

Love Rats 1069

Chapter 1069 Theme Song

The true owner of "Breaking Ground" was no longer around.

Everything Selena did was to help that girl fulfill her wishes. She didn't want anything related to profit to tarnish what the kind-hearted girl had left behind. After some discussion, "Breaking Ground" became the first TV drama in history without a theme song.

Selena sat in the garden, holding a pen and trying to immerse herself in the young Selena who wrote "Breaking Ground". Selena began writing the drama at the age of ten. When Lady Nevaeh passed away, Selena was still too young and ignorant to understand the concept of death. But from then on, her life was marked by endless loneliness and hurt, and she no longer had any warmth in her life. Her greatest emotional bond at that time was missing her mother, longing for her father, and wanting to be free from the suffocating living environment...

A suppressed sense of restlessness surged through Selena's mind. She pressed her fingers against her forehead and squeezed her pen so hard that she left deep scratches on the paper.

Leia stood by, sensing that Selena was going through a difficult time, but her focused expression made Leia hesitant to interrupt her. The tense and explosive atmosphere lasted all morning, scaring the people in the castle into silence.

It wasn't until Selena threw down her pen and stood up from the sofa that the tension in the room finally dissipated. Leia studied Selena's expression, which was filled with fine lines of exhaustion, but her mood had clearly relaxed, and Leia breathed a sigh of relief.

"Miss Selena..." the young girl approached her.

Selena put away the manuscript she had been working on and smiled at the girl. "Leia, go pick up Hattie from the airport and take her directly to Olympus Group."

Although Leia was curious, she didn't ask any further questions and immediately went to the airport to pick up the person. Selena returned to the hall, finished her lunch, and then drove to Olympus Group after fixing herself up.

"There's nothing that Mr. Anderson can't give her that she doesn't want... wouldn't you say so?"

Sienna shook her head. "Mr. Jordan, there are some things that you and I both know, so why pretend to be ignorant?"

"Lady Selena will be my sister-in-law in the future, and as her sister-in-law, the Soo family will give her whatever she wants, even if it's half of our estate."

Luke's eyes began to chill. "Miss Soo, you're wrong. Lady Selena has no relationship with the Soo family."

Even if Selena did have that engagement, it no longer exists since Osvaldo and Selena have already gotten married. Furthermore, the Selena who had a real engagement with their Soo family is no longer alive.

The current Lady Selena is just the girl that Osvaldo likes.

Sienna sighed softly. "Mr. Jordan, I know it's annoying for the Soo family to bother Mr. Anderson and Lady Selena at this time. But if Mr. Anderson loses Lady Selena, he can still have other wives, while my brother will be doomed to be alone for the rest of his life if he loses this engagement."

"The Soo family really didn't know about Lady Selena's existence in the past few years, and we didn't intentionally ignore her."

"It was the fault of the Soo family elders regarding the Turner family matter, and my brother did nothing wrong to Lady Selena."

"Instead, it's Mr. Anderson who knew early on that Lady Selena had a fiancé, but still pretended to be her boyfriend. Doesn't you think that as a man, such behavior is inappropriate?" Sienna paused for a moment. "Is it a matter of propriety?"
