

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 436-439

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 436

“Hello, this is the Love Wings Child Learning Institute. Can I help you?”

A young woman’s voice came from the other side of the line.

Savanna was shocked.

The voice sounded so familiar.

“You are Janet Shone?” Savanna asked.

Savanna’s mind was still a mess, but she couldn’t help but call out a name.

The next second, she felt it was impossible.

How could it be such a coincidence? Janet had emigrated, so how could she return to the country to work?

“Sorry, I got the wrong person.” Savanna quickly apologized.

However, the person on the other side of the line was silent for three seconds before asking, “You are... Savanna?”

Both of them fell silent.

There was a strange silence on the phone.

How could it be possible? The principal of a special school recommended by Tye's teacher was Savanna's former best friend, Janet.

In the past, the Shone Group was a well-known leading enterprise in the real estate business. Unfortunately, when Janet was nineteen years old, her father passed away from illness, and the Shone Group was annexed in a short time.

Since then, the Shone family declined, and Janet and her mother immigrated abroad.

"Is it you?" Savanna said in a trembling voice, "Why didn't you tell me that you were back?"

life?"

"I've done something sorry to you. How would I dare to be thick-skinned and disturb your Janet laughed bitterly..

"It's all in the past. Besides, I never blamed you," Savanna replied.

"I'm sorry," Janet said.

Savanna did not want to continue this topic but asked, "You are now the principal of a special school. I want to ask you something about my son.

"What happened to your son?"

“Tye has autism. He was unable to get accustomed to life in an ordinary school. The teacher suggested that I learn about the situation of a special school.”

“Autism?” Janet’s tone became serious in an instant. “I can’t say it clearly on the phone. Are you free? Bring the child over and let me see.”

Half an hour later, Savanna arrived at the Love Wings Child Learning Institute according to the address that Janet sent to her.

Janet was waiting for her at the gate.

They hadn’t seen each other for ten years. Janet’s appearance did not change much, but her temperament became different.

Her skin was as fair as before, and her long hair was cut. Coupled with her work attire, she looked like a successful woman instead of an innocent girl.

“Long time no see.”

Savanna brought Tye out of the car. Seeing that there was a stranger, Tye hid behind Savanna warily.

“Tye, this is Janet, my friend.”

“I didn’t expect you to be married and have a child.” Janet stared at Tye lovingly. The longer she looked at him, the more she felt that he was familiar.

Tye's face and facial features were completely copied from Brandon's.

"I didn't expect that you would indeed marry him."

Others might not know that Savanna had been infatuated with Brandon for twelve years, but as Savanna's best friend, Janet knew everything.

"You must be very surprised. Maybe because I was too insistent on this relationship, the retribution fell on my son, Savanna smiled bitterly.

"Don't talk nonsense. Did you bring the diagnosis report? I will learn about his situation carefully."

In the office, Janet flipped through the diagnosis report. "Other than not speaking, is there anything else?"

ITT

"Tye is indifferent and even hostile to all outsiders. I tried to send him to an ordinary school, but he is resistant to it."

"In fact, the best choice is to send Tye here." Janet put down the diagnosis report,

"But he just doesn't speak. He is no different from a normal child. Savanna was still deceiving herself.

"I know what you are worried about. You are afraid that he will be discriminated against if he comes here, right?"

Janet had been the principal of the Love Wings for more than two years and had a clear understanding of children's parents' thoughts.

"No, I am afraid that he will feel that he is different from a normal person and will be hurt again," Savanna retorted.

"But the reality is that Tye is more out of place when he goes to ordinary schools. Because our students are special, we will pay more attention to them and arrange professional doctors to guide and treat them."

Janet paused. "Savanna, leave your child to me. I promise to let him get better.

Before she called Janet, Savanna was still hesitant.

Hearing Janet's words, she made up her mind instantly. "Janet, I believe you. I'll leave Tye to you."

That day, the transfer procedures were completed. The next morning, Savanna sent Tye to the Love Wings.

Janet stood at the school gate to welcome Savanna and Tye. Her eyes were black-ringed, and she yawned.

"Why are you so sleepy? Didn't you sleep last night?"

“I took a nap at three o’clock and woke up at seven o’clock.” Janet was so sleepy that her eyes were filled with tears.

She took Savanna and Tye to her office and took out a plan. “Let me show you something good.

This is the recovery plan I made for Tye after I chatted with the psychologist until midnight.”

Savanna was so touched that she almost cried when she saw the detailed plan.

She said in a sobbing tone, “Thank you, Janet.”

“I’m a person of my word. I will never deceive you.” Janet patted her chest and promised, “In less than five months, I will let you see a different Tye.”

Ghlnte

Time flew by. Savanna received a call from Janet and stood up from the sofa.

“Be careful. You’ve been pregnant for more than eight months, and it’s almost time to give birth.

Don’t be so impulsive.”

Savanna was in high spirits after hearing the good news. She acted nimbly and did not look like a pregnant woman who was about to give birth.

“Brandon, did you hear that? Tye knows how to greet people! He can speak!”

Savanna was so excited that she shed tears of joy.

Janet did not boast, and she really did it. Within five months, she helped Tye learn to speak.

“Let’s go to see Tye right now!” Savanna grabbed the car key casually.

But Brandon snatched the key away with a dark face. “Give me the key. I’ll drive. Don’t forget that. you’ve been pregnant for almost nine months. Don’t even think about touching the steering wheel.”

Savanna was forced to put on a coat and then sat on the passenger seat.

Half an hour later, she and Brandon arrived at Janet’s office.

Today was the first time Tye spoke. Janet informed Savanna at first moment and then sent Tye to the hospital in the school for a check.

“Tye, you... can speak?”

Savanna had a big belly and couldn’t squat down. She could only bend down slightly and stare at Tye expectantly.

Tye raised his head, and his bright eyes turned. Then, he opened his mouth and said in a very shaky voice, “Savanna.”

His voice was tender, and his pronunciation was a bit strange.

But Savanna choked, and her tears streamed down.

Her treasure could finally speak.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 437

“Tye, who am I?”

Brandon took out a tissue and handed it to Savanna who was crying out of joy.

Tye looked at Brandon and opened his mouth.

He said slowly, “Dad.”

At that moment, Brandon was stunned, and an indescribable feeling filled his heart. He stretched out his arm and lifted Tye up, swirling in place,

“What did you call me? Say it again.”

“Dad.” Tye was like a child who was first learning how to speak.

“Slow down. Don’t scare him,” Savanna warned.

But after nearly five months of rehabilitation training, Tye was no longer as timid as before

Being lifted up by Brandon, not only was he not afraid, he even found it interesting

He laughed happily

“How is it? Am I honest? I promised you that you would see the results in five months.”

Janet walked over proudly, smiling brightly

Although Janet said so in a relaxed tone, Savanna knew that Janet must have paid much effort behind it, so she said sincerely, “Janet, thank you for everything you have done for Tye. Thank you very much.”

“What are you talking about? Didn’t we say before that we would be the godmother of each other’s children?”

Although they were separated before they had a child...

Fortunately, the heavens fulfilled their promise

Janet looked at Tye dotingly. “No matter what, I am Tye’s godmother, and I certainly have to go all out in his matters.”

Tye was willing to speak, and this was the first step of recovery,

Janet said that she had just gone to a psychologist and had a short discussion. Next, Tye would receive treatment for avoiding resisting social behaviors.

Janet, you are so efficient. You have done so much for Tye, and I don’t know how to repay you.”

In the face of Janet's kindness, Savanna could not help but want to cry

But Janet shrugged and pursed her lips. "Don't stare at my hand. I have just discussed a general plan with the psychologist. The detailed recovery plan won't be made so soon. Don't think of me as a working machine."

Janet's teasing tone caused Savanna to hold back her tears,

Savanna thought, how lucky i am to have such a good friend.

"Alright, you can chat with Tye for a while longer. I still have some things to do

Just as Janet was about to leave, Savanna felt a pain in her belly

She cried out in pain and almost lost their balance,

Janet grabbed Savanna's arm and asked, "Savanna, what's wrong? Why is your face so pale? Does your belly hurt?"

Savanna gritted her teeth and nodded.

Brandon, who was focusing on Tye, rushed to Savanna.

"Honey, what's wrong? Are you going to give birth?"

Brandon picked Savanna up and strode to the parking lot.

It was inconvenient for him to take care of Savanna when he was driving, so Janet asked a teacher to take care of Tye and trotted to Brandon.

In the blink of an eye, they arrived at the hospital. Brandon contacted the doctor in advance, and as soon as he arrived at the hospital, he put Savanna on the first aid bed. He held Savanna's hand all the way and followed the doctor to the obstetrics department.

It was not until Savanna was sent to the consulting room that he let go of her hand.

"Honey, I'll be waiting for you outside. Don't be afraid. Everything will be fine."

When Savanna gave birth for the first time, Brandon did not accompany her, and he always regretted it a lot

This time, he must stay

Ten minutes later, the door of the consulting room was opened.

Brandon strode forward with his long legs, the worry in his eyes almost on the verge of bursting out.

"Doctor, how is my wife? Is she going to give birth? How is she now?"

“Don’t worry. The patient’s condition is stable. She won’t give birth for now,” The doctor replied.

“Then why is her belly hurting? Is there something wrong with the child?”

Brandon was mentally prepared for the worst result as he stared into the doctor’s eyes.

“Promise me that no matter what happens, you must save my wife. As for the child...”

If the child was gone, they could have another one

But Savanna was the only one.

Brandon loved Savanna, so he loved their children. But if something happened to Savanna because of the child...

He would never forgive himself for the rest of his life.

“Sir, please calm down. It is not as serious as you say. We think that your wife is having false contractions. It is a normal condition during pregnancy.”

Hearing the doctor’s words, Brandon finally relaxed.

“But Savanna looks so painful, is there any way to ease her pain? Money is not a problem, as long as she doesn’t suffer too much.”

Brandon ignored the doctor and looked inside the consulting room. But because of the layout of the room, he could see nothing.

Therefore, he became more anxious.

“If she is in great pain, we can take some medical measures, but it is best if she can overcome it.”

“Brandon, it doesn’t hurt that much anymore.”

Savanna was pushed out of the consulting room. Her face became even paler, and so were her lips, which had always been ruddy.

Brandon was distressed. He reached out his hand and grabbed Brandon’s hand tightly. “Savanna, thank you.”

Savanna was arranged to stay in the hospital for two days.

Brandon had booked a VIP delivery room in advance for an unlimited period of time. Imported fruits and supplements were also served at the same time.

The palm-sized strawberry was washed clean, cut into small pieces, and placed on a plate.

Brandon used a fork and fed Savanna

Savanna felt that his actions were too exaggerated. “Brandon, I can eat it myself My belly just hurt a little just now, and I haven’t reached the point where I need someone to take care of me.”

But Brandon’s attitude was very firm “You should have a good rest and take care of the baby. I will handle everything.”

He did as he said. From the moment he arrived at the hospital, he had always been taking care of Savanna carefully in every respect.

He accompanied Savanna while she was eating, sleeping, and taking a walk.

In the evening, Savanna followed the doctor's instructions and went downstairs to take a walk, Brandon was still by her side, holding her hand in a domineering manner

The temperature difference between day and night in Philadelphia was big, and Savanna was only wearing a thin hospital gown.

She sneezed.

Brandon became alert immediately. "Let's go back and put on more clothes."

Savanna felt her body heavy, and when she heard Brandon's words, she acted like a child and sat on a bench

"I won't go anywhere. I'll wait for you here. Go and come back quickly."

Brandon stroked her soft hair and said, "Then wait for me here obediently

He walked away quickly, and Savanna sat on the bench to rest in boredom,

In her trance...

She heard someone calling her name.

“Savanna, have you been well all these years?”

Savanna came back to her senses immediately as if she had finally woken up in a dream, “Who is speaking?”

Turning around, she saw a woman standing not far away. The woman’s pants were a little oversize.

Even though she was wearing a hat, her face made Savanna freeze. Savanna’s face turned pale.

It was Winnie.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 438

“Winnie? Are you a human or a ghost?”

Winnie disappeared inexplicably back then, and no one knew whether she was dead or alive.

Later, Flora appeared. She insisted that Winnie was dead and wanted to avenge Winnie. Therefore, everyone thought that Winnie was dead.

But why did she come back alive?

Savanna’s back was covered with sweat.

She tried hard to get up, but because of her big belly, it was difficult for her to get up.

In addition, she had just been shocked, and there was a burst of pain in her abdomen.

Savanna fell onto the bench, her hands covering her belly, and her face became pale.

“Are you pregnant?”

Winnie’s eyes under her broad hat fixed on Savanna’s belly, as cold as a knife.

“The child is Brandon’s?”

“My child turned into a pool of blood. How can your child be healthy?”

Winnie’s resentful voice was like a curse. She limped over with a pair of crutches. The sound of crutches hitting the ground was like a kind of gloomy background music making people tremble.

Savanna’s belly was getting more and more painful. She wanted to get up, but her body was so heavy that she seemed frozen.

If Winnie wanted to hurt her now, it would be quite easy.

“Honey, I’m back.” Brandon’s gentle voice came from the distance.

Savanna saw his tall figure appear at the corner.

Winnie also heard Brandon’s voice. She stopped in her tracks in annoyance and turned to limp away.

Savanna had no time to rejoice. A burst of intense pain came from her lower abdomen. She felt dizzy and almost fainted.

Brandon, who came over with a coat, saw Savanna slide down from the bench from afar and rushed over to pull her into his arms. "Brandon, Winnie..." Savanna said vaguely.

Winnie? Why did you mention her?" Brandon asked.

"She's back." Savanna reached out and pointed in the direction Winnie left.

Brandon looked up and saw a thin woman leaning on crutches.

With just a quick glance, he could see nothing.

Besides, right now, he was more concerned about Savanna who was suddenly unconscious.

In the hospital ward.

"What happened to me?" Savanna woke up in a daze, feeling dizzy and weak.

"Honey you scared me. I went back to get a coat, and you fainted on the bench."

Brandon sat on the bed and held Savanna's hand with his large palm, his tone full of lingering fear.

Is the child

Savanna recalled what had happened. She reached out and touched her belly. "Child alright?"

"The doctor checked and said that the child was fine."

Hearing such an answer, Savanna felt relieved.

But after a few seconds, she became nervous again. "Brandon, I saw Winnie. She's back."

"Honey, did you have a nightmare? I'm afraid that Winnie has already left this world."

Although Winnie's body hadn't been found, she could not disappear completely from the world except for death.

"No, I really saw her. She spoke to me." Savanna touched her belly and looked very nervous. "She even wants to hurt our child!"

"Wife, calm down. No one wants to harm our child." Brandon held Savanna's shoulders, forcing her to calm down.

"Winnie came back this time because she wanted to take our child's life," Savanna said, and tears of fear steamed down from the corners of her eyes.

"Honey, you're under too much pressure. I've asked the doctor. You hurt two times, and it might be a sign of depression before childbirth. The mental pressure is so great that it hurts your health “Really? It was just my illusion, right?”

Savanna couldn't tell if she had seen Winnie

However, it was certain that her emotions and mentality were greatly affected.

It was dangerous for a pregnant woman to be in such a dazed state.

“Honey, I'll accompany you. Don't let your mind run wild, okay? Everything will be well, and you will give birth to a child smoothly.”

Brandon reached out and hugged Savanna,

The familiar perfume on his body had a special effect and made Savanna calm down quickly

Brandon sent someone to check the surveillance near the bench, but unfortunately, it was a blind spot

No one knew whether Winnie was a fantasy by Savanna or not.

Three days passed in a flash,

Under Brandon's care, Savanna's physical and mental condition recovered to a good state

There was still more than half a month before childbirth. If Savanna stayed in the hospital like this,

she would be bored to death

Therefore, she applied to be discharged from the hospital. She recovered well these days, her face was rosy, and she was lively

Brandon had taken care of Savanna for a few days and had put aside a lot of affairs in the company. His calls in the past two days had obviously increased

It was not good to continue like this, so Savanna said considerately, "Brandon, I'm all right now.

"Lizeth will take care of me at home. Go back to the company and handle your work."

Brandon reached out to tidy Savanna's hair. His gaze moved down and fell on her round belly.

"I am worried about you."

"It doesn't matter. I promise you. Everything is fine."

After thinking for a while, Brandon decided to take Savanna to the company,

Even if he couldn't watch her at any time, he could at least see what was happening right under his nose Savanna felt helpless but sweet.

So, they finished lunch and drove to the company. The black Cayenne stopped at the entrance of the Thompson Group.

Brandon opened the car door and got off. Then he walked to help Savanna.

“Slow down. Don’t bump into it.”

Savanna couldn’t help but laugh. “I’m not a delicate doll.”

The next second, she caught a glimpse of a person who was entering the company through the revolving door, and her smile froze.

The person was thin, her big hat covering most of her face, and she was walking with a pair of crutches.

“It’s Winnie.” Savanna grabbed Brandon’s arm, and her face turned pale instantly.

Brandon looked up, and the revolving door happened to block his sight.

But with just a glance, he could also tell something wrong.

“Honey, was she the one you saw at the hospital that day?”

Savanna nodded heavily and said hurriedly, “I didn’t make a mistake. It was really her that day.

Winnie came back!”

“Don’t be afraid. So what if she’s back? With me here, she can’t do anything to you.”

Brandon held Savanna’s hand tightly and helped her dispel her worries.

“Let’s go and follow her.”

Brandon held Savanna's hand and followed Winnie. They walked past the revolving door and saw Winnie disappear into the corridor.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 439

Brandon and Savanna followed Winnie to the elevator

There were six elevators on the first floor. The innermost one had just closed

Obviously, Winnie had taken it.

Brandon walked over quickly, wanting to press the button and stop the elevator

At that time, the middle elevator's door opened, and a man walked out slovenly.

The man walked out and blocked Brandon.

"Hey, a rare guest. Mr. Cassel, aren't you at home accompanying your pregnant wife? Why did you come to the company today?"

With Kady's interruption, Brandon failed to stop the elevator Winnie had taken,

"Get lost." Brandon glared at Kady coldly. "You a good-for-nothing."

"Are you venting your anger on me?*" Kady touched the long hair on his forehead and turned to look at Savanna.

He mocked, "Savanna, did Brandon abuse you? Your face is so pale, and you look so haggard with pregnancy"

Kadyn reached out his hand out of habit and wanted to touch Savanna's face as if he was flirting with a girl.

With a slap, his hand was heavily hit by Brandon.

"You dare to touch my woman? Do you not want your hands anymore?" Brandon's tone was filled with killing intent.

"I just want to touch her face. Will this hurt her?" Kadyn only dared to complain in a low voice.

Brandon did not hear it. He asked, "How is the task I arranged for you? Do you finish it?"

Kadyn turned the luxury car key in his hand. "Everything is under my control. To be honest, Gordon is more interesting than you. He even sent beauties and cars to me."

"Get lost." Brandon kicked Kadyn heartlessly.

Kadyn dodged aside quickly, only leaving a bit of dust on his pants.

He complained to Savanna as he dusted off his pants, "Look, this is your dear husband. He actually kicked me!”

“Honey, let’s go. Don’t listen to his nonsense.” Brandon held Savanna in his arms and sent her into the elevator carefully.

In the elevator, Savanna raised her head and asked Brandon beside her, “What did you ask Kady to do? What do you want to do to Gordon? He is not a good person.”

“Originally. I did not want to do anything to him, but that old bastard was too greedy. He wanted to bribe a spy to destroy the Thompson Group, so I had to make him pay the price.”

Brandon’s tone was cold, and his courage was as if he was a king who looked down on everything.

With him here, Savanna was not worried that the Thompson Group would be destroyed. Instead, she was a little curious about what method Brandon would use to counterattack.

“Brandon, how are you going to deal with him?”

By the time Savanna asked this, she and Brandon had arrived at the president’s office.

Brandon helped Savanna sit down on the chair and covered her leg with a thin blanket.

Then, he trapped her with his body and said word by word, “When our child is born, I want to give her a big gift.”

“What gift?”

Brandon smiled, "Since we need to take care of our daughter meticulously, then all the properties | took back would be under her name."

Savanna understood. The original Cassel Group was under Gordon. Did it mean that Brandon wanted to take back the Cassel Group?

But in terms of strength, the current Thompson Group was not as good as Gordon's company. Savanna could not help but be a little worried. "Isn't it too risky to do this?"

Just because Gordon wants to bribe Kady, he is destined to lose miserably."

Brandon smiled mockingly.

Kady came to the clubhouse that he had arranged with Gordon

The luxury car stopped at the door, and the key was thrown to the doorman Kady walked into the private room.

Gordon, surrounded by women, stood up and greeted Kady with a smile. "Mr. Cassel, how is the matter?"

Kady took out a USB flash drive from his pocket and said, "Everything you want is in here.

Gordon reached out to take it, but he missed it. The USB flash drive was taken back by Kady in front of his eyes.

“I brought what you wanted. Where is the thing you promised me?”

“The money you want is not a small amount. If I withdraw so much liquidity at once, the company will be greatly affected. I...”

Gordon still wanted to say something more, but he was interrupted by Kady's cold and indifferent voice.

Kady stuffed the USB back into his pocket and said, “Since that's the case, our deal ends here. Right now, I... don't lack money.” After Kady finished speaking, he forced a laugh.

Gordon smiled. He knew that Kady liked to play with women. He cast a glance, and the beautiful and enchanting women surrounded Kady immediately.

“Today, your task is to serve Mr. Cassel well.”

Gordon did not want to waste so much money, and he had his plan.

As long as these women got Kady drunk, it would be easy to get his USB.

Kady could not resist the beauties.

Especially those who had hot figures. Soon, he indulged in the pleasure of enjoying the beauties' sweet words.

With their coaxing, Kadyr drank wine one glass after another.

Gordon left the private room silently. When he closed the door, he looked back and sneered, "A complete good-for-nothing."

He thought that Brandon and Kadyr were both under his control, but little did he know that he was the lamb waiting to be slaughtered.

Beep...

Kadyr, who had experienced a lively and passionate night, was woken up by his ringing phone.

He sat up with a splitting headache and threw back the covers, revealing a woman's fair back.

The ground was covered in messy clothes, showing how intense the situation last night was.

"Hello, who is it? You disturb me in the morning."

Brandon's cold voice came from the other side of the line. "Look at what time it is."

Kadyr checked the time, and it was three pm.

He awoke the woman next to him, gave her a tip, and asked her to leave.

"Have you completed the task I asked you to do?"

Kadyr leaned against the bed and said casually, "I think so. I had a good time last night. Gordon wouldn't let go of the opportunity."

“Alright, I’m hanging up,” Brandon said indifferently after learning about the progress of his plan.

“You are ruthless enough,” Kadyn complained.

Suddenly, he said, “Take the money and scram. Why did you come back here?”

Before he hung up, Brandon heard Kadyn’s voice on the other side of the line. “Why are you here?”

Who was Kadyn mentioning?

Brandon was not going to investigate further. He guessed that it was Kadyn’s one-night stand partner that wanted an explanation.

Gordon had indeed gotten what he wanted. The spy that Brandon had arranged on Gordon’s side reported the situation the next day.

A good show began. Brandon got someone to deliberately leak the news about the Thompson Group’s venture capital of the latest season.

Of course, the information was the same as what Gordon had obtained.

After doing all this, Brandon lay on the chair and reached out to touch Savanna’s bulging belly.

“Don’t mess with your mother. Be born safe and sound. Daddy will give you a big present.” Brandon smiled at the baby in Savanna’s belly.

Suddenly, there was a hurried knock on the door of the office. Jim pushed the door open and entered. “Mr. Cassel, bad news!”