

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 59

Chapter 59 Sometimes It's Alright Not to Say Too Much

When the news leaked out, more people on the internet supported Arya. They were all eager to see her performance on the talk show.

One was the former fiancée, the other was the mistress, appearing together on the show, it would definitely make headlines and attract a lot of attention from the media. On the top entertainment search list was all about them.

Arya brought Luna and Julia with her to the company for the pre-production meeting.

The reality show would be filmed overseas. Arya and Caroline would each have a team of professionals. Beforehand, Arya told Luna that this was a good opportunity for her comeback since her popularity and fans needs to be accumulated gradually. Daniel's plan was only using her as a stepping stone for Caroline, but he was helping Arya without even realizing it.

Caroline was already in the conference room, "Oh dear, no wonder you're able to get to where you today, you've been using people." Caroline said sarcastically when Arya stepped into the room.

Julia kept her head down and did not meet Caroline's gaze.

"At least Arya was awarded the best actress before, unlike some people who will never have that chance." Luna retorted.

"Arya didn't say anything, as an assistant, why are you so concerned? Honestly, Daniel only let Arya to participate this production because he wanted her to be my foil. Otherwise, with her status as a 'former' movie star, how could she acquire such a good project!"

"Arya didn't say anything, as an assistant, why are you so concerned? Honestly, Daniel only let Arya to participate this production because he wanted her to be my foil. Otherwise, with her status as a 'former' movie star, how could she acquire such a good project!"

"Really? I'm sorry, but Daniel begged me to accept this production." Arya walked over to the other side of the room and sat down. "Sometimes, it's alright not to say too much. No one knows what the future holds. We are both signed by the same company. When I'm working, I don't need to see you. Be mindful of your words when you speak."

Luna and Julia's eyes brightened when they saw Arya's domineering attitude.

They made the right decision supporting Arya, she was no longer the same timid girl as before. She will not be bullied by Daniel and Caroline ever again.

A foil?

They are thinking too much!

Their conversation in the conference room spread like wildfire throughout the company. The employees had their own opinions and were discussing amongst themselves that Arya must have someone to support her. Otherwise, how would she openly embarrass Caroline like that?

Suddenly, everyone was trying to guess who the female lead would be in this reality show.

A few of the company's higher management were also in attendance, the meeting commenced. The show's team brought their plans to the table.

Daniel looked at Arya and Caroline, who were sitting on either side of the conference table. Their potential was the same as water and fire. Caroline was at a disadvantage being labeled as the 'mistress'. That was a fact Daniel couldn't change, no matter what he did to protect her.

"We will leave tomorrow and the filming is for a week. Everyone please take a look at the filming schedule and let us know in advance if you have any questions." He gave a meaningful glance at Arya. "I hope every here will do well in their assigned role, to fully cooperate with the film crew and not cause trouble for the company."

"Daniel, Director Daniel, you should keep a close eye on someone. If it wasn't for her, the company wouldn't be in such a predicament." Caroline said in discord.

Caroline did not hesitate in flirting with Daniel in public. Rather, she was afraid others didn't know the extent of their relationship.
