Chapter 301 Stay Away From Her

Stanley continued to flip through the album and finally found a few pictures of Arya and Allen being very close to each other. Especially one of Arya being drunk and Allen hugging her.

This kind of intimate action, and she said it was just a normal relationship?

"I finally caught her!"

Stanley was not going to expose the photo yet. Once it was exposed, it would only serve as evidence that Allen did not like men.

However, he wanted Arya to lose her reputation, so he had to continue waiting.

...

That night, Serena met a French man whom her friend had introduced to her.

She dressed herself up seriously and met him in a high-class coffee shop. After working in this circle for so many years, Serena spoke French fluently. She could tell that he was very satisfied with her.

She came to the blind date because she had a goal. So she directly confessed her past. That unbearable past did not make this French man look down on her.

His name was White, and he was the vice president of a multinational company. He was humorous and very talkative. His time with him was very comfortable. At this time, Serena realized that perhaps being with him was a good choice.

They chatted for a few hours and White very gracefully sent Serena back to the apartment.

Serena thought about it carefully and decided to give it a try. So she specially called Arya to tell her this news.

After hearing her words, Arya softly asked, "Because White doesn't mind your past, so you decided to be with him?"

It was not love at first sight. Not on the basis of adoration, but simply because of her deep inferiority, feeling that she had lost the right to love, she did not have the courage to find someone who truly loved her.

Could it be that such a marriage could make her happy?

Before the banquet, Allen still had to go to the company for a meeting. Before he went out, Arya specially matched his suit today.

The wine-red background was paired with suppressed patterns, and the tailor-made cut highlighted Allen's good figure. She tied him a striped tie, which gave him a sense of business but did not lose its depth.

Arya looked at her work with satisfaction. Recently, she had been very keen on helping Allen match his clothes. Even if they could not be together at all times, she wanted to use this method to express her concern.

Allen originally planned to go out early, but he still doted on Arya to play with him.

"Perfect..." Arya looked at the noble man in front of her with emotion, "Mr. Jones, you are really handsome!"

"As long as you are satisfied." Allen knew that Arya had been very annoyed by his words on the Internet recently. He turned around and wrapped his arms around her. He gently kissed her forehead. "The matter will be resolved very quickly."

He did not want to affect his wife's mood because of those unimportant people.

Ever since he became President of Dahua, he had experienced too many criticisms like this. It was just that he did not want to see Arya get angry for him.

Arya stood on her tiptoes and kissed his lips hard, "Come back early. I will wait for you at home."

Allen nodded. After sweetening with her for a while, he put on his trench coat and left.

Arya watched as his car drove out of sight and touched her beating heart. Her face was slightly red. No matter how long they got married, as long as they got close to Allen, it was as if they were attracted by some kind of magic. Her heart could not help but beat faster.

Their marriage seemed to be forever in love.

However, when she thought about meeting Michel and the Winston family that night, she was very unhappy.

She absolutely could not lose to those despicable people who slandered her husband with rumors. If that Michel knew that she would go tonight, he would definitely let that mixed-blood female star who had just signed up with the Skywings attend.

"That's good." Lawson trusted his nephew's ability and judgment very much. This was also publicly acknowledged by the elders of Jones Family. Otherwise, they wouldn't have handed over all the properties under Dahua to Allen.

Since the person was brought by Allen, it meant that he already had a sufficient understanding of her. Moreover, he had also recognized this woman. As long as Allen liked her, the elders naturally had the mentality of blessing them.

Arya was the first woman that Allen brought along with him.

With Allen's answer, Lawson did not take the Winston Family's provocation to heart. Instead, he directly retaliated, "I don't know much about the entertainment industry. It's just that I happened to see what Michel said in front of the reporters a few days ago."

What he meant was to get back to the topic. Don't bully the wife of the Jones Family's heir.

The business world was like a battlefield. The relationship between the two families only seemed to be passable. After all, after so many years of competition, they had all suffered losses in each other's hands.

Michel's face turned red as he stared at Allen.

Arya also found it unbelievable when she heard this. This was an extremely overbearing contempt!

"Ten minutes. I will wait for you in the boxing ring!" Michel slammed the table, stood up, and turned to leave.

Lawson was a little surprised that Allen would agree to compete with Michel. With his temper and personality, since Allen dared to agree, it meant that he had absolute confidence in himself. Therefore, he said to Santiago, "Since the method has been decided, let the reporters in. The weather outside is not warm."

Allen did not object. He pulled Arya and stood up together. "I want to go and prepare."

Lawson saw that he wanted to bring Arya with him and asked, "Do you need to bring..."

Lawson didn't answer. Instead, he looked at the direction of the boxing ring in silence. There was only one thing he was thinking about. Given Michel's physical condition, he could take a few punches from Allen.

But the last time Allen punched someone was seven years ago. That time, they had sent that person to the hospital for three months.

He should be able to restrain his strength now. Otherwise, if he broke Michel, he might be hit hard by the Winston Family.

"Why hasn't Director Jones come out yet?"

"Let's take a few photos of Director Winston first. His figure is indeed not bad."

"In the past, the media has taken photos of him surfing by the sea..."

Santiago did not miss the whispers of the reporters. His mood suddenly became very good. Ever since Allen became President of Dahua, the Skywings had been suppressed by the Dahua. If Michel defeated Allen tonight, it would be considered as giving face to the Winston family.

"Is this considered good? Are you guys going to the gym or not? This is the most basic standard. One look and you can tell that his shoulders aren't strong enough."

"Could it be that you can see through the clothes that Director Jones's figure is better than his?"

"Anyway, it won't be worse than this."

Lawson coughed and signaled them to lower their voices. This kind of discussion was very noisy.

The reporters immediately shut their mouths and looked in the direction of the entrance in anticipation.

Very quickly, Allen and Arya appeared together.

They walked slowly from the dark corridor to the boxing ring. As the lights lit up, the people waiting in the audience stands stood up impatiently. Because they were really too excited...

"Heavens, why is there such a perfect person!"

"From my perspectives as a doctor for many years, he definitely can't be gay, because that muscle line is too cool, he's definitely a real man."

The netizens had more than ten thousand comments. All of them were praising Allen's good figure. Michel had completely become a foil.

Luna and Martin also saw the news on the Internet at the first moment.

It was also Luna's first time seeing Allen's figure. Although she had come into contact with Allen many times in the past few months, when she saw it with her own eyes, her senses were greatly stimulated.

"Wow, Arya just looks at this kind of body and sleeps every day?"

She was too happy!

Luna sighed as she looked at Martin beside her and thought about his figure...

"You don't need to think about it. Although I am not as good as the CEO, I am much better than Michel."

Luna smiled, "Of course. You are the person I chose!"

She continued to browse and saw a photo of Arya helping Allen take his clothes. Luna could not help but smile. "I am really happy for Arya to have today. They are husband and wife. No one can bully them!"

Because someone bullied one of them, the other would definitely fight back with all his strength!

"Then what about you and me?" Martin put down the newspaper and asked.

Luna thought about it and said, "No one will bully us..."

This posture...

They had always been like this at home, but in this occasion, Arya was a little unnatural.

Allen reached out and wrapped his arm around her, "It's about to start."

"Heh, hug her for a while longer. When I win, you won't have this kind of opportunity. I'll decide the winner and loser in one go." Michel winked at the dealer and asked her to distribute the cards.

The strategy was to play poker in Texas. It was the almost smooth, followed by four plays, and so on and so forth.

It was not that Michel had never gambled with a woman, but he had never lost to a woman. He did not care about a little actress who did not know the immensity of heaven and earth.

After the dealer distributed the cards, both of them obtained their two trump cards.

Arya got the A and the Q of spades. Michel got a pair of 10.

Each of his trump cards had their own advantages.

Michel asked the dealer to continue distributing the cards because the bet was already agreed upon.

Next was the public card. Red Peach K, Square 5, and a Plum Blossom 10.

Could Arya get a knight? Or was it that Michel had chances of getting 10? In the bet, luck was very important, but psychological tactics were equally important.

Allen only held Arya in his arms. After looking at the cards, he did not have any expression. He looked at her from the side. She was indeed very familiar with this kind of cards. Then she might have played with Daniel before?

Thinking of this, he was a little jealous.

However, Arya also said that she was fighting for him tonight, so he let go of his jealousy.

Then, the fourth public card, A of spades.

Michel still had the advantage. Arya already had a pair of aces in her hands, but if the last card was not the J, she would lose.

Michel smiled and said proudly, "I'll give you a chance to admit defeat. There's still one more card."

"I watched this kid grow up. Listen to me and hold him tightly in your hands. Don't forget to take care of him!"

"We always do this. In my house, the wife has the final say." Allen naturally hugged Arya's shoulder and said in a relaxed tone.

Arya smiled as she watched them chat. She had been very pleased with herself the whole night. In addition to the cheongsam she had specially put on tonight, she had added a lot of points to her big uncle, Lawson.

Seeing Lawson's smiling face, Allen whispered to Arya, "It looks like I can take you home without worry. I don't need to worry about you getting along with them at all."

"Arya is very good. Bring her to the house earlier. There is also the matter of the child. Your child will be the next successor of Jones Family. You guys should also hold onto it tightly."

Child?

This sudden question made Arya realize that although they had not been married for long, Allen was already in his early thirties. He really needed a new identity, father.

But she had just come back. If she wanted a child at this time, she might need to stay quiet for a period of time before starting again.

"We'll talk about it later. There's no rush."

Allen respected Arya's wishes on this point.

"But..."

"I am not old enough to have a child immediately! Furthermore, in this era, everyone wants to have more space for couples."

Sitting in the car back, Arya had been thinking about this matter.

She did not reject having children. In the past, she made a comeback in order to take revenge on Daniel and Caroline. Later on, in order to be able to stand in a position that matched Allen, she had been working hard.

But now, the voice deep in her heart told her that apart from a career that belonged to her, she also wanted to join the family and give birth to children for him.

Chapter 309 Various Problems

Because of losing to Allen, Michel had been in a bad mood for many days. In the past, whenever he was in Skywings, he would wander around the company from time to time. But now, he only wanted to stay in the office and not see anyone.

When the assistant knocked on his office door again, Michel shouted in frustration, "Get out!"

But the assistant still mustered the courage to push the door open and carefully handed the phone over. "Director Winston, take a look at today's news. Maybe you'll be in a better mood."

Michel glanced at him and took the phone with a cold face. "What is this?"

On the phone was the news of Arya being exposed to the mysterious man and kissing him passionately.

"Recently, someone jumped out to expose Arya's private life. At the same time, she cheated on several men of different nationalities. This photo is the evidence that they took out!"

"When Arya was still in the Brilliant Entertainment and Aorai's entertainment, there were media that said that she relied on sleeping to make a comeback. It was just that there was no evidence at all. Now, this Arya has been targeted by someone. You can finally vent your anger."

The assistant thought that Michel was unhappy because he lost to Arya at the gambling table. He thought that Arya's deep-seated rumors could make Michel feel better. He suggested, "Should we let the Public Relations Department secretly add fuel to the fire and make the Dahua unable to support Arya anymore?"

Michel's eyes gradually darkened. He did not say anything. He just put his phone on the desk.

"Could it be that Arya is the only artist under Dahua? What does it have to do with me if Allen doesn't support her? I don't care about the star path of such a small celebrity. I want to win against Allen. Do you understand?"

The assistant realized that he had done something wrong. He quickly lowered his head. "I'm sorry, CEO Winston..."

"It's just Arya. Those reporters have nothing to do. Of course, they have to keep an eye on the popular celebrity. It can only mean that someone has their eyes on her."

Michel pressed his desk and stood up. Suddenly, he raised the corner of his mouth. "I don't care about Arya's future. But some people are very concerned."

When Serena was being blackmailed, many people were present. However, the investors of this work had a strong background and were able to mix black and white, so no one dared to stand up to clarify for Serena.

When the news reached the Dahua, Raul immediately carried out the preliminary handling of the matter and then reported it to Allen.

"I have a feeling that it might be related to the Skywings. It might be related to Michel, who just returned to the country." Raul placed a piece of information on the table. "The investor of that work is the founder of the F Group. Ever since their company invested in the film and television works, they have collaborated with Michel many times."

Raul did not hide his worries. It was not only for the company, but also for Serena.

Raul's words aroused Allen's thoughts. He took out his phone and dialed Michel's father, Santiago's number.

Soon, the call was connected. Santiago's smiling voice was heard. "It's Director Jones. What's the matter?"

"This war was started by Michel. I hope he can bear the consequences." Allen held his phone and stood in front of the French window. He said coldly, "I have given him a chance."

"Oh? Where does this come from? Last time it was Director Allen who won..." Santiago laughed and said.

Allen did not make the call to beat around the bush. "I am not joking." One sentence was as cold as ice.

When Santiago heard Allen's tone, he held his phone and could not speak for a long time. Only when the line was cut did he know that Allen was really warning him.

To Santiago, being threatened by a junior made him lose face. However, the Dahua's influence was growing day by day because of Allen. He had no choice but to be afraid...
