

LOVE OF A BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 31 There Is No Need for Us to be Polite

The actress and actors were excited by Arya's performance, she stood in front of them and asked, "Do you still question my ability to act?"

A staff member beside them snorted, "I wonder how good their ability to act is now after seeing the performance from the movie queen."

"So I guess you can act ... okay!"

They looked at each other, turned around and left while muttering themselves. Caroline had told them Arya can't act and she had no one to support her. That was the reason they provoked Arya. Had they knew she could act like the way she did, they wouldn't dare be in her bad looks.

"Hold on a sec!"

Arya called out to them, took a quick glance at Caroline, “I thought we agreed, if you agreed I had the ability to act, you will apologize to me!”

“On right, I’m sorry!”

Arya knew that they were probably in cahoots with Caroline. She looked at them and sternly said, “To survive in this industry it’s not as easy as you think. Don’t be too abrupt and become someone’s pawns, you will only destroy your own future.”

Arya’s words were forgiving enough. If they targeted someone else, the target might want revenge and they may not be able to continue in the entertainment industry.

With a proud expression, Arya lifted her chin. She then turned around and left without saying more.

Just as Arya was about to go back to her room to rest and to review the scenes she had the following day but Luna ran up to her excitedly, “Arya come quickly. Someone prepared a surprise for you!”

“Surprise?”

Arya froze for a moment before Luna pulled her to the studio’s entrance.

Three Mercedes-Benz RVs were filled with foods and fruits with banners on the cars, which were very visible, reading, “Arya wishing you ‘The Evening’ a huge success.”

“Wow, so generous! It’s enough for a banquet.”

“Looks like Arya has someone to support her. It seems Caroline can’t compare to her even with a backup like Boss Evans! Caroline only knows how to make empty promises.”

Arya pulled Luna, “What is going on? I didn’t buy these.”

“I’ve asked around, the people are from Dahua.” Luna replied and covertly winked at her.

The cast and crew lines up for the food. Director Brown walked over with a smile, “Arya, you’re very generous. I didn’t expect you to treat everyone to such good lunch.”

“Oh it’s nothing ...” Arya replied with a smile. She went to the side and called Allen to thank him.

At this moment, a few masked men came into the studio and pointed at Arya as they shouted, “It’s her over there. She’s the one who stole the limelight from Caroline!”

Eggs and ripped tomatoes were randomly thrown at Arya.

The scene was chaotic.

Under Luna's protection, Arya was able to return to her hotel room. She quietly sat on the bed and started to remove remaining egg residuals from her hair.

On the other side, Luna hung up angrily on paparazzi.

“After a thorough inquiry, it was Caroline's assistant who did it. Furthermore, she bought out top searches. Right now if we speak, the full internet is full of how she was wronged and consigned to the supporting role.”

“Luna, the video recording should all be ready?”

Arya's eyes were cold, she said quietly, “Since she is playing with fire, there is no need for us to be polite to her anymore. Luna, let's do it.”

“Finally! I've been waiting for you to say it for so long. Let's sit and watch the show!”

Luna waved her fists excitedly, took out her phone to make arrangements.
