

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 55

Chapter 55 I Was Wrong

While everyone was waiting for Arya's response, Dahua Entertainment's subsidiary Star Arm uploaded the interview video on the internet.

The interviewees were the two directors who had worked with Arya before.

"She is a very talented actress. When she makes a comeback, I will definitely offer her a role in my show."

"Director Young, have you not seen the news on the internet? How trustworthy is the news that Brilliant Entertainment issued?"

"I don't know what happened between them, nor can I comment on it, but from a professional point of view, I believe in Arya's character and quality as an actress. She is worthy of nurturing. I can say without her, it would be a huge loss for the entertainment industry."

Towards the end of the interview, a contract between Arya and Brilliant Entertainment was visible. Anyone with a discerning eye can see this contract was extremely unfair to Arya. Not only did it bury her talent, but she also wasted several years of youth because of it.

Compared to the obscure recordings that Brilliant Entertainment uploaded, as a third party, the interview that Star Arm showed was more convincing. Moreover, they did not advocate that Arya was in the right but instead indirectly suggesting that Brilliant Entertainment was incompetent as an entertainment company.

Within half a day, 95% of the netizens have supported Arya return to acting.

Within half a day, 95% of the netizens have supported Arya return to acting.

The few insiders of Brilliant Entertainment who falsely accused Arya were found out. They retorted Caroline was the one that coached them and Arya had never hit them.

When the truth surfaced everybody knew that, Caroline, the mistress, who planned all this out of hatred towards Arya.

Although, Brilliant Entertainment had caused all the hype, Arya has always been a professional and sincere actress and did not see the need to defend herself.

Caroline's blog and her own website had been hacked into, leaving a stream of cursing and attacking messages.

"Shameless! To steal someone's fiancée, and then pretend to be the victim, adding salt to the wound!"

"Leave the entertainment industry, we won't want to see your lousy acting ever again!"

"You're a joke! It's people like you that give a bad name to the rest of the artists."

Caroline angrily yelled, "I HATE YOU ARYA!" and threw away her laptop.

Daniel's expression turned gloomy. He just got off the phone with his family. Even though he is the CEO of Brilliant Entertainment, he still had to answer to them. With an incident like this, it affected the company immensely and he had to give an explanation to his family.

He was scolded without a doubt.

The upset Daniel looked at angry Caroline with a headache.

If he had stayed with Arya, he would have successfully been a member of the Morrison Family as the son-in-law. He could still have contacted Caroline if he wanted to have a secret affair with her and this mess with Arya could've been avoided nor would he have been scolded by his elder brother.

"Alright, Be quiet while I make a call." Daniel shouted loudly and dialed Arya's number.

The phone call rang for quite some time but he waited patiently. Right now, the only person that can get Brilliant Entertainment out of this mess was Arya.

Meanwhile, Arya was doing her yoga session when she was interrupted by a call. She glanced at her phone and saw the caller ID. She answered, "Hello?"

"Stop causing any more trouble, I'm willing to admit I was wrong and reconcile with you. We had so many good memories together. Are you really willing to let my company get destroyed?"
