

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 75

Chapter 75 Are You Sure It Really was Caroline?

Jason raised his hand to stop Davina from speaking and sneered, “I’m not here to sign the contract but to inform you, the Directing Team has confirmed the Asian actress and it’s not Caroline.”

“What?”

Davina was flabbergasted.

“Jason, what do you mean? You saw Caroline’s audition video. She definitely has the ability ...”

“That’s your version! The audition video was blurred. Are you sure it really was Caroline? Also, yesterday didn’t you say Arya is just an unpopular female celebrity who doesn’t have any ability or credits, and that she only made it to the top because of her shameless behaviors!”

Jason angrily threw the document folder on the table, “She was the one who won best actress award. She also happens to be Nasha’s good friend. So without stating the obvious, between Arya and Caroline, even a fool would know who to choose.”

“No ...” Davina was speechless and could not refute.

“Enough of this, I have no objections to who you want to make popular. That’s your company’s business but I cannot forgive you for your deception!”

Jason slammed his fist on the table in anger. If Davina hadn’t interfered, he wouldn’t have misunderstood Arya and nearly lost an opportunity to work with such an amazing actress.

“But Caroline is already here, and we’ve been discussing this cooperation for so long. The filming is going to start soon, are you really going to replace her? Jason, considering the countless times we have worked together in the past, don’t be merciless!” Davina was determined to change Jason’s decision.

Jason grunted, “Fine, it doesn’t matter if it’s one Asian female star or two, I can’t make that decision anymore, it’s up to that female star.”

“Okay, tell me who she is and I’ll convince her to film together with Caroline.”

Davina was confident that she could easily persuade anyone, but she never would have expected to see Arya walked into the conference room.

It’s her!

Jason was clearly angry at her yesterday, why did he ask her to come back?

Arya, you bitch!

Davina was extremely agitated. She turned to Daniel and murmured, “What’s going on?”

Arya should be on the plane back home right now.

Arya walked into the conference room in a calm expression.

“I don’t know ...” Daniel replied and said with a frown, “Arya, we don’t have any business with you anymore. Get out of here!”

Arya had a faint smile but ignored Daniel. She walked up to Jason and shook his hand politely, “Good morning, Assistant Director.”

“Let me introduce you. This is Arya, who will be the one participating in ‘Behind the Scenes’ reality show.”

Jason said directly with his conclusion. He looked coldly at Davina, “She is also an artist of Brilliant Entertainment. Is co-operating with her good enough in saving your company’s name?”

Davina took a deep breath and swallowed the anger burning in her, “Of course, since the directing team have chosen Arya, we will definitely support her. Caroline and Arya are both artists in our company, so it’s only normal for them to work together, right, Arya?”