Chapter 231 Another Enemy

After sending Allen away, Arya looked at the empty room and the chair Allen had sat on. She suddenly felt empty in her heart.

She could not hide her feelings. She was lost because of his departure. She had only sent him away for a few minutes and she had already started to miss him.

For the position of an international superstar, she had to endure it!

The experience she had obtained here was something she could not make up for when she returned home. She needed the opportunity and stage here.

Luna was also the one who was as disappointed as Arya.

Although she was angered by Martin's low EQ time and time again, but when she couldn't see him now, she felt awful.

"Don't think about it anymore. Finish your journey earlier and go back to accompany him." Luna comforted Arya, afraid that her mood would be down and affect the shooting tomorrow.

Louisa sighed and put down her phone. She looked at Lily and said, "Why do you keep saying that about Arya recently? What happened?"

Lily could only tell her about the recent meeting with Walter. "I went to the Aorai and they used money to send me away. They said Arya avoided me. For her acting career and body, it is impossible for her to donate her bone marrow. But I know that she is a villain!"

Only then did Louisa come to realization, "How can you go to the Aorai? Right now, the CEO of the Aorai and Arya are having a very bad time. They really want to shut Arya down. If you do this, it might affect her."

"So what? Could it be that they would deliberately lie to me?"

Louisa nodded, "Why not? Anything can happen in the entertainment circle. Isn't my brother a living example?"

Hearing her say that, Lily seemed to understand something.

From the beginning to end, Arya did not reply. And only Walter had come into contact with her. Could it be...

"He said that he told Arya. Could it be that he must have told her?" Louisa grabbed Lily's hand and seriously looked into her eyes, "My illness is not caused by Arya. If she saved me or not, I do not have the right to blame her. You are my best friend. I know you are worried about me, but you blaming Arya like this is unfair to her."

"If that person from the Aorai comes to you again, you bring him to see me. I will personally ask him what exactly is going on!"

Lily heard Louisa's words and felt that she was indeed too excited a while ago.

"I will help you find other donors. I will not mention this matter again."

"Thank you."

Lily does not chase after stars. She does not understand those dirty things in the entertainment industry.
But it doesn’t mean that I am not clear about these things.”

“Right now, the recording of Melinda framing Arya is still in the Hot Search List!”

Walter had nothing to say, after hearing this.

He was put in an awkward position by Louisa’s question. He did not expect Louisa to appear here!

“Besides, I have known Arya for many years. I know her character very well and do not need you to slander her here. I think you did not tell her about this matter, right?”

Louisa turned around. Because she was sick in bed all year around, her body could not withstand such excitement.

She forcefully endured her illness and also wanted to argue with Walter. She did not want to see her idol that she liked and believed be slandered like this.

"You can leave. Remember to go back and tell your Aorai's CEO that I will not be a chess piece for you to hurt Arya. Please stay away from my friend Lily. She is too innocent and does not understand the viciousness of people like you."

Louisa's pale face was filled with anger. That kind of gaze...

She had already said it very clearly. No one would want not to live, but she did not want to slander and frame anyone.

When Arya fell out with the Brilliant, she already knew everything. It was Daniel who cheated Arya first and let her down. Seeing Arya could pull herself together again, she was happy for Arya. As long as Arya still insisted on acting on the screen, it was as if there was hope for her to live.

She treated Arya as her idol and goal. She watched Arya's play over and over again. In her heart, Arya could give her endless strength and courage. It allowed her to smile and even to face doctors and nurses in the ward. It allowed her to believe that there was a new possibility in her life.

Walter lowered his head. He had been taught a lesson by a little girl today. He did not have the face to stay any longer.

Walter turned around and left Lily's apartment, but there was something in his eyes that no one could see through.

"Don't worry. I won't tell anyone!" Lily patted her shoulder.

Although this entertainment circle was very complicated and she did not know who to trust, since Louisa admired Arya so much, she would also stand on Arya's side. Perhaps it was just like a TV series. When the truth was revealed, Arya's husband would scare everyone.

Lily knew that Louisa's illness was getting worse and worse. She immediately went back to ask her father, hoping to meet Allen in the name of her father company.

Although it might not be successful, at least she still had a chance...

Furthermore, it specially added 'It's about the Aorai.'

It was just that Allen's schedule was very tight. When he saw an outsider company want to cooperate, of course he only replied that he would see them if he had time.

That night, Louisa applied leave from the hospital, went to the hotel with Lily and her father to wait for Allen. However, several hours had passed but no one came.

"I think he won't come. Looks like, he doesn't care about Arya as much as we think." Lily shook the cup of water. She felt that like marrying Allen was like an ordinary female star marrying into a wealthy family. There was no love between them.

But Louisa didn't think so. However, Lily's father had been waiting with them all this time, she felt very sorry.

"Uncle, I've caused trouble for you."

"It's nothing. It's just that the company still have many things to deal with. If you want to wait, just wait a little longer. The driver will wait for you downstairs."

Lily's father settled the driver and hotel staff. After confirming that the two girls were safe here, he left.

After another half an hour, Lily could not bear anymore. "Forget it. They will definitely not come. Let's go. I think he doesn't care about Arya at all!"

Just her voice fell, two men walked in one after another.

"No, don't call the police. I'll do as you say!" The nurse anxiously asked him.

Martin put away the evidence. Walter could not help himself. He had given himself away. He could not blame anyone.

After the resuscitation, although Louisa's condition had been alleviated, the situation was still very critical. After the doctors had an emergency meeting, they decided to proceed with the next stage of the surgery immediately.

But...

The situation was getting worse and worse. Louisa could not make it through the most critical moment. When the doctor walked out of the operating theater again, he informed the family members to prepare for the funeral.

Martin had been keeping watch in the hospital. When he heard the news, he immediately helped Louisa transfer to the best hospital in the city for treatment. He hoped that there would be a turning point.

At the same time, Walter also received the news.

Because the doctor had already informed the family members to prepare for the funeral, Walter immediately exposed Louisa's condition.

This was because even the heavens were helping him. He posted an anonymous thread and said that he was Louisa's good friend. He pointed at Arya and said she went back on her word. She killed someone. Because she did not keep her word, Louisa missed the best opportunity to find donors and receive treatment, which caused Louisa to almost die!

This was the evidence!

Arya killed a person!

This was murder! Who would care about the word 'almost'?

Once this kind of thread was posted, everyone would stand out and criticize Arya because this kind of action had already touched the point of the public.

Regardless of whether Louisa was okay in the end, it was the truth that she almost died on the operating table. No one would care about anything else and would only blame all of the blame on Arya.

To put it simply, it was Arya who killed a person!

After the news was exposed, Louisa had just been rescued. Lily was worried about her health and did not tell her that this had happened.

"You are simply a madman. You do things very quickly, but at the same time you block your own path of retreat!"

Melinda finally knew why she was always suppressed by Arya because her subordinates never knew what propriety was!

No matter how one looked at it, this matter was caused by Walter's arrogance. He thought that he could perfectly control the direction of the situation but...

Melinda finally had a trace of hesitation and regret after framing Arya so many times.

That was the crime of murder.

If she was splashed by this basin of dirty water, who knew when she would be able to wash it clean.

The comments on the Internet were still constantly refreshing.

"Louisa's good friends have already spoken. When she said that they went to find Arya, Arya directly asked her to die."

"Don't say anymore. Be careful not to get into trouble!"

"I think it must be because Arya changed her mind after Daniel cheated on her. She wants to take revenge on the Parker family!"

"The one who should die should be Arya!"

"Yes, she is not fit to live."

Those people were completely unconscious and made wild guesses and comments which had a very bad effect on Arya. From the beginning when Arya almost caused Louisa to have an accident, it became that Arya wanted to deliberately take revenge and wanted to kill Louisa.

Furthermore, those who used to be Arya's fans, joined the anti-fans group exposed Arya's return date and flight, saying that they wanted to make Arya repent at the airport.

Everyone was waiting to see Arya make a joke and see how she would endure the storm that was about to happen.

After a few major surgeries, Louisa woke up in the best hospital of the city.

"How is Arya?" The first thing she asked after she opened her eyes was Arya's situation.

Lily was hesitating about how to speak. If she told her the truth at a time like this, it was very likely that there would be problems with her condition which she had gone through great difficulty to get better. So she made a few excuses to avoid it.

But Louisa was really worried about Arya, "Give you your phone. I'll see myself."

Lily sighed and passed her phone. "What you should do now is to take care of yourself."

Louisa looked at the posts and comments in panic and her hands trembled uncontrollably. Those bright red killing words made her tremble in fear. "How can these people say such nonsense!"

Lily helplessly pressed her onto the bed. "Their mouths are on their body. What they want to say, we can't control them. Lie down peacefully. Arya will come to see you very soon."

Just at this time, outside the ward, Arya had already chatted with Louisa's attending physician for a long time.

"Miss Arya, you can rest assured. The patient's condition is still under control. As long as she does not get agitated by the outside world for a short period of time, she will be able to wait for a suitable donor to appear."

"According to Mr. Jones's request, we have already been looking for donor around the world. I believe there will be good news soon."

"Thank you for your trouble, Doctor."

The doctor nodded and left with Louisa's medical record.

"Because what everyone wants to see the most is a self-righteous actress is revealed. Is there still a smile on your face?"

"It's a pity that you will never see me like that." Arya looked at the scenery outside the window and her voice was incomparably cold. "Do you think that I am unable to endure it and think that I have a shameful secret behind my back..."

"Could it be that there is no such thing? The company did not pursue your responsibility and it is already the greatest mercy for you!" Melinda wasn't willing to defeat at the last moment.

Arya rubbed her temples and her smile gradually deepened until the corner of her mouth began to tremble slightly. "Then I must thank you."

"Just you wait. In the afternoon, there will be an announcement!"

Melinda did not care about stepping on Arya at this critical moment.

"Up to you." Arya said indifferently. She definitely would not lower her head to Melinda. Her tone was still very domineering.

However, Melinda thought that Arya was still enduring it. Would anyone still endure after reaching to her stage?

In her eyes, Arya just wanted face.

After hanging up the phone, Melinda called Walter to the office and said somewhat angrily, "Arya has officially terminated her contract. You can deal with the rest. Anyway, you never put me, the CEO, in your eyes."

"I just did something for you that you don't have the heart to do." Walter refuted.

"Really?" Melinda glanced at him coldly and continued to deal with the documents.

Walter had crossed her line time and time again. She was very angry. Now Walter had stepped on her bottom line.

"Don't you feel anything at all? For so many years, I have worked so hard for the Aorai to gain a firm foothold. I have never intended to betray you. I am not just a friend to you."

Melinda suddenly snorted in amusement. "Before this matter ends, what you have said, I don't believe a single word."

At this time, the medicinal anti-fans at the airport had already waited for a long time but did not see Arya's figure until they finally realized that it was impossible for them to block people.

Chapter 239 Dahua's Announcemen

Luna saw Walter's face on the screen and couldn't help but curse, "His shameless has exceeded my expectations."

Martin happened to come over to deliver the goods. He stood beside Luna and said, "Indeed. This is also the first time I have seen such a shameless manager."

"Meeting them, the truly pitiful person is our Arya!"

Luna rolled her eyes and changed the channel.

Martin looked at Arya beside him and sighed with emotion. Arya just happened to leave the Aorai and enter the Dahua. He really could not think of anything pitiful about her.

"That Walter better now let me see him. Otherwise, I will beat him up every time I see him!!"

When they heard Walter's words, the netizens were very excited. It was as if Arya had committed a serious crime and was sentenced to death.

When did this kind of company in the entertainment industry decide the life and death of an artist?

What Walter and everyone did not expect was that half an hour after the Aorai announced this incident, another major event happened.

"Dahua announced the signing of Arya!"

“From today onwards, Arya is the Dahua’s artiste!”

“The Dahua has used their actual actions to defeat the Aorai’s ban on Arya.”

“The Dahua will stand up for Arya. The Aorai is a trash.”

The Dahua Entertainment had actually become Arya’s new boss. There was actually such a miracle at this time. The Dahua was a company that many people dreamed of. They actually signed a contract with Arya.

When they saw that part of the contract was published on the official website of the Dahua, they had no choice but to believe this reality.

"All the people from outside are evaluating Arya. Isn't Dahua worried at all?"

"The artistes we choose to sign with have been unanimously approved by the upper management of the Dahua. We will not listen to the rumors on the Internet. We will not use the so-called 'truth' to talk about the character of an artiste. We also hope that the public can distinguish right from wrong. In this circle, there was never lack of anti-fans."

Raul's words were clear enough.

There were still many reporters who said unrelentingly, "But the matter between Louisa and Arya is true!"

"Moreover, someone has already pointed the spearhead from the Aorai to the Dahua. Director Raul, how are you guys going to face this?"

Raul's eyes turned cold. The reporters raised the microphones even higher. They were looking forward to Raul releasing some information. But none of them expected that he would choose the most convincing way to respond.

"The Dahua will officially hold the signing ceremony with Arya tomorrow morning."

"Arya will attend. The Department heads of the Dahua will also attend. At that time, anyone who has evidence can take it out and ask them in person."

"The Dahua will never blindly protect the artists under their banner, but the truth will not change. It is impossible for the Dahua to let the artists under their banner suffer and be framed for no reason."

"Arya is signing a contract with the Dahua is already established fact. The Dahua has the responsibility to investigate the truth and protect Arya."

After saying that, Raul stood up and strode out of the door.
