

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 97

Chapter 97 Caroline Lost Her Mind

"It is my fortune to marry you. If you agree, I am ready to do it." Allen looked at the person in his arms and smiled.

Every decision he made respected Arya's thoughts. This was what touched Arya the most.

She had no reason to reject Allen. After all, he was her husband. Moreover, if he did not reveal his identity to the director, it would not be associated with the Dahua. He just wanted to share her burden.

"Alright, then I'll wait for your good news, my special agent."

Arya leaned against his chest and smiled sweetly. Her eyes could not hide her emotions.

The next morning, Brilliant Entertainment received an invitation letter from Jinge Movie Festival. They invited two female stars, Caroline and Arya.

Caroline was nominated as the female lead of the movie 'A Dream by the River'. If she won the award, she would win Jinge Movie Queen's title. Arya, as the quarterly topic star, was invited to attend the award ceremony as the guest of honor.

When the news was released, it attracted the attention of many media. Caroline looked at the news on her phone and smiled happily, "I want to see how Arya will fight with me!"

"But Arya is also invited and is still the guest of honor..." The assistant reminded as he drove.

Caroline was extremely proud and arrogantly snorted, "So what? Do you think I will give her a chance to appear?"

Her eyes were full of ruthlessness. When she becomes movie queen, she will ask Arya to get out of the Brilliant Entertainment.

Davina and Daniel were also discussing this matter at this moment.

"Sister, if Arya were to attend, the media would definitely pay attention to her and might even dig out news that she doesn't like us." Daniel considered for a moment. "I think we can't let Arya appear."

"You finally understood. During the celebration banquet last time, Arya played along with us. This time, we definitely can't give her a chance to attend the award ceremony. Remember, the organizers only invited Caroline alone." Davina said and threw one of the invitation letters into the trash can.

"Arya cut off her own escape route and can't blame us. If she listened to me and let me be her manager quietly, I would not treat her like this. It is a pity that she does not understand the rules of this circle."

Davina coldly smiled, "Movie Queen who is too angry wants to come back. It's not so easy."

Daniel nodded when he heard this.

At this point, the happiest person was Davina. It was an unexpected surprise that Caroline had the chance to win movie queen award. Before this, Davina and the company's upper echelons had basically given up.

"Director Daniel, Director Davina, Miss Caroline had already arrived at the company." The secretary knocked on the door and entered.

"Invite her over." Davina thought about it and pushed Daniel. "No, go down and help her. Stay with her."

Just as she finished speaking, Caroline's figure appeared at the door of the office. "What are you guys talking about?"

"Daniel is here to pick you up." Davina did not have the slightest intention of blaming Caroline for appearing at the door without saying a word. Instead, she greeted her very warmly, "Congratulations Caroline, prepare well when walking on the red carpet. You will definitely be able to shock the four of them and take down movie queen's title in one go."

"I will work hard, sister Davina." Caroline smiled gently but it was hard to hide her worry in her eyes. "I will definitely prepare well here, just..."

She deliberately looked at Daniel in the middle of her sentence, "I heard Arya was also invited. It doesn't matter how much she hates me but I am afraid that it will affect the company's reputation."

When Davina heard that, she happily held her hand to comfort her, "Don't worry about this matter. I will not let Arya have a chance to appear."

With Davina's words, she looked at Daniel lovingly. Now that all of her luck was in her hands, Arya had completely lost.

"You guys talk slowly. I will go down first." Davina seemed to have already seen Arya's defeated look. She walked out of the office complacently.

"Daniel, do you think I can get movie queen's title?" She looked at Daniel expectantly.

"I don't know either." Daniel looked at her meaningfully. He knew Caroline's strength very well. In order for her to be nominated, he had spent a lot of money, but the feedback he received was not satisfactory. This time when he suddenly received the nomination invitation, he was a little surprised.

"Daniel, what do you mean? Don't you want me to become a movie queen?" Caroline moved back a little, her expression was unnatural.

"Of course, I want you to win the award. It's just that this matter is very strange. Is it you..." He reached out and wrapped his arm around Caroline's waist. His eyes hid a probing look. That kind of gaze was full of threats, "I hope not. This circle is very complicated. We all know very well that you don't do anything that makes me unhappy."

"Daniel, you scared me." Caroline blinked and struggled out of his arms. "I don't understand you."

"Forget it. Nothing. I hope I thought too much." Daniel looked at her belly and smiled again. "Have you had breakfast?"

Caroline knew how to look at people's eyes. She pouted and acted like a spoiled child. "I haven't eaten it. I want to eat with you."

Daniel gently took her hand and led her to the restaurant outside.

The two of them looked like glue, but in Caroline's heart, a devil's seed was taking root and germinating.

Her ambition and desire had made her lose her mind.

While they were in love, Davina used her fastest speed to seal off Arya's invitation in the company. She also revealed to the company's upper echelons about Arya's intention to quit her job during the celebration banquet. She even fabricated rumors that Arya had already intended to leave Brilliant Entertainment a long time ago. As a result, the upper echelons of the company were very dissatisfied with Arya.

Compared to them, Arya was very calm. She finished filming the LKU advertisement according to her work arrangements. At the same time, Luna received a call from Nasha. She said that her company had a public service promotional film that wanted Arya to be involved.

"Okay, I agree." Arya thought about it, "How is the company going?"

"Caroline went there in the morning. I heard that she was very arrogant and Daniel and her sister listened to her every word. I was puzzled. What kind of standard did those judges have? They could nominate her with her acting skills, or they had shady dealings with her!"

Arya smiled calmly, "Let her live in her own nightmare. When the award ceremony is over, the whole world will know the truth."

"Right, I heard that the organizers also invited you to the award ceremony. But the company seems to have not received any news. I suspect Davina and the rest are doing something behind the scenes." The more Luna spoke, the angrier she became, "This circle became so foul because of the existence of these people!"
