Chapter 64 I Can't Bear To Be Separated From You

Luna concealed her smile and said, "I'm waiting for the day when the news will be announced publicly. I can't wait to see their reaction!"

She noticed Julia's expression and glanced around.

"When Arya found out Daniel was secretly seeing Caroline, she was in pain. She met Allen on her way to the marriage register office. The two of them instantly got along and they registered for their wedding on the same day. However, Arya didn't want this matter to be made public for the time being. The fact that she took you along on this plane today is adequate proof she trusts you. I hope you can take that into consideration and decide where you stand."

Luna patted Julia's shoulder earnestly and looked at the filming schedule. Daniel and the others had already detached all relations with Arya and wouldn't give her the opportunity to make a comeback to the entertainment industry. So the filming will most likely be difficult. As a trusted assistant of Arya, she had to acquire all the information at hand.

Julia stood there in a daze for a while before she walked up to Luna, "Luna, I know what I need to do. Regardless, I will always stand on Arya's side. Please believe me."

Luna didn't say anything but responded with a faint "hmm". She then passed the other documents to Julia.

Julia quickly took them and they both were soon absorbed in their work.

Arya and Allen were in an individual cabin. Arya nestled herself in Allen's arms. She knew better than anyone how difficult it was for them to be alone.

"You know, I can take care of myself."

"I can't bear to be separated from you. Not to mention one week, I can't even bear to leave you for a single minute. Further this trip is very important. I can't leave you alone." Allen hooked her chin up and kissed her lightly.

"I can't bear to be separated from you. Not to mention one week, I can't even bear to leave you for a single minute. Further this trip is very important. I can't leave you alone." Allen hooked her chin up and kissed her lightly.

"Allen ..." Arya whispered and kissed him back.

Allen savored her sweetness and reluctantly let go of her. "You'll have a lot of work to do when you arrive. You should get some rest."

"How much work did you put on hold to accompany me?" Arya asked him.

"I'm also here on a business trip, so no need to worry." He comforted her softly. He was willing to do anything for her.

Due to his gentle words, Arya slowly fell asleep in his arms.

Allen looked at her lovingly and could not help but kiss her forehead lightly.

"My little girl..." He whispered softly and hugged her tightly.

He wouldn't let anything happen to his little girl!

Meanwhile in the other plane, Caroline's anger was to the boiling point. She was taking out her frustration on the flight attendants, attracting a lot of unwanted attention from the other passengers.

"Alright, stop annoying them. We're about to land. Keep it down." Daniel tried his best to calm her down, "What if someone recognizes you ..."

As soon as he was done speaking, someone shouted.

"Is that Caroline?"

"Who? The third rate actress, the one who is the mistress?"

Suddenly, everyone looked at their direction. Some even took out their mobile phones to take photos.

"It's all your fault. Why can't I have a private jet! I'm pregnant and I have to sit in business class with these people!" Caroline complained, being both angry and irritated.

"..."

Daniel was in a bad mood after being scolded by Caroline. He blamed everything on Arya.

Was Arya so flamboyant when she was with him? It seemed to him, she was trying to get his attention. He needed to find time and have a good talk with Arya!

Arya and Allen arrived an hour earlier than Daniel and Caroline. Luna and Julia felt very relaxed. Although they were working during the flight, as no one disturbed them, they got a lot of work done.

However, Daniel's second sister, Davina was anxious and her eyes were red. Davina's heart thumped when she saw Arya appear with her assistant and manager.

How is Arya here so early? Could it be that Arya knew something was planned?

Having doubts in her heart, she walked towards Arya.

"Arya, it's been a while." Her black and white skirt suit wrapped her tall and slim body. She still retained her charm, after all she was once an internationally known model. Her words and behavior conceded with arrogance.

At a glance, Arya's aura was stifled.

Arya quickly recovered as her way of handling these situations was to be calm as water. She saw Davina was wearing sunglasses but she did not act differently. Arya acknowledged Davina with a calm "Hmm" without saying anything else.

Davina found it hard trying to grasp Arya's reaction.
