

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 65

Chapter 65 Davina's Attitude

Arya did not hurry to the hotel nor did she hurry to enquire about the work arrangements. She took her time to ensure Davina that she did know anything about what was going to happen.

After circling around, Davina took off her sunglasses, looked at Arya meaningfully, “It’s been a few years and you still look beautiful. I’ve heard some rumors though.”

Arya scrutinized Davina’s attitude.

As Parker Family’s member, Davina had always been hesitant about Daniel and her marriage. With Davina’s attitude today, she would have known about the news and is aware they were no longer together. Therefore, this filming was most likely Davina’s idea.

Compared to the arrogant and impetuous Caroline, Davina was a menacing opponent.

“With communication so advanced now, good news does not leave the hose whereas bad news travels far.”

Arya’s words had a meaning but Davina pretended she didn’t understand it. Instead, she smiled generously. As if the Parker family was perfectly fine without Arya as a future daughter-in-law, Davina spoke in a tone full of disatain,

“Now a days , it is perfectly normal for people to break up and reconcile, especially when the entertainment industry is so messed up. An ambitious man like Daniel needs someone who can support him and share his worries. I think with your relationship so strained, it’s good for Daniel that both of you separated. If you really love him, you should be happy for him and Caroline.”

Luna, who was standing next to Arya, felt she was going to explode with anger. How dare she say such things?

Luna, who was standing next to Arya, felt she was going to explode with anger. How dare she say such things?

Is there anyone more thick skinned?

Daniel was clearly the one who cheated, yet they are blaming Arya? It was as if Arya refuse to accept the break up with Daniel?

Just then, Davina answered a call and her expression immediately changed. She instructed her subordinates to bring Arya to the lounge area. She took two other subordinates with her and exited out the other side of the airport.

It seemed they were looking for someone.

“Daniel’s flight isn’t to arrive till half an hour later. They were heading to the private pathway. Who is she meeting?”

Arya faltered a bit and replied, “Who knows?”

Her smile was as cold as the wind, not paying any attention to Davina, nor did she care about Davina’s threatening words. She went straight to the lounge.

Davina received news, the CEO of Dahua Entertainment was here on a business, which he should arrive around this time. If she could meet him and establish a relationship with Dahua Entertainment, the Caroline have a better chance of becoming successful. If that happens, they wouldn’t need to be concerned about a small fly like Arya!

However, Davina’s subordinates had only the general news and not the exact time of arrival. So by the time she rushed to the private pathway, Allen was already in the car, on his way to the hotel while on a video call with his wife.

On the screen, he showed elegance in his gray and purple shirt, his thin lips were slightly parted. Obvious gentleness filled his eyes.

“I don’t think so.” Arya checked the time and asked him with concern, “How about you? Will you be going straight to work?”

Allen’s eyes darkened, “I’ll probably be back late tonight. Don’t wait up for me. Get an early rest. If I get a chance, I’ll come over to see you.”

Arya didn’t think too much what he said and nodded. She hung up the phone before Davina came to lounge area.
