

Love Is Fair 261

Chapter 261: I Am Your Successor

Fixing his eyes on Catherine, Matthew could make no reaction for a few moments. It was the first time he had seen her dressed like this. She looked so amazing in the ancient costume as if the dress had been exclusively made for her. And even her image had been changed, from a little witch to a fairy. What's more, Matthew thought she looked like Hailey just now. The languid but confident look on her face was the same as that of Hailey. Looking up and down at Catherine, Elsa was being alert, "Who are you?" Catherine thought for a moment, 'You're his ex-girlfriend while I'm your successor.' What the hell did successor mean? Matthew twitched his mouth and felt his waist started to hurt again.

Raising her eyebrows, Elsa said, "You look like a teenage. Are you over eighteen? You're my successor? Aren't you ashamed of saying so? Where are your parents? They should take you home." Catherine slowly raised her eyelids with a cold look on her face, "I'm sorry to tell you that it's my place." Elsa was totally shocked. Peter, in the same inky-blue gown, walked towards them as he heard the noise. He was indescribably dashing" What's going on here?" Peter came over and naturally placed himself in front of Catherine.

Catherine said in a bland voice, "She is causing a scene. Kick her out. She needs a doctor, but we won't give her treatment." Catherine grabbed Matthew by his neck and dragged him in after saying so. Matthew shouted, "Hey.

come on. Be gentle to me. My waist hurts." When Matthew was lying on the bed, he felt like he was the fish meat on the chopping board, pathetic and helpless, Matthew was asked to take off his top, revealing his muscular upper body which was perfect. The only flaw would be the scars on his back. However, the pair of sphenoid bones on Matthew's back was extremely beautiful and they were trembling with fear now, like the real wings of a butterfly.

Staring at Catherine who was fiddling with the silver needles, Matthew was hemming and hawing, “I mean, Catherine...Could you let Peter take care of me? I guess there’s no big problem with my waist, so you don’t need to cure me in person..” Catherine was preparing her silver needles with no expression on her face, saying in a bland tone, “Peter is fully occupied now, so he doesn’t have time to take care of you. It’s really not a big problem with your waist, which can be solved with a few needles. I can handle it by myself, so don’t bother Peter.” “How come Catherine can’t get my point?” Matthew thought to himself. Matthew was about to break down and tried to convince Catherine, “First of all, I do trust you...I mean...I guess I don’t actually need to accept acupuncture therapy. I’ll be fine after doing some exercises myself. I mean it. Catherine raised her black eyes to look at Matthew, “Matthew, are you afraid of acupuncture needles?” Matthew was thinking loud, ‘What I’m afraid of isn’t the acupuncture needles but you.’ However, Matthew was worried that he would hurt the confidence of Catherine if he were to tell her the truth. Matthew made up his mind to accept acupuncture therapy from Catherine. His waist hurt and it couldn’t be worse taking several acupuncture needles. Perhaps that would be a blessing in disguise for him.

Matthew stopped struggling after putting himself together. “Okay. Go ahead.” He was acting like a hero who was gonna die for his career. Catherine never doubted her own medical skills, only to feel Matthew faint-hearted. “Matthew, rest assured. I’ll do it fast and you won’t feel the pain.” Matthew now felt as if his head was on the guillotine and was gonna cry, since what Catherine said to him did sound like what an executioner said to the condemned, “Rest assured. You won’t feel the pain since my blade is quite sharp.” “Go ahead. I’m ready.” Matthew gritted his teeth and closed his eyes, waiting for the pain to come.

However,

what he could sense was merely an itch on his lower back and then Catherine said blandly. "It's done."
The cure was done? Opening his eyes, Matthew was gonna look back after a pause, but Catherine stopped him.

You can move in ten minutes." Matthew replied slowly. "You've put the needles on me?" Catherine said, "Yeah. Three

needles will be enough for your waist, and it's not a big deal. You'll be fine after I pull out the needles."
Matthew

was still surprised, since he could barely feel nothing when Catherine was putting the needles on him.
He still couldn't believe it, so he said to Catherine, "My phone is in the pocket. Take a picture with it. I'd like to see how

my waist is now."

"You wanna take a picture of it?" Catherine couldn't understand why Matthew wanted to do so, but she still did what he asked. She reached into his trouser pocket and accidentally touched a soft part. Matthew was so stunned that he looked up at her. "Stop." Matthew shouted in a soft tone, his ears red. Catherine didn't think too much about it. She just murmured, "I didn't mean to do it, but your pocket is too deep." Catherine started the camera of the phone and took a picture of his back. She showed him the picture and Matthew saw the three needles on his waist. "It doesn't hurt, does it? My skill is perfect." Catherine was confident in her acupuncture skill. Putting Matthew's phone aside. Catherine conjured up two lollipops and waved them in front of Matthew,

"Do you want one?" Catherine was treating Matthew as a child, which made him speechless.

However, following his heart, Matthew said, "Peel it for me. I want the blueberry flavor." And then he opened his mouth. Catherine stopped peeling the lollipop and narrowed her eyes. "I can give you the blueberry lollipop, but you have to tell me what the relationship between you and Elsa is first." Looking at the lollipop, Matthew

started, "She told you just now. She's my ex-girlfriend." "How many girlfriends have you ever had?"
Matthew

answered, "I don't know. I didn't count it. I'm not making up a football team, so why do I need to count it?"

Catherine asked with an angry look, "What a playboy you're!" "I am." Matthew continued after a sigh.
"Girls are so obsessed with my dashing face which is given by my parents."

Catherine had a sudden urge to hit him. "Now that you've had so many girlfriends, why can't you date me?"

"You're different from those girls." Matthew continued, "You're still a little girl." Catherine said after a blink, "Do you mean you can date me when I grow up?" Maybe it's because Matthew was so down to taste the lollipop on Catherine's hand, he said, "Maybe." Catherine put the lollipop in Matthew's mouth as she was satisfied with his answer. The two of them were chatting happily and time passed quickly.

Ten minutes later, as soon as Catherine had removed the needles for Matthew, the door to the consultation room opened. Hailey's voice sounded from the door. "Catherine, there're not enough rooms for patients. Could share the room with you?" Before Hailey could finish her sentence, she saw Matthew lying on the bed disheveled. Hailey gave a cold look at Matthew. Before she wanted to say something, Doris, who was being held by Hailey, started, "Damned Matthew, how could you do this to such a little girl? Are you a bastard?"

Matthew didn't know what to say

Chapter 262: You've Got The Wrong Person

Matthew didn't know whether he was so surprised to see his old comrade, Doris, or shocked by her words, but the consequence was that he sprained his waist again, which had just been cured with acupuncture therapy

So, the scene in the room was that both Doris and Matthew were lying on the bed. One of them was taking acupuncture therapy while the other was having a massage. Catherine was giving Matthew a massage while he was enjoying it, thanks to Catherine's wonderful skill.

However, none of the persons in the room cared about how Matthew felt. They were all looking at Hailey and Doris. Staring at Doris's waist, Jared was so worried about her, "Hailey, how is waist? Would there be sequela?"

Hailey answered as she was preparing the acupuncture needles, "It's psomatic strain, which is a long-time injury

So it won't be that easy to fully cure it." Jared narrowed his eyebrows deeply. Lying on the bed, Matthew started saying as he turned to look at Doris, "You injured your waist in the mission in Lower Sea. Right? We had thought you would be paralyzed and leave the special forces, but you came back after three months. I thought you had been fully recovered, but it's not in fact. I mean, you're a woman at your late twenties. Why don't you marry a man instead of working so hard?" "Shut up. Okay? Do you think I can go back home and inherit a family company like you who can't make it in the army? Doris's face turned pale due to the pain, but she spared no effort to retort, "Besides, who can I marry?

What about you?" Catherine was speechless and so was Jared. Matthew answered immediately. "No way. I don't dare to marry you. What's more, I don't have a thing for a man." Casting a glare at Matthew, Owen said.

"Shut the hell up." Doris sneered, "Yep. I'm more like a man than you. You're such a coward." Matthew didn't agree with Doris at all. "What did I do? Why did you say so?" "You don't know what you did?" Casting a look at Catherine, Doris continued, "Girl, don't be scared. We're here. If Matthew really forced you to do something, feel free to tell us. We will help you and let him take his responsibility. We're not gonna be easy on him if he refuses."

Matthew was so speechless, since they went back to the previous topic again. Why didn't they listen to his explanation? Catherine said with a smile, "Miss Doris, you got Matthew wrong. He didn't force me to do anything. Maybe I was the one who forced him to do something." Matthew was wondering whether he had got the point of Catherine's words. "Great." Doris gave a thumbs up to Catherine. When she got to know that the little girl was Hailey's niece, she smiled and corrected, "Catherine, don't call me Miss Doris. Your aunt Hailey.

and I will probably become very good friends, so you can call me Aunt Doris or just Doris." Hailey curved her lips and let out a smile as she was disinfecting the acupuncture needles in the fire.

Hailey agreed with Doris that they would become good friends. People always said that there was no real friendship between opposite sex, but Hailey thought she was so compatible with Doris. Some persons were destined to be friends and Hailey trusted her intuition. Just as Catherine was about to call Doris, Jared, who was standing beside Hailey, said coldly. "Call her Doris directly, since she won't be your aunt but my wife."

Catherine paused, "What?" Doris was so stunned that she looked back at Jared, who was being so indifferent.

How could he say it with no expression? "I mean, what's wrong with you, sir?" Doris smiled politely. "Do you know what you said just now? You got the wrong person, didn't you?" Doris had yet to probe why Matthew stalked her. She had been feeling that someone was stalking her for quite a long time. Thanks to her excellent counter-reconnaissance ability, she could dump the person each time.

However, the person had almost caught up with her, which did scare her. And that was why Doris moved to North City to avoid that person. Doris left the army for her vacation. Besides, she wanted to get her waist cured, so she didn't wanna get herself in any trouble and be punished due to that. But Doris didn't expect the stalker would trace her here. How could a stalker be that arrogant? "I didn't get the wrong person. Jared was calm and his tone was bland, but he kinda joked, "Wasn't you the person who hit me in the childhood?"

Doris was about to freak out. She had beaten so many people since she was a child, but none of them dared to pick up a toe-to-toe fight against her. Jared was the first person who dared to do so. "Come on. It's been so many years. How can you still hold a grudge like this?" Looking at the angry and arrogant look on Jared's face, Doris knew that Jared wouldn't just let it go. "Fine. After the acupuncture therapy, we can have a fight. Feel free to use whatever move you can to beat me down." However, there was one more sentence that Doris didn't say it out loud, which was "You wish". Each one at presence thought Jared wouldn't take Doris's words seriously, but to their surprise, he said, "Okay." "We can have a fight." "Okay." What a dramatic scene! All the others sighed in their heart Doris and Matthew were bickering when they met, and Owen didn't wanna get himself in it. Instead, he was gazing at Hailey's hand which was holding a row of silver needles. She slowly sent the sterilized needles into several acupoints which would help boost blood circulation, ease pain and improve muscle spasm. Even if Owen had known that Hailey was a doctor long before, he was still surprised at how she was curing a patient.

Hailey was applying the needles on Doris methodically with a calm look, and it seemed everything was under her control. When looking at it aside, Owen felt as if he had known Hailey not just in this life. It was like he had known her in another time and space and he had seen what he was witnessing there.

The waist injury was an old problem for Doris. Taking acupuncture therapy for only once wouldn't cure the injury at all. She had to take it for several times, maybe with cupping therapy. Doris, who hated to go to hospital, promised to take the therapy very quickly, which slightly eased the worry of Jared. Turning his back to Doris,

Jared asked Hailey. "Could you cure the injury?" Hailey was washing her hands. She gave Jared a glimpse and let out a smile when hearing his question, "How come you're more worried about Doris's injury than herself?"

Giving Hailey a glare, Jared said, "Tell me the truth." Hailey thought for a moment and said, "As long as you don't fight with her recently. I can cure her injury for sure." Jared replied at once, "Of course I won't. Who says we're gonna have a fight?" Doris had sharp ears and she heard it clearly. She said, "We won't have a fight? So does it mean you won't blame me for what I did to you before? Shall we let the past in the past?" "You wish." Jared turned back to glare at Doris, "It's not gonna happen. We'll figure it out later." Doris was speechless when hearing so and thought to herself, 'Jared is a man who has nothing to do with generous and the girl who's gonna marry him will be super unlucky."

Chapter 263 Come To My House And Sleep With Me Tonight

Doris and Hailey were getting along with each other so well, super well in fact. Hailey was straightforward and so was Doris. The two of them could really hit it off. Doris came from the army and looked like a tough lady, but she was still a girl inside and liked beautiful stuff. Besides being busy with work, Hailey would only keep Jason company with jade carving, go to Groyfast and take care of Catherine when she was in North City. And now, she was shopping with Doris.

Doris had a good body shape, so she looked good in whatever clothes. Besides, she was also a cool girl. So, when Doris was trying the clothes Hailey picked up for her, she looked like a super model. And even a girl would have a thing for her. When looking at her, Hailey couldn't help taking out her phone and took some pictures of Doris. And those pictures of Doris were like fashion shoots. "Doris, would you like to be the spokesperson of my product when you leave the army? Look at you. Your face, body shape, and the killer charm. You can make a perfect advertisement." Holding a fisherman's hat in her hand and playing with it, Doris smiled, "Sure. But is it profitable?" Hailey answered as she raised her eyebrow, "Of course." Doris laughed out loud and walked over to grab Hailey by the neck. "It's so good to have a wealthy friend. I don't need to worry about money." The two of them headed out for a big meal. And they were so pleased to enjoy food together and even fed each other. They proposed toasts happily and burst out laughter during the meal.

TIP

However, there were two men who were looking at them through the window in a black car looked so serious.

They seemed to be so unhappy with what they were witnessing. The two men were Jared and Owen, and they were frowning deeply at this moment. Jared was wondering why Doris took the food in Hailey's bowl. 'The food in her own bowl didn't taste the same as that in Hailey's bowl?' Jared was thinking loud.

On the other hand, Owen pursed his lips slightly and felt so jealous as if he had drunk a jar of vinegar. He used to think that those men around Hailey would be his rivals, however, to his big surprise, Doris was actually his biggest rival. Where on earth did she come from? Doris showed up at such a terrible timing for Owen, and she had even become friends with Hailey. Doris was such a hassle to Owen. As for Doris and Hailey, they were proposing a toast to each other and drank it up. Tilting her mouth, Doris started, "I've been staying with men.

and almost forgotten that I'm actually a woman. Well, I mean, they don't treat me as a woman at ordinary times and talk to me like I'm one of them. I'm so pleased to get along with girls. When I was holding you, I could feel the fragrance on you.”

How? I’m sweaty” Raising her eyelids, Hailey added, “I smell the best after taking a shower, and you can feel the fragrance then, What about coming to my place tonight? And then you can have a try.” “I’m in.” Doris raised her glass towards Hailey and the two of them clinked their glasses. Looking at Hailey who was such a vision, Doris said after a clap on the table, “It’s just so confusing to me why Owen has yet to nail you as you’ve been around him for about three years. Is he blind or something? I can understand that he wouldn’t have a thing for a woman like me. But look at you, you’re a vision. How could he not fall for you? What’s wrong with him? Gosh..* ” Doris pursed her lips in disgust. “I’m ashamed on having such a stupid team member, who is definitely an embarrassment for our Dragon Special Forces.”

Letting out a half-hearted smile, Hailey added, “He’s stupid, but I also made some mistakes.” Hailey was kinda tipsy. “I’d been hiding my identity during the three years. I tried so hard to pretend to be another person who’s totally different from who I really am. I was being cautious and living my life like a puppet who could only make people laugh. Even I myself don’t like that me, so how could Owen have a thing for a woman like that?” Doris was being silent for a moment and took a look at Hailey, adding all of a sudden, “Do you know I chased Owen before? Do you wanna know how he refused me?” Looking up at Doris, Hailey sneered, “He was so in love with Eliza at that time. Right? He must have told you that he had a crush on someone.” “Not exactly.” Doris added, “He said he can only kill persons and doesn’t know how to love someone.” Hailey didn’t know what else to say. “What a stupid straight guy!” Doris smiled, “But he was like a killing machine then.

He always rushed in the front, no matter how harsh and dangerous the mission would be. As a member of the special forces, we're supposed to fight for the nation at any time, but people are afraid of death anyway.

However, Owen doesn't seem to be one of them." Hailey's eyes flickered. "I remember, once we were ordered to go into the camp of the enemies and directly destroy their headquarters."

Doris's expression became serious. "It was an almost impossible mission, but we had no choice but to accept and complete it. Each of us was ready to sacrifice and we each wrote a suicide note to our families.

Matthew

wrote several pages to scold his father for sending him to the army. He said his father shouldn't blame him for not taking care of him in his late ages. Anyway, Matthew did write a long letter. Among the nine of us, only Owen didn't write a letter." Hailey skipped a heartbeat when she heard so, "Why?" "He said no one would care whether he would die or not, so he didn't need to write it to anyone." Hailey was so confused, "Why did he have this kind of thought?" Hailey had already known the answer though she asked such a question. When Owen joined the army. Polly was saved from committing suicide and in her recovery. And she got serious depression at that time.

Hailey knew these things from Polly's personal maid, Winnie. "Owen have been suffering a lot since he was a little boy. The outsiders think him a young master of a wealthy family and he lucked out to become the inheritor of the Moores, though he isn't a real child of the Moores. However, no one knew how much he had suffered except me. He's so indifferent, which is closely related to his upbringing" Winnie continued, "Owen used to be lively. He wasn't that talkative, but his witty words always amused the persons around him. Ms. Polly was strict with him, but she didn't force him to be the inheritor. What she wanted was that Owen could become a real mani, Later on, Ms. Polly broke up with Alan and they quarreled like always. And they often lost their temper on Owen. Once, they were quarreling so fiercely and Owen tried his best to stop them, but he was slapped by Alan.

Owen got knocked on the corner of the coffee table and his head was bleeding heavily. He was sent to hospital and the cut needed six stitches.” Winnie felt so depressed when she was recalling these things. “Owen has become even less talkative since then and barely smiles. Moya is so scheming. She always pretended to be pitiful in front of Owen. She tried to take advantage of Owen to destroy the Moores. However, Ms. Polly is a tough woman. She often scolded Owen when Moya stirred up trouble, which kinda affected their mother-child relationship. Later, Ms. Molly and Alan divorced, and she got custody of Owen from Alan. But she was being even stricter with Owen.”

Winnie continued, “When Owen was about to join the army, the whole family was against his decision. And Ms.

Polly was so worried about him and didn’t want him to take the risk. However, Ms. Polly is such an inarticulate person, and didn’t have a good talk to Owen about it. Instead, she threatened Owen that she would renounce him if he were to join the army. And she would no longer care about him, whether to die or not.” Minnie’s words reminded Hailey of what happened in Groyfast. When she was dying and almost lost her will to live in such a dangerous place where nobody could leave alive, Owen came to her rescue. It was he who brought her the hope of life. However, he couldn’t know how to love a person. Hailey drank a glass of wine and felt so bitter. She loved Owen for ten years and she wished Owen had never experienced these hardships. And he merely didn’t love her.

Chapter 264: Hit Me If You Can

Looking at Hailey. Doris said, "I know that Owen still falls for you. And so do you. I don't know much of a relationship, but what don't you give him a chance as you two still have feelings for each other?" Doris knew little about romance. In her opinion, a couple should be together when they had feelings for each other. And they were supposed to break up when their affections faded. Doris joined the army at a young age and she knew she would die at any time. Except for the responsibility she should take, she would try everything she could to enjoy life. All that she wanted was to follow her heart and do whatever she preferred.

However, Hailey didn't fully agree on the thought of Doris. She chuckled, "You have never tasted the bitterness of love. When you fall in love with someone, you will get to know it that it's not black or white in the world of love. The couple could enjoy a colorful life if they're lucky enough. And they would have to endure a bleak life if not." Not a woman would leave if she wasn't badly hurt. So was Hailey. She wouldn't have divorced Owen to end their relationship. As for her, when Owen asked for a divorce in front of her face, and she signed her name on – the divorce paper, her affections for him in the past ten years had gone. And so had the previous Hailey.

Doris mulled over it. "I can't get it for the time being, but I won't persuade you into accepting my thought since !

don't experience what you did. I'm sorry for what I said just now, and you can just forget it. I won't mention it anymore." Doris proposed a toast to show her apology. Hailey clinked the glass of Doris with a smile, "I'll let it go." Outside the restaurant, Jared was so black, "Haven't they finished yet?" Jared couldn't stand it anymore and wanted to get off the car, but Owen grabbed him on his wrist. "Hey." Turning back, Jared cast a cold glance at Owen, "Let go of me." Jared didn't change his attitude towards Owen, though they were watching Hailey and Doris through the window in the car for quite a while. That the two of them were together wasn't a coincidence.

It was Owen who went to Jared for cooperation, since they two had the same goal that Hailey and Doris shouldn't always stay together.

It had been a few days that Hailey and Doris spent time together, which made Owen and Jared have no chance to run their plans. For men, their biggest rivals might be the bosom friends of the girls they had a thing for.

Bosom friends spent time together, chatting or doing whatever they wanted, and they didn't even want boyfriends. This was the last thing Jared and Owen wanted to see, so they were killing themselves separating Hailey and Doris. North City was Owens town after all, so he could easily locate Hailey and Doris. Otherwise, Jared wouldn't have promised to work with him. It was like a huge humiliation to Jared, though he had been going through embarrassing moments that he had never experienced in his life before these days. After he announced the identity of Doris, his wife-to-be, Brook and Hailey soon sold him out. The two of them exposed that Jared had a thing for Doris in the chat group of their families. Brook: (Congratulations Jared, you've finally found the girl you love.

Kyle: What? Who is that girl?!

Hailey: (

We're gonna have a sister-in-law?)

Kyle: (Really? Did the sun rise in the west today? Let me check.)

Randal: (Jared, congratulations. Could I ask who the girl is?)

Karl: (Tell us the truth.) Jared had intended not to reply any of the texts, but he couldn't as Karl said something. Jared: (Well, I have a thing for a girl. And I'll introduce her to you guys later. Brook: (Jared, when do you mean later? She has yet to promise to be your girlfriend, has she? Try harder, Jared.)

Jared: (Shut the hell up.)

Kyle: (Ha-ha... The girl has yet to promise? Then you have to try harder, Jared.)

Randal: (Is the girl Doris?) Hailey: [Yep. She beat Jared to cry when they were kids. Do you remember her?] Kyle: [Of course I do.] Randal: [I do wanna pretend to have forgotten her, but she's so impressive. So, of course I remember her. Karl: [Ha-ha...] Jared: [...]] This must be the most embarrassing moment in his life. Owen loosened his grip on Jared and said to him. "What are you gonna say to them if you go in directly?" Jared was kinda angry. "It's none of your business." "You're right. But I know Hailey and Doris well. They will definitely get irritated if they know we're stalking them. And you want Doris to be your girlfriend? In your next life." What Owen said just now was like a killing move to Jared. He hesitated for a moment after swallowing. "I'll be much nicer to her if she gets angry at me for that. That would be better than watching them in the car without doing anything. Right? If you really had got a good plan, you would have chased Hailey back long before. And you wouldn't have stayed with me in the car."

Jared thought he would never be with Doris if he were to listen to Owen, so he got off the car. Mulling it over, Owen thought Jared's words made sense. He skipped a heartbeat when looking at Hailey who was smiling so sweetly. Compared with looking at her in a long distance and being afraid of getting her angry. Owen thought he should spend more time with her even if he would irritate her. That would be way better than letting her get over him entirely. So, Owen also got off the car and entered the restaurant with Jared. Hailey and Doris were sitting by the window, and Hailey faced the gate of the restaurant. She saw Jared and Owen striding towards them from a long distance and was kinda stunned.

As for Doris, who was with her back to the gate, she knew nothing and was enjoying the food. She swallowed a slice of salmon and tilted her mouth due to mustard. "I've always wanted to ask you something. Was Jared kicked by a donkey when he was a little boy? Or did I really hurt his head when we fought? Why do I always feel that he's gonna swallow me each time we meet?" Just as Doris finished her sentence, she found someone behind her. "Who's that?" And her wrist got grasped by someone as she was ready to defend herself. Turning back, Doris met a pair of sharp eyes, not tender at all. However, when she found the person was Jared, her panic faded immediately. "It's you."

Doris was so calm and didn't feel sorry for saying anything against Jared behind his back. Neither did she feel ashamed. Owen also stopped in front of them at that time. Hailey was still kinda surprised but she didn't say anything. Instead, she was wondering why Jared and Owen came together. Meanwhile, Jared was still holding Doris's wrist and started in a cold tone, "Were you scolding me behind my back?" "Well, you heard it?" Doris's beautiful eyes sparkled, and she said mischievously, "Yeah. I was scolding you, but I didn't say it behind your back. I can repeat it in your face. Well, are you angry at me? Beat me if you dare." Jared was so speechless.

Chapter 265 Chasing Her

Facing Doris's provocation, Jared only snorted and said leisurely, "Don't worry, I'll have a chance to deal with you anyway." Doris didn't know how to retort him. She hated the feeling as if she was lying on the guillotine and her head would be chopped off at any time. She would rather have a fight with Jared now. Sensing Doris's anger, Hailey hurried to remind her, "You forgot the injury of your waist? You'd better take a good rest. No.

strenuous exercise!" Doris seemed to deflate after hearing Hailey. Doris lowered her head and then looked up at Jared with a big smile, "Wow, Jared, when did you come here?" Jared was surprised at her super nice attitude and the big smile on her face.

Doris acted like the tense situation between Jared and her had never really happened and then gave her seat to Jared, even patting the dust which didn't exist on the chair away. "You're Hailey's younger brother, so I'll also treat you as my brother. Please have a seat." Jared sat down with a frown and asked in curiosity, "Besides learning kung fu in a famous temple, what else did you learn when you were a little girl? Did you also learn to change your face in an acrobatic troupe? You're so good at it." Staring at Jared with her beautiful eyes widened, "How do you know it? I really did. You don't believe me? I'll show you later." Heaving a deep sigh, Doris changed her energetic attitude at once, "Well, I didn't have a choice. My family is poor, so I had to learn.

more skills when I was a kid. Only with more skills could help me earn a good life in the future." "Stop..." Tilting his mouth, Jared couldn't help holding his forehead and felt he was not gonna overwhelm Doris. He would have believed her words if he hadn't investigated her background. Doris did learn a lot from a master when she was a little girl, but her family definitely wasn't poor. Did she think Jared knew nothing about the Lopez family of Landes? Hailey was also amused by Doris's cute behavior. At this time, Owen came to Hailey, saying to her in a low voice, "Please move aside." Raising her eyes slowly, Hailey was so confused with a frown, showing the look that she just wanted to turn him off. A waiter came over at this time and asked perceptively, "Sir, do you need a chair?" Seeing Hailey not move a bit at all, Owen pursed his lips and replied, "Nope." And then he carried Hailey and moved her inside. Hailey was so shocked at it and so were Jared and Doris who were sitting opposite them.

When Hailey came to her senses, Owen had already sat on her previous seat as if nothing had happened. He was clam and said leisurely to the waiter, "Please deliver us two sets of tableware." "Okay, sir." Hailey was totally speechless about what Owen did. Staring at Owen's side face, Hailey was so angry and thinking loud, 'How come he can be that thick-skinned now.' Before Owen could say something, Hailey turned to look at Jared, "How come you two came together?" Of course, Jared wouldn't tell Hailey that Owen and he followed them. Licking his lower lip, Jared said, "It's an encounter." Owen agreed with Jared with a nod, "It's a coincidence." Doris and Hailey cast a look at Jared and Owen respectively and didn't believe them at all. Hailey and Doris were in a Japanese restaurant. Jared and Owen were really hungry as they'd been following Hailey and Doris without eating anything, so they ordered a lot of food such as sashimi, eel rice, miso soup, udon noodles...And then Owen and Jared started to enjoy their meal. Hailey and Doris did wanna leave, but the two men were blocking their way. They had no choice but to eat something with them. However, they found the food not that delicious.

anymore. Owen and Jared were enjoying their food in elegant manner, but they actually were eating fast. "Feel free to chat. You two were chatting so happily, weren't you? And you even fed each other. How come you are being so quiet now?" Jared swallowed a mouthful of eel rice. The rice tasted so good, but the look on Jared's face didn't. Both Hailey and Doris could easily sense that Jared was being sarcastic. Hailey felt it hilarious that Jared was being jealous of her. On the other hand, Doris had totally got Jared wrong, "I mean, Jared, I know you.

care so much about Hailey, but you don't need to act like that, do you? Are you being jealous of me having at meal with Hailey? Then would you freak since we're gonna sleep on the same bed?" "What? The two of them.

are gonna sleep on the same bed?" Both Jared and Owen said in a serious tone in one voice, "No way." The two of them were shouting so loud that even the guests beside them cast glances at them. Hailey and Doris felt so sorry and they glared at Jared and Owen. Doris warned, "It's a public place. Could you please be polite? Just don't embarrass us." Hailey also lazily looked up, "It's my call to make whoever is gonna sleep on the same bed with me. It's none of your business, so don't be that anxious. Okay?" In the end, Hailey and Doris made a conclusion from Jared and Owen's behavior that they were way too idle. Doris stood up first, "Hailey, let's go. Let's chill out somewhere else." "Sure." Hailey also took her purse.

Seeing the two of them leave, Jared and Owen sat straight to block their way. Did they really think they were gonna make it? Hailey and Doris showed them a distasteful look at the same time. There was more space on the side of Doris, so she jumped out directly with one of her hands on the chair. Jared reminded her, "Be careful with your waist." On the other hand, Hailey asked Jared politely, "Excuse me, I gotta go." Owen didn't move at all, since Hailey couldn't carry him. And of course, Hailey wouldn't do that. Instead, she pressed Owen on his neck and went across him from his back. The other guests around them were all stunned as Owen's face was directly pressed in his plate. And his face was covered with red sauce.

Hailey was so pleased with it and thought Owen totally deserved it. Pursing her lips happily, Hailey wasn't being angry at all. Seeing Owen's embarrassing look, Doris couldn't help laughing. She put her arm around Hailey and the two of them were walking out, "Let's go." Looking at Owen's face covered with sauce, Jared let out a sneer. However, Owen was being clam and took a few pieces of paper to wipe his face. He scanned the code and then stood up. "Let's go." Owen and Jared started to follow the two girls again.

Chapter 266 Waited for Hailey and Sofia

After they were full, Hailey and Sofia were ready to do some well-being activities to help them digest. As the sun set, the sunset added a splendid brilliance to the blue sky, and the evening breeze was cool. On a main road.

of the city, Hailey drove a red convertible Porsche, and the car galloped steadily on the road. The sun was swallowed by the darkness little by little, and the sunset was infinitely good, but it was near dusk. The cool wind was blowing head-on, and their mood became much more comfortable. They felt free and cool. A song “Sunset Boulevard” was played on the speakers in the car, which fitted with the scene well. Sofia’s body swayed leisurely to the rhythm of the music. Her eyes closed, raising the palms upwards, to embrace the breeze.

Jared drove a blue sports car and followed closely behind them. Watching the slender hands swaying in the air, Jared’s hand holding the keyboard slowly tightened, and his Adam’s apple rolling uncontrollably. For some reason, his throat was a little dry, and he was a little hot. He reduced the air conditioner’s temperature in the car a little more to calm himself down.

Owen didn’t feel happy either. Seeing the men on the side of the road, who kept pulling down the car window to whistle at, court, and flirt with Hailey, he really wanted to grab their collars and drag them out of the cars. He narrowed his fierce eyes, and his fists tightened.

Sofia glanced at the reflector and said, “Why are these two still following us. They are clingy.”

Hailey also glanced at the reflector, with no expression on her face. Before she had found out that they were following her car. If just Owen was in that car, she would have gotten rid of him long ago, but Jared was still sitting in the car. Although Hailey really despised their collusion, she also hoped Jared could be with Sofia soon and marry Sofia. Sofia was a good girl and Hailey didn’t want Sofia to marry someone. It would be great if Sofia could be her sister-in-law. So, Hailey did not drive too fast, and Jared could follow them.

Sofia was also very contradictory at this moment. She was annoyed that they followed her like this. The reason why she chose to join the army was because she was the apple of her family since she was a child. On the one hand, they were reluctant to let her suffer any harm, and on the other hand, they sent her to learn martial arts because they were afraid that she would meet dangers. The original intention was to strengthen her body and let her learn martial arts to protect herself. Unexpectedly, Sofia completely lost their control after that, and joined the army, and no one could monitor her again. If Sofia drove the car, she had already gotten rid of Jared. But Owen was still sitting in the car. Looking at miserable Owen, her army friend, she wanted to help him..

The two girls each had their own thoughts, but as soon as Sofia spoke, Hailey followed, "Get rid of them?" Sofia turned her head, then nodded, "Ok."

Hailey no longer hesitated. The green light could last only three seconds, and there was no car in front of them.

She slammed on the accelerator, and the car rushed past.

Jared was inattentive, and he did not catch up. He stopped his car in front of the traffic lights. Owen swayed, frowning when he saw the red Porsche merging into the traffic. They needed to wait for one and a half minutes. During the period, Hailey had gone.

"Yeah!" Hailey and Sofia gave high fives happily after "Fuck!" Jared hit the steering wheel in anger. He called Hailey directly. As soon as the call was connected, he sternly said, "You, just drive slowly!!!"

"It's not quick." Hailey's velvet voice came from the speaker, "Brother, Sofia and I are going to the place where girls play. It's not suitable for you to go with us, so we won't drive with you. Goodbye. Don't follow us." After that, there was a beeping sound from the phone.

"Hailey!" Jared's face was cold. He couldn't deal with his sister, and he turned his head and asked Owen, “Where do girls play?”

Owen said, “Why do you ask me? I don’t know.”

Jared was choked and rebuked, “Aren’t you familiar with North City? Just think about it!” Instead of thinking it, it was better to ask it directly. Owen’s phone number was blocked by Hailey, and he couldn’t call Hailey, but he could call Sofia. He made a call to Sofia, it rang for a while, and was immediately hung up.

Owen frowned slightly and sent a text message, [If you don’t answer the phone, I will notify your family to take you back to the capital.] The threat was obvious!

Soon, Sofia’s call came, “Ow, if you dare to betray me, I’ll break up with you!”

Owen asked bluntly, “Where are you going?”

Sofia said casually, “Didn’t you know? We go to the place where the girls play. You are really annoying. Are you really free? If so, you can do volunteer work. Why do you always follow us? We will be angry if you always follow us. It’s at your own risk.” After saying this, Sofia hung up.

Being hung up the phone, Owen didn’t change his expression, but he frowned.

Jared was annoyed. “What is the place where girls go? Where will they go? Won’t they seek for handsome men?”

Handsome men? Owen had a bad hunch, and his thin lips were tightly pressed into a line.

They finally got rid of Owen and Jared. Hailey and Sofia suddenly felt much freer. Sofia had an itch to drive, so Hailey switched the position with Sofia and sat in the co-pilot’s seat. “Where shall we go? Do you prefer going to a hot spring to shooting?”

Sofia looked vexed, “Both.”

Hailey smiled and opened her mobile phone, “Then I’ll look for a place where we can soak in hot springs and shoot guns.” Although she had lived in North City for three years, her routine was very simple. She didn’t often contact others, let alone play. She really didn’t know much about entertainment spots. When she was thinking about if she should ask someone, she received a text message.

It was sent by Benson. [Sister Hailey, I heard that you have come to North City. I miss you so much, and I want to play with you. Where are you now?] The message was very timely.

Hailey sent him a voice message, [Benson, I'm playing outside with my friend now. Do you know a place in North City where we can take a hot spring and shoot? The activities are more abundant. Recommend one to

1. 1

Sofia asked casually, "Who is it?"

Hailey said, "Benson. Owen's cousin."

"Oh." Sofia nodded knowingly, "You still keep in touch with the Moore family, and the relationship is pretty good."

Hailey nodded, "The Moore family, except for Owen, are all very good, and they are also very good to me." Sofia chuckled lightly, "The whole family are discerning person, so Owen is the only one who is stupid, right?" Hailey lightly twitched the corner of her mouth. Soon, Benson sent her a location, the address of a club. Then there was an introduction of the activities in the club. There were all kinds of activities, and there were various types. Hailey was very satisfied and replied, [Thanks. I invite you to dinner when I am convenient.] The phone beeps. Owen looked at Hailey's reply, twitched his lips. He navigated directly to the club, and said to Jared, "We should be closer to the club than them. We just go over there and wait for them."

Chapter 267 Bob Gave It Away

Hailey and Sofia navigated to the club recommended by Benson. This club was similar to private clubs. The customers had to be members. Hailey took out her mobile phone and was about to top up to apply for a card.

"Sister-in-law, you are here!" Hailey heard a loud voice, and she turned her head, and saw a handsome, and honest man, wearing labels, trotting over with a slightly fat body. The boy at the front desk called him "Boss".

The man was not unfamiliar to Hailey. He was the second son of Wade, Bob Moore. He was also a cousin of Owen.

"Bob." Hailey was slightly startled, "Is it your club?"

"Yes." Bob smiled and nodded, and then smiled at Sofia.

Comparing Gene and her children, Benson and his sister, Wade's two sons were not familiar with Hailey. They just met at Christmas. Wade had two sons. The eldest son, Auston Moore was very aloof since he was a child.

He loved playing chess and was a national nine-dan player. Usually, he stayed in the chess house to play chess, or attended competitions, and people rarely saw him. The second son, Bob Moore, was a typical playboy. He was the best at spending money. When he was a child, he sold his family's antiques to spend. When he grew up, he sold stocks. Wade was so angry that he sent Bob directly to a variety show, "Double Replacement", to let him experience hardscrabble life in the countryside.

Hailey had been so bored at that time that she watched the show. Bob made her very happy during that time.

Bob had thought that he was sold by his father, so he cried for two whole periods. He was always sadfishing.

He even said, "My father, Wade Moore, sold me", so not only the whole village knew Wade Moore, but also the whole country.

Thanks to his son, Wade almost became the first Internet celebrity, and he was so angry because people would ask about his son wherever they met. He really felt humiliated. Wade wanted to get his son back, but he didn't expect Bob to accept this fact. Not only did he gradually adapt to the rural life, but also called the rural couple parents warmly who temporarily took care of him, which made people moved. A rich kid in the city suddenly became a hard-working and brave rural boy. He herded sheep, fed pigs, raised chickens, and weeded every day.

He also completely liberated his nature. He often said several famous lines and was made some GIFs of his expressions. He had made netizens very happy, and bullet subtitles were often "Hahaha".

Steven and Abby asked the whole family to watch the show together, and they were also amused by Bob and laughed. Wade was very angry and his wife was very worried. Bob was heartless, which made them annoying.

In the end, Steven said, "Hurry up to bring your son back, or he will be others' filial son." Bob liked the rural environment very much. After the show, he regarded the rural couple as godfather and godmother, and often went to the countryside to live for a while. After graduating from college, he didn't go abroad and he was committed to agritourism with a few friends. It was successful. So Hailey was very surprised at that this club was also owned by Bob.

Bob explained to Hailey, "This club was originally run by two of my friends. Because they didn't have enough money, I invested it. After I invested, they withdraw, and I saved their ass. Later, Brother Owen invested a sum of money, and asked a friend to help me. Then the business slowly returned to normal. I am now a nominal boss, and I just occasionally play with friends here."

Being different from Owen's aloof temperament, Bob was simple and honest and well-liked, by celebrities and stars. But Hailey really didn't know that Owen also had shares of this club. Suddenly something flashed in her mind. Hailey asked casually, "Did Owen tell you I'm coming?"

"Yeah." Bob responded, suddenly stopped, and shook his head sharply, "Oh no. It was Benson who said you.

were coming, and let me treat you."

His response was fairly quick, but Hailey could clearly hear "Yeah" just now. She narrowed her eyes slightly,

"Really?" Hailey took out her mobile phone and made a voice call to Benson. After ringing a long time, the call.

was connected. "Hey."

Hailey looked at Bob's face, who was really guilty. It seemed that he had given something away. There was also a "Hey" came from the other end of the phone, accompanied by a sharp gasp. Benson's voice came, "Sister Hailey! I was just playing basketball, so I didn't hear it. Why do you call me? Has you found the club?" Hearing this, Hailey's expression softened slightly. "Well, I found it. I didn't know it was run by Bob until I arrived. You should have said it earlier."

Benson said, "I thought you knew. It is run by our own family, so you can play with your friends freely." After chatting for a while, Hailey hung up.

And Benson, who hung up the phone, collapsed on the chair as if he had escaped death. "Brother, you can't do things like this. Regardless of my team, I rushed over after receiving your urgent call. If you do it again, I must die suddenly."

After the call, Owen's tense expression eased, and he reached out to Benson, "Give me the phone." Fortunately, he had prepared. Knowing that Bob never lied and was easy to give away, Owen called Benson over.

"Okay, you are free. You can go back and play basketball." Owen said without looking up Benson, holding the phone, "Go through the back door, and be careful."

Benson was speechless. Owen really burned bridges. And Benson was only Owen's a pawn. He sat there, refusing to leave. Benson's phone suddenly beeped, and when he took it out, he saw that it received money from Owen. Benson was instantly elated. "Thank you, brother! I'll leave!" Benson leaved happily because of money.

Jared sat opposite, watching it from beginning to end, and he knew everything. He starred at Owen, and squinted. Jared had to admit Owen was really cunning. Sure enough, businessmen were not innocent.

They were all shrewd and deceitful old foxes. "Well," Jared said coldly, "In front of me, you should calculate my sister like this. Do you think the last time the hit you suffered in a sack was not heavy?"

Owen raised his head, and his dark pupils looked at Jared. "I really want to be with Hailey again, even if I give up everything, or use all kinds of methods. Don't worry, I would rather hurt myself than hurt her."

Owen said, "You chase Sofia, and I pursue Hailey. As long as you don't stop me, I'll help you, ok?"

Chapter 268 It Was Awful!

Facing Owen's request for an alliance, Jared was very disdainful. The corner of his mouth twitched, "Do you think I can't pursue a woman I like?"

"You may succeed if you like an ordinary woman, but Sofia is not a commonplace woman." Owen said, "You like her, so I think you must have investigated her, but how much do you know about her and her character? After all, I and Sofia had been comrades-in-arms for many years and had lived together, I know her preferences and habits." Jared's eyes darkened, and there his eyes became cold. They lived together...He was very envious.

Hanging up the phone, Hailey frowned as she looked at Bob, and wondered why he was in shock. Bob patted his chest and said, "I'm so scared. Sister-in-law, thankfully you didn't tell Benson that I was here, otherwise, according to his character, the whole family would probably know about it. I just came back from the countryside, and it's rare for me to be at ease for a few days, and I don't want to go back so early." When Hailey heard this, she stopped frowning. Bob's mother was a good person, but she liked nagging. Hailey had experienced it many times. Before Hailey would try her best to avoid Bob's mother, because Hailey was afraid of her nagging.

Bob said, "Sister-in-law, please don't tell Brother Owen."

"I won't."

Hailey said lightly, "Don't call me 'sister-in-law'. Owen and I have already divorced. Just like Benson, call me

'Sister Hailey'."

Bob said smoothly, "Yes, Sister Hailey. I regard you as my biological sister!"

"You are really glib." Hailey smiled, and her nerves relaxed a lot. She walked in with Sofia.

Bob briefly introduced the situation of the club to them. This club aimed at young people, so there were many entertainment activities. There were not only hot springs, saunas, swimming pools, but also places of beauty.

and hairdressing for women, as well as game consoles, off-road vehicles, shooting fields, court, billiards, basketball and the like for men. In the huge North City, there were many private clubs, but it was rare to see such a complete variety club. Hailey and Sofia first chose to go to the hot spring and sauna to take a good rest. Bob asked the waitress to take them in and said, "Just call me if you need to."

After finally treating Hailey and Sofia, Bob took a deep breath. He hurriedly ran to a box, "Oh my God, this is really a test of my acting skills, and I almost gave it away. Fortunately, I am smart and took control, otherwise

I would die here today!" Bob gulped down a large glass of water before He told Owen and Jared what happened, and told them what Hailey and Sofia were doing. He asked, "Do you want to go?"

As soon as Jared heard that Sofia went to the hot spring, Jared had imagined something in his mind. He coughed lightly and asked, "The hot springs are joined or separate?"

"Do you mean as for men and women?" Bob asked, "The pools for hot springs are separate. Women are in Lotus Pool and men are in Yang Pool. Some are jointed and the other are separate. Of course, there are also open-air pools specially for couples." "However, the sauna is just a place." Bob said, looked up at them, and said to Owen, "Bother, so? Let me arrange it for you? You and Brother Jared are going to soak alone or together?"

As soon as he finished saying, Owen and Jared raised their eyebrows at the same time. Then, Bob, who didn't have time to dodge, was kicked in the leg. "Ouch!"

Hailey and Sofia took a shower, then put on their bathrobes to Lotus Pool. The waiter introduced them to the best ginseng private soup, which was designed after an imperial concubine's pool. There was a carved base in the middle of the pool, and the owner couldn't afford white marble, so stone was used. The hibiscus flower sprinklers were attached to the base, and water was sprayed out from the sprinklers, and it was misty. As soon.

as they entered the pool, Hailey and Sofia let out a low cry in comfort. They two looked at each other and smiled, "It is very comfortable."

The water temperature was 40 degrees, not too hot, but Hailey's skin was white, so her fair skin turned pink, while Sofia's wheat-colored skin turned white. They two chatted while soaking. In fact, they had talked a lot these days, but they still had new topics. It seemed that they could always talk. The waitress also prepared fruit tea and fruit considerately, and they chatted and ate, which was very cozy.

After soaking, they two came out of the pool, wore their pajamas, and went to take a sauna. The pajamas were bought from the club, Sofia couldn't help but complain, "They really know how to do business, and I didn't expect the pajamas business could be developed here. It's so awesome."

Hailey looked at the pink Winnie on Sofia's pajama and said smilingly. "Isn't that pretty?" The corner of Sofia's mouth twitched, "It's pretty, but I haven't worn such kawaii clothes since I graduated from elementary school, even pajamas! However, other ones are too expensive!" The range of pajamas' prices.

vary greatly, from silk nightgowns which were over one thousand dollars, pure cotton pajamas which were about several hundred dollars, and ordinary pajamas which were only tens dollars...Hailey and Sofia directly.

chose ordinary pajamas, to avoid being charged highly! Although Bob didn't accept their money. Sofia couldn't help laughing when she saw Hailey's white pajamas with a little yellow duck pattern. The two were immersed in the world of joking with each other, and unknowingly went in the wrong direction and lost.

their way. They did not go to the sauna, but went to the place where men and women bathe together. By the time they realized it, it was too late. Because when they heard the sex noises, they had already reached the deepest part of Pool Garden. It was an open-air hot spring pool, separating from each other. There was a man and a woman, playing in the pool. At the sun set. They saw the woman having her back against the man in the mist, and facing them. Almost at the same time, Hailey and Sofia recognized her and stunned. Eliza! The bodyguard who was standing not far away found someone breaking in and snorted, "Who is it?" Hearing the movement, Eliza suddenly opened her eyes and saw Hailey and Sofia who were standing there and staring at her. The moment she saw Hailey, she startled. Eliza wasn't supported by the stone in the pool with her hand, so she fell down. The man who just had sex with her had a beard, slicked-back hair, and sharp eyes.

Immediately, he said. "Since you're here, don't leave. Bring the girls here."

The man gave an order, and the bodyguards in black came out from all directions and walked towards them. Hailey and Sofia almost simultaneously uttered, "Run!" As soon as they turned around, a group of black-clothed bodyguards appeared from nowhere and surrounded them directly. They two took a step back at the same time, thinking in heart, "It's awful!"

Chapter 269 Hailey and Sofia Disappeared

Because Hailey and Sofia were going to take a sauna, they locked their personal belongings and mobile phones in the closet. They just wore pajamas. They even didn't wear underclothes, so they had no protection at all.

They couldn't call for help, so they could only rely on themselves.

Sofia watched the group of men in black vigilantly, squinted to compare the number of opponents, with their own's fighting strength. She asked Hailey, "Can you fight?"

Hailey said, "Of course. I must fight." She asked Sofia, "Is your waist ok?"

Sofia said, "I must fight. Go!"

As soon as she said the word, she and Hailey acted at the same time. Hailey kicked the man in black who was grabbing her with her leg, pressed his shoulders and made him kneel in front of her. Then Hailey punched him hard, stepped on his shoulders and in mid-air kicked the other two men in black gracefully.

Sofia just gave a black-clothed bodyguard an backdrop. Looking at Hailey's graceful figure, she realized that she had underestimated Hailey's strength, and her lips couldn't help but curved, "Good, Hailey!" Without any worries, Sofia would fight freely. She broke a bodyguard's wrist and folded it inward, and heard the crackling sound of the bones. The guard's wrist broken. The bodyguard screamed in pain, "Ah Eliza was pulled up from the water by the man through her hair. She felt that her scalp was about to be ripped off. Before she could recover from the pain, she saw Hailey and Sofia were fighting with bodyguards and it seemed that they had knocked down many guards. She widened her eyes in astonishment, "Hailey actually knew martial arts!"

The man's amber eyes were very sharp, and he watched Hailey. He asked with a thick and hoarse voice, "Do you know her?"

"Yes!" Eliza nodded. She clutched the man's arm, and was scared and cruel, "Mr. Joe, we can't let them run away! We must catch them! They have a grudge against me!"

"

"Oh." The man replied lightly, without looking at Eliza, and said, "I'll listen to you." He walked out of the hot spring pool with his long legs, and used a towel to wrap around his waist.

Sofia and Hailey were fighting intensely. Although the two girls were powerful, opponents were too many and Hailey and Sofia were outnumbered. The girls had no weapons in their hands. If they had a dagger, it wouldn't be so hard. They must change something. Hailey looked at Sofia, who was trapped on the ground by the two burly bodyguards. She frowned and knocked over the bodyguards who entangled her with one punch. Then she hurried over to rescue Sofia and helped her up, "How is your waist? Are you okay?"

Sofia put her hand on her waist, shook her head, and said "it's okay". Then her pale face, frowning eyebrows, and sweat on her head exposed the truth. Sofia's waist injury hadn't healed, and they wouldn't be able to last long if they kept fighting like this. Hailey raised her eyebrows and saw the red button on the wall, which was a fire alarm. She instantly trotted over and pressed the button, and the alarm went off. They finally sent a distress signal! "Okay!" Hailey's expression loosened, and was about to announce the good news to Sofia, when she turned her head and saw an aloof man behind Sofia.

A man with a beard wrapping a bath towel, smiled slightly, and said something in English. "Co-me on, baby."

Owen and Jared went into the shower room and simply took a shower. They didn't go to the hot spring, and planned to go directly to the sauna room to create an encounter. Although it was shameless, they needed to do it when they chased their girlfriends. Just as they were about to go to the sauna room, they heard a "buzzing" alarm sound. Everyone thought there was a fire, so they ran out in a hurry. Some of them didn't even have time to put on their clothes, so they rushed out embarrassedly wrapping a bath towel. The scene was chaotic.

"It's on fire. It's on fire..." Owen and Jared's expressions changed, and they squeezed into the hot spring pool, walking against the current.

Bob called the police and quickly organized the evacuation. "Brother, Brother Jared, there's a fire inside, so don't go in, which is dangerous!" He topped Owen and Jared, who were going backwards with the crowd and trying their best to squeeze into the crowd.

Owen got rid of Bob's control, with a cold face, "Hailey is still inside!" He rushed in regardless. Jared was also anxious, and they should force a way. The place where the alarm sounded was the hot spring pool, open-air pool for couples.

Couples also ran out. The women wrapped bath towels, with bare feet, and wet hair. They were extremely embarrassed. What about men? Few left. This time was the time to expose the character... The couples were birds of the same forest, and they would fly separately when they faced disasters. Some men heard the alarm.

sound, and they didn't care about anything, even their wife, and they ran away alone. Some men didn't even have time to put on a bath towel, and they carried their wife hurriedly. Anyway, you could see various couples. Owen and Jared were going crazy. They rummaged through the entire hot spring pool, but couldn't find Hailey and Sofia. "Have you found it?" Jared asked with a sullen face.

Owen shook his head, and his throat was very dry, A thin layer of sweat appeared on his forehead. "Could they have run away?"

Thinking of the two bright women, who wouldn't definitely just wait when they were in danger. Owen and Jared hurried out to look for them. Firefighters came in a hurry, checked around and found there was not on fire.

“Did someone play a prank and press the alarm?” The firefighter came here in vain, but their mood was still calm. After all, this was not the first time to meet this kind of thing.

Bob hurriedly asked someone to check the safety video, but because it was a private club, to protect the privacy of the guests, cameras were only installed in public areas, and there were no cameras in many places. The alarm sounded in open-air pools. There were no cameras in the area because the couple stayed there, so they found nothing. Anyway, it was fortunate that there was no fire. It could be treated as someone’s prank. After Bob comforting the firefighters, he comforted the guests. However, the most difficult guests were his family. Owen and Jared couldn’t find Hailey and Sofia everywhere, so they were in a hurry. “How could they just disappear like this? In such a big club, we can’t even have the surveillance video? How can you guarantee guests’ safety? What would you do if they are in danger?!” Owen roared at Bob.

Bob had never seen Owen, who had always been calm, look so worried. He was stunned by the roar, and comforted Owen gingerly, “Brother, don’t worry about it...”

Jared’s expression was very fierce. “Hurry up and find them for me, otherwise, I will spoil your club!”

Bob was very sacred, and hurriedly sent people to look for them. They could see Hailey and Sofia’s mobile phones in the cabinet, but they couldn’t find the two women. Owen and Jared were really panic.

Chapter 270

Hailey and Sofia’s phones were locked in the closet, so no wonder Owen and Jared couldn’t call them. Bob boldly guessed, “Could it be that Sisters-in-law knew you were here and didn’t want to see you, so they left?”

Owen and Jared said in unison, “Nonsense!”

Bob didn’t dare to say anything.

Owen held Hailey’s mobile phone in his left hand, and a bag where her clothes were and her bag in his right hand. His handsome face was dark, and he frowned. Jared was the same as Owen. Even if the women really didn’t want to see Owen and Jared, they couldn’t discard their phones, and didn't wear their own clothes and just left. Although they were vixenish, they were not willful people. They couldn't do such a stupid thing.

Owen and Jared kept an eye on the safety video, and wanted to find all traces about Hailey and Sofia. They finally appeared in the video, were when they talked and laughed in the corridor. They both wore cartoon pajamas. Hailey was wearing white pajamas with a little yellow duck, while Sofia was wearing pink pajamas with Winnie, and they looked like two innocent students. Normally, they would definitely appreciate these cute and childish outfits, but at this moment, Owen and Jared didn't have any interest. Owen and Jared knew the direction Hailey and Sofia went, because they experienced it. The direction was towards open-air hot spring pools.

At this time, a young lady interrupted, "Can't you find your girlfriends?" Owen and Jared ignored her. The young lady added, "I have seen them."

Owen and Jared raised their heads together, "Have you seen them? Where?"

The young lady startled by them, "Just, in the hot spring pool zone. They went to the ginseng private soup, and I went to buy pajamas with them, but they didn't buy the expensive ones, and just chose two cheap ones. I was still wondering why they could experience ginseng private soup, but they couldn't afford expensive pajamas. Girls always paid attention to weird things.

Jared listened impatiently, "Then? Where did they go?!"

Owen pulled him, knowing that they couldn't be in a hurry at this time Owen tried his best to calm Jared down and appease the frightened young lady. "Don't worry, and just think about it, and speak slowly."

The young lady was relaxed and said, "Then I saw them go to the open-air hot spring pool, but I heard that they were going to take a sauna, so I wonder if they were lost" She just knew these. Although she thought the two men were handsome, they were really terrifying, so she ran away quickly

Owen and Jared were very worried, and they almost rummaged through the open-air hot spring pool. How could they do if they couldn't find Hailey and Sofia? At this time, a couple came to check out and complained, "Your open-air hot spring pool is too bad, and there are even people fighting. It was so noisy that we came out earlier than our expected time"

Bob happened to be at the front desk and he smiled gently, "I'm so sorry. Is there a fight? Maybe there's an argument between the couple, and it's normal..."

"No. It's not a quarrel between a couple, but a group fight." The woman complained, "And it seemed that a group of men are beating two women. It is so chaotic, and we won't come here again."

A group of men hitting two women? Owen and Jared raised their heads at the same time and looked over there when they heard the word.

They looked at each other, and said, "Something bad happened!"

Hailey and Sofia were blindfolded and taken into a car, and they didn't know where they were going. Along the way, Hailey was nervous. It made her remember the year when she was fourteen and she was kidnapped. Would she suffer it again? But the group of people who kidnapped her at the age of fourteen had been almost wiped out by her father and eldest brother, and those who didn't die were also deported. Could someone be omitted? What was that bearded man? Hailey didn't know him but she was a little familiar with him. Why did Eliza get involved with these people? Many questions lingered in Hailey's mind:

Sofia said lazily, "Buddies, we are just going to soak in a hot spring, and we don't know you. We just accidentally saw your boss have sex with a woman. Why do you treat us like this?"

"Shut up!"

A guard said angrily, "Did I let you talk? If you say one more word, I will cut your tongue!"

"Okay, I don't say." Sofia bent over and fell towards Hailey, "Hey, my waist hurts to death..." A small stick was given to Hailey Hailey understood, but her expression was still calm, "Your waist hurts? You lean closer to me."

"Sit down! Did I let you move? Do you want to die!" A guard shouted, dragged Sofia back, and cursed.

Sofia's whole body was like a tumbler, swaying and she screamed. Suddenly, Hailey took a rope to restrain the neck of the driver in front. Almost at the same time, Sofia also slammed into the guard! The car swerved sharply, rubbing a white line on the trail.

In a black car before Hailey, Eliza suddenly raised her head from between the man's legs, and her lips were still filled with semen. She looked at the scene behind her, and hurriedly shouted, "Mr. Joe, it's awful. Something bad happened in the back!"

The bearded man calmly leaned on the back of the chair, closing his eyes and dozing off. "It's okay. Let them go." He used his hands to press Eliza's head, and let her continued her previous movement.

Hailey took off her blindfold and drove the car from side to side on the road. The car was shaking, and Hailey wanted to stop it, but she found that the brakes were broken. The engine was tampered by others, and there was a beeping sound in the car. "Sofia, it's bad, There's an explosion in the car!"

When Sofia heard this, her brows furrowed, and the sound was more and more urgent. She couldn't care about anything anymore, and she directly broke the necks of men in black, twisted their necks. They only heard a few crunching sounds, and the car door was kicked open immediately. They shouted, "Jump!" Hailey and Sofia jumped out of the car at the same time and rolled on the ground. The soles of their feet trembled, but they didn't care about anything "Run!" The two of them ran with all their strength on the road, and they heard a "bang" from behind.

A heat wave hit, and Hailey and Sofia were pushed to rush forward. They threw themselves into the gravel and they couldn't get up for a long time. The car behind him had already been on fire. Hailey struggled to stand up, turned her head to look at the scene in front of her.

There was buzzing in her ears, and a "boom" in her brain.

Hailey seemed to remember what happened three years ago. Her parents had died in the fire because of a car accident. Their complete wrecks were not left. Suddenly, Hailey couldn't hear anything, and she seemed to hear someone calling her, and someone carrying her, calling her name continuously, but Hailey couldn't see anything, and then she passed out.

www