

Love Of A Billionaire

Chapter 99

Chapter 99 There Is No Wall That Does Not Leak Wind

"I told you there are many female celebrities in our company but Director Jones is keeping a safe distance from all of them. So it turns out that the famous grass has a master!"

"Although I didn't see her face, she must be a beauty!"

Arya only showed her back in Dahua and had already become a hot topic.

According to Arya, the dinner was prepared by Allen personally for her. She ate with a great interest and occasionally let out a sound of delicious food, which made the man sitting opposite to her smile even deeper.

"Eat slowly, don't choke." He added a bowl of soup for Arya and his eyes were filled with tenderness. "The Jinge Movie festival is about to open. Have you found a companion on the red carpet?"

With Dahua Entertainment's status in the entertainment circle, any movement could not escape Allen's control. Moreover, he was particularly concerned about Arya.

This was the first time Arya officially appeared after her comeback. Of course, he could not be careless.

"Not yet. Luna received news that the company does not intend to let me appear. The organizers did not send me an invitation letter at all." Arya said calmly.

Allen thought about it for a while and held Arya's hand. He knew very well what the Film Festival meant to Arya this time.

"Don't worry, leave it to me." He opened his thin lips and only said these five words. Arya's heart suddenly calmed down.

"Okay."

In this world, she could trust him without worry and leave everything to him.

Since Allen had arranged everything, Arya did as he said and did not ask Daniel anything. In their eyes, Arya did not know that she was also invited by the organizers.

"Arya, how long do you plan to rest? The company has shown you a few television dramas..." Early in the morning, Daniel called her to the company to look for trouble.

"There's no need for the company to worry. I've already chosen." Arya felt that this was the best opportunity. All of their attention was on Caroline competing for movie queen. They did not care about her at all.

"Have you chosen? Which one did you choose?" Daniel had doubts in his heart. He did not think that Arya was as easy to pick as she used to be.

"Director Jacob's documentary, 'Butterfly Shadow'." Arya directly took out the contract.

Daniel picked it up and flipped through it. He wanted to laugh. "You're really hungry right now. You chose a documentary instead of some popular dramas?"

"Can't I?" Arya asked back. "Although the pay for this movie is less, I want to shoot it."

Daniel heard this and took the contract to the last page. He replied, "Okay, our company fully respects the artist's wishes. As long as you can get their signature without a manager, I have no reason to disagree. The company's higher-ups will not object."

In his opinion, Arya's actions at this time were completely asking for death. How could there be any future in shooting such a movie? Not to mention her comeback, she might even make the company lose money.

She was using up the popularity that she had accumulated with great difficulty. To them, this was actually a good thing.

"It's just that you have to think it through. Once you sign, you can't go back on your words. If something happens, the company will not protect you." Daniel pretended to be kind and reminded her.

"Of course, I have thought it through. You don't have to worry about it." She had finished what she needed to say. She didn't want to say another word to him. She got up and walked out.

"Arya, it's not too late for you to turn back now. Don't be too extreme. I will persuade my sister to show mercy to you."

Arya was speechless to the extreme. She stopped and turned around to look at Daniel's face. "I don't need your pity. I feel that you are in a worse situation than me."

"Arya, don't be ungrateful. What I am saying to you now is all due to my past feelings. What good will it do you if you provoke my sister and the company again and again? As long as you are willing to admit your mistake, I promise to let bygones be bygones. I will give you a chance to make a comeback." The more Daniel spoke, the more anxious he became.

Arya only felt that his words were very laughable.

She really wanted to ask him, when they plotted against her behind her back, did they not think about how to deal with the matter after it was exposed?

His appearance made her feel disgusted.

"Am I the only one who has done everything?" Arya's eyes moved away from his face and turned to open the door and walk out.

Her back was so determined that not only did Daniel worry, but she also seemed to know that they had hidden the invitation.

Arya just left when she met Caroline in the corridor.

Caroline took off her sunglasses and blocked Arya's way, "You just came out of Daniel's office? You came to find him so early in the morning."

"It has nothing to do with you."

Arya replied with a simple sentence and planned to bypass Caroline.

"Are you in such a hurry to leave? That's not right. You did not receive an invitation from Jinge Movie Festival and did not have a manager to help you negotiate a partnership. You are basically a jobless wanderer now."

Her words were full of thorns. She pushed Arya proudly. "I advise you to treat me better. Perhaps I will say a few good words for you in front of Daniel."

Caroline's arrogance did not affect Arya's mood. When she finished speaking, Arya's lips curled up coldly, "Movie Queen who relies on her body to get promoted, are you very proud?"

Caroline was immediately stunned.

"Whether I received an invitation or whether there is a shooting is my own matter. You better take care of your own matters. In this circle, there is no wall that does not leak wind."

Arya gently pushed Caroline away. She did not miss the panic and nervousness in Caroline's eyes and slowly left the Brilliant Entertainment.

Caroline was angered by these few words and trembled all over. She was worried that Arya knew something and became very nervous and sensitive.

Arya had just walked into the parking lot when a luxury supercar stopped in front of her. The driver was actually Allen himself!

"Why are you here?" Arya was surprised and happy.

"I feel that someone is thinking about me." He patted the steering wheel, "Today I will be your driver."

Arya pouted, "I cannot afford to drive such a luxurious car."

"Mine is yours."

Allen looked at her and smiled. He turned his head and stepped on the accelerator.

Arya had been admiring Allen's handsome face when he was focused on driving. When the car stopped in the high-end business district, she asked, "Where are we going?"

"You'll know when we get in."

He opened the door for Arya and held her hand as they walked into a luxury clothing store.

"Mr. Jones, the clothes are ready. Please come with me." The shop assistant did not show any surprise when he saw Allen leading Arya into the store. It seemed that he knew Allen and knew their relationship.

"Is it okay for us to come in and out of here together?" Arya whispered into his ear.

"Yes." Allen turned his head and replied, "This shop is controlled by Dahua."

Arya nodded. She knew Allen always did things in detail.

They were brought to a row of wardrobe by the staff. There were only two dresses in each wardrobe, one for men and one for women. The workmanship of each dress was extremely delicate and elegant.

"See if anything you like." Allen patted Arya's shoulder gently. These were all chosen according to his wishes, but the final decision had to be handed to his wife.