoiced in his heart.

Today, my niece offended Robin again, and I didn’t know how to make up for his displeasure towards her.

The fact that Robin was now sending him on errands indicated that Robin had already considered him as one of his own.

Clay immediately ordered two bodyguards to quickly put a sack over Terry’s head and carry him out of the private room.

Stella looked at the scene before her, understanding what was happening, and shouted loudly, “You can’t do this. I’m calling the police!”

Robin’s face darkened, “Clay, this woman deserves to die too!”

“Yes! Mr. Bruce!”

Before Clay’s two bodyguards could make a move, Stella, frightened, clung to Freddie’s leg.

"Alright! I let you have one last look at Flora!"

"I told you, Stella, I would definitely kill you for Flora! It was you who harmed my daughter!"

"Let's go, tie her up!" Freddie said to Clay's two bodyguards.

Randall furrowed his brow slightly, “I didn’t intend to pry into your secrets, but this matter is related to a mystery from Draccastle 20 years ago.”

“Mystery? What does it have to do with me?” Robin asked.

“This mystery is linked to this ancient magic weapon,” Randall said gravely.

‘That night, masters from almost all sects around the globe gathered in Hanrock Valley, engaging in a fierce battle.’

“Why didn’t you return to the team? What were you doing back in Hallcester?” Robin looked at Nia’s flushed cheeks, noticing her beautiful eyes were avoiding his gaze.

“I went back to see my grandfather!” Nia said firmly.

“I’m going too!” Rhonda stepped forward and declared firmly.

“Your grandfather was also in Hallcester?” Robin raised an eyebrow.

“My grandfather is no longer with us! I will go with you to handle the school bullying incident! Don’t forget, I used to be with the Criminal Investigation Division of LSA!”

Randall stopped in his tracks, his small eyes darting around.

Looking at Rhonda and Nia, then at Robin, he laughed and said, "Let's go together then, I'll ask for leave for your captain later."

Once in the car, Nia finally voiced the doubts in her heart.

Robin was taken aback, “Could it really be such a coincidence?”

Nia shook her head, “I don’t know. In a few days, when we send the ashes of the four martyrs home, we will know.”

Robin exhaled, “Let’s go, catch up with Freddie.”

Four o’clock in the afternoon.

Hallcester, outside the Office of Academic Affairs at Hallcester Lakeside Primary School, was crowded with parents of students and reporters from various major media outlets in Hallcester.

Flora’s body was laid in front of the Office of Academic Affairs.

Freddie said coldly, “My daughter committed suicide by jumping off a building at school, and you dare to say it has nothing to do with your school!”

“Good! Since the school did nothing, I’ll handle it my way!”

Kevin was instantly irritated, “What do you mean? Are you trying to cause trouble at school? If so, I’ll call the police immediately!”

Freddie, furious, pointed at Kevin, “What’s the point of causing a scene? My daughter is already dead, I don’t care about calling the police or not!”

Kevin instinctively took a step back: “You...you mustn’t do anything rash!”

Freddie crouched in front of Flora’s body, lifting the white cloth that covered her face.

In an instant, tears welled up in my eyes and I couldn’t stop them from gushing out!

Yesterday they were still alive and well, but today they are separated by life and death.

Despite just finding out, Flora was not his biological daughter.

However, the indelible emotion of raising a child single-handedly was already etched in her heart.

Flora’s body was almost entirely covered in scars, with hardly a spot left unscathed.

There were still several scars on the thigh where chunks of flesh had been deeply gouged out.

The fingernails had been—brutally ripped off, leaving only bare fingers!

He glared at Kevin with fierce eyes, “Is this what you call suicide? What kind of beasts must have tormented my daughter when she was alive to make her end up like this?”

“Could you say that all of this had nothing to do with your school?”

.A group of onlooking parents and reporters let out a shudder!

This child had reached this point because he simply couldn't bear the cruel torment, and thus made the most helpless choice.

Seeing that the situation was likely getting out of control, Kevin urgently said, “Security, security, quickly pull this student's parent aside, he's lost control of his emotions!”

Several school security guards quickly arrived in front of Freddie.

“Who dares to touch the child's corpse!” A cold, stern rebuke came from outside the crowd.

Kevin was taken aback, pointing at Robin and scolding, “Who are you?. This is a school, if you dare to mess around...”

“Thwack!” Robin backhanded Kevin, sending him flying directly out.

“Beast!” Robin wiped his palms, “You, as the school authority, did nothing and even tried to cover up the truth. What's wrong with my actions?”

“Let them broadcast the video of Flora's suicide due to campus bullying all over the internet now!” Robin said to Nia.

In an instant, the school's big screen, along with the entire internet, started playing videos of Flora being repeatedly bullied and humiliated by four girls.

In the video, four girls, aged eleven or twelve, were seen fiercely kicking Flora.

Robin let out a cold shout, and everyone present could feel the soaring murderous intent emanating from him!

Freddie quickly stood up and said, “Mr. Bruce, I’ll handle this matter.”

“Stand aside!” Robin sharply reprimanded.

The parents watching in the campus looked at Robin’s towering rage, already sensing that something big was likely to happen that day.

Someone secretly took out their phone and started to call the police.

Some even said, “No matter what, he’s still a child. Was it necessary to get that angry?”

The parents nearby said, “What if it were your child?”

“If it were my child, I would have had the heart to kill them!”

Chapter 495 Irresponsible

Kevin gradually regained his strength amidst the murmurs of a crowd of onlookers.

Glanced up at the indifferent Robin.

Knowing that the young man in front of him was trouble, he immediately took out his phone and dialed Principal Lester Zimmerman’s number.

“What’s the matter? Kevin, calling me at this hour?” Lester, in the principal’s office for a lunch break, yawned and patted the woman’s cheek in his arms, said impatiently.

Kevin wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth, lamenting, “Mr. Zimmerman, something has gone wrong!”

. “Flora’s parents came with a few thugs to cause trouble, insisting on not taking the body away. They demanded an explanation from the school and the parents of several other students.”

Lester fell silent for a moment, then lazily said. "Let the school security go, hurry up and deal with the body!"

"Tell them, the student committed suicide, and the fact that our school hasn't sought compensation from their guardians yet is already very humane!"

Kevin whispered, "Mr. Zimmerman, the newcomer is a bit of a tough nut to crack, you have to come and sort it out."

"Moreover, there were many students' parents and reporters gathered here, I was worried that the situation would escalate and get out of control."

"Kevin, what can I say about you? You couldn't even handle this trivial matter!"

Lester pushed the woman in his arms away, impatiently saying, "I'll be right there!"

Before long, a short, chubby man in his forties, yawning, slowly walked over from the principal's office.

Lester looked at a group of parents and reporters gathered in the campus, slightly furrowing his brows.

Looking again at Robin in the crowd, it was confirmed that this young man was the greenhorn Kevin had mentioned on the phone.

He shook his head and sneered, full of youthful arrogance, ignorant of the ways of the world!

Lester, as the principal, had long been aware of the bullying Flora experienced at school.

Back then, Flora's homeroom teacher had reported this matter to him.

However, the girl who led the bullying against Flora, Margie Mason, had an unusual family background.

Margie's father, Miguel Mason, was a wealthy businessman who recently invested in Hallcester.

After learning about Flora being bullied, Lester was moved.

I did the Mason family a favor with this matter.

Despite Flora's homeroom teacher reporting several times, Lester did not take any action.

He hadn't expected that Flora would actually jump off the building in a fit of anger to commit suicide.

After the incident, he immediately communicated privately with Margie's mother, Freda Cross.

Freda responded directly, "Flora's suicide has nothing to do with us."

If Flora's parents made a big fuss, it didn't matter if they were privately compensated with thirty or fifty thousand.

They would absolutely never meet with Flora's parents for a discussion.

Unexpectedly, Flora's parents really did come to make a fuss, persistently and unyieldingly.

Lester had also known about Flora's family situation before.

Upon learning that Flora's father, Freddie, was merely the General Manager of the Southern District Development Corporation, who had some business dealings with the Huber Group.

The assets and background were far different from Miguel's.

Freddie started from scratch as a rootless grass, his background was far less than the Mason family.

Gave a bit of money, settled it privately and let it go.

If the school had talked to Freddie about the background of the Mason family.

Lester believed that Freddie would definitely accept his proposal.

Absolutely would not dare to wrestle with the Mason family over this matter.

So, after Flora committed suicide, Lester immediately instructed Kevin to dispose of the body as soon as possible.

However, Freddie, recklessly, demanded an explanation from the school and the Mason family!

Under the escort of two security guards, he approached Robin and the others, impatiently saying, "Who are you people? Are you trying to cause trouble in the school? I warn you, your actions have already violated the criminal law!"

"Clear the way immediately! Let the crematorium staff carry away the student's body!"

"What's it doing here? Didn't you smell that the body has already started to stink?"

Freddie roared at the approaching crematorium workers, "Whoever dares

Lester rebuked, "What do you think you're doing?! If you're looking for trouble, we'll call the police immediately!"

"Are you blind?" Robin flicked his eyelids, saying coldly, "Didn't you see the video on the internet?"

“Your child suffered cruel abuse at your school, and this is your attitude as the principal?”

Lester paused for a moment.

Unexpectedly, the young–man in front of him had directly cursed him for being blind.

He took a look at Robin, confirming that Hallcester had never seen such a character.

“Fine, fine, fine, as a civilized person who used to be a teacher, I won’t take your insults to heart.” Lester shook his head disdainfully.

“You mean you need compensation? Okay!”

“Some roughhousing among students is quite normal, you can’t entirely blame your child’s death on that incident.”

“This had a lot to do with the child’s family situation. In fact, you should have looked for reasons within yourselves.”

“Let’s not bring up these words now, there’s no point in mentioning them!”

“After the child’s body was taken away, I promised to compensate you with twenty thousand as emotional damages.”

“This should be enough then!”

In the end, Rhonda couldn’t hold back her anger and questioned, “Is this how you, as a principal, handle incidents of school bullying leading to child suicide?”

“Did the procedure for handling such sudden major incidents comply with the regulations of the Department of Education?”

“I entrusted my child to your school, and you were irresponsible!”

“Now the children have committed suicide because of this, and you are trying to shirk responsibility again!”

“Having said such inhuman words, were you even a person?”

Lester scoffed, “You can insult me, it doesn’t matter. I’m a civilized person with a teaching background. I won’t stoop to your level.”

“As for how I handle it. it’s my business, because I am the principal here. Whatever the process is, I have the final say!”

“You were not convinced, but what could you do even if you were not Convinced?! You still had to bear with it for me!”

Kevin listened to Lester’s domineering words, his eyes bursting with admiration!

He exchanged a smile with Lester, “Mr. Zimmerman was right after all.”

Nia said coldly, “Mr. Zimmerman, is this something a headmaster should say?”

Lester flicked his eyelids, glancing at Nia, and smirked self- deprecatingly, “What attitude? Do you need to teach me?”

“I have been a teacher for nearly twenty years, with the temperament of a human soul engineer ingrained in my bones. I’m afraid your age might not even match my years of teaching experience, right?”

At this point, he let out a long sigh, and said earnestly, “Ah, seeing you all so young, I feel compelled to say a few more words.”

“Hi! I just couldn’t change my bad habits as a teacher.”

“As a person, you had to learn to read the room, otherwise, you would suffer a great loss.”

“The child who led the abuse against Flora was named Margie. Her father was a wealthy businessman who invested in Hallcester from Draccastle.”

‘Margie’s mother was the heiress of a prominent family in Draccastle.’

“Can I stop here?” I asked.

Is it just about the death of a child? How big of a deal is it? Why bring unnecessary trouble upon yourself!”

Chapter 496 A Group of Officers

Kevin listened to Lester’s profound words, admiring him wholeheartedly!

Mr. Zimmerman was, after all, a soul engineer who had immersed himself in the position of a teacher for many years.

The words spoken were all so philosophical.

A few brief sentences revealed his nature that transcended the realm of human society, reaching a level beyond human reach!

High! It’s really high!

Such language carried a certain animalistic quality, it was very persuasive!

Afterwards, I had to work harder, striving to join the ranks of true non- humans like Mr. Zimmerman as soon as possible.

“What I mean is, let’s just let the matter of paying a bit of money go, why do we have to part on bad terms?”

“Take some money, they will take care of your business in the future, why not?”

Robin pulled out a wet wipe and cleaned his hands, saying with a smirk, “Is that what you think?”

Lester thought Robin had accepted his persuasion, nodding with a smile, “Yes, young man, you’re right to think so…”

“With a loud ‘smack!’, Robin slapped Lester’s chubby face.”

Lester flew out like a pig in reverse.

A wave of gasps suddenly swept through the campus.

No one had expected that Robin would dare to take action after hearing Lester’s words.

They watched as Robin took steps towards Lester, whispering, “Has this guy gone mad?”

“Mr. Zimmerman had already said that the other party was too powerful to provoke, yet he still didn’t back down?”

“When people get desperate, they can do anything.”

“No choice, who could help that those school bullies were all rich and well–connected!”

“Moreover, the principal also said that it had official backing!”

“Ah, don’t speak anymore, just watch what that young man is doing...”

Robin walked up to Lester, crouched down, and said coldly, “As the head of a school and a role model, you actually said such beastly words, don’t you feel ashamed?”

Wiping the blood from the corner of his mouth, Lester snarled, “What the hell are you? How dare you hit me?”

“Originally... originally, I was thinking of negotiating with the Mason family to compensate you a bit more, but now... now you can forget about getting a single penny!”

‘Is that what you think?” Robin laughed, revealing a set of pearly white teeth.

In an instant, his smile turned cold and lifeless. He grabbed Lester’s thinning hair and smashed his head against the concrete floor.

Ah!” Lester screamed in agony, then passed out.

It’s not time to die yet, hang on a little longer, wait a bit, see the karma of this world before you go.” Robin shook his head, tapping twice on his neck.

Lester fiercely wiped the blood from his eyes, “Alright, alright, you’ve got guts!”

“I was a civilized person from a teacher’s background, I didn’t stoop to argue with uncultured brutes like you!”

“However, I must say, you few trying to mess with the Mason family to the end, it’s simply seeking death!”

At this point, he softened his tone and asked, “What kind of outcome do you all really want?”

Robin flicked his eyelids indifferently, "Pay your debts, an eye for an eye!"

Upon hearing this, Lester's body jolted violently, he took a deep breath, "Margie's father is a wealthy man from Draccastle with official backing, – and her mother is a daughter of a great clan in Draccastle. You think you can handle them?"

"A bunch of ignorant fools! I told you, the Mason family was an entity you were destined not to mess with!"

"I was a civilized person, I didn't mind you laying hands on me. If you knew what was good for you, you'd have scrambled and burned the body!"

At that moment, a gasp came from the parents who were watching: "Isn't that young man's companion Ms. Finley. the daughter of Mr. Ethen's family!"

This sudden scream startled Lester, causing him to shudder.

Mr. Ethen's daughter, General Finley's granddaughter, Colonel Nia in the army?

He stared hard, only then realizing how his eyes had failed him!

"You...you...you are Mr. Donovan's granddaughter?"

Nia snorted coldly, "So what?"

"Ms. Finley, did...did you have any connection with this child?"

Nia pointed at Robin, "A friend of my friend, is that enough? A Brigadier General from Military Command 3, is that enough to compete with the Mason family you keep talking about?"

"If you think it's not enough, include the Finley family as well! Is that enough?"

"And this one!" Nia pointed at Rhonda, "The daughter of Chief Chavez, the Major General of Londraland Security Agency in Draccastle. Is that enough to bully the Mason family?"

"Want to bully people, we are your ancestors!" Nia was also extremely angry, and scolded harshly.

Lester stared in horror at the three icy, indifferent young men in front of him, retreating a few steps in fear. Who on earth had he offended!

Any one of the three people could have been enough to crush him and the Mason family!

A group of onlooking parents and reporters also looked at the three Robins in horror.

What a magnificent lineup of stepping on people this was!

Some people had already recognized Robin.

“Wasn’t that young man the owner of Mauveglow Villa 1 that was trending online a few days ago?”

“I was still in front of the villa, and I had personally seen his heroic appearance in military uniform!”

“That day, he was accompanied by two lieutenant generals, four colonels, and five lieutenant colonels. My, it was truly a dazzling array of military stars!”

“Oh my, the school really upset some big shot this time!”

“Let’s see what that bastard principal has to say!”

“How arrogant the Mason family was!”

“It’s probably all over!”

“Ah, if it were an ordinary family, they would just have to swallow their anger. If the child died, then they died.”

“It was time to let some influential figures punish these bastards who disregarded human life!”

They looked up at Robin’s towering figure, hoping that the bad kids led by Margie in this school bullying incident would receive their deserved punishment!

Chapter 496 A Group of Officers

In shock, Lester trembled and said, "General Bruce, I was blind not to recognize Mount Tai!"

"I was about to contact the Mason family and the parents of three other students right then, to come to the school together to discuss this matter..."

"It's too late!" Robin said coldly, "There's no negotiation on this matter!"

"What does General Bruce mean?" Lester asked, puzzled.

"Debts must be paid, and a life taken must be repaid with a life!"

Chapter 497 I Know You Want Money

Pay back your debts, an eye for an eye!

Hiss!

Lester gasped.

"Thump, thump, thump," he took several steps back in succession!

Within the vast campus, the scene of hundreds of people watching was utterly silent.

The previous domineering attitude of Lester, where he was instructing others and looking down on the world, instantly vanished into thin air.

He looked at Robin's handsome face, as indifferent as water, in horror, his eyelids twitching wildly!

Debts must be repaid, and a life taken must be compensated with a life.

This general was intending to kill someone!

If an ordinary layman said such a thing, no one would believe it.

At most, it was harsh words spoken in a moment of anger by a reckless.

However, if this statement came from Robin, then it was absolutely true!

elementary school principal like him could afford to provoke.

He never expected that he would get involved in such a controversy.

The worst part was, I was still standing on the Mason family's side, brazenly spouting nonsense.

The Mason family! The Mason family was nothing in front of these characters!

At that moment, Lester was kicking himself.

If only I had known that Flora's parents had such impressive friends.

He would have been the first to stand up and slap those beast-like girls at school a long time ago!

To be honest, after he himself watched the video of Margie and a few other girls beating up Flora, he felt that she was no longer a little girl, but a beast!

The instinctive first reaction was, this kind of girl deserves to die!

They should be sent to a brothel and be fucked.

However, I had chosen to stand with the beasts.

Being a beast was easy, but becoming human again was hard.

In an instant, after the identities of Robin, Nia, and Rhonda were revealed on the scene, many people took out their phones and aimed their cameras at them.

Robin, Nia, and Rhonda, these three handsome men and beautiful women, suddenly became the center of attention.

Any one of them stepping forward would have been enough to crush the Mason family.

Not to mention three impressive figures?

What Ms. Finley said was not wrong at all.

Bullying people, they were the ancestors of the Mason family!

Crushing the Mason family was like crushing an ant.

The originally dull and oppressive campus was suddenly filled with anticipation.

Looking forward to justice arriving sooner!

“Kneel before Flora!” Robin commanded coldly.

Without any hesitation, Lester knelt down in front of Flora’s body.

Kevin looked around and also knelt down with Lester.

He believed that such behavior was also the result of Lester’s years of experience in this position.

Kneel if you must kneel. If you want to live as a superior person, you cannot have shame.

Had to be learned!

At that moment, Lester was praying incessantly in his heart.

Just hoped that the Mason family and the big shot behind the Mason family could negotiate this matter well with these gentlemen present.

He certainly didn’t want the gods to fight, innocently crushing a small figure like him.

“Rumble rumble...” A burst of intense engine noise, from far to near.

Several luxury cars stopped in front of the school gate.

Kovin hurriedly pulled Lester, “Mr. Zimmerman, Margie’s mother has arrived.”

All the watching parents and numerous media reporters all turned their heads to look sideways.

A wealthy woman in her thirties, dressed in luxurious clothes, and a girl of about eleven or twelve years old, stepped out of the luxury car.

This was the female protagonist of school bullying, Margie, and her mother Freda.

Four burly bodyguards followed behind this mother and daughter.

Behind them, three luxury cars were still trailing at a distance.

Three pairs of mothers and daughters got off the car, they were the other three girls who bullied Flora at school.

Conway, Barry and others trailed far behind them.

After getting off the car, Freda did not greet the parents of the other three girls.

As she twirled at her own pace, the “click-clack” sound echoed leisurely and casually through the silent campus.

It seemed not to be here to solve problems, but rather, to stroll by the lake walking the dog.

Under the gaze of everyone present, the woman walked up to Robin and the others, flicking her long false eyelashes, “Are you the parents of the girl who committed suicide?”

Seeing that no one was speaking. Freda sneered. “It’s just a child who died, right? Is it necessary to make such a big fuss, as if we are so unreasonable!”

“Actually, I knew what you people really wanted was to extort money, wasn’t it?!”

“No problem, I’ll give it to you! 20,000? Is that okay?” Freda asked impatiently, glancing at Robin.

In just two sentences, the woman’s haughty and arrogant demeanor was laid bare, as if she was stark naked.

Rhonda’s fists were clenched tightly, wishing she could punch this obnoxious woman to death.

Behind Freda, four burly bodyguards were sizing up Robin, Rhonda, and Nia with smirks on their faces, their eyes radiating intense provocation:

“I’ll give you fifty thousand, to kill your daughter, okay?” Robin pointed at Margie, who was nonchalantly laughing and looking at Flora’s corpse, and said with a playful smile.

Freda’s face turned cold instantly.

Before she could speak, her bodyguard Alfonso Cain, pointing at Robin, said, “Kid, speak respectfully, or else, we won’t be polite!”

Robin smirked, “Have you ever worked as a mercenary abroad?”

Alfonso shrugged proudly, “Oprington has been at war for four years. Kid, all my brothers here came from Oprington. If you don’t want to die, agree to the lady’s request immediately!”

Freda also urged, "What's the meaning of this, how much money do you guys actually need? Speak up quickly."

"Within a hundred thousand, I'll transfer it to you right now!"

Chapter 497 I Know You Want Money

At this point, he took out his phone, ready to transfer money at any moment, a look of disdain on his face. "Is it necessary to bring so many people just to extort money from me? Even if the child hadn't died, I wouldn't mind giving you a bit of charity!"

After speaking, he exchanged a smile with his daughter Margie, then looked at Flora's corpse.

Margie couldn't hold back for a moment and burst out laughing, "Hahaha..."

The children of the other three parents also joined in the laughter.

"I don't want money!" Robin's voice suddenly rang out amidst a group of people's laughter.

Freda scoffed, "No need for money, why make such a big fuss? So boring! Really!"

"I still had to go for a full body beauty and skin treatment later, what a waste of time! Since it's free, let's go!"

Having said that, he took Margie by the hand and turned to walk towards the school gate.

"I don't want money, but I want lives!" Robin's cold voice made the entire campus fall into deathly silence once again.

Chapter 498 The Vicious Girl

The steps Freda took came to a halt..

She slowly turned around.

Looking at Robin's young and handsome face under the afterglow of the sunset, a light suddenly shone before my eyes.

This young man possessed a unique and captivating charm that set him apart from the rest..

He was indifferent to everything, cold and rebellious.

Upon closer inspection, those eyes, as deep as the starry sea, surprisingly had not a trace of worldly impurities.

What a handsome and gallant man he was!

This was the most aristocratic man Freda had ever seen in her life.

In a dazed moment, she began to laugh recklessly.

“You were quite interesting as a young man, very handsome, and, moreover, you had a good sense of humor!”

“I suddenly kind of liked it, hahaha...”

“Speak up, you can ask for more if you want,” he said.

As Freda was speaking, she opened her bag, took out her phone and said, “How much money do you need? I’ll transfer it to you right away!”

The Margie beside her, with her eyes lightly scanning Robin, had a face full of an overwhelmingly superior air.

“Are you deaf, or is your brain filled with water!” Rhonda said in a deep voice.

“General Bruce had said, ‘We don’t want money, we just want lives!’”

Rhonda’s voice was like a clap of thunder, instantly chilling the surrounding air to freezing point.

Alfonso’s four bodyguards immediately glared in anger.

Assumed a posture as if ready to rush up and serve the master at any

Despite the raging fury in his eyes, he dared not step forward.

She pointed at Rhonda, viciously saying, “Alfonso, beat this woman up!”

“Subdue her and hand her over to me, I want to personally chop off her hands! I’ll puncture her eyeballs with a toothpick!”

The words that came out of Margie’s mouth shocked and horrified the watching parents.

She looked at Alfonso and his three companions with disdain, "You, a seven-foot man, who once fought passionately on the battlefield, are actually willing to be a slave! You're a disgrace to soldiers!"

A chill suddenly crossed Alfonso's face, "The lady has agreed to compensate, yet you still persist in creating chaos. What's the matter? Do you really want to make outrageous demands and severely blackmail?"

"You guys had never seen money before, had you?"

The three bodyguards behind also started to laugh lightly.

Robin glanced in the direction of Flora's body, "Someone has to keep vigil for Flora today, let these four servants kneel down. Colonel Chavez, get to it!"

Rhonda stood at attention and said. "Yes!"

Alfonso and the three bodyguards behind him, watching Robin and Rhonda's antics, burst into hearty laughter.

"Damn it, were you two putting on a show for me? One a general, the other a colonel, acting as if it was all real!"

"You turned such a simple matter into this mess, you really have no shame, do you?"

"Today, I will teach you how to be a person!"

Robin gave a slight nod, saying indifferently, "Let's give it a try then!"

Chapter 498 The Vicious Girl

No sooner had the words fallen than Rhonda shot out like a cannonball.

Alfonso tensed up suddenly, not expecting this beautiful woman to have such agility.

Just as he was about to fight, a bodyguard behind him stepped forward, "Alfonso, let me handle this woman..."

Before the words had even fallen, Rhonda had already landed a punch on the left ear of this bodyguard.

This guy stumbled, Rhonda seized the opportunity, and kicked him hard in the lower back.

“With a bang!”

The burly body of this bodyguard suddenly soared into the air, and knelt down in front of Flora’s corpse.

Rhonda didn’t give him any chance to catch his breath.

Immediately leaping to pursue, he forcefully landed on the legs of this bodyguard when his feet hit the ground.

With a “snap”, a horrific scream suddenly rang out, tearing through the entire campus with chilling fear!

The bodyguard’s two lower leg bones were completely shattered.

“Kneel properly!” Rhonda scorned.

“Hiss!” Alfonso and the other two’s eyes narrowed.

The injured bodyguard was a real mercenary who had once fought and risked his life with him on the battlefield of Orpington!

I was surprisingly beaten up by a girl with just a few punches and kicks!

Alfonso glared coldly at Rhonda and Robin, saying icily, “Are you really soldiers? If so, wasn’t your attack a bit too harsh?”

The corner of Robin’s mouth lifted slightly, “It’s just beating a servant, is there a need to show mercy?”

“Besides, you’re acting tough and then complain about others being ruthless? Did a donkey kick your head?”

Alfonso was so angry that he almost couldn’t catch his breath.

A gust of evening wind blew by, swaying the mottled tree shadows in the campus.

The crimson sunset, passed through the gaps between the shadows of the trees.

The scattered twilight was all spread over Robin’s tall and majestic figure.

Everyone took another look at the young general and the two heroines by his side.

A heavy hammer seemed to strike everyone's heart!

The vast school playground was filled with a dense crowd of onlookers, the silence was suffocating!

"Did you kneel down yourselves, or were you beaten down?" Robin raised his eyelids, looking indifferently at the three people, Alfonso.

Chapter 499 What a Heroine!

There was no emotional color, no malicious threat.

Only fragments of words, indifferent as the wind.

It seemed that what Robin said was not a brewing conflict.

Instead, it was just casual family chatter that was spoken.

The voice was not loud, the tone was gentle.

But it was like a flat lake through a stone, suddenly stirring up a layer of ripples and waves.

"Did I kneel down myself, or did I beat you guys down?"

The faces of Alfonso and the other two bodyguards were no longer filled with laughter.

A pale face, constantly twitching with tense nerves

At that moment, Alfonso was once again scrutinizing Robin's cold and rebellious face.

My heart suddenly trembled!

Years of battlefield slaughter had made him clearly realize that the person in front of him was indeed a truly ruthless character!

"Alfonso..." The two bodyguards, sensing something was amiss, asked anxiously.

This one inquiry instantly extinguished their previous arrogant demeanor, leaving it in shambles.

Alfonso was very angry.

Under such circumstances, wasn't it a foolish act that would disrupt our own formation and demoralize the troops once these words were spoken?

However, the other party was indeed too strong!

The ages of the three people were seven to eight years younger than their average.

However, a woman stepped in and took one of them down with a few punches and kicks.

Alfonso knew that Robin was the protagonist among the three, and Rhonda was the weakest one.

The weakest strike was delivered with such overwhelming force that they were left completely defenseless.

If the three of them had attacked at the same time. what a formidable terrifying force it would have been!

Such a comparison of strength was not even a heavyweight fight at all.

However, before they could figure out how to handle the awkward situation in front of them.

Rhonda had already flashed in front of them.

With a few seemingly ordinary moves, he kicked another bodyguard away.

Such an attack, identical in every way, would break the opponent's legs and leave them kneeling before Flora's corpse.

Two bodyguards knelt in front of Flora's body, sweating profusely.

The piercing pain and sense of shame made them wish they could find a hole to crawl into.

Looking at Flora's dead face in front of them, they felt a chill in their hearts.

What kind of powerful entity had the Mason family provoked!

Kneeling in front of them, Lester and Kevin felt as if they had plunged into hell.

The bodyguards of the Mason family were beaten up like this, it's estimated that their ending wouldn't be much better.

If he could survive today, the ancestral tomb of his Lester family must have been smoking.

Just as everyone was still in shock, another bodyguard also fell heavily to the ground.

The hard cement ground was instantly smashed into pieces.

A cloud of dust suddenly rose, and Freda's third bodyguard also knelt before Flora's corpse.

Looking at Flora's face, which was already severely damaged.

There were also wounds and bloodstains all over the body from being abused by Margie.

Moreover, Margie had punctured the shriveled eyeball.

Look again at the video of Freddie bullying Flora, playing it over and over again.

Three bodyguards, who were once soldiers, started to cry.

Was this even done by a human?

There was no need for the devils of the past to harm their own people, a few underage children could have done it!

A tremulous sobbing sound came, and Alfonso's body jolted suddenly.

He didn't know what had happened to his three companions.

Even if someone hit me, it wasn't worth crying over! –

It was so embarrassing!

However, the situation at hand made him extremely flustered.

Freda and the parents of the other three families had also sensed that something was not right.

Glancing up at the imposing aura of the three Robins, a chill ran down my spine instantly.

The strike of a weak woman was so ruthless, then...

Freda didn't dare to think further.

The words Robin had said kept echoing in my ears – pay your debts, and pay with your life for murder!

She hurriedly took out her phone, this time not to fix her makeup, but to call her husband, Miguel.

Urgently urged him to bring people over quickly, and moreover, bring more.

A patch of dappled sunset glow drifted over, enveloping Robin within.

At that moment, those stars were twinkling like drops of fresh blood.

Upon Robin's majestic figure, a king's aura that overlooked all beings was emanating.

Alfonso suddenly had a brainwave.

These three individuals were all such powerful entities.

Rhonda clapped her hands and stepped back to Robin's side.

Robin flicked his eyelids, looking indifferently at Alfonso: "Your turn!"

At that moment, Alfonso didn't know how to respond.

It was not a competition of the same level.

Even when they took action. they could not escape the ultimate humiliation, just like their three companions.

However, if he was asked to kneel down by himself. it was absolutely unacceptable to him!

He gritted his teeth hard, stubbornly spat out a sentence; "You... you're dreaming!"

Having said that, Alfonso also subconsciously took a half step back.

In fact, his psychological defenses had already collapsed!

It was obviously extremely scared.

However, for the last bit of a man's dignity, he was prepared to fight to the death.

Rhonda was about to step forward when Nia advanced a step, saying calmly, "I'll do it!"

Such casual indifference was as insignificant as crushing an ant.

Then, striding with long legs, stepping in combat boots, he approached Alfonso step by step.

With every step Nia took, Alfonso's heart felt like it was being brutally hammered.

At that moment, his face was as white as a sheet, his breathing rapid.

Alfonso knew that in the next moment, there would be no glory or pride left for him in this world!

Nia came before Alfonso.

The other party's eyelids were twitching wildly, yet they were unwilling to accept defeat.

With a hardened heart, a heavy punch was fiercely thrown at Nia.

Under this heavy punch, he had killed no less than thirty of the world's top martial artists.

However, as a beautiful figure drifted by, Alfonso's heavy punch eerily missed its mark.

A sound that tore through the void came from afar and approached from behind my head.

Before Alfonso could react, he was struck hard on the back of his head with a hammer, his body lifted off the ground, and he fell headfirst in front of Flora's corpse.

"Kneel down!" Following immediately, Nia kicked Alfonso in the back of his leg.

With a dull "thud!", two deep pits were smashed into the concrete ground.

A piercing pain shot through him, Alfonso knew his knee was shattered.

"What a bunch of trash! I'm ashamed for all of you, live your life on your knees!"

As Nia's voice faded, a wave of gasps swept through the vast campus.

"General Finley's granddaughter truly was a heroine!"

"Such skills, too amazing!"

Immediately after, the entire campus was quiet again, as silent and heavy as a dark cloud looming overhead.

Freda tightly gripped Margie's hand, shivering uncontrollably.

Her eyes kept looking towards the school gate, anxiously waiting for her husband to hurry up and come.

Robin, Nia, and Rhonda stood in place, but did not make any next move.

The entire campus instantly became so cold that it was suffocating.

All the onlookers understood that Robin was waiting for Freda's husband, Miguel, to bring reinforcements.

What kind of calm and composed demeanor was required to maintain such an unflappable attitude in the face of storm.

Five minutes later, more than a dozen luxury cars were parked in front of the school.

Thirty black-clad bodyguards ran in a neat line from outside the school gate.

A tall, chubby man in the crowd, with a cigar in his mouth, was briskly walking through the crowd while on his phone.

This man was indeed Margie's father. Miguel.

Freda saw Miguel arrive with bodyguards and shouted, "Husband, hurry up, these bastards have gone crazy!"

Chapter 500 The Mysterious Path

At half past four in the afternoon.

The setting sun shone obliquely, casting a brilliant golden light.

Municipal Government Compound, the Finley's house, a team of solemn, armed general guards stood in front of the door.

The Finley's house had distinguished guests today.

Inside the second floor reception room, the evening glow was full, making the stars dazzling.

Donovan had put on his long-forgotten two-star general's uniform today, sitting upright in the center of the reception room.

On the left was Randall, dressed in a general's uniform.

Sitting across from Randall was Roy Chavez, the Director of the Londraland Security Agency.

In the spacious living room, the stars of the lieutenant generals, carried on the shoulders of the three generals, shone brilliantly in the golden light of the setting sun's rays.

Roy frowned deeply as he looked at the top-secret letter handed over by Randall.

A moment later, he lifted those eyes, filled with traces of hardship, "Randall, are you suggesting that these disturbances are somehow connected to the Hanrock Valley massacre twenty years ago?"

Randall nodded, "You were there for the entire process of the Hanrock Valley massacre that year, you know it best."

Roy shook his head helplessly, "For twenty years, I've been conducting a secret investigation, but there has been no progress."

"That year, Lord Wyvern Jr. retreated back to Hallcester after a defeat in the southwest, and Hanrock Valley was turned into a river of blood overnight."

"Lord Wyvern Jr. was a figure of great influence and renown back in the day. Even if he wanted to leave Londraland, he would have likely left some traces behind."

"When we arrived at the scene in Hanrock Valley, it was littered with piles of corpses, not a blade of grass in sight."

"Before the investigators from Londraland Security Agency arrived, they had already sealed off all possible exits."

“Among all the routes leading to the border in Hanrock Valley, more than a dozen blockades were set up, but there was no trace of Lord Wyvern Jr.”

“Later on, I searched with the Criminal Investigation Division of LSA for seven days and seven nights, but Lord Wyvern Jr. was still nowhere. to be found.”

“Back then, the Londraland Security Agency had set up a dragnet centered on Hanrock Valley, extending 500 kilometers outward, but they didn’t find any clues.”

“Over the years, I had been wondering, was there some mysterious passage in Hanrock Valley that could lead to that unknown world we knew nothing about?”

Randall’s eyes lit up, “That’s a possibility! According to your theory, that so-called ancient magic weapon must also be related to this mysterious passage!”

“The message sent back by the Black Guards indicated that the top experts who recently infiltrated Hanrock Valley were all here for that ancient magic weapon.”

“What exactly was this ancient magic weapon? It was unknown!”

“Rumors had circulated in the martial arts world for decades, yet no one could clearly explain what it actually was.”

The most common theory was that the ancient magic weapon was a short dagger. Another theory suggested that it was a token made from ancient jade.

“As for what this ancient magic weapon actually did, no one ever knew.”

“Additionally, whether the ancient magic weapon truly existed or not remained a mystery.”

“Whether Lord Wyvern Jr. had any connection with the ancient artifact was completely unknown.”

“The sudden disturbance in Hanrock Valley this time should be investigated in connection with the bloody incident 20 years ago. We might gain something from it.”

Donovan nodded, “Hopefully, this investigation will be able to solve the mystery that has been hanging for 20 years.”

“If the case is not resolved before the election of the head of the Eight Lords in August next year, it will be difficult to clear the charge of betrayal against Lord Wyvern’s Mansion.”

Roy nodded, “The key to this case is to find out the truth about the death of 100 elite members of Wyvern Palace in the remote southwest. Only then can everything be clarified.”

At this point in the conversation, a hurried knocking sound came from outside the living room door.

Donovan glanced at Randall and Roy, who no longer brought up the Hanrock Valley incident.

Randall also put away the secret report envelope from Hanrock Valley.

“Come in!” Donovan responded.

“Excuse me, Generals!” Ethen said, quickly stepping forward with his phone in hand to Donovan.

“Father, there was something urgent I needed to inform you about.”

“What’s the matter?” Donovan asked, seeing the serious look on Ethen’s face, his eyebrows slightly furrowed.

“Father, Nia had arrived at Hallcester.”

Donovan was somewhat surprised, “What’s the big deal? Isn’t it normal for one’s own child to come home?”

“That’s not what I meant. Nia is currently at Hallcester Lakeside Primary School, with Mr. Bruce,” Ethen explained.

A smile spread across Donovan's face, "Wouldn't it be better to be with Robin?"

"Hey, what was she doing with Robin at Hallcester Lakeside Primary School?"

Ethen hesitated for a moment, "A bullying incident occurred at Hallcester Lakeside Primary School. Flora, the daughter of Freddie, the President of Southern District Development Corporation, committed suicide as a result of this bullying incident."

"Was the one who committed suicide by jumping off a building at noon today."

Donovan's eyes widened instantly, "What?! Freddie... I remember he was with Robin."

Ethen nodded.

Donovan seemed to realize something. "Robin and Nia stood up for Freddie?"

Ethen nodded shakily, "Father, do you mean to say that their current status is inappropriate for this matter? Should I call them back?"

Donovan frowned, "Randall was just talking to me about the cyberbullying incidents at school, these kids are terrible!"

"The law was still not quite perfect back then!"

At this point, Donovan paused for a moment in thought, "What's wrong with them participating!"

"Upholding social justice is everyone's responsibility! Let alone a soldier!"

"Was that a live video on your phone?"

Ethen nodded, "Yes."

"Let me see, how far has the situation progressed?"

Ethen placed his phone on the table.

The live situation at Hallcester Lakeside Primary School was being broadcasted, showing Miguel entering the campus, preparing to confront Robin and others.

After reading it, Donovan slammed his hand on the table, "Damn it, a bunch of beasts!"

"Ethen, notify the guards to prepare the car, and bring along the general's guard from the Finley's house! Today, I am going to the scene to support my granddaughter!"

“These bullies who abused their power were simply lawless!”

“Ah!” Randall pointed at Rhonda on the screen, deliberately saying, “Roy, your daughter is here too.”

“Huh?” Roy immediately widened his eyes.

“Yeah, wasn’t she at Mount Ammo Training Base? How did she end up here?”

A smirk tugged at the corner of Randall’s mouth, “She works for Nia, of course she had to come with her.”

“Uh, General Finley, I’ll go with you!” Roy immediately stood up and said urgently.

Randall tugged at him, “Chief Chavez, about the matter of Hanrock Valley...”

“Hadn’t the matter at Hanrock Valley not even started yet? My people have already gone to investigate. My daughter’s issue is even more urgent!” Roy said, as he hurriedly rushed out.

Randall looked at Roy’s nervous expression and laughed, “I’ll go with you guys too.”

Rhonda was the daughter he only had when he was forty.

Roy treated his precious daughter as more important than his own life.

Anything related to his daughter could be done without any hesitation.

Roy walked out the door, pointing at his head of security, “Take all the guards from the security team with me to Hallcester Lakeside Primary School, there’s an urgent mission! Whoever dares to bully my daughter, I’ll deal with him!”
