

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 84

Chapter 84 Too Ugly!

Before the program was broadcast, actors would not be able to hear these words. In order to ensure the authenticity of the program, there would be no reduction of any scenes, including the directors' dissatisfaction with Caroline and Caroline's bad attitude towards the workers until the program was broadcast. All of these would be displayed in front of the audience.

The sound of Caroline's high heels came from the corridor. Luna glanced outside the door, "Daniel is also here!"

Arya sat in front of the cosmetic mirror without any reaction. She had to be responsible for her work and could not affect the mood of filming because of them.

"Arya, I have something to tell you." Daniel looked at Caroline and then looked at Luna, "Can you let her go out first?"

"Luna is my special assistant. I will not hide anything from her. If Director Daniel has something to say, maybe next time."

Arya had already changed her cloths during her break. She was resting while waiting for the signal from the Directing Team.

Caroline proudly covered her mouth and smiled. "Daniel, don't tell her. I think she will not be able to withstand this stimulation." Her eyes were filled with distain towards Arya, as if she had already won the match.

Ignoring her provocation, Arya calmly turned her head away, treating them as air.

Her indifferent attitude made Arya frown. He coughed, "Forget it. When you should know, you will naturally know. When the time comes, I hope you can still be so calm. Don't give me and the company any trouble."

Arya slapped the script in her hand and closed it.

"I am not as idle as you think. You guys have disturbed my work." Arya coldly threw out this sentence.

In the next second, two bodyguards in black walked in quickly and chased Daniel and Caroline out.

"Please." They coldly spat out this word and stretched out their arms to stop Daniel. Their tall figures and ashen faces were like iron wall, making Daniel unable to approach Arya.

"Daniel, why does Arya have a bodyguard? Did you pay her to hire them?" Caroline felt jealous and kept asking Daniel.

"How is that possible?" Daniel looked at Arya's back and snorted, "The company really can't let her go! You go and shoot. You don't need to inform her about that. Just let her regret it."

Originally, he wanted to let Arya know that he and Caroline were about to be engaged. It could also be considered as having an account of their past feelings to prevent Arya from temporarily causing a scene. Now it seemed that he did not need to do that at all.

Seeing Arya's face that was completely different from before, there was only a burning anger in his heart. How could she not care about it at all?

Caroline saw that Daniel was angry because of Arya and was very pleased.

"Go and find out where Arya hired her bodyguards. I want to invite a few too!"

"But the company doesn't seem to have this funding ..." Caroline's assistant was a little embarrassed. Even if Caroline was Daniel's girlfriend, she could not do whatever she wanted without taking the position of the company's mistress.

"What? Arya had it. I must have it too, and all of it is better than her!"

Caroline left in a huff while stepping on high heels. Her assistant looked at the branded pattern on the left chest of the bodyguard and slightly frowned, "I seem to have seen this pattern somewhere before."

Luna saw Caroline walk far away and walked back to the room. She poured Arya a glass of water, "Do you want me to ask about their situation? I think it is not that simple."

"No need. Let's do our work first."

Arya had always been rational and her personal feelings could not affect her work.

Moreover, it was such an important international cooperation. She wanted to seize this rare opportunity. She had walked step by step into movie queen's position back then. Now, she could not let her guard down.

Very quickly, the makeup artist put makeup on Arya. After seeing her put on the cloths of the drama's aunt, Genesis, makeup artist was afraid that Arya would not be satisfied with the old age makeup. So she explained with a smile, "Because of the role needs, you might make some makeup adjustments to make your age more suitable for the characters in the play."

"Okay, let's begin." Arya was very cooperative. She closed her eyes and sat on the makeup chair.

The makeup artist replied OK. Nearly 40 minutes later, Arya finished her old age makeup. The makeup artist added fine lines and age spots on her pretty and young face. She also did some skin loosening treatment. Arya really looked like a woman over 50 years old.

"It's just that your eyes are too beautiful. I really can't make you look old." The makeup artist apologized.

Arya smiled and looked at the mirror, "Your makeup skills are very good ..."

"Are the actors ready? The shooting starts in 3 minutes!"

The staff broadcasted the broadcast.

When Arya rushed over, Caroline was already trying to get close to the directors. When she saw Arya, who was disguised as an old woman, come over, she burst out laughing, "It's too ugly! I feel that Arya does not need to put on makeup. As long as she takes off her makeup, it will be perfect to the character. Hahaha ..."

When these words came out, the directors secretly frowned.

Aren't these two female artist contracted artists from Brilliant Entertainment? Why are they like fire and water?

Caroline's words were completely out of line. Arya's makeup was 100% close to the character in the play. She was willing to put on makeup for the sake of an artistic performance. It was the professionalism of an actor.

Caroline's words were very childish.

Arya did not bother with Caroline. After smiling at the directors, she walked to her seat.

Caroline did not notice her mistake and walked over proudly.

Arya carefully organized the script in her mind. After confirming that there was no mistake, she gestured to the camera. The directors looked at each other and saw that Caroline was ready. Jason shouted, "Begin."

This time, all the lights and scenes were restored to the original and needed a camera to continue shooting. It was a test of actor's professional skills.

On the screen was Arya's crying scene. compared to earlier, her expression was more focused. Her eyes changed slightly and added some of the vicissitudes of time and reluctance to part with the female lead.

She completely treated Caroline as a character in the movie and not someone she knew in real life. The relationship between them did not affect Arya's performance at all.

On the other hand, Caroline's tone and eyes were not good enough. From the camera, she seemed to be very pleased and very much wanted to show her superiority. She did not understand the true purpose of this program. The directors did not wanted to see the two actors fighting on the same stage, but wanted to show the audience the true appearance of the actors behind the scenes in front of the stage.

It could be said that Caroline completely understood the meaning of the program.

Her performance was extremely immature and unprofessional.

Jason took a deep breath and said, "Luckily I invited Arya. This episode is not too bad. Let's interview them about their filming experience and then we can stop."

He patted his colleague's shoulder and left the filming venue with his phone. He wanted to talk to Nasha quickly about Arya's wonderful performance and fight for the next opportunity to work together.

The other directors and photographers were also shocked by Arya's performance.
