Chapter 221 Message

Enjoying the warmth, embarrassing each other, getting closer and closer...

Arya hugged Allen under the dim light. Every second she looked into his eyes made her unable to control herself and fell into his deep love. This man belonged to her!

After a room full of beautiful scenery and warm feelings, both of them were extremely happy.

Allen really did not want to let go of her for a moment, but Arya still had a few days of work arrangements. He could not make her so tired that she could not get out of the bed.

They quietly leaned against the bed and hugged each other. Arya smelled the faint and familiar smell from his body and kissed him on the side of his face.

"Are you tired?"

Arya pursed her lips and smiled shyly. "No, I can still..." She revealed a seductive smile and once again placed her hand on his shoulder.

Allen raised his thin lips. "Men can't say no, but I have to say no today as you still have work to do. But I still have a lifetime, so I can stay and slowly get you..."

The beauty of this woman was worthy of his heart for the rest of his life.

Arya gently grinded his lips and kissed, "I will listen to you."

Their affection and respect for each other was an important reason for their harmonious relationship.

When they were in love, they used all their strength to protect each other and respect each other.

"Actually, I've been worried about you for a long time under the stage today. Fortunately, everything went smoothly." Allen said honestly.

As the president of Dahua Group, he had seen all kinds of big scenes. However, when Arya was involved, although he could face it calmly, he was worried about her in his heart. Because he didn't want to see her get hurt at all.

"Luna found me backstage and told me everything. I let her tamper with Hunter's clothes and put some ribbons and pins. He felt that there was something wrong with his clothes and did not have time to change. Of course, he would pay more attention to his own actions and would not disturb me."

Chapter 222 I Don't Need An Agent Like You

Allen had a bigger problem in his mind. Arya was worried about Justin's future situation, but he was worried about Arya's vacant manager position.

Because Justin was disobedient, Melinda replaced him. The person she exchanged for would definitely Melinda's most loyal subordinate and would also become a time bomb that she placed next to Arya.

Was she going to use this person or not?

After Justin returned to the country, he went straight back to the Aorai.

However, from the moment he walked into the company, all the employee who saw him pointed at him and talked about him behind his back.

Because of Allen's instructions, the news of the recording was still hanging on the Hot Search List.

The moment Justin walked into Melinda's office, he was yelled at by her, "Look at what you've done!"

"This result was not caused by me alone." He admitted that his actions were inappropriate, but compared to Melinda and the others, his actions were nothing.

Justin was too lazy to talk to Melinda, "I am no longer Arya's manager. You can do whatever you want."

"You! Okay, I want you to explain to the reporters! Otherwise, I will let you know the consequences of betraying me!"

In front of him, Melinda finally revealed her true colors.

If you don't explain, it doesn't matter. Recently, the reporters have thought of some things from the past, such as your underground love with Rachel and the fact that she was once a mistress...

Justin didn't expect her to be so ruthless. She didn't even let go of the people who died.

He stood where he was and looked at Melinda for a long time. His eyes were filled with coldness.

"Alright, I promise you to clarify, but you must remember. This is my last compromise."

After Justin left, Arya's work was more and less affected.

Luna tried very hard to settle the invitations and designers, but she was always impatient and could not be as mature and calm as Justin. Moreover, just looking at the English contracts was enough to give her a headache.

Justin stood in front of the tombstone and looked at the woman who was smiling like a flower. His tears gradually became misty in his eyes.

"You still have to ask yourself this question."

Arya wore a blank windbreaker and appeared behind him. She held a black umbrella and walked towards him step by step towards Rachel's tombstone.

"Why are you..." Justin did not dare to believe that the person who was supposed to be in Paris had actually returned!

"Why am I not in Paris or How did I know that you would be here?" Arya revealed a faint smile. She turned around to look at the tombstone and put down a bouquet of flowers. This was her respect for Rachel, who had been dead for many years.

Justin sighed. "Do you know that the Aorai is going to hold a press conference?"

"Yes." Arya faced Rachel's tombstone and said softly, "In this circle, how many people can stay true to their hearts and not be entangled with fame and fortune, and not be used by others? It is very difficult to make a choice."

Justin's eyes shook and suppressed the anger in his heart, "Arya, have you even been threatened by someone?"

"I have been in this circle for so many years and have never gotten rid of these two words, but I have never been afraid. Allen told me that there will a day when the rain will clear up the sky. No matter which part you choose, as long as you choose, don't be afraid of anyone or anything."

"Usually, the first second you choose is the most torturous."

Arya handed Justin a business card. "Since Melinda gave you a choice, then I will give you a choice. Or rather, it is a chance to start over."

Arya did not say anything else. She turned around and left the cemetery so that Justin could quietly think about it.

She could not provide much help to Justin. She did not want to force him because there were some paths that would be difficult to turn back once he took the first step.

Justin stood in front of the tombstone for a long time. He thought about Arya's words and finally revealed a relieved smile.

"Rachel, I am too persistent."

Chapter 224 Uncover the Truth

In the eyes of the reporters, the Aorai was doomed to have internal strife today. Even her manager was about to abandon her.

"Justin, it's your turn." Melinda reminded the man beside her in a low voice. There was a threatening look in her eyes.

Justin looked at the table and slowly raised his eyes. "Everyone, I am sitting here today to explain everything. But before that, I want to say something else."

"I have been in the industry for more than ten years. I have been an assistant, moved props and acted as a side character. I don't even remember how many artists I have brought..."

"I've seen too many tricks in this circle. Some people are bright and beautiful, but they are doing evil deeds!"

"Truth? What is truth?! When you guys are pointing the cameras at me, am I telling the truth?"

Justin suddenly became excited. Before Melinda pulled him, he suddenly picked up the microphone, "I still remember my last female artists. Rachel! This name, don't you all already feel very unfamiliar?"

The reporters looked at each other, not understanding why Justin would mention her.

Melinda clenched her fists. She realized that things were going in the opposite direction!

"On the day of her car accident, we had a big fight and she lost control of her emotions. That was why she drove onto the road after taking the medicine..."

"At that time, the Aorai also held a press conference and announced the so-called death!"

"I believe it, I really believe it! Because the two best managers of the Aorai are my good friends, and the President of Aorai, is also..."

"Enough! Justin, stop messing around." Melinda stopped him and signaled Walter to take control of the situation.

However, Justin pushed her away and continued to pick up the microphone. His voice became louder, "Rachel's death was caused by the three men from the Aorai! In order to control the artist's career, they exposed their relationship and threatened them again and again!"

Justin actually exposed everything!

Melinda's trembling hands pointed at Justin. Her anger could no longer be suppressed, "Do you still want to stay in the entertainment circle?! You are crazy!"

"I don't care anymore."

Justin's smile was extremely sarcastic, "When you plotted against Rachel, made her lose her life, framed Arya, and let her be questioned again and again, I realized that Melinda, today's everything is the retribution you deserve!"

"I don't miss this entertainment industry at all."

Melinda's tears could not help but flow down. She stared fiercely at Justin...

The reporters were completely stirred up.

"Murder and kidnapping, we can't just look at the show industry on the surface!"

"This isn't just an internal conflict in the Aorai anymore. Melinda and this company have become trash in the industry."

"Fortunately, it did not cause another tragedy. Arya is not as easy to bully as Rachel in the past. Otherwise, I'm afraid..."

Melinda heard the discussion and stood up angrily. She slammed the table and shouted. "No! He made all of this up! Justin, why did you do this to me? Why did you slander me with these baseless nonsense!"

"You can't produce evidence, can you? I will let you know the price of framing Aorai and me in front of everyone!"

"You and Arya are colluding together to harm me!"

The crazier Melinda refuted, the more it proved that Justin's words were true. The cameras of the reporters were aimed at Melinda's face. Her reaction was full of excuses...

"Melinda, you still don't want to give up. Do you want to see the evidence with your own eyes?" Justin could not treat Melinda as a friend anymore. He only felt sad when he saw her struggling helplessly.

"He's very talented in both director and scriptwriter. I believe he'll make a name for himself in the film industry!"

"As for your company, it is not qualified."

This was Justin's backup plan. Arya did not need to worry about him anymore.

"That person... Could it be Director Frederick Green?" A reporter looked at the back of the middle-aged old man and shouted in surprise.

"Oh my god, I didn't expect Justin to be unable to be an agent and directly enter the circle of directors!"

"The Aorai has lost so much face this time. Melinda thought that Justin leaving the Aorai would be a dead end... In the end, he had Frederick Green as his teacher. His future career will definitely be very successful..."

"This change is too fast. I can't reach at all."

Allen looked at the real-time news on the website. Seeing Arya's indifferent expression, he could not help but reveal a doting smile.

Arya's fans kept leaving comments on the website, calling for the Aorai to let Arya go. They hoped that Arya would quickly find her next home and leave a trash company like the Aorai.

But... Arya did not think so.

This was the perfect time to continue working together, because the media and the outside world were watching every move of the Aorai and Melinda, so there was no chance to restrict her.

Allen also understood this meaning. Even if Arya did not leave Aorai now, it did not mean that she did not have any thoughts about the future.

Even the reporters could see that Arya would find a better company than the Aorai in the future.

And he had already made plans.

Counting the time, the person who should have been in the airport terminal was here.

"Where's Allen?" Arya asked.

"In the office..." Martin suddenly remembered that he came out to buy medicine. He quickly put his hand behind his back.

But it was already too late.

"Is he not feeling well?" Arya brows immediately furrowed and she quickly walked inside.

"Yes, the President has been having a headache recently. He asked me to go and buy medicine."

"Recently? How long has it been? He never told me when he was at home!" The more Arya heard, the more anxious she became.

"Probably, he doesn't want you to worry." Martin said with some embarrassment and passed the medicine to Arya. "I think the President wants to see you."

Arya took the medicine bag and walked quickly into the office.

Luna and Martin were the only ones left standing. They looked at each other and the atmosphere was very awkward.

Luna's face was even more red. She mustered up her courage and said, "The matter of my brother and passport... Thank you."

Martin blinked and nodded heavily.

In the office.

Allen leaned on the black leather sofa and closed his eyes quietly. There was a layer of sweat on his forehead. If it was not because of the pain, he would not stop working and rest.

"Allen..." Arya called his name and walked over.

Hearing her voice, Allen immediately opened his eyes. He endured the headache and pretended that he was fine. "Why are you here? Shouldn't you be at the airport?"

Martin, who was watching from the side, was stunned. He never thought that their CEO would get a strict wife one day, and even be so happy about it.

However, this seemed to be very good. In this world, the only woman who could make Allen obey unconditionally was Arya.

After delaying for half a day, the flight was already missed. Allen asked Martin to arrange for a private plane and personally sent Arya to Paris.

In the cabin, Luna and Martin sat at the back and looked at the documents and videos respectively. Allen and Arya sat in the front and were exceptionally quiet.

Arya held Allen's hand and forced him to rest.

Compared to this, Melinda's situation in the hospital was different.

Her empty eyes looked at the ceiling above her head. There were white walls and decorations around her. In addition, the smell of disinfection filled the room...

Walter had been waiting in the hospital all the time. When he came in with water, he saw she had woken up. "How is it? Does it still hurt?"

"How is the situation in the company?" Melinda grabbed his hand and asked anxiously.

Walter hesitated for a moment but still told the truth. "The directors are very angry. When the news gets out, Aorai's shares will drop. There are even police who are involved in the investigation. But I have already sent people from the legal department to actively cooperate."

"Although the kidnapping and murder charges caused some impact, they do not have any evidence. You do not need to worry."

"It's just that many of the arrangements have been blown. Other than Arya, the other artists of the company have been affected, including Kiara and Violate."

This was no longer a simple fight.

When Melinda heard these words, her entire body collapsed. Her tears flowed uncontrollably and she covered her mouth in pain. "I didn't think that the Aorai would be destroyed by my hands like this! I was wrong... I was wrong!"

Walter raised his hand. He wanted to comfort her but did not know where to start. So he could only stay quietly by the side.

When Melinda's cries became softer and her emotions gradually calmed down, he said, "There are reporters outside the hospital. If you are better, I will help you get discharged and go back to rest."

Chapter 229 Strong Feelings

It was a good thing that Allen had time to spend with his wife, but as his assistant and secretary Martin had to stay in the hotel to handle and record all kinds of video meetings and documents.

Martin thought bitterly. If this continued, he would have to apply to retire early.

Stanley, the studio reporter who had been staring at Arya, heard that Arya had started her journey again and immediately rushed over.

If he had been busy with work, Arya's journey would not have been so mysterious and difficult to investigate. Moreover, under his relentless pursuit, Arya successfully shook his off and returned to Paris.

It could be seen that she was indeed hiding something!

He was full of curiosity about Arya's life. He felt that behind such a mysterious veil, there must be explosive news.

As long as that mysterious man had not broken up with Arya, he would definitely take pictures of them!

Walter arranged for his men to search for the girl's information according to the contact information. They also found the girl's address in a very secretive manner.

When she saw him personally come to the door, she thought that there was news of Arya and very happily invited Walter in.

"When will Arya come?"

Walter coughed and said with a smile, "I think you can tell me Louisa's specific situation first."

The girl looked at him and did not doubt him. "I am Louisa's best friend. She has not been well. When we went abroad to study together, we found Louisa has leukemia. We could not find a suitable donor."

"Later, when we could not hold on any longer, the Parker family brought Louisa back to China. Once, Brother Daniel brought Arya to do a check. In the end, she and Louisa were matched successfully."

The girl sighed and clenched her fingers. "Later, that kind of thing happened in Brilliant. Louisa also knew that it was Daniel who had let Arya down, so she did not mention about the donation, because it was indeed the Parker family who owed Arya a favor."

This day’s work was enough for her to be tired. Every step she took now was closer to the position of an

She hoped that the road in the future would be wider and wider...

However, Walter kept pressing on.

Compared to the warmth and peace here, Martin and Luna were so busy that they felt tired and dizzy.
Martin was too busy dealing with the matters of Dahua, and Luna had stars in her eyes to deal with Arya’s advertisement and appointment.

However, she would occasionally see Martin beside her, and unconsciously revealed a love-stuck smile.

She did not realize it at all.

Martin raised his head again and saw Luna's eyes. He could not help but have goosebumps all over his body.
