Chapter 151 Filming The Advertisemen

"I understand. This way, she won't always want to sign Arya."

On this point, their thoughts coincided.

But they would never have thought that Arya was already a contracted artist of Aorai and was personally signed by Melinda.

Furthermore, Melinda understood Arya's advantages very well and she would also focus on nurturing Arya.

She also knew what Arya needed the most in her path of recovery.

Because of Melinda's request, Arya did not release this news to the public. In addition, she had always kept a low profile and many media outlets were very curious about where she would go in the future.

At the same time, SunSand Entertainment released official news and officially signed Naomi's contract. The photos released by the official account showed that Naomi looked very much like Arya between her brows. When she attended the event, there was also a host who jokingly called her Little Arya.

Although she blocked car of SunSand's CEO Lincoln to obtain such an opportunity to stand out today, the facts proved that although she was young, she did have a bit of perseverance.

After all, it was not easy to stand out in SunSand.

It was precisely because of her brilliant debut that the outside world was even more curious about Arya.

Which company would she choose?

"She really does look like you. She looks more like you compared to last time. Perhaps she is also deliberately imitating you when it comes to makeup. If the lights are dim, others might mistake her for you."

Arya looked at the script and her hand paused for a moment. If even Luna said so, then it meant that it was indeed very similar.

If Naomi was taken and secretly took some pictures, if it was her misunderstanding, then it was her...

"I really want to announce the signing of the contract between you and the Aorai as soon as possible. This way, I can shake off this 'little Arya' and stimulate those who are stopped you from entering the Aorai."

Arya smiled gently, "There will be a day like this."

Coincidentally, a segment of Naomi's interview was broadcasted on the television screen. She sat in front of the host and smiled in a relaxed and lively manner. The tenderness between her brows had yet to disappear.

Arya heard it very clearly, but she only smiled faintly and did not take it to heart.

"Go and put on makeup. Later, try your best to show off!" Maria said to the two artists. When she looked at Arya again, her eyes showed vigilance.

Why did Arya just happen to appear here?

Did she play tricks or did something happen that she did not know.

"If I were you, I would not come here and ask for trouble. Is an artist without the Brokerage Agency qualified to shoot this public service commercial? I want to see the director and ask him!"

"Even if the Aorai's strength is recognized by the public, you're still just an employee of the Aorai. Is it appropriate for you to act so arrogantly? I think even Director Carter would not do so."

"You!" Maria stared at Arya's face, trying to find some clues from her expression.

But Arya took two steps forward and said in a voice only two of them could hear, "It is not up to you whether I can enter the Aorai or not."

Just this sentence made Maria's heart jump!

Seeing Arya walk into the dressing room, Maria immediately dialed the company's number, "Help me check if anyone else other than Ivy and Erin who signed the Star Plan was signed!"

Why was Arya so confident? Who exactly was helping her from behind!

No matter how the other artists discussed it, no matter how much pressure Maria put on the filming scene, Arya had already made up her mind that she would do her job perfectly according to her work requirements. As for the rest, she believed that Melinda would make arrangements.

After Arya finished putting her makeup, she cooperated with the director and stood in front of the camera.

In an instant, her entire temperament changed. Every slight expression on her face was very well displayed. The director originally didn't expect much from her, but after looking at the screen, he shouted, "Number one, get ready!"

Everyone looked towards the main screen. Arya stood beside the virtual prop and began her shooting.

She only walked once and she already knew what the director meant.

Chapter 153 Background

The Director coughed, not knowing how to defend himself.

It was true that they had gone back on their word. Arya's anger was understandable.

It was just that what he had imagined did not happen. Arya maintain her gentle and generous demeanor from the beginning to the end.

After she used her eyes to signal Luna, she said calmly to the Director, "In that case, I can accept it. But can I stay here and watch the shooting?"

"Stay?" Director suspected that he had heard wrongly.

Once the news of the substitution spread, everyone in the shooting area would be waiting to see Arya make a fool of herself.

Under such circumstances, Arya did not only accept it calmly, but also wanted to stay!

But as long as she agreed, Director could turn in the job. So he did not say much and agreed to Arya's request.

Outside the door, Maria heard the news from the director's assistant. She smiled.

"People can't be too arrogant. An artiste who doesn't even have a member of a Brokerage Agency won't last more than a few days!"

She was more and more happy about her decision to stop Arya from entering the Aorai.

No one could guess what Arya was thinking, but she was actually willing to give up the filming spot and still want to stay and watch?

Was she out of her mind?

When Arya and Director were talking, Luna had already told Martin about this matter. If Martin knew, it was equivalent to Allen knowing.

The filming scene changed very quickly. In order to reduce the difficulty of the performance, the director changed the script. The clothing was also a different combination.

Helen looked at the mirror proudly. She would definitely be able to shoot what she wanted to shoot!

What was a small Arya?

The other artistes whispered to each other, waiting to see Arya make a joke of herself.

"Get ready..."

Chapter 154 She Can'T Be Overtaken

Helen had always been proud of her acting skills, but this time she could not grasp the essence of the shoot.

It was not in her eyes. Her movements were stiff and smile was exaggerated. Moreover, she could not see the position of the camera at all.

In less than 20 minutes, the director had already shouted until his throat was hoarse from shouting.

This kind of situation was not rare, but with Arya's comparison just now, Helen's strength was really too...

Originally, this opportunity belonged to Arya, and it also proved that only those with strong acting skills could take it down, but Helen overestimated her own abilities and insisted on snatching it, but the result turned out to be like this.

Maria and other managers looked away helplessly. This kind of shooting is simply a waste of time.

Could it be that Arya was really that powerful?

Maria recalled Arya's performance just now. She had to admit that even if she had artists in her hands for a few years, she might not be able to perform better than Arya.

Furthermore, there was a kind of subconsciousness in people. If Arya dared to act, it would be hard for people to abandon her after watching her performance. There seemed to be a kind of magic in her body. She was born to be an actress!

After all, she was someone who had won hearts of many people and the movie queen award. After a few years of accumulation, her acting skills were even more eye-catching.

Seeing that shooting had come to an end, Arya stood up.

The Director walked over with difficulty. "Arya, you haven't changed your clothes yet. The last scene should be played by you."

Arya looked up faintly and said softly, "Okay."

The lights changed and Arya sat in front of the camera. The moment the camera was turned on, it was a stunning scene.

If he had not seen Arya today, he would not think that Maria's assertion was so ridiculous.
Taking into account Melinda and the Aorai's face and because there were other people present, Director
Hall just smiled and ignored Maria. He walked around them.
Maria snorted and said proudly, "See, Director Hall also agrees with my opinion."
Arya?
So what if you know the people of Dahua? The Dahua did not sign you.
Sooner or later, you will completely disappear from the entertainment circle.
Maria didn't know the inside story. While she was still pleased with herself, a storm was about to arrive.
After returning home, Arya saw that Allen had already returned.
He stood on the balcony and made a phone call. She did not want to disturb him. She took off her trench coat and prepared to go to the kitchen to the cook.

However, she found that the table was already filled with dishes filled she liked. She smelled the fragrance of the dishes. She was indeed hungry today.

“Eat.” Allen walked over and hugged her waist from behind. He placed his head on her shoulder. “I don’t know when you will be back. I was just ready.”

“Thank you...” Arya was very touched in her heart.

Being pampered by him was her good fortune.

Who would have thought that the president of Dahua would return home and would be such a gentle and considerate husband?

She had really picked up a treasure.

In this bright and beautiful circle, everyone tried their best to display their beauty and status, but only when they closed their doors did the other half of them know what this person really looked like.

“I won’t be wrong.” Walter quickly followed Melinda and the others to the meeting room.

No matter what Melinda wanted to do today, they had to accept it unconditionally.

This was just a weekly meeting of Aorai Company. Maria was the last to enter the meeting room and found that almost all the senior management staff arrived, including the two directors of the board of directors.

In the end...

She looked at Melinda’s side and indeed saw the face that often appeared in her nightmares.

She almost lost her balance. Fortunately, Walter pulled her back in time. “Sit here.”

“Oh, okay.” Maria sat down in a dze and did not dare to look up again.

She could still feel a cold and hateful gaze landing on her.

Five years ago, Justin was the top manager in the country. All the artists and dance groups he brought out would be famous throughout Asia or even the entire world. Because of his invincible performance, there were reports and acclaims that no matter how ordinary a person was, as long as they met Justin, they would become a top star.

However, because of some unknown relationship exposed, his reputation fell. The female artist, who was implicated, also suffered from depression and eventually committed suicide by running a car down the cliff.

The people who exposed these were Maria and Walter.

They were young and full of vigor at that time, and did not expect to cause a death.

After so many years, Maria did not forget the message she received on her phone on the day of the accident.

She was afraid of Justin and afraid that he would come back and take revenge on her at any time.

“Everyone, there is only one reason for this meeting. That is to welcome Justin to the country and become the company’s chief manager. Everyone, please welcome him.”

“Director Carter, I just came back to take a look.”

Some of the public opinion of the world back then had determined that a man's nature was indeed a little hasty.

However, the ability of a manager directly affected the future of an artist.

Under the premise that he could not sign Arya to the Dahua and protect her personally, he had to weigh and consider everyone around Arya.

This Justin Palmer made Allen a little concerned.

He hugged Arya and gently pressed his chin against her neck. He smelled the fragrance of her body and slowly said, "I don't want any more twists and turns in your path. That will make me appear too incompetent."

"Don't worry. I am already yours. I am completely yours. I will protect myself for you. I promise."

He turned Arya over and kissed her lips, sealing all of her sweet oaths with kisses.

No matter when, they would use their actions to express their sincerity and love for each other.

Arya was indeed very concerned about the endorsement of Snow. On one hand, this was the first endorsement Melinda signed for her. On the other hand, as a jewelry family, Morrison Family had collaborated with Snow many times. She did not want to bring bad influence to her family because of her relationship.

On the other hand, Naomi was overbearing. She could tolerate using Arya's fame twice at a time. But she could see that the hype this time was very serious. Including when Naomi cried in front of the camera, she really did not have any patience left.

The Sunsand only provided some direction for public opinion. In few days, it would be diluted by the new news. Naomi's existence was a catalyst.

As long as she was in the entertainment industry, she would always stir up this topic. Arya did not want her career to be effected, following such dazzling topics.

President's Office of Dahua immediately organized information on this incident.

After Martin sent the information to Allen's office, he waited at the side for an order.

Allen did not neglect Arya's matter.

"They are already in such a hurry?" Allen looked at the media outlets that were bribed by Sunsand and the headlines of the press release. His handsome brows frowned slightly.

Chapter 159 Retrieve The Opportunity To Speak

Because of Arya's insistence, the Deputy General Manager of North Asia Region, Peter, finally agreed to meet her. But she only had 15 minutes. The meeting place was still on Peter's way to the airport.

"Mr. Peter, thank you for being willing to meet me." Arya got into the car and did not show any signs of complaint. She took the initiative to stretch out her hand and talk to Peter in fluent Italian.

Peter was very surprised. "You know I am Italian?"

He worked in Asia all year long and basically used English. He did not expect Arya to know that he was Italian. He was touched by her words and began to listen carefully to her explanation.

From the beginning to end, Arya did not mention anything about Justin.

"When I was young, I dreamed that I could have a new accessory. If I could become your spokesperson, I would laugh even in my dreams. I am willing to take all responsibility for this mistake, but please believe in my sincerity."

"I am also very helpless about the rumors outside. I hope it will not affect your company badly. Please believe in my professional ability and do not believe any rumors. To show my sincerity, I specially brought a small gift. Please accept it."

"Gift?"

Peter took a small box from her hand. When he opened it, he saw that it was a very exquisite tie clip. What made people unable to look away was not only the platinum carving process, but also the three small sapphires inlaid on it.

“This is Twilight Capital!”

Arya nodded and smiled. “Yes. This is what I collected at a gem exhibition overseas many years ago. The price is not expensive, but in recent years this grade of sapphires is very rare. I believe the person who has been waiting for this gem for many years is Mr. Peter.”

The car drove for more than ten minutes. Arya leaned against the car and felt sleepy.

She entered the entertainment circle because she liked this job. She did not expect everything in this circle to be so aggressive. She was the only one who knew how helpless she was at this step.

Fortunately, with Allen's company, she did not feel so lonely and scary.

The driver stopped the car. "Madam, we are here."

Arya smiled and nodded. Just as she was about to get out of the car, the door was opened. She looked up in surprise and saw the man's deep eyes.

"Why are you..."

He actually suddenly appeared!

"I miss you so much. I must see you immediately!" Allen smiled and reached out his hand to help her out of the car.

This was the gentleness that many women dreamed of.

Arya smiled gently and put her hand into his hand. She pouted and said, "The more I get along with you, the more I realize that sometimes we really have tacit understanding. Just now I was a little tired and thinking that if you could be by my side, how good would it be? Then I looked up and you appeared."

When Arya said this, her eyes seemed to be shining like starlight.

This tacit understanding made her even more moved.

Allen held her hand tightly, "Perhaps, it is because of the connection between the heart and the heart."

He held her sideways and the two of them walked into the villa together. During this time Allen did not ask about the endorsement, and Arya did not say anything either.
