Chapter 60 That's Mine!

The business at Food Zone was exceptionally booming during lunchtime.

Most office workers, shoppers, and business people in this area would generally choose to dine here. Crystal quickly caught up with Robin.

All the few exquisite private rooms in the Food Zone were fully booked.

They had to choose a seat by the window in the dining hall.

Crystal ordered a table full of dishes and looked at Robin, who was about to start eating. "So. Miss, are you satisfied with the dishes | arranged for today?"

"Make do." Robin replied without even lifting his head.

Damn it, is it so difficult for you to say something nice?

He picked up the glass and drank it straight down.

Phew!

Alcohol could alleviate a thousand sorrows!

Alcohol could relieve the worldly troubles!

Alcohol can... Alcohol strengthens the coward's courage!

Why not speak out your heart while under the influence of alcohol?

1000

Crystal felt much better as she exhaled a deep breath.

"Ah, Robin, | wanted to tell you something..." Crystal, under the influence of alcohol, had a hazy look in her mesmerizing eyes. "Huh?" Robin glanced at Crystal and was startled.

The woman's gaze was very strange!

| was being watched as if | were her prey.

Allittle bit of a faster heartbeat!

“What... what do you want?” Robin blinked, glanced down at himself, and instinctively looked at the other person’s fair neck. Crystal noticed Robin’s expression.

With the emotions brewed by alcohol, it suddenly deflated like a balloon.

Oops! | couldn’t say anything.

Fuck you!

“Robin, you jerk!” Crystal exclaimed angrily, unable to hold back her frustration.

“What?” Robin was confused and gave her a disdainful look. “You jerk! You’re sick, woman!”

“Um... no, | couldn’t control myself for a moment and blurted out what was on my mind...” Crystal hesitated, unable to find a topic.

Robin was even more speechless, “So you have been cursing me in your heart all along?” Crystal smiled awkwardly and said, “No, not always... What | mean is, 1231

1. um. Robin, you also hold the fork with your right hand, right?”

Robin was stunned for a while, looking at Crystal’s flushed cheeks and panicked eyes. “You, woman, must not have good intentions in your heart!”

Oh my goodness!

Crystal hummed and picked up the last piece of the big drumstick from Robin’s plate. taking a fierce bite.

“That’s mine!” Robin exclaimed as Crystal took the drumstick from his plate

She also picked up a drumstick from the plate in front of her and, by the way, also picked up an extra chicken claw “That’s mine!” Crystal exclaimed, “Why are you so stingy, man!”

“Who told you to steal my drumstick!” Robin angrily took a bite.

This scene happened to be witnessed by Madeline, Blanca, Maurice Chandler, and others passing by them. Madeline looked at the scene and laughed, “Hehehe...”

Crystal immediately stopped fighting and gave Robin a disdainful look, muttering. “Damn it, even stealing a drumstick from me!” Madeline secretly ran to the ordering counter and ordered a drumstick. for each of them.

Blanca’s dining table was not far from Robin.

Robin and Crystal learned that Madeline had brought them drumsticks and nodded to her to thank her.

Chapter 60 That’s Mine!

Blanca glared at Madeline and said, “Are you stupid? Why would you give them any food? You don’t have a job yet, so stop being generous!”

Madeline stuck out her tongue and said, “Thanks to my big brother, I was saved this morning. Otherwise, I wouldn’t have known what the situation was.”

“Is that the man you were talking about? Look at him, is he the kind of brave hero you described? He even fights with a woman over a drumstick, what a disgrace!”

Blanca cast a disdainful glance at Robin and said, “Moreover, that whole incident in the morning might have been staged by him himself! You fool!”

Madeline whispered. “No way, Blanca. Big brother is not as terrible as you imagine.” “What’s going on?” Maurice, who was standing nearby, was completely confused. “What are you all talking about?”

Blanca recounted the incident of Madeline buying youtiao in the morning and sarcastically said, “Maurice, tell me, how successful can a man be who waits in line for over ten minutes for a few dollars’ worth of youtiao in the morning?”

Maurice nodded with a smile, “Blanca is right, | could tell that guy wasn’t very sophisticated, he was indeed a bit uncouth.” Madeline whispered, “Maybe they were boyfriend and girlfriend, isn’t it normal for them to play around together?”

“And, that incident in the morning, my big brother really saved me. How could he possibly stage such a performance just for me... Blanca gave a cold smile and said, “For a girl like you, he certainly wouldn’t go through such great lengths.” Chapter 60 That’s Minel

“Didn’t | tell you? He must have wanted to get close to you to get my attention!”

“| wouldn’t even glance at a man like this, who lacks manners and taste!”

Maurice hurriedly smiled and deflected, “Alright, let’s not talk about others. Madeline is also simple-minded and has little experience with worldly affairs. In the future, after entering the workplace, she will gradually understand.”

Blanca shook her head and said, “Maurice has only been with the Huber Group for six months, and he has already been promoted to the position of Deputy Team Leader in the Sales Department. That’s really impressive.”

During his time at school, Maurice admired Blanca.

This time, Blanca found him because of the job application for the Eastern District Development Corporation under the Huber Group.

He would certainly do his best. “Not bad. Due to my performance at work, there is a high possibility that | will be promoted to Team 1 leader in the near future.”

Maurice exclaimed, “The team leader told me that tomorrow will be the first day of the company’s establishment, and | might even have the chance to meet the company’s president!”

“Oh, Maurice is so amazing!” Madeline exclaimed.

“| was just dumb, and | didn’t know if | could get into a big company like the Huber Group”

“When | went for the interview today, | was almost late.”

"I saw that the interviewer was not happy, I'm afraid I won't have the opportunity to work with Maurice as a colleague." "Fortunately, Blanca helped me say a lot of good things to the interviewer, and that's how my resume got accepted."

Blanca gave her a disdainful look, "You, always so careless, can't you prioritize properly? Can't you come for the interview first before having breakfast? Really!"

Maurice smiled and said. "It's okay, I will go and talk to the interviewer from the HR Department. I will let them know that you two are my juniors, and that will be fine." Madeline exclaimed happily, "Maurice, what do you like to eat? Today, I will treat you."

"Huh?" Maurice hesitated for a moment, "Let's go Dutch, it's common nowadays."

"How can I possibly do this, senior? Let me do it instead," Madeline insisted.

"Madeline, don't be like this! Let's just follow what the senior said and split the bill evenly." Blanca's eyes flashed a hint of subtle disdain, but she continued to smile on her face.

According to her thoughts, since Maurice liked her so much, this meal should definitely be his treat.

Moreover, there was only one man here, and he was also the only one who had a job and received a salary.

Madeline had no choice but to give up.

Robin and Crystal passed by them after they had finished lunch.

Madeline quickly got up and smiled, saying. "Big brother, in the future. I will treat you to a good meal when there is a chance. Robin smiled and asked, "How did your job interview at the Huber Group go?"

"... managed to catch up, but I still didn't know the final outcome. However, it doesn't matter, I can accept whatever result," Madeline said happily

"Brother, can you leave me your contact information?"

Without waiting for Robin to answer, Crystal said directly. "His name is Robin. Add him as a Line friend, and I will give you his account.

"Don't worry, if you really want to join the Huber Group, it's just a matter of a word from your brother. Robin hurriedly stopped him and said. "Don't listen to her nonsense, let's go."

"Oh, you're also from the Huber Group? Do you know anyone from the HR Department? Hehe..." Maurice looked Robin up and down upon hearing this.

"I heard that you were quite skilled, you must have been a security guard in the Security Department." "Um..." Robin didn't want to answer this question.

The disdainful expression in Maurice and Blanca's eyes became even stronger

A little security guard dared to say that he could handle Madeline's onboarding matters.

"Ah, I was the vice. of Team 1 in the Sales Department of the Huber Group." Maurice's words were cut short as Robin pulled Crystal towards the cash register. Maurice shook his head. "Haha, lower-class people do have a bad temper, what you said is not entirely false! Haha..."

Blanca looked at Robin's back, shook her head, and sneered. "He's afraid to say too much, embarrassed in front of me. This kind of person is really ridiculous."

"Let's not talk about him anymore, let's order our food. "Excuse me. which one is Ms. Pearson?" asked a waiter, holding a special set menu for king crab.

"Ah? I was..." Madeline nervously said.

"Hello, Ms. Pearson, this lunch was ordered for you by Mr. Bruce. The payment has been made, please enjoy it with peace of mind.

Three people looked at this exclusive package worth 2800 dollars and were dumbfounded.

Chapter 62

Chapter 62 Cosmo Mall

Cosmo Mall was the headquarters of the Cox family's industry in Hallcester.

Ten years ago, Emilio Cox, the father of Chester and Dewey, founded Cosmo Bar here. Then, Emilio became friends with Barry.

With the support of Demon's Lair's second-in-command, Emilio's Cosmo Bar flourished. In just three years, Cosmo Bar expanded rapidly.

More and more shops moved in.

Evolved into today's Cosmo Mall.

The main projects currently operated include bars, dance halls, and small movie theaters.

Due to the fact that the projects operated by Cosmo Mall mainly cater to the middle and lower-end consumer levels, the popularity has always been high.

There was no entertainment city in Hallcester that could compare to Cosmo Mall in terms of this level.

Today is the weekend, and even though it is daytime, Cosmo Mall is still bustling with crowds, just like after midnight. Maurice took Blanca into Cosmo Mall.

The noisy and restless environment surrounding immediately infected

Looking at the group of men and women who had already entered a state of midnight revelry, Maurice was also extremely excited.

At this moment, walking beside the admired junior student Blanca, there was a hidden impulse in my heart for many years, wanting to burst out.

“Blanca, you don’t have to worry about your job at Eastern District Development Corporation anymore. With me here, I guarantee that you will be able to smoothly enter the Huber Group.”

“After joining the Huber Group, I will introduce you to some of the supervisory colleagues and encourage you to communicate with them. It is important to build connections within the company.”

“Working for one or two years and becoming a team leader in the department should be no problem.” Blanca smiled and remained silent.

She joined the Huber Group, not just to simply find a job and become a team leader in a department. Her ambition was to enter the core leadership of the Huber Group.

Become the right-hand man of Karina.

I wanted to become a person like Karina in the end.

When the conditions were ripe, after entering Karina’s level, I would then find a president-level ideal husband for myself. She set herself a three-year deadline to complete this process!

A year ago, she had already prepared this three-year plan.

And, the beloved husband in my heart had long been chosen.

He was the president of World Real Estate and the eldest son of the Reynell family, Nathen.

Due to having a clear and firm goal in mind.

Blanca, unlike Maurice, who had a narrow vision, did not lose her mind in the nightlife environment. In any situation, | would deliberately keep my mind clear and strive to protect my established image. Never would he destroy his own image.

Nor would one allow oneself to ruin one's grand plan with a momentary negligence.

The reason she followed Maurice to Cosmo Mall.

Just to get familiar with some useful connections in this circle.

In her character setting, she would never associate with people who have no value.

In her opinion, it was simply a waste of time.

She had never set foot in this kind of entertainment city.

"Mr. Chandler, over here, over here!"

A group of men around the same age as Maurice, saw them walking into Cosmo Mall from a distance and greeted them loudly. Of course, Maurice also noticed Blanca by his side.

Most of these people were lower-level managers from various major companies that invested in the Eastern Business District. 24.70%

Blanca was not very interested in these people.

However, in order to establish oneself in this circle in the future, it wouldn't hurt to temporarily get to know more people at this level.

Maybe one day | can make use of these connections.

Once they had truly achieved success, they could abandon them all. The ideal steps always need to be climbed one by one.

Blanca was a girl with clear goals and direction.

Every step in life was planned and set in advance.

Then, one goal after another was achieved.

She prepared to gradually move from the lower class to the upper echelons of society with extremely rigorous thinking and actions.

Of course, accepting the invitation from senior Maurice before joining the company was also a small part of her plan.. Maurice brought Blanca in front of this group of friends and was particularly excited.

Before even opening their mouths to introduce themselves, a group of people started mocking.

“Mr. Chandler, is this your girlfriend?”

“It was really beautifull”

“Wow, Mr. Chandler’s girlfriend could easily rival our Hallcester’s No. 1 beauty, Ms. Huber, hahaha...” Maurice, of course, was pleased to hear these words and did not argue.

| wanted to express my feelings to Blanca through their words.

Blanca was happy about being compared to Karina.

However, she didn’t want people to misunderstand that she was Maurice’s girlfriend.

In that case, one would lower oneself.

All along, Blanca also knew that Maurice was interested in her.

She was going to be the president's wife.

How could she possibly like a man like Maurice, who was of such low status?

However, due to the other person's self-esteem, she wouldn't express her unwillingness too sharply. So, I quickly explained, "Everyone misunderstood, we are not in that kind of romantic relationship." "Maurice has always been my most respected senior, I will always treat him like my own brother." "With Maurice's identity and talent, he would definitely find a girl who is even more outstanding than me." "I only want to have a good job now, as for a boyfriend, I won't consider it for the time being."

Upon hearing this, Maurice could only awkwardly smile.

Robin and Crystal walked into Cosmo Mall.

Robin chuckled and said. "In the eyes of a girl like her, I was nothing more than a lowly man who couldn't make it to the top Even if I liked her, it wouldn't make a difference!"

“Was | that boring?” Robin pouted.

“Why were you staring at her as soon as you entered Cosmo Mall?” Crystal asked, displeased.

Robin looked at Crystal and said, “I liked to be curious, what’s Wrong?”

Crystal was about to angrily confront Robin.

Suddenly, two men approached Blanca.

That kind of expression clearly indicated that they had already spotted the prey they were interested in. Under the flickering light, Crystal felt that the faces of these two men were somewhat familiar.

“Were you paying attention to those two men?”

Robin did not answer Crystal’s question and continued walking forward.

At this moment, two Valluynnian men walked up to Blanca, pushing through the crowd and placing their arms directly on her shoulders.

Maurice and the others immediately became quiet. | didn’t know what relationship these two men had with Blanca.

After a brief moment of astonishment, Blanca immediately struggled to remove the man’s arm and angrily exclaimed. “Get away!”

“Beauty, why pretend to be virtuous and innocent when you come to this place? Hahaha... Come, let us take you to the second floor where the VIP private rooms are even more interesting. We guarantee that you will have an amazing time.”

Two Valluynnian men. once again, forcefully embraced Blanca and burst into laughter. The group of people surrounding Blanca were instantly dumbfounded.

For such hooligans and ruffians, they really didn't know how to deal with them. Maurice couldn't sit still.

After all, Blanca came here with me.

And, he had even deeper feelings for Blanca. With such a great opportunity to be a hero and save her, of course he had to step forward.

“Who do you think you are? Let her go! Apologize to Blanca immediately!” Two Valluynnian men glanced at Maurice and smirked. “Kid, you better get lost!” Maurice’s heart skipped a beat, clearly noticing the murderous glint in the eyes of the two men.

However, I have already stepped forward, and if I were to retreat now. I would never have another chance in front of Blanca again..

“You... let her go...”

“Bang!” Before Maurice could finish his sentence, a man named Valluynn kicked him and sent him flying.

Chapter 63 You're Looking for Death!

Maurice was kicked down to the ground by Dallas.

Everyone who was at the party with him immediately fell silent.

At this moment, they finally realized that these two men were not Londralish and were not good people.

Dallas and Francisco saw everyone so scared that they didn't dare to make a sound.

Pointing at Maurice and others disdainfully, he said, “A bunch of cowards, all of you, get out of here!”

With that, he dragged Blanca and headed towards the second floor.

Maurice struggled to get up from the ground and said, “Stop! Do you know where you are? This is the Cox family’s property!”

“The Cox family, relying on Demon's Lair and Hashville Martial Arts Union, do you dare to mess around here? Aren’t you afraid of being taken down by the security of Cosmo Mall?”

In a moment of urgency, Maurice moved the Cox Group’s backing. Demon's Lair and Hashville Martial Arts Union, out. The two Valluynnian men were slightly startled. If what Maurice said is true, it is indeed not good.

Although they were not afraid of Demon’s Lair and Hashville Martial Arts Union, they would attract unnecessary trouble because of it.

The main purpose of coming to Hallcester this time was for Carly’s matter

If any additional trouble arose, it would be difficult to explain upon returning.

However, when they saw the security guards at Cosmo Mall, they didn’t have much of a reaction. And then he relaxed again.

Cosmo Mall generally does not intervene in minor conflicts between customers.

They would only intervene unless there was a major brawl, or it involved influential figures or severe incidents. Something like this is very common.

In the end, the people who come to this kind of occasion, whether you are a man or a woman, all understand what kind of place this is.

Since you have come, you must bear the rules of the game here!

If you can't afford to play, then don't come!

Unless you had the ability to manipulate the rules of the game here. After a brief hesitation, two Valluynnian men burst into laughter.

Francisco walked up to Maurice and kicked him in the stomach, saying. "If you dare to cause trouble again, you won't be as comfortable. as you are now, you'll be dead!"

Maurice looked at the terrifying glint in the eyes of the two Valluynnian men and dared not make another sound. He believed that if he dared to say one more word, these two fierce 1323 guys could really ruin him.

None of the friends who gathered with Maurice dared to stand up.

Most of them were newly appointed junior managers from various companies.

In Hallcester's social circle, there were only a few poor individuals who were completely powerless. Not to mention being able to bring out any big shots, let alone to intimidate the two men from Valluynn. In this situation, everyone chose to play it safe and stay as far away as possible.

Blanca faced such a situation and felt extremely desperate.

At that moment, she saw Robin and Crystal walking in from outside the Cosmo Mall, and her heart leaped with joy. However, this joy quickly turned into disdain.

This jerk! Hypocrite!

He pretended not to see me being held hostage!

It must be because of worrying about getting into trouble that one deliberately pretends not to see! This useless man!

| thought Robin could lend a hand to Madeline.

In the current situation, it was even more necessary to stand up for her and prevent the unlawful actions of these two Valluynnian men.

However, Robin, the jerk, didn't even look at her and went straight to 2587% the second floor.

Obviously, he was afraid of these two fierce men.

| don't know what kind of perspective Madeline had, but how could she think that Robin, such a useless man, was a brave and good man..

From Robin's current performance.

Blanca became even more certain that Robin had orchestrated a heroic act to save Madeline in the morning. In despair, Blanca had no choice but to shout for help from the security. guards of Cosmo Mall. However, the security guards did not arrive quickly.

Instead, after Blanca called for help, they chose to stay away from this troubled area.

They didn't want to disturb the customers who were consuming here too much.

Because the people who come to this place are basically seeking excitement.

Excessive intervention would only cause unnecessary losses to the entertainment city.

If inadvertently provoking a big shot, there would be even bigger trouble.

Blanca's call sign had no effect here.

But it brought even more mockery.

"Coming here was just for fun. If you couldn't afford it, why the hell did you come to the entertainment city? Are you sick?"

Robin arrived at the reserved private room on the second floor.

Barry had been waiting here for a long time.

After seeing Robin, he quickly stood up and saluted, "Mr. Bruce, I wonder why you asked me to come here. Is there something you want to instruct me?"

Robin looked at Barry's posture and it was much more honest than that day at Purple Peak Club. However, one can still see a hint of reluctance in their eyes.

He knew that Conway would not reveal his true identity to Barry.

Barry was afraid of him because of Conway's instructions.

He pointed at the two Valluynnian men on the first floor and said, "You bring those two people to the private room and tell them that the person they are looking for is waiting for them there."

"Those two people, Valluynn's?" Barry looked downstairs, puzzled.

"Yes, those two are not Londralish?" Robin nodded.

Half an hour ago, Barry arrived at Cosmo Mall.

He had also noticed that the two men had been wandering around. Cosmo Mall for quite a while.

It was obviously searching for prey.

And, it was also known that these two men were experts.

He was not sure about the relationship between Robin and these two people.

49.215

12:35

However, since Robin had given the order, the subordinates immediately went to carry it out: “You guys go downstairs...” Robin pointed at Barry and said, “You go yourself, immediately!”

Barry was taken aback.

Although unwilling, he dared not defy Robin’s words.

Until now.

He couldn't fully figure out why Conway suddenly changed his attitude towards Robin on the day of Purpeak Club.

And, contrary to the previous agreement with the Reynell family, such significant sacrifices and concessions were made for the Huber Group.

Was this abnormal behavior due to Harold or Robin? With the support of his two subordinates, Barry quickly arrived on the first floor. Blocked the way of two Valluynnian men.

“Wait a moment, both of you. Someone asked me to pass on a message to you. The person you are looking for is in Room 203 on the second floor, waiting for you.”

Two Valluynnian men instantly froze, the smiles on their faces slowly fading away, their eyes immediately turning cold. They released Blanca.

Without saying much, | followed Barry upstairs.

Blanca was confused.

the second-in-command of Demon’s Lair, Barry.

Watching Barry's figure, she didn't know why this person had saved her.

At that moment, she caught a glimpse of Nathen passing by on the second floor, and her eyes lit up instantly. Could it be, could it be that Mr. Reynell saved me?

As she was gazing up at Nathen's figure upstairs.

Nathen stopped and looked downstairs, a bright smile appeared on his face like sunshine. Blanca's heart "thumped" for a moment.

Could it be that Mr. Reynell also admired my beauty in the past?

At this thought, her heart raced wildly.

It must have been him!

It must have been Mr. Reynell who came to my rescue!

There were not many people in Hallcester who could make Barry take responsibility.

Blanca hurriedly took two steps, intending to catch up to the second floor and personally thank Mr. Reynell for coming to her rescue.

At this moment, Nathen, Jacob, and Miranda walked inside.

Blanca had to stop in her tracks.

Perhaps Mr. Reynell didn't want too many people to know...

"Blanca, are you okay?" Maurice walked up to Blanca and asked.

Blanca tried to calm down her excited emotions.

Looking back at the injuries on Maurice's face, he apologized, "Maurice, I'm sorry for getting you hurt because of my actions."

Maurice smiled and shook his head, "Blanca, you're being too formal by saying that. Being able to endure some injuries for you is nothing, even if they were to kill me, I wouldn't be afraid!"

Blanca's mouth twitched, and she silently thought to herself, "Even if you were to protect me with your life, I still wouldn't be interested in you."

However, there was still a sweet smile on her face. "Senior, thank you. so much. I will remember it." Maurice was extremely excited!

a

Dallas and Francisco arrived at compartment number three.

Barry and the others waited outside.

Robin led Crystal into the lounge inside the private room.

Then, I looked up at them.

"Why are you following me? Are you tired of the Hart family?"

Dallas and Francisco used to be indifferent.

At that moment, they noticed the object that the person in front of them was playing with in their hand. Suddenly shocked!

This is a Dragon Dagger that represented power and life and death!

Before the two Valluynnian men could speak, Robin’s Dragon Dagger had already pierced the throats of the two Valluynnian men.

The blood on the Dragon Dagger gushed out, emitting a hot and bloody mist.

In an instant, a terrifying breath spewed out from the groove, devouring the remaining blood without a trace. A cold light flashed by.

The bodies of two Valluynnian assassins shook violently...

In about five seconds, two robust bodies turned into a shriveled skin sack.

The ice-cold Dragon Dagger, radiating a chilling light.

A soaring dragon, flashed with a momentary golden light.

The dazzling cold weapon of Jinlin instantly regained its dull and mediocre appearance...

If you haven't witnessed its ferocity when it kills and devours, you would never believe that this is a weapon capable of instantly taking lives and craving blood.

After absorbing the essence from two assassins, the Dragon Dagger excitedly leaped twice before finally flying quietly into its sheath.

“Come in,” Robin said, wiping his palms with a wet wipe and calling out.

Barry pushed the door open and walked in, “Mr. Bruce, what do you command...” Seeing the two bodies lying on the ground, Barry was so scared that his legs went weak, and he almost collapsed on the ground. Two corpses, as if drained, had no trace of blood on their bodies.

This horrifying scene was the first time he had ever seen it in his life.

“Ugh!”

A foul smell wanted to spew out from the stomach.

Swallowed it back forcefully.

“Let your people throw them directly into Gloom Valley,” Robin said, throwing the wet cloth in his hand onto the bodies of the two men.

Barry was completely soaked, “Yes, yes, yes! | will go and handle it myself immediately!”

“This small matter can be handled by your subordinates. | have something that requires your personal attention!” Robin stood up and opened the door inside.

Crystal was pressing her ear against the door, listening to the sounds outside.

Robin suddenly opened the door, which startled her. “I, | was just about to open the door.”

At this moment, the dead body outside has already been cleaned up.

Crystal looked around the room and saw Barry standing in front of Robin, sweating profusely. “Take out Dewey’s IOU,” Robin gestured.

“Ah?” Crystal paused for a moment, “Oh, me, okay.”

Robin handed the IOU to Barry, "Deliver this to Chester, I'm picking up the car now. Dewey is dealing with the shares at the Cox Group, tomorrow you help Ms. Thompson with it."

Barry took the IOU, completely confused. "Mr. Bruce, Dewey..."

"Dead! Last night, he raced with me and fell off Hanrock Valley. The car was destroyed and he died," Robin said expressionlessly.

"Okay, okay, Mr. Bruce, please wait a moment, I will go and handle it right away!" Barry left the private room and took a long breath of relief.

The atmosphere in the private room was too oppressive!

At that moment, he finally understood that Conway was not afraid of the Huber family, but of this revered deity! The method of killing and the indifference made him almost collapse.

He hurriedly took a few steps and hid in a corner, dialing Conway's phone number.

"Mr. Lambert, I wanted to inquire about something. What was the background of Mr. Bruce?"

12:36

Chapter 64 Mess With the Wrong Guy

"Huh?" Conway paused briefly before angrily exclaiming, "Barry, do you fucking want to die?"

"If you dare to provoke Mr. Bruce, I will kill you first!"

"Where were you now?"

Barry whispered, "I am currently at Cosmo Mall, Mr. Bruce asked me to come here."

"Just now, he killed two Valluynn assassins..."

"What?" Conway gasped, "Barry, if you want to stay alive, you must not mention a single word about Mr. Bruce!" "I understood, Mr. Lambert," Barry continued.

“Emilio’s son Dewey, for some unknown reason, raced with Mr. Bruce at Hanrock Peak last night and crashed into Hanrock Valley, resulting in the death of both individuals.”

“Before the car race, a life-or—death contract was written, with the bet being a top-notch Porsche 918 and all of Dewey's shares in the Cox Group.”

“It was Ms. Thompson from the Thompson family who signed the contract. Mr. Bruce asked me to collect this bet for him.”

Conway paused for a moment and said. “Tell Emilio to pay up immediately, or else my Demon’s Lair will directly take over the Cox Group!”

“Also, pay attention to the relationship between Ms. Thompson and Mr. Bruce from the Thompson family.”

“Got it, Mr. Lambert. I'll take care of it right away,” Barry said, hanging up the phone and letting out a long sigh of relief. 33.96%

In my heart, fortunately | did not make one mistake after another, otherwise, | might also be lying in Gloom Valley now. In the future, we must take good care of this old man.

Barry wiped his sweat and immediately arrived at Emilio’s office on the top floor.

Emilio was very surprised.

“Mr. Newell, what wind has blown you here?” Emilio said with a smile.

“Emilio, today | came to collect the debt. Take a look at this, and help me settle it immediately.”

Barry handed the IOU and the life and death contract to Emilio.

Emilio paused for a moment and smiled, saying, “Mr. Newell, you're really joking. What kind of OU or debt do we have between you and me? My success today is all thanks to the care of Mr. Newell and Mr. Lambert.”

"You can take the assets of the Cox Group anytime. Tell me, Mr. Newell, what do you want? Take whatever you like." Barry said seriously, "Look at the IOU, I'm not joking with you! Your son offended the wrong people."

Emilio saw that Barry was not joking with him, so he lowered his head and looked at the IOU and the life-and-death contract in his hand.

Suddenly, his hands trembled: "Dewey is dead? Who, who did it? I will annihilate his entire family!" When he looked up and saw the indifferent expression on Barry's face, he took a sharp breath. Chapter 64 Mess With the Wrong Guy

"Dewey offended Mr. Lambert? The Thompson family's young lady was Mr. Lambert's..."

Barry shook his head and said, "It's not that I offended Mr. Lambert, but I offended Mr. Bruce."

"Mr. Bruce? Which Mr. Bruce?" Emilio asked through gritted teeth, suppressing his anger and sorrow.

"Mr. Newell, what was his background?"

Barry shook his head and said, "I don't know, but you shouldn't ask anyway."

"Mr. Newell, we have been friends for so many years, you must let me know who exactly this Mr. Bruce is."

"I can't just die without any explanation and still have to compensate him with a car, as well as twenty percent of the shares in the Cox Group!"

Barry glanced at Emilio's mixed expression of sadness and anger and said, "That was the person who ruined Hashville Butcher at the outsourcing negotiation meeting of the Purpeak Club, the Eastern Business District project."

Emilio paused for a moment and sneered, "Mr. Newell, I have also heard of this person, but he was just a thug bodyguard around the Huber Group."

"This person had once been engaged to Miss Brown of the Brown family. He came to Hallcester alone, and the Brown family publicly tore up the engagement. He is just a wretched dog, why should I be afraid of him!"

"I don't recognize this IOU! Dewey is already dead, and I won't let him off the hook!" Chapter 13 Mess With the Wrong Guy

Barry scratched his obese head, leaning back on the couch, and said coldly. "Suit yourself, if you do that, Mr. Lambert said he would wipe out the Cox family directly!"

Emilio looked at Barry in astonishment and asked, "What do you mean? Is he Mr. Lambert's person?"

Barry snorted coldly, "Mr. Lambert is someone to be respected, I don't know whose person he is specifically, but my words are clear in this place pick up the car within half an hour!"

"The stock transfer will be completed by tomorrow noon. Beyond this time, Demon's Lair will take direct action!" Emilio's face turned pale instantly. "Is this really what Mr. Lambert said?"

Barry stood up and checked the time. "Mr. Bruce gave me half an hour, and ten minutes have already passed. Whether you do it or not, the consequences are on you!"

He finished speaking and turned around to walk away.

Emilio was instantly confused.

"Wait a moment, Mr. Newell, I will have someone bring the car over right away. Dewey's garage has this model of car." Barry nodded and said, "Alright, I will come to pick up the share transfer agreement tomorrow at noon."

Emilio watched Barry's back, his eyes filled with a raging anger that soared to the sky.

He immediately arranged for someone to send the car to the front of Cosmo Mall lobby, and then made a phone call. Chapter 14 Mess With the Wong Guy

"Chester, when can you come back? Your younger brother had an accident."

"This person's name was Robin. Last night, he raced cars with Dewey..."

On the other end of the phone, Chester's cold voice came through, "You handle it for now, I will rush back to Cosmo Mall tomorrow morning."

Emilio hung up the phone and slumped onto the couch.

Ten minutes later, a Porsche 918 Spyder was parked in front of Cosmo Mall, attracting a crowd of people.

Outside this kind of entertainment city, a multi-million-dollar luxury car suddenly appeared, instantly causing a sensation. Blanca followed Maurice and others out of Cosmo Mall.

They saw the dazzling Porsche and were amazed, unable to resist stopping to watch.

At this moment, Robin and Crystal pushed through the crowd and approached Porsche. They were about to open the car door.

Blanca took a step forward and said, "I advise you not to touch someone else's luxury car. If you accidentally scratch it, you won't be able to afford it for the rest of your life."

Robin ignored her and directly opened the car door, sitting in the passenger seat.

Just as he was about to close the car door, Blanca stood in front of it and said coldly, "Do you have no shame as a man? Sitting in someone "Sick!" Robin slammed the car door shut.

Crystal started the Porsche and raced forward like a whirlwind.

In the evening, Zephyr Street was bathed in the golden glow of the setting sun.

The colorful Porsche 918, amidst the roar of engines, glided past a beautiful scenic route, eliciting exclamations of envy from a crowd of onlookers.

“That sports car is so cool! When could I have a car like that, even if it means only eating one meal a day.”

“You couldn't afford it even if you didn't eat. Stop thinking about it. Think about the handsome guy in the sports car just now.” “Hahaha... I couldn't afford it, can't I just think about it?”

“The handsome guy in the sports car was even more handsome!”

“I don't know which young master it was. Just now, he seemed to smile at me.”

Several young women watched the back view of the sports car as it drove away, foolishly joking, “Does he have a little interest in me?”

Blanca, standing aside, sneered, “Just a loser, is it really that surprising to you all?”

One of the women glared at her and said, “Are people who can afford to drive this kind of sports car losers? Then why don't you drive one and show me?”

Blanca sneered, “Do you think it was their own doing?”

“Such a beautiful sports car, you rented it, right? It's just a prop from a movie theater, did you really think it was a Porsche 918 Spyder?”

“The favorite thing that this loser guy used to do was to show off in front of others.”

“Today, he has already shown off in front of me two or three times, it disgusts me! I saw through his tricks a long time ago, you really think of him as a wealthy young master?”

The woman was dissatisfied and said, "How do you know that he is just a loser?"

"Just now, it was clearly you who was making trouble in front of others. Where did | show off in front of you?" Blanca snorted coldly. "I just found out his information a moment ago."

"This loser guy, who was dumped by the Brown family, is a fraud. Do. you think he could afford this car?"

Another woman said, "It seems like Ms. Thompson is driving. Although the Thompson family is not a top-tier wealthy family, they should have the means to afford such a luxury car."

Blanca gave a cold laugh and said. "Do you really believe in this kind of man who relies on his good looks to deceive wealthy but foolish women? Haha..."

Blanca's statement caused a discussion among the surrounding crowd.

"Oh, no wonder that man just now looked so familiar. Turns out he was the loser guy who got dumped by the Brown family!"

"Recently, there have been rumors about this on Hallcester's internet. There is even a video of the divorce scene." "Well, yes, | also remember now, it seems like this man was called Robin."

"Perhaps the young lady was telling the truth."

Just as the group of people were discussing Robin's identity, Nathen, Miranda. Jacob, and others walked out from the entertainment city.

Blanca's eyes lit up.

Facing the floor-to-ceiling windows in front of the entrance of the entertainment city. | quickly straightened my collar and hair, and ran towards Nathen..

"Hello, Mr. Reynell. Thank you for helping me just now. When are you free? | would like to invite you for a meal."

Nathen was slightly taken aback, "Who are you?"

“Oh, | am Blanca...” Blanca extended her hand, wanting to shake hands with him.

Nathen cautiously glanced at Blanca and said, “Oh, | was busy!”

After saying that, they directly got into the Mercedes MPV that was driving towards them, along with Miranda, Jacob, and others.

“How could this be? Mr. Reynell was still smiling at me earlier,” Blanca muttered to herself, watching the Mercedes MPV fade into the distance with a bewildered look in her eyes.

Oh, | might have been a little too impulsive, | actually forgot that Mr.

Reynell was a public figure!

He definitely didn't want people to know about our relationship.

Otherwise, it would become gossip for those paparazzi, worrying about affecting my future. Oh no! How could | forget about this? | will never make such a silly mistake again next time! Blanca thought of this and smiled.

At this moment, all | could see was Nathen's radiant smile, like sunshine.

“Blanca, do you know Mr. Nathen?” Maurice walked up from behind.

Blanca shyly nodded and then leaned closer to Maurice, whispering, “Maurice, please don't mention this matter to anyone, it wouldn't be good for it to spread.”

The woman just now pursed her lips and said, “You're overthinking it. Just now, | heard Mr. Reynell say that they don't even know you.”

Blanca sneered at the woman and said. “You are just a low-class person!”
“How could someone like Mr. Reynell, who is so composed, casually express his emotions in public? It’s truly ignorant!”

The woman immediately became displeased and said, “Who are you calling a lower-class person? If I am a lower-class person, what class are you?”

“Made myself seem like I was in the same circle as those wealthy heirs, what a joke!”

Blanca snorted coldly, “Maurice, let’s go! It’s a waste of time to talk to someone at this level!”

Maurice nodded, “Alright, the ride—hailing car I booked has arrived, Blanca, let’s go.

After saying that, he quickly pulled her into the car and left Cosmo Mall.

“Robin, I never thought you could actually help me win a car, hahaha...”
Crystal exclaimed excitedly as she drove the Porsche. “Look at how beautiful the sunset is this evening. Let me take you for a spin and see how this brand new Porsche performs.” Robin looked at the time and realized it was already 7:30 in the evening.

I had previously made an appointment to go to Karina’s house to treat her father, but it would be inconvenient if it got too late. “Don’t beat around the bush, just take me directly to the Huber’s villa.”

“General went to the villa? What for?” Crystal asked, puzzled.

“I went to the Huber family!” Robin glanced at Crystal. “Don’t ask me about my affairs from now on!”

Crystal pouted and secretly glared at Robin, “Fine.”

Humph! He must have gone to meet Karina!

There was a sudden feeling of sadness in my heart.

There is no way, who made Ms. Huber so excellent, I will never catch up with her in my lifetime.

However, this sadness quickly vanished without a trace.

“Robin. | became more curious about you.”

“How long had you been in Hallcester before you started having close. interactions with some of the legendary figures in Hallcester?”

“Ah, can you please tell me how strong your background was?”

Robin glanced at her and said, “Background means nothing, it’s all about strength in this world!”

Watching Robin’s arrogant appearance, Crystal really wanted to go up and kick him a few times.

“No wonder wherever you went, people looked at you unfavorably.”

“Robin, now | finally understand that you were the first man | had ever met who was so arrogant and unruly, hahaha... Robin ignored her and leaned back in the seat, closing his eyes to relax.

Crystal finally managed to control her infectious smile and asked, “Robin, why is Barry so afraid of you?”

“What else could it be, if not because | beat him?” Robin said calmly, with his eyes closed.

Crystal laughed again, “Beaten up by you? Hahaha... Robin, I’m starting to enjoy chatting with you more and more.” “Hey, where are you going tomorrow? Shall | pick you up and we can go out together?”

Chapter 65 Background is Worthless

Robin opened one eye and said, “I already returned a car to you today. From now on, let’s go our separate ways. Don’t cling to me. You, this woman, are so annoying.”

Crystal chuckled and said, "Want to get rid of me? Haha, no way! You can't shake me off. From now on, I will be by your side like a shadow."

Robin squinted at her and sneered, "Suit yourself. The whole world couldn't find someone capable of tracking me. If you want to play, go ahead and play by yourself."

"You are such a boring man!" Crystal glared at him, then burst into laughter.

"Ah, Robin, it seems like that Blanca person has some sort of issue with you. Are you two really not involved in anything?" Robin chuckled, "What do I have with a woman who hasn't taken her medicine? I didn't even know her before."

Crystal nodded, "That's right!"

"If that's the case, why did you let Barry save her in the afternoon at Cosmo Mall?"

"Saved her, and then pretended as if I hadn't done anything, do you want to be an unsung hero?"

"I really can't figure out what's on your mind, what kind of thoughts do you have as a man? If it were someone else, saving the damsel in distress would definitely make them known..."

"You're overthinking it. I couldn't be bothered to save that boring woman," Robin said indifferently,

"I had Barry help me greet those two bastards from Valluynn."

"Ah. I remembered, Robin, where are those two men who were bothering Blanca?"

"Dead!" Robin answered without expression.

"Dead?" Crystal's hand trembled, "Did you kill them?"

Robin sent a message to Karina.

Then, looking up at Crystal, he said, "It's probably better not to know some things."

“Um... not bad!” Crystal looked at Robin, who was just a breath away, with a strange impulse filling her heart.

This impulse was a heartbeat and longing that she had never experienced in the past twenty years.

This man’s eyes were really beautiful!

Was Miranda really blind?

“Are you stupid? Drive properly!”

Robin helped her correct the steering wheel.

Fortunately, there were few vehicles on this road; otherwise, this brand. new sports car would have ended up in the ditch. Crystal was also startled.

| was scared afterwards. How could | be distracted while driving?

It took a while to calm down.

“In front is the Huber’s villa. Leave me in front of the villa and you can go back. Barry will contact you about the Cox Group’s equity transfer,” Robin said, glancing at the restless Crystal.

“Shall | wait for you outside the Huber’s villa?” Crystal looked at Robin, her eyes filled with anticipation.

“What | mean is, you drove Leonel’s Hummer and it’s still parked at Blossom Mall parking lot. If you stay out too late, you won’t have a car to go back.”

“No need! Later, Leonel will bring my Land Rover over,” Robin said. as he got out of the car and headed straight towards the Huber’s villa.

Crystal stuck her head out of the car and shouted, “Hey! Is this how we’re leaving?”

Robin stopped and looked at her. “So you mean you want another hug?”

Having said that, he turned around and walked towards the villa.

Damn it! This stinky man is a donkey!

Crystal couldn't help but laugh as she watched Robin's figure disappear.
“What a jerk, so amusing! Hahaha... The prankster honked the horn and drove away into the night.

Entering the villa area, Karina had already driven up to him.

“Ms. Huber, you better switch the position of the President of Eastern District Development Corporation with me,” Robin shrugged.

“I really disliked those tedious tasks, I was used to freedom.”

“If I were in that position, I would have offended all your connections.”

Karina smiled faintly and said, “The Huber family doesn't have much connections, and we're not afraid of offending all of them.” “You saved me and the Huber family,” Grandpa said, “even if it means offending everyone, I will stand by your side.”

Robin was speechless. Karina's words made it difficult for him to leave the Huber Group, even if he wanted to.

“Just now, Grandpa was still talking about you at home. He highly praised the cost—neutral outsourcing method you proposed for the Eastern Business District at Purpeak International Group.”

“Grandfather said that you had a unique talent in business.” Robin laughed, “Mr. Harold was joking.” Chapter 6e She Flipped

“That day at the investment outsourcing meeting in the Eastern Business District, I casually mentioned it because I saw Nathen. wanting to seize the business opportunities of the Eastern Business District and indirectly take over the industries of many merchants in Hallcester.”

"I, as a person, cannot stand those guys who play dirty tricks the most."

Karina shook her head and said, "Grandfather said that the Eastern Business District project had a huge investment. If World Real Estate wants to monopolize the Hallcester business community, we can only do this to sabotage his malicious plan."

"The Huber Group outsourced a portion of its auxiliary projects at the Eastern Business District to other merchants without charge, seemingly losing a significant portion of its profits."

"In fact, the surrounding industries of the Huber Group's main project have been able to develop rapidly in the past, which will bring abundant funds and popularity to the Huber Group's core business. project in the Eastern Business District."

"This was a brilliant strategy."

"Not only did it avoid the risk of capital chain rupture that the Huber Group might have faced after investing a large amount of money in the Eastern Business District."

"At the same time, it also gathered a group of loyal business partners for the Huber Group."

"The conspiracy of Nathen wanting to dominate the entire Hallcester business world was unraveled."

"Grandfather said, your move was a big move!"

Robin shrugged and said with a smile, "I was just joking. Is it really that impressive?"

"So, you are a business genius," Karina laughed and handed Robin a stock transfer agreement.

"Robin, this is the 20% share of the Huber Group signed by my grandfather. Please make sure you accept it." Robin paused for a moment, "Twenty percent of the Huber Group's shares? Billions in market value, I don't need it."

Karina became anxious and parked the car on the side. “Robin, my grandfather said that the shares he gave you were just a gift, with no other intentions...”

“You don’t have to do this, President of Eastern District Development Corporation. Can't | do it?”

Karina saw that Robin was adamant about not accepting it, so she said, “Alright then, anyway, this already belongs to you. | will temporarily keep it for you. You can retrieve it anytime.”

“You can take it back, | really don’t need it. Money holds no interest. for me.”
“Well... what are you interested in?” Karina asked hesitantly.

Robin subconsciously glanced at Karina, who was right under his nose. That exquisite face, beautiful eyes, sexy lips, and attractive nose... This woman was truly beautiful to the extreme!

He touched his own lips.

This has been Robin's habit for many years, whenever he feels nervous, he would make this gesture.

Chapter 66 She Floped

Karina suddenly noticed the absent-minded look in Robin’s eyes, and her cheeks instantly turned red. The guy touched his own lips, was he going to kiss me?

Grandfather asked me to try dating this guy.

However, | never knew how to start.

| grew up under the protection of my family since | was young.

Apart from going to school, apart from receiving various ability—based training arranged by the family.

Karina basically lived in a monotonous environment and had no idea what love was.

Although, in order to support the grandeur of the Huber family, they always presented themselves as cold and dominant in public.

However, deep inside, | felt extremely lonely and fragile.

On that day, on the snowy New Year's Eve.

Several fierce bandits held hostages, life and death hanging by a thread.

She suddenly saw scenes that she had longed for in her dreams many times. Ahero, calm and composed, facing life and death, descended from the sky.

At that moment, her heart fluttered and feelings arose.

From that day on, she would always remember that snowy New Year's. Eve when the snow was falling heavily.

| thought | would never be able to see him again in this lifetime.

Never did | expect that this person was so close, almost within breathing distance.

Huh? Why is your face turning red? What happened to this woman?

Robin, who was enjoying the beautiful scenery, suddenly noticed Karina's shy expression and wondered what had happened. The car slowly drove forward for a while and stopped under a tree shade halfway up the mountain.

It was pitch black here.

"Why... why are you stopping here?" Robin didn't understand what Karina wanted to do.

In the dimly lit car, Robin felt the intense heat emanating from the other person.

Karina did not answer and hesitated for a while, her eyes turning fiery as she looked at Robin. Closing her eyes, she slowly brought her soft and rosy lips closer to Robin's.

Huh?

Robin was instantly stunned.

Ding ling ling!

A voice ringtone sounded, and Karina immediately opened her eyes.

Shyly, | gently brushed the scattered bangs.

It was grandfather's phone.

"Um. Grandpa asked if we received a call from you. Let's go home."

Robin stared absentmindedly at Karina's stunning posture for quite a while.

Is this over?

It seemed like it was about to start when the phone rang!

This damn phone, why can't it come at any other time, but right now!

When they arrived at the Huber's villa, Harold was already waiting outside the door.

"Mr. Bruce, please come in," Harold instructed the butler Mark to arrange the dinner.

Robin interrupted, "Mr. Harold, don't bother preparing dinner, let's go see Mr. Camdyn instead." Harold hesitated for a moment, "Alright, then, thank you Mr. Bruce for your hard work."

Harold and Karina accompanied Robin to a room on the far east side of the second floor.

Just as Robin arrived at the front of the room, he felt a wave of gloomy air hit him.

Obviously, the owner of the room was poisoned with a Venomous

chupto né She Fipped

Worm.

Once injected into the human body, this venomous worm would rapidly reproduce in the bloodstream.

Within a short period of time, individuals who were infected by the Venomous Worm would become weak all over their body, and their various bodily functions would rapidly decline.

Within a month, this person would become paralyzed in bed, gradually losing consciousness, resembling a vegetable. Harold saw Robin standing in front of the door, lost in thought, and didn't know what he meant.

"Mr. Bruce, what happened?"

Robin looked around and asked, "Excuse me, Mr. Harold, who used to take care of Mr. Camdyn on a regular basis?" Harold didn't understand what Robin meant, "A servant at home, Anita Hubbard. Is there any problem?"

"Anita had been with the Huber family for over a decade..."

Robin didn't wait for Harold to finish, pointing to the door and saying, "Let's go in and take a look first. Mr. Shaw became like this because he was infected with a Venomous Worm."

"Venomous Worm?" Harold exclaimed in astonishment. "Who would give Camdyn a Venomous Worm?"

Chapter 67

Chapter 67 Quack

Robin's words shocked Harold and Karina greatly.

The occurrence of Venomous Worm was merely a legend in their understanding.

How could it happen to the Huber family?

Harold had no doubt about Robin's skills.

He had witnessed it with his own eyes!

It can be said that in his perspective, it was an invincible existence.

However, when it comes to Robin's excellent medical skills, he only learned about them from Karina and Blaine's conversations. On that day, after Karina returned from the city hall.

| told Harold about the whole exciting process of Robin rescuing Donovan at the Finley's house.

Blaine vividly recounted the legend of Robin's Soul—Retrieving Skill to him once again.

It made him even more confused, as if he was listening to a book. written in a foreign language.

In his understanding, the so-called miraculous doctor thing was still too mysterious!

However, both Blaine and Karina said so.

Harold was even more eager to witness Robin's skills.

Chapter 67 Quack

In the morning, Blaine, the president of the Traditional Medicine Association.

As per Donovan's request, we went to the Huber family to treat Camdyn.

In the Huber family, Blaine talked to Harold for a long time.

| also specifically examined Camdyn's pulse and gave him a medical consultation.

After a long time of struggling, it was still unclear what exactly caused Camdyn to remain unconscious and paralyzed in bed. According to current medical knowledge, it basically belongs to the symptoms of brain death.

Blaine, however, said that Camdyn's condition was not just that.

But he couldn't determine what exactly these symptoms were.

From the overall pulse, it can be seen.

There seemed to be something else inside Camdyn's body, restless and eager to move.

It seemed as if the blood and qi were surging, and it also seemed like a group of microorganisms were rapidly multiplying. These things, sometimes disappeared without a trace in the past, and sometimes were extremely active.

Most of the time, these unknown qi and blood forms would occupy Camdyn's internal organs and meridians.

Blaine was also unable to determine what exactly this strange energy or unidentified microorganism was, or what caused it. Chapter 67 Quack

He was unable to make a definite diagnosis now and dared not draw conclusions about Camdyn's symptoms.

After Harold's repeated requests, Blaine reluctantly tried to give Camdyn an injection.

Blaine speculated that Camdyn might have been suffering from long-term exhaustion, resulting in insufficient yang energy and blood deficiency, leading to physical weakness.

Therefore, he wanted to start trying from the governing vessel, which dominates the yang energy. After Camdyn's pulse was pricked, his body seemed to have a slight reaction.

However, soon Camdyn's physical condition deteriorated rapidly.

Blaine immediately stopped acupuncture treatment.

Despite multiple attempts, no breakthrough could be found.

In the end, he could only regretfully tell Harold that his medical skills had come to an end.

Based on his own abilities, he was unable to determine Camdyn's true symptoms.

| dared not blindly attempt treatment.

In case of a medical treatment error, it is highly likely that Camdyn may never wake up again. Finally, he strongly recommended Robin to Harold.

He believed that only Robin could cure Camdyn.

In case of a medical treatment error, it is highly likely that Camdyn may never wake up again. Finally, he strongly recommended Robin to Harold.

He believed that only Robin could cure Camdyn.

If even Robin couldn't cure Camdyn, it's basically time to give up.

Harold was greatly shocked by what Blaine said.

Blaine, a figure revered as a master in the traditional medicine industry in Londraland in the past.

Robin was unexpectedly referred to as an unparalleled divine doctor who could retrieve people from the hands of the Grim Reaper!

This statement made him extremely surprised. Robin was only in his early twenties, how could he possess the skills of a divine healer? Blaine had to attend an emergency consultation in the afternoon, so he didn't linger at the Huber family's place.

Upon hearing Harold mention that Robin was coming over in the evening, he decided that no matter how busy he was, he would rush back to the Huber family to witness Robin treating Camdyn.

Harold turned down everything today and spent the entire afternoon at home waiting for Robin.

If what Blaine said is true, Robin had the power of a divine healer to bring Camdyn back from the clutches of death. Then he wouldn't worry about the current difficult situation of the Huber family anymore.

Camdyn was the second—generation successor of the Huber family, whom he had nurtured himself.

If he could stand up again, the Huber family would have no worries.

After all, Karina was still young and relatively immature in handling schemes and making decisions.

Many times, it was impossible to truly sustain the vast business empire. of the Huber Group.

If Karina could reach Camdyn's level back then, she still had a long way to go.

Karina took over the Huber Group, and if everything went smoothly both internally and externally, there was nothing to worry about.

The shopping mall has always been full of twists and turns, extremely dangerous. The Huber Group was once thriving when it had the support of Harold and Camdyn. All the competitors in the mall were only interested in making friends and dared not provoke.

Once these people saw that the leader of the Huber Group was losing his edge and becoming weaker, a hidden undercurrent would surge.

The Huber Group was always susceptible to finding negligence that could deal a fatal blow.

Therefore, when Camdyn suddenly fell ill, both the internal and external of the Huber Group started to become restless. Harold had to come out of retirement again to help Karina temporarily stabilize the Huber Group.

Even so, figures like Nelson and Nathen began to show their fangs.

If it hadn't been for Robin's unexpected appearance, the Huber family would have been in great danger.

Chapter 67 Quack

Harold knew that the Huber Group was still a big shot in Hallcester.

However, if the strength of the Huber Group's core layer is not replenished in a timely manner, there is always a risk of collapse. For this, Harold considered two aspects.

Firstly, | hope to be able to keep Robin.

Secondly, cure Camdyn's strange illness.

As long as either of these two exists, no party can temporarily touch the Huber family.

Now, hearing Robin say the cause of Camdyn's illness was that he had been poisoned by a venomous worm!

Such words completely exceeded Harold's understanding.

However, Blaine had previously portrayed Robin as a miraculous healer.

That would indicate that what Robin said might be true.

Just as they opened the door to Camdyn's room, Justin and Alondra hurriedly arrived with a man in his fifties. "Dad, I heard that someone wanted to treat my older brother's illness, so they specially invited Dr. Hayes."

"Dr. Hayes said that my older brother's illness must not be messed around with. Once he is treated by some quacks, it will be over."

"At that time, once my elder brother's condition worsened, it would be too late for regrets."

The doctor of traditional medicine named Lonnie Hayes walked up to Harold and bowed in greeting.

"Mr. Harold! I heard from Justin that you hired a wandering physician to treat Mr. Camdyn's illness?"

"I would like to say a few more words. Many fraudsters in the martial arts world used to boast that they could cure all kinds of illnesses."

"In fact, it was just a matter of using those mysterious tricks to deceive patients and their families."

"Mr. Harold, please do not fall for the scam and harm Mr. Camdyn."

Harold furrowed his brows slightly and let out a soft grunt, "Who told you that I hired a swindler from the martial world?" "Justin. if you dare to talk nonsense again, just get out of here!"

Justin took a step back in fear and didn't dare to speak.

Lonnie chuckled and said, "Mr. Harold. Justin didn't mean that."

"A few days ago. I had already prescribed a traditional medicine for Mr. Camdyn."

“As long as Mr. Camdyn continued taking the medication for a while. longer, his health would definitely improve.”

“I can guarantee that, after taking it for another two months, Camdyn would be able to open his eyes at least, and even speak.” Justin agreed, “Dad, Dr. Hayes is right!”

“Don't ever listen to those scammers talking nonsense and delaying Big Brother's treatment!”

“I recently heard that Robin was a swindler in the underworld!”

Chapter 67 Quark

“At his age, what does he know about traditional medicine?!”

“Dr. Hayes meant that he must not let him treat my elder brother indiscriminately.”

Robin looked up at Justin and said, “Are you saying that I was a fraud?”

Justin pointed at Robin and said, “Everyone in Hallcester knows that you were just a loser who got dumped by the Brown family!” “Do you dare to claim that you can cure diseases?”

“Hmph, if you know how to treat illnesses, then take a look at me first. Do I have any illness?”

Robin chuckled and said, “You really want me to say it?”

Justin sneered. “If you can tell me what illness I have, then I will agree to let you treat my older brother!”

“You had infertility, and it was congenital,” Robin said without hesitation.

Justin was instantly angry and said, “You...you're talking nonsense!”

“I was perfectly fine, and you dare to say that I am infertile, and moreover, it's congenital?!”

“It was simply nonsense!”

“My children were already sixteen or seventeen...”

Robin chuckled and said, "Well, in that case, the child isn't yours either."

"You raised the child for over a decade, and now they belong to

Chapter 68 Shut Up!

Robin's words shocked everyone in the room.

Karina glanced at Robin and stifled a laugh.

Robin shook his head and sighed, "Many people were foolish enough to kill themselves." Justin almost went crazy, pointing at Robin and shouting. "You're talking nonsense!"

Robin shrugged, "Whether what I said was true or false doesn't matter. What matters is that this has happened for so many years, and yet you are still in the dark about it!"

"Think for yourself, does your child look like you? Hehe..." Justin's face turned pale and then red, and he angrily said, "Dad! This guy is simply too insolent, kick him... kick him out!"

Robin chuckled, "If you don't believe me, you can go for a paternity test tomorrow. It can be expedited, and the results will be available in just one hour."

Justin was dumbfounded in an instant. He looked at Alondra and grabbed her collar, "Is this true?" Alondra shouted, "You bastard, you believe the words of a scammer from the underworld?!"

Then, turning to Robin, he roared, "Let me tell you, if you dare to talk nonsense again, the Huber family won't let you get away with it!"

[e] 12341 Karina coldly retorted, "Robin is a distinguished guest invited by grandfather, and you are not qualified to say such things!"

Robin chuckled and looked at Alondra, "It's no use talking, tomorrow you will go for an appraisal, and everything will be revealed. Do you dare, Mrs. Huber?"

Alondra shivered for a moment and dared not look at Robin.

Justin's eyes slowly turned cold at this moment. "Alondra, tomorrow we will go for a paternity test! If I find out that you lied to me, you better be prepared to die!"

Alondra gently pulled Justin and said, "Justin, how could you listen to that scammer's nonsense..." "Enough! Both of you, keep arguing and get out of here!" Harold said with a grim face, pointing at Justin and Alondra.

"Tomorrow morning, Andre took them to the appraisal center for an urgent appraisal! If they are not of the Huber family bloodline, immediately drive them out of the Huber family! Take back all the Huber family assets in their hands."

Lonnie's face darkened as he turned to Robin and said, "Young man, speaking requires responsibility!" Robin shrugged, "We would know tomorrow."

"Are you saying that you could also cure Mr. Camdyn's illness?"

Robin chuckled lightly and said, "I never say or do things that I am not certain about."

Harold's eyes lit up, and his body trembled violently.

Lonnie sneered, "Ignorance truly knows no fear!"

"Mr. Camdyn's illness has been seen by numerous doctors at Hashville State, but none of them dared to claim that it could be cured for sure. They could only provide palliative care and wait to see the outcome."

"Even Mr. Blaine, the medical genius of Londraland, who had just diagnosed this morning, was also at a loss!" "The matter of treating illnesses cannot tolerate the slightest bit of falsehood!"

"I have been practicing medicine for thirty years, and I have seen all kinds of symptoms. I dare not say such big words! You are so young..."

“That’s because you haven’t learned enough yet!” Robin chuckled, not wanting to hear him continue, “With your mediocre skills, you’ll only reach this level even if you study for a lifetime!”

“You! You were absolutely arrogant!” Lonnie fumed, blowing his mustache and glaring.

Robin sneered, “This is not arrogance, it’s called strength, you know? I can’t be bothered to waste any more time talking to you!” He didn’t want to pay attention to Lonnie anymore and turned to Harold, “Mr. Harold, do you still need me to continue?” “If it wasn’t necessary, I would just leave!”

Harold saw that Robin was impatient and immediately said, “Of course, of course!”

Robin looked around and said, “If I were to treat them, all these mediocre people would shut up!”

“You!” Lonnie became instantly furious.

Harold quickly responded, “Andre, anyone who dares to talk nonsense and disturb Mr. Bruce will be thrown out immediately!”

“Yes!” Andre responded.

Harold pushed open the door and humbly said, “Mr. Bruce, please come into the room and see how Camdyn is doing.” Justin and Lonnie, among others, intended to continue to obstruct.

However, Harold had already started talking, and no one dared to interrupt him anymore.

I entered Camdyn’s room.

The gloomy atmosphere that I had previously felt in front of the door came rushing back again.

At that moment. Robin caught a glimpse of panic in Lonnie’s eyes.

“Mr. Harold, may I see the prescription that Mr. Camdyn used before?”

Harold nodded, “Of course, the prescription was written by Dr. Lonnie.”

“Dr. Hu diagnosed that my son, Camdyn, had a cerebral vascular disease.”

“That is what Western medicine refers to as severe Alzheimer’s disease.”

Robin chuckled and said, “Let me see the prescription.”

Robin took the prescription from Lonnie, and Lonnie snorted, “The prescriptions | write are all top-secret and exclusive.” “If it weren't for Mr. Harold’s agreement, | would never have shown it to you.”

Robin ignored him and looked at the list of medicinal herbs on the prescription.

Goji berries, ginseng.

Looking at the prescription, Robin shook his head and looked up at Lonnie.

“Is this what you said, the top—level prescription?”

“A pile of potent medicinal herbs, gathered together, do you want to make the patient bleed heavily?”

Lonnie sneered, “This prescription is indeed a collection of highly nourishing herbal ingredients. According to my diagnosis, Mr. Camdyn’s body is weakened and blood deficient due to insufficient kidney yang and excessive fatigue.”

“In addition, excessive stress over the years led to the accumulation of blood lipids within the body's major blood vessels.”

“If you truly understood traditional medicine, you would know that this prescription can improve Mr. Camdyn’s blood circulation and promote the elimination of waste in his blood lipids.”

“As the saying goes, flowing water does not rot.”

“Only by ensuring that Mr. Xiao’s blood flows smoothly through the capillaries and meridians throughout his body, can it reach every part of his body.”

“So, it is only through the necrosis of cells caused by illness that they can potentially regain vitality!” “This was a process of recuperation and rest.”

“After being treated with my prescription, Mr. Xiao’s withered cells may be fully activated.”

“Only in this way, Mr. Xiao’s mental illness could have a chance to improve to some extent.”

“Even if Mr. Xiao’s body couldn’t fully recover as before, at least it could make him stand up...”

“It’s all nonsense!” Robin slammed the prescription directly onto the table.

“If he continues to take this prescription, it won’t be long before Camdyn kicks the bucket!”

At this moment, Anita walked into the room holding a pot of brewed decoction.

“Sir, it is time to give the young master his medicine now.”

“Wait a minute! This decoction cannot be consumed anymore!” Robin stopped Anita and said.

Harold wondered, “Can’t drink anymore?”

“In the morning. President Blaine also reviewed the prescription for this decoction.”

“He believed that taking this prescription medicine, although not certain, could cure Camdyn’s illness.” “However, the medicinal herbs listed on this prescription can invigorate the body’s meridians.”

“At least let his half-dead body have fresh blood running through it all the time.”

Robin looked at Camdyn lying on the bed, the carotid artery in his neck was pulsating continuously.

It was evident that the Venomous Worm was active in the bloodstream, leading to a significant proliferation. “Mr. Harold, it was precisely because Camdyn drank this decoction. that his physical condition worsened.” “You're talking nonsense!” Lonnie exclaimed angrily.

Justin also stepped forward and pointed at Robin, saying, “Robin Bruce, don’t stir up trouble in our house!” “Dr. Lonnie, but | specifically invited you to treat my older brother’s illness.”

“In Hallcester, no one could compare to Dr. Hayes’ medical skills!”

“You now, however, slander him, the prescription he gave to my elder brother, caused harm to my elder brother?!” “What the hell were you thinking, kid!”

Robin snorted lightly, “Camdyn didn’t have some brain disease, but was infected with a Venomous Worm!” “Just now outside the door, | had already felt the Venomous Worm inside him being active.”

“The Venomous Worm in his body should have been implanted five years ago!”

“Perhaps because at that time, Venomous—Worm Manipulator had not made sufficient preparations yet, it was only in the initial stage of setting up.”

“So they did not immediately activate these dormant Venomous Chapter 68 Shut Up!

Worms.”

“What?! Five years ago!” Harold exclaimed in shock.

Robin nodded.

“This Venomous Worm originates from Mistland. The Venomous- Worm Manipulator controls the invasion of a parasitic worm into the human body, thereby manipulating the life or mental will of the Venomous—Worm Carrier.”

Harold was greatly shocked when he heard this.

“Who the hell was so malicious to frame my son?!”

Chapter 69

Chapter 69 Ebony Harold’s fury, evidently, terrified every member of the Huber family. “Andre, immediately mobilize the entire strength of the Huber family to investigate for me!”

“No matter how powerful this person was, the Huber family would stop at nothing to seek destructive revenge against them, never giving up!”

“Wait!” Robin interrupted.

“Mr. Harold, please remain calm. In order to avoid alerting the snake, angering the person controlling the Venomous Worm, and potentially causing harm to Camdyn, it is best to proceed with caution.”

Harold took a deep breath, calmed down the anger in his heart, and signaled Mark to temporarily postpone the search and revenge plan.

“Mr. Bruce, what should we do at the moment, please advise.”

Robin looked at the bowl of medicinal soup and thought, “The person who could have placed this Venomous Worm on Camdyn must be someone close to him.”

“And, Camdyn should have had a lot of trust in this person.” “Otherwise, it would be impossible to put this thing on him.” “This Venomous Worm lurked in Camdyn’s body for five years.” “Every now and then, someone had to replace him to add feed.” “Otherwise, these Venomous Worms would wreak havoc inside. Camdyn’s body.”

“The consequences were either that Venomous Worm would naturally die out, or Candyn would be devoured by these Venomous Worms and die.”

Upon hearing Robin's explanation, Harold's anger immediately surged within him.

"Mr. Bruce, are you saying that this person didn't want to immediately harm my son, Camdyn?"

"Was it just to make him be controlled by it?"

Robin nodded, "Based on this situation, he didn't want to kill Camdyn. Otherwise, Camdyn wouldn't have lived until today." "During this period, I heard from Karina that Camdyn was not doing well."

"The person manipulating the queen worm has already begun implementing his plan, activating the Venomous Worm inside. Camdyn's body, intending to awaken it in the near future."

"After the Venomous Worms had fully matured, they reached a certain quantity."

"He could control Camdyn's thoughts and will through the queen worm."

"At the same time, one could also choose to control his life and death at any moment." "Perhaps one day, he thought, he would be able to take control of the situation he desired. "It would either wake Camdyn up directly or kill him directly."

Harold was greatly astonished when he heard Robin's words, "What is the purpose of his actions? Does he want to control the Huber Group by controlling Camdyn?"

Robin shook his head and said, "I'm not sure about this."

"Perhaps, it was your opponent, hired Venomous—Worm Manipulator to control the Huber Group."

Harold glanced at the decoction Anita had placed on the coffee table and looked up at Lonnie.

Lonnie immediately became nervous and said, "Mr. Harold, please don't listen to his nonsense!"

“Why would I harm Mr. Camdyn when I had no grievances with him?”

“Moreover, I had never heard of such a Venomous Worm!”

“How could I have possibly done such a thing!”

Harold ignored him, but Mark walked behind Lonnie.

Upon seeing this scene, Lonnie immediately broke out in a cold sweat.

Justin hesitated for a moment, then quietly pulled Alondra towards the door, wanting to sneak away.

“Stop right there!” Harold said coldly. “Tonight, no one is allowed to leave here, and everyone must hand over their phones!” called in two

Mark immediately followed the instructions and bodyguards to guard the entrance, and confiscated everyone's phones. Robin picked up the bowl of decoction and took a sniff.

“Mr. Harold, this matter indeed had nothing to do with this prescription.”

Lonnie was taken aback. He hadn't expected Robin to make excuses for himself in this matter.

“The prescription originally provided by Dr. Hu only had the function of replenishing blood and nourishing qi.” “The Venomous Worm inside Camdyn did not provide much stimulation.”

“However, in this bowl of medicinal soup, a deadly herb, Purple Ginseng, was added.”

“Purple Ginseng was the real cause behind Camdyn's deteriorating condition.”

“Purple Ginseng?” Lonnie furrowed his brow and said, “When did I ever include this herb in the prescription? How could it be in the herbal soup?”

Robin pointed to the bowl of herbal medicine and said, “You can smell it and you will know if there is Purple Ginseng in it.” Lonnie picked up the bowl of herbal soup and carefully examined the medicinal ingredients.

Indeed! One of the doses in this bowl of medicine was Purple Ginseng!

“Who added this herb to my recipe?!” Lonnie looked at the few people in the room and asked.

After a brief pause, he continued, “However, even if I add Purple Ginseng to my prescription, it doesn’t seem to be as serious as you said!”

Robin shook his head and said, “Dr. Hu, the first thing I want to tell.

you is that Camdyn doesn’t have a brain disease, but he has been infected with Venomous Worm by someone!” “Five years ago, Venomous Worm entered Camdyn’s body and remained dormant.”

“But, adding Purple Ginseng to your prescription instantly accelerated the flow of blood.”

The Venomous Worm, which had been lurking in the blood, started absorbing nutrients from the blood and became active after absorbing Purple Ginseng.

“And so, these Venomous Worms were being activated day by day, multiplying more and more.”

“This venomous worm exclusively consumed purple ginseng.”

The person who developed this Venomous Worm, from the first day of raising the Venomous Worm, fed it Purple Ginseng. Once the Venomous Worm started absorbing Purple Ginseng, it quickly ended its dormant period.

“The resurrected Venomous Worm would continuously devour the nutrients in the blood, and the Venomous—Worm Carrier would grow weaker day by day.”

“Venomous Worm grew stronger day by day, while Mr. Camdyn, on the other hand, became more and more languished until he lay in bed.”

“Now, inside his bloodstream, there were only active Venomous Worms!”

Once the queen worm of the Venomous—Worm Manipulator was raised, he could fully control Camdyn. Chapter 69 Ebony

Mount Mauveglow, southern section of Hanrock Valley.

A delicately designed courtyard serving as a scenic setting. A seductive woman, dressed in all black with a dark complexion, sat in the middle of the hall.

“Come in, since you've been here for so long, why are you still standing outside the yard?” The woman exhaled a long black column of air, opened her eyes, and smirked.

Nathen pushed open the door and walked into the hall.

“Ebony, you have been in seclusion here for almost half a year. When will you be able to implement the plan you promised me?” Ebony Boone’s face turned cold as she said, “Mr. Reynell, you are being too impatient!”

“You should have had confidence in me.”

“On the day when my queen worm was refined, you can proceed with the plan to acquire the Huber Group.”

“You are so impatient now, unable to control your temperament. How will you achieve great things in the future?”

Nathen sighed.

“The first step was so difficult to take, my grand plan, when will it be realized!”

Ebony suddenly burst into laughter.

“Mr. Reynell, if you want to achieve great things, your character still needs further refinement!” “You can rest assured, my plan was foolproof!”

“Your current state is purely self—disturbance.”

“Venomous Worm was my unique skill.”

“In order to develop the Venomous Worm, | dedicated myself to intensive study for nearly 20 years, and finally succeeded in creating this unique technique that can control a person's mind.”

Ebony glanced at Nathen and then looked at the queen worm in the Venomous—Worm Incubator.

“Never mind, the queen worm | had refined should be ready for some small experiments before implementing the plans.”

“As long as the queen worm was driven, the Venomous Worm inside Camdyn’s body could be controlled, thus controlling Camdyn.”

“However, now it would take at least two more months for Queen Worm to fully control Camdyn’s thoughts and actions.”

“Only after queen worm had been nurtured for a full five years, would queen worm and Venomous Worm truly establish a telepathic connection.”

“There was a possibility of unexpected loss of control during this period of use.”

“If you had to use it, you could only give it a try during this period. Within three months, you couldn't make any major moves, otherwise, it would cause a lot of trouble...”

Suddenly, the smile on Ebony’s face turned cold. “No, it seems like there is a master trying to kill my queen worm!”

At this moment, inside the glass vessel of the Venomous—Worm. Incubator, a previously quiet mass of black microorganisms began to wriggle violently.

Immediately after, the entire glassware also shook incessantly.

Ebony shouted abruptly, and the four black—clad women hidden in the corner of the room swiftly leaped out. III Surrounding her and the Venomous—Worm Incubator, she sat cross- legged with her eyes closed, murmuring words. The Huber’s villa.

Camadyn lay quietly in bed, still and silent as ever.

The smell of the freshly brewed herbal soup slowly wafted into Camdyn’s nostrils.

Gradually, Camdyn’s originally pale and bloodless face began to show millions of visible black spots.

These black spots slowly moved within the flesh, and their movement frequency increased rapidly.

These black spots quickly turned into millions of tiny caterpillars during the intense wriggling process. Everyone was shocked by such a terrifying scene.

Harold stumbled a few steps and almost fell to the ground.

Karina hurriedly supported him and trembled as she murmured, "What is this..."

They would never have imagined that there were so many terrifying black worms inside Camdyn's body! This scene, no longer simply shocked, but almost collapsed!

Originally, Lonnie had a disdainful expression, but now he was extremely astonished.

"The medicinal soup | prepared for the young master was strictly made according to the prescription provided by Dr. Hayes." Robin slowly approached Anita and grabbed her hand, smelling it.

"Mr. Harold, have someone go and take a look in Anita's room, everything will be revealed."

"Andre, do as Mr. Bruce said and immediately send someone to her room to check."

Anita trembled all over at the words and her shirt was soaked with sweat.

She "thumped" down on her knees in front of Harold: "Master, please spare me. |, | had no other choice!"

In a short while, a family member brought a delicate box, inside of which there were still ten Purple Ginseng roots left! Harold stomped on Anita's body, his face turning pale with anger.

"You wicked woman, you have been in the Huber family for so many years, and I treated you like family. When have I ever mistreated you?"

"Over the years, whenever you needed any help or money, did the Huber family ever hesitate?"

"Your children, your parents, your relatives, any difficult situation they face, as long as you speak up, the Huber family will spare no expense, offering you one hundred thousand, two hundred thousand, or even one million to help you out."

"In the end, is this how you repay the Huber family?"

"You not only failed to show gratitude, but also conspired with outsiders to harm my son!"

"Has human nature in this world become so malicious? Ah?!"

"Tell me, why?!"

Harold's anger erupted instantly, and Anita fell to her knees, begging desperately for mercy.

"Master. I. I am to blame! I truly didn't know that this Purple Ginseng would harm Young Master to death!"

"Half a year ago, while I was on my way to buy groceries, I suddenly encountered a person dressed in all black, with their face covered."

"She told me that the young master had saved her life back then, and she had come to repay the favor."

"She said that the young master's illness was caused by being poisoned, and he needed expensive Purple Ginseng to be added to the decoction and boiled for him to drink. Only then would the young master's condition gradually improve."

"This person told me not to tell you about this matter for now."

"At that time, I truly believed that she had come to repay a favor, so I attempted to add some Purple Ginseng in the decoction." "Sure enough, after the young master drank the decoction, his complexion improved a lot."

"And, there was a noticeable change in the physical condition."

"Now, my pair of children are all in her hands."

"So, I had no choice but to follow her instructions and add a certain dosage of Purple Ginseng every time I brewed medicine for the young master."

"Master, please spare me. I had no choice but to do all this."

Harold trembled with anger, "You wicked woman, you actually harmed the Huber family just to save yourself!" "Tell me, who was this person?"

Anita shook her head. "Sir, I never saw her true face, nor do I know where she is or who she really is." "Every time she saw me, she would cover half of her face with Purple Ginseng."

"I only knew that she always wore all black clothes and had a completely black complexion."

"Including her palm and fingernails, all of them were black."

Harold looked at Robin and asked, "Mr. Bruce, is there anything else you need to inquire about?"

Robin waved his hand, indicating that there was no need to ask further.

Harold pointed at Anita and said, "Once this matter is resolved, I will settle the accounts with you!"

"Andre, tie her up and take her out first!"

such a situation.

This disgusting scene confirmed what Robin had said before.

Anita, who was hiding behind.

Taking advantage of everyone's attention being focused on the black caterpillar appearing on Camdyn's face, she quietly slipped away towards the door.

Anita whispered to Mark, who was guarding the door, “Cheng Ge, the meals in the restaurant haven't been cleaned up yet. I'll go out for a moment.”

Mark didn't pay much attention to Anita and was about to let her go.

Without turning his head, Robin coldly said, “No one can leave this room.”

“Grab her! She is the one who added Purple Ginseng to the soup!”

Robin's voice drew everyone's gaze towards Anita in the room.

Mr. Harold's mouth twitched slightly, and a hint of incredulity flickered in his eyes. Anita had been with the Huber family for over a decade, always diligent and hardworking. Moreover, Camdyn had been taking care of all the household chores. before. And Camadyn treated her like family.
