

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 70

Chapter 70 Apologize to Jason

After listening to Jason's sarcasm, Arya smiled faintly and didn't take anything he said seriously. She just said,

"You will come and beg me."

Davina panicked as soon as she heard what Arya said. She went up towards Arya and said quickly, "Arya, stop messing around, quickly go and apologize to Mr. Jason!"

"Huh? Why should I apologize? He was the one to question my acting ability. He was the one who judged me from those mere rumors that I had no acting skills. He has no respect for me. As my boss, shouldn't you be speaking up for me? Why did it sound like you're happy that he didn't want to work with me?"

At this moment, the smell of explosives was already evident.

"Arya!" Daniel had enough with her attitude and stopped her, "Watch your attitude!"

Arya sneered, "I never have to put on an act, if you want me to leave, I'll leave but it's your duty to advise the Directing Team first. Also on what basis does Caroline get to sit here, was it even her in the audition video?"

"You!" Davina never expected Arya to know about the fake audition.

She quickly stepped in front of Jason, "Alright, Mr. Jason, you can leave first and we'll discuss this more in detail tomorrow."

In her original position, Arya remained seated not moving at all, unperturbed. She remained silent.

Jason glanced at Arya in disgust. "This was a waste of my time." He stormed out of the conference room.

Jason glanced at Arya in disgust. "This was a waste of my time." He stormed out of the conference room.

As soon as the door closed, Davina slammed her hand on the table fiercely, "Arya, what are you trying to do? Jason is the Assistant Director for this production. What good is it for you to provoke him like that? If you want to create trouble, do it somewhere else! Don't drag Caroline down with you."

What a joke! Who is creating trouble for whom? Who is dragging whom down?

Arya turned around to Davina with a pitiful expression, "I was just explaining myself. What? I can't even explain myself after I'm being wrongly mistaken? Am I not an artist of the Brilliant Entertainment?"

"Arya, I think you're over stepping. You are only causing problems for the company by doing what you did. Go and call Jason to apologize now!" Daniel said.

Luna frowned. Wouldn't Arya admit to all the slandering if she apologized?

Davina aggressively passed the cell phone to Arya. She added in her persuasion if she didn't call Jason to apologize, Brilliant Entertainment wouldn't be able to continue in the industry.

If the situation happened before Arya knew the truth, she would have had second thoughts, but now ...

She gently raised her head and asked, "Are you hundred percent sure you want me to call him?"

"Arya, having you and Caroline participate in the reality show together was for your benefit. Your reputation and image will be doomed if you go against the company. Why did you have to contradict the assistant director?"

"Me contradict him? I just stated the facts. Alright, Fine! Since you insist I call him to apologize, I'll also enquire on what basis does Caroline qualify in participating in the show!"

Arya didn't surrender at all even when the siblings pressured her.

After hearing what she said, Davina immediately changed her mind. If the Directing team found out Caroline's audition video was faked, the consequences would be inconceivable. Not only would Caroline be rejected but her years of accumulated connections would also be damaged.

"Okay, Arya, I understand what you're saying. I get it. But you have to understand, it's Jason that does not what you in the show. I don't have a say on the matter. I will try and see what I can do to help you. That will be all for today. Tomorrow ..."

"So what you're saying is if Jason changes his mind, you'll let me take participate in the show?" Arya grasped the meaning of her words.
